The Jews remained quiet during their voyage here, but began rioting when trucks arrived to take them to a detention camp.

No Serious Casualties

A number of persons were injured but apparently there were no serious casualties.

Women, Children To Be Admitted

JERUSALEM, Dec. 14 (AP)—The Palestine Government announced today that the British Colonial Secretary had decided to admit to Palestine inmmediately all women and children among the Jewish refugees who were shipwrecked Sunday on the Greek island of Syrina.

The Secretary declined, however, to allow the entry of the men in the group, who presumably will be kept in internment on Cyprus Island.

Tabriz Joyful as Troops Arrive

Citizens Track Down and Jail Supporters of Pro-Soviet Regime in Azerbaijan.

Tabriz Order Restored

This is a combined report by Edward Curtis of The Associated Press, Clifton Daniel of The New York Times and Christopher Sykes of The London Daily Mail, broadcast from Tabriz and recorded in Teheran.

TABRIZ, Iran, Dec. 13 (Delayed) (AP)—Today thousands of citizens thronged the streets of Tabriz, impeding the entry of Government troops who reached the borders of the Azerbaijan provincial capital four hours ago.

After a few days of precarious law and order, during which ten persons were reported killed amid indiscriminate shooting, the city became quieter this afternoon with the approach of Government security forces.

Resisting members of the ousted democratic party were driven from their hiding places and, with hands bound, were led off to jails.

Shops reopened during the day. Young men, shouting and singing, paraded through the city, waving flags and displaying pictures of the Shah.

Just one year after its formation, the Azerbaijan Provincial Government, established under the Russians during their army's occupation of northern Iran, had been overthrown.

Dr. Salamollah Djavid, Governor General of Azerbaijan, and Haji Mirza Shabestari, president of the Provincial Council, went to meet the advancing Government army.

Soviet Plane Departs

A Soviet plane that had been in Tabriz for a week departed Thursday.

After the Provincial Government and armed forces disintegrated, their weapons fell into the hands of citizens, and firing started in the city Wednesday night. For the next two days rifle and machine gun fire was heard throughout the city almost continually, especially around the prisons and army barracks.

Thursday afternoon the crowds dispersed after dark, but firing was intensified during the night.

By Friday morning almost every man seen carried a weapon. Volunteer civilian police led by merchants patrolled the streets, but some shops owned by members of the ousted Democratic party were looted.

The party's headquarters was closed and under guard. Bands of hiding party members were constantly under attack by armed citizens. One band took refuge in Tabriz, and heavy firing was heard around the place where they had gathered.

When the Army was reported only forty miles away, the Tabriz radio appealed to the populace to cease firing and restore order. The gunfire then stopped.

Iran Seizes War Leader In Azerbaijan

Tehran, Dec. 13 [AP—Delayed]. The Tabriz radio announced that General Kabiri, an Azerbaijan insurgent commander, was captured today in Tabriz.

Kabiri was identified as the commander responsible for last year's massacre of a Government garrison near Rezaieh. He was a Minister in Jafar Pishevari's Cabinet, following last year's provincial revolt.

Meanwhile, military authorities said that Iranian Government troops which entered Tabriz today found the pro-Soviet Azerbaijan Government in a state of collapse and its leaders taking cover.

NANKING GAIN IS REPORTED

Yencheng Taken From Communists, Paper Says

Nanking, Dec. 14 (AP)—Government troops today claimed Yenchen, one of the last Chinese Communist centers in Kiangsu province north of Shanghai, and pushed a drive to clean up that area, which once was almost entirely Communist-dominated.

The reliable paper Hsin Min Pao said the Government forces took Yenchang Friday after four days of heavy fighting which cost both sides numerous casualties. The city is 175 miles northwest of Shanghai and 30 miles from the seacoast.

The Communists, the paper said, retreated northwestward. Fowning, 40 miles northwest, is their only remaining important base in the province.

Gain Reported

In the northern part of the province, near the Shantung boundary, 10,000 Government militiamen were reported to have captured Huchi, 7 miles south of the city of Shuyang.

Late Government reports from Peiping said Communist guerrillas, reinforced from Jehol and Chahar provinces, had renewed their attacks on the Peiping-Hankow Railway southwest of Peiping, pushing as close as the famous Marco Polo bridge, 10 miles from Peiping, where the Japanese war began. Another guerrilla raid was reported at Liuliho, 31 miles southwest of Peiping.

A Government military spokesman said a relief force was rushing to Chungyang, in Shansi province, to the southwest, and that if the garrison could hold out another day against the besieging Communists, the city would be saved.

Dollar Dips In Shanghai

Shanghai, Dec. 14 (AP)—The United States dollar lost 1,000 points on the black market today, dropping to $1 for 5,700 Chinese dollars after a two-day, 1,500-point splurge had sent it to an all-time high of $1 to 6,700 Chinese dollars. The official exchange rate is 3,350 to 1.

Clerks Ask Buyer Aid in Strike

SHANGHAI, Dec. 14 (AP).—One thousand employees of the Sun Sun Company, one of Shanghai's large department stores, today asked all customers to make their purchases elsewhere, in a novel protest against the management's refusal to grant them the customary year-end bonus of one month's pay.

STRIKES HAMPER KOREAN INDUSTRY

MacArthur Report Tells Of Attempt To Kill Politician

Tokyo, Sunday, Dec. 15 (AP)—A wave of strikes, an attempt to assassinate the head of a major political party, and very little industrial recovery were highlights of a report by General MacArthur today on troubled Korea during September.

Despite the difficult period, Koreans were told that they should assume more governmental responsibilities and that the American occupation authorities would act henceforth only as advisors.

The attempted assassination of Dr. Syngman Rhee, leader of the National Society for Rapid Realization of Independence, was listed by MacArthur as one of the month's series of "political developments."

War Has Political Motives

Others included temporary suspension of three newspapers and an address by Lieut. Gen. John R. Hodge, American commandant, warning Koreans of political motives behind a September railway strike. Hodge said the strike was "fomented by agitators to discommode and discredit the American forces in Korea."

MacArthur's report remarked there was an evident tendency for labor to strike "without presentation of demands or any attempt at mediation."

During September there also were strikes by postal workers, telegraphers, Government employés and newspaper employés.

MacArthur said there was "more progress in developing an efficient Korean police system," but that crime had increased and profiteering had retarded rice-collecting programs.

Barter Plan Completed

On the brighter side, the report noted that a plan for barter with Japan had been completed, a child-labor law had gone into effect and American imports had provided for medicinal needs.

The report said "public interest continued to focus on the possibility of reconvening the joint commission (of Russians and Americans) charged with laying the basis for a provisional government." It said the Americans were "ready and available" to resume the talks. They were broken off when an impasse was reached with the Russians in northern Korea over which Koreans should be consulted in organizing a government.

Japan's Exports Continue to Rise

Tokyo, Dec. 14 (A. P.).—The Government Board of Trade announced today that Japan has built up a favorable trade balance of more than 375,000,000 yen ($25,000,000) since the war's end through exports to the United States, Korea, China, Hong Kong, Australia, Russia and England.

New items on the November export list included dye stuffs, parts for spinning machines, matches, leather, furs, newsprint, radio parts and porcelain.

Total exports since the end of the war were estimated at 2,677,000,000 yen ($178,466,666) and imports at 2,300,000,000 yen ($153,333,333). November exports were valued at 200,000,000 yen ($13,333,333).

41 Filipinos Reported Kidnapped

MANILA, Dec. 14 (AP)—Interio Secretary Jose Zulueta reported today that Hukbalahaps had kidnapped forty-one peasants harvesting rice in Nueva Ecija Province this week and killed at least four. The others are missing. Elsewhere in the province—the so-called granary of Luzon—Huks attacked twenty-four civilian guards who were protecting harvesters. One guard was wounded seriously.

Guam Congress Asks For Territory Status

Guam, Dec. 14 (AP)—The Congress of Guam decided today to propose to the next United States Congress that Guam be organized as a territory and that all Guamanians become United States citizens.

Members said they were satisfied with the present Navy administration of Vice Admiral Charles A. Pownall, Governo rof Guam and commander of the Marianas, but wanted to act promptly for fear American inttrest in Guam might dwindle in the future.

Guam's atorney general, J. W. Davis, of Chicago, had recommended that action be deferred two to five years.

Canada To Drop Gasoline Tax

Ottawa, Dec. 14 (AP)—Canada will drop its 3-cent Dominion tax on gasoline April 1, the Government announced today. The tax was a wartime measure. Provincial taxes on gasoline will continue.

PRIORITIES END ON MATERIALS FOR HOUSING

Non-Vets May Construct Dwellings — $10,000 Ceiling Scrapped

Washington, Dec. 14—(AP)—President Truman put housing under the decontrol shower tonight, washing away the major controls of the Wilson Wyatt program and ordering new steps to aid rental construction.

The $10,000 sales price ceiling on new homes was abandoned and the $80 a month rental ceiling liberalized. The priority system on building materials was junked. The way was cleared for anyone, veteran or not, to build a house for his own occupancy without Government permission.

"I am determined that a vigorous housing program will continue to be carried out in 1947," said a presidential statement.

"The techniques we will use are those that will work today. I am interested in results and I am convinced that this 1947 program will produce results."

The action followed in large part the recommendations of real estate and construction industry leaders who contended that more homes would be built without Government restrictions than with them.

Every control Mr. Truman removed represented a reversal of the program advocated by Wyatt, former mayor of Louisville, Ky., who quit last week as housing expediter when the White House would not give him the authority and tighter rules he wanted.

RFC May Assist

The President said that while the Reconstruction Finance Corporation will continue to assist producers of prefabricated housing and industrially built dwelling components it will do so "when it is warranted."

The RFC financing matter was one particularly in dispute. Wyatt wanted power to direct RFC to make prefabrication loans. He had asked for some $60,000,000 in such loans and obtained about $4,000,000. The President apparently settled that point finally by putting it up to RFC to determine what is "warranted."

Goal Not Set

The President fixed no specific housing goal for 1947. Wyatt's objective was 2,500,000 units started in 1946 and 1947, of which 1,200,000 were to be under way this year.

Prospects are that something over 1,000,000 will be under way by the year's end.

Several questions remained unanswered in the presidential announcement. A major one was: What happens to the approximately 500,000 homes now under construction which builders promised to offer to veterans at a certain price?

NHA officials, only a few of whom were consulted in preparation of the new policy, said that could not supply the answer but "could not imagine" that the price lid would be removed from these houses entirely.

One NHA attorney said such houses would have to be delivered at the price for which they were approved for construction.

In making it possible for non-veterans to build, Mr. Truman said this will be allowed only if the owner plans to live permanently in the new dwelling.

Luxury Homes Barred

Luxury-type housing will continue to be prohibited through a system by which each prospective builder must obtain a Government permit.

The floor area of each residence so built will be restricted.

The $80 a month ceiling on rentals of new newly-built houses is revised also, with new rental limits to be established on each new home built for tenancy.

In the case of rental housing projects, $80 will be the average rent for each dwelling unit, instead of the ceiling.

The limitation on store, factory, and other non-residential building will be continued, Mr. Truman's statement said, but "some increase" will be permitted because of the improved supply of building materials.

Industrial and commercial construction over the whole nation now is held, by the granting of priorities, to $35,000,000 a month.

Mr. Truman declared there will be "no major modification in the objective of rapidly and adequately housing our veterans."

"The veterans' need remains extremely urgent and we recognize this by continuing to give veterans preference for every dwelling unit constructed for sale or rent," the White House statement went on.

"More family units must be made available for rent to veterans. They should not be compelled to buy in order to get shelter."

Financing Planned

The President disclosed that the Government plans financing and other aids to encourage builders to produce dwellings for rent, and said "the great bulk of this task will fall upon private enterprise."

Additional changes announced by the Chief Executive included:

The allocation of certain raw materials must be continued "for some months," but they will be relaxed or dropped "as rapidly as the situation permits."

In the "simple" permit system to be set up for prospective home builders, neither sales prices nor inspection standards will be imposed.

The "premium payment subsidies" for which Congress last Summer appropriated $400,000,000 will be reviewed critically and only those will be continued which will result in "substantial" benefits to housing.

Mr. Truman is making available to the Federal Housing Administration the second $1,000,000,000 of title 6 mortgage insurance authorization provided by the Truman Emergency Housing Act, to be used primarily in the financing of rental homes.

More types of rental housing will be made eligible for Federal Housing Administration financing, and the extent of amortization of Title 6 loans will be extended beyond the usual 28 years, in order to cut monthly payments and make possible lower rents. The length of extension will be fixed individually for each project.

The National Housing Agency will at once arrange local and regional meetings of builders and lenders to survey rental housing needs in each area and to develop speedy construction programs.

To offset a prospective "serious shortage of manpower" next year in the building trades, efforts will be made to enlarge the present apprentice training program to expand the supply of skilled and semi-skilled carpenters, bricklayers and other construction workers.

With reference to the dropping of priorities on more than 50 types of scarce building materials, Mr. Truman explained:

"Priority ratings were necessary in 1946 while building materials were in critically short supply, but the increasing production of building materials coupled with the limitation on non-residential construction and a continued postponement of luxury-type housing make the priority system no longer necessary.

"Outstanding priorities with their attendant obligations will be honored, but the issuance of any additional priorities to builders or manufacturers of homes will be discontinued as soon as the permit system gets into operation."

In permitting any person who wishes to build a home for his personal occupancy to do so, Mr. Truman said the move will increase the over-all housing supply, and in many instances, create vacancies for veterans when non-veterans move into newly built dwellings.

These three restrictions will be imposed in the issuance of Federal permits, the President said:

"1. The proposed dwelling must be designed for year-round occupancy.

"2. The total floor area will be restricted.

"3. In the case of rental housing projects, maximum rents, excluding charges for services, will be set at a project average not exceeding $80 per unit. Rentals will also be established for individual houses built for rental purposes."

The relaxation of rules was the product of three days of intensive top-level official conferences. Mr. Truman and two Cabinet members took part in the talks for an hour this afternoon.

Meanwhile the Capital's preoccupation with the housing emergency spotlighted these developments:

1. Senator Wiley (R-Wis.) branded Federal rent regulation as "blockhead control" and urged that the new Congress immediately put rent control up to the states.

2. The Producers Council, Inc., promised "substantial savings in building costs" through an industry-sponsored program of home-designing and standardizing of home equipment and parts.

1946 Truman's Housing Statement

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP) President Truman tonight issued the following statement liberalizing the present Administration housing policy:

In my recent statement on housing I made it clear that there would be no major modification in the objective of rapidly and adequately housing our veterans. At the same time I emphasized the great need to stimulate rental housing for veterans and pointed out that the over-all program must be within the framework of the government's announced policy of relaxing controls.

I am determined that vigorous housing program will continue to be carried out in 1947.

The techniques we will use are those that will work today. I am interested in results and I am convinced that this 1947 program will produce results.

The main point of emphasis for 1947 is rental housing. Within the total number of homes to be built, it is of major importance that a maximum number of rental units be provided. We are planning financing and other aids that will encourage builders to produce units for rent.

In 1947 we will continue, at least for some months, the basic limitation order on non-residential construction and the allocation of certain raw materials for the production of housing items. But these will be relaxed or dropped as rapidly as the situation permits. The priority-rating system for builders and individuals is being discontinued.

We are also planning to carry through on certain special programs already under way apprentice training, technical research and, above all, steps to reduce permanently the cost of housing, most notably by aiding manufacturers of new materials and factory-built homes.

THE PROGRAM

Restrictions on Non-residential Construction

The completion of homes must continue on an increasing scale. The most important governmental order which enables us to accomplish this purpose is the order limiting non-residential construction. This must be continued. However, there is increasing need for schools and stores and other community facilities in connection with new housing developments and for certain essential industrial and research projects.

Fortunately, we can safely permit some increase in non-housing construction because of the gretly increased volume of building materials. As the supply improves, the order can be relaxed to allow more non-residential construction.

Permission to Build Homes

During 1946, a large volume of dwelling units has been put under construction and the completion rate of these homes has been increasing from month to month. Nevertheless, the veterans' need remains extremely urgent and we recognize this by continuing to give veterans preference for every dwelling unit constructed for sale or rent.

However, from now on any person who wishes to build a home for his personal occupancy will be permitted to do so, subject to certain restrictions. This will increase the over-all housing supply and, in many instances, make additional homes available for veterans.

The construction of housing will be authorized by Federal permits. The major restrictions which will be imposed are:

1. The proposed dwelling must be designed for year-round occupancy.

2. The total floor area will be restricted.

3. In case of rental housing projects, maximum rents, excluding charges for services, will be set at a project average not exceeding $80 a unit. Rentals will also be established for individual houses built for rental purposes.

The permit system will be simple. It will not be necessary to have sales prices set, or to meet the standards and inspection requirements of the present priority system.

Priorities

Priority ratings were necessary in 1946 while building materials were in critically short supply, but the increasing production of building materials coupled with the limitation on non-residential construction and a continued postponement of luxury-type housing make the priority system no longer necessary.

Outstanding priorities with their attendant obligations will be honored, but the issuance of any additional priorities to builders or manufacturers of homes will be discontinued as soon as the permit system gets into operation.

Allocation of Materials

The production of critical building materials will require the continued allocation of a few raw materials during the first quarter of 1947. If present high levels of production are maintained, it should be possible to discontinue raw materials allocation at that time.

Premium Payments

During 1946, premium payments have been successfully used for increasing the production of many building materials. However, present conditions require a critical review of each of these plans and the continuation of only those which will result in substantial benefits to housing.

Guaranteed Markets

The guaranteed market plans for industrial and prefabricated housing, and for new types of materials will be continued. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation will continue to assist manufacturers of such housing and the producers of such materials by financial aid when it is warranted.

Surplus Property

For the last few months surplus property has been made available for housing purposes in increasing amounts. Building machinery and building materials and supplies will continue to go to home builders. The demolition program at old Army camps and other installations, another useful source of materials, will also go forward. During the next few months, many surplus buildings will be sold for use at other sites. I am also asking the War Assets Administrator to establish procedures that will facilitate the sale of land and buildings together.

Export Controls

Export controls on building materials will be continued until the supply situation warrants their discontinuance. For the present we must limit the quantity of critical materials that can be sent abroad.

Rental Housing

More family units must be made available for rent to veterans. They should not be compelled to buy in order to get shelter. To increase the proportion of rental units we intend to use all available means—new construction, conversion and rehabilitation, and re-use. The great bulk of this task will fall upon private enterprise. We are aiding private enterprise by simplifying and reducing various priority controls and by the measures taken to increase availability of materials. We also plan a number of financial measures that will encourage the construction of rental housing.

Insured Mortgage Financing:

To provide assurance of continued insured mortgage financing to builders who are planning rental housing, I am making available to the Federal Housing Administration the second billion dollars of Title VI insurance authorization provided for in the Patman act. This is to be used primarily for rental housing, together with the largest possible share of the first billion dollars directly authorized by Congress.

Congress will be asked to advance the termination date of Title VI insured financing authority, at least for rental housing, for a period sufficient to accomplish this objective.

Assistance for Rental Projects:

The qualified F. H. A. personnel freed from duties involved in controls now being removed or relaxed, will be made available to help private sponsors plan rental projects and to expedite processing for insured financial commitments.

The F. H. A. is simplifying procedures and broadening eligibility standards which will expand the field of its operation in rental housing. More types of rental housing will now be eligible for F. H. A. financing.

To remove uncertainty over adequacy of insured financing commitments for rental projects, the F. H. A. will develop a procedure for review and amendment of commitments issued in advance of construction.

To reduce monthly payments and to make possible lower rents, the F. H. A. will extend the term of amortization in its Title VI rental housing commitments beyond the usual twenty-eight years, the amount of extension to be appropriate for the project proposed.

To guard against the possibility of lesser earnings of housing projects after the emergency is met, the F. H. A. will work out with concurrence of lending institutions a set of regulations permitting the adjusting of mortgage terms at subsequent periods in the life of the project.

The National Housing Agency will proceed at once to arrange regional and local meetings of the building industry, including lenders, to canvass rental needs and possibilities in each area, and to develop speedy construction programs.

Studies now under way with respect to possible further aids and incentives to rental housing by act of Congress, in addition to previous proposals such as were contained in the Wagner-Ellender-Taft bill, are to be concluded quickly. They will cover the field of co-operative and mutual housing enterprises, yield insurance, possible tax incentives, possible financing advantages and federally aided housing for low-income groups.

Technical Research

Technical research in new building materials and new methods of residential construction must be continued. The development of modern building codes must be encouraged. The Federal government will make its service available to aid private industry and local governments in meeting these objectives.

Producing decent housing in quantity and at a cost consistent within reasonable ability of the mass of American families to pay is a fundamental objective. All possible waste and inefficiency must be removed, including unnecessary governmental restrictions. All possible advantage through adoption and adaption of new methods, techniques and materials must be utilized. Mass production, applying advantages of prefabrication of varied types and industrialized procedures, offers promise in this direction, and is to be encouraged and assisted in keeping with orderly transition of the whole economy in the remaining reconversion period.

With the housing program in full swing, there may be a serious shortage of man power in 1947 in the building trades. Therefore, continued efforts will be made to enlarge the present apprentice program and to secure adequate skilled and semi-skilled labor for home construction.

All that I have said thus far deals with the government's part in a vast housing program.

The success of the program, however, depends not alone on the Federal government but on state and local governments, industry, labor and financial institutions. In many communities, these groups are already united through their mayors' emergency-housing committees and other organizations to sponsor and build homes for veterans. We, as a nation, owe the veterans an opportunity to have homes. We will see that they get them.

INDUSTRY SEES MORE HOUSES

Building Official Calls Easing Of Curbs An 'Important Step'

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP)—Frank W. Cortright, executive vice-president of the National Association of Home Builders, declared tonight that President Truman's relaxation of housing controls is "undoubtedly an important step in the right direction, and should produce more houses."

"We believe that all the remaining controls should come off at an early date, perhaps six months," Cortright asserted.

Sees Many Low-Cost Houses

He said the steps taken by Mr. Truman were "the things that we have been advocating." Cortright predicted that greater activity in every field of construction — commercial and industrial as well as residential—would be induced by the new freedom of action accorded builders.

"There is no question that the construction industry can do a better job if taken out from under regulations," he added.

Cortright predicted a large volume of comparatively low-cost houses would be built, even though contractors are freed from the $10,000 ceiling.

"It's Just A Mess As It Is"

The restraint on luxury-type dwellings henceforth will be a limitation of floor area, and Cortright said the home builders had recommended about 1,800 square feet as the permitted maximum.

He conceded, however, that the prospects are that the Government will set an average somewhat lower. The average house built under the $10,000 limit, he said, ranged from 800 square feet to 1,000.

Senator Stewart (D., Tenn.), chairman of a Senate Small Business subcommittee which conducted hearings this week on the housing problem, said:

"They ought to take all controls off in so far as housing is concerned. It's just a mess as it is."

Real-Estate Man's View

New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—Douglas L. Elliman, president of Douglas L. Elliman & Co., one of New York's largest residential real-estate firms, said tonight that President Truman's relaxation of home-building construction restrictions "will certainly result in many more homes for many more people."

could be built in 1947.

Rent Increase Urged

George M. Englar, president of the National Apartment Owners Association, said the President had gone "only part of the way in solving the housing shortage" by not permitting a 15 per cent increase in rent ceilings.

"The housing shortage will not be overcome until there is an increase in rents, which will bring private enterprise into the rental housing field," said Englar, also of Baltimore.

At Omaha, R. H. Maenner, chairman of the realtors Washington committee of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, said the action "certainly is going to produce some homes."

May Create Vacancies

Veterans who "want to rent and don't want to buy" may benefit, Maenner said, through vacancies left by non-veterans who now are permitted to build. Government financing, also, may help break the shortage of rental homes, he said, as "there must be some encouragement to get people to build homes for rental."

Warren S. Bellows of Houston, president of Associated General Contractors of America, said, "We think the revised program will cause more houses to be built at a more reasonable price in the long run."

In Washington, Frank W. Cortright, executive vice president of the National Association of Home Builders, said the relaxation of controls was "undoubtedly an important step in the right direction," but added:

"We believe that all the remaining controls should come off at an early date, perhaps six months.

"There is no question that the construction industry can do a better job if taken out from regulation."

Wants Government Out

A similar view was expressed in Buffalo by President Melvin H. Baker of the National Gypsum Company, manufactures of building materials, who said that "my hope is to see the government remove itself wholly and entirely from building control, both as to materials and financing."

"Then we will see private capital go to work," Baker said.

Senator Stewart (D-Tenn), chairman of a Senate Small Business Committee that conducted hearings last week on the housing problem, said that "they ought to take all controls off insofar as housing is concerned. It's just a mess as it is."

Douglas L. Elliman, who operates one of New York City's largest real estate firms, said the President's action should stimulate the building market "a good deal like the lifting of meat restrictions—at first the prices may be high, but they are bound to come down when the supply begins to meet the demand."

An official who worked in the National Housing Agency with Wilson Wyatt, who resigned as head of the agency when the White House disagreed with his policies, had this to say, with the provise that he not be identified:

"This really cuts the roots of the once-flourishing Wyatt housing trees. Production of building materials has been increasing enormously and there is no doubt that we will get housing in 1947. But we don't get as much housing, or at a favorable a price to veterans, as we had anticipated."

Leaders in Industry Welcome Modification of Controls as Stimulant to Construction — Landlords Group Urges 15 Per Cent Rent Increase

DAY

By The Associated Press

Officials of the home construction industry were in general agreement last night that President Truman's easing of housing controls would accelerate home construction, but some expressed belief that all control should be dropped.

Joseph Meyerhoff of Baltimore, president of the National Association of Home Builders, said the President's action "should unquestionably speed up construction of homes for veterans and others."

With a continued reasonable limitation on non-essential and deferrable construction and continued improvement in supplies of building materials, Meyerhoff said, a large volume of moderate priced homes

Pauley Bares Threats During Tour Of Korea

Nineteen Americans Well Received By Russians At End Of Inspection Trip, However

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP)—Edwin W. Pauley, reparations commissioner, unfolded a bizarre story today of a heavily guarded tour in Russian-controlled Korea which produced threats that picture-takers should be shot but wound up in an exchange of daggers with a Soviet [illegible].

Pauley's diary of a six-day inspection trip through the northern (Soviet) zone went to President Truman with a report in which Pauley said it may be Russia's aim to force a Moscow-dominated government on all Korea before it agrees to withdraw its troops.

Russians Heavily Armed

The inspection group of nineteen Americans was accompanied into northern Korea by a contingent of Russian soldiers armed with American "tommy" guns, dwarfing in size the White House secret service detail.

The Russians made direct and determined efforts to prevent the Americans from talking to Koreans, Pauley related going to the length of "shouting down" American interpreters.

At one point a Russian general told him that if the Americans did not stop taking pictures "some of us might not even have the opportunity of being sorry we took them."

Pauley Uses Strategy

Pauley, who wears the title of the President's personal ambassador, related that he and Col. Gen. I. M. Chistiako, the Soviet supreme commander in Korea, could not agree at their first conference on the areas the American mission was to visit.

So the United States Reparations Commissioner tried a little strategy. He sent the Soviet general a riding crop and found the Russian much more affable at their next meeting.

"It was a special one and a very fine one with a thin dagger sword blade inside of it," Pauley wrote in his diary. "It evidently made a great hit and may have caused the change in his attitude."

Later Chistiakov, not to be outdone, gave Pauley "a beautifully finished dagger knife."

Russians Take No Chances

This presentation, Pauley said, was followed by a "typical Russian dinner" at which vodka flowed freely and there was "ten times too much to eat." Previously the party had been guests at a dinner given by General Romanenko, who conducted the Americans on their restricted tour.

The Russians took no chances guarding the members of his mission, Pauley related.

"There are Soviet guards everywhere with their ever-present 'tommy' guns," he wrote. "The President of the United States, if he had his entire secret service guard assembled at one time, was never guarded as completely as we are."

Americans Warned

The Soviet officials warned the Americans against taking pictures, Pauley said, but he replied that the United States cameramen were not "shooting" any military objectives, and besides, the war was over.

Trains Speed Up

"General Romanenko said that these were his orders," Pauley noted, "and if we disobeyed them it would be he that would get in trouble because some of the guards might be too quick to enforce the orders not to allow pictures to be taken. He added that some of us might not even have the opportunity of being sorry we took them."

On a definite mission to inspect industrial plants, Pauley noted that "it is probably only a coincidence that the only time the train speeds up is when we are passing an industrial plant."

When the Russians said that a certain machine tool factory did not exist, Pauley sent Mr. Chang, his Korean interpreter, to try to find it.

Industry Found In Operation

"This was quite an undertaking," Pauley said, "because the Soviet officers had surrounded Chang with Soviet-Korean interpreters. The poor fellow could not make a move without being followed or walked in front of, or shouted down when he asked a question. It was very apparent they did not want us to receive any information from the Korean populace whatsoever.

They finally found the machine shop, Pauley related, only to discover that it was next door to an electrical power substation from which all the transformers had been removed.

"This was apparently the reason why we had difficulty finding our machine shop in the first place," he added.

In contrast to Manchuria, where he said the Russians had carted away enough machinery to wreck the industrial plant, Pauley found industry in operation in the Soviet zone of Korea.

Banners Extol Government

But he reported the Russians appear to be embarked on a program of propagandizing the people into communism and of obtaining control of all governmental and economic functions.

While Russian banners extolling the Soviet Government as "the highest form of democracy" adorned the streets, Pauley reported there were some indications the Koreans were not co-operating fully with Soviet occupation forces.

"There have been so many 'incidents' between the Soviet forces and the Koreans after dark," he wrote in his diary, "that General Chistiakov was forced to issue an order that after dark a Russian must be accompanied by two others, making three in the group. Still, two or three are killed every night by Koreans who have no weapons other than a rock."

Russ Aim To Communize All Korea, Pauley Says

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP)—Edwin Pauley, United States reparations commissioner, has told President Truman the Russians may seek to force Communism on all of Korea before they agree to withdraw occupation troops from the country's northern half.

Reporting to the White House on his tour of the Russian zone under Red Army control, Pauley declared the Koreans are flooded with Communist propaganda and "pushed around" by Soviet troops "in the most crude and ruthless fashion."

Under Rigid Control

The population's entire governmental and economic machinery, he said, is "thoroughly controlled by the Soviet command" in contrast to the United States occupied southern zone, where General MacArthur is trying to establish democratic self-rule.

Pauley's survey of conditions in Korea came to light along with a report on what he described as the wrecking of Manchurian industry by Russian occupation forces, possibly for "long range strategic reasons." He expiained:

"In restoring Manchuria's industrial complex, it must be remembered that Manchuria is practically surrounded by territory either wholly or partially under Soviet control. Manchuria will thus be vulnerable to further Soviet penetration."

Washington, Dec. 14—(AP)—Senators trying doggedly to discover what became of a $25,000 campaign contribution by a war contractor in checks drawn to Senator Bilbo (D-Miss.) heard from Bilbo himself today that "I never did get a damn dollar of it."

They heard from former Rep. Ross Collins, who knocked down a witness for saying he got about half of it, that he was paid nothing.

NIGHT

They heard from Roland Wall, another politician said by witnesses to have shared in the pot, that he was promised $8,000 and collected $6,000.

And they never did establish where all the money went when the Senate War Investigating Committee recessed until Monday.

Then they hope to learn more from a key witness who had been missing until he turned up in a hospital at Quitman, Miss., last night. He is Edward Terry, former secretary of Bilbo, who wrote the committee he had been threatened with death if he should testify.

'Campaign Deficits' Paid

Collins and Wall were low men in a four-way Senate primary in 1942. The top men, James O. Eastland, who subsequently won, and Wall Doxey, entered a runoff.

Witnesses testified contributions were made toward the campaign "deficits" of Collins and Wall in the interest of gaining their support for Doxey, who was backed by Bilbo. The testimony was that $11,000 to $14,000 for Collins was paid to Cecil Travis, a campaign aide of his.

"That statement was wholly untrue," Collins insisted.

Denials also came from witnesses Collins had called to his hotel room when he learned Bilbo was coming for a conference with him, and from Miss Lura Harrison, a stenographer Collins had hidden behind a bedroom door.

Wall told the committee he did not know about the contractor's $25,000 contribution during the campaign. He said that if he had, he would have pressed a whole lot harder for the $2,000 he claims is still owed him.

He added, amidst a roar of laughter from the spectators, that he told some friends en route to Washington he might ask the Senate committee to help him collect it.

A Mississippi Custom

Asked by Chairman Mead (D-N. Y.) whether it was customary for a defeated candidate to have his campaign expenses paid if he threw his support later to the victor, Wall said it was in Mississippi.

Doxey, who has been Senate Sergeant-at-Arms for several years, entertained for an hour as a witness telling about his surprise at learning—after he lost the election—of the $25,000 contribution. He said he had been told that most of it was paid to two of his opponents defeated in the first primary to get their support in the run-off.

"I didn't have the heart to ask Senator Bilbo what he did with the rest of it," Doxey said.

The invitation to Bilbo to testify about the $25,000 from a war contractor came from Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) after other witnesses had lapses of memory or incomplete records about various phases.

Without arising from his chair, Bilbo said he would be "glad to testify" but wanted to "make my statement at the conclusion after all the evidence has been presented and in written form."

But as to the $25,000:

"I'll say now I never did get a damn dollar of it."

Meanwhile an apology and a subpoena appeared to have cleared up two other startling angles of the inquiry.

Collins Apologizes

Collins, who brought yesterday's session to a sudden halt by a flying attack with fists and feet upon a witness, filed a written "sincere and humble apology" and appeared today as a smiling spectator.

Edward Terry, now in a hospital at Quitman, Miss., disappeared last Thursday when he was to testify. Chairman Mead announced a subpoena had been served on Terry and the key missing witness would "appear forthwith."

Terry told reporters that "my testimony will have a definite effect on Bilbo's political future" but gave no details. He added that his testimony "can be verified from the written records of one or more parties."

Robert Gandy, middle-aged Baptist Church deacon and insurance man from Jackson, Miss., who was sent sprawling to the floor by Collins yesterday, resumed the stand to tell about handling the $25,000 and disbursing part of it.

Gandy was quizzed by senators and then attorneys trying to learn what "payment" or consideration" went to Collins in the Doxey run-off campaign. The witness recalled that he took the checks endorsed by Bilbo to a bank, got $25,000 cash and then "deposited it on a bed."

After a conference of Bilbo and other Doxey supporters with Collins and his backers, Gandy related, he paid $11,000 in cash to meet the "operating deficit of Ross Collins" in the first primary.

Mississippi Senator, Handicapped by Mouth Ailment, Makes His Denial Without Being Sworn as a Witness.

Washington, Dec. 14 (A. P.).—Senator Theodore G. Bilbo (D.-Miss.) testified today "I didn't get a damn dollar" of $25,000 cash contributed by a war contractor in a 1942 Mississippi political campaign.

Bilbo made his first statement of a Senate War Contracts Investigation as Senators Mead (D.-N. Y.) and Ferguson (R.-Mich.) tried to trace the $25,000 contribution made by F. T. Newton, Mississippi war contractor.

Earlier witnesses testified that all this cash and other funds were used in an unsuccessful effort to re-elect Wall Doxey as a senator in 1942. Doxey now is senate sergeant-at-arms.

Forrest Jackson, Jackson (Miss.) attorney and personal counsel to Bilbo at the hearing, and Robert Gandy, Jackson insurance man and Bilbo political adviser, had told the sub-committee that all the $25,000 was used on the Doxey campaign.

But neither Jackson nor Gandy could actually give the full disposition of the cash.

Ferguson then suggested that Bilbo be called to clear up this phase of the inquiry.

"I'll be glad to testify but I prefer to make my statement at the conclusion after all the evidence has been presented and in written form," Bilbo said without taking the witness chair or being sworn.

The veteran Senator had difficulty speaking because he is unable to wear his lower dental plate as a result of a mouth ailment.

"But I'll say now I never did get a damn dollar of it," Bilbo added.

Earlier, Jackson, the Bilbo attorney, testified he "knew that all the $25,000 went into the pot, we spent the money, and we still owe money."

Jackson said much of the $25,000 was used to transport workers on defense jobs in Mississippi to their homes so they could vote. He said he could "not guess" how much more than the $25,000 had been spent on the Doxey campaigns, but he agreed in answer to questions that it was less than $75,000.

Doxey then was called to the stand to tell what he knew of the $25,000 contribution to his campaign.

Gandy had told of paying $11,000 cash to meet an "operating deficit of Ross Collins" in 1942.

Hears of $25,000 Gift.

Doxey told the investigators he did not learn about the $25,000 contribution until October 9, 1942, after he had lost the September 15 run-off primary.

He explained that October 9 was his wedding anniversary, and that he and Mrs. Doxey and Edward Terry, and Mrs. Terry were guests of Newton, the war contractor.

"Mr. Newton said to me: 'You know I contributed $25,000 to Senator Bilbo for your campaign,'" Doxey testified.

"I said 'good gracious.'" He then commented that his response might have been: "The hell you say."

Laughter swept the hearing room.

Later Doxey said he asked Terry and Senator Bilbo what they did with the $25,000 from Newton. He continued:

"Terry said that Ross Collins and his outfit got about $14,000 and that Roland Wall and his outfit got about $8,000."

Collins and Wall were defeated by Doxey in the first primary in 1942 and earlier testimony dealt with efforts by Doxey supporters to obtain their aid in the run-off.

"I didn't have the heart to ask Senator Bilbo what he did with the rest of it," Doxey testified.

Gandy told the committee today of paying $11,000 in cash to meet an "operating deficit of Ross Collins in 1942.

Collins Apologizes.

Gandy is the witness who was knocked sprawling by Collins yesterday in a wild scene, for which Collins apologized to the committee by letter today.

Collins, a former Mississippi Congressman, was an unsuccessful candidate for the senatorial nomination in 1942.

After much hesitating, Gandy testified that he paid the $11,000 "to Cecil Travis," Jackson, Miss. businessman, who he said was a political aid of Collins at the time.

Mead, chairman of the subcommittee, announced as the session opened that a subpoena had been served on Edward Terry, former secretary and political aid of Bilbo, now in a hospital at Quitman, Miss.

The Story Gandy Told.

Gandy, under questioning, told this story:

He took a war contractors' drafts for $25,000 made out to Bilbo and cashed them at a bank and then brought the bills back to a hotel room and checked their total with Bilbo.

Gandy said the funds were used in behalf of a run-off primary campaign of Doxey.

There was a hotel room conference between the Doxey Campaign Committee consisting of Bilbo, Gandy and Forrest Jackson, who is here as Bilbo's attorson and Collins and his supporters, inciuding Cecil Travis, Charles Snow and George Butler.

Travis was designated by Collins to handle payment of "Ross Collins operating deficit" if the Doxey group approved a statement that Collins was to issue just before the run-off election of September 15, 1942.

Gandy said he was selected to examine this statement of Collins, which he termed "neutral," and later paid the $11,000 to Travis.

Terry, who had disappeared after writing that he feared for his life and safety of his wife and daughter, will "appear here forthwith," Mead said.

From his hospital bed in Quitman, Terry said he expects to leave for Washington tonight or tomorrow.

"I'll appear before the committee if I have to go by ambulance."

He said he was suffering from a run-down condition and a recent heart attack.

Collins was seated in the rear of the room as Mead read his letter of apology.

The Letter of Apology.

The letter, addressed to Chairman Mead, follows:

"Dear Mr. Chairman:

"I feel that I owe your committee a sincere and humble apology for my part in the incident which took place here yesterday afternoon. I offer it to you now, believing that you gentlemen will accept it in the spirit in which it is tendered.

"I take a fierce pride in my reputation, not only in Mississippi, but elsewhere. It is difficult for a man to sit idly by and hear another man, by insinuation, innuendo and cheap humor, besmirch him and seek, in a few moments, to tear down a reputation which is the product of a lifetime.

"And so, when yesterday's last witness aimed his cheap falsehoods at me, I confess experiencing an uncontrollable urge to do something about it. That I did.

"My only regret is that I momentarily disturbed this committee in its conscientious search for the truth. For this I humbly apologize. Thank you.

"Very sincerely,

"Ross A. Collins."

Mead said it was the desire of the investigating group to "hear all the evidence" and be "impartial and just."

Gandy was nursing several bruised fingers as a result of yesterday's scuffle.

Ex-Aide To Bilbo Set To Testify At Probe

DAY

Quitman, Miss., Dec. 14 (AP)—Edward R. Terry, former secretary to Senator Theodore G. Bilbo (D., Miss.) said from his hospital bed here today that he felt that "my testimony before the Senate Investigating Committee will have a definite effect on Bilbo's political future."

Terry, who said previously that his family had been threatened with death if he testified before the committee, added that his testimony "can be verified from the written records of one or more parties."

"My only request to the committee," he said, "is that the hearing be an open affair."

Even If By Ambulance

Wearing pajamas and chain-smoking cigarettes, Terry said he expected to leave the hospital tonight or tomorrow and would leave immediately for Washington.

"I'll appear before the committee if I have to go by ambulance," he said.

"Contrary to statements in certain quarters," Terry continued, "I did not enter the hospital to prejudice the committee against Bilbo.

"My condition is the result of a run-down condition, a recent heart attack and the fact that I am awaiting word from a certain New York bank concerning my request for a loan in excess of $1,000,000.

"I hope the general public will bear in mind that I am appearing before this committee not of my own will but because I have been subpoenaed and because the press credits Bilbo with saying he wants me to appear.

"No statement that I make before the committee can be challenged provided there is a follow-up investigation."

Terry said he had read in newspapers that a witness had told the committee that Terry said he had no intention of testifying because "I claimed that anything I said might incriminate me."

No Hint As To Testimony

"This statement is not true," Terry said. "I have been in constant touch with the committee for the past four months and never have made such a statement."

Terry said that he did tell the witness that "I did not feel that the committee would request my testimony since the lives of my wife and daughter were threatened if I did testify."

Terry did not indicate the nature of the testimony he intended to give before the committee.

Chandler and Best Disavow Treason

Broadcasters for Germans Plead Not Guilty

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP).—Douglas Chandler and Robert H. Best, Americans charged with treason by reason of their wartime broadcasts over the Berlin radio, pleaded not guilty at their arraignment today in United States District Court.

The court's warrants were served on the pair when they landed earlier this morning at Army's Bolling Field here in custody of the Army, which brought them from Germany.

The government announced that the District of Columbia Grand Jury will be asked to return indictments next week to replace the long-standing charges on which the two were arraigned.

Best told the court that their Army plane had been forced to land at Westover, Mass., before coming here, and that since Washington was not the first place the plane had halted in the United States he wished to preserve any technical rights he might have as a result of this circumstance. Tom DeWolfe, special assistant to the Attorney General, commented that this did not affect the facts in the case. Best, who has not retained counsel, did not elaborate on the "rights" he wished to preserve.

3 SAID TO REJECT WORLD BANK POST

Washington, Dec. 14 (A. P.).—Three top-ranking officials—two American and one Canadian—were reported today to have turned down chances to head the multi-billion dollar International Bank. Persons associated closely with the bank said that William L. Clayton, Under-Secretary of State; Averell Harriman, Secretary of Commerce, and Graham Towers, governor of the Bank of Canada, had declined to accept the $30,000 a year presidency. (The salary is tax-free).

The bank's directors were scheduled to meet this noon to renew their quest for a successor to Eugene Meyer, whose resignation becomes effective on December 18. If today's meeting fails to arrive at any choice for a new candidate, it is possible that the board might ask Meyer to stay on until a new president is found.

Both Clayton and Harriman were reported to have rejected the board's offer on the ground that they did not want to leave governmental jobs which they considered to be equally important. One of the finest possibilities being mentioned is Emilio G. Collado, youthful American director on the bank. Collado is a former State Department official, who helped to organize the institution.

CHAMBER URGES DEEPER CUT IN U. S. SPENDING

Sees Step as Only Way to Escape From Inflation

Washington, Dec. 14 — (AP) — The U. S. Chamber of Commerce demanded tax cuts—and deeper cuts in federal spending—tonight with the assertion that that is the way out of inflation.

"Deficit financing is the basic cause of recent inflationary trends," the Chamber said in a study of government fiscal history since World War I.

The report coincided with an apparent shift among members of the new Republican majority in Congress toward variable reductions in personal income taxes rather than a straight across-the-board percentage reduction for all taxpayers.

The party's taxation experts, however, still are generally committed to the principle of an average 20 per cent reduction. The recent trend is toward higher personal and dependency exemptions and changes in surtax rates that would make the reduction more for some persons and less for others, on a percentage basis.

"Borrowing from the commercial banks in war and depression years," the Chamber of Commerce report stated, "was responsible for the new purchasing power evidenced in greatly increased bank deposits and currency in circulation.

"Present liquid assets of individuals and corporations . . . will exert an inflationary pressure on prices while goods remain scarce. So long as deficit financing continues, this pressure will be intensified."

Asserting that "relief from excessive tax burdens" would stimulate business and increase production, the study declared that any tax cuts ordered in 1947 would not show their full effects on federal revenue until after inflationary pressures are less pronounced than they are now.

It declared individual tax reductions would "free purchasing power that will be needed when the period of scarcity of goods has passed."

"There is firm ground," the report said, "for the belief that the budget can be balanced at a level permitting both a lightening of the tax burden and a continuous lowering of the public debt."

It conceded, however, that "relatively heavy taxation as viewed from prewar standards will be unavoidable."

Let States Run Rent Control, Says Wiley

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP)—Senator Wiley (R., Wis.) today termed Federal rent restrictions "blockhead control" and said the new Congress should turn the program over to the states without delay.

"Congress never intended," Wiley said, "that rent control should mean a blanket rent freeze. And yet that is exactly what we got under the OPA."

He added that many rents were frozen "at depression levels and never were adjusted."

Local Rule "More Competent"

In urging state operation of rent controls, Wiley said that "by and large local people are far more competent to do the job than anyone else."

"I feel," Wiley continued, "that the new Congress should give ample notice to the states that if they want rent control, they will have to handle it.

"The handling of rents from Washington can mean only injustices in the majority of cases."

He expressed "general agreement" with industry representatives who demanded at a Senate small business subcommittee hearing that all Federal construction curbs also be ditched immediately.

Adjourns Until Dec. 18

The Senate hearing adjourned late yesterday until December 18 after representatives of four veterans organizations testified that lifting of restrictions would divert most building materials to commercial construction.

Chat Paterson, legislative representative of the American Veterans Committee, declared that unless something is done to provide more homes for veterans they may follow the lead of London families and "simply move" into available quarters.

"We may well have squatters in America this winter," Paterson said. "In fact, our homeless veterans may take over summer estates and boarded up Fifth Avenue brownstones, unless we move now . . . to break the bottlenecks."

Sugar Stamp Advance Is Refused After Kilburn Plea for Christmas

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14—Clinton P. Anderson, Secretary of Agriculture, today dashed the hopes of thousands of sugar-hungry New York housewives who had appealed to their Congressmen for aid in obtaining "more sugar for Christmas."

In a letter to Representative Clarence E. Kilburn, Republican, of New York, Mr. Anderson stated that sugar stocks now available were "not sufficient to meet the demand which would be created by the validation of another stamp."

Mr. Kilburn, who reported receipt of more than 2,500 cards and letters from housewives appealing for more sugar for holiday cooking, had urged OPA's sugar-rationing division to prevalidate, for Dec. 15 use, the stamp due Jan. 1.

He reported the bulk of the letters complained that grocers' shelves bulged with supplies of sugar but that lack of ration stamps prevented utilizing stocks on hand. He said he was "convinced" that his plan to prevalidate the Jan. 1 stamp was "feasible and sensible."

He quoted a telegram from the Albany Retail Food Merchants' Association, which said that "our members have plenty of sugar."

At least two other New York representatives, Walter G. Andrews and Edward J. Elsaesser, Buffalo Republicans, reported similar communications from constituents.

Mr. Andrews' office said it had received "at least 1,700 letters" and Mr. Elsaesser's aides reported receipt of more than 1,500.

Mr. Kilburn made public a telegram to Secretary Anderson in which he "strongly urged" that something be done to make the "ample supply" of sugar immediately available to persons who are becoming "increasingly more insistent" and "are sick and tired of being pushed around."

Virtually all letters received by Mr. Kilburn emphasized that sugar was available in stores "if we only had the stamps to get it."

One letter stated: "In this area store shelves are overloaded, but only one person in ten has the necessary stamp." Another, from a storekeeper, said: "We have loads of sugar on our shelves."

Still another complained:

"We haven't had a cake since sugar rationing started. Housewives are paying outrageous prices for sugar substitutes. Sugar coupons are being bootlegged for $1 each."

Food Cost In 30 Days Up 4½%

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP)—The Bureau of Labor Statistics said today the food bill of the average moderate-income city family rose almost 4½ per cent from mid-October to mid-November.

The average price rise for the month in goods and services important in the budgets of these families was two per cent, the bureau added, as costs other than food and rent climbed less than one per cent.

It said consumers' prices on November 15 were fourteen per cent higher than on June 15—five months earlier—and seventeen per cent higher than on last January 15.

Liberty Train To Tour Nation In Fight Against Alien 'Isms'

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP)—A priceless collection of original American documents will be taken on a swing across the country early next year on a special train to spark a nationwide drive against alien ideologists, Attorney General Clark said today.

"Liberty on Wheels," an exhibition of such landmarks in American history as the official copy of the Bill of Rights, will tour the 48 states in a specially constructed, fireproof train.

The purpose, Clark said in an interview, is to "reaffirm in the minds and hearts of the American people an understanding and appreciation of the basic principles of our Government and in this way to combat alien ideologies."

Great Landmarks Included

The exhibition, the Attorney General said, "will give millions of Americans an opportunity to view such monumental landmarks in our history as the Bill of Rights, the Emancipation Proclamation, the original of the Gettysburg address and the notes in his own handwriting of Patrick Henry's immortal speech in which he said, 'give me liberty or give me death.'"

Other documents include notes of the proceedings leading to the Declaration of Independence in Thomas Jefferson's handwriting, and James Madison's manuscript notes of debates in the Federal convention discussing the need for a bill of rights.

Clark said the train will visit all large cities and many small ones in "the longest tour in the history of American railroading. Lasting probably a full year."

Newspapers will sponsor community programs emphasizing the basic principles of the American form of government. Radio stations and the national networks will dramatize these principles in a series of programs. Motion-picture companies will turn out a group of short films along the same line.

Springboard For Crusade

After a meeting of Clark and leaders of the three fields this week, a committee was named to handle the press-radio-movie phase of the program. It is headed by Col. T. A. McInerny, personal assistant to Clark and director of public information for the Justice Department.

Clark said the project is "officially sponsored by the Federal Government" and added:

"We hope it will be just a springboard for a national and local crusade to re-emphasize the concept of American democracy. It is our hope that every governor and every mayor in the nation will sponsor activities in his state and city which will get the maximum number of Americans to become conscious of the ideals of their country."

Every means will be used to protect the historical documents. A special guard of soldiers, sailors, Marines and FBI agents will maintain day-and-night watch throughout the train. Strict security measures will be taken along the route. The documents will be mounted in specially-built, fireproof cases.

On the eve of Bill of Rights day tomorrow, Clark expressed concern over "the impact of alien ideologies on the American way of life" and said "there has been a serious breakdown in the respect for civil rights."

"All Americans must be cognizant of the forces of cynicism abroad in the land," he declared.

"Must Rekindle Heritage"

"The D-day of peace has seen disrespect for law, disruption of reconversion and disregard for the rights of others. We must rekindle the American heritage in the minds and hearts of Americans.

"For we have seen our ideas of democracy eliminated in nation after nation. The survival of these ideas—and their extension by force of example to the remainder of the world—depend on what we do in our own country.

"Every American should be disturbed by the unrest in our country today. For alien ideologies thrive on dissension. Today we find that in many cases the national and local governments are unable to act against open violations of the civil liberties of Americans.

"This situation calls for an affirmative program of education in democracy. By this time next year, I hope that liberty's train will have furnished the spark which will offset the propaganda of alien ideologies."

MARINES RECHECKING FLAG RAISERS AT IWO

WASHINGTON, Dec 14—(AP)—Identification of the men who raised the stars and stripes atop Mount Suribachi, on Iwo Jima, in February, 1945, is being rechecked by the Marine Corps. Officials at Marine headquarters said the corps believes the original identifications to be correct but is making another inquiry for verification.

Lieut. Col. Alan H. Sutter, aide to Marine Commandant Alexander A. Vandegrift, is now in Arizona to obtain an identification affidavit from one of the three survivors, Ira H. Hayes, of Rapchule, Ariz.

Similar affidavits are being taken from the other two living members of the group that planted the American flag on Iwo's battle crest Feb. 23, 1945. They are: Rene A. Gagnon of Manchester, N. H.; and John H. Bradley of Milwaukee.

The remainder of the six-man group, was killed in action, as were many of the marines who witnessed the flag-raising.

During the heat of battle no record was made of the men who participated in the flag-hoisting and they were identified later in Washington by Hayes, Gagnon and Bradley, the Marine Corps said.

These survivors of the action named their flag-raising companions as Sgt. Henry O. Hansen of Sommerville, Mass.; Sgt. Michael Strank, Johnstown, Pa.; and Pfc. Franklin R. Sousley, Flemingsburg, Ky.

In a recent letter to Rep. Milton H. West, (Democrat of Texas), however, Mrs. E. F. Block of Weslaco, Texas, said that she believed that one of the marines in the picture was her son, Corp. Harlan H. Block (also killed on Iwo) and asked he be given credit for a part in the famous tableau. The recheck resulted.

Kwajalein to Get Christmas Trees

Burbank, Cal., Dec. 14 (A. P.). Christmas may not be white in the tropical island of Kwajalein, but at least there will be Christmas trees.

A Royal Netherlands Indies Airlines plane, taking off tonight on the return leg of its inaugural Batavia-California run, will carry a supply of silver-tipped firs to United States military personnel still stationed on the Marshall island base.

NEAR EAST OIL DEVELOPMENT PLANS PUSHED

New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—Standard Oil Company (N.J.) and Socony-Vacuum Oil Company are expected to waste little time in developing their share of the immense Saudi-Arabian oil concessions which, reliable reports say, will pass to them early in 1947 in one of the biggest oil deals since formation of the Iraq Petroleum Company in the early 1920's.

Details of the transaction, now being worked out with the utmost secrecy, will bring to Standard and Socony-Vacuum a reported 40 per cent of a quarter billion acres now held jointly by Standard of California and the Texas Company through a subsidiary, Arabian-American.

The tract is a burning wilderness known only to Bedouin tribesmen and gazelles. It lies between the Persian Gulf coast and the mysterious Nejd plateau, where temperatures range to 180 degrees. Beneath its sands lie upward of 25 billion barrels of oil, geologists and American oil engineers say.

Output "Only Trickle"

Current production, most of which goes to the United States fleet, is 200,000 barrels of crude daily, a trickle compared with its immense possibilities.

Why California Standard and the Texas Company are willing to part with nearly half of such a rich concession is a question on which neither of the parties concerned will comment.

Some observers feel they lack sufficient capital to develop the holdings as rapidly as seems advisable in view of the Near East political situation.

Base Is Transferred

In a shift of empire defense lines, Britain is transferring its chief Mediterranean base from Egypt to Palestine. It has to have a base from which to protect the Suez Canal, and the presence of British forces in Egypt has been resisted.

Simultaneously, the United States is developing an enormous airport at Dhahran, Saudi-Arabia, and is quitting Payne Field, Cairo. This will shortly be the only base under United States command between West Africa and India. Its commandant is Lieut.-Col. Emery Ward, Salina, Okla. Rights to the field were granted by King Ibn Saud of Saudi-Arabia during the war. No rental is paid by the United States, but landing fees according to the size of planes are assessed.

Strategic Importance Great

Proximity of this field to United States oil holdings at Bahrein Island, and indeed to all sections of the Arabian petroleum fields, being only a matter of hours, its strategic importance cannot be overemphasized.

If war ever comes to the Near East again, informed observers feel, the Arabian fields would yield a huge reserve comparable to the known twenty-billion barrel reserve in the United States, sufficient for Army and Air Force needs in that part of the world.

Comment Declined

Significant, too, is the new Trans-Arabian Pipeline Company, recently incorporated in Delaware by the California and Texas companies for construction of a 26-inch line across 1,000 miles of wilderness, from Dhahran to an as-yet-unannounced point on the eastern Mediterranean coast.

Company representatives decline comment on whether their companies will participate in this after the impending deal goes through.

A group of seven representatives from Socony and Jersey Standard left Wednesday night by air for Dhahran to inspect the concession and make what presumably will be final reports to their companies before negotiations are concluded.

The deal is understood to involve State Department sanction.

Troopship Due At N.Y.

NIGHT LEAD U.N.-TRUSTEESHIP (400)

BY MAX HARRELSON

NEW YORK, DEC.14-(AP)-THE UNITED NATIONS ASSEMBLY TODAY SET UP A 10-NATION TRUSTEESHIP COUNCIL WHOSE PRIMARY AIM IS TO BRING INDEPENDENCE EVENTUALLY TO MILLIONS OF NON-SELFGOVERNING PEOPLE THROUGHOUT THE WORLD.

THE NEW COUNCIL, LAST MAJOR ORGAN OF THE UNITED NATIONS TO BE ESTABLISHED, WILL ROUND OUT THE WORLD PEACE ORGANIZATION ENVISAGED BY THE U.N.CHARTER, WHICH NOW CONSISTS OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY, SECURITY COUNCIL, ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL, INTERNATIONAL COURT OF JUSTICE AND SECRETARIAT.

IT WILL START MODESTLY BY SUPERVISING THE ADMINISTRATION OF EIGHT TRUST TERRITORIES--ALL FORMER LEAGUE OF NATION MANDATES--EMBRACING 15,000,000 INHABITANTS. ITS SPONSORS HOPE, HOWEVER, THAT IT WILL SOME DAY HAVE UNDER ITS JURISDICTION ALL OR MOST OF THE HUNDREDS OF MILLIONS OF PERSONS WHO NOW LACK FULL INDEPENDENCE.

WHILE THE CHIEF AIM OF THE COUNCIL IS TO SEE THAT ALL TERRITORIES PLACED UNDER ITS SUPERVISION ADVANCE PROGRESSIVELY TOWARD INDEPENDENCE, ITS IMMEDIATE TASK IS TO MAKE SURE THAT THE TRUST TERRITORIES ARE ADMINISTERED IN THE BEST INTERESTS OF THE INHABITANTS.

FINAL ACTION CREATING THE COUNCIL WAS THE ASSEMBLY'S ELECTION OF MEXICO AND IRAQ TO FILL TWO ELECTIVE SEATS AND COMPLETE THE COUNCIL'S INITIAL MEMBERSHIP OF 10. THE OTHER EIGHT MEMBERS GOT THEIR SEATS AUTOMATICALLY UNDER TERMS OF THE CHARTER.

BOTH MEXICO AND IRAQ WERE CHOSEN ON THE FIRST BALLOT, MEXICO GETTING 36 VOTES AND IRAQ 34.

GREAT BRITAIN, FRANCE, BELGIUM, AUSTRALIA AND NEW ZEALAND GET SEATS AS ADMINISTERING MEMBERS, SINCE THEY ARE THE MANDATORY POWERS WHICH WILL ACTUALLY ADMINISTER THE EIGHT TRUST TERRITORIES. THE UNITED STATES, RUSSIA AND CHINA, AS MEMBERS OF THE BIG FIVE, WILL SIT ON THE COUNCIL AS NON-ADMINISTERING POWERS. THE CHARTER REQUIRES THAT ENOUGH MEMBERS BE ELECTED TO KEEP AN EQUAL BALANCE BETWEEN ADMINISTERING AND NON-ADMINISTERING POWERS.

THE MEMBERSHIP ON THE COUNCIL WILL CHANGE AS ADDITIONAL TRUST TERRITORIES ARE BROUGHT INTO THE TRUSTEESHIP SYSTEM. FOR EXAMPLE, WHEN THE FORMER JAPANESE MANDATED ISLANDS--THE MARSHALLS, CAROLINES AND MARIANAS-- ARE PLACED UNDER THE SYSTEM, THE UNITED STATES WILL BECOME AN ADMINISTERING STATE. THIS WILL REQUIRE THE ELECTION OF AN ADDITIONAL NON-ADMINISTERING MEMBER.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN ANNOUNCED SOME WEEKS AGO THAT THE FORMER JAPANESE MANDATES WOULD BE OFFERED AS "STRATEGIC AREA" TRUST TERRITORIES IN THE IMMEDIATE FUTURE.

THE TERRITORIES WHICH GO UNDER JURISDICTION OF THE TRUSTEESHIP COUNCIL IMMEDIATELY ARE: BRITISH TOGOLAND, BRITISH CAMEROONS, TANGANYIKA, FRENCH TOGOLAND, FRENCH CAMEROONS, WESTERN SAMOA (ADMINISTERED BY NEW ZEALAND) NEW GUINEA (ADMINISTERED BY AUSTRALIA) AND RUANDA-URUNDI (ADMINISTERED BY BELGIUM.)

IN ANOTHER TRUSTEESHIP ACTION TODAY THE ASSEMBLY REJECTED, BY A VOTE OF 37 TO 0, THE UNION OF SOUTH AFRICA'S REQUEST FOR ANNEXATION OF THE FORMER MANDATED TERRITORY OF SOUTHWEST AFRICA AND RECOMMENDED THAT THE TERRITORY BE PLACED UNDER U.N.TRUSTEESHIP.

U.N. TRUSTEESHIP - DAY

NEW YORK, DEC. 14-(AP)-THE UNITED NATIONS ASSEMBLY TODAY TOOK FINAL ACTION TO SET UP A TRUSTEESHIP COUNCIL WHICH WILL SUPERVISE THE GOVERNMENT OF THE MILLIONS OF NON-SELF-GOVERNING PEOPLE THROUGHOUT THE WORLD.

THE ASSEMBLY DECIDED THAT MEXICO AND IRAQ WOULD SIT ON THE COUNCIL AS THE ONLY TWO ELECTIVE MEMBERS, ALONG WITH THE EIGHT NATIONS WHICH GET AUTOMATIC MEMBERSHIP UNDER TERMS OF THE CHARTER.

MEXICO RECEIVED 36 VOTES AND IRAQ 34 AND BOTH WERE CHOSEN ON THE FIRST BALLOT.

A18OUA

UNDER THE CHARTER GREAT BRITAIN, FRANCE, BELGIUM, AUSTRALIA AND NEW ZEALAND BECOME MEMBERS AS ADMINISTRATORS OF THE EIGHT FORMER LEAGUE OF NATIONS MANDATES WHICH HAVE BEEN PLACED UNDER TRUSTEESHIP. THE UNITED STATES, RUSSIA AND CHINA GET THEIR SEATS AS NON-ADMINISTERING MEMBERS UNDER A CHARTER REQUIREMENT THAT THE BIG FIVE POWERS SHALL SIT EITHER AS ADMINISTERING OR NON-ADMINISTERING POWERS.

1946

THE CHARTER PROVIDES THAT ENOUGH MEMBERS SHALL BE ELECTED TO KEEP AN EQUAL BALANCE BETWEEN ADMINISTERING AND NON-ADMINISTERING STATES.

INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

BY FRANCIS W.CARPENTER

NEW YORK, DEC. 14-(AP)-THE UNITED NATIONS WROTE WITH RARE UNANIMITY THIS WEEK AN HISTORIC CHARTER FOR WORLD ARMS LIMITATIO. AND PROHIBITION OF ATOMIC WEAPONS.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY IN ITS FINAL HOURS APPROVED THE FIRST RESOLUTION ON ARMS CONTROL AND PROHIBITION EVER PRODUCED BY THE NEW WORLD PEACE ORGANIZATION. THE DOCUMENT REPRESENTED A REMARKABLE DISPLAY OF GREAT POWERS COMPROMISE.

THE FIRST STEP TO IMPLEMENT IT WILL BE TAKEN MONDAY WHEN THE POLITICAL COMMITTEE OF THE UNITED NATIONS ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION WILL MEET AT LAKE SUCCESS TO CONSIDER THE COMMISSION'S REPORT TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL. THE ASSEMBLY RESOLUTION GAVE TOP PRIORITY TO ATOMIC WEAPONS AND THE DELEGATES MADE IT QUITE CLEAR THEY WOULD COUNTENANCE NO DELAY.

THE SECURITY COUNCIL MUST FORMULATE DETAILS OF THE PROGRAM AND PRESENT THEM TO THE UNITED NATIONS MEMBERS.

THE MAJOR BATTLES OF THIS ASSEMBLY ENDED WHEN THE DELEGATES BY A VOTE OF 36 TO 6 BEAT DOWN A RUSSIAN DEMAND FOR A TROOP CENSUS AND LEFT IT UP TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL TO GATHER WHAT INFORMATION IT MIGHT NEED.

THIS FIGHT WAS MARKED BY AN ITEMIZED REPORT ON U.S.TROOPS DISPOSITIONS ABROAD DELIVERED BY SECRETARY OF STATE JAMES F.BYRNES IN HIS SOLE APPEARANCE ON THE ASSEMBLY ROSTRUM.

IN ANOTHER IMPORTANT ACTION, THE ASSEMBLY SET UP THE TRUSTEESHIP COUNCIL, THE LAST LINK IN THE U.N.CHAIN OF TOP ORGANIZATIONS. MEMBERS ARE GREAT BRITAIN, FRANCE, BELGIUM, AUSTRALIA AND NEW ZEALAND AS STATES ADMINISTERING TRUST TERRITORIES; THE UNITED STATES, RUSSIA, CHINA, MEXICO AND IRAQ AS NON-ADMINISTERING STATES. THE CHIEF AIM OF THE COUNCIL IS TO SEE THAT ALL NON-SELF-GOVERNING PEOPLES MOVE PROGRESSIVELY TOWARD INDEPENDENCE.

THEIR BUSINESS DONE, ERNEST BEVIN, BRITAIN'S FOREIGN SECRETARY, AND VYACHESLAV M.MOLOTOV, RUSSIAN FOREIGN MINISTER, SAILED FOR HOME AND THE TASK OF PREPARING FOR TALKS IN MARCH ON THE GERMAN AND AUSTRIAN TREATIES. BOTH SAID THEY WERE SATISFIED WITH ACCOMPLISHMENTS HERE. IN MOSCOW, THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT NEWSPAPER IZVESTIA ALSO COMMENDED THE WORK OF THE ASSEMBLY AND THE FOREIGN MINISTERS COUNCIL. IT WAS THE MOST OPTIMISTIC COMMENT IN IZVESTIA IN SOME TIME.

U.N.-SOUTHWEST AFRICA

NEW YORK, DEC.14-(AP)-THE UNITED NATIONS ASSEMBLY FINALLY REJECTED SOUTH AFRICA'S PLAN TO ANNEX SOUTHWEST AFRICA TODAY AND CALLED UPON THE UNION GOVERNMENT TO SUBMIT THE MANDATED TERRITORY TO THE U.N. FOR TRUSTEESHIP.

THE VOTE WAS 39 TO 0 WITH NINE ABSTENTIONS.

SOUTH AFRICA FOUGHT FOR ITS ANNEXATION PLAN ALL THE WAY THROUGH COMMITTEE BUT DID NOT CAST A BALLOT IN THE FINAL VOTE.

PREMIER JAN CHRISTIAAN SMUTS HAD WARNED DURING COMMITTEE DEBATE THAT HIS GOVERNMENT WOULD CONTINUE TO ADMINISTER THE TERRITORY AS "AN INTEGRAL PART OF THE UNION" REGARDLESS OF THE U.N. DECISION. AS APPROVED THE RESOLUTION SAID:

"THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY IS UNABLE TO ACCEDE TO THE INCORPORATION OF THE TERRITORY OF SOUTHWEST AFRICA IN THE UNION OF SOUTH AFRICA, AND

"RECOMMENDS THAT THE MANDATED TERRITORY OF SOUTHWEST AFRICA BE PLACED UNDER THE INTERNATIONAL TRUSTEESHIP SYSTEM AND INVITED THE GOVERNMENT OF THE UNION OF SOUTH AFRICA TO PROPOSE FOR THE CONSIDERATION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY A TRUSTEESHIP AGREEMENT FOR THE AFORESEEN TERRITORY."

UNDER THE U.N. CHARTER, MEMBER GOVERNMENTS ARE INVITED TO OFFER MANDATE TERRITORIES FOR THE TRUSTEESHIP SYSTEM AND WITH APPROVAL OF AGREEMENTS THE AREAS ARE PLACED UNDER THE WORLD AGENCY WITH THE ADMINISTERING AUTHORITY CONTINUING TO FUNCTION.

TODAY'S DECISION MARKED THE FIRST TIME THAT THE ASSEMBLY HAS PASSED A RESOLUTION GOING SO FAR AS TO "RECOMMEND" THAT A GOVERNMENT COMPLY.

JOHN FOSTER DULLES, AMERICAN DELEGATE, REMARKED IN THE FINAL DEBATE THAT "THE RESOLUTION DOES NOT GIVE SATISFACTION TO THE SUGGESTION OF THE UNION OF SOUTH AFRICA BUT THE DENIAL IS COUCHED IN TERMS WHICH, WHILE FIRM, ARE COURTEOUS AND AVOID OFFENSE AND WHICH MAKE A CONSTRUCTIVE SUGGESTION FOR THE FUTURE."

INDIA, DENMARK AND THE UNITED STATES SPONSORED THE WINNING RESOLUTION.

U.N.-PRESS (750)
BY FRANCIS W.CARPENTER
NEW YORK, DEC. 14-(AP)-DECLARING THAT FREEDOM OF INFORMATION IS THE "TOUCHSTONE OF ALL THE FREEDOMS TO WHICH THE UNITED NATIONS IS CONSECRATED," THE UNITED NATIONS ASSEMBLY TONIGHT UNANIMOUSLY ADOPTED A RESOLUTION CALLING FOR A CONFERENCE OF ALL U.N. MEMBERS IN 1947 ON FREEDOM OF INFORMATION.

THE RESOLUTION SPECIFICALLY STATED THAT DELEGATIONS TO THE CONFERENCE SHALL INCLUDE "IN EACH INSTANCE PERSONS ACTUALLY ENGAGED OR EXPERIENCED IN PRESS, RADIO, MOTION PICTURES AND OTHER MEDIA FOR THE DISSEMINATION OF INFORMATION."

THE PLACE OF THE CONFERENCE WAS LEFT UP TO THE DECISION OF THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL, WHICH WILL MEET HERE IN FEBRUARY. THE ASSEMBLY APPROVED A MINIMUM OF $28,000 FOR SUCH A CONFERENCE IF IT IS HELD AT U.N. HEADQUARTERS AND THERE WAS SPECULATION TONIGHT THAT THE MEETING WOULD BE DESIGNATED FOR NEW YORK. 1946

THE ASSEMBLY ACTION CLIMAXES A FIGHT WAGED SINCE LAST WINTER'S MEETING FOR JUST SUCH A CONFERENCE.

BRIG.GEN.CARLOS P.ROMULO, CHIEF OF THE PHILIPPINE DELEGATION TO THE U.N. AND HIMSELF A NEWSPAPER PUBLISHER, TOLD THE ASSEMBLY WHEN THE RESOLUTION CAME UP FOR ACTION LATE TONIGHT THAT SOME ARRANGEMENTS SHOULD BE MADE TO BIND THE AGREEMENTS OF THE CONFERENCE ON THE PARTICIPATING MEMBERS. THE CONFERENCE REPORT WILL GO EVENTUALLY TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

HE SAID THAT RADIO AND FILMS WERE INCLUDED OVER THE OBJECTIONS OF THE SOVIET RUSSIAN DELEGATION BUT THAT HE WAS SURE THE SOVIETS WOULD AGREE IT WAS BETTER TO HAVE ONE CONFERENCE THAN TO ADD TO THE MULTIPLICITY OF INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCES ALREADY PLANNED.

ROMULO SAID HE KNEW OF NO OTHER PROJECT ON WHICH THE UNITED NATIONS COULD GET TOGETHER WITH LESS DIVERGENCE.

THE UNANIMOUS VOTE THEN WAS TAKEN.

THE RESOLUTION LAID DOWN THE FOLLOWING GUIDING PRINCIPLES:

"(A) THE PURPOSE OF THE CONFERENCE SHALL BE TO FORMULATE ITS VIEWS CONCERNING THE RIGHTS, OBLIGATIONS AND PRACTICES WHICH SHOULD BE INCLUDED IN THE CONCEPT OF THE FREEDOM OF INFORMATION;

"(B) DELEGATIONS TO THE CONFERENCE SHALL INCLUDE IN EACH INSTANCE PERSONS ACTUALLY ENGAGED OR EXPERIENCED IN PRESS, RADIO, MOTION PICTURES AND OTHER MEDIA FOR THE DISSEMINATION OF INFORMATION;

A136

"(C) THE CONFERENCE SHALL BE HELD BEFORE THE END OF 1947, AT SUCH PLACE AS MAY BE DETERMINED BY THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL, IN ORDER TO ENABLE THE COUNCIL TO SUBMIT A REPORT ON THE DELIBERATIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE CONFERENCE TO THE FOLLOWING REGULAR SESSION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY."

IN ITS PREAMBLE, THE RESOLUTION STATED THAT:

"FREEDOM OF INFORMATION IS A FUNDAMENTAL HUMAN RIGHT AND IS THE TOUCHSTONE OF ALL THE FREEDOMS TO WHICH THE UNITED NATIONS IS CONSECRATED;

"FREEDOM OF INFORMATION IMPLIES THE RIGHT TO GATHER, TRANSMIT AND PUBLISH NEWS ANYWHERE AND EVERYWHERE WITHOUT FETTERS. AS SUCH IT IS AN ESSENTIAL FACTOR IN ANY SERIOUS EFFORT TO PROMOTE THE PEACE AND PROGRESS OF THE WORLD;

"FREEDOM OF INFORMATION REQUIRES AS AN INDISPENSABLE ELEMENT THE WILLINGNESS AND CAPACITY TO EMPLOY ITS PRIVILEGES WITHOUT ABUSE. IT REQUIRES AS A BASIC DISCIPLINE THE MORAL OBLIGATION TO SEEK THE FACTS WITHOUT PREJUDICE AND TO SPREAD KNOWLEDGE WITHOUT MALICIOUS INTENT;

"UNDERSTANDING AND COOPERATION AMONG NATIONS IS IMPOSSIBLE WITHOUT AN ALERT AND SOUND WORLD OPINION WHICH, IN TURN, IS WHOLLY DEPENDENT UPON FREEDOM OF INFORMATION."

DURING THE FIRST PART OF THE FIRST SESSION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY IN LONDON THE PHILIPPINE DELEGATION PRESENTED A DRAFT RESOLUTION CALLING FOR AN INTERNATIONAL PRESS CONFERENCE. THIS RESOLUTION FINALLY WAS POSTPONED UNTIL THE PRESENT MEETING OF THE ASSEMBLY.

WHILE THE ASSEMBLY WAS IN LONDON EXPRESSIONS FOR FREEDOM OF INFORMATION AND URGING THE UNITED NATIONS TO TAKE ACTION WERE SENT BY KENT COOPER, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS; HUGH D. BAILLIE, PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED PRESS; AND WILBUR FORREST, ASSISTANT EDITOR OF THE NEW YORK HERALD-TRIBUNE AND PRESIDENT OF THE AMERICAN SOCIETY OF NEWSPAPER EDITORS. LAST MAY THE COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS SET UP A SUB-COMMISSION ON FREEDOM OF INFORMATION AND OF THE PRESS, WHICH WAS CONFIRMED BY THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL.

FORREST SUBMITTED AN URGENT PROPOSAL FOR ACTION ON THE MATTER TO THE UNITED NATIONS LAST SEPTEMBER AND IT WAS ON THE AGENDA WHEN THE ASSEMBLY MET. THE RESOLUTION WAS DRAWN UP AFTER SEVERAL COMMITTEE MEETINGS THIS FALL.

NEW YORK, DEC. 14-(AP)-THE UNITED NATIONS GENERAL ASSEMBLY TONIGHT PICKED MANHATTAN'S EAST SIDE FOR ITS PERMANENT CAPITAL. THE VOTE WAS 46 TO 7. HAITI WAS ABSENT.

THE ASSEMBLY GREETED THE RESULT WITH GREAT APPLAUSE.

THE ACTION, TAKEN IN ABOUT THIRTY MINUTES OF SHORT, SNAPPY DISCUSSION, CLIMAXED A YEAR'S SEARCH FOR A PERMANENT HOME FOR THE NEW WORLD PEACE AGENCY.

SAN FRANCISCO AND PHILADELPHIA WERE THE PRINCIPAL CONTENDERS AT THE END UNTIL JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, JR., PRESENTED HIS SURPRISE OFFER OF $8,500,000 TO BUY LAND FOR A SITE IN MANHATTAN'S EAST SIDE.

A111UN

IN THE FINAL VOTING, AUSTRALIA, EGYPT, EL SALVADOR, IRAQ, LEBANON, SAUDI ARABIA AND SYRIA CAST BALLOTS AGAINST NEW YORK CITY.

AUSTRALIA AND THE ARAB STATES THUS CARRIED TO THE END THEIR FIGHT AGAINST NEW YORK. AUSTRALIA FAVORED SAN FRANCISCO IN THE LONG CONTEST.

THE HEADQUARTERS COMMITTEE PROPOSED THAT THE ASSEMBLY ACCEPT THE SITE UNANIMOUSLY AND THANKED ROCKEFELLER FOR HIS OFFER TO BUY THE LAND FOR THE SKYSCRAPER CAPITAL. more

EDUARDO ZULETA ANGEL, OF COLOMBIA, CHAIRMAN OF THE COMMITTEE, WHO HAS BEEN SUFFERING A HEART ATTACK, LEFT HIS HOSPITAL BED TO COME TO THE ASSEMBLY AND MAKE HIS REPORT.

THE ASSEMBLY TOOK UP THE SITE QUESTION IMMEDIATELY AFTER RETURNING FROM ITS DINNER RECESS. WARREN R. AUSTIN, FORMER UNITED STATES SENATOR AND NOW CHIEF OF THE UNITED STATES DELEGATION TO THE ASSEMBLY, ASKED FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT TO MOVE THE SITE ITEM AHEAD OF A NUMBER OF OTHER MINOR MATTERS ON THE STILL-CROWDED AGENDA IN DEFERENCE TO THE CHAIRMAN'S ILLNESS.

NASRULLAH ENTESAM, OF IRAN, RAPPORTEUR OF THE HEADQUARTERS COMMITTEE, EXPRESSED TO THE ASSEMBLY THE UNANIMOUS THANKS OF THE COMMITTEE TO JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, JR., FOR HIS OFFER OF $8,500,000 TO BUY LAND ON NEW YORK'S EAST SIDE FOR A HOME FOR THE U.N.

THE DELEGATES APPLAUDED MENTION OF ROCKEFELLER'S NAME.

ENTEZAM THEN THANKED THE OTHER CITIES WHICH HAD EXTENDED INVITATION TO THE UNITED NATIONS, ESPECIALLY SAN FRANCISCO WHICH HE DESCRIBED AS "THAT PARADISE OF THE WEST," AND TO PHILADELPHIA, WHICH HE DESCRIBED AS THE "CRADLE OF LIBERTY, EQUALITY AND FRATERNITY."

THE CHAIRMAN TOLD THE DELEGATES THAT THE YEAR OF WORK BY THE COMMITTEE HAD MADE POSSIBLE THE QUICK ACCEPTANCE OF ROCKEFELLER'S OFFER, WHICH WAS MADE SUDDENLY DURING THIS WEEK AS IT APPEARED THE QUESTION MIGHT HAVE TO BE POSTPONED UNTIL NEXT YEAR.

ZULETA SAID THAT THE SKYSCRAPERS AND CHIMNEYS OF MANHATTAN WOULD NOT HINDER THE WORK OF THE UNITED NATIONS. HE ADDED THAT ON THE CONTRARY, THEY WOULD "RECALL US TO REALITY AND LIFE."

HE APPEALED FOR A UNANIMOUS VOTE, AND ADDRESSED HIMSELF ESPECIALLY TO THE MEMBERS OF THE "PAN-ARAB LEAGUE," ASKING THEM TO ABANDON ANY PREJUDICES AGAINST NEW YORK.

ZULETA NEXT ASKED THE AUSTRALIAN DELEGATION, WHICH HAS FOUGHT FOR SAN FRANCISCO, ALSO TO JOIN IN ACCEPTING NEW YORK.

EGYPT AND AUSTRALIA, HOWEVER, EXPRESSED OPPOSITION IN BRIEF SPEECHES.

COL. MOHAMED ABDEL HALIM KHALIFA BEY, OF EGYPT, TOLD THE ASSEMBLY THAT HE THANKED ZULETA FOR HIS APPEAL TO THE PAN-ARAB LEAGUE BUT THAT EGYPT WOULD VOTE AGAINST THE RESOLUTION PROPOSING NEW YORK.

NORMAN J.O. MAKIN, CHIEF DELEGATE OF AUSTRALIA, SAID HIS DELEGATION STILL FELT THAT THE CHOICE OF NEW YORK WAS NOT IN ACCORD WITH THE BEST CHOICE THAT COULD BE MADE.

MAKIN SAID THAT HE FELT THERE WERE MANY SITES IN THIS "GREAT COUNTRY" WHICH WOULD GIVE THE UNITED NATIONS A DISTINCTIVE CHARACTER. HE SAID SAN FRANCISCO HAD ALL OF THE ADVANTAGES AND THAT HE MUST REGISTER FINALLY HIS OBJECTION TO THE SITE IN NEW YORK.

NIGHT LEAD JINNAH

BY TOM WILLIAMS

LONDON, DEC 14-(AP)-MAHOMED ALI JINNAH, MOSLEM LEAGUE PRESIDENT, TODAY ACCUSED THE RIVAL ALL-INDIA CONGRESS OF PREPARING TO "TORPEDO COMPLETELY" LEAGUE DEMANDS FOR DIVISION OF INDIA INTO SEPARATE MOSLEM AND HINDU NATIONS--A STEP JINNAH ASSERTED WAS FUNDAMENTAL TO ACHIEVING OF INDIAN INDEPENDENCE.
HE REJECTED A BRITISH ATTEMPT TO RESOLVE THE HINDU-MOSLEM DIFFERENCES BY SUBMITTING DISPUTED SECTIONS OF THE LABOR GOVERNMENT'S PLAN FOR INDEPENDENCE TO AN INDIAN FEDERAL COURT. "I WILL TRUST NO COURT TO DECIDE ON A POINT LIKE THIS," HE SAID.
JINNAH, WHO CLAIMS TO BE THE SPOKESMAN FOR 100,000,000 INDIAN MOSLEMS, MADE THE STATEMENTS AT A NEWS CONFERENCE PRIOR TO HIS DEPARTURE FOR INDIA, WHERE A CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY IS ATTEMPTING TO DRAW UP A CHARTER FOR INDIAN INDEPENDENCE. JINNAH DECLARED THE MOSLEMS WOULD NOT PARTICIPATE IN THAT ASSEMBLY UNTIL "THE CONGRESS IS PREPARED TO ACCEPT THE LONG TERM SCHEME."
HE DECLARED THAT DIVISION OF INDIA INTO HINDUSTAN AND PAKISTAN WAS "THE ONLY PRACTICAL WAY" OF SOLVING THE FORMIDABLE PROBLEM OF INDIAN INDEPENDENCE AND ADDED:
"THE SOONER BRITAIN DECIDES THAT THE BETTER. WE WISH THE HINDUS GODSPEED. GO AHEAD AND FRAME YOUR CONSTITUTION FOR HINDUSTAN. GO AHEAD, AND LET US FRAME A CONSTITUTION FOR PAKISTAN."
HE CHARGED CONGRESS LEADERS WITH ATTEMPTING TO "OVERRULE ANOTHER NATION," THE MOSLEM MINORITY, AND SAID "THERE MUST BE SOME CONDITIONS IN THE SCHEME WHICH WILL PREVENT A BRUTE MAJORITY FROM TAKING THE BIT IN ITS MOUTH AND RUNNING AWAY."
JINNAH WARNED OF POSSIBLE FURTHER COMMUNAL STRIFE WHICH HAS ALREADY CLAIMED THOUSANDS OF LIVES IN INDIA AND SAID "IF HIS MAJESTY'S GOVERNMENT AND THE PARLIAMENT DO NOT REALIZE THE GRAVITY OF THE SITUATION AND HANDLE THIS ISSUE BOLDLY AND FRANKLY I AM AFRAID THAT THINGS WILL GET WORSE."
HE SAID HE DID NOT SHARE THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT'S VIEWS THAT THIS WEEK'S DEBATE ON INDIAN AFFAIRS IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS MIGHT JEOPARDIZE THE INDEPENDENCE MOVEMENT.
"I FEEL LIGHT IS DAWNING ON THE TREMENDOUS MESS THAT ALREADY HAS BEEN MADE, AND I THINK PARLIAMENT IS IN A BETTER POSITION NOW WITH REGARD TO SOME OF THE FACTS THAN THEY WERE ALL THESE MONTHS," HE SAID.
THE CONGRESS HAS AGREED TO SUBMIT TO INTERPRETATION BY A FEDERAL COURT OF A TROUBLESOME SECTION OF THE INDIAN INDEPENDENCE PLAN PERTAINING TO A GROUPING OF PROVINCES THAT WOULD GIVE THE MOSLEMS SEMI-AUTONOMY. THE FEDERAL COURT IS MADE UP OF HINDUS, MOSLEMS AND BRITISH.

BASEL, SWITZERLAND, DEC.14-(AP)-DISCUSSION OF POLITICAL ISSUES BEFORE THE 22ND WORLD ZIONIST CONGRESS IS EXPECTED TO BE COMPLETED TONIGHT OR TOMORROW. THE PRINCIPAL ISSUES ARE:

1. SHALL THE CONGRESS INSTRUCT THE JEWISH AGENCY EXECUTIVE TO REPRESENTATIVES TO THE PALESTINE CONFERENCE IN LONDON NEXT MONTH?

2. IF SO, SHALL THE ZIONISTS ASK PARTITION OF PALESTINE INTO JEW AND ARAB STATES OR SHALL THEY INSIST UPON A JEWISH STATE IN THE WHOLE OF PALESTINE?

AFTER THE PUBLIC DISCUSSION, THE POLITICAL COMMISSION, IN CLOSED CHAMBER, WILL FORMULATE RESOLUTIONS TO BE SUBMITTED TO A PLENARY MEETING OF THE CONGRESS ABOUT ONE WEEK HENCE.

THE POLITICAL COMMISSION CONSISTS OF 30 REPRESENTATIVES OF THE 30.24-6947

CONGRESS, DETERMINED BY THE PROPORTIONATE STRENGTH OF EACH PARTY AT THE CONGRESS. AMONG THE SIX PRINCIPAL PARTIES, THE MOST POWERFUL GROUP NUMERICALLY IS THE GENERAL ZIONISTS, MAINLY FROM THE UNITED STATES AND ENGLAND.

MOST GENERAL ZIONIST SPEAKERS THUS FAR HAVE FAVORED PARTICIPATION IN THE LONDON CONFERENCE, BUT SOME AMERICAN AND BRITISH REPRESENTATIVES HAVE BEEN AT ODDS ON THE ISSUE.

THE JEWISH AGENCY, ADVISORY BODY TO THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT UNDER BRITAIN'S LEAGUE OF NATIONS MANDATE FOR PALESTINE, HAS BEEN CRITICIZED AND PRAISED FOR CONSIDERING THE PARTITION OF PALESTINE. THE FORMULA OF PARTITION HAS BEEN "A VIABLE JEWISH STATE ON AN ADEQUATE AREA OF PALESTINE." THERE HAVE BEEN NO OFFICIAL UTTERANCES HERE ON SPECIFICALLY WHAT THAT MEANS.

MOST EXECUTIVE COMMITTEEMEN OF THE JEWISH AGENCY DEFENDED THEIR POLICY OF CONSIDERING PARTITION OF PALESTINE. A NOTABLE EXCEPTION WAS MOSHE SNEH, A PALESTINIAN MEMBER OF THE GENERAL ZIONIST PARTY. SNEH OPPOSED PARTICIPATION IN THE LONDON CONFERENCE, ARGUING THAT IT WAS INTENDED AS "A LIQUIDATION OF ZIONISM." HE FAVORED CONTINUED RESISTANCE IN PALESTINE BY LEGAL MEANS.

MOST SPEAKERS HAVE CONDEMNED TERRORISM IN PALESTINE. ONE WHO SAID AN OPPOSITION GROUP WAS ENCOURAGING TERRORISM WAS SHOUTED DOWN BY CRIES OF "IT'S A DIRTY LIE."

GRUNEBAUM'S SPEECH BEFORE THE 22ND WORLD ZIONIST CONGRESS WOUND UP DEBATE ON POLITICAL ISSUES WHICH HAVE REVOLVED ABOUT THE MAIN QUESTIONS OF WHETHER TO SEND REPRESENTATIVES TO THE LONDON CONFERENCE ON PALESTINE, WHICH IS TO RESUME IN JANUARY, AND WHETHER TO AGREE TO PARTITION OF PALESTINE OR INSIST UPON A JEWISH STATE IN THE WHOLE.

THE ISSUES NOW GO TO THE POLITICAL COMMISSION WHICH WILL CONSIDER THE ARGUMENTS THAT HAVE BEEN HEARD AND FORMULATE RESOLUTIONS IN A CLOSED CHAMBER. THE COMMISSION'S RESOLUTIONS WILL BE SUBMITTED TO A PLENARY SESSION IN ABOUT A WEEK. THE THIRTY MEMBERS OF THE COMMISSION ARE APPORTIONED AMONG THE PARTIES ACCORDING TO THEIR STRENGTH IN THE CONGRESS, WITH THE GENERAL ZIONISTS THE LARGEST NUMERICALLY AMONG THE SIX PRINCIPAL GROUPS.

MOST OF THE GENERAL ZIONISTS ARE FROM THE UNITED STATES AND ENGLAND, AND MOST GENERAL ZIONIST SPEAKERS HAVE FAVORED PARTICIPATION IN THE LONDON CONFERENCE.

DIDIMOTIKON, NEAR THE GREEK-TURKISH BORDER, DEC.13-(DELAYED)-(AP)- THE EXECUTIVE OFFICER OF A GREEK BATTALION SPEARHEADING THE MOPPING UP DRIVE IN EVROS PROVINCE DECLARED TODAY THAT A "COMMUNIST ARMY" 3,000 STRONG WAS CONDUCTING RAIDS IN THE AREA OF THE TURKISH BORDER.

HE CHARGED THAT BULGARIAN OFFICERS "REFUSED" TO SIGN AN AGREEMENT TO HALT THE COMMUNISTS FROM CROSSING BULGARIAN TERRITORY TO STRIKE AT GREEK VILLAGES.

CAPT.PANAYOTIS RONGAKOS, THE EXECUTIVE OFFICER, SAID THE RAIDERS ORGANIZED A REGIMENT OF THREE BATTALIONS OF 1,000 MEN EACH ON "THE OLD GREEK ARMY STYLE" AND WERE LED BY EVANGELOS KRITON, "A FORMER ELAS (GREEK LEFT WING) LEADER IN THRACE AND COLLABORATOR WITH THE BULGARIANS."

RONGAKOS ASSERTED THE COMMUNIST ARMY HAD ITS HEADQUARTERS IN TWO BULGARIAN AND THREE GREEK VILLAGES, INCLUDING CORYMBOS, AND THAT IT WAS MADE UP OF FIVE TO 10 PERCENT "FOREIGNERS, FIVE PERCENT BULGAR-TRAINED GREEKS WEARING YUGOSLAV UNIFORMS" AND THE BALANCE GREEK COMMUNISTS. THE OFFICERS, HE ADDED, WERE "MAINLY FOREIGNERS" AND INCLUDED "A FEW REGULAR BULGARIAN ARMY OFFICERS."

RONGAKOS SAID HE HAD ASKED BULGARIAN OFFICERS "TO SIGN AN 1946 AGREEMENT TO HALT THE MOVEMENT OF GUERRILLAS BACK AND FORTH OVER THE BORDER" AND TO "SURRENDER GREEK GUERRILLAS TO THE GREEK MILITARY" BUT THAT THEY "REFUSED TO AGREE TO OUR PROPOSALS AFTER CONFERRING WITH A PARTY COMMISSAR WHO ATTENDED THE MEETING."

MEANWHILE A BLIZZARD WHICH SWEPT OUT OF THE NORTH GAVE THIS FRONTIER POST ITS FIRST QUIET NIGHT IN THREE WEEKS. BATTALION OFFICERS SAID HEAVY SNOWS COVERED FIVE MASS GRAVES CONTAINING 250 BODIES OF "BANDITS" KILLED IN THE RECENT FIVE-DAY BATTLE NEAR CORYMBOS.

HEADQUARTERS REMAINED SILENT ON GREEK CASUALTIES, BUT AN OFFICER SAID "11 OFFICERS WERE KILLED, WOUNDED OR CAPTURED." ONE GREEK OFFICER WAS REPORTED WOUNDED, CAPTURED AND TRANSPORTED TO BULGARIA IN AN OXCART "IN THE VIEW OF BULGARIAN BORDER GUARDS."

A CURFEW WAS IMPOSED ON ALL TOWNS IN THIS AREA. STREETS WERE PATROLLED BY NEWLY ORGANIZED CIVILIAN GUARD UNITS. THE ARMY SAID "800 TO 1,000" VILLAGERS WERE ARMED AND BROUGHT INTO SPECIAL SERVICE TO GUARD THEIR HOMES FROM ATTACK.

HEADQUARTERS REMAINED SILENT ON PRISONERS HELD, BUT A RELIABLE INFORMANT SAID MORE THAN 600 GUERRILLAS AND THEIR FAMILIES TAKEN IN THREE GENERAL MOPPING UP OPERATIONS IN WESTERN THRACE WERE NOW IMPRISONED.

B435PES

ACTING FOREIGN MINISTER STEPHANOS STEPHANOPOULOS SAID THAT THE GREEK GOVERNMENT HAS LODGED FORMAL PROTESTS WITH THE ALLIED AMBASSADORS IN ATHENS AGAINST THE DECISION OF THE BIG FOUR FOREIGN MINISTERS TURNING DOWN THE GREEK PLEA FOR TERRITORIAL ADJUSTMENTS ON THE GREEK-BULGARIAN FRONTIER IN THE TREATY WITH BULGARIA.

MEANWHILE SECOND DIVISION HEADQUARTERS ATUGARISA ANNOUNCED THAT IT HAD COMPLETED FOUR DAYS' MOPPING UP OPERATIONS IN THE LOWER MOUNT OLYMPUS AREA AND HAD CLEARED INSURGENTS OUT OF 14 VILLAGES. THE ANNOUNCEMENT SAID THAT SIX GUERRILLAS HAD BEEN KILLED.

GEN.CONSTANTINE VENTIRIS, COMMANDER OF THE THIRD ARMY, NOW TOURING EASTERN MACEDONIA AND WESTERN THRACE, HAS ISSUED A PROCLAMATION INVITING THE GUERRILLAS TO SURRENDER UNDER TERMS OF AN AMNESTY PROVIDED BY THE GREEK PARLIAMENT. + 1100 Athens (DAY-Greece) XXX borders (Goodwin)

THE ENVOY HAS BEEN TRYING TO MOVE FROM CRAMPED QUARTERS IN THE HOTEL POLONIA TO A RESIDENCE NEAR THE EMBASSY, BUT FOUR POLES IN THE HOUSE HAVE REFUSED TO BUDGE.

A FOREIGN MINISTRY SPOKESMAN, ASKED WHEN THE AMBASSADOR WOULD GET THE RESIDENCE, POINTED OUT THAT IT WOULD BE DIFFICULT TO TOSS THE SQUATTERS INTO THE STREET BUT SAID SOME STEPS WOULD HAVE TO BE TAKEN.

THE AMBASSADOR WOULD NOT COMMENT.

BELGRADE, YUGOSLAVIA, DEC 14-(AP)-THE NEWSPAPER POLITIKA SAID TODAY THAT INSURGENTS WERE REPULSING GREEK GOVERNMENT TROOPS WITH SUCH STRENGTH THAT THE GREEK WAR MINISTRY ITSELF WAS "BEGINNING TO DOUBT THE SUCCESSFUL OUTCOME."

POLITIKA SAID THE GREEK GOVERNMENT WAS SHOOTING "DOZENS OF MEN DAILY ALLEGEDLY FOR TREASON" AND THAT LEADERS OF "DEMOCRATIC GROUPS AND NATIONAL LIBERATION MOVEMENTS" WERE BEING CLAPPED INTO CONCENTRATION CAMPS.

THE NEWSPAPER ACCUSED THE BRITISH OF RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE FIGHTING IN GREECE, AND SAID THAT, ALTHOUGH BRITISH TROOPS HAD BEEN OCCUPYING GREECE FOR MORE THAN TWO YEARS, "NOT ONE DEMOCRATIC PARTY IS REPRESENTED IN THE GREEK GOVERNMENT."

POLITIKA, LIKE ALL YUGOSLAV NEWSPAPERS, IS A SEMI-OFFICIAL ORGAN.

THE YUGOSLAV GOVERNMENT HAS PERSISTENTLY REFUSED TO FOREIGN CORRESPONDENTS ANY OFFICIAL COMMENT ON FOREIGN REPORTS THAT THE GREEK INSURGENTS ARE BEING SUPPLIED FROM YUGOSLAVIA, BULGARIA AND ALBANIA.

UNRRA (350)

BY ROGER D.GREENE

WASHINGTON, DEC 14-(AP)-THE 48-NATION UNRRA COUNCIL DISPERSED TODAY AFTER SETTING A TENTATIVE THREE MONTH DEADLINE FOR COMPLETION OF ITS GOOD SAMARITAN MINISTERING TO THE WORLD'S HUNGRY NATIONS.

CLIMAXING A FOUR-DAY MEETING, THE ORGANIZATION ACCEPTED THE RESIGNATION OF DIRECTOR GENERAL FIORELLO H.LAGUARDIA AND ELECTED MAJ. GEN. LOWELL W.ROOKS AS HIS SUCCESSOR.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN SENT UNDER SECRETARY OF STATE DEAN ACHESON TO GIVE LAGUARDIA THE NATION'S HIGHEST CIVIL DECORATION, THE MEDAL FOR MERIT.

MR. TRUMAN ALSO DISPATCHED A PERSONAL MESSAGE DECLARING THAT LAGUARDIA'S EFFORTS HAD EARNED "THE GRATITUDE OF MILLIONS IN THE WORLD WHO WERE THREATENED WITH STARVATION."

LAGUARDIA'S RESIGNATION BECOMES EFFECTIVE DECEMBER 31. ROOKS, FORMER DEPUTY CHIEF OF STAFF UNDER GENERAL DWIGHT D.EISENHOWER, WILL HANDLE PROCUREMENT AND SHIPMENT OF UNRRA'S REMAINING $626,000,000 IN SUPPLIES.

"I AM SURE WE WILL BE ABLE TO COMPLETE THE PROGRAMS BY NEXT MARCH 31, WITH VERY LITTLE LEFT OVER," LAGUARDIA TOLD THE COUNCIL AT THE CLOSING SESSION YESTERDAY.

IN AN INTERVIEW LATER LAGUARDIA DECLARED THERE SHOULD BE NO HITCH IN MAKING THE MARCH 31 DEADLINE "IF THERE ARE NO MORE SHENANIGANS," SUCH AS THE COAL, STEEL AND SHIPPING STRIKES OF THE PAST YEAR.

AS THE MEETING ENDED, UNRRA OFFICIALS ESTIMATED THAT THE ORGANIZATION HANDLED APPROXIMATELY $3,650,000,000 IN ITS TWO YEAR PROGRAM OF MERCY AND THAT THE UNITED STATES STILL HAS ABOUT $340,000,000 ALLOCATED TO PENDING SHIPMENTS.

OVER SHARP-SPOKEN SOVIET OPPOSITION, THE UNITED STATES WON A MAJOR VICTORY WHEN THE COUNCIL APPROVED THE AMERICAN DEMAND THAT FUTURE

RELIEF BE SENT "WHERE AND WHEN NEEDED"--RATHER THAN ACCORDING TO FIXED PROGRAMS OR SCHEDULES.

OBVIOUSLY FEARFUL THAT RUSSIA'S SATELLITES MIGHT SUFFER IN ANY JUGGLING OF THE REMAINING PROGRAMS, THE CHIEF SOVIET DELEGATE, NIKOLAI FEONOV, INSISTED TO THE ELEVENTH HOUR THAT THE EXISTING PROGRAMS REMAIN FIXED.

AFTER A LONG AND BITTER CLASH BEHIND CLOSED DOORS, WHICH HELD UP THE MAIN COUNCIL SESSION 45 MINUTES, FEONOV FINALLY ACCEPTED A COMPROMISE RESOLUTION PERMITTING PROGRAM CHANGES "WHEN CIRCUMSTANCES CLEARLY PERMIT."

THE AMERICAN DELEGATE, TYLER WOOD, TOLD REPORTERS THAT THE UNITED STATES HAS "NO INTENTION OF MAKING UNILATERAL CHANGES" AND WILL NOT ASK FOR RE-ALLOCATIONS BASED ON "POLITICAL SKULDUGGERY."

HE SAID, HOWEVER, THAT THE UNITED STATES WILL INSIXXMXMMXXX 1946

(ADVANCE)-WASHINGTON,DEC 14-(AP)-AMERICAN AIRLINES ANNOUNCED TONIGHT IT WILL INSTALL "JATO"--JET ASSIST FOR TAKEOFF--ON ALL ITS CONTRACT CARGO PLANES, BECOMING THE FIRST TO MAKE COMMERCIAL USE OF THE WAR-DEVELOPED ROCKET BOOST FOR AIRCRAFT.

THE COMPANY SAID USE OF JATO IS EXPECTED TO INCREASE RELIABILITY AND REDUCE COSTS BY INCREASING THE FLYING RANGE. IT NOW HAS SEVEN FOUR-ENGINE PLANES IN ITS CONTRACT CARGO DIVISION AND SOON WILL HAVE 11.

USE OF JATO ON CARGO PLANES WAS DEMONSTRATED RECENTLY IN A FLIGHT FROM MEXICO CITY TO PHILADELPHIA. AMERICAN'S PILOTS NOW ARE BEING GIVEN TRAINING ON THE ROCKET BOOST DEVICE AT ST.JOSEPH,MO.

THE CIVIL AERONAUTICS ADMINISTRATION IS RUNNING TESTS ON FOUR-ENGINE PLANES WITH JATO, AFTER WHICH IT WILL DETERMINE WHETHER HEAVIER GROSS LOADS TO TAKEOFF CAN BE ALLOWED. SIMILAR TESTS WITH TWO-ENGINE PLANES DID NOT AFFECT THE ALLOWABLE GROSS LOAD.

JATO GIVES THE AIRPLANE THE HELP OF CONSIDERABLE EXTRA THRUST FORWARD FOR A FEW SECONDS, SHORTENING THE TAKEOFF RUN. DURING THE WAR IT WAS USED EXTENSIVELY TO HELP FLYING BOATS TAKE OFF ON ROUGH WATER OR WITH HEAVY LOADS.

ENGINEERS OF AMC'S ELECTRONIC SUBDIVISION GUIDED THE 60-MILE FLIGHT OF A B-17 FLYING FORTRESS HERE THURSDAY BEFORE A GROUP OF HIGH-RANKING OFFICERS TO DEMONSTRATE THE NEW SYSTEM OF MISSILE CONTROL AND AT NO TIME DURING THE DEMONSTRATION, THE COMMAND SAID, WAS THE HIGH FLYING AIRCRAFT VISIBLE TO ENGINEERS OR INSPECTING OFFICERS.

THESE INCLUDED GENERAL JACOB L.DEVERS, COMMANDING GENERAL OF THE ARMY GROUND FORCES, AND MAJOR GENERAL CURTISS E.LEMAY, DEPUTY CHIEF OF STAFF OF THE ARMY AIR FORCES' RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT BRANCH.

GROUND RADAR AUTOMATICALLY TRACKED THE B-17 TO ITS TARGET ALONG A COURSE PLOTTED AS A RED TRACE ON A MAP TABLE, AMC REPORTED.

AN ENGINEER, USING TWO SMALL SWITCHES WHICH SERVED TO VARY GROUND RADAR PULSE SIGNALS, CONTACTED A SMALL RECEIVING SET IN THE PLANE TO GUIDE IT ON ITS PILOTLESS MISSION, THE REPORT CONTINUED.

THE AAF'S ANSWER TO CONTROL OF THE JB-1--AMERICAN COUNTERPART OF THE GERMAN BUZZ BOMB--THE RADAR DEVICE WAS TESTED EXTENSIVELY BY AMC ENGINEERS AT WENDOVER FIELD, UTAH, AND OTHER BASES.

INSTALLATION OF A SMALL RADAR BEACON IN THE AIRCRAFT ELIMINATES VERBAL INSTRUCTIONS IN GROUND-BASED OPERATION OF THE MISSILE, ENGINEERS EXPLAINED, ADDING THAT FURTHER RESEARCH WAS UNDERWAY POINTING TO NEWER SYSTEMS OF RADAR-USED CONTROLS.

IN OPERATIONS CROSSROADS AT BIKINI, RADIO TRANSMITTERS WERE USED IN "MOTHER" AIRCRAFT CONTROLLING THE FLIGHT OF B-17'S. BUT IN THAT INSTANCE, IT WAS POINTED OUT, TRANSMITTERS AND PILOTS WERE IN NEARBY PLANES.

THE NEW YORK PRELATE TOLD THE METHODIST BOARD OF MISSIONS AND CHURCH EXTENSION LAST NIGHT THAT AMERICANS MUST USE "OUR FREEDOM TO CREATE A JUST AND BROTHERLY SOCIETY" AND SUPPORT A FOREIGN POLICY THAT FACES THE RUSSIAN ISSUE WITH TOLERANCE WHERE TENSION IS UNAVOIDABLE.

BISHOP OXNAM, WHO IS PRESIDENT OF THE FEDERAL COUNCIL OF CHURCHES OF CHRIST IN AMERICA, DECLARED THAT RUSSIA'S PROBLEMS "WOULD NOT BE DIFFICULT OF SOLUTION IF THEY WERE DIVORCED FROM COMMUNIST IDEOLOGY."

PETOSKEY,MICH.,DEC.14-(AP)-AP)-A UNIQUE CARGO OF 842 MINKS AND 44 WHITEFACED FOXES WAS READIED TODAY FOR THE INITIAL LEG OF A 4,360 MILE FLIGHT TO OSLO, NORWAY, IN A CHARTERED PLANE SUNDAY.

SPONSOR OF THE TRANS-ATLANTIC JOURNEY IS OLMA BRAGER-LARSEN, A FORMER NORWEGIAN FUR FARM OPERATOR, WHO OPENED A SIMILAR BUSINESS HERE IN 1939 AFTER HE WAS FORCED TO REMAIN IN THIS COUNTRY BECAUSE OF THE OUTBREAK OF WAR IN EUROPE.

BRAGER-LARSEN SAID TODAY HE PLANNED TO USE THE AMERICAN MINKS AND FOXES TO REBUILD NORWEGIAN BREEDING STOCK WHICH WAS ALMOST WIPED OUT DURING THE WAR.

THE TALL NORWEGIAN, WHO WAS VISITING IN THIS COUNTRY WHEN WAR ENGULFED EUROPE IN THE FALL OF 1939, SAID THE AMERICAN ANIMALS WOULD BE DISTRIBUTED AMONG 74 BREEDERS IN NORWAY.

THE MINKS, WHICH WITH THE FOXES, WERE INSURED FOR $175,000 BY THE (AMERICAN) AIRLINES COMPANY INCLUDE PLATINUM, GLACIER BLUE, PASTEL, AND KOH-I-NUR TYPES HE ADDED.

BRAGER-LARSEN SAID TWO OF HIS FRIENDS, LEIV HANSSON, A NORWEGIAN SEAMAN, AND SIGVAL SVIZGUM, A LERDAL, NORWAY FISHERMAN WOULD MAKE THE FLIGHT TO SUPERVISE THE ANIMALS.

A CARGO OF 1500 POUNDS OF BEEF LIVER IS TO BE PLACED ON THE PLANE TO FEED THE ANIMALS DURING THE FLIGHT AND TO TAKE CARE OF THEM IN THE EVENT OF ANY EMERGENCY STOPS BECAUSE OF WEATHER CONDITIONS.

THE PLANE WILL HEAD FOR LA GUARDIA FIELD, N.Y. SUNDAY AND AFTER A BRIEF PAUSE WILL HEAD FOR OSLO.

UN Assembly Ends Session After Voting New Refugee Set-Up

MEETING IN EUROPE REJECTED DESPITE APPROVAL BY U. S.

M HARRISON

Siam Admitted to Membership, 55th Country of United Nations.

REFUGEE DEBATE BITTER

Draft of Constitution Adopted, Goes to Capitals for Ratification.

NEW YORK, Monday, Dec. 16—(AP) The United Nations Assembly, after a strenuous 54-day session highlighted by an approved arms reduction plan, wound up its business early today by rejecting a Ukrainian proposal to hold its 1947 meeting in Europe.

The assembly adjourned at 12:44 a. m. (E.S.T.).

Its next regular meeting will be held in New York next Sept. 16, but the Assembly may be called into special session before then to approve world-wide arms reductions which the Security Council has been asked to plan in detail.

The Ukrainian proposal for a European meeting was defeated by a vote of 14 to 35 with four abstentions. United States Delegate Warren R. Austin voted for the proposal, touching off a wave of applause.

Refugee Body Approved

A short time earlier the assembly over-rode Russian opposition and approved a draft constitution for an international refugee organization.

It also approved Siam's application for UN membership, bringing the number of members to 55.

Austin, addressing the delegates in the closing minutes, declared that the assembly had convened on Oct. 23 in a "mingled atmosphere of fear and hope" but that it "has met the test."

"The assembly," he said, "has proved its power to promote unanimous agreement among the great nations on those things that are most important for the future of mankind. Above all, this session has proced the power of the General Assembly itself as the supreme deliberative body of the world."

Ratification Required

After nearly four hours of debate, the assembly approved the blueprint for the refugee organization and its $160,000,000 budget by a vote of 30 to 5. Before it becomes effective, the constitution must be ratified by 15 nations or enough countries to contribute 75 per cent of the total budget, in the event the first 15 are small contributors.

The refugee battle opened the way for speedy action on the remainder of the agenda.

The fight was touched off by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt who pleaded for approval of a proposed international refugee organization to care for Europe's million displaced persons and called on the member nations to speed up "the restoration of peace and order in the world."

Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko delivered a vigorous attack on the administration of displaced persons camps, most of which are located in the American and British zones of Germany and Austria. He charged that "propaganda conducted in refugee camps is hindering repatriation of refugees" and demanded that such propaganda must be stopped.

Gromyko opposed the draft constitution of the refugee organization on the ground that it placed too much emphasis on resettlement of refugees instead of calling for their repatriation to their native countries.

Entering the home stretch Sunday after 32 plenary sessions here at Flushing Meadow Park and 357 committee meetings, at Lake Success, the delegations were generally agreed that this had been a momentous conclave. Some went so far as to say that the unanimously approved arms limitation resolution alone would give the session an important place in history.

It was clear from the final statements of Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, as they sailed for home Saturday, that they were elated over the results of the assembly's first meeting in what now has become its permanent capital city.

Many Obstacles Ahead

This same spirit of optimism was reflected in the private conversations of other delegates; but some like Alexandre Parodi, of France, cautioned that the assembly's action on arms limitation was only the first step and many obstacles still lay ahead.

There was a general feeling, however, that the arms resolution was a real accomplishment and that agreement had been achieved in spite of divergencies of views between Russia and the western powers which three weeks ago had seemed insurmountable.

There seemed to be little doubt that the greatest single factor behind the new optimism was the conciliatory attitude of the Soviet Union, which contrasted sharply with the unyielding position which the Russians had taken on atomic energy control and other important issues in the past year.

The arms resolution, as finally approved, was made possible only by Soviet concessions of the most sweeping character, particularly on the question of international inspections and controls and the agreement that agencies operating on those vital phases should be free of the big power veto.

This marks a reversal of a policy which had been largely responsible for the seven-months stalemate on atomic control and it may finally break the log-jam on the whole atomic question.

Establishes Basic Principles

The assembly resolution, unanimously acclaimed, lays down the basic principles of the proposed arms reduction program but leaves to the Security Council the task of formulating the detailed plan.

Although the Security Council is not bound by the assembly's action, it was regarded as unlikely that any council member would take a position in conflict with the resolution his country had approved.

The first test of this will come within the next week or two in the atomic commission, which now is drafting a report on the present status of its work. If the Russians adhere to the principles of the assembly resolutions, important progress will be made.

Although the arms limitation question overshadowed other assembly action, this was by no means the only important accomplishment of the session.

Other major achievements:

Recommended that all member states recall their ambassadors and ministers from Franco Spain and that the Franco regime be barred from membership in any organizations started by the UN or having relationship with it.

Admitted Sweden, Iceland, Afghanistan and Siam to UN membership, increasing the number of members from 51 to 55.

Selected a site in mid-town East Side New York as the permanent home of the peace agency, ending the long conflict over east coast vs. west coast.

Set up a 10-member trusteeship council to safeguard the interests of non-self-governing peoples in former League of Nations mandates and to try to see that they eventually achieve full independence.

Adopted a resolution calling on the Big Five powers to use their veto privileges sparingly in the Security Council so that the work of the 11-nation security body would not be obstructed.

Called for a world conference on freedom of information to take place some time in 1947 to try to break down restrictions on the gathering and distribution of news.

Budgets Adopted

The assembly also adopted an administrative budget of $19,390,000 for 1946 and $27,740,000 for 1947. Under a scale of contribution finally approved after a bitter fight the United States will pay 39.89 per cent of the total UN administrative costs for 1947. Great Britain will pay 11.48 per cent and Russia 6.34 per cent.

The United States originally had been asked to pay 49.89 per cent, but Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R-Mich) objected that no one nation should pay a share equal almost to the total amount paid by all other members.

Perhaps the most controversial issue before the assembly was Russia's demand for a report on the number of all troops stationed on the soil of alien non-enemy countries. For a while this question, complicated by many amendments, threatened to wreck the broader arms limitation program.

The United States and Britain demanded that the original Soviet proposal be enlarged to require reports on troops in enemy territory and troops at home. Britain went further and proposed that a UN inspection agency be set up to verify data submitted and Russia countered by trying to include information on all armaments.

Then it appeared that Great Britain might accept the Soviet arms proposal in return for Soviet acceptance of the audit system and that the atomic secrets of the United States would be forced open by the resolution.

Troop Census Rejected

In the end, however, the assembly rejected the whole idea of an immediate troop census and decided, over Soviet objections, to leave it up to the Security council to decide what information member states should be invited to submit in connection with the arms limitation program.

The assembly also rejected a proposal by the Union of South Africa that the former League of Nations mandated territory of Southwest Africa be incorporated into South Africa. It asked the Union government instead to place the territory under UN trusteeship.

South Africa also figured in another important fight touched off by India's complaint against treatment of Indians in South Africa.

The assembly gave recognition to the Indian contention of mistreatment and found that this had led to an impairment of relations between India and South Africa. An assembly resolution asked the two governments to try to reconcile their differences and report back at the next session.

1946 NY HERALD TRIBUNE

Outline of Main Achievements by U. N. General Assembly

If for no other accomplishment than reaching agreement on the principles of a world disarmament formula, the United Nations General Assembly achieved historic success in its nearly-eight-week sessions at Lake Success, L. I., and Flushing Meadow, Queens

Nearly all of the world's political, economic and social problems were tossed before the delegates, in addition to a fistful of U. N. personal problems such as choosing a permanent home, planning a 1947 budget, admitting new members and electing members to various U. N. organs.

The following summary of the U. N. action on some of the major issues that the Assembly was called upon to decide was prepared by members of the New York Herald Tribune staff covering the Assembly.

They were John G. Rogers, Peter Kihss, Jack Werkley, Kenneth Bilby, Kenyon Kilbon, Robert J. Donovan, Virginia Clemmer, Fendall Yerxa, Fitzhugh Turner, Lester Grant, Paul V. Beckley and Leonard Ingalls.

Disarmament

The United Nations was born to keep peace and security over all the world. Collective security under a U. N. police force is one part of the approach to the goal. Disarmament is another part. On disarmament a good start was made by this Assembly. It consisted of agreement "in principle" on the outlines of a world disarmament plan, a resolution which is the Assembly's directive to the Security Council—the actual planner of the details.

Practically disarmament means Russian, American and British disarmament. It must be based on faith and sincerity. It would be ridiculous and dangerous, for example, for the United States and Britain to promote an Assembly majority to force upon Russia a controversial disarmament plan. Hence, the Big Three had to agree "in principle", at the start of the long road they must travel together.

What were the obstacles? One was the American and British fear that Russia would not open her doors to an international inspection system to check on honest compliance. Long months of Soviet obstinacy in the Atomic Energy Commission inflated that fear. Another was the Russian fear of the American atomic bomb. Another was the general accumulation of East-West distrust reflected in so many aspects of U. N. business.

All these were in the background as the Big Three strove to agree "in principle." The fact that they did agree finally is more important than the details of their agreement and concessions. The greatest concession, it appears, was made by Russia when Soviet Foreign Minister Viacheslav M. Molotov promised that Russia was sincere in supporting international inspections and in keeping their operation free of the Security Council veto. American and British concessions were minor compared to this one.

The harmony of the Big Three agreement to date does not promise that the world will stack its arms tomorrow. There is certain to be great dispute when the Security Council begins the planning of the system. When the system finally emerges from the Security Council it must be agreed to by the U. N. members through the signing of international treaties and conventions.

The disarmament resolution requires full and effective inspection over all known weapons of mass destruction, over all such weapons yet to be discovered. It prohibits atomic weapons, and requires full global control over the use of atomic energy for peaceful purposes. In this sense, it is related tightly to the planning of the Atomic Energy Commission.

The resolution also recommends the withdrawal of troops from abroad and reduction of the size of home armies. Many of those diplomats who helped to write the resolution feared that the present world climate is not ideally conducive to disarmament. They thought a year's wait would be good. Others thought the sooner the better. The future will prove that point but the disarmament program as started by the Assembly was generally agreed to be fairly good considering that it had to be a product of compromise.

Trusteeship and Dependent Peoples

The Assembly created a new agency, the Trusteeship Council of the United Nations, which will supervise progress of 15,000,000 persons, living in eight one-time German African and Pacific areas, on their advance to self-government and independence. The former League of Nations mandates of Tanganyika, British Cameroons, British Togoland, French Cameroons, French Togoland, Ruanda Urundi, New Guinea and Western Samoa were first to come under the new trusteeship system.

The colonial powers were chary about giving the U. N. any too much voice in affairs of their other non-self-governing territories, although eight did pledge to submit statistical and technical data on advancement of seventy-two such territories involving 185,000,000 inhabitants. Over colonial power objections that "political implications" might arise, the Assembly decided to set up a special committee of experts to examine such transmitted data next year, so as to furnish it with recommendations for future procedures. The Assembly also urged administering powers to convoke conferences of their dependent peoples to give voice to those populations' aspirations.

The first Trusteeship Council will be composed of the five mandatory powers—the United Kingdom, France, Belgium, Australia and New Zealand—and five others. The latter five include automatically the three other big powers—the United States, Soviet Union and China—and the Assembly elected Iraq and Mexico for additional balance. The Council will begin work here before March 15, but the Soviet Union declined to join in the election, holding military and other clauses of the draft agreements illegal under the Charter.

Three other former mandates did not enter the trusteeship system. Palestine's future was still being discussed elsewhere by British, American, Arab and Jewish leaders. An early report on the Pacific phosphate island of Nauru was promised by Australia. And a proposal to incorporate Southwest Africa into the Union of South Africa was turned down by the Assembly, despite South Africa's declaration that it was a wish first voiced by the mandate's population. The Assembly renewed an invitation to South Africa to submit a trusteeship agreement over the area.

New Members

Midway in its deliberations, the Assembly paused to welcome three new members—Afghanistan, Iceland and Sweden, and in the closing hours it was opening the door to another—Siam. This would raise to fifty-five the number of states in the world family.

Each applicant won unanimous approval of the Security Council. This meant each qualified, under the U. N. Charter, as a "peace-loving" state.

Afghanistan, Iceland and Sweden were introduced to the United Nations in brief, formal ceremonies as their delegation heads signed declarations of adherence to the Charter. Their flags were hoisted in the center of the circular ring of colors in front of the temporary Assembly home at Flushing Meadow Park, Queens.

Siam's application, held up pending bilateral settlement of a border dispute with France, received Security Council approval last week and was expected to receive Assembly approval.

Site

The long and controversial search for a U. N. permanent headquarters came to a surprising end in the closing days of the Assembly.

For a year, subcommittees had studied Westchester County, surveyed Fairfield County in Connecticut and suburbs of Boston, trampled the hills of Philadelphia's Fairmount Park, looked without inspiration at the flats of Flushing Meadow Park, Queens, and gaped at the scenic splendors of San Francisco Bay.

In the end the crown went to New York—to the blocks in Manhattan along the East River from Forty-second to Forty-eighth Streets. The story of the final selection was a dramatic one.

The Headquarters Committee met last Wednesday to vote on a site. New York seemed all but out of the running and the odds were on Philadelphia. Then there burst upon the Committee what Warren R. Austin, chief American delegate, called "a gift from on high." John D. Rockefeller jr. offered to give the U. N. $8,500,000 to buy the east side site which is owned by Webb and Knapp.

The offers catapulted New York back into the race and changed the whole course of the debate. Thirty-six hours later, the site, not even a serious contender a few days before, was recommended by the Headquarters Committee. On Saturday it was officially designated by the Assembly as the U. N. permanent site.

One of the oldest of U. N. problems is what to do about the Spanish regime of Generalissimo Francisco Franco, the last of the Axis satellites. After wrestling with the matter for three months last summer, the Security Council voted to do nothing, to the intense disappointment of Russia, Poland, Mexico and France. Poland re-submitted the question to the Assembly, asking a full diplomatic break with Spain.

The issue was complex, involving considerations of politics, religion, economics, ideologies and convictions. All nations wanted Franco to go. How should he be made to go? The United States and Britain led the school that feared starting a new civil war in Spain, that feared visiting new hardships on the Spanish people. Also, not the least of the American-British fears was the possibility of a Communist Spain.

The conflicts finally were compromised. A resolution was adopted denouncing Franco, noting the Assembly's wish that he step down in favor of a truly democratic government that could someday qualify for U. N. membership. As a sort of warning, the Assembly asked all members to withdraw immediately their ambassadors and ministers from Madrid, although the embassies and legations could remain open under lower officials.

Troop Survey

Russia's plan for a world troop survey was inspired by and became a political force before the Assembly rejected it. Russia proposed the plan originally in August to the Security Council. At that time Russia accused the Americans and British of causing world anxiety by keeping troops in the territory of United Nations members. Russia wanted all such troops publicly counted, but the Security Council refused even to consider the matter.

Then, Russia resubmitted the matter to the Assembly. When it came up for debate, Russia offered to include troops in former enemy states in the survey. And this time Russia argued that the troop count, including foreign air and naval bases, was needed to assist the Security Council to plan a world police force.

The United States and Britain contended angrily that on such a justification, home troops also must be counted. Russia resisted, insisted that a home-troop count embrace a complete and immediate armament report, including the facts on the atomic bomb. Britain leaned a bit toward this, but insisted on a verification system to force truthful reports. The United States wanted no arms count and no verification system, lest a poor and haphazard system set a dangerous precedent for disarmament inspections later on. The Assembly Political and Security Committee approved a home-troop count, but rejected an arms count and a verification system. By the time the item reached the full Assembly, its ramifications were clearly mixed with disarmament, and the whole matter was dropped.

Veto

The veto right of the big powers in the Security Council was roundly drubbed by a small-state coalition as the Assembly opened. Cuba, Australia, the Philippines and New Zealand led the drive.

Six amendments, proposing in varying degrees change of veto usage, poured into the Assembly hopper. They ranged from Cuba's demand for revision of the Charter to Australia's proposal that the Security Council adopt new rules of procedure. For weeks, the Assembly's Political and Security Committee attempted to evolve a compromise proposal.

Russia, which has employed the veto ten times in Council proceedings, resisted any change or any criticism of the Council. The United States, Britain, China and France agreed on retention of the veto, but the United States and Britain felt procedural changes might usefully limit its use. The big-power hotel conferences were held in an effort to obtain compromise. They failed. A subcommittee attempted to draft an acceptable compromise from the six proposals. It failed.

As a last resort, the committee voted upon four main amendments—from Australia, Argentina, Cuba and China. All were defeated except the Australian, and one of its four paragraphs criticizing the Security Council, was deleted. It noted past divergencies in the Council and recommended new rules of procedure. Russia opposed it, but the United States and Britain gave it full support.

Racial Dispute

The United Nations weighed its first case of racial discrimination in a complaint brought by India against the Union of South Africa. The Assembly's Political and Security, and Legal Committees heard hours of debate on India's bitter accusation that the racial minority in South Africa was subject to segregation and discriminatory laws.

The issues raised were: first, the right of the United Nations to intervene in a dispute which South Africa called domestic; and, second, the validity of international agreements which India said South Africa had violated.

India wanted a political solution, an Assembly resolution criticizing South Africa for Charter violations and ordering it to eliminate discrimination. South Africa asked for an opinion of the International Court of Justice on the right of the Assembly to intervene in an internal dispute.

The United States and Great Britain sided with South Africa in the legal approach. Russia and her Slav adherents gave full support to India. In characteristic fashion, the committees drafted a compromise which the Assembly accepted. It mildly rebuked South Africa, asked the two states to get together and instructed them to report to the next Assembly session on the results.

Council Elections

The Assembly elected Belgium, Columbia and Syria to two-year terms on the Security Council, succeeding the Netherlands, Mexico and Egypt, as of Jan. 1, 1947.

The United States and Lebanon were re-elected to three-year terms on the eighteen-nation Economic and Social Council, leaving four similar vacancies on that body. Through a series of deadlocked ballots, Venezuela, New Zealand and Byelo-Russia were approved to fill three of these, leaving Turkey and the Netherlands battling for the sixth place. Belgium resolved the deadlock by resigning her two-year term to the Netherlands, and Turkey got the last three-year term.

Faced with a gap of 10,000,000 tons between maximum supply and minimum world need of food at the end of the 1946 harvest, the Assembly adopted a resolution urging all governments and international agencies to do everything possible to increase output and control use.

The Economic and Financial Committee debated for four days before deciding on the five-part recommendation to all producing and consuming nations. To the producers, it recommended increases in output; to industrial nations, it recommended expanded production of agricultural machinery and fertilizers; to all nations, it recommended regulating the consumption of bread grains.

Economic Reconstruction of Devastated Areas

Instead of the expected fight between Russia and the West over creation of an economic commission to co-ordinate economic reconstruction in Europe, There was unanimity in the Assembly on passing this issue back to the Economic and Social Council.

Assembly action was confined to approving a resolution submitted by the Council and urging U. N. members and the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development to do their utmost to put war-devastated countries back on their feet. The Assembly vote included a recommendation that the Council give "prompt and favorable consideration" to establishing the controversial economic commission for Europe and another for the Far East.

Budget

For the U. N. budget, the Assembly gave final approval to the expenditure of $19,400,000 in 1946, and of $27,740,000 in 1947. The United States share of the expense finally was set at 39.89 per cent, after the Americans balked at an earlier schedule that would have assigned this country a 50 per cent share. The American objections were that too great a money contribution from any country might tend to give that country too much dominance, but on the "ability-to-pay" formula, the other countries made out a good case for a big American budget share.

Freedom of Information

By a unanimous vote, the Assembly decided to hold next year a world conference on freedom of information, with representatives of the press, radio and motion pictures participating in the discussions. Its purpose will be to promote the freest possible flow of information throughout the world. The time and place of the meeting will be decided later.

U. N. R. R. A.

With many misgivings and a feeling of helplessness, the Assembly accepted a United States scheme for putting international relief on a nation-to-nation basis when the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration goes out of business at the end of this month.

The expiration of U. N. R. R. A. leaves a number of European countries in the lurch on relief, and they will need direct help or loans to finance essential imports in 1947. The United States, whose economic resources give it a commanding position in the relief picture, fought with British backing against proposals to set up an international body under the U. N. to allocate supplies to the needy countries. American representatives took a generally uncompromising stand during the bitter fight, arguing that the international plan would cause delay, and that Congressional approval for relief would be expedited if the United States maintained control of its own allocations.

Opposition came from a majority of other nations, who felt that abandoning international administration would set a dangerous precedent and would open the doors to the use of food by the contributing nations as a political weapon. They were faced with a hard reality—that no program could succeed without American support. They acted accordingly, but the decision has left a bitterness that that be dispelled only by prompt and generous relief activity by both the United States and Great Britain.

The nations that will need foreign assistance, according to U. N. R. R. A., are Italy, Austria, Greece, Poland, Yugoslavia, Albania and China.

'Phantom Bomber' Gives England New Version of War of Nerve

LONDON, Dec. 15— (AP) Thr... new telephoned bomb threats se... squads of Scotland Yard men into action in southern England tonight as a peculiar "war of nerves" by an unknown person or organization continued.

As on Friday and Saturday nights when similiar threats caused the posting of cordons of policemen near public buildings then enveloped in dense fog, no evidence of sabotage was found.

The first call tonight told the British Broadcasting Corporation that Scotland Yard was to be blown up. The second told the Royal Artillery Records Office in nearby Kent County that it would be bombed.

The third message caused even more bewilderment. The man w... called — it was not established whether the same person made all threats — informed the general post office that a building was to be bombed but did not specify the building.

Police appeared more certain than ever that a hoaxer was behind the "war of nerves" and continued intensive efforts to trace the source of the calls. Also the police took full precautions in the event the danger actually existed.

Officials said there was nothing to link the calls with statements by a Palestine underground spokesman that violence would be brought to England—statements which led to extraordinary precautions at the royal opening of Parliament last month.

British-Czech Trade Pact

Covers Purchase of $10,000,000 of Surplus Goods

LONDON, Dec. 15 (AP).—The Foreign Office announced today that Great Britain and Czechoslovakia have concluded an agreement authorizing the Czechs to purchase $10,000,000 worth of British surplus goods on deferred terms.

The goods will be mainly military, the announcement said, although some machine tools and other items may be included. Pending for many months, the agreement was held up when the United States recently reduced the size of a loan to Czechoslovakia.

PARIS DEADLOCK HOLDS

PARIS, Dec. 15 — (AP) The French governmental crisis continued tonight with Socialist Premier Leon Blum unable to form the cabinet he has been trying to fashion since Thursday.

The weary, 74-year-old Blum halted his fourth day of conferences with party leaders and said through a spokesman that he would try again tomorrow.

Blum has been trying to form a cabinet representing all shades of French political opinion for the assembly to consider Tuesday.

Communist insistence on the War Ministry portfolio blocked effort today. The Popular Republican Movement (MRP) and the leftist rally parties opposed the Communist aspiration.

FIFTH-COLUMN WAR FORECAST

Franco Predicts Conflict "At Anytime" In Democracies

Zaragoza, Spain, Dec. 15 (AP)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco declared today in two defiant speeches that the world is "in a situation of war which may be declared at any time."

War must be expected, the Spanish leader said, "while a materialist conception of life continues in the world, while bad faith and hypocrisy are current coin and loyalty to agreements is a dead matter."

Speech To 100,000

Franco made his first speech to officers graduating from the infantry academy he formerly commanded and his second in Zaragoza public square before a crowd estimated by Spanish newspapers at 100,000.

He warned that "the new Pearl Harbor will not be the bombardment of naval units in port or flying or atomic bombs which destroy towns or industries by surprise."

Instead, Franco declared, the "fifth column will be used," composed of "men of double nationality, one apparent and the other always potential, who will paralyze the circulatory system of the lives of people . . . through doors stupidly opened to them by innocent and blockheaded inorganic democracies."

Complains Of Propaganda

Although Franco did not refer directly to the resolution adopted recently by the United Nations General Assembly in New York urging all member nations to withdraw their diplomatic missions from Spain, he complained of "the intense subversive propaganda which has been directed against our nation by radios at the service of communism and Freemasonry."

Spain, he declared, would always be able to defend its national integrity and Christian civilization, because "our liberties live firmly guaranteed by the insuperable principles of Catholic morality."

France Buys PW Garb in U. S.

PARIS, Dec. 15 (AP)—The French Foreign Affairs Ministry, commenting on an International Red Cross report on prisoner-of-war living conditions, said last night it had spent $1,000,000 in the United States to clothe German PW's in France this winter. The money bought 700,000 shirts, 700,000 shorts and 1,142,000 pairs of shoes.

SIAM TIN BOARD SET UP

Four Nations Agree on Control of Export of Metal

LONDON, Dec. 15 (AP)—An agreement establishing a four-nation commission to supervise export of tin from Siam has been made by the Siamese, British, Australian and United States Governments, the Foreign Office said tonight.

Prices will be on a basis equivalent to those in Malaya.

The agreement followed an exchange of notes between the Government at Bangkok on Dec. 7. It also provides that Siam shall compensate Australian and British tin mine owners for tin produced during the war.

60 Wacs and 336 G. I.s To Receive Officer Bars

To Be Graduated From Army School in Germany

HEIDELBERG, Dec. 15 (AP).—The United States Army Officer Candidate School at Seckenheim near here will graduate sixty Wacs and 336 enlisted men as second lieutenants this week. They have been taking a three-week course in the only American O. C. S. now operating in Europe.

Men get a review in the use of military weapons with range firing. In place of this, the Wacs take special courses, such as one in motor maintenance. Otherwise, the men and women take the same studies in Army administration and supply, contacts with subordinates and civilians, orientation on political and occupational developments, officer responsibilities and similar subjects.

To be eligible for the school, both men and women must score at least 125 points in the Army's general classification test, and must have served three months overseas.

Rusians Justify Reparations

BERLIN, Dec. 15 (AP).—The Soviet military administration in Germany, through its official newspaper, told the German people today that the $10,000,000,000 in reparations which Russia demands of Germany, in addition to equipment and products already taken, represented "only partial repayment" for damage done to the Soviet Union.

Furtwaengler Case to Resum

BERLIN, Dec. 15 (AP).—The denazification hearing of Dr. Wilhelm Furtwaengler, Germany's leading symphony conductor during the Nazi years, will resume Tuesday after a six-day suspension to give him time to find possible rebuttal witnesses, it was announced today.

U. S. DECLINES TO BAR MUELLER CANDIDACY

MUNICH, Germany, Dec. 15 (AP)—The United States Military Government today gave the green light to Dr. Joseph Mueller to be Minister-President of Bavaria if the Legislature elects him tomorrow.

The Military Government announced that Dr. Mueller, chairman of the conservative Christian Social Union, could hold the office even though he was facing a German denazification court. Dr. Mueller has been accused of Nazi connections because he was in the German intelligence corps under Adolf Hitler. He said he used these connections to plot the overthrow of the Nazis and obtain peace terms through the Vatican.

GREEK BANDS DENY INTENT IS AUTONOMY

W. WELLEBIT

Writer Quotes Partisans After Visit Behind Lines In Macedonia

1946

More Bodies . . .

Athens, Dec. 15 (AP)—An official announcement from Salonika said today that the bodies of more than 100 guerrillas, part of a band operating from Mount Paikon south of the Yugoslav border, had been uncovered by the Greek army on snowy Mount Vermion in the Edessa area.

Two days ago the finding of 107 bodies was reported in a similar announcement.

By WALTER WELEBIT

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Dec. 15 (AP). The high command for the Greek partisans battling forces of the Athens Government in Aegean Macedonia deny that they want to set up an autonomous state, as charged by Premier Constantin Tsaldaris, but say they are creating a "democratic army of Greece" to oppose Tsaldaris's "terror and one-party rule."

This correspondent, with two other American correspondents, Peter Furst, of Reuter, and his wife, June Tannan, of the Overseas News Agency, have just returned to Belgrade after spending three days with the partisans behind their lines in the Macedonian mountains.

Full "Investigation Invited"

We interviewed the deputy chief of staff of the joint command of the partisans on Mount Paikon and Mount Kaimakchalan. He operates under the pseudonym "Kalfa." He declared that on November 24 the partisans had sent a memorandum to the governments of Russia, America and Britain asking that a joint commission be sent to the partisan territory for full investigation and promising co-operation for a complete report to the United Nations."

He said that the partisans had laid down a nine-point program to the Greek Government containing conditions under which they would cease fighting. Unless the conditions are met, he added, "Greece will continue to be at civil war."

The Partisans' Nine Points

The nine points were:

A general political amnesty.

Evacuation of British troops from Greece "because they are the cause of all the crimes of the Greek regime."

Recognition of the wartime resistance movement.

Entry into the Government of men who fought in the resistance forces.

Equal rights for democrats as well as monarchists.

Punishment of Fascists who were collaborators under the occupation.

Ridding the Government, army and gendarmerie of collaborators.

Organization of a truly representative army.

New elections and a new plebiscite on the monarchy, without any foreign commission as observers.

Kalfa said his command had no connection with the EAM, the Greek-left-wing force, or the National Liberation Front of Macedonia, although many of his fighters once belonged to those organizations.

"Today we are all together in this armed democratic group of the terrorized, and we are part of the democratic army of Greece," he said.

He gave no estimate of his total strength, but said the partisans hold every mountain in the area—a statement supported by British Army intelligence agents, who say it is impossible now to uproot the partisans from their strongholds.

Commander Nikitos, a Macedonian with Kalfa, repeatedly declared that the partisans were not fighting for autonomy in Macedonia, but want minority rights.

He declared that men in the partisan ranks had been shot for advocating an autonomous Macedonia and that "we insist we are fighting to have the same rights, no more and no less than the rest of the Greeks, always within a democratic Greek state."

Critical Of Britain And U.S.

Kalfa was critical of both the British and American roles in Greece.

"To everyone's sorrow, Greece today is being governed with British aid and American support by those who collaborated," he said. "We did not expect this from the land of President Roosevelt. The statement made by the election commission in which Americans took part was a great shock to the Greek people."

He said that if in a new plebiscite the Greeks "vote for the King, we will abide by that decision, but we do not feel that in any honest election the people would vote for a monarchy."

No Sign Of Yugoslav Aid

No evidence of Yugoslav aid to the Partisans, either materially or in any other way, could be seen in the area.

Two Partisan girls, one carrying a German submachine gun and the other an American tommygun, declared "the Fascists say we get our arms from Yugoslavia and Bulgaria. We say let them count how many guns are missing from their own stores and they will know how many guns we have."

The Partisans said all their arms had been captured from the Greek Army and gendarmerie in raids and during battle. They were using heavy Italian Fiat machine guns, Sten guns, German Schmieser submachine guns and American tommyguns.

URGES U.S. HAND IN PALESTINE

Ziff, Chicago Publisher, Addresses Zionist Congress

F. EISNER

Basel, Switzerland, Dec. 15 (AP)—William B. Ziff, Chicago publisher and author, told the World Zionist Congress today that American intervention in Palestine would be "far more justified" than in eastern Europe.

Speaking as a representative of the Zionist Revisionist Party of America, Ziff urged the setting up of a Jewish provisional government for the Holy Land as the only means by which Zion "can protect itself against the vast evil which seeks to consume it, and carry on successfully the ugly war which Britain is waging against the Jewish people."

Party Lines Withdrawn

He appeared on the platform during the windup of debate on the controversial issue of whether the Zionists should be represented at the London conference on Palestine next month. Party lines on the issue were withdrawn as the General Zionist and Labor parties, the two strongest groups at the Congress, decided they would not instruct their delegates on how to vote when the issue is decided a week hence.

Ziff, referring to American participation in solving the Palestine problem, said:

"The truth is that without American financial, political and military backing, the British are incapable of sustaining their pretensions to world power.

Says Final Solution Lies Here

"In the United States lies, therefore, the final solution of all great world questions, and among them the solution to the Palestine problem.

"America, in view of its own world interests, is now exerting great pressure on Poland and other states to compel respect for international agreements. In Palestine American intervention will be far more justified than in eastern Europe. America is involved in the Palestine situation by treaty and possesses the full right to demand an accounting."

Dealing with active resistance in Palestine, a topic which most Congress speakers have avoided, Ziff asserted that "the simple fact is that all resistance involves the use of violence.

"No Good Or Bad Violence"

"With all decent men, it comes into existence when recourse to law and justice has failed. There is no good or bad violence. There is only the question of whether it can be applied usefully in the saving of human lives and human honor against the indignities, rapes, murders and injustices which accompany oppression."

He charged "anti-Semitic bureaucrats of Whitehall" with responsibility for barring Jewish immigrants from Palestine and setting up concentration camps for those trying to enter the Holy Land.

Issues Under Debate

Today's debate centered on these issues: Should the Jewish Agency for Palestine be represented at the British-sponsored London talks, and if so should the Zionists consider partition of Palestine or demand all of the Holy Land as a Jewish state.

Chaim Greenberg, New York, supported the stand of the agency executive that partition—the establishment of separate Jewish and Arab nations—should be considered.

Meanwhile, a budget commission prepared a $56,000,000 budget for the next two years, compared with the $28,000,000 budget adopted at the last meeting of the congress in 1939. Principal items were expenditures for agricultural development, settlement and industrial improvement, education, administration and immigration.

Russia in Home-Front Cleanup; Farm Grafters, Unions Rapped

1946

MOSCOW, Dec. 15. — (AP) Russian officials, turning a frankly introspective eye on internal affairs, announced today that some members of the Soviet armed forces were badly in need of indoctrination in the "superiorities of the socialist system."

Other announcements reported that:

1. Agricultural grafters still were cheating the government on some collective farms, despite recent remedial measures.

2. Trade union committees throughout the nation will be called upon during the coming year to account for their activities to the rank and file members.

3. Approximately $5,800,000 worth of maternity benefits have been paid by the government this year in the city of Moscow alone, as part of the nation-wide program to encourage large families.

Soldiers Need Attention

The need for political education of servicemen was stressed in a directive by the chief political administration of the Soviet armed forces, and addressed to Communist party organizations within the armed forces.

The directive said that a survey conducted last autumn disclosed "big shortcomings" in political indoctrination, and the need for suppressing "ideological distortions."

The announcement said that the work of teaching servicemen the principles of Russia's constitution and electoral system would be centralized, to make certain that soldiers and sailors were aware of the "superiorities of the socialist system."

On the matter of collective farms, an announcement said that a new survey had revealed "serious mistakes and shortcomings" of local officials instructed three months ago to clear up widespread irregularities. The survey was conducted by the newly created council on collective farms affairs.

The Communist party's central committee cracked down sharply on party leaders in Voronezh province, who were accused of the "crude political error" of permitting local officials to retain livestock and other goods illegally appropriated from the collectives.

Farm Grafters

The council on collective farm affairs ordered top-ranking Soviet officials in Gorky, Kuibyshev, Tambov and other provinces to make public facts on the "plundering of collective farm income, public lands and property," so that "democratic principles" might be restored.

The announcement on trade unions did not elaborate, except to say that new elections of trade union executives would be held next year in all republic, provincial and central committees.

The data on maternity payments said that the $5,800,000 had been distributed among 24,000 mothers, all of whom had three or more children. Moscow now has 275 [illegible] of 10

"mother heroines"—mothers of children or more.

On international affairs, the Moscow press and radio generally approved actions taken in the closing sessions of the United Nations in New York.

The Communist Party newspaper Pravda welcomed the approval of the resolution on disarmament as a victory for advocates of practical deeds over those who prefer "formal declaration."

Pravda said that Russia would have accepted British proposals for an international commission of observers if Britain had agreed to include atomic weapons among the objects to be observed.

WAFD CHIEF SAYS U. S. PRODS EGYPT ON PACT

CAIRO, Dec. 15 (AP)—Makram Ebeid Pasha, leader of the Wafdist bloc party, said today the United States had sent a note to former Premier Ismail Sidky Pasha advising him to "sign an alliance with England and try to reach an agreement with her in negotiations."

[The State Department in Washington had no comment but an official said the office would "probably clarify the matter" later.]

Sidky Pasha was Egyptian leader of negotiations until his resignation because of illness last week.

Ebeid Pasha, member of the dissolved Egyptian delegation appointed by King Farouk to negotiate a revision of the 1936 Anglo-Egyptian alliance, said the note from Washington was "cordial" and expressed the United States Government's desire that a full agreement be reached.

Ebeid Pasha said he "expressed astonishment" to Sidky Pasha and members of the delegation because of the note. He commented:

"It would be better for the American Government—and America, the champion of freedoms—to advise her ally, Britain, to respect Egypt's desire for complete independence and unrestricted liberty."

Mahmoud Fahm Nokrash Pasha, the new Prime Minister, appealed to students to refrain from violence and demonstrations and declared he would "use all means to maintain order." He said "certain political organizations" were inciting students into the political field and "instigating" them to create disorders.

Acuses U. S. of Intervening

CAIRO, Dec. 15 (AP).—Makram Ebade Pasha, leader of Egypt's Wafdist bloc, said today that the American government had sent to the Egyptian Premier a note advising him to "sign an alliance with England."

Ebade reported that the note, which he described as "cordial," was sent to Ismail Sidky Pasha while he was Premier and was leading negotiations with a view to revision of the 1936 Anglo-Egyptian alliance. Sidky was succeeded in the Premiership last week by Mahmoud Fahmy Nokrashy Pasha. The treaty negotiations have not been completed.

The Wafdist leader, a member of a now dissolved delegation appointed by King Farouk to negotiate with Britain, said he had "expressed astonishment" at the note, which urged efforts toward an agreement.

"It would be better for the American government—and America, champion of freedoms—to advice her ally, Britain, to respect Egypt's desire for complete independence and unrestricted liberty," Ebade added.

U.S. Presents Airfield

Cairo, Dec. 15 (AP)—The United States gave $2,000,000 Payne Field, largest and most modern in all Africa and the Middle East, to King Farouk today.

The Stars and Stripes was lowered after S. Pinkney Tuck, United States Ambassador, and Ahmed Attia Pasha, Egyptian Defense Minister, spoke, and the Egyptian standard was raised. The gift airdrome was renamed Farouk I Field. It had originally been named for Col. John H. Payne, of Austin, Texas, whose plane went down in flames while he led an attack on the Romanian oil fields at Ploesti.

A nearby American supply depot named Huckstep was sold to Egypt.

During the war, 50,000,000 pounds of equipment were landed on Payne Field by the United States Army Air Force.

The American Air Transport command disclosed that the German threat to Cairo was so great in the Summer of 1942 that its planes evacuated more than 400 persons before the thin British line solidified and held in the desert. The statement said the Air Transport command delivered in 36 hours a shipment of tank fuses from Lagos, Nigeria.

ARAB STRIKE PASSES WITHOUT INCIDENT

JERUSALEM, Dec. 15—(AP) A two hour Arab strike throughout Palestine passed today without incident in major Arab communities and with only minor disturbances reported from rural areas.

Reliable reports said a Jewish bus was stoned as it passed through an Arab village on the Sea of Galilee but there were no casualties.

The strike was called as a "manifestation of the Arab protest against continued Jewish immigration and against provocations of Arabs in their own towns and villages by Jewish gangsters."

'KURDISH REPUBLIC' HEAD SURRENDERS

TEHRAN, Dec. 15. — (AP) An Iranian Army communique announced today that Ghazi Mohammed, head of the so-called "Kurdish Republic," had surrendered to central government troops after heavy fighting in which additional portions of semi-autonomous Azerbaijan province were brought under government control.

The announcement said that his surrender apparently spelled the end of the "republic," which had ruled portions of western Azerbaijan under a truce with the Tabriz separationists of Jafar Pishevari. Pishevari's forces already had yielded to the central government.

The army disclosed that the southwestern Azerbaijan city of Miyandaub (Miandoab), a key city of the "Kurdish Republic," had capitulated yesterday following a battle in which severe casualties were inflicted on a force of 1,000 irregulars. Miyanduab is 80 miles south of Tabriz.

After the battle, Ghazi Mohammed pledged his support to the central government of Premier Ahmed Qavam, and the government troops were "welcomed," the communique said.

Poles Name New Envoy to U. S.

WARSAW, Dec. 15 (AP)—A Foreign Ministry spokesman said today that Poland had nominated a new Ambassador to the United States to succeed Dr. Oscar Lange. The nominee's name was not disclosed, pending agreement by the United States.

INDIA WILL SEVER TIES WITH BRITAIN

BENARES, India, Dec. 15—(AP) Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, leading minister of the interim government, said today that India would declare her severance from the British empire within the next three days.

Decisions of the Indian Constituent assembly will not, in the future, be submitted to the British Parliament, Nehru declared at a reception here.

"We have stopped looking to London," he said. "We shall solve our own problems. Congress has decided to go forward vigorously."

"It is now not even in Britain's power to check India from becoming independent."

Nehru said that leaders of the Moslem league were reactionary, did not wish freedom for India and looked towards Great Britain for guidance.

The Moslem league, spokesman group for India's 100,000,000 Moslems, wishes the establishment in Indian of the state of Pakistan—a partition of India between Hindu and Moslem provinces. Nehru's Congress party opposes Pakistan.

The Congress party leader said Great Britain might want to divide India and remain in power in Pakistan to create difficulties.

British Reaction To Nehru

London, Dec. 15 (AP)—Great Britain will not accept plans for a free India unless the Moslem League participates in the Indian Government, informed British sources said tonight.

Commenting on a statement in Benares, India, today, by Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, leading minister of India's Interim Government, that India would declare her severance from the British Empire within the next three days, one informant said:

"That (Moslem participation) is the prime consideration for Britain to get out of India and it stands, no matter if Nehru personally declares himself out of the Empire until he is blue in the face."

The India Office declined to comment on Nehru's statement and also refused to disuss what might happen if the Indian Assembly, boycotted by the Moslems, should adopt a pending resolution declaring India an independent sovereign republic.

CHINESE ROUT COMMUNISTS

Say Force Was Dislodged From Redoubt Near Peiping

T. HASTERSON

Peiping, Dec. 15 (AP)—Chinese Government military sources announced today dislodgment of the Communists from a mountain redoubt 20 miles west of Peiping and expressed the hope that this would cause a slackening of guerrilla raids which have reached within 10 miles of the capital.

The Communists were said to have used the mountainous base as a headquarters for hit-and-run attacks for more than a year.

Latest of these skirmishes was at the Marco Polo bridge 10 miles southwest of Peiping, where forces identified as the Communist 31st Regiment attacked the Government garrison. It was at that historic crossing of the Yung Ting River that the Japanese in 1937 created the incident that led to the war.

Another Attack Reported

Another Communist attack was reported on Changhsintien, 13 miles southwest of Peiping. Authorities admitted increasing difficulty with guerrilla harassment but said cleanup of the nest west of Peiping should "ensure adequate protection of the suburbs."

Other Government reports said Communist attacks were in progress 25 miles northeast of Peiping along the railway leading to Chengteh, capital of Jehol province, and that numerous Government blockhouses had been destroyed.

In Manchuria, inconclusive fighting was reported 45 miles north of Dairen, around Pulantien, and 55 miles northeast of Changchun, Manchurian capital.

The Government Central News Agency said 50,000 Communists had completed encirclement of Yulin in northern Shensi province, 100 miles north of Yenan, Communist headquarters city.

Atomic Bomb Report

Government sources also expressed fear that the Communists had captured Chungyang in Shansi province, east of Shensi, as telegraphic communication with the garrison had been cut off. Only yesterday a relief column was reported in position to aid Chungyang if it could hold out one more day after fifteen days of Communist siege.

Typical of the confused reports of Chinese warfare, Government military leaders said with wry smiles that their last report from Chungyang said the Communists were using atomic bombs on the city walls.

Basis for this obviously inaccurate report, they said, was the word of garrison veterans that the explosions seemed 2,000 times more powerful than those they had heard during the Japanese war.

China to Bury Wu Pei-fu, War Lord, Dead 7 Years

Once Fought Chiang; Believed Poisoned by Japanese

PEIPING, Dec. 15 (AP).—Wu Pei-fu, one of China's most renowned warlords, will be buried today on Jade Fountain Hill in Peiping, a little more than seven years after his mysterious death.

Military Governor of Chihli Province by the time he was thirty-eight and a full marshal at forty-five, Wu retired in 1927 after defeat by an army under China's present Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

The Japanese repeatedly pressed him to head a puppet government in China such as they later established under Wang Ching-wei, but he resolutely refused in a protracted diplomatic game of wits with the noted Japanese secret agent General Kenji Doihara.

Wu died suddenly on Dec. 4, 1939, at the age of sixty-one, and it was generally believed among Chinese that the Japanese poisoned him. Even though he had fought Chiang-Kai-shek, the national government conferred on him the posthumous title of "General of the first rank."

His body was placed in a Peiping temple and lay there undisturbed by the Japanese. Now, after seven years, Wu is to have an elaborate public burial service.

Reds Criticize Constitution

YENAN, Dec. 14 (Delayed) (AP) — The proposed Chinese National Constitution, now under consideration in Nanking, was derided by a Communist official today as full of loopholes and jokers and entirely unacceptable to the Communists.

Li Wei-han, a member of the Communist delegation that boycotted the National Assembly and recently returned to Yenan, declared: J. RODERICK

"To pawn that document off on the nation and the world as one which follows the revisions recommended by the interparty conference of last January is fraudulent."

In an interview giving the first detailed Communist criticism of the Constitution, Mr. Li said, "The Communists will never recognize this Constitution. It is an illegal paper perpetuating the dictatorship now being considered by an illegal Assembly."

He said that in particular Article 24, dealing with the people's rights, was "a laughing-stock," giving almost unlimited opportunity legally to nullify a Chinese "bill of rights." The article details numerous personal rights and freedoms, and says they shall not be restricted "unless warranted by reasons of preventing infringement of the liberties of others, averting acute crisis, maintaining social order, or promoting public welfare," Mr. Li said.

"Such all-encompassing generalities make it childishly easy for a dictator to disfranchise the people," he commented.

Two other notable weaknesses, he said, are constitutional failure to make the executive responsible to the legislative branch and insistence that provincial governments must make their laws conform with rules laid down by the central Government.

AUSSIE TELLS OF BEHEADING

Tojo Leads List Of Japanese Charged With Atrocities

Tokyo, Monday, Dec. 16 (AP)—An Australian soldier told the International War Crimes Court today that he had lived through a Japanese officer's attempt to behead him—"I felt a heavy, dull blow on the back of my neck" and eventual ly had crawled to safety after recovering consciousness to find himself buried in a shallow grave.

He was the first witness called as Australians began the final phase of the international prosecution which began last June 3.

The soldier, Colin Fleming Brien, 23, of 4 Trinmor street, Sydney, said his botched "execution" took place after he was captured, wounded, in battle near Singapore early in 1942.

'Going To Meet Your God'

A platoon of Japanese soldiers and fifteen Japanese officers stood in parade formation in a jungle clearing, Brien testified, while "I was searched; then the officer who brought me to the clearing said in English 'you are going to meet your God.'"

Brien was ordered to sit down with his feet and legs in the shallow grave, his wrists were tied behind his back and a towel tied over his eyes. The officer, sword in hand, loosened Brien's shirt collar and bent his head forward.

"After a few seconds I felt a heavy dull blow on the back of my neck," he continued. "I fell over on my right side, then lost consciousness.

Found Self In Grave

"When I regained consciousness I was lying at the bottom of the grave underneath some wooden palings and clods of earth. I had a large wound in the back of my neck, and was covered with blood.

"I lay there for about an hour. I could not use my hands, and the only way I could get out was to lever (move) the pile of clods with my feet. I managed to dislodge them and crawl out, and staggered into the jungle grass, where I lay all day."

That night, he told the tensely listening court, he managed to untie his wrists. After three days, he reached Singapore where he surrendered to civil police who handed him over to their Japanese masters.

Sent To Prison Hospital

He recuperated in Changi prison hospital, and hemained in various prisoner of war camps at Singapore until the end of the war, he added.

"At no time was I charged with having committed any offense, nor was I given any form of trial whatever" he said.

The prosecution named Japan's wartime Premier Hideki Tojo and eleven other of the 27 defendants as responsible for atrocities against prisoners as the new phase of the long case began.

The trial began last June 3.

Mr. Justice Alan James Mansfield, of Queensland opened the final Australian phase of the long trial.

'Mistreatment Was Policy'

In his summation of evidence to come, he told the court thata mistreatment of Allied prisoners of war and civilian internees resulted from "general policy of the Japanese forces and the Japanese Government."

The Japanese on many occasions, he added, declared "that the Japanese Government would treat prisoners according to their own code of 'Bushido' (warriors' code in feudal Japan) and only apply such portions of the Geneva conventions' (international law) as suited it . . ."

Announces List

The prosecution, Mansfield declared, regarded these defendants as personally responsible for astrocities:

Tojo; Heitaro Kimura, Tojo's Vice Minister of War; Akira Muto, War Ministry official, later a commander in the Philippines; Kenryo Sato, War Ministry official; Shigenori Togo, Foreign Minister; Mamoru Shigemitsu, Foreign Minister; Admiral Osami Uagano, commander of the combined Japanese fleet; Shigetaro Shimada, Navy Minister; Yoshijiro Umezu, commander of the Kwantung Army; Seishiro Itagaki, commander of the Singapore area late in the war; Teiichi Suzuki, president of the Planning Board, and Takasumi Oka, Navy Ministry official.

The Philippines prosecutor, Pedro Lopez, suspended his phase of the prosecution by reporting failure of six witnesses to arrive on schedule from Manila. He said he did not know the reason for the delay, and asked permission to have them testify later.

Japanese Women Protest

Say Anti-Prostitution Drive Is Too Zealous

TOKYO, Dec. 15 (AP).—In a novel demonstration, 1,000 women marched today on Metropolitan Police Headquarters, demanding that police quit "treating all working women as bad women." The incident grew out of a police campaign against roving prostitutes.

Angry women speakers said many employed girls, hurrying home after working late, had been arrested and subjected to indignities. The demonstrators, carrying placards and shouting, presented their demands to the police chief's aid, who tod them the chief was absent for the day.

PHILIPPINES GET U.S. MONEY

Receive $1,000,000 As First War-Damage Payment

Manila, Monday, Dec. 16 (AP)—The first advance payment by the United States for war damage to public property in the Philippines was made today when Dr. Frank A. Waring, chairman of the War Damage Commission, handed President Manuel A. Roxas a check for $1,000,000.

This was the first of $620,000,000 ultimately to be paid, dependent on ratification next March by a national plebiscite of the equal-rights-for-Americans amendment to the Philippines constitution.

Limit On Personal Claims

The advance payment was made before a conference of provincial governors presided over by Roxas.

Waring told them ten claims offices would be established throughout the islands to handle personal claims, which the Philippines Rehabilitation Act limits to $500 each.

He gave no encouragement to those who have sought to raise the limit, saying that an American fund of $400,000,000 had been created in anticipation of about 1,000,000 individual claims, "but we were considerably shocked to find that we might expect nearly 3,250,000 claims."

SOVIETS STILL HOLD GERMANS

War Prisoners In Russia Yet Estimated At 3,000,000

Washington, Dec. 15 (AP)—A United States Army estimate that the Soviets still hold 3,000,000 Germans as prisoners of war in Russia and satellite countries came to light today from the files of the Senate War Investigating Committee.

The estimate made no mention of the use the Russians may be making of their captured enemies nineteen months after the war's end.

It was contained in supporting documents gathered by George Meader, committee counsel, from Army of Occupation and Military Government officials in a three-week inquiry in Europe.

Release Sped By U.S.

Meader's preliminary report of his investigation was made public by Republican committee members when the Democratic majority voted solidly against sending a subcommittee to Europe to continue the investigation. Secretary of State Byrnes opposed the inquiry on the ground it might disturb delicate international negotiations.

The documents, made available by Meader at a reporter's request for answers to the questions submitted by the counsel to occupation authorities, disclosed that the United States moved swiftly to free all but 121,787 of the nearly 8,000,000 German prisoners of war it once held.

Germans Still In France

The Army estimated France still has 600,000 Germans working on rehabilitation projects in that country. It added that Britain had discharged about 95 per cent of the 3,200,000 prisoners it once held.

Noting that the only information on Russian activities in this field came from official Moscow announcements, the occupation headquarters statement furnished Meader said the Soviets are estimated to have had 4,000,000 to 5,000,000 prisoners when the war ended. It said the Russians had announced the freeing of 600,000 in August, 1945, and an additional 120,000 last August, adding:

3 Million Freed In U.S. Zone

"It is estimated that the Soviet Union at present holds approximately 3,000,000 German prisoners of war located in the Soviet Union and satellite countries in eastern Europe. . . . It is not believed that any considerable number of prisoners of war remain in the Soviet zone of Germany at present."

The report said 3,337,000 former prisoners had been discharged into the United States occupation zone.

In his investigation of de-Nazication activities, Meader asked what steps had been taken by the four occupying powers to bring to trial German civilians being held in each zone as war criminals.

FOREIGN FOOD NEEDS STUDIED

U.S. To Decide On Diversion Of UNRRA Shipments

Washington, Dec. 15 (AP)—The United States has begun an intensive study of food requirements abroad to determine whether UNRRA shipments should be diverted from some countries to others in greater need.

A staff of food experts is assembling data on foreign crop prospects for 1947, with the help of reports from American embassies abroad. It may complete its work in two weeks.

Officials reported today that if the conclusions bear out tentative estimates that at least Italy and Austria will need additional food they ask UNRRA's nine-nation central committee to divert shipments scheduled for more fortunate countries.

To Meet Operation

Any such move by the United States is virtually certain to bump into strong opposition from Russian and Yugoslav committee members.

Both countries fought bitterly although unsuccessfully during last week's UNRRA conference against American demands for "flexibility" in apportioning UNRRA's remaining $626,000,000. Russian delegates argued that programs for each country should be fulfilled without change.

Yugoslavia, Poland, Czechoslovakia and the two Russian republics of Byelorussia and the Ukraine are now slated to get nearly half of the unshipped total.

Should Avert Hunger

Officials said the American attitude is that it is more urgent for UNRRA to use its remaining funds to avert hunger rather than for industrial and rehabilitation goods for countries not in danger of food riots.

An equally important purpose of the report now being drawn up, said these officials, is to reach a conclusion on how many countries will need direct American financial help next year.

Current estimates are that the administration will ask Congress for $300,000,000 to $400,000,000 to send American food to Italy and Austria and perhaps Greece. Officials said Hungary and Poland also may need American financial assistance for food next year.

U.S. Makes Own Survey

The United States survey is being prepared separately from a similar report on 1947 requirements now being worked out by a ten-country United Nations committee.

If the American Government disagrees with the findings of the United Nations committee, officials said, it probably will submit a minority report which would guide its actions in foreign relief regardless of the United Nations committee's stand.

National Planning Association leaders meanwhile predicted the world food situation will continue critical through the first half of 1947, particularly in cereals, fats and oils, and sugar.

Slowing Down World Peace

"Avoidable hunger" is slowing down the attainment of world peace, said a statement issued after an association meeting here.

The United States could spare 300,000,000 bushels of food grains and grain products for export, "over and above the 400,000,000 bushels committed," the statement said.

It also reported an inadequate supply of boxcars is causing the United States to fall behind in its announced export program and urged "immediate steps to secure the necessary transportation."

BILBO IS CONFIDENT GOP CAN'T BAR HIM

Predicts He Will Take Seat When Senate Convenes

Washington, Dec. 15 (AP)—Senator Bilbo (D., Miss.) predicted confidently today the Republicans would be unable to bar him when the new Senate convenes January 3.

Republican strategists agreed privately that regardless of the outcome of a current inquiry by the Senate War Investigating Committee into what happened to $25,000 a war contractor gave Bilbo in 1942, the prediction probably is correct. But they vowed that if they are defeated in the first round, they will press further efforts to unseat the Senator.

Bilbo said he is satisfied "they can't stop me at the door."

Bilbo Seems To Have Edge

"They haven't even got a scratch against me," he declared, adding: "Besides, alphabetically, my name is Bilbo."

There, said Republicans who have been studying the situation, is the rub.

When the Senate meets to begin swearing in new members, the Democrats still will be in control, with Secretary Leslie Biffle in the chair. Holdover Democrats outnumber holdover Republicans 30-to-29 following the death today of Senator Bailey (D., N.C.).

If precedents are followed, new members will be sworn in alphabetically, with Senator-elect Raymond E. Baldwin (R., Conn.) first on the list. That would make the count 30 Democrats and 30 Republicans when Bilbo comes up second.

Could Change Procedure

Customarily new senators are sworn in immediately after the Senate is called to order and after their certificates of election are presented. In the past the procedure has been to swear in the new senators alphabetically, sometimes in groups of four but, as one authority on procedure pointed out, the Senate could, by majority vote, decide on whatever procedure it chose.

If objection were made to Bilbo taking the oath, the authority said, the matter probably would be decided at once by majority vote.

May Lose Some GOP Votes

Even if they get some Democratic votes or are aided by absences on the side, Bilbo's opponents fear they might lose some Republican votes.

One GOP senator who has been analyzing the strategy mentioned that the Democrats, if they choose, could prevent the swearing in of any Republicans if Bilbo is not permitted to take the oath.

"Maybe we will give the Democrats a chance to put themselves on that spot," this senator said.

In any event, he said, the Republicans have found that Bilbo could be ousted by a majority vote which sustained any charges made against him directly bearing on the last election campaign. A report still is being awaited by an elections subcommittee which looked into such charges in Mississippi.

Any moral turpitude charges that might be brought against Bilbo would require a two-thirds vote for expulsion. But if the charges were broad enough so they covered both categories, parliamentarians said a majority then could decide whether only a majority vote was needed for ouster.

When they get all their senators seated, the Republicans will outnumber the Democrats, 51 to 45. There seems little chance that they ever could muster a two-thirds vote to unseat the Mississippian.

Meanwhile, Chairman Mead (D., N.Y.) said he expects Edward Terry, Bilbo's former secretary, to be available tomorrow to tell the War Investigating subcommittee what he knows about the involved financial transactions the group is investigating.

Reports Threats On Life

Terry, who has been in a Quitman (Miss.) hospital, has reported anonymous threats against his life if he testified in any manner against his former employer.

Terry reportedly already has given the committee a statement in closed session on the complaints it is investigating that Bilbo received $25,000 and some expensive gifts from various war contractors.

Bilbo contends he retained none of this money personally but used it in an unsuccessful campaign to elect Wall Doxey, now Senate sergeant at arms, in the 1942 run-off primary.

LONG ASSAILS HOUSING PLAN

Invitation To 'Boom And Bust' In Realty, He Says

Washington, Dec. 15 (AP)—President Truman's new housing policy "isn't any program at all" but an invitation to a real estate boom-and-bust, Norton Long, deputy housing expediter, declared today.

The aide to the former housing expediter, Wilson Wyatt, said he would resign immediately.

He predicted the sweeping relaxation of controls will mean $15,000 and $20,000 houses, "but few that a veteran can afford."

"There isn't a program any more," Long said. "Of Mr. Truman's twelve points, ten of them were taking things off. Nothing has been added.

"It seems to set a pattern for a boom and a bust. The real estate people will take a flyer into high-priced houses and many builders will go in for stores, shops and amusement places."

Sawyer's View

A similar view as to homes for veterans came from Ray Sawyer, national commander of Amvets (American Veterans of World War II), who said that while the program "looks okay for the veteran making $5,000 a year, for the 90 per cent making less than half that, the promise of immediate low-cost housing is gone."

Long, who was in charge of programs in the Wyatt regime, forecast that it would be increasingly difficult to enforce the controls left in the program announced last night.

Some Allocation To Continue

It knocks out the $10,000 sales price ceiling on new houses, ends the priority system for materials, and opens up home building to nonveterans for their own occupancy. Some allocation of scarce raw materials would be continued, and a limitation will be kept on nonhousing construction, but Mr. Truman said the latter control would be relaxed.

Long predicted the housing controls would go the way of price controls, which were abandoned almost completely after meat was decontrolled.

"When you show that your heels are rounded, people just keep on pushing you over," he commented.

Some other housing officials were gloomy, but were not speaking for publication.

More Houses Thought Possible

Industry quarters, on the other hand, chorused approval of the new policy and predicted the freedom from Federal restraints would bring an upsurge of building.

"We should build more houses than we ever could under these controls that industry has been slaving under," said Frank W. Cort

Back of all the controversy, the National Housing Administration and Federal Housing Agency prepared to realign their programs in conformity with the new policy. These two steps were foreseen as early developments by both Government and industry men:

1. An approximate 40 per cent increase in the volume of store, factory and school building permitted.

Limit Lifting Expected

Approvals of nonresidential construction now are held to $35,000,000 a week. As a first step, officials said, this limit probably will be lifted to about $50,000,000 as of January 1. Mr. Tuman's statement said that "we can safely permit some increase" because of improved building material supplies.

2. The setting of a floor-area limit of about 1,500 square feet on new homes, to replace the $10,000 top selling price formerly enforced as a deterrent to the building of "luxury homes."

The American Legion's recent housing recommendations called for 2,500 square feet, and home builders officially have requested 1,700 to 1,800. But housing officials and industry representatives reported the limit probably will be around 1,500. Under the $10,000 limit, the average house had 1,000 square feet or less.

$15,000 For 1,500 Feet

With 1,500 feet, Cortright said, "you could get a very nice house for $15,000" in high-cost building areas like New York, Chicago or Washington, and for considerably less in lower-cost regions like the South and most of the West.

A generally optimistic view of the construction outlook was given by the Commerce Department. It forecast that 1946 building of all types probably will exceed $10,000,000,000.

"The industry has set its sights on a goal of at least $15,000,000,000 for 1947," said the report of John L. Haynes, chief of the department's construction bureau.

He said Wyatt's 1946 goal of 1,200,000 new homes started would be about 85 per cent achieved since "about 1,000,000 dwelling units of all types were started during the year," including almost 700,000 permanent dwellings.

"Encouraging Prospect"

"It is an encouraging prospect for next year that the great volume of building now in progress will provide a base for even a larger volume of construction next year, if the basic coal and steel industries are able to maintain fairly stable operations," the report added.

A somewhat different slant on 1947 came from Long. The impetus given by the Wyatt program alone should permit the building of "nearly 1,000,000 homes," he said, even if it is not a particularly aggressive home-building year.

About 500,000 homes now are under construction, Long said, and completions have climbed to nearly 100,000 a month. The new policy, he noted, thus probably will get credit for heavy completions which he said would really be the result of Wyatt's efforts.

Wyatt Has No Comment

Wyatt, former Mayor of Louisville, who quit as housing expediter and NHA administrator more than a week ago, offered no comment on the new program.

Besides throwing out the $10,000 sales ceiling, Mr. Truman's program relaxes the $80-a-month limit on new homes built for rental. It substitutes a simple permit system for the complex approval system previously administered by FHA field offices.

Nonveterans now may build for their own use if they design the homes for year-round occupancy, and abide by the forthcoming limits on floor area.

Outstanding housing priorities will be honored, the White House said, and housing officials insisted the ceilings set on new homes already being built for veterans would be enforced.

Capper Favors Farm Control To Avoid Unsalable Surpluses

Washington, Dec. 15 (AP)—Senator Capper (R., Kan.), slated to head the Senate Agriculture Committee, indicated today he favors farm production controls under the Government price support program if necessary to prevent unsalable surpluses.

While the Government has promised to bolster prices of most commodities at 90 per cent of parity for two years after the war officially is ended, Capper said this does not solve American agriculture's postwar problem.

"Unless a profitable market can be found for unlimited production, it would be no kindness to producers to encourage production of unsalable surpluses of any farm commodity," his statement observed.

Would Mean Deflation

Asserting this is the first big problem facing farm committees in Congress, Capper declared such a program would promote inflation of farm production with inevitable deflation and net losses.

"There is a serious question in my mind if it would be a sound policy, from the farmers' own viewpoint, for the Government to support prices on an unlimited production during the two years that prices are to be supported, at 90 per cent of parity, on nearly all farm commodities," Capper summed up.

[Parity prices are calculated to keep the ratio of prices received by farmers for their products and prices they pay for things they buy at the same level as prevailed in 1909-1914—a period deemed to be favorable to agriculture.]

Otherwise, the Senator made clear, he opposes any program "which calls for production controls by government on what individual farmers shall produce and market."

Warning On U.S. Market

"However," he added, "I am compelled to make this qualification, particularly as to the two-year price support-program."

He warned that the American market for the American farmer may in time encounter powerful pressure to throw it open "to foods produced more cheaply in foreign lands."

Farm output here has increased nearly one-third since the first World War, while domestic consumption has advanced only about twelve per cent, he said.

While the rest of the world could use even more of a surplus than is indicated here, "the question is, how to pay the American farmers for producing that surplus," Capper declared.

Paying Foreign Food Bill

"It is a serious question how long, and to what extent the American taxpayers will consent to pay a considerable part of the food bill of people in other parts of the world."

"No program will have my support that does not keep for the American farmer the American market to the extent of his ability to supply the market," Capper continued.

He said he believes the problem of Congress is to enact laws to use the price support program so as to enable farmers to make the transition from peak wartime production to the possibly lower peacetime demand without taking heavy losses in the change of creating heavy losses when price support ends after the two-year period.

"I don't want to see repeated what happened after World War I, when a forced deflation of agriculture in the early twenties loaded an unduly heavy load of the war costs and war liabilities and war dislocations onto farmers of the United States," he explained.

ATOMIC POWER HELD ABSOLUTE

CAA Head Foresees Complete Destruction, Defense Useless

Washington, Dec. 15 (AP)—Theodore P. Wright, civil aeronautics administrator, believes offensive power now has been brought near the "absolute" so that with such weapons as the atom bomb "there is no possible result from another war but mutual destruction."

Wright, an outstanding aeronautical engineer, expressed his views in Air Affairs, an international journal published here.

Urges International Police

"The power of offense, which in past history has always eventually been met by successful defense, has at last outstripped the possibilities of such defense," he wrote. "Striking power and mobility have surpassed certain thresholds; the offensive power of these weapons approaches the absolute. . . .

"In principle, we have the same condition that has existed for years in ordnance inasmuch as defending forces did not seek to destroy the bullet from gun or cannon, but rather to strike at the cannon itself."

Wright said failure to include an international [illegible] force in the Dumbarton Oaks plan possibly was an important reason for slow progress of United Nations political and security measures compared with the strides made by civil aviation. It appears, he said, that the Soviet Union might have accepted such a police force if the United States and United Kingdom had shown a willingness to do so.

Historic Papers to Go on Tour To Combat Alien Ideologies

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15. — (AP) A priceless collection of original American documents will be taken on a swing across the country early next year on a special train to spark a nationwide drive against alien ideologists, Attorney General Clark said yesterday.

"Liberty on Wheels," an exhibition of such landmarks in American history as the official copy of the Bill of Rights, will tour the 48 states in a specially constructed, fireproof train.

The purpose, Clark said in an interview, is to "reaffirm in the minds and hearts of the American people an undersanding and appreciation of the basic principles of our government and in this way to combat alien ideologies."

The exhibition, the attorney general said, "will give millions of Americans an opportunity to view such monumental landmarks in our history as the Bill of Rights, the Emancipation Proclamation, the original of the Gettysburgh Address and the notes in his own hand-writing of Patrick Henry's immortal speech in which he said 'give me liberty or give me death.'"

Other documents include notes of the proceedings leading to the Declaration of Independence in Thomas Jefferson's handwriting, and James Madison's manuscript of debates in the federal convention discussing the need for a Bill of Rights.

Clark said the train will visit all large cities and many small ones in "the longest tour in the history of American railroading, lasting probably a full year."

HOPE OF WORLD SEEN IN PRESS

Head Of U.S. Editors Cites Promise For Two Billions

Mount Vernon, N.Y., Dec. 15 (AP). Wilbur Forrest, president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, said today freedom of information bears the promise of international understanding."

"It is our objective to spread freedom of the press throughout the world so that eventually some two billion-odd human beings may have the right to learn and to know about others," Forrest said at an observance of the one hundred and fifty-fifth anniversary of the ratification of the United States Bill of Rights.

Forrest, assistant editor of the New York Herald-Tribune, spoke at the national shrine of the Bill of Rights, at St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

"Freedom of the press has been a bastion of strength in our democratic form of government for 150 years. . . . It has never been successfully challenged," he said.

Airline To Make Flights To Germany For Army

Washington, Dec. 15 (AP)—Capital Airlines-P.C.A. announced today it will begin soon flying seven round trip flights a week to Europe for the Army Air Transport Command on contract, carrying military and Government personnel and using army planes. The airline will supply crews and maintenance.

The route will be between Washington and Frankfurt, Germany, the statement said. The starting date has not been set.

EDITORS WILL REVIEW U.S. NEWS SENT ABROAD

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15. — (AP) A committee of newspaper editors was named yesterday to review at intervals the "character and policy" of government news dissemination abroad through the State Department.

This action, taken by the board of directors of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, was recommended by a special committee in its report yesterday on a study of the State Department's foreign distribution of information.

The new committee will report to the society's membership, beginning in April. Its chairman is Hamilton Owens, editor in chief of the Baltimore Sun. Members are Edwin L. James, managing editor of the New York Times; George A. Cornish, managing editor of the New York Herald Tribune and Benjamin M. McKelway, editor of the Washington Star.

BY SIGRID ARNE

NEW YORK, DEC. 15-(AP)-THE UNITED NATIONS ASSEMBLY APPROVED TONIGHT A PLAN TO CARE FOR EUROPE'S ESTIMATED MILLION HOMELESS AND VOTED A BUDGET OF $160,000,000 FOR ITS FIRST YEAR IN OPERATION.

THE VOTE OF 30 TO 5 WITH 18 ABSTENTIONS WAS TAKEN ON A CONSTITUTION FOR THE INTERNATIONAL REFUGEE ORGANIZATION, WHICH HAS BEEN HAMMERED OUT HERE IN SIX WEEKS OF DEBATE WITH THE SLAV NATIONS FINDING THEMSELVES IN ALMOST CONSTANT OPPOSITION TO THE UNITED STATES AND THE UNITED KINGDOM. THE U.S.S.R., POLAND, THE UKRAINE, WHITE RUSSIA AND YUGOSLAVIA VOTED AGAINST THE PLAN.

MRS. FRANKLIN D.ROOSEVELT, SPEAKING FOR THE UNITED STATES, URGED ADOPTION OF THE PLAN AND EXPLAINED THAT THE VOTE WOULD NOT BIND GOVERNMENTS TO PARTICIPATION BUT THAT IT WOULD BE MERELY AN EXPRESSION FOR OR AGAINST THE PROGRAM.

FINAL ADHERENCE BY GOVERNMENTS TO THE PROGRAM OF INTERNATIONAL CARE FOR REFUGEES WILL STILL HAVE TO BE VOTED BY THE INDIVIDUAL LEGISLATURES THE IRO CANNOT COME INTO EXISTENCE UNTIL ENOUGH NATIONS HAVE SIGNED TO MEET 75 PERCENT OF THE BUDGET.

HOWEVER, THE MINIMUM FINANCIAL REQUIREMENTS ARE EXPECTED TO BE MET, SINCE THE PROGRAM MET THE APPROVAL OF THE UNITED STATES, ALL THE MEMBER NATIONS OF THE BRITISH COMMONWEALTH EXCEPT INDIA; FRANCE, THE NETHERLANDS, NORWAY, AND SOME OF THE LATIN AMERICAN REPUBLICS.

INDIA HAS EXPLAINED THAT IT CANNOT AFFORD TO JOIN THE IRO SINCE IT HAS A HOME PROBLEM OF REPATRIATING 400,000 INDIAN NATIONALS WHO FLED TO THEIR HOME-LAND FROM BURMA WHEN WAR ENGULFED THE FAR EAST.

SEVERAL LATIN AMERICAN GOVERNMENTS HAVE ASKED THAT PART OR ALL OF THEIR CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE IRO BE COVERED BY THEIR ACCEPTANCE OF IMMIGRANTS FROM EUROPE CHOSEN FROM THE POOL OF STATELESS PEOPLE NOW LIVING IN REFUGEE CAMPS IN EUROPE.

THROUGHOUT COMMITTEE DEBATE RUSSIA AND HER SLAV NEIGHBORS INSISTED THAT EUROPE'S REFUGEE CAMPS HARBORED "QUISLINGS AND WAR CRIMINALS" WHO SHOULDRECEIVE NO AID FROM THE UNITED NATIONS.

A169

THE UNITED STATES AND THE UNITED KINGDON REPLIED THAT THOSE REFUGEES WHO REFUSE TO RETURN TO THEIR HOMES IN MIDDLE EUROPE FOR POLITICAL REASONS DESERVE THE AID OF THE UNITED NATIONS, WHICH MUST PRESERVE THE RIGHT OF POLITICAL ASYLUM, AND THE RIGHT TO FREE EXPRESSION OF POLITICAL OPINIONS.

THE GREAT MAJORITY OF PEOPLE NOW IN EUROPE'S CAMPS COME FROM THE THREE SMALL BALTIC STATES WHICH HAVE BEEN ABSORBED INTO THE SOVIET UNION AND FROM POLAND, THE UKRAINE AND YUGOSLAVIA.

RUSSIA SOUGHT REPEATEDLY TO STOP ALL COMMUNICATIONS IN CAMPS WHICH ARGUED AGAINST RETURN HOME OF REFUGEES TO MIDDLE EUROPE AND AT EACH TURN THE AMERICAN AND BRITISH DELEGATES PROTESTED THAT THE RUSSIAN MOVE WAS AN ABROGATION OF THE PRINCIPLE OF FREEDOM OF SPEECH.

THE SLAV NATIONS LOST MOST OF THEIR REQUESTS FOR MODIFICATION OF THE REFUGEE PROGRAM. IT HAD BEEN EXPECTED THAT RUSSIA MIGHT ANNOUNCE TONIGHT THAT SHE WOULD REFUSE TO JOIN THE ORGANIZATION, BUT ANDREI A. GROMYKO, SPEAKING FOR THE SOVIET UNION, CONFINED HIMSELF TO LISTING THE PROPOSALS WHICH THE SOVIET UNION HAD LOST IN COMMITTEE DEBATE.

IT WILL BE SOME MONTHS BEFORE THE IRO CAN BEGIN OPERATION, SINCE NATIONAL LEGISLATURES MUST STILL APPROVE THE PLAN AND ENOUGH NATIONS MUST SIGN THE CONSTITUTION TO MAKE 1948 75 PERCENT OF THE BUDGET UNDER A PRORATA FORMULA.

PAUL MARTIN, SECRETARY OF STATE FOR CANADA, POINTED OUT THE NEED FOR QUICK ACTION BY LEGISLATURES SINCE MOST OF THE MILLION HOMELESS ARE NOW LIVING ON UNRRA AID WHICH IS DUE TO EXPIRE SHORTLY.

NEW YORK, DEC. 15-(AP)-THE SOVIET UNION LOST A BATTLE IN THE UNITED NATIONS ASSEMBLY TODAY TO GRANT SPECIAL PRIVILEGES TO THE WORLD FEDERATION OF TRADE UNIONS BUT GAINED PERMISSION, OVER AMERICAN OPPOSITION, FOR THE WFTU TO SUGGEST SUBJECTS WHEN THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL GETS DOWN TO SOLVING THE WORLD'S ECONOMIC PROBLEMS.

THE DEBATE OVER THE MANNER IN WHICH THE WFTU WILL WORK WITH THE 18-NATION ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL WAS CONCERNED WITH THREE POINTS:

1. A RUSSIAN PROPOSAL TO GIVE THE WFTU THE RIGHT TO MAKE BOTH VERBAL AND WRITTEN STATEMENTS TO THE COUNCIL.

2. A UNITED STATES REQUEST TO LIMIT THE WFTU, THE AFL, THE INTERNATIONAL CHAMBER OF COMMERCE AND THE INTERNATIONAL CO-OPERATIVE ALLIANCE TO PURELY CONSULTATIVE CAPACITY AS NON-GOVERNMENTAL AGENCIES.

3. A THIRD PROPOSAL WHICH MADE CERTAIN THAT THE PRIVILEGE ALREADY VOTED TO THE WFTU IN COMMITTEE TO SUGGEST SUBJECTS FOR DEBATE IN THE COUNCIL SHOULD ALSO APPLY TO THE OTHER THREE ORGANIZATIONS.

THE RUSSIAN PROPOSAL LOST ON A VOTE OF 28 TO 15 WITH 10 ABSTENTIONS. THE U.S. PROPOSAL LOST BY A 26 TO 22 VOTE, WITH SIX ABSTENTIONS. THE THREE OTHER ORGANIZATIONS GAINED EQUAL STATUS WITH THE WFTU BY A VOTE OF 34 TO 11, WITH EIGHT ABSTENTIONS.

KIRILL V.NOVIKOV OF THE SOVIET UNION CONTENDED THAT THE COUNCIL MUST TAKE ACCOUNT OF THE WISHES OF THE "70 MILLION PEOPLE IN THE WFTU" WHEN ECONOMIC PROBLEMS ARE DISCUSSED. HE PROTESTED THAT THE U.S. MOVE TO GIVE IT MERELY A CONSULTATIVE CAPACITY WOULD PLACE A "BARRIER BETWEEN THE WORKING PEOPLE OF THE WORLD AND THE UNITED NATIONS."

REP. HELEN GAHAGAN DOUGLAS (D-CAL.), SPEAKING FOR THE UNITED STATES, ARGUED THAT IF TOO MANY ORGANIZATIONS ARE PERMITTED TO PLACE SUBJECTS BEFORE THE COUNCIL ITS PROGRAM MAY BECOME SO OVERLOADED THAT ITS WORK "MAY BE JEOPARDIZED."

THE WFTU HAS LABOR FEDERATION MEMBERSHIPS IN 55 NATIONS. IT TOOK THE PLACE OF THE OLD INTERNATIONAL FEDERATION OF TRADE UNIONS, WHICH THE RUSSIAN TRADE UNIONS REFUSED TO JOIN. SOVIET DELEGATES HAVE TAKEN AN ACTIVE PART IN ORGANIZATION OF THE WFTU.

BELGRADE, YUGOSLAVIA, DEC.15-(AP)-AN OFFICIAL YUGOSLAV SPOKESMAN PROTESTED YESTERDAY TO THE ALLIED CONTROL COMMISSION FOR AUSTRIA AGAINST PUBLICATION OF A BOOKLET BY A "NAZI COMMITTEE OF EXPERTS" WHICH HE SAID SUGGESTED OPENLY THAT AUSTRIA INCORPORATE A PIECE OF YUGOSLAV TERRITORY.

THE VIGOROUS YUGOSLAV NOTE WAS DELIVERED ALMOST SIMULTANEOUSLY WITH THE REOPENING OF THE UNITED STATES INFORMATION SERVICE OFFICE, SHUT DOWN THREE MONTHS AGO BY YUGOSLAVIA.

THE YUGOSLAV SPOKESMAN DEMANDED THE APPREHENSION OF THOSE WHO WROTE AND DISTRIBUTED THE AUSTRIAN BOOKLET. THE PROTEST BROUGHT TO A HEAD THE SUBJECT OF THE CARINTHIAN SLOVENES, NOW UNDER AUSTRIAN CONTROL. THE STRIP OF TERRITORY HAS BEEN IN DISPUTE SINCE THE GERMANS LEFT YUGOSLAVIA.

THE SPOKESMAN SAID YUGOSLAVIA INTENDED TO SECURE "THE FULL NATIONAL FREEDOM" OF THE SLOVENES AND ACCUSED AUSTRIA OF FAILURE TO SHOW THAT SHE WANTS "SINCERE COOPERATION WITH YUGOSLAVIA."

"INIMICAL EXCESSES ON THE PART OF THE AUSTRIAN GOVERNMENT HAVE ASSUMED SUCH FORMS THAT YUGOSLAVIA IS FORCED TO INTERVENE ENERGETICALLY AND SHE WILL TAKE FURTHER ENERGETIC MEASURES AGAINST SUCH EXCESSES IN UNITED NATIONS' DISCUSSIONS," THE SPOKESMAN SAID.

HE ADDED THAT THE BOOKLET DENIED SLOVENES A RIGHT TO NATIONAL CONSCIOUSNESS AND SUGGESTED THE PROTECTION OF NAZI FIFTH COLUMNISTS JUSTIFIED THE OCCUPATION REGIME. HE SAID AUSTRIA WAS A "NAZI SATELLITE."

PROFESSIONAL MEN, ARTISTS, PEASANTS AND CHILDREN APPEARED AT THE U.S. INFORMATION SERVICE READING ROOM AND LIBRARY IN DOWNTOWN BELGRADE, ALTHOUGH NO NOTICE HAD BEEN PUBLISHED HERE OF ITS REOPENING.

DIRECTOR E.BIGELOW THOMPSON SAID HE HAD RECEIVED ONLY A SIMPLE DIPLOMATIC NOTE FROM YUGOSLAVIA, CONTAINING NO CONDITIONS FOR OPERATIONS CONNECTED WITH DISTRIBUTING MOTION PICTURES, NEWSPAPERS AND NEWS BULLETINS.

THE YUGOSLAV GOVERNMENT TOLD THE AMERICAN EMBASSY IN LATE OCTOBER THAT U.S.I.S. COULD OPERATE ON CONDITION THAT IT GAVE SOLELY INFORMATION ON THE LIFE OF PEOPLE IN THE UNITED STATES AND OMITTED FROM ITS BULLETINS AND EXHIBITIONS ANYTHING AGAINST THE INTERESTS OF THE YUGOSLAV PEOPLE. THE NEWS BULLETINS WERE TO BE FORWARDED ONLY TO MINISTERS OF THE GOVERNMENT AND TO THE OFFICIAL TANJUG AGENCY, UNDER TERMS OF THE OCTOBER NOTE. THOMPSON SAID HE HAD PERMISSION NOW TO DISTRIBUTE THE NEWS BULLETIN TO FOREIGN NEWSPAPERMEN AND WAS NEGOTIATING ON THE POSSIBLE SHOWING OF AMERICAN FILMS ON THE PREMISES AND THE DISTRIBUTION OF EDUCATIONAL FILMS THROUGHOUT YUGOSLAVIA.

NEW DELHI, INDIA, DEC.15-(AP)-SOME QUARTERS EXPRESSED BELIEF TODAY THAT THE DOMINANTLY HINDU CONGRESS PARTY WAS PLAYING FOR TIME IN THE HOPE THAT THE MOSLEM LEAGUE EVENTUALLY WOULD JOIN THE CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY AND HELP WRITE INDIA'S INDEPENDENCE CHARTER.
THE BELIEF STEMMED FROM THE CONGRESS PARTY DECISION TO REFER TO THE FEDERAL COURT THE QUESTION OF COMPULSORY GROUPING OF PROVINCES IN THE BRITISH CABINET MISSION'S PLAN FOR INDEPENDENCE. (MOSLEM LEAGUE PRESIDENT M.A.JINNAH SAID HIS DIFFERENCES WITH BRITISH POLICY WERE "SERIOUS AND ACUTE" AS HE LEFT LONDON FOR INDIA AFTER FRUITLESS CONFERENCES WITH PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE. HE ADDED: "WE WANT PAKISTAN AND WE SHALL HAVE PAKISTAN"--A PARTITION OF INDIA BETWEEN HINDU AND MOSLEM PROVINCES.)
THE CONGRESS PARTY OPPOSES THE COMPULSORY GROUPING PLAN. THE MOSLEM LEAGUE AND THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT FAVOR IT. THE MATTER WAS EXPECTED TO REACH THE COURT DURING THIS WEEK'S SESSIONS OF THE CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY, ALTHOUGH CONGRESS SOURCES SAID THEY FELT CERTAIN THE COURT WOULD REFUSE TO ADJUDICATE THE QUESTION.
THE CONGRESS PARTY'S DETERMINATION TO GO TO COURT WAS INTERPRETED AS MOTIVATED BY THESE CONSIDERATIONS:
1. THE CONGRESS HAD QUESTIONED THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT'S INTERPRETATION THAT THE GROUPING IS COMPULSORY.
2. DURING THE TIME WHICH MUST ELAPSE BEFORE THE COURT COULD RULE, PROBABLY IN MARCH OR APRIL, THE MOSLEM LEAGUE MIGHT BE INDUCED TO JOIN THE CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY.

Council Gets Arms-Cutting Job

DAY PARRIS DAY

Athens, Dec. 16 (AP)—All Greece is scheduled to come to a four-hour standstill Wednesday in protest against the refusal of the Foreign Ministers Council to grant demands to change the Bulgarian-Greek border in Greece's favor. The Pan-Hellenic Council announced the nation-wide strike" as an expression of disappointment.

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—The United Nations Assembly turned over to the 11-member Security Council today the monumental task of setting up machinery for a program for reducing the armies of the world and destroying the mass destructive weapons of war.

Ending a historic eight-week session at 12.44 A.M., the top diplomats of 54 nations gave the world its first concrete hope for outlawing war and then headed for home after writing another chapter in man's long search for peace.

The next regular meeting will be held in New York next September 16, but the Assembly may be called into special session in six months to approve arms reductions, which the Security Council is to plan in detail.

Pledged To Reduce Arms

The diplomats gave a solemn pledge that their countries would support immediate steps to reduce their armed forces and prohibit the use of the atomic bomb.

This was regarded as the most significant achievement of the Assembly, which met in the United States for the first time and selected a Manhattan skyscraper site for its permanent home.

But almost equally significant was the attainment of virtually unanimous agreement among delegates, a unanimity that had been conspicuously lacking since the United Nations was born.

For the first time since hostilities ended, delegates agreed that there was an increase in co-operative spirit between Soviet Russia and the western powers.

Refugee Setup Voted

The last item of business on the strenuous 54-day calendar was rejection of a Ukrainian proposal to hold the 1947 Assembly meeting in Europe.

A few minutes earlier the Assembly overrode Russian opposition and approved a draft constitution for an international refugee organization to care for Europe's estimated millian homeless. A first years budget of $160000,000 was approved.

The United States was the first to adhere to the program, with Austin rushing from the Assmbly hall to affix his signature to the document. Other countries were expected to sign later today.

Major Decisions Listed

Delegates in plenary session made these major decisions:

1. DISARMAMENT — Unanimously approved a resolution calling for a far-reaching arms-limitation program, including the reduction of armed forces and the prohibition of the atomic bomb and other weapons of mass destruction.

To the Security Council was given the task of working out machinery for putting the program into operation. Although the Council is not bound by the Assembly's action, it was regarded as unlikely that any Council member would take a position in conflict with the resolution his country had approved.

Five Major Provisions

These were the provisions of the resolution and the basis for the 1946

Council's work—a special session of the Assembly to consider measures by the Security Council to reduce and regulate armaments; elimination of atomic and other mass destructive weapons; establishment of inspection safeguards, not subject to veto, against evasions of disarmament agreements: speedup of plans for an international police force under the Security Council, and a balanced reduction of troops in former enemy territories.

2. VETO—After a year-long fight, the small powers lost their fight to strip the Big Five of their special voting privileges in the Security Council.

The Assembly, however, adopted a resolution urging the Big Five to use their veto power more sparingly so that the eleven-Nation Security body's work would not be obstructed.

The small nations greatest complaint was that the veto was thwarting the will of the majority.

3. SPAIN—In its first concrete proposal against Generalissimo Franco, the Assembly recommended that all member nations recall their ambassadors and ministers from Spain and that the present Madrid regime be barred from membership in any organizations started by the United Nations or having relationship with it.

4. TRUSTEESHIPS—The Assembly approved the transfer of eight League of Nations mandates to the United Nations trusteeship system, thus creating a ten-member trusteeship council to safeguard the interests of nonself-governing peoples and to try to see that they eventually achieve full independence.

Three New Members

Other decisions included the admittance of Sweden, Iceland and Afghanistan to United Nations membership, increasing the number of members from 51 to 54.

An administrative budget of $19,390,000 for 1946 and $27,740,000 for 1947 was adopted. Under a scale of contribution finally approved after a bitter fight, the United States will pay 39.89 per cent of the total for 1947. Great Britain will pay 11.48 per cent and Russia 6.34 per cent.

The United States had been asked to pay 49.89 per cent, but contended that no one nation should pay a share equal almost to the total amount paid by all other members.

A call for a world conference on freedom of information was called for sometime in 1947 to try to break down restrictions on the gathering and distribution of news.

Complaint Recognized

The Assembly recognized India's complaint against the treatment of Indians in South Africa. It found that this had led to an impairment of relations between India and South Africa. The Assembly asked the two governments to try to reconcile their differences and report at the next session.

The Assembly rejected a Russian proposal for an immediate inventory of all troops stationed on the soil of alien nonenemy countries, and left it up to the Securtiy Council to decide what information member states should be invited to submit in connection with the arms limitation program.

In another important step, the Assembly called on member states to enact statutes against genocide—the mass extermination of racial groups—and proposed an international convention against the crime.

Russia suffered another setback in the final hours of the session when the Assembly rejected her move to give the World Federation of Trade-Unions special privileges.

The Soviet, however, gained permission for the WFTU to suggest subjects to the United Nations Economic and Social Council for action and gave equal status to the American Federation of Labor, the International Chamber of Commerce and the International Cooperative Alliance. The CIO is a member of the WFTU and therefore represented.

South Africa 'Libeled' At UN., Official Avers

Pretoria, South Africa, Dec. 16 (AP)—Gen. J. J. Pienaar, administrator of the Transvaal, asserted today that certain United Nations delegates had made "libelous speeches" against the Union of South Africa.

Referring to the Assembly debate on Indian charges that Indians are being discriminated against in South Africa, Pienaar said in an address here:

"The whole nation is prepared to oppose with united efforts any interference in our affairs" at a time of "serious crisis which might affect the continued existence of the whole European civilization in Africa."

ALBANIA SAYS GREECE SEEKS TO STIR WAR

Joins Yugoslavia In Asking Security Council To Probe Complaint

WILRYAN

Bernard M. Baruch expected to ask a vote today on atomic control.....Page 2

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 16 (AP)—Bulgaria, Albania and Yugoslavia joined tonight in a concerted counteroffensive against Greece, charging the royalist-dominated Greek Government with responsibility for the country's current guerrilla warfare and demanding an investigation of conditions inside Greece by a United Nations commission.

As the eleven-nation Security Council resumed discussion of Greece's complaint that the three nations had fomented the guerrilla warfare for their own ends, Albania charged the Greek Government with trying "to provoke war against its neighbors."

Join In Asking Inquiry

Both Bulgaria and Albania asked an inquiry. Yugoslavia had done likewise last Thursday when the discussion of the Greek charges was begun.

Constantin Tsaldaris, Greek Premier, renewed his charges, telling the Security Council that only a fraction of the "proofs" he had offered "would have sufficed to justify one in applying the term of aggressor to those states which lend their support to the bands in question."

He said Leftist bands penetrating Greece from Albania and Yugoslavia intended to separate from continental Greece the Pindus, Chassia, Olympus, Pierra, Bermion and Paikon areas, while bands from Bulgaria hoped to separate eastern Macedonia from western Thrace.

Notes Curbs On Press

"It would be eminently desirable for the enlightenment of the world, and the Security Council in particular, that representatives of the press should be enabled to penetrate into our neighbors' countries with the same freedom that they enjoy in our own," he said.

The Security Council adjourned until Wednesday after adopting a suggestion by the chairman, Herschel V. Johnson, of the United States, to invite Bulgaria and Albania to participate in the forthcoming debate without vote.

Replying to formal Greek charges that Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria were fomenting the current strife in northern Greece, Hysni Kapo, Albanian minister to Yugoslavia, countercharged that "what we have here is the uprising of part of the Greek people against their government. What we have here is a civil war."

Protests "Slanderous Attacks"

Speaking for Bulgaria, Vladimir Stoytcheff, Bulgarian political representative in the United States, protested that his nation had been subjected to "slanderous attacks" in the Greek charges "petty and trivial and unfounded," and said he would offer a list of border incidents created by the Greeks if he were allowed later to participate in the debate.

Both Bulgaria and Albania, neither of them members of the United Nations, were present thus far only for the purpose of making statements to rebut the charges presented Thursday by Greek Premier Constantin Tsaldaris.

Like Yugoslavia, Albania blamed the Greek Government for the strife inside Greece and asked a United Nations investigation of conditions inside that country, where Tsaldaris charged that activities of Greece's neighbors threatened the maintenance of world peace. Greece has asked a commission to investigate the guerrilla warfare.

Terms Charges Unfounded

Kopo branded the Greek memorandum "a tissue of unfounded and tendentious accusations against Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania," adding that "ever since it came to power, the present Greek regime has had an attitude of marked hostility toward my country."

"If the Security Council is anxious to maintain international peace and security," Kopo said, "it should not allow such a situation to continue; it should act in order to terminate the martyrdom of the gallant Greek people and to prevent further trouble in the Balkans."

Accused Of Distortion

Before Kopo spoke, Sava N. Kasanovic, Yugoslav Ambassador to the United States, who replied Thursday to Tsaldaris's charges, presented a detailed list of what he said were incidents "provoked by Greek armed forces across the Yugoslav border."

Kasanovic accused Tsaldaris of intentionally distorting a statement given October 15 by Marshal Tito, Yugoslav Premier, to C. L. Sulzberger, correspondent of the New York Times. He said that in quoting the dispatch "as proof of the drive to separate Macedonia" from Greece, Tsaldaris had omitted Tito's pledge that Yugoslavia contemplated no steps with regard to the Macedonian situation "except before the United Nations."

The Security Council, before taking up the Greek case, adopted an Australian resolution under which the term of Herschel V. Johnson, United States member, as chairman, will be extended to January 1. Russia abstained in the vote on the resolution, which Paul Hasluck, Australian delegate, said was aimed at bringing about changes in the chairmanship on the first of each month, instead of on the seventeenth.

NIGHT

To Plan U.N. Armed Forces

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 16 (AP)—The military staff committee of the United Nations announced today it has unanimously agreed to a draft of principles governing the purpose of the armed forces to be made available to the Security Council by United Nations members.

A communique issued by the staff committee, which came under heavy fire during the General Assembly for its failure to make progress, said that:

"At the present time the military staff committee is continuing its discussions of the principles governing the composition of the armed forces to be made available to the Security Council by member nations of the United Nations."

The communique did not contain the principles agreed upon.

The military forces under the Security Council will be an international police force to preserve peace under the United Nations charter.

BARUCH SEEKS GROUP VOTE ON ATOMIC PLAN

NIGHT

Expected To Ask Commission Action Today On U.S. Program

CARPENTER

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 16 (AP). Bernard M. Baruch, convinced of the "imperative necessity of speed," will call tomorrow for a vote in the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission on the United States atomic control plan, authoritative sources said tonight.

A policy decision might be taken at a full meeting of the commission tomorrow, but delegates privately expressed the opinion that considerable speech-making might delay a vote several days. The commission is required to complete a report to the Security Council by December 31.

Earlier Plea Recalled

Baruch, on December 5, urged the commission not to delay on the matter of harnessing the atom and presented resolutions which embodied the essentials of the United States plan.

At the same time he appealed especially to the Soviet Union, whose delegate, Andrei A. Gromyko, rejected the United States plan last July, to participate now in view of the statements of Soviet leaders reversing their earlier stand on inspections and controls.

The political committee of the commission met for three hours today and considered the "proceedings" section of the projected report. This will deal with the extensive work of the commission and its various committees from June 14, when Baruch laid down his plan at the opening meeting of the commission, to the end of the year.

Seeks Guidance On Plans

Delegates said, however, that the committee was unable to work on recommendations without the guidance of the commission. Hence, a decision on the United States plan—or some plan of control which might be evolved by the commission—is desired soon by the committee.

Baruch's resolutions envision a strong international system of control of atomic energy established and defined by a treaty. This treaty would set up an international authority with full powers of inspection and control of the regulations of the treaty.

None of the atomic controls and punishments for violations would be subject to the Security Council veto in the Baruch plan. The atomic bomb would be outlawed.

There still is before the commission the Russian plan offered also in June by Gromyko which would ban atomic weapons and would leave control and punishment to the individual nations.

Agreed To Inspections

During the recent General Assembly, Russia agreed to international inspections and controls outside the veto but operating within the framework of the Security Council. There has been no indication from Gromyko yet whether he will withdraw his plan or attempt to amend the United States proposal.

The political committee plans to meet Wednesday if the commission completes action tomorrow.

U.N. Atom Board DAY Drafts Report For Council

CARPENTER

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 16 (AP). The United Nations Atomic Energy Commission was said authoritatively today to be considering a report which thus far lacks the essential control features demanded by the United States as the price for yielding its atomic secrets to the world.

The commission's delegates were called into closed session today as a committee to study the report which must be made to the United Nations Security Council by December 31.

An informed source said that the working paper now before the delegates included a statement on procedures, a section on findings and a third section on recommendations.

Control Plan Omitted

Instead of including a concrete plan for control, this source added, the section on recommendations deals so far only with relatively unimportant features, such as what types of inspectors are necessary in controls.

The delegates have avoided a vote on a control plan, it was said. There was no present indication when or if such a vote would be taken, but the December 31 deadline is getting close.

The United States has urged the delegates to agree unanimously on the control plan offered last June 14 by Bernard M. Baruch, elder statesman and United States member of the commission.

Rated "Most Pressing"

The General Assembly in its closing days served emphatic notice that it considers the atom the most pressing problem. It adopted unanimously a world arms limitation resolution which charts the way to eventual outlawing of atomic weapons and other means of mass destruction.

With this mandate to hurry, the Atomic Energy Commission also was given a free hand in a specific paragraph, insisted upon by the United States, providing that the commission would not be hindered or tampered with by anything contained in the sweeping terms of the resolution.

Basis Of Situation

The situation basically is this:

The United States has presented a plan which it said had the minimum conditions under which it would surrender the atomic bomb secrets. This provided for an atomic development authority or some similar international control having complete authority over the atomic life of the nations. It called for swift punishment of violators.

The United States also insisted that any atomic control must be outside the big-power veto in the Security Council.

Soviet Russia countered last June with a plan for outlawing the bomb by international treaty and leaving punishment of violators up to individual nations. Russia also rejected the rigid inspection and control demanded by the United States, contending such international features violated national sovereignty. Russia, in fact, rejected the whole United States plan in July.

US. Delegates Work On

However, the United States delegation and the others in the commission kept working.

In October, Prime Minister Stalin of Russia said that international control was necessary.

Vyacheslav M. Molotov, Russian Foreign Minister, proposed abolition of the atomic bomb in a resolution on general arms limitation and eventually told the Assembly's Political Committee that Russia would agree to a system of inspection and controls on which the veto would not apply, but which would operate within the framework of the Security Council.

Things moved more rapidly after that. Baruch came in with his request to the commission to agree on a plan which carried the essentials of the United States plan.

Resolution Passed

Baruch was said to have conferred often with Secretary of State James F. Byrnes in the closing days of the Assembly. A representative of the Atomic Commission attended all meetings, open and secret, of the committees dealing with arms limitation, and at the end the United States succeeded in putting through the paragraph which, in effect, kept hands off the Atomic Energy Commission.

Dr. Manuel Sandoval Vallarta, Mexican scientist and former professor at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, is chairman of the commission, succeeding Alexandre Parodi, of France, in the regular rotation. Dr. Vallarta, however, will be chairman only until January 1, since Mexico loses her seat on the Security Council, and also on the Atomic Energy Commission, at that time.

BRITISH SPLIT ON TRANSPORT

Bill for Nationalization Draws Praise And Jeers

MACKLIN

London, Dec. 16 (AP)—Alfred Barnes, Transport Minister, riding out opposition jeers that the Labor Government's public transportation bill was full of "half-baked proposals," told the House of Commons tonight that its enactment would result in more progress in five years than in "500 years of Tory rule."

Throughout the debate Barnes weathered laughter and needling by the Conservative opposition to the bill, which would bring Britain's railroads, busses and inland waterways under public ownership at a cost of $4,260,000,000 in public funds.

"Fiercest Fight"

A division vote is scheduled for Wednesday. The bill, now up for second reading, is a "must" proposal in the Socialist program of the Labor Government.

Opening of the debate, termed by parliamentarians as the "fiercest fight" of the current session, saw Sir David Maxwell-Fyfe, Conservative leader who was the chief British prosecutor at the Nuernberg war crimes trials, defending private ownership.

Present Operators Praised

Introduction of the bill, Sir David said, was "the greatest disservice which this Government has so far done to the trade and industry of this nation."

Praising the present operators of transportation for achieving "low costs," Sir David declared that expenses would skyrocket "under a monopoly which was cumbrous, top-heavy and whose structural defects were as wide as its powers were unlimited."

Sir David said the bill fitted the needs of neither industry nor socialism, and said that any government transportation system would become the "retreat of yesmen and sycophants."

Barnes, on the other hand, said the bill was the most "extensive socialization measure ever presented to a free democratic parliament."

The minister said that 45 per cent of the world's transport system was publicly owned, and that only through nationalization could Britain unify its transportation to permit repair of war-damaged equipment.

"There have been far wider and more far-reaching economic changes in the world hitherto," Barnes said, "but they have usually been carried out with violence, and it speaks a good deal for the stability of our British institutions that we are able to consider a measure of this magnitude in the atmosphere which prevails in this house."

The bill is being strongly opposed by railroad owners and heads of other major industries. The measure is the most controversial item to date on the Government's nationalization program, which calls for the bringing under public ownership of banks, airways, mines and cables and wireless companies.

MP's Debating Bill To Seize Transport DAY

London, Dec. 16 (AP)—The House of Commons debated today what Transport Minister Alfred Barnes called "the largest and most extensive socialization measure ever presented to a free democratic parliament," a bill taking British railroads, canals and a large share of the trucking industry under public ownership.

The measure is the most controversial item to date in the Labor Government's nationalization program.

Barnes said 45 per cent of the world's transport already is publicly owned. Only through nationalization, he declared, can Britain bring about the unification of transport, that will permit the war's tremendous wear and tear on equipment and facilities to be repaired.

Public Inquiry Rejected

He rejected as unnecessary a Conservative demand that a public inquiry be held before adoption of the nationalization bill.

Railroad owners and heads of other major industries are strongly opposing the bill, which involves an early expenditure of $4,260,000,000 in public funds to take over railroads and the London passenger transport system. There was no estimate of the amount involved in nationalizing other transport.

More than 1,125,000 workers are affected by the bill.

"There have been far wider and more far-reaching economic changes in th eworld hitherto," Barnes said, "but they have usually been carried out with violence and it speaks a good deal for the stability of our British institutions that we are able to consider a measure to this magnitude in the atmosphere which prevails in this House."

Reds Say U.S. 'Profiteers' In Japan Endanger Peace

NIGHT

Soviet Radio Assails Lending to Japanese Concerns

LONDON, Dec. 16 (AP).—The Moscow radio said tonight that what it described as "profiteering manipulations" of American business men in Japan constitute a "serious danger to peace."

The broadcast said Americans are lending money to Japanese concerns to redeem shares in monopolies and establish independent firms, and declared this is giving American capital "what is in effect monopoly control of Japanese industry."

"This is a serious danger to peace in the Far East, for it revives in Japan the forces responsible for the policy of aggressive expansion and ruthless exploitation of the peoples of eastern Asia," the broadcast said.

Britons' Bacon Ration Cut

London, Dec. 16 (AP)—The British ration of bacon will be reduced from three to two ounces a week January 5, the Government announced today. The milk ration will be increased Sunday from a quart to 1¼ quarts weekly.

Wind, Snow Plague Western Europe

DAY

London, Dec. 16 (AP)—Bitter winds and snow sweeping out of Siberia plagued western Europe today, causing acute distress in some war-battered areas.

Snow fell from the northernmost British Isles to Italy. At Frankfurt, Germany, the mercury dropped to one above zero. Thousands of Germans there, living amid the bomb ruins, had little or no fuel.

The cold wave came as Moscow reported that geographers had found the "world pole of cold"—a spot where the temperature had fallen to a record 94 degrees below zero—in a hitherto unexplored mountain section of Siberia.

British Power Supply Cut

A broadcast gave the location of the place as about 63 degrees north latitude and 143 degrees east longitude.

Several inches of snow fell in many parts of the British Isles. A fuel shortage cut the power supply by five to fifteen per cent throughout England and Wales.

Unusually early cold weather in Holland threatened to paralyze transportation on inland waterways. Snow fell as far south as Milan.

In France the average temperature was around 23 degrees. Paris had snow flurries.

14 Phone Calls, But No Blasts In London DAY

London, Dec. 16 (AP)—A total of fourteen telephoned warnings that London buildings would be blown up have been received by police since Friday night, but there was so far no report of terroristic violence anywhere here.

Authorities intensified precautions to avert possible violence, but expressed belief the calls were the work of a prankster.

The fourteenth in the series of threats was made by an unidentified caller who said London's huge Paddington Station would be blasted.

Newspaper At Noon

A man speaking in a gruff, perhaps disguised voice, telephoned a local police station today that London's Stockwell subway station would be blown up.

Shortly afterward the Daily Mirror, morning tabloid, was told that it would be blasted [illegible]

A similar warning call was made late last night, directed at Shepherd's Restaurant in the fashionable West End.

Successive calls last night said that bombs would be set off at Scotland Yard, world-renowned London police center, at the Royal Artillery Records Office in near-by Kent and at "a building"—not specified. The respective calls were to the British Broadcasting Corporation, the artillery office and the general post office.

Jewish Angle Weighed

Squads sent to the places uncovered no indications of sabotage—and none had turned up in connection with like threats made against public buildings Friday and Saturday nights in the eerie atmosphere of a thick fog.

Authorities reported nothing to connect the threats with a Palestine underground spokesman's statement weeks ago that violence would break out in England. Some newspapers, on the other hand, speculated that the calls might have emanated from anti-semitic sources seeking to throw odium on Jews.

One Launders As 15 Watch

London, Dec. 16 (AP)—Leon Mendoza, 48, a merchant seaman, did his week's wash tonight before a critical audience of fifteen newsmen and photographers. He was the only customer to turn up for the "men only" night at a public washhouse inaugurated by the Holborn Borough Council for "embarrassed bachelors" on the waiting lists of London laundries.

New Jet Plane Shown

Baginton, Warwickshire, England, Dec. 16 (AP)—The Armstrong Whitworth Aircraft Company gave newsmen a glimpse today of its new, jet propelled plane, a sleek 90-foot double-skinned flying wing weighing 30,000 pounds. Its makers refused to estimate how fast the wing, which will be tested soon, will fly.

SOCIALIST CABINET FORMED BY BLUM 'TO AVERT CRISIS'

GOLDBERG

PARIS, Dec. 16. — (AP) Socialist Premier Leon Blum, acting to avert a crisis that "threatened to become perilous," formed an all-Socialist cabinet today after failing to bring Communists and their opponents into a coalition caretaker government.

The National Assembly will be asked to give the cabinet a vote of confidence tomorrow. Observers said they expected Blum to receive almost unanimous endorsement, despite the fact that neither of France's two most powerful parties—the Communists and the Popular Republican Movement (MRP)—were represented.

Forced to Take Action

NIGHT

Tonight, the 74-year-old Blum, who will be premier-president and foreign minister in the new cabinet to serve until mid-January said in a broadcast to the nation that he had been forced to name a one-party cabinet and asked:

"What was I to do? What was my duty?

"I realize that it looks odd for a party that has less than 100 members in an assembly that has more than 600 members to present a government. But we had to put an end to a crisis in government that threatened to become perilous."

Blum tried in vain for five days to work out a formula under which all major political parties would enter the government. Communist demands for the important post of minister of defense, opposed by centrist and rightist parties, contributed to the wrecking of his efforts.

The Communists fought also to the last against inclusion in the cabinet of the Republican liberty party, an extreme rightist faction.

The anti-Communist bloc, which maintained that the appointment of a Communist to the defense ministry would give that party control of the army and occupation parties, was encouraged when Blum finally named one-armed Andre le Troquer to the post.

Le Troquer, an outspoken anti-Communist, was Blum's defense lawyer when the Vichy government tried leaders of France's Third Republic.

Others In Cabinet

Felix Gouin, who served for a time as Socialist premier in the succession of provisional governments which have ruled France since the liberation, was assigned the task of handling the four-year reconstruction plan.

Andre Philip, brilliant banker who was finance minister in the Gouin cabinet, was recalled to that post. Pierre Tanguy-Prigent, agricultural minister in the cabinet of MRP Premier Georges Bidault, was reappointed.

Other Socialist holdovers reappointed from the Bidault cabinet included Edouard Depreux, ministry of the interior; Jules Moch, public works; Marcel Edmond Naegelen, education; and Marius Moutet, colonies.

Daniel Mayer, who as party secretary general fought a losing battle against left-wing Socialists in the party congress a month ago, was given the labor-social security post.

A woman, Madame Andree Vienot, was named under-secretary of state for education, and a Senegalese colonial, Lamine Gueye, was named under-secretary of state for the premier.

Guy Mollet, secretary-general of the party, and Augustin Laurent were made Ministers of State, and Daniel Maye Minister of Labor. Albert Gazier and Lamine Gueye, a Negro deputy from Senegal, were appointed Under-Secretaries of State to the Premier. Marius Moutet was made Minister of Colonies, and Jules Moch was designated Minister of Public Works.

Union Idea Failed.

The formation of the one-party Cabinet was the result of Blum's failure to get the other parties to agree on a National Union Government.

The 74-year-old Blum, busy since Thursday trying to set up a caretaker cabinet to serve pending the selection of a permanent Government in mid-January, called the parliamentary chiefs of the various French political parties to his office shortly after noon today to tell them his intentions. Confronted by stubborn dissension between Communists and other parties, he failed to reach an agreement at his final meeting with the Communist leaders, Jacques Duclos and Maurice Thorez. Afterward he consulted with Molget and Le Troquet, leaders, respectively, of the Socialist party's own Left and Right wings.

Blum Forms Socialist Cabinet

Takes Premiership and Foreign Affairs Post in Proposed Single-party Regime.

DAY

Paris, Dec. 16 (A. P.).—Leon Blum has formed an all-Socialist Cabinet with himself as President-Premier and Minister of Foreign Affairs, it was announced today, and has summoned the ministers-designate to a first meeting tonight. The Ministry is still subject to a vote of confidence by the National Assembly.

Ande Le Troquer, outstanding anti-Communist in the Left-wing Socialist party ranks, got the communist-coveted post of Minister of National Defense, with control of the armed forces at home, in the colonies and in the occupation zones. The remaining key post, the Ministry of the Interior, which controls the police and home security forces, went to Edouard Depreux, and Pierre Olvier Lapie, a Deputy from the Lorraine department of Meurthe-et-Moselle, was made Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, directly under Blum.

Hesse Trial NIGHT Accusation DURANT

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 16 (AP). A United States army prosecutor charged today that Col. Jack W. Durant wooed and married WAC Capt. Kathleen Nash "to seal her mouth and prevent her testifying against him" in connection with the theft of the Hesse crown jewels.

Durant, 37-year-old lawyer of Washington, D.C., was described by Major Joseph Robinson as the ring leader of the $1,500,000 gem robbery, of which Captain Nash—now Mrs. Durant—and another officer already have been convicted.

Plea Of Innocent Entered

Opening the case against Durant before a court-martial of nine colonels, Robinson said that the defendant "knew all the ropes in the Army" and thus was able to stage "as conniving a piece of thievery as was ever recorded in the annals of crime."

Durant refused to acknowledge the court's right to try him, and stood silent when asked whether he was guilty or innocent. The court entered a plea of innocent in his behalf.

Unusual Smuggling Claimed

Robinson said Durant took advantage of his army rank to have the gems sent duty-free to the United States, and signed another colonel's name to papers hurrying his discharge from the Army in an attempt to escape court-martial jurisdiction.

Some of the jewels were smuggled into the United States in shaving-cream tubes, Robinson said, and others were taken by a woman friend of Durant's who had customs immunity.

"All this we will prove from the mouths of witnesses," the prosecutor said.

DAY

CALLS DURANT LEADER

Frankfurt, Dec. 16 (A. P.).—Col. Jack W. Durant was pictured to a military court today as the organizer of the $1,500,000 theft of Hesse family jewels from Kronberg Castle.

The prosecutor, Major Joseph Robinson of New York, said that he would prove this. Durant, refusing to acknowledge the court's right to try him, declined to make a plea but the nine colonels comprising the court entered a plea of not guilty for him.

Durant is from Washington, D. C. His wife and another officer have been convicted in the jewel theft.

2 Army Officers Held in Berlin In Black Market

Queens Major Accused With Colonel, Ex-Lieutenant in $200,000 Operations

BERLIN, Dec. 16 (AP).—Court-martial charges were filed today against Lieutenant Colonel James G. Fisher, of Wilmette, Ill., and Major Louis Dups, of 88-14 199th Street, Hollis, Queens, N. Y., accusing them of a part in black-market operations. Both formerly were in he decartelization branch of the American Military Government. Charges also were made against Marvin M. Van Stock, of Chicago, a former officer who has been discharged from the Army.

The charges, filed by the Judge Advocate, Colonel Lester Prichard, alleged that Fisher, Dups and Van Stock, during a period from August, 1945, to October, 1946, "wrongfully and unlawfully" used their positions as Army officers to engage in business in a manner which "tended to interfere with and hamper the proper discharge of their military duties."

Many Items Listed

The first of two charges was that the officers made deals in the following items: American and foreign currencies, precious metals and stones, radium, jewelry, perfumes, plastic moulds, plants, tools and machinery, watches, shoes, binoculars, cameras, textiles, mercury, stockings, lenses, cigarettes, automotive vehicles, paintings, stocks, credits, loans and securities.

Another specification alleged that the men set up their own companies to do business, including one called the Overseas Industrial Corporation, and another called Louis Dups, Inc.

The Army's Criminal Investigation Division estimated that the trio's operations totaled $200,000. The date of their court martial has not been announced.

Fisher is under sentence of one year in prison on a previous charge of illicit trading. He and Dups were suspended from their jobs several months ago and placed under house arrest. Van Stock, a former lieutenant employed in the military government, obtained his discharge from the Army while on leave in the United States. A. C. I. D. has gone there to seek his extradition.

Col. Shamel Acquitted Of Thefts In Germany

Bremen, Germany, Dec. 16 (AP)—Lieut. Col. Joseph W. Shamel, of Urbana, Ill., was acquitted by a court-martial today of embezzling silverware and china belonging to the City of Bremen while he was executive officer of the military government here.

Colonel Shamel testified he noticed that some silver was missing after he entertained high-ranking American and British officers at dinner. A number of the officers, he said, told him later they had taken away "souvenirs." He did not identify them.

The case of Col. Bion C. Welker, of Harrisburg, Pa., who also had been charged with irregularities in Bremen, was postponed until January because of his illness.

Lamed Victim Of Nazi Doctors Sits In at Trial NIGHT

Swedish Jew Tells About Experiments Practiced on Him During 3 Years

REEDY

NUERNBERG, Dec. 16 (AP).—A bent-over youth with the face of an old man limped into the Nuernberg courtroom today, deposited his crutches and then sat staring at twenty-three Nazi doctors in the prisoners' dock.

He stared and twitched, sitting up front where they could see him.

"I'm coming back," he said as he left toward the end of the day. "I want to see them all hang."

He identified himself as Berl Bessing, a Swedish Jew. He said he was twenty-nine, but he looked much older.

"See that doctor up there?" he asked, pointing to Paul Rostock, a big, surly Elite Guard (S. S.) physician. "He was my doctor."

Bessing said he was in the hands of Nazi doctors, especially Rostock, for six years. He was caught in Gdynia when Poland was overrun. For three years, he said, he was the object of experiments.

He'll never walk again normally, he said. They sterilized him, and a bone was taken from his skull, transplanted to his legs. Muscles were taken from his legs, grafted elsewhere. His chest is swollen from hundreds of injections.

Bessing said he had been waiting years for this chance to testify against Nazi doctors. Now he is listed as a witness, but he said he was afraid he would be too nervous to sit on the witness stand, close to them, and tell a coherent story. So he is asking a physician to testify for him, when his turn comes in the prosecution of Hitler's physicians charged with experiments on humans.

Bessing is quartered in a hospital for displaced persons near Munich. He doesn't expect ever to get far from a hospital again.

A twenty-six-year-old Polish Jew burst into tears on the witness stand today as he testified that the Nazis first sterilized him by X-ray and then castrated him by surgery. The court withheld his name, at his request, after he said he was "ashamed" and did not want any one to learn his fate.

Nazi Tycoon To Face Trial NIGHT DEVLIN

Nuernberg, Germany, Dec. 16 (AP)—United States prosecution officials announced today that Friedrich Flick, 62, German armaments maker, would go on trial February 1 as the first Nazi industrialist to face an American war-crimes tribunal.

The second trial will be against the I. G. Farben industry, chemical combine, to be followed by the Krupp steel empire, the Dresdener Bank and the Hermann Goering Werke steel combine.

Flick, who built up a $400,000,000 armaments empire partly through the forced sale of Jewish properties, worked so anonymously that he was virtually unknown both in Germany and abroad, United States authorities said.

Mystery Economic Man

Tens of thousands of slave workers, including women, toiled in his plants, producing airplanes, tanks, armored trains, submarines, and V-1 robot bombs.

United States officials, describing him as the mystery man of the Nazi economic setup, said he probably was the greatest individual power behind Germany's wartime industrial machine—even greater than Gustav Krupp von Bohlen Und Halbach, who at one time was listed among the original Nuernberg war-crimes defendants.

Krupp was not tried along with Hermann Goering and other top-ranking Nazis because he was found to be suffering from senile softening of the brain.

Kept In Background

Flick's behind-the-scenes operations extended to the iron, coal and steel industries. He started producing armaments as early as 1933, United States investigators said, and by 1942 had created a combine of 129 industries which he either owned outright or almost totally.

In all his manipulations, he kept in the background, ordering that his name never be used, the investigators added.

Individual defendants to represent other combines have not been announced in detail as yet, but prosecutors have said that Alfred Krupp, son of Gustav, would be the principal defendant in the Krupp steel empire case. He probably will go on trial in the late spring or early summer.

Resignation Unexplained

Brig. Gen. Telford Taylor, chief United States counsel, disclosed that Abraham Pomerantz, of New York, who was to have headed the prosecution in the cases against the industrialists, had resigned and would be replaced by Thomas E. Ervin. No reason was given for the resignation.

Now on trial before a United States war-crimes court are 23 Nazi doctors, charged with using concentration-camp inmates as human guinea pigs in a number of experiments which terminated in death.

RED OFFICER HELD IN BERLIN SHOOTING

Berlin, Dec. 16 (A. P.).—The United States Provost Marshal's Office announced today the arrest of a pistol-shooting Russian Army lieutenant who allegedly terrorized scores of German civilians in a subway station in the American sector last night as he personally undertook to find a thief who had stolen his suitcase.

The Russian, who was arrested by a joint American-Soviet police patrol and placed in Russian custody, reportedly fired six shots at the station ceiling to prevent people from leaving until he could find the thief.

Later, American M. P.'s said that they found the suitcase in the lodgings of a German girl who is being held for questioning.

Russian Found Killed in Berlin

BERLIN, Dec. 16 (AP).—Soviet authorities were investigating today the death of a Russian civilian who was found shot and robbed in a bomb ruin in the American sector of the city early yesterday. The body, shot through the back of the neck and stripped of most personal belongings except clothing, was discovered by a German civilian who called an American military police patrol.

Imports Authorized Into Merged Zones

Berlin, Dec. 16 (A. P.).—The American and British military governments have authorized the importation into their economically merged zones of Germany of $7,750,000 worth of raw materials which are expected to produce exports worth more than $23,250,000, United States Headquarters announced today.

This was the first major joint action taken under a bizonal financing arrangement designed to raise dollar credits through exports to help defray the cost of occupation. Chiefly "light" consumer products and chemicals will be produced for export in German plants under this plan.

German State Elects Head

Stuttgart, Germany, Dec. 16 (AP). The popularly elected Parliament of Württemberg-Baden today elected Dr. Reinhold Maier as Minister-President of the German state. The vote was 71 to 17. He had previously served by American appointment.

Merry Christmas in Berlin

BERLIN, Dec. 16 (AP). — The American Military Government announced today a special Christmas bonus ration of one-fourth pound of cocoa for all children from one to six years of age in the American occupation zone. This is in addition to a special ration, announced a forthnight ago, of one-half pound of sugar for all children and adolescents.

BIG FOUR PRAISED IN MOSCOW PRESS

Magazine Says Results Show Co-Operation Possibilities

NIGHT
GILMORE

Moscow, Dec. 16 (AP)—The authoritative magazine New Times painted an optimistic picture today of collaboration between Russia and the Western powers and reaffirmed belief that the big nations must write the solution to the world's postwar problems.

The magazine, which is devoted to foreign affairs, said progress made by the four-power foreign ministers in drafting treaties for Axis satellite nations proved that such matters should be handled through negotiated, major-power agreements, and not through voting methods such as those applied at the recent Paris Peace Conference.

[Small nations were given as much of a voice as large nations at the 21-nation Paris conference and an equal vote. Findings of the conference were referred to the four-power foreign ministers as recommendations.]

"Remarkable Success"

Reviewing progress made during the year in negotiations involving Russian and Western powers, New Times said that 1946 had "brought remarkable success to the new method of democratic collaboration between nations."

The article followed by two days a review in Izvestia, the official Government newspaper, which described the work of the United Nations and the Foreign Ministers' Council as "fruitful" and "substantial."

Despite deep differences in the opinions of the great powers, there is no need for alarm about the future of negotiations, New Times said.

"It is well known that contradictions exist among the countries on a whole series of concrete questions," the magazine said. "However, war experience has shown that freedom-loving people . . . can find methods of solving contradictions."

Lewis Called Reactionary

Other articles in the magazine:

1. Described John L. Lewis as a "reactionary" and implied that the action of the head of the United Mine Workers in calling off the recent coal strike in the United States was a betrayal of the workers.

2. Asserted that the United States House of Representatives Committee on Un-American Activities had ignored the "subversive work of the Ku Klux Klan," but went out of its way to "persecutive progressive organizations."

3. Said that reports concerning the construction of a so-called "atomgrad" in Russia were nothing but a "sensational lie." The reports had said that a huge atomic energy plant was being built near Sukhumi, on the Black Sea, under the supervision of German scientists, the magazine stated.

New Times also dealt with the current situation in India and declared that to obtain her full independence India should be united, possibly along the lines proposed by the All-India Congress party.

There were "no real facts," the magazine said, to support fears of India's Moslem League that they would be "swallowed up" by the Hindu majority in a united India.

"History shows," New Times averred, "the more British ruling circles interfere in Indian affairs, the further is internal strife in India aggravated."

Lewis Termed Reactionary

DAY

Moscow, Dec. 16 (AP)—New Times, the Russian foreign-policy journal, today called John L. Lewis a "reactionary" in assessing his decision to end the coal strike in the United States after a Federal Court held him in contempt.

"Events of recent days connected with the miners' strike are very indicative of the present situation in the United States," the article said. "As regards John Lewis, his role in these events confirms once more the opinion developed among progressive circles in America that he is a reactionary trade union leader who once parted with the CIO owing to the CIO's support of Roosevelt's policies."

Russ, Western Powers' Relations Held Improving

DAY

GILMORE

Moscow, Dec. 16 (AP)—The authoritative foreign policy publication New Times expressed strong optimism today concerning prospects for collaboration between Russia and the Western powers, despite deep differences in social systems and ideaology.

The publication said in a review of efforts of major nations to agree during 1946 on international issues:

"The year brought remarkable success to the new method of democratic collaboration between nations" despite tendencies "of reactionary imperialist elements" to establish the practice of enforcing the will of one power on the others.

Held No Cause For Alarm

New Times said there was no cause for alarm in the serious differences of opinions among the great powers, declaring:

"It is well known that contradictions exist among countries on a whole series of concrete questions. However, experience of the war showed that freedom-loving peoples, despite differing political and social systems and ideologies, can find a common tongue and can find methods of solving contradictions.

Attitude Praised

"Each side has to deviate from certain demands and concentrate maximum efforts on the elaboration of some kind of program acceptable to the other partners."

New Times said the recent progress made by foreign ministers of Russia, the United States, Great Britain and France in completing peace treaties for Italy, Romania, Hungary, Bulgaria and Finland proved that the way to a constructive solution of postwar problems lies through negotiated agreements by the big powers, as distinguished from the voting method used at the Paris peace conference.

Elliott Reaffirms Democratic Faith

DAY

GILMORE

Moscow, Dec. 16 (AP)—Elliott Roosevelt, who with his wife, Faye Emerson, has been visiting and touring Russia and neighboring countries since November 12, said today he had always worked actively in the Democratic party "and so intend to do when I return" to the United States.

Roosevelt, queried by foreign correspondents at a news conference, declined, however, to express his views as to what policies the Democratic party should adopt during the next two years.

He said that during his extensive travels in Russia, no obstacles had been plaed in his way and that he procured "all the information I desired to obtain." He added, "We never have been denied taking any pictures we wanted."

The Roosevelts returned to Moscow from Poland today and planned to remain here or a ew days before leaving for home via Dublin. They hope to arrive in New York in time to spend Christmas with Roosevelt's mother.

Elliott Roosevelt Returns to Moscow

DAY

Moscow, Dec. 16 (A. P.).—Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt returned here today from Poland and planned to remain in the Soviet capital for a few days before departing for home via Dublin, where they expect to pay a brief visit to David Gray, United States Minister to Eire.

They hope to arrive in New York in time to spend Christmas with Roosevelt's mother.

Warsaw Seizes Rzepecki

Exile Government Underground Head To Be Tried As Rebel

WARSAW, Dec. 16 (AP).—The Foreign Ministry announced today the arrest of Colonel Jan Rzepecki, described as the head of military underground operations of the former Polish government-in-exile at London and organizer of the anti-government W. I. N. organization. He will be tried Dec. 27 on charges of conspiring to overthrow the Warsaw regime.

The Foreign Ministry also said that Zygmunt Augustynski, chief editor of Vice-PremierStanislaw Mikolajczyk's "Gazeta Ludowa," organ of the Polish peasant party (P. S. L.), would be tried early next month. A spokesman said the trial would disclose sensational charges and would show that the case had no connection with the editor's association with Mikolajczyk.

ZIONIST HEAD DEFENDS RULE

NIGHT

Foe Of London Conference On Palestine Applauded

FISCHER

Basel, Switzerland, Dec. 16 (AP)—Dr. Chaim Weizmann, 73-year-old president of the World Zionist Organization, tonight vigorously defended his administration after an American rabbi regarded as his possible successor had called upon the Zionists to elect "a new spokesman."

Dr. Weizmann reiterated his contention to the twenty-second Zionist congress that circumstances dictated continued negotiations with the British for the establishment of a Jewish state. He said efforts toward that goal were not an exact science but a matter of trial and error.

Leadership Criticized

Earlier Rabbi A. H. Silver, of Cleveland, had criticized the tactics of Dr. Weizmann's leadership, and said that if the Zionist organization participates in the forthcoming London conference on Palestine it should not be represented by "proponents of partition" of the Holy Land.

Silver, who said he did not favor going to the conference, was given prolonged applause.

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, of New York, praised warmly the leadership of Dr. Weizmann. Both Wise and Silver are members of the Jewish Agency Executive, the body which speaks for the Jewish people in Palestine.

A spokesman for the congress declared that the "general sense" of the delegates was for participation in the London conference, provided there is some indication from the British Government that Zionist demands form a basis of the meeting.

Meanwhile, a session of the court of honor of the congress was called for Thursday to consider the case of six delegates of the Revisionist party of America.

The court received statements that the revisionists, contrary to Zionist rules of procedure, had sumbitted memorandum to the United Nations asking that it take a hand in the Palestine problem.

The revisionists contended that they had nothing to do with the memorandum and that they left the United States before it was submitted. Court was recessed to permit the revisionists to assemble evidence in their behalf. Congress officials emphasized that the delegates remained fully accredited to the congress.

Zionists Seen Favoring Role At London

1946 DAY

Basel, Switzerland, Dec. 16 (AP)—An authorized spokesman said today that the general feeling of the World Zionist Congress "is for conditional participation in the London conference" on the future of Palestine.

Conditional participation was explained to mean that some hint was sought from the British Government that Zionist demands would form the basis of next month's discussions.

William B. Ziff, Chicago publisher and author, told the congress that United States intervention in Palestine would be "far more justified" than intervention in eastern Europe. He urged the formation of a provisional Palestine government.

Presidency At Stake

Meanwhile, the political future of Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the World Zionist Organization, appeared at stake, principally on the question of Zionist relations with Britain.

Several speakers have attacked the policy of Dr. Weizmann and the executive committee of the Jewish Agency for Palestine to treat with Britain on the basis of a partition of the Holy Land.

Members of the executive have supported the policy on the grounds of realism and expediency. The opposing speakers have called for "new men and new methods."

Rabbi A. H. Silver, of Cleveland, has been mentained as a possible candidate for the presidency.

British Criticized.

In discussing "the ugly war which Britain is waging against the Jewish people," Ziff accused the "anti-Semitic bureaucrats of Whitehall" of responsibility for barring Jewish immigrants from Palestine. Referring to American participation in the Palestine problem, the speaker said:

"The truth is that without American financial, political and military backing the British are incapable of sustaining their pretensions to world power."

FRANCO CONDEMNS FIFTH COLUMNISTS DAY

Zaragoza, Spain, Dec. 16 (A. P.)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco told the Spanish people yesterday that the world is "in a situation of war which may be declared at any time" so long as "a materialist conception of life continues . . . while bad faith and hypocrisy are current coin and loyalty to agreements is a dead letter."

Franco said that "the new Pearl Harbor will not be the bombardment of naval units in port or flying of atomic bombs which destroy towns or industries by surprise."

Instead, he warned, "the fifth column will be used," composed of "men of double nationality, one apparent and the other always potential, who will paralyze the circulatory system of the lives of people . . . through doors stupidly opened to them by innocent and blockheaded inorganic democracies."

Franco, who made two addresses, did not refer directly to the resolution adopted recently by the United Nations Assembly in New York, urging all member nations to withdraw their diplomatic missions from Spain. However, he assailed "the intensive subversive propaganda which has been directed against our nation by radio at the service of Communism or Free Masonry.

Franco first addressed a group of officers graduating from the Infantry Academy he formerly commanded. Later, he spoke in the Zaragoza Public Square, before a crowd estimated by Spanish newspapers at 100,000.

Hungary to Hang Smugglers.

Budapest, Dec. 14 (Delayed) (A. P.).—The Government announced today that the first death sentences under Hungary's stabilization law to combat black marketeers were handed down yesterday by a special court. One man convicted of smuggling textiles to Romania and another found guilty of smuggling fats to Austria were sentenced to be hanged.

Weather Delays Ship Carrying Jews

Nicosia, Cyprus, Dec. 16 (AP)—Bad weather prevented today the sailing for Palestine of 500 Jews, who had been detained after the British intercepted their vessels in the eastern Mediterranean.

British authorities selected the group from the Caralaos Detention Camp for transfer to the Athlit Detention Camp in Palestine.

Detainee Sues For Release

Jerusalem, Dec. 16 (AP)—The Palestine High Court granted a decree nisi today to representatives of a Jew detained by administrative officers without specific charge at Latrun camp.

The conditional decree ordered the Palestine Government, the inspector general of police and the commandant at Latrun camp to show reason before December 25 why the individual should be detained.

Brigadier Gives Up Public Relations Job

Jerusalem, Dec. 16 (AP)—Brigadier J. V. McCormick of the British Army said tonight he was quitting as Mideast Army public relations chief because "the War Office has told me bluntly I am unsuitable for the job" because "I am too friendly with the press."

McCormick said at a news conference that he would avail himself "of demobilization."

Meanwhile, the Army announced six British soldiers have been arrested for an "alleged attempt to sell arms to Arabs" in Masmiya last Saturday. It was reported without confirmation in military circles that the soldiers had been involved in a recent series of "armed robberies by uniformed persons in both Jewish and Arab centers."

GREEKS BEAT OFF GUERRILLA ATTACK NIGHT

ATHENS, Dec. 16—(AP) A Salonika dispatch said today that British Sixth Airborne troops, veterans of the fighting in Palestine, appeared today on the streets of Kavalla, heavily-garrisoned tobacco seaport in northeastern Greece.

The dispatch quoted British authorities as saying the newcomers were "advance units" expected to replace Scottish troops scheduled for demobilization. The port city is 150 miles northeast of Salonika.

Greek army authorities reported that troops and gendarmerie yesterday beat off the second attack in 10 days by anti-government forces on the Greek railway at Mouries, near the Bulgarian border north of Salonika. Two soldiers and one guerrilla were killed.

In the first attack a band of 150 guerrillas, including 20 women, stopped the Salonika-Alexandropoulis express with bazooka and machinegun fire, Damaging an UNRRA-supplied locomotive and sacking the nation's only dining car, the army said. Two railway employes were reported killed.

CONFIDENCE VOTE GIVEN EGYPT'S NEW PREMIER

CAIRO, Dec. 16—(AP) The Egyptian Chamber of Deputies tonight gave Mahmoud Fahmi el Nokrashi Pasha, the new premier, a vote of confidence. The vote was 155 to 21.

The vote was taken after Nokrashi Pasha told the deputies that "I want to make clear to the world that the government stands firm in its resolve to achieve the permanent unity of Egypt and the Sudan under the Egyptian crown."

"We Egyptians have no desire to dominate the Sudanese and we are not imperialists," he declared. "We shall proceed with the Sudanese until they reach a stage of self-government under the Egyptian crown. I am here expressing the wish both of Egyptians and Sudanese."

Defeated Iranian Province Chiefs Being Moved DAY EARLY

Tehran, Iran, Dec. 16 (AP)—The Central Government announced today it had ordered the transfer here of Dr. Salamollah Javid, governor general of subdued Azerbaijan province, and M. Sabostari, head of the Azerbaijan Provincial Council.

Premier Ahmed Qavam's regime said the brief military operations against the province bordering Soviet Russia had brought not only Azerbaijan but the dissident Kurds back under control.

The War Ministry said it could neither confirm nor deny reports that more than 100 Russian immigrants into Azerbaijan had been killed by civil police and soldiers during the last three days at Tabriz, captial of Azerbaijan.

Forty Executions Reported

The newspaper Etash reported from Tabriz that Tehran security forces had reached Ardebil and found that tribesmen there had hanged or otherwise executed 40 adherents of the Azerbaijan semi-autonomous government, established during the last days of the Russian occupation of North Iran.

Etash said also that government troops used machine-gun fire to protect three ranking leaders of the Azerbaijan government when they were transferred from municipal headquarters at Tabriz to jail. It was said that the people tried to kill them.

An Iranian Army communiqué yesterday reported the surrender of Ghazi Mohammed, identified as head of the so-called "Kurdish Republic," and said this seemingly meant the end of the "republic," established in parts of western Azerbaijan by a truce with Azerbaijan separatists centered in Tabriz, the provincial capital.

Yesterday's communiqué said that the Army had inflicted heavy casualties on about 1,000 irregulars Saturday and captured Miyanduab (Miandoab), termed a key city of the "Kurdish Republic," 80 miles south of Tabriz in southwestern Azerbaijan. Ghazi Mohammed pledged support to Qavam's Government, the announcement said.

Oil Agreement Coming Up

[Iranians in the United Nations General Assembly said in New York Saturday that the new Majlis (Parliament) to be elected, meeting on a date not yet set, would act upon a draft agreement for Russian oil exploitation in northern Iran.

[Under this agreement, the Soviet Union would control 51 per cent and Iran 49 per cent of a Russian-Iranian oil development company. The agreement was made public last April when Russia pulled the last of her wartime occupation troops out of northern Iran.]

"Kurdish Republic" History

Ghazi Mohammed declared the independence of the "Kurdish Republic" in November, 1945. Last April 1, Kurds in Hamadan and Tehran reported that a "new and greater Kurdish state" had been proclaimed at Saujbulagh, Azerbaijan, by Kurdish tribesmen of Iran, Turkey, Iraq and Syria, and that Soviet technicians had arrived in Saujbulagh to train tribesmen for "a general drive for a free Kurdistan."

Premier Pishevari's Tabriz regime came to power December 12, 1945, and his party's militiamen overcame the Government garrison in the provincial capital. Last April 10, the Tabriz radio quoted Pishevari as thanking the Red Army, then reported withdrawing, "since it was by their efforts that the tyrranical regime of Iran was overthrown."

U. N. Action Assailed By South African

Pretoria, South Africa, Dec. 16 (A.P.).—Gen. J. J. Pienaar, administrator of the Transvaal, asserted today that certain United Nations delegates had made "libelous speeches" against the Union of South Africa. Referring to the U. N. Assembly debate on Indian charges that Indians are being discriminated against in South Africa, and the Assembly decision to aid the two governments to reconcile their differences, Pienaar said in an address here:

"The whole nation is prepared to oppose with united efforts any interferences in our affairs" at a time of "serious crisis which might affect the continued existence of the whole European civilization in Africa."

Resolution By NIGHT Nehru

Calcutta, Dec. 16 (AP)—Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru declared today that there was a place for Englishmen in an independent India "but not as the children of a colonial economy, considerable traces of which still linger as the heritage of 200 years of British rule."

In an address to the Associated Chambers of Commerce, the vice president of the interim government said:

"The relationship of free India with England is bound to be good because of 200 years of visible and invisible contracts, unless the final break comes in such a way as to poison the future."

Nehru Proposes Resolution

In New Delhi the Indian Constituent Assembly was considering a resolution proposed by Nehru, former president of the predominantly Hindu All-India Congress party, which would declare India a sovereign and independent republic.

Nehru told the business men that "even Christianity suffered tremendously because of association with alien rule in India."

"Christianity became a religious symbol of political conquest," he said.

He said he did not desire India to develop "aggressive political, economic or trade policies."

Looks To U.S. Contacts

"Aggression of any type leads to war," he said. "I want my country to be just an advanced country with friendly hands extending in all directions."

He saw in the United States an "inspiration and warning of industrialization and capitalism," and added "free India expects excellent contacts and relationship with that mighty country."

Nehru advised business interests in India to "spend more on scientific research, undertake planned and not haphazard industrial developments, start healthy trade unions co-operation with impartial machineries for equitable settlement of trade disputes, and study everything in terms of the ultimate beneficiary—the man in the street."

Plea From Jayakar

The Assembly in New Delhi adjourned without taking action on Nehru's resolution after hearing a plea from Dr. M. R. Jayakar, former federal judge in India, to delay discussion of a constitution in order to leave the way clear for the Moslem League to come into the Assembly.

He said that "at this stage no question of laying down fundamentals of a constitution can be considered," and added that no constitution passed by the Assembly would be binding on the Moslem League and Indian states, "which have made it clear that they will not participate in a constituent assembly composed of one party."

tution can be argued," he said. "It will not be possible for us to frame one constitution for the whole of India as a union."

"Wouldn't Be Binding"

He said no constitution passed now by the Assembly would be binding on the Moslem League and Indian states, "which have made it clear they will not participate in a Constituent Assembly composed of one party."

An amendment offered by a Communist to rewrite Nehru's resolution was ruled out of order.

Mrs. Vajaya Lakshmi Pandit, leader of the Indian delegation to the United Nations and a member of the Constituent Assembly, was expected to take her seat tomorrow.

British Are Silent.

London, Dec. 16 (A. P.).—The future of India was thrust forward forcefully in London today by Bombay dispatches quoting Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru as saying that his all-India Congress party was taking into its own hands the forging of a new independent nation. The Times of India, published in Bombay, said that Nehru—who is leading Minister of the Indian interim government—told a reception in Benares last night: "In two or three days' time India is to declare herself out of the British Empire. The Constituent Assembly will pass a resolution declaring India a free, sovereign country and we are not going to submit our decisions to the British Parliament.

"We have stopped looking toward London. We shall solve our own problems. I am not worried over the situation. The Congress has decided to go forward vigorously."

Indians Delay Action AS

New Delhi, India, Dec. 16 (AP)—The Constituent Assembly adjourned today until tomorrow after hearing four of 47 proposed amendments to Pandit Jawahalarlal Nehru's resolution for creation of an independent, sovereign republic of India. No action was taken.

Dr. Mukund Ramrao Jayakar, former Federal and Privy Council judge, proposed that discussions of the constitution be postponed until the Moslem League and Indian states participate.

"At this stage no question of laying down fundamentals of a consti-

Nehru's statement, coming as the House of Lords prepared to open its third week of discussions on India's future, carried grave implications. It may mean open defiance, not only of the British who are preparing to leave India, but also of the Moslem League—avofed spokesman of 100,000,000 Moslems in India—which has boycotted the Constituent Assembly that opened a week ago at New Delhi.

Paper Suspended For Wishing Stalin Dead

Nanking, Dec. 16 (AP)—The Right-wing Nanking newspaper Salvation Daily was suspended for one week by the Ministry of the Interior today for publishing an article expressing the hope that Premier Stalin would "die soon, so the world will get a bit of peace."

The paper had been warned previously for violation of China's publications law.

U. S. Aid Injured In Fall at Nanking

Nanking, Dec. 16 (A. P.).—Capt. Joseph E. Doyle of Portsmouth, R. I., a member of the United States Military Advisory Group, started homeward by plane today but not on the emergency leave he requested because of his wife's illness.

Doyle was in a plaster cast, with a broken back and a brain concussion suffered in a freak fall over a chair in his quarters. Physicians decided to fly him to Tokyo General Hospital and thence homeward as rapidly as possible for treatment.

Wreckage Found, Five Dead

Shanghai, Dec. 16 (AP)—The wreckage of a Central Air Transport Corporation plane which disappeared Saturday en route from Nanking to Shanghai, was found today in the hills near Lake Tai. Reports from the scene said that all occupants—variously listed as totaling five to nine—were dead. The plane carried a heavy load of Chinese bank notes.

Chungyang Falls To Chinese Reds, Government Says

Peiping, Dec. 16 (AP)—Government military authorities reported today that the long-besieged Shansi province city of Chungyang fell to the Communists yesterday just as a Nationalist relieving force hove into sight.

Walled Chungyang had been under loose general siege for fifteen months and under close encirclement and direct assault for sixteen days. It is 100 miles southeast of the Communists' Yenan headquarters and 85 miles southwest of Taiyuan, Shansi provincial capital which Government officials presumed to be the true Communist objective.

The report of Chungyang's fall said the Government relief column, on the march in wild country for days, had crested the hills only 13 miles away when the Communists overwhelmed the hungry garrison.

The only other new reports of fighting came from Manchuria. Government dispatches said 6,000 Communists who attacked a Government army at Pulantien, 45 miles north of Dairen, had been driven 3 miles southward after a battle of several days.

The Government Central News Agency said other Government forces had recaptured the old city of Tehhui, 55 miles north of Changchun, Manchurian capital, and pushed the Communists back north across the Sungari River. In the past months of skirmishing in Manchuria, that stream has been an unofficial frontier between the Communists and Government forces.

twenty miles west of Peiping in an attempt to quell guerrilla raids which have reached within ten miles of the city.

Yulin Reported Encircled

The same sources also reported encirclement of Yulin, in northern Shansi province, by 50,000 Communists.

In Nanking, leaders of the National Assembly still hoped to adopt a new constitution before January 1, but acknowledged that scheduled adjournment Thursday probably cannot be realized.

In Yenan, Communists termed the proposed constitution "an illegal paper perpetutating (China's) dictatorship," and said its guarantees of personal rights were so qualified that it would be "childishly easy for a dictator to disfranchise the people." The document is entirely unacceptable to the Communists, a party delegate insisted.

China Reds Take Chungyang After 15-Month Siege

Peiping, Dec. 16 (AP)—Chinese Communists today captured Chungyang in central Shansi province, after a fifteen-month siege capped by an offensive so fierce that the defending garrison, in an obviously erroneous message sent in all seriousness, radiod that it thought the Reds were using atomic bombs.

Chungyang's defenders were out of food and ammunition as a result of one of the longest Communist sieges of the civil war. The final assault on the city, some 100 miles northeast of the Red capital at Yenan, lasted two weeks.

Government forces in Manchuria, at the same time, claimed a victory at Pulantien, Kwantung Peninsula border town, after several days of fighting. Some 6,000 Communists were reported routed.

Fighting In Dairen Area

The Nanking newspaper Hsin Min Pao published an unconfirmed account of fighting of "unprecedented seriousness" between Government and Chinese Communist troops at the outskirts of Russian-occupied Dairen, major Manchurian port, and added that for the second consecutive day "unmarked planes" participated.

There were no reports that any [illegible] troops were involved in the reported clash, nor have there been any reports that Government forces, near Dairen, have tried to enter the city.

In China proper, Government sources said, National troops have dislodged Chinese Communists from a mountainous stronghold

3 Chinese Priests Get Life In Cremations

Peiping, Dec. 16 (AP)—Three Taoist priests, convicted of burning to death the abbot and a layman in the famous White Cloud temple, were sentenced to life imprisonment yesterday by the Peiping district court.

The three, Hsu Hsin-ho, Ma Chin-shan and Tu Shin-lin, confessed during the trial of 35 priests that they were leaders of a revolt November 12 in which An Shih-lin, the abbot, and Pai Chin-yi, a lay brother, were cremated in a bonfire at the temple gate.

The priests had accused the abbot and the layman of misappropriating temple funds and property and violating Taoist doctrines. Besides the three life terms, sixteen priests got sentences of four to fifteen years and sixteen were acquitted.

CHINESE REDS TAKE LONG-BESIEGED CITY

PEIPING, Dec. 16—(AP) Government military authorities reported today that the long-besieged Shansi province city of Chungyang fell to the Communists yesterday just as a nationalist relieving force hove into sight.

Walled Chungyang had been under loose general siege for 15 months and under close encirclement and direct assault for 16 days. It is 100 miles southeast of the Communists' Yenan headquarters and 85 miles southwest of Taiyuan, Shansi provincial capital which government officials presumed to be the true Communist objective.

The only other new reports of fighting came from Manchuria. Government dispatches said 6,000 Communists who attacked a government army at Pulantien, 45 miles north of Dairen, had been driven three miles southward after a battle of several days.

Jap Gloating Bared At Trial

Tokyo, Dec. 16 (AP)—Starving and tortured prisoners of war in Malayan camps were lined up along the roadways for frequent gloating inspections by high-ranking Japanese officers, including one party of Japanese royalty, the international war crimes tribunal was told today.

The statement, an affidavit by Brig. Gen. Frederick Gallagher Galleghan, of Mosman, Australia, did ont identify the royalty referred to.

It didi name one of the present defendants, Gen. Seishiro Itagaki, as among the officers who partiipated in these parades, and said that former Premier Hideki Tojo visited Singapore but did not see the prisoners.

Most of the evidence, intriduced on this opening day of the "atrocity phase" of the trial under direction of Associate Prosecutor Alan James Mansfield, of Australia, dealt with conditions following the fall of Singapore in February, 1942.

Mansfield said he expected to conclude evidence on this phase about mid-January. The tribunal will recess only for Christmas Day and New Year's Day.

Sydney opened the final phase of the prosecution's case against the twenty-seven Japanese war leaders whose trial began on June 3.

Brien said he was taken to a clearing in the jungle near Singapore early in 1942 and was told in English: "You are going to meet your God." Then he was forced to sit on the edge of his grave, blindfolded and with his wrists behind him. A Japanese officer, sword in hand, pushed his head forward. Then, said Brien:

"After a few seconds, I felt a heavy, dull blow on the back of my neck. I fell over on my right side, then lost consciousness. When I regained consciousness, I was lying at the bottom of the grave underneath some wooden palings and clods of earth. I had a large wound in the back of my neck, and was covered with blood."

He said he had never had any form of trial, nor hed he been charged with any offense. With his feet, he dislodged the earth piled upon him, Brien continued, and struggled from the grave. Eventually he arrived in Singapore, only to be again imprisoned by Japanese and held until the end of the war.

The Australian prosecutor, Justice Alan James Mansfield of Queensland, accused Premier Hideki Tojo and eleven other defendants as the persons responsible for atrocities against Allied prisoners of war and internees.

U. S. ARMY OPENS WAR ON TOKYO RATS

Tokyo, Dec. 16 (A. P.).—Tokyo's 25,000,000 rats, flourishing in the ruins and rubbish left by bombings, are in for a tough siege.

The United States Army Surgeon's Office today launched a drive to exterminate the husky brown Norway-type rodents which have had things pretty much their own way in the city during the war.

Anti-rat ammunition was doled out to all Army units in the city—6,000 traps and 200,000 packages of a poison which gives rats pleurisy, which is fatal in twelve hours.

Crawled Out of Grave, Accuses Japs

Australian Tells of Surviving Headsman's Blow and of Coming To After Incomplete Burial.

Tokyo, Dec. 16 (A. P.).—An Australian soldier who lived to crawl out of his jungle grave told the International War Crimes Tribunal today how the Japanese had botched the job of beheading him. With this testimony, Colin Fleming O'Brien, 23 years old, of Pacific Wac Director Named.

Tokyo, Dec. 16 (A. P.).—Major Pauline V. Linch of Philadelphia today was named Wac staff director for the Pacific theater, succeeding Capt. Agnes A. Mashidlausky of Brockton, Mass., who will return to the United States soon. Major Linch, a University of Pennsylvania graduate, led her Wac officer-candidate class in July, 1942.

The Quadrant Leaves Japan

KURE, Japan, Dec. 16 (AP).—Proudly trailing her 370-foot paying-off pennant, the Australian destroyer Quadrant sailed for home and retirement today. She is due in Sydney Dec. 29, when the pennant, consisting of the captain's pennant plus two and one-half feet for each month of service, will be cut up and distributed among the crew as souvenirs.

Million Paid Philippines On War-Damage Bill

Manila, Dec. 16 (AP)—Dr. Frank A. Waring, war damage commissioner, today handed President Manuel A. Roxas of the Philippines a check for $1,000,000 as the first advance payment by the United States for war damage to public property in the islands.

A total of $620,000,000 is to be paid, if a Filipino plebiscite next March approves a proposed equal-rights-for-Americans amendment to the Philippine Constitution.

Personal claims for war damage are limited to $500 each, Waring said, and $400,000,000 was set aside for this classification. A million such claims were expected, he added, but "we were considerably shocked to find that we might expect nearly $3,250,000. . . ."

12 on Airliner Killed In Philippines Crash

Manila, Dec. 16 (A. P.).—A rescue party reaching the mountainside wreckage of a Far East Air Transport plane after its pilot, Capt. Roy Wilson of Turkey, Tex., had hiked to summon aid, reported today finding only one other survivor among the four-teen aboard.

The plane crashed on Mount Bananaw, fifty miles southeast of Manila, and earlier reports had indicated a dozen survivors. Only Crisante Castro was alive when rescuers reached the scene.

Argentinan Accords Sought, Says Peron

Buenos Aires, Dec. 16 (AP)—President Juian D. Perón told members of the Buenos Aires Stock Exchange today that economic missions from mineteen foreign countries are currently in the capital seeking financial accords with the Argentine Government.

"It is logical to assume," he said, "that none of them (the misions) is interested in having other than a rich partner."

The Argentine peso has never been stronger, he said, an dthe Government plans to inaugurate on January 1 a program liberalizing various credits, ranging from small loans for home construction to large ones for industrial development.

France-Argentine Pact

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 16 (AP).—The Argentine government announced today it would sign tomorrow an agreement with France to purchase three French-owned railroads in Argentina for about $45,700,000.

AAF Thwarts Vickie, After All

Harmon Field, Newfoundland, Dec. 16 (AP)—A United States Army plane from Morrison Field at West Palm Beach, Fla., has landed here, but Vickie Andrews, the Florida girl who vowed to stow away on it, was not aboard, authorities said today.

They said if the girl actually was on the plane when it left Florida, she might have left it during a stopover at Westover Airbase in Massachusetts.

Miss Andrews, 26, said in Florida last week that she intended to stow away on the pane transferring her soldier sweetheart to Newfoundland. Thursday she actually got on the plane but was evicted before it left Florida.

Single Command Setup For All Armed Forces Announced by Arnold

BARS RECURRENCE OF ANY SITUATION LIKE PEARL HARBOR

Insures Unified Operational Command in Theaters, Says Spokesman.

7 AREAS DEFINED

Strategic Air Command to Be Responsible to Joint Chiefs of Staff.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16—(AP) Remembering Pearl Harbor, the nation's military leaders announced a new setup tonight placing every area where American forces operate under a single top commander, either of the Army or the Navy.

"This obviates a situation like Pearl Harbor where we had two co-equal commanders," Maj. Gen. William H. Arnold, deputy chief of operations and planning, told a news conference. "It insures a unified operational command in the theaters."

The single command system was recommended by the joint chiefs of staff, worked out in long negotiations between the War and Navy departments, and approved by President Truman. It restores for peacetime the unified command set-up under which the war was fought but which subsequently was abandoned.

It applies only to the top level of planning and operations in the theaters, leaving the respective commanders in charge of their own forces under the overall commander, and Arnold indicated it does not alter the army's desire for complete unification of the services. Mr. Truman said last week he will renew his demand for this legislation when the new Congress meets.

Close to Unification

Arnold commented, however, that "this is the closest approximation you could get without actually having unification of the departments." He added that with unification, "these prolonged negotiations wouldn't have been necessary."

The negotiations already had started when the Senate-House committee which investigated the Pearl Harbor attack issued its report, pointing to the confusion in intelligence and defense planning there which arose from the fact that the army and navy chiefs were each responsible for only their own field and neither had supreme authority. These factors had been brought out previously, however, by other investigations.

The new plan, making the top theater commanders responsible directly to the joint chiefs of staff, was announced jointly by the War and Navy departments.

The announcement said the plan is designed to "place responsibility for the conduct of military operations of the land, naval and air forces in the several regions of military importance to the United States each in the hands of one single commander."

Seven Areas

Seven areas defined in the announcement are:

Far East, commanded by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Pacific, by Adm. John H. Towers.

Alaskan, a new command, by Maj. Gen. H. A. Craig.

Northeast, also a new command, commander to be named.

Atlantic Fleet, by Adm. Marc A. Mitscher.

Caribbean, operating under the present system with Lt. Gen. Willies D. Crittenberger.

European, by Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, commander of occupation forces in Germany.

Under the new set-up, the strategic air command, comprised of strategic air forces not otherwise assigned, also will be responsible to the joint chiefs of staff. The strategic force is commanded by Gen. George Kenney.

During the war, operations in the various theaters were conducted under over-all commanders, but with the end of hostilities several of these reverted to a divided status in which neither the army nor navy chief in the area had final word in planning.

The unified command system will pare from MacArthur some of the once vast Pacific area which he controlled, leaving him with the far western Pacific regions.

The Far East command consists of American forces in Japan, Korea, the Philippines, the Marianas, Bonins and Ryukyus.

The announcement said the civil and military government of Guam and the former Japanese mandated islands are not changed.

The Marianas will eventually revert to the Pacific command, the announcement said, the present arrangement being designed to give support to MacArthur in the military occupation of Japan and southern Korea.

The Pacific and Alaskan commands are roughly the same as the former "Pacific ocean areas." The northeast command will include bases and forces in the "northeastern approaches" to the United States. The Caribbean command will include the islands of that sea and the present Panama Canal department.

Directives from the joint chiefs of staff putting the new system in operation are being issued now.

The joint announcement said that each commander will be responsible for unified planning for defense and in case of emergency the conduct of operations. This agreement does not change the day-to-day administrative business of each service, it was explained.

Forces assigned to any one of the unified commands normally will be from two or more of the three services—army, navy, and army air—each component commanded directly by an officer of that service. Each officer exercising unified command will be assisted by a joint staff, comprised of officers from the component services.

NAVY BACKS DIPLOMACY

Nimitz Says Sea Strength Helped Byrnes In Parleys

Charleston, W.Va., Dec. 16 (AP)—Admiral Chester W. Nimitz said tonight that although the Navy was now at only one seventh of its imposing wartime strength, it still was strong enough to back up American diplomacy.

"The knowledge of the strength we have," the chief of naval operations said in a speech here, "enabled our distinguished Secretary of State, Mr. Byrnes, to speak so persuasively at the conferences he attended."

Prepared For Any Emergency

The Texas-born Fleet Admiral titled his speech a report on the "State of the Navy" in an appearance before 650 guests at the annual Charleston Chamber of Commerce dinner.

"I think we are prepared to meet any emergency that might confront us," Nimitz said.

He added that while the fleet and personnel had been reduced, "it probably is more than we need," but that it was good "national insurance" to have on hand.

Looks To U.N. Success

"We look prayerfully to the success of the United Nations," the admiral continued. "We do not know how it will work out."

Until that outcome is ascertained, Nimitz declared that this nation must maintain "a very powerful fleet to keep the world on an even keel."

The admiral told of the Bikini atom bomb tests, and declared:

"Don" let anybody tell you that the atom bomb does not amount to anything.

Admiral Visits Nimitz, W.V.

Nimitz, W.Va., Dec. 16 (AP)—Admiral of the Fleet Chester W. Nimitz told inhabitants of this tiny West Virginia village today he had made up his mind while still in the Pacific that he would come to see it at the earliest possible moment.

Standing on the steps of the small post office, the five-star Admiral spoke after motoring to the Summers county community that adopted his name during the war.

Stepping inside the post office, the Admiral was introduced to Mrs. Bonnie P. Bower, brunette postmistress of the community of 100 persons. He acknowledged the introduction by commenting:

"Hm! A good-looking one, too."

Then with Gov. Clarence W. Meadows standing near by, the Admiral addressed a postal card to the Governor at his Charleston address. It said:

"This is a peak in my day in your fine State. I send yau greetings from Nimitz, W.Va. Sincerely, Chester W. Nimitz, Fleet Admiral, USN."

Forces Seek Raise, See Cut In Funds

Washington, Dec. 16 (AP)—The Army and Navy, while asking officially for a $14,000,000,000 share in the national budget, an increase of more than $1,000,000,000, actually are bracing for deep cuts in national defense funds for the next fiscal year.

Expecting notice of a first sharp cut probably this week when President Truman's budget message is put into final shape for submission to Congress, the War Department in particular has been urging ruthless trimming by all branches of the Army.

Staff conferences have been advised to look for proposals in Congress to slash War and Navy funds as much as 40 per cent.

Based On GOP Talk

Gen. Jacob L. Devers and Lieut. Gen. J. Lawton Collins, among others, have predicted attempts to cut combined expenditures of the two services from the current $13,000,000,000 to as little as $8,000,000,000 for the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

Collins said today the figures were based on postelection talk of Republican leaders rather than on word from the White House, where War and Navy Department chiefs were advised last month they must be prepared for sharply reduced allotments.

The earlier budget estimates of the services were submitted before the election gave impetus to the economy trend.

Increases Asked For

The War Department, with costly overseas occupation commitments, even though the Army's size is being steadily reduced, asked for some $8,500,000,000, compared with this year's appropriation of $7,200,000,000. The Navy asked for an increase from about $4,600,000,000 to about $6,000,000,000.

Carryover funds swelled amounts available for actual outlays this year to some $13,000,000,000.

While preparing for future trimming, both services, under White House orders, are cutting corners in current spending. Devers, Army ground forces commander, told a civilian delegation from Columbus, Ga., this week that "we're catching hell, but we are closing down a lot of small posts."

Carryover Held Separate

Arming to fight any "false economy" proposals, officials indicated that War and Navy witnesses before Congress will stress the distinction between the carryover cost of World War II and the expense of present and future defense measures.

They plan to object to lumping such outlays as $2,700,000,000 for terminal-leave payments to former GI's and the upkeep of emergency agencies in the category of current national defense.

Vets To Get Free Farms

Washington, Dec. 16 (AP)—With all the fanfare but none of the buggy-busting competition of pioneer days, there'll be a land rush in a goldfish bowl come Wednesday out in Oregon.

The stakes will be 86 small farms on the Klamath Basin irrigation project.

The Reclamation Bureau said today that the winners will be drawn from a well-stirred bowl containing the names of 1,305 World War II veterans.

Only slightly reminiscent of the colorful Cimarron and Dodge City rushes of bygone days, the ceremony at Klamath Falls will mark the inauguration of a Government plan to open 300,000 acres of public land to veterans by 1951.

The candidates for the 7,527 acres in the Klamath project's Tule Lake division were selected from 2,029 veterans who applied before a September 15 deadline. Such factors as war service, farm experience, integrity and financial resources of not less than $2,000 were involved in the choices.

The farms they seek average 87½ acres and are in the area of the Lost River.

"The whole area open to settlement has been estimated to be worth $2,000,000—with individual farms valued around $15,000 each—but you can't fairly place an estimate on them," a bureau spokesman said.

"Of the 7,527 acres, 1,300 were farmed under WRA (War Relocation Authority), and last year one man bid $76 an acre and invested $4,500 in a lease for one year. The average 1944 crop output per acre of an adjoining project was $161.68."

Huge Reich Food Bill for U.S. Seen as Red Zone Grows its Own

Senate Investigators Learn Cost Will Near $171,000,000 for 1947—Failure to Unify Germany Blamed.

Washington, Dec. 16 (A. P.).—The Senate War Investigating Committee has learned that it probably will cost American taxpayers $171,000,000 next year to feed the American occupied zone of Germany while the Russian-controlled area eats home-grown food at no cost to Moscow.

Statements gathered by George Meader, committee counsel, during a three-week trip to Europe laid the blame for this situation on the failure of attempts to unify Germany economically under terms of the 1945 Potsdam Big Three agreement.

Blaming the French for blocking plans to set up central German administrative services, the statements obtained by Meader from Army of Occupation and military government authorities said that the United States had been forced to stop the dismantling of German plants for reparations—most of which would go to Russia—because of the threatened financial drain on this country.

Two Years After Unification.

Beyond that, the statements indicated that even if economic unification of Germany were brought about immediately, it might take two years for the Germans to become sufficiently self-supporting to require no further food shipments from the United States.

Meader, whose preliminary report on other phases of his inquiry was criticized by the War Department, made the documents available from the committee files at the request of a reporter who asked to see the Army and AMG answers to questions the attorney had propounded. Committee Democrats voted against continuing the investigation, but Republican members made Meader's report public.

Occupation officials disclosed in the statements that the Soviets thus far have been unwilling to finance any food imports into their zone and have supplied only relatively small amounts of seed and potash fertilizer to the American area.

Scenery, Skiing and Yodelers.

Major-Gen. O. P. Echols, director of the War Department's civil affairs division, previously had described the four zones in this way: "The Russians have the food, the British and French have the manufacturing and mining facilities and we have the scenery, the skiing and the yodelers."

On his return from a European tour, Senator Wherry (R.-Neb.) told a reporter that he found Russian troops in Austria were living off the land while UNRRA-purchased food was being used to feed civilians.

"The food is being distributed on the basis of how the population collaborates with the local Communist Government," Wherry said. "What is true in Austria certainly must be true in the Russian zone of Germany."

Another section of Meader's files contained figures showing that Russia still is holding some 3,000,000 Germans as prisoners of war against fewer than 122,000 still held by this country, 600,000 by France and 160,000 by England.

January Grain Exports Are Set at 725,500 Tons

Relief Shipments Announced by Agriculture Department

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP).—The Agriculture Department announced today January export allocations of 725,500 long tons—or about 28,000,000 bushels—of wheat, corn and other grains for shortage areas abroad.

Counting flour allotments and unshipped balances of grain and flour from preceding months, the department said, shipments of cereals could total 1,500,000 tons in January, providing transportation is available.

The allocations include: United Kingdom, 84,000 long tons; United Kingdom Pacific areas, 34,000; India, 68,000; Belgium, 17,000; The Netherlands, 25,500; Finland, 17,000; Switzerland, 8,500; the American-British zones of Germany, 153,000; the French zone in Germany, 25,500; Japan and Korea, 68,000; Mexico, 25,000; Austria, 42,500; China, 8,500; Greece, 25,500, and Italy, 110,500.

The allotments are made up of 465,000 tons of wheat, 185,000 of corn, 68,000 of grain sorghums and 7,500 of oats.

Of the 3,607,000 long tons of whole grain allocated for export from last July through December, the department said only about 2,356,000 tons had been shipped through Nov. 30. Shipping difficulties, particularly the maritime strike, interfered greatly with the exports.

U.S. Department To Buy More Eggs For British

Washington, Dec. 16 (AP)—The Agriculture Department announced today that it will buy an additional 10,000,000 pounds of dried whole-egg powder for export to the United Kingdom early in 1947.

The department has bought about 87,500,000 pounds of dried whole eggs this year for the British.

In addition to supplying the British with supplies for its rationing program, the new purchases will help support prices of eggs in the domestic market. In recent weeks egg prices have declined to about levels at which the department is required by law to support them.

Egg driers who sell their product to the Government must certify that they paid producers prices in line with support levels. Through January and until further notice the prices paid producers must average 35 cents a dozen.

FALL FORESEEN IN FOOD PRICES

First Drop To Be Less Than 1946 After World War I, However

Washington, Dec. 16 (AP)—The Agriculture Department said tonight trends indicate that food prices—now at record levels—will drop within three to six months as they did after World War I, although probably not as much.

It reported prices have risen more in the past four months than in any comparable period during the 33 years in which records have been kept.

"The pattern of change in food prices since August, 1945, bears a remarkable similarity to the pattern of changes in prices after World War I," the department said. "There is even some indication that a downturn in food prices may be expected within one and one half to two years after the end of World War II although probably not as great a decline as occurred after World War I."

The department said retail meat prices throughout the winter are likely to decline but little from present high levels despite seasonally high production and large supplies. Pork and lamb prices may advance in the spring as production decreases. However, prices of beef, especially of the better grades, may fall in the spring as supplies of grain-fed beef increase.

CONNALLY LIKELY TO LEAVE U. N. POST

Washington, Dec. 16 (A. P.).—Senator Tom Connally (D.-Tex.) indicated today he believes his work as a delegate to the United Nations conference is completed and would like to step down from his role as adviser to Secretary of State Byrnes at future meetings.

Observing that future plans depend on President Truman's wishes, Connally told a news conference:

"I feel that I have contributed about all I can toward the creation and progress of the United Nations. Of course, I will still be available for any service the President thinks I can do better than some one else."

The comment of the retiring Foreign Relations Committee chairman was made in answer to a reporter's question as to whether Connally and Senator Vandenberg (R.-Mich.) might want to relinquish their advisory posts in order to devote more time to their congressional work. Connally said he spoke only for himself.

Connally Plans to Retire As Advisor to Sec. Byrnes

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 — (AP) Possibility of a war with Russia, Chairman Connally (D.-Tex.), of the Senate Foreign Relations committee said today, has become more remote as a result of United Nations deliberations.

Also today, Connally indicated he believes his work as a delegate to the United Nations conference is completed and that he would like to quit his role as adviser to Secretary of State Byrnes at future meetings.

Remarking that talk of war had decreased in recent months and was seldom ever mentioned in the UN circles Connally said in an interview:

"The mere fact that you can get people together and talk things over brings about more nearly a spirit of cooperation.

"I think the UN has made a very distinct contribution to the settlement of disputes in a spirit of accommodation and cooperation.

"The three great powers, if they use the least bit of cooperation, can do a great deal to prevent war. The relations of the three great powers are better than they have been before."

Observing that his future plans depend on President Truman's wishes, Connally told a news conference:

"I feel that I have contributed about all I can toward the creation and progress of the United Nations. Of course, I will still be available for any service the President thinks I can do better than someone else."

The comment of the Foreign Relations committee chairman was made in answer to a reporter's question as to whether Connally and Senator Vandenberg (R.-Mich.) might want to relinquish their advisory posts in order to devote more time to their congressional work. Connally said he spoke only for himself.

Describing the UN agreement on disarmament as one of the greatest accomplishments of the meeting which closed last week in New York, Connally said he hopes the Security Council soon adopts a classification defining procedural questions on which the Big Five veto would not apply.

Connally said his statement referred only to his connection with the UN. He declined to comment on possible future invitations for him to participate as an adviser to Secretary Byrnes in foreign ministers meetings, but friends said their impression was the Texas senator would like to turn this duty also over to others.

As Senator Vandenberg's office aides said he had no comment on Connally's statement.

Truman Prevents Big Turkey's Escape

Seizes 42-pounder and Pushes It Back Into Crate After Struggle in White House.

Washington, Dec. 16 (A. P.).—President Truman's farm training came in handy today when he brought an escape-minded forty-two-pound turkey under control.

The incident occurred in the President's office when the big tom from Texas and a twenty pound turkey hen from Minnesota were presented to him.

As the top of the crate was lifted, the big tom, grown by R. E. James of Austin, Tex., president of the National Turkey Federation, leaped upward and tried to escape. The President, after something of a struggle, pushed it back into its prison.

The hen turkey was grown by Clem Thurnbeck of Forest Lake, Minn.

The presentation was made by Homer I. Huntington of Chicago, manager of the Poultry and Egg National Board. He promised the President that high poultry production of the last six years will continue so that there will be "plenty of food" for all.

The donors figured that the Trumans will eat one of the turkeys at the White House and take the other to Missouri for Christmas dinner.

Tsaldaris To Visit U.S.

Washington, Dec. 16 (AP)—Prime Minister Constantine Tsaldaris of Greece has been invited to be a guest of the Government on a visit to Washington this week. The State Department said today the Prime Minister will probably arrive here Wednesday from New York and stay through Saturday at the Blair House, a short distance from the White House.

Long Quits as Housing Aide, Assails Truman's Program

Fraud Perpetrated on Vets for Political Expediency, He Charges.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 — (AP) Norton E. Long resigned as deputy housing administrator today with a statement challenging the administration to show its "so-called incentives to encourage rental housing are anything but a fraud perpetrated on veterans for political expediency."

Long, a top assistant to former Housing Expediter Wilson W. Wyatt, called President Truman's proposal to make an additional $1,000,000,000 available to finance rental housing a "complete phony."

Long said the money Mr. Truman mentioned as being released for rental housing was already available to the Federal Housing Administration. He added that Wyatt had been unable to persuade Raymond M. Foley, newly appointed administrator of the National Housing Agency, to make the funds available on a basis which would enable builders to use them.

CIO Hits Program

R. J. Thomas, chairman of the CIO housing committee, declared at the same time that Mr. Truman has sounded "the death knell of the veteran's housing program." His statement added "the ex-GI's will get no homes" under the revised program announced Saturday "but the generals and the well-to-do will."

Foley was sworn in today along with Frank R. Creedon, newly appointed housing expediter.

Creedon told reporters directives will be issued as soon as possible putting into effect Mr. Truman's plan for removing and relaxing many controls over the building industry and encouraging construction of rental housing.

An industry spokesman, meanwhile, came to the defense of the President's program, declaring that it would make possible rapid construction of new homes and quick expansion in rental housing vacancies for veterans.

This assertion, was made by H. R. Northrup, secretary-manager of the National Retail Lumber Dealers Association, who said in a statement that he had heard from lumber dealers and builders in all parts of the country who were ready to start home building projects.

Foley and Creedon could not be reached for comment on Long's statement but a spokesman said they would not "dignify" it by answering.

Long Assails Plans

"Any honest analysis of the new program proposals," Long's statement said, "shows that their only real accomplishment is to deceive those who wish to be deceived."

Referring to the proposal to make more funds available to NHA for rental housing, Long said:

"The ugly fact is that under the inflexible lending-as-usual attitude of Raymond Foley, new head of NHA, less than 50 millions has been committed of the two billions already authorized. This represents less than 40 rental projects and only two percent of the total money that has been available for builders since the beginning of the program. In spite of his urgent insistence, Mr. Wyatt was unable to change Mr. Foley's attitude.

"I challenge Mr. Foley now to state publicly that he has any real intention to relax his penny-pinching policy and use his so-called 'new' billion dollars to stimulate rental construction for veterans.

"It is obvious that the president's pious claim of stimulating rental housing took its cue from the report submitted by Wilson W. Wyatt to the president on Nov. 20 and since then suppressed. I believe it is now obvious why it was suppressed. The heart of the Wyatt report consisted of aggressive and specific proposals to encourage building of rental units desired by over half of today's home seeking veterans."

COURT WON'T ACT IN SEAMEN'S CASE

Washington, Dec. 16 (A. P.).—The Supreme Court refused today to study the case of 219 Indonesian seamen, who said they face certain persecution if not death if they are deported from the United States to Java.

The seamen came to this country as crew members on Dutch and British vessels. They refused to return and are held at an immigration camp at Crystal City, Tex. In an appeal to the Supreme Court, they said that Indonesians were in revolt against the Kingdom of the Netherlands and that Government regarded them as having engaged in treasonable activities.

Their attorney said the seamen "refuse to sail on British and Dutch vessels loaded with arms, munitions of war and troops for the suppression of the fight for Indonesian independence. They refuse to assist the imperialist Dutch Government in efforts to suppress a revolution fought by their brothers and friends to secure freedom. It was in just such a struggle that this country (the United States) was born."

The seamen appealed from a decision by the United States Circuit Court in San Francisco which refused to block their deportation. The Supreme Court rejected the appeal in a simple order which stated no reason.

Six Artificial Meteorites To Be Ejected By V-2 Rocket

White Sands, N.M., Dec. 16 (AP)—Six artificial meteorites, ejected two at a time at ten-second intervals, will be shot into space in a spectacular night test of a German V-2 rocket tomorrow night.

The meteorites will be fired 70, 80 and 90 seconds after the 14-ton missile is launched. Roughly this will be at altitudes of 22 to 40 miles.

Dr. Fritz Zwicky, of the California Institute of Technology, who conceived the idea of creating artificial meteorites, said the "key to interplanetary travel" may be found in the tests.

Bazookalike Device

Standard army rifle grenades will be used to fire the meteorites—small pieces of molten metal—from the rocket. The grenades will be ejected by a bazookalike device. Four and one half seconds after they leave the rocket a shaped explosive in the warhead of the grenade will be set off by time fuse, hurling the metal meteorites into space.

The fuses and explosives were prepared at the research and development project near Albuquerque, supervised by Dr. E. J. Workman, president of the New Mexico School of Mines.

Dr. L. J. Paddison, a pioneer in the development of the proximity fuse, said the shaped explosive used in the grenade warhead will propel the meteorites at a velocity "in the lower range of the speed of real meteorites." He would not estimate the actual speed but said meteorites travel at 30,000 to 100,000 feet per second.

Observatories To Watch

Dr. Zwicky and Dr. Fred Whipple, of the Harvard Observatory, are here with equipment for observation of the artificial meteorites. Observatories as far away as Los Angeles and Dallas have been asked to watch for the spectacle which some scientists say may be visible by the naked eye for 300 miles.

Immediate goals of the experiment, Dr. Whipple has said, are to determine the reactions of the upper atmosphere to moving bodies which pass through it, and to eliminate much of the guesswork in computing the size of natural meteors.

Flights of the tiny missiles will be recorded by two giant aerial cameras equipped with rotating shutters.

Since the metal bits presumably will be red-hot, Dr. Zwicky expects further contributions to upper atmospheric knowledge to result from telescopic observation and spectroscopic pictures.

In the not too far-distant future, it is predicted that artificial satellites of the earth may be created in the same fashion as the meteorites.

The rocket's fuel load will be exhausted at an altitude of 25 miles, eliminating for observers the 100-foot exhaust flame for competition with the expelled particles.

Two sets of apparatus to record cosmic-ray information also will be carried by the night rocket, one in the warhead and the other behind it, both designed by the Johns Hopkins Laboratory. The armed forces still are trying to check previously obtained cosmic-ray data, which, if confirmed, will radically change earlier theories.

Flak Suits An Example

He credited Dr. Michael Debakey, New Orleans surgeon, with these studies. The war ended before the armor could be introduced in any area of land combat. The Air Forces flak suits were an example of armor.

Other preventive measures are for frostbite at high altitudes, prevention of blast of bomb and noise of guns from causing deafness, protection against trench foot, and against booby traps and land minds from injuring eyes.

"As the military power of this country depends," he said, "upon highly specialized personnel operating extremely complicated weapons and machines, the military surgeon of the future must be an expert in prevention of injury."

He declared that the war had completely unseated the dangerous teaching, popular at the start of the conflict, that wounds could be salted down with sulfa drugs and thus delay infection. The sulfas failed in this, he said.

In this technique sulfa powders were sprinkled in wounds. On the other hand, the war showed the great usefulness of internally taken penicillin and sulfadiazine.

One of the war's great surgical gains was prompt closing of serious wounds, which in previous times had been left open to drain.

It was found better to close most of them, he said, by the fourth day.

This procedure took advantage of nature's healing processes, which are most active in the first ten days after an injury. Penicillin and the sulfas, internally, aided this early surgery.

The war changed medical ideas about the cause of shock from injuries. The prime reason Dr. Churchill declared, is not loss of plasma fluids, as thought at the war's beginning. It is loss of red blood corpuscles. They carry the oxygen. Without this oxygen tissues die. The kidney is one of the first organs to die, and even though the other organs may revive, the injured man dies. The proof is that early in the war whole blood transfusions were substituted as much as possible for the Red Cross plasma. The latter remained useful always, but whole blood was better and the Red Cross supplied that fluid also.

Surgeons Work on Body Armor To Shield Soldiers, Civilians

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

CLEVELAND, Dec. 16 (AP)—A new branch of medicine, preventive surgery, that would produce armor for soldiers and give civilians shielding devices, was advocated at the American College of Surgeons tonight by Dr. Edward D. Churchill, of Harvard.

He pointed out that the steel helmet, of World War One, was introduced by surgeons. Just at the end of World War Two surgeons had knowledge of body armor that, Dr. Churchill said, might reasonably be expected to reduce the number of those killed in action by 12 percent, and those wounded by 8 per cent.

Again Finland Meets Payment On U.S. Loan

Washington, Dec. 16 (AP)—Finland once more has kept up its reputation as the only country never to defautl on loans contracted from the United States in the after math of World War I.

The Treasury announced today it had received a payment of $259,479.74 from the government of Finland, of which $93,000 was for reduction of principal.

Officials said Finland now has paid more than $7,500,000 on its debt but stil lowes around $8,000,000.

NIGHT LEAD U.N. ROUNDUP (430)
NEW YORK, DEC. 16-(AP)-THE UNITED NATIONS SPOTLIGHT SHIFTED TONIGHT
TO THE GREEK QUESTION IN THE SECURITY COUNCIL AND TO RENEWED CONSIDERATION OF THE UNITED STATES ATOMIC CONTROL PLAN NOW THAT THE 54-NATION ASSEMBLY HAS COMPLETED ITS TASKS FOR THE YEAR.
CONVINCED OF THE "IMPERATIVE NECESSITY OF SPEED," BERNARD M. BARUCH WILL CALL TOMORROW FOR A VOTE IN THE U.N. ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION ON THE AMERICAN ATOMIC CONTROL PLAN, AUTHORITATIVE SOURCES SAID.
THE ESSENTIALS OF THE UNITED STATES PLAN, EMBODIED IN RESOLUTIONS ALREADY PRESENTED BY BARUCH, ENVISION A STRONG INTERNATIONAL SYSTEM OF CONTROL OF ATOMIC ENERGY ESTABLISHED AND DEFINED BY TREATY. NONE OF THE ATOMIC CONTROLS AND PUNISHMENTS FOR VIOLATIONS WOULD BE SUBJECT TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL VETO, AND THE ATOMIC BOMB WOULD BE OUTLAWED.
ANDREI A. GROMYKO, THE SOVIET [illegible] SUGGESTED INSTEAD A PLAN TO BAN ATOMIC WEAPONS AND LEAVE CONTROL AND PUNISHMENT TO INDIVIDUAL NATIONS.
IN TONIGHT'S SECURITY COUNCIL SESSION BULGARIA, ALBANIA AND YUGOSLAVIA JOINED IN CHARGING THAT THE ROYALIST-DOMINATED GREEK GOVERNMENT WAS RESPONSIBLE FOR GREECE'S CURRENT GUERRILLA WARFARE.
THE THREE NATIONS ALSO DEMANDED AN INVESTIGATION OF CONDITIONS INSIDE GREECE BY A UNITED NATIONS COMMISSIONS.

THIS DEVELOPMENT CAME AS THE SECURITY COUNCIL RESUMED DISCUSSION OF GREECE'S COMPLAINT THAT HER THREE NORTHERN NEIGHBORS HAD FOMENTED GUERRILLA WARFARE ON GREEK SOIL FOR THEIR OWN ENDS.

RENEWING HIS CHARGES, GREEK PREMIER CONSTANTIN TSALDARIS TOLD THE COUNCIL:

"IT WOULD BE EMINENTLY DESIRABLE FOR THE ENLIGHTENMENT OF THE WORLD AND THE SECURITY COUNCIL IN PARTICULAR THAT REPRESENTATIVESOF THE PRESS SHOULD BE ENABLED TO PENETRATE INTO OUR NEIGHBORS' COUNTRIES WITH THE SAME FREEDOM THAT THEY ENJOY IN OUR OWN."

ONE OF THE MAJOR STEPS TAKEN BY THE U.N. ASSEMBLY DURING ITS EIGHT-WEEKS' SESSION WHICH ENDED EARLY TODAY WAS THE SETTING IN MOTION OF A PROGRAM FOR REDUCING THE ARMIES AND THE WEAPONS OF MASS DESTRUCTION OF THE WORLD.

A74

THE ASSEMBLY ALSO SELECTED A MANHATTAN SKYSCRAPER SITE FOR ITS PERMANENT HOME AND AGREED TO HOLD ITS NEXT REGULAR MEETING IN NEW YORK NEXT SEPT. 16.

DELEGATES AGREED THAT DURING THE ASSEMBLY MEETING THERE WAS AN INCREASE IN COOPERATIVE SPIRIT BETWEEN RUSSIA AND THE WESTERN POWERS FOR THE FIRST TIME SINCE THE END OF THE WAR.

THE DISARMAMENT PLAN ADOPTED BY THE ASSEMBLY LEAVES TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL THE TASK OF WORKING OUT MACHINERY FOR PUTTING THE PROGRAM INTO OPERATION.

DEC 3 1946

OTHER MAJOR ASSEMBLY ACTIONS INCLUDED:

VETO--THE SMALL POWERS LOST THEIR FIGHT TO STRIP THE FIVE MAJOR POWERS OF THIS SPECIAL VOTING PRIVILEGE IN THE SECURITY COUNCIL.

SPAIN--IT WAS RECOMMENDED THAT ALL MEMBER NATIONS OF THE U.N. RECALL THEIR AMBASSADORS AND MINISTERS FROM SPAIN AND THAT GENERALISSIMO FRANCISCO FRANCO'S REGIME BE BARRED FROM MEMBERSHIP IN ANY ORGANIZATIONS STARTED BY THE U.N. OR HAVING RELATIONSHIP WITH IT.

TRUSTEESHIPS--THE TRANSFER OF EIGHT LEAGUE OF NATIONS MANDATES TO THE NEW U.N. TRUSTEESHIP SYSTEM WAS APPROVED.

THE ASSEMBLY ALSO,GAVE RECOGNITION TO INDIA'S COMPLAINT AGAINST THE TREATMENT OF INDIANS IN SOUTH AFRICA AND ASKED THE TWO GOVERNMENTS TO TRY TO RECONCILE THEIR DIFFERENCES AND REPORT BACK AT THE NEXT SESSION.

U.N. (110)

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., DEC. 16-(AP)-SIAM BECAME THE 55TH MEMBER OF THE UNITED NATIONS AT 5:09 P.M. (EST) TODAY WHEN PRINCE WAN WAITHAYAKON, FORMER DIAMESE DELEGATE TO THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS ASSEMBLY, SIGNED ARTICLES OF ADHERENCE TO THE U.N. CHARTER FOR HIS GOVERNMENT.

IVAN KERNO, ASSISTANT SECRETARY GENERAL OF THE U.N. IN CHARGE OF LEGAL AFFAIRS, REPRESENTED THE U.N. AT THE BRIEF CEREMONY. HE WELCOMED SIAM TO THE UNITED NATIONS AND RECEIVED THE PRINCE'S ASSURANCES THAT HIS COUNTRY WOULD COOPERATE FULLY WITH THE U.N.

SIAM WAS ACCEPTED BY THE U.N. SECURITY COUNCIL THIS MONTH AFTER SETTLING BORDER DIFFICULTIES IN INDOCHINA WITH FRANCE AND AFTER REACHING AN AGREEMENT IN PRINCIPLE WITH SOVIET RUSSIA ON THE EXCHANGE OF DIPLOMATS.

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., DEC. 16-(AP)-ALBANIA JOINED YUGOSLAVIA TODAY IN A COUNTER-OFFENSIVE AGAINST GREECE IN THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL, CHARGING THAT CONDITIONS INSIDE GREECE AMOUNTED TO CIVIL WAR AND DEMANDING THAT A U.N. COMMISSION OF INQUIRY INVESTIGATE.

HYSNI KOPO, ALBANIAN MINISTER TO YUGOSLAVIA, REPLYING TO GREEK CHARGES THAT HIS NATION, YUGOSLAVIA AND BULGARIA WERE FOMENTING STRIFE IN NORTHERN GREECE, COUNTER-CHARGED THAT EVER SINCE THE PRESENT ROYALIST-DOMINATED REGIME CAME TO POWER, THE GREEK ATTITUDE TOWARD ALBANIA HAD BEEN ONE OF HOSTILITY.

A188UN

HE BRANDED THE GREEK MEMORANDUM TO THE COUNCIL DETAILING CHARGES OF INSPIRED STRIFE AS "A TISSUE OF UNFOUNDED AND TENDENTIOUS ACCUSTIONS AGAINST YUGOSLAVIA, BULGARIA AND ALBANIA."

LIKE THE YUGOSLAV REPRESENTATIVE AT LAST THURSDAY'S COUNCIL SESSION, THE ALBANIAN REPLIED WITH A DEMAND THAT A U.N. COMMISSION "INVESTIGATE ON THE SPOT THE SITUATION BROUGHT ABOUT BY THE PRESENT RULERS OF GREECE." GREECE HAS ASKED A COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE HER CHARGES AGAINST HER THREE NEIGHBOR NATIONS.

"IF THE SECURITY COUNCIL IS ANXIOUS TO MAINTAIN INTERNATIONAL PEACE AND SECURITY," KOPO SAID, "IT SHOULD NOT ALLOW SUCH A SITUATION TO CONTINUE. IT SHOULD ACT IM ORDER TO TERMINATE THE MARTYRDOM OF THE GALLANT GREEK PEOPLE AND PREVENT FURTHER TROUBLE IN THE BALKANS."

BEFORE KOPO SPOKE, SAVA N.KASANOVICH, YUGOSLAV AMBASSADOR TO THE UNITED STATES, TOOK THE FLOOR ON A POINT OR ORDER AND CHARGED GREEK PRIME MINISTER CONSTANTIN TSALDARIS OF HAVING INTENTIONALLY DISTORTED THE TRUTH IN PRESENTING THE CHARGES THURSDAY.

HE ACCUSED THE GREEK PRIME MINISTER OF MAKING AN "UNTRUTHFUL STATEMENT" AND DISTORTING THE WORDS OF PREMIER MARSHAL TITO OF YUGOSLAVIA IN PRESENTING A CHARGE THAT A DRIVE WAS UNDER WAY TO "SEPARATE MACEDONIA FROM GREECE."

NEW YORK, DEC.16-(AP)-THE UNITED NATIONS ASSEMBLY IN ITS FINAL HOURS APPROVED UNANIMOUSLY A PROPOSAL FOR A CONFERENCE OF ALL UNITED NATIONS MEMBERS IN 1947 ON FREEDOM OF INFORMATION.

THE ASSEMBLY VOTED $28,000 FOR SUCH A CONFERENCE IF IT IS HELD AT THE U.N. HEADQUARTERS. IF IT IS HELD EL. WHERE THE CONFERENCE WILL COST MORE, WHICH MUST BE TAKEN FROM THE U.N. WORKING CAPITAL FUND.

THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL WAS GIVEN AUTHORITY TO DECIDE UPON THE PLACE AND DATE OF THE CONFERENCE, BUT THE RESOLUTION PROVIDED THAT IT MUST BE HELD BEFORE THE END OF 1947 TO ENABLE THE COUNCIL "TO SUBMIT A REPORT ON THE DELIBERATIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE CONFERENCE TO THE FOLLOWING REGULAR SESSION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY."

30-24-6975

THE RESOLUTION PROVIDED THAT THE CONFERENCE "SHALL FORMULATE ITS VIEWS CONCERNING THE RIGHTS, OBLIGATIONS AND PRACTICES WHICH SHOULD BE INCLUDED IN THE CONCEPT OF THE FREEDOM OF INFORMATION."

IT ALSO SAID THAT DELEGATIONS TO THE CONFERENCE "SHALL INCLUDE IN EACH INSTANCE PERSONS ACTUALLY ENGAGED OR EXPERIENCED IN PRESS, RADIO, MOTION PICTURES AND OTHER MEDIA FOR THE DISSEMINATION OF INFORMATION."

AT THE ASSEMBLY MEETING IN LONDON LAST WINTER, THE PHILIPPINES DELEGATION PRESENTED A DRAFT RESOLUTION CALLING FOR AN INTERNATIONAL PRESS CONFERENCE. THIS WAS POSTPONED FINALLY UNTIL THE FALL MEETING OF THE ASSEMBLY.

DECLARATIONS ON FREEDOM OF THE PRESS BY KENT COOPER, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS, HUGH BAILLIE, PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED PRESS, AND WILBUR FORREST, THEN CHAIRMAN OF THE STANDING COMMITTEE ON WORLD FREEDOM OF INFORMATION OF THE AMERICAN SOCIETY OF NEWSPAPER EDITORS, WERE SUBMITTED TO THE U.N. DURING THE WINTER.

THEY WERE TURNED OVER TO THE COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS IN THE SPRING AND THAT COMMISSION ESTABLISHED A SUB-COMMISSION ON FREEDOM OF INFORMATION WHICH WAS APPROVED BY THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL.

FORREST, NOW PRESIDENT OF THE AMERICAN SOCIETY OF NEWSPAPER EDITORS, SUBMITTED LAST SEPTEMBER AN URGENT PROPOSAL FOR ACTION.

THE UNITED NATIONS ASSEMBLY TOOK UP THE MATTER WHEN IT MET IN OCTOBER AND THE RESOLUTION WAS PUT THROUGH ITS COMMITTEE ON SOCIAL PROBLEMS. FINAL ACTION WAS TAKEN LATE SATURDAY NIGHT.

U.N. - DELEGATES COMMENT (550)

NEW YORK, DEC. 16-(AP)-STATESMEN OF THE WORLD AGREED TODAY THAT THE PRESENT SESSION OF THE UNITED NATIONS ASSEMBLY MAY MARK THE OPENING OF A NEW ERA IN HUMAN HISTORY.

THIS WAS REVEALED IN A SURVEY OF DELEGATES DURING THE FINAL HOURS OF THE SESSION WHICH ENDED OFFICIALLY ON A NOTE OF OPTIMISM FOR FUTURE PEACE AND SECURITY.

THIRTY-FOUR TOP DIPLOMATS REPLIED TO A QUESTIONNAIRE SUBMITTED BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE 54 DELEGATIONS WHO HAD LABORED EIGHT WEEKS AT FLUSHING MEADOW PARK AND AT LAKE SUCCESS. NONE SOUNDED A PESSIMISTIC NOTE; ALL WERE OPTIMISTIC, A FEW GUARDED BUT THE GREAT MAJORITY EXPRESSING HIGH HOPE AND CONFIDENCE.

OF THE BIG FIVE, ONLY THE UNITED STATES, FRANCE AND CHINA REPLIED.

IN REPLIES FROM THESE THREE MAJOR POWERS AND THE HOST OF SMALL COUNTRIES THERE WAS NONE OF THE SKEPTICISM THAT DOGGED THE OLD LEAGUE OF NATIONS FROM ITS BIRTH TO ITS DEATH.

WARREN R. AUSTIN, CHIEF OF THE U.S. DELEGATION, DECLARED THAT "THE ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF THIS SESSION GIVE PROMISE OF ATTAINMENT OF SECURITY WITHOUT WAR--A PEACE THAT WILL PREVAIL THROUGH THE EFFECTIVE PROCESSES OF THE UNITED NATIONS."

MAURICE DEJEAN, ACTING CHIEF OF THE FRENCH DELEGATION:

"TWO MONTHS AGO THE WORLD WAS FULL OF WILD RUMORS ABOUT A NEW AND RAPIDLY APPROACHING WAR. TODAY THESE RUMORS AND FEARS ARE LARGELY DISSIPATED. IF THE PEOPLE AND THE GOVERNMENT OF THE UNITED NATIONS GO ON WORKING IN THE SPIRIT WHICH PREVAILED HERE, THE FIRST NEW YORK SESSION OF THE ASSEMBLY MAY BE LOOKED UPON IN A FEW YEARS AS A STARTING POINT IN THE HISTORY OF MANKIND."

DR. WELLINGTON KOO, CHIEF OF THE CHINESE DELEGATION:

"NO INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE EVER HAD A HEAVIER AND MORE IMPORTANT AGENDA. MOMENTOUS DECISIONS WERE TAKEN. THE FINAL DECISIONS ADOPTED WERE ALL FORWARD-LOOKING AND LIBERAL IN SPIRIT. THE KEY-NOTE OF COOPERATION PREVAILED. THE SESSION WHICH HAS JUST CLOSED AUGURS WELL FOR THE FUTURE OF MANKIND."

1946

JAN MASARYK, FOREIGN MINISTER OF CZECHOSLOVAKIA:

"BEING A GUARDED OPTIMIST AND A REALISTIC IDEALIST, I CAN SAY THIS ASSEMBLY HAS ACCOMPLISHED MUCH. IF THE NEXT TWO SESSIONS ACCOMPLISH AS MUCH, WE SHALL BE FAIRLY NEAR TO A LENGTHY PERIOD OF PEACE. FROM LENGTHY TO LONG, AND FROM LONG TO PERMANENT PEACE WILL BE AN UPHILL JOB."

DR. RICARDO J. ALFARO, FORMER PRESIDENT OF THE REPUBLIC OF PANAMA:

"THIS FIRST ASSEMBLY GOES DOWN IN HISTORY AS THE DAWN OF A NEW AND BETTER INTERNATIONAL ORDER. A FRESH IMPETUS HAS BEEN GIVEN TO THE SENSE OF INTERDEPENDENCE AND COOPERATION AMONG NATIONS, OF SOLIDARITY AND BROTHERLINESS AMONG ALL MEN."

WILHELM MUNTHE MORGENSTIERNE, NORWEGIAN AMBASSADOR TO WASHINGTON:

"THE UNANIMOUS ADOPTION OF THE ARMS LIMITATION RESOLUTION MAY INDEED OPEN UP A NEW ERA IN HUMAN HISTORY. ANOTHER HOPEFUL THING ABOUT THIS CONFERENCE WAS THE APPARENT DESIRE OF EVERYONE, GREAT AND SMALL, TO FIND COMMON GROUND IN THE FACE OF DEEP-GOING DIFFERENCES OF OPINION."

C. ABAYOMI CASSELL, ATTORNEY GENERAL OF LIBERIA:

"GREAT GOOD HAS BEEN ACCOMPLISHED. WHAT HAS INTERESTED ME MOST IS THE FREE, FULL AND UNTRAMMELED EXPRESSION OF OPINION WHICH HAS TAKEN PLACE IN ALL DEBATES."

THE POLISH DELEGATION:

LONDON, DEC. 16-(AP)-SCOTLAND YARD THEORIZED TONIGHT THAT EITHER A DANGEROUS MANIAC OR A GROUP OF IRRESPONSIBLE BOYS WERE TELEPHONING THE ANONYMOUS WARNINGS THAT VARIOUS KEY BUILDINGS IN LONDON WOULD BE BLOWN UP.

IN THE LAST FOUR DAYS 21 SUCH CALLS HAVE BEEN RECEIVED, BUT THERE WAS NO REPORT OF TERRORISTIC VIOLENCE ANYWHERE IN BRITAIN'S SPRAWLING CAPITAL.

POLICE SAID THAT AN UNMISTAKABLY BOYISH VOICE MADE THE CALLS RECEIVED TODAY. THE LATEST WARNINGS SAID THE KINGSCROSS AND EUSTON RAILWAY STATIONS AND THE BANCH OFFICE OF THE MINISTRY OF SUPPLY WOULD BE BLOWN UP.

EACH WARNING HAS BEEN FOLLOWED BY A THOROUGH POLICE SEARCH OF THE THREATENED PREMISES.

(ADVANCE FOR USE AT 11 A.M. EASTERN STANDARD TIME TODAY, MONDAY DEC.16).

(ADVANCE) LONDON, DEC.16-(AP)-SIR HERBERT EMERSON, DIRECTOR OF THE INTERGOVERNMENTAL COMMITTEE ON REFUGEES, REPORTED TODAY THAT "VOLUNTARY REPATRIATION IS BY FAR THE MOST SATISFACTORY" METHOD OF SOLVING THE DISPLACED PERSONS PROBLEM.

THE COMMITTEE -- IN WHICH 36 GOVERNMENTS ARE REPRESENTED -- IS FACILITATING "INDIVIDUAL MIGRATION AND GROUP SETTLEMENT," HOWEVER, SIR HERBERT SAID IN HIS REPORT TO THE COMMITTEE'S SIXTH PLENARY SESSION AND ADDED THAT "A STEADY FLOW OF REFUGEES ABLE TO OBTAIN VISAS IS NOW CROSSING THE ATLANTIC, MAINLY TO SOUTH AMERICAN COUNTRIES."

EMERSON STATED THAT AN AGREEMENT IS BEING NEGOTIATED WITH BRAZIL AND MISSIONS REPRESENTING THE COMMITTEE ARE NOW VISITING ARGENTINA, BOLIVIA, CHILE, PARAGUAY, PERU, AND ECUADOR, WHILE A FURTHER MISSION WILL SHORTLY GO TO COLOMBIA, ECUADOR AND VENEZUELA.

ARGENTINA LAST WEEK SENT A SPECIAL MISSION TO ORGANIZE THE EMIGRATION OF 30,000 EUROPEANS A MONTH, MAINLY FROM SPAIN AND ITALY. AT THE SAME TIME, IT WAS REPORTED TODAY IN LONDON THAT POLISH SOLDIERS OF GENERAL ANDERS' ARMY, WHO LONG AGO HAD APPLIED FOR VISAS FROM ARGENTINA, WERE STARTING TO RECEIVE THEM. A FIRST BATCH OF 400 VISAS FOR POLES WAS RECEIVED OVER THE WEEKEND BY THE ARGENTINE CONSULATE IN LONDON.

REPORTING ON THE COMMITTEE'S WORK DURING 1946, EMERSON SAID THAT HELP TO REFUGEES, WHICH AT THE START WAS DEVOTED TO SPANISH REPUBLICANS LIVING IN FRANCE AND NORTH AFRICA AND TO ANTI-NAZI GERMANS RESIDING IN SEVERAL COUNTRIES, HAS BEEN EXTENDED TO MANY OTHER GROUPS.

THE REPORT SAID THE INITIAL PERIOD FOR THE SOLUTION OF THE REFUGEE PROBLEM WOULD BE THE HARDEST, BUT "PROVIDED THAT REPATRIATION CONTINUES AT A REASONABLE RATE AND THAT THERE ARE NO LARGE ACCRETIONS OF NEW GROUPS OF REFUGEES OR DISPLACED PERSONS," THE "BACK OF THE PROBLEM SHOULD BE BROKEN WITHIN FIVE YEARS."

LONDON, DEC. 16-(AP)-THE BRITISH LABOR PARTY DISCLOSED TONIGHT--BY THE ISSUANCE OF A DETAILED DENIAL OF THE CHARGES--A NEW ATTACK WITHIN THE PARTY ON THE LABOR GOVERNMENT'S FOREIGN POLICY AS A "CHURCHILL POLICY OF APPEASEMENT OF AMERICAN IMPERIALISM AND HOSTILITY TO THE SOVIET UNION."

A PAMPHLET ATTACK ON THE GOVERNMENT WAS CIRCULATED SUB ROSA TO OTHER DIVISIONS BY THE SPELTHORNE, MIDDLESEX, DIVISION OF THE PARTY IN SUBURBAN LONDON. THE FIRST INTRA-PARTY ATTACK WAS AN OPEN "REVOLT" ALONG SIMILAR LINES IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS LAST MONTH.

A DETAILED REPLY TO THE CHARGES ISSUED BY MORGAN PHILLIPS, LABOR PARTY SECRETARY, DECLARED "IT IS NOT OUR FAULT" RUSSIA HAS FAILED TO JOIN MANY NEW INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS, AND CALLED THE CRITICISMS, IN GENERAL, "MUDDLED."

THE LONDON DAILY HERALD, AN OFFICIAL PARTY PUBLICATION, SAID THE "WARPED AND WEIRD MANIFESTO" WAS CIRCULATED TO DIVISIONAL LABOR PARTIES, TRADE UNIONS AND MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT MARKED "PRIVATE AND CONFIDENTIAL." THE NEWSPAPER ADDED THE PAMPHLET'S SPONSORS EVIDENTLY WISHED TO AVOID PRESS PUBLICITY AND WERE "IN NO HURRY" TO HAVE IT REACH LABOR HEADQUARTERS.

THE DAILY HERALD TERMED THE PAMPHLET "FLAGRANTLY UNJUST."

London, Dec. 16--(ap)--A foreign office spokesman said tonight that Britain had failed in a three-month-long attempt to settle disputes between the Greek government and the Greek Trade Union movement.

W. H. Braine, a British labor attache assigned last September to mediate the controversy, has found the two sides "irreconcilable," the spokesman explained, adding that he could not say whether Britain contemplated any new mediation action.

Meanwhile, the powerful British trade Union Congress, principal prop of Britain's labor government, called a meeting for Wednesday to discuss what one congress official described as the "persecution" of labor in Greece. This official, who would not be quoted by name, said [redacted] Tuc deputation soon would call on Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin to protest.

Trade union leaders in many nations have accused Greek Premier Constantin Tsaldaris' regime of "suppressing" labor. Those Laborite members of the British parliament opposing the labor government's support of Tsaldaris have said the Greek premier's policy was "one of the main causes" of Greece's civil war.

Bickering between the [redacted] Tsaldaris government and the recently trade unions in Greece was climaxed when national trade union elections were declared invalid and several leaders were imprisoned.

The foreign office spokesman said the Greek unions had rejected a compromise proposal suggested by Braine under which five government-nominated representatives and seven elected labor-members would form the governing body of the Greek confederation generale, central organ of Greek labor.

Communist and eam (national liberation front) leaders told Braine there could be no negotiations between labor and the government, the British informant added, unless the original governing body was restored and all jailed labor leaders except those charged with murder were released.

The informant said Tsaldaris apparently was willing to comply with the second demand but had shown no signs of restoring labor's status quo.

THE SUPREME COURT ON OCT.10 ANNOUNCED IT WOULD REVIEW THE CASE OF THE CONDEMNED MAN, TEODORO TATISHI, ALSO KNOWN AS TEODORO CANTOS. BUT TODAY IT WAS DISMISSED AS "MOOT." 1946

COURT ATTACHES SAID TATISHI WAS NO LONGER IN CUSTODY OF THE U.S. ARMY BUT HAD BEEN TURNED OVER THE PHILIPPINES GOVERNMENT--AN INDEPENDENT NATION OVER WHICH THE SUPREME COURT HAS NO AUTHORITY.

TATISHI IN HIS APPEAL CLAIMED HE WAS A JAPANESE NATURALIZED IN 1941 AS A FILIPINO CITIZEN. HE CONTENDED THE MILITARY COMMISSION HAD NO AUTHORITY TO TRY A CITIZEN OF THE PHILIPPINES.

COURT ATTACHES DID NOT KNOW THE PRESENT STATUS OF TATISHI IN THE HANDS OF THE PHILIPPINE GOVERNMENT.

THE SUPREME COURT'S AGREEMENT TO REVIEW THE CASE LAST OCTOBER WAS OVER OBJECTIONS OF THE JUSTICE DEPARTMENT. THE DEPARTMENT SAID EVIDENCE WAS GIVEN TO THE MILITARY COMMISSION THAT AFTER JAPANESE FORCES LANDED IN THE PHILIPPINES, TATISHI "SWORE HE WAS NOT A FILIPINO CITIZEN, SAID HE WOULD AID THE JAPANESE FORCES, AND TORE UP HIS NATURALIZATION PAPERS."

Russia Blocks Adoption Of U.S. Atomic Program, Baruch Protests Delay

SOVIETS ASK MORE TIME FOR STUDY OF AMERICAN PLAN

Majority of Nations in Group Voiced Approval of Control Proposal.

MEET AGAIN FRIDAY

'Time Goes By, Then Years and Nothing Is Done,' Warns Baruch

W. RYAN

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 17—(AP) The United States failed today in an attempt to bring about an immediate vote of approval on its proposals for international control of atomic energy.

Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko charged that the American resolution was not in complete conformity with the historic disarmament decision of the United Nations General Assembly and asked more time to study it.

U. S. Delegate Bernard M. Baruch, who told the UN Atomic Energy Commission he had intended to ask a vote on the American proposals at this session, appeared sorely disappointed at the delay, but finally agreed to postponement of the commission's deliberations until Friday.

Ac NIGHT Baruch

"Holidays—delays and delays," Baruch said. "Time goes by, then years go by and nothing is done."

Gromyko indicated he was chiefly concerned with achieving a unanimous decision on the proposals, and for this reason, he said, more time to study them was desirable. He charged that there were certain aspects of the proposals—including provisions for sanctions—which actually were in violation of the United Nations charter—and added that many questions concerning the resolution which had been asked by the Soviet delegation still were unanswered. He said he was "not quite clear" how the United States wanted to implement these proposals.

In essence, the United States plan called for "a strong and comprehensive international system of control of atomic energy" established by convention among the United Nations members. It stipulated that such a treaty would set up an international authority with power to administer treaty provisions and to deal with all aspects of the atomic problem.

Under the American proposal, the treaty would guarantee that authority representatives would be unhampered by any nation in their entrance and departure for violation inspections.

Provisions of Plan

The American plan would prohibit manufacture, possession and use of atomic weapons, would call for destruction of existing stocks of atom bombs; would require reports on violations by the authority to the security council and the signatory nations, and would place punishment outside the pale of the veto power.

A majority of the commission members expressed approval of the American plan. However, the issue raised by Gromyko—that a vote today might threaten unanimity later—found some support. China's Dr. Quo Tai-Chi supported the underlying principles of the Baruch proposal, but said he hoped unanimity would be achieved.

Australia and Egypt expressed unqualified approval of the plan. Australian Delegate Paul Hasluck said that the disarmament resolution of the General Assembly apparently covered the fundamental questions involved and that the commission now should be prepared to proceed to the next phase of its mission.

However, Gromyko asserted that the assembly had not gone into the veto problem at all, adding that the only way the assembly could have achieved unanimity was through avoidance of that issue. He cautioned against "rushing" with the proposals, saying that the American delegation had not given all the explanation necessary on some of the atomic energy proposals.

Baruch Sought Action

Baruch, presenting his proposals, asked that they "be acted upon at this time."

"We have accepted the duty, and we must proceed promptly to its fulfillment," he said. "We believe, and our work follows this belief, that the best way of gaining our objective is to do first things first. In the very forefront of that effort lies the control of atomic energy. If we are able satisfactorily to solve that vast problem, the others will come easier."

Baruch insisted that the commission had debated long enough, and that the time had come for action. He urged the commission "to present an immediate, a practical and a realistic program."

The Canadian delegate, Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, said his delegation endorsed the principles of the Baruch proposals, but he urged utmost caution in framing the final resolution, so that the words of the document could not ever be misconstrued.

Brazil expressed hearty approval of the proposals. France's Alexandre Parodi agreed so far as the substance of the proposals was concerned, but said the matter was a delicate one that needed more time for study paragraph by paragraph. Poland's Dr. Oscar Lange asserted that whatever recommendation was adopted by the commission, it must be one which could command a unanimous vote of the first permanent members of the security council. He urged those permanent members to strive in the spirit of conciliation to work out complete agreement on the proposals.

Dr. Samuel Sandoval Vallarta, of Mexico, who has just assumed the chairmanship of the commission, reserved the right to express himself on the proposals Friday.

The political committee of the commission will meet in closed session tomorrow (10:30 a.m. E.S.T.) to continue work on the report due from the commission to the Security Council on Dec. 31.

Russ Get Delay They Ask On Atom Plan

R. CARPENTER

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 17 (AP)—The United States lost its fight today for immediate approval of its plan for controlling atomic energy after Soviet Russia pleaded for delay to study the proposal paragraph by paragraph.

Bernard M. Baruch, United States delegate who had come to the meeting with the full intention of getting a decision today, finally agreed to adjournment until Friday, but attacked "delays and delays" in commission action.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, countered Baruch's call for immediate action with a Soviet warning against "rushing" in this matter. DAY

Baruch answered:

"Time Goes By"

"Holidays, delays and delays—time goes by, then years go by and nothing is done."

He finally left the time of the meeting in the hands of the chair.

A majority of the Atomic Energy Commission had earlier expressed approval of the United States plan.

British Back U.S.

The British joined the United States in calling upon the full Atomic Energy Commission to approve the United States plan.

Baruch led off with his call for an end to debate and a vote.

Gromyko countered with his warning against "rushing along" and said many questions required explanations from the United States.

Dr. Eelco N. van Kleffens, of the Netherlands, said that the Baruch proposal did not conflict with the Assembly arms resolution and added he was willing to vote for the United States proposal.

Main Points In Plan

In brief, the United States plan contains these main points:

1. There would be "a strong and comprehensive international system of control of atomic energy," established by treaty among the United Nations members.

2. The treaty would set up an international authority clothed with full powers for administering treaty provisions and for dealing with all phases in the atomic field.

3. The treaty should give authority representatives unimpeded rights to enter and leave each nation to inspect for violations.

4. The manufacture, possession and use of atomic weapons would be prohibited.

Bombs To Be Destroyed

5. Existing stocks of atomic bombs would be destroyed.

6. Violations would be reported by the authority to the signatory nations and to the Security Council.

7. The veto power in the Security Council would not be used to protect any violation.

Brazil's Capt. Alvaro Alberto also indorsed the Baruch proposals.

Alexandre Parodi, of France, said that he agreed with the substance of the Baruch proposals so far expressed but suggested they should be studied paragraph by paragraph.

Dr. Quo Tai-chi, of China, said his country favored the principles of the Baruch proposals and expressed hope that unanimity could be reached after further study.

Col. Mohamed Bey Khalifa, of Egypt, backed the United States plan.

Sir Alexander Cadogan, British delegate, quickly seconded Baruch and asked that the American principles be incorporated in the report that the commission must make to the United Nations Security Council.

Canada's Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton said he favored putting these proposals, which Canada indorsed, in the draft report but indicated he could not give a final judgment until the final report is before the commission for approval.

Paul Hasluck, of Australia, told the commission he was prepared to vote for the American resolution as it stands.

Time For Action

In a brief speech to the full meeting of the commission, Baruch said that the question had been debated long enough and that the time for action had come.

The commission is considering policy for its Political Committee to follow in drafting the recommendations section of a report the commission must make to the United Nations Securtiy Council by December 31.

Emphasizing that the United States stood firm on its plan first put forward last June 14, Baruch said:

"We have no pride of authorship but we cannot, in justice to our trust, accept changes in purpose. We have debated long enough."

Molotov's Speeches

He said that the debates on arms limitations in the United Nations General Assembly and the speeches of Vyacheslav M. Molotov, Soviet Russian Foreign Minister, and Ernest Bevin, Britain's Foreign Secretary, had covered much of the ground on atomic matters.

Referring to Secretary of State James F. Byrnes's speech to the Assembly, Baruch said that Byrnes had brought the United Nations and the public to a "refreshed understanding of the fact that abstractions have been debated, and it is now up to us—the Atomic Commission—to present an immediate, a practical and a realistic program."

Top Priority

Apparently referring to the top priority given the atomic problem by the General Assembly in its resolution on arms limitation, Baruch said:

"We have accepted the duty and we must proceed promptly to its fulfillment. We believe, and our work follows this belief, that the best way of gaining our objective is to do first things first. In the very forefront of that effort lies the control of atomic energy. If we are able to solve that vast problem, the others will come easier."

December 5 Proposal

The meeting began under a new chairman, Dr. Manuel Sandoval Vallarta, Mexican scientist. He called upon the commission members to face their task with good will, confidence and determination.

Baruch at the outset said that he proposed to "move the adoption of the resolutions submitted to this body of Thursday, December 5."

"Our course is not wholly in the field of free choice," he said. "We are under compulsions placed upon us by the General Assembly. The great and solemn debate held by that body on disarmament was closed last Saturday, with an expression of unanimous support by all the nations represented. It is a declaration that may be, that should be, that must be high in historical importance because of its effect upon all the peoples of all the world now, and in the days to come.

"Vital Matters"

"Let me point out to you that in placing these resolutions before you, our sole purpose is to develop, in broad outline, the vital principles on which we are to proceed. The commission itself should pass upon and decide these vital matters."

He said that passage of the resolutions would be instruction to the Political Committee to include the findings and recommendations in them with such others as the Political Committee might desire to write in the draft report that the committee must submit to the full commission by December 20.

After the commission has made its report to the Security Council on December 31, he said, it then presumably will turn to the difficult questions of the organization, functions, powers and the relations of the proposed international control agency to the United Nations and to the several states.

move the adoption of the resolution submitted to this body on Thursday, Dec. 5. But before I do so I would like to say a few words.

First of all, I should like to express, for each of us, our thanks to Mr. Alexandre Parodi, our retiring chairman, and to his associate, Mr. Francois de Rose, who presided over the informal conversations, for their distinguished work. Also, I welcome Dr. Manuel Sandoval Vallarta, who brings his unusual talents to the chair for the current month.

Now I respectfully urge two claims upon your attention: the first is to adopt and proclaim these basic principles that have forced themselves upon us from the work on which we are engaged. The second is to proceed to do it now. The time has come to match our words with action.

Our course is not wholly in the field of free choice. We are under compulsion placed upon us by the General Assembly. The great and solemn debate held by that body on disarmament was closed last Saturday night with an expression of unanimous support by all the nations represented. It is a declaration that may be, that should be, that must be high in historical importance because of its effect upon all the peoples of all the world now and in the days to come.

A new spirit has come into being. It is our privilege and duty to give flesh to that spirit. The injunction has been laid upon the Atomic Energy Commission to proceed expeditiously to the development of a formula of action. It is with that thought in mind that I request the chairman of this group to call us together.

Let me point out to you that in placing these resolutions before you our sole purpose is to develop, in broad outline, the vital principles on which we are to proceed. The commission itself should pass upon and decide these vital matters.

Effect of Passage

Passage of these resolutions by the comission would be, in effect, an instruction to Committee No. 2 to include the findings and recommendations which we approve, with such others as Committee No. 2 is prepared to recommend, in the draft report that it has been instructed to submit to us by Dec. 20. Their inclusion in the draft report would be mandatory but not exclusive. Committee No. 2 would remain free to add additional findings and recommendations arising from their very valuable work.

In other words, we are laying down certain principles to be included, by Committee No. 2 in the draft which we have directed them to submit to us. We do not attempt to exclude from that draft such other material as Committee No. 2 deems proper.

I doubt whether any public body ever devoted itself to its assignment with greater assiduity; with deeper understanding, and with finer devotion than has characterized this commission since the beginning of its work. This is particularly true of the members of our scientific and technical committee, who have contributed so greatly toward clarifying our understanding of this vast and complicated subject.

The further survey of the practical and operational elements of the problem by the informal group composed of our political and scientific advisers points towards a vital and, I hope, unanimous conclusion: for the protection of the world against the destructive uses of atomic energy there must be brought into existence an international control agency. Their discussions have been particularly valuable in giving an intimate and practical insight into the type and nature of controls appropriate to the various phases of atomic-energy production. Thus, I need not argue these principles in detail. They are known to each and every one of us.

Upon rendering its report to the Security Council, the commission will have completed the first stage of its assigned task.

Next Task Ahead

It will then, presumably, turn to the difficult questions of the organization, functions, powers and the relations of the proposed international control agency to the United Nations and to the several states.

However, before such discussions can be fruitfully undertaken we must first establish a general framework within which the solutions will be sought. We need a determination of policy on the basis of which we can elaborate in detail the characteristics which an international control agency must have if it is effectively to fulfill our mandate. The resolutions proposed by the United States are offered to provide such a basis, in order that the work of this commission may continue fruitfully and its past efforts not be lost. I am sure you will accept my proposal in this spirit.

I hope it is not amiss for me to point out, as a source of pride to all of us, that the comprehensive, many-sided debates in the General Assembly followed closely the proposals first outlined in this commission. In fact, the lines of discussion paralleled the suggestions contained in the United States proposals at our first meeting. We were all of us seeking the same goal, but it fell to the lot of my country, first, to put the ideas we all held into words we can all accept.

We have no pride of authorship, but we cannot, in justice to our trust, accept changes in purpose. We have debated long enough. Much of the discussion engendered by these suggestions already has taken place in the Assembly. The proof of their acceptance lies in the General Assembly resolutions unanimously adopted on Saturday, following strong supporting speeches by Messrs. Molotov and Bevin.

Byrnes's Speech Recalled

The indication of our remaining duty was contained in the speech made by Mr. Byrnes, Secretary of State of the United States, on Friday night. He it was who brought the United Nations and the public, which is so deeply interested in this commission, to a refreshed understanding of the fact that abstractions have been debated, and it is now up to us—the Atomic Commission—to present an immediate, a practical and a realistic program.

The mandate, creating us, puts within our terrain not merely the elimination of the atomic weapon from future wars, not merely the disposal of existing stocks and the beneficial development of the energy—but, of equal importance, it asks the development of measures to prevent the use of other instruments of mass destruction.

It is my thought that these resolutions are to be acted upon at this time. We have accepted the duty, and we must proceed promptly to its fulfillment. We believe, and our work follows this belief, that the best way of gaining our objective is to do first things first. In the very forefront of that effort lies the control of atomic energy. If we are able, satisfactorily, to solve that vast problem, the others will come easier. As I have said, the man who says "A" can be taught to say the rest of the alphabet.

This is a treaty that is meant to be kept. This is to be a program for which the world has striven through all recorded history, and even before—for man, in his soul, is peaceful and life-loving. Deep inside of him, he knows that he can live in security only by the force of law and never by the law of force.

Mr. Gromyko

Mr. Chairman, I would not like to speak at this meeting on the substance of the proposal which has been made by Mr. Baruch and which is in the document which was distributed on Dec. 5. I would not want to discuss the substance of this proposal, mainly because I have not had enough opportunity to study this proposal from the point of view of its concordance with the decision of the General Assembly which was reached two days ago. So if I touch on a few questions at the present time, on a few questions which have been raised by the United States delegation, I want it to be understood that I touch upon these questions only very lightly, and I do so as a preliminary measure.

I feel that the proposal which has been made by Mr. Baruch requires thorough study, especially since the question concerning the control of atomic energy has been thoroughly considered in the General Assembly in connection with the question of the general reduction of armaments, which was raised by the delegation of the Soviet Union in the General Assembly. It seems to me that the situation at the present time is the following one: Mr. Baruch distributed his document concerning atomic-energy control on Dec. 5. Now the resolution of the General Assembly, concerning the general reduction of armaments, which also includes certain provisions concerning the control of atomic energy, has only been passed on Saturday of last week. So the problem is that any proposals which might be made should be studied in concordance with the decisions of the General Assembly, to see whether they conform with these decisions or not.

Some may hope to reach the solution of this particular problem in two days. I feel it is not possible to determine in two days whether this proposal is in conformity with the decisions reached by the General Assembly. I feel that the first point is that we should study more closely the proposal which has been made by the representative from the United States, in connection with the decisions which have been reached by the General Assembly.

Sees Discrepancies

In addition, I have acquainted myself with the proposals which have been made by Mr. Baruch, and, although I do feel that further study is necessary, I can now already see that this proposal is not in all respects in conformity with the decision of the General Assembly. I will not go into detail right now. I will not speak at any length on this particular aspect as I have stated previously that I am not ready yet to comment on all points which have been made by Mr. Baruch. But, acquainted as I did get with the proposal, I did find that it was not in complete conformity with the decision reached by the General Assembly.

More particularly, the resolution of the General Assembly does not touch on the veto question in any way, and this is quite reasonable and understandable, because if it did—if a General Assembly delegation would have insisted on the conception which has been given to this particular aspect of the problem by Mr. Baruch, there would have been no possibility for unanimity in the General Assembly. The only way that unanimity was possible was by not touching upon this question of the veto.

What is proposed now by the United States delegation is to ignore the Charter in the case of the sanctions which would be taken in respect of the Atomic Energy Commission—in other words, by the decisions of the Security Council taken against the violators of atomic production and the use of atomic weapons. This is obviously a violation of the Charter. I must admit that I was only surprised to find such a proposal in the United States document, two two days after the decision of the General Assembly.

Issue of Existing Bombs

Then there are a few other questions. The resolution of the General Assembly speaks of convention or conventions, concerning the atomic production and the use of atomic weapons. In the document which has been presented by Mr. Baruch such conventions are criticized. Therefore, where is there conformity to be found between the document presented by Mr. Baruch and the resolution of the General Assembly? I must say, Mr. Chairman, that there are a series of questions in the United States proposal which would require further study and which would require certain explanations by the United States representative.

For instance, there is a provision here which states in the document which has been presented by Mr. Baruch, that the international authority should not intervene in the function of the national authority for the control of atomic energy, and there are no explanations given for this particular provision. How we are to explain this particular provision remains a secret.

Then, in this proposal, there is nothing said about the already existing bombs—atomic bombs. It speaks about the production of the use of atomic weapons, but the question concerning the already existing weapons or bombs has not been touched upon at all. How is this possible, when the Soviet Union delegation has made a very concrete proposal on this matter? And there is no mention whatever about this in Mr. Baruch's document.

Next, the international control authority according to this document must concern itself with perfecting the atomic weapon. This requires, most definitely, additional study and very thorough examination because, on the one hand, it is stated that the control authority must prohibit the production of atomic weapons and, on the other hand, it is stated that it must perfect it. Therefore, it is quite obvious from these

Baruch, Gromyko Statements

LAKE SUCCESS, L. I., Dec. 17.—Following are the full texts of the opening statement by Bernard M. Baruch, of the United States, asking quick action on a recommendation for an international atomic-control agency, and the reply by Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet representative, delivered before the United Nations' Atomic Energy Commission today:

N.Y. TRIBUNE

Mr. Baruch

Mr. chairman, speaking for the United States, I propose to various considerations that this whole document raises a very serious problem and must be given very thorough attention and consideration.

Why is it so necessary to rush along and try to reach hasty decisions? I believe that we would only harm the purpose which we are trying to serve. And if the representatives of the atomic commissions are seriously trying to find a solution to the problem which we are confronted with, then I believe they can only agree with this view.

Some Unanswered Questions

There are many questions which will require explanations from the United States delegation concerning certain technical aspects of the problem. Some of these questions were raised before, but no answers were given. At the committee level, at the beginning, the Soviet Union representative asked some of these questions, hoping that the necessary explanations would be given by the United States delegation. However, most of these questions remained unanswered then, and they are still unanswered today. So, there are many problems which come up in connection with the document circulated on Dec. 5. It is not quite sufficiently explained and it is not very clear. It is not quite seen how the United States delegation wants to implement some of the provisions of this document.

Of course, Mr. Baruch has stated that all that it is necessary to do is to study the alphabet. At first you learn the letter "a," then "b" and "c" come easily. But, in order to study the alphabet, it is first necessary to know what we are speaking about and it is not very clear. The United States delegation, for some reason, has not given us the necessary explanation, the explanation which is required by some of the aspects of the problem.

So, Mr. Chairman, if we could accept today—that the Atomic Commission limits its work to discussion of these proposals, considering that it is merely a preliminary discussion and to take no decision. The reason we should take no decision is because I imagine that we want to reach a unanimous agreement here. If it is believed that it is not necessary to reach unanimous decision, that it is unimportant, that simply a majority could carry a decision and then would be forwarded to the Security Council, that would be another question of course.

But, I very strongly feel that it is necessary to find a common language to deal with this question and we must study the document which has been submitted and circulated by Mr. Baruch on Dec. 5, and we must study the amendments, and then, after this, at a later stage we can study the whole problem in more detail.

U.S. PROMISES BRITAIN WHEAT

Strachey Cancels Plan To Fly To Washington To Appeal

London, Dec. 17 (AP)—Food Minister John Strachey canceled plans to fly to Washington in a plea for additional food today and told the House of Commons that the United States had promised to ship 104,000 tons of wheat and flour by January 31—enough to avert a "very grave emergency."

In addition, he said, the United States had promised to give rail priority to the movement of additional supplies for Britain from Canada.

Announces U. S. Promise

Strachey was reported prepared to leave tonight after the announcement in Washington that Britain's grain allotment for January had been cut to 84,000 tons as against her request for 150,000 tons.

Later, however, he said the trip had been canceled, and he then announced the promise of 68,000 tons of wheat and 36,000 tons of flour plus a small amount of coarse grains.

Press Feared Bread Ration Cut

[In Washington, James F. Byrnes, Secretary of State, said the United States would do everything possible to increase wheat shipments to Britain despite transportation difficulties. Department of Agriculture officials said the export schedule had been disrupted by maritime, coal and other strikes.]

London newspapers had taken a serious view of a prospective grain deficit, some saying it might be necessary to cut the British bread ration of nine ounces a day for most adults.

Strachey said, however, that the promised supplies, together with existing supplies, "should, if there are no further delays in transport, just suffice to avert the very grave emergency which we foresaw for the end of January."

U. S. PROMISE OF GRAIN ENDS BRITISH CRISIS

Strachey Says Wheat and Flour to Be Bought Will Avert Emergency.

SALES TO EXTEND TO JAN. 31

Food Minister Asserts Canadian Shipments Will Get Priority on American Railroads.

London, Dec. 17 (A. P.).—Food Minister John Strachey told the House of Commons today that the United States had promised Britain enough wheat and flour between now and January 31 to avert a "very grave emergency."

Strachey, who earlier abandoned plans to fly to Washington on short notice in a plea for food, said that Britain now would be permitted to buy and export from the United States 68,000 tons of wheat, 36,000 tons of flour and a small amount of coarse grains by the end of January. In addition, he said, the United States has promised rail priority in moving additional quantities of Canadian wheat across the United States.

Supplies Should Suffice.

Strachey said that the promised supplies "are by no means so large as those which we wished to purchase in the United States in January, but they represent a major effort on the part of the United States Government to meet us in the face of the very real difficulties which the United States faces today."

"Together with our existing supplies, these quantities should, if there are no further delays in transport, just suffice to avert the very grave emergency which we foresaw for the end of January," he said.

Britain had asked for 150,000 tons of United States wheat in January, Food Ministry officials disclosed.

Denies Delays Wheat.

Questioned by Conservative Anthony Eden, Strachey said that the $1.55 a bushel which Britain pays Canadian growers for wheat, although less than the world price, was not holding up the Canadian supply. He added, however, that Canadian exports were much lower than expected and that it was the "inability of Canadian authorities to deliver wheat during the autumn in sufficient quantities to ports which has been our main difficulty."

A House of Commons standing committee overrode Strachey today, 23 to 22, to ban the sale of intoxicants in State-operated restaurants for low-income workmen. Proponents of the ban argued that Scottish teetotalers, who are in the majority in some districts, objected to contributing public funds to establishments selling intoxicants.

British Labor Moves Swiftly To Nationalized Transport

London, Dec. 17 (AP)—The Labor Government moved swiftly tonight toward achievement of one of its major objectives—the nationalization of transport—as Hugh Dalton, Chancellor of the Exchequer, beat down Conservative criticism of the $3,600,000,000 valuation placed on Britain's four major railroads.

Defending the use of recent stock market quotations rather than arbitration suggested by the Conservatives to determine fair compensation for railroad shareholders, Dalton told the House of Commons:

"We take note of the opposition's proposal that we should pay the railways £1,600,000,000 ($6,400,000,000) for properties valued by the Stock Exchange at £900,000,000 ($3,600,000,000)."

Quick Approval

The nationalization bill would bring railroads, canals and most trucking firms under state ownership. It is certain of approval in a critical second reading tonight, in view of Labor's overwhelming parliamentary majority.

A petition signed by 120,000 persons protesting against nationalization of road transport was presented when the House sat today, but Laborites said "put it in the waste-basket."

"We are carrying out pledges we made to the electors with speed and decision—a thing new in British political history," Dalton said.

"Total Bankruptcy"

He declared he foresaw "total bankruptcy" for the railroads unless they were nationalized and said the Government was getting "a very poor bag of physical assets."

The Conservatives leveled their main attack at the bill's compensation provision. Ralph Assheton, himself a railway director, denounced the Government's scheme as "unjust, inadequate and arrived at by wrong means."

'Socialization Or Ruin' For British Rails

London, Dec. 17 (AP)—Hugh Dalton, Chancellor of the Exchequer, told the House of Commons today that "total bankruptcy" was the will mean "smaller but riskless income" for investors, he said, adding that payments would be made to stockholders "who had not had a penny in dividends since 1926."

Cites "Unpublished" Source

Zilliacus then asked if Bellenger was aware that the Associated Press sent "a series of dispatches to the United States" October 30 containing the arms story and "much other information" and saying it was received from the War Office public relations officer.

"That is not my information," Bellenger replied. "I understand the Associated Press cabled a story as from authoritative British military sources. That is certainly not the War Office."

[The dispatch quoted authoritative British military informants.]

Shouts Drown Next Remark

"Associated Press informed their editor ——," Zilliacus began, but the rest of the remark was drowned by shouts from the Conservative benches.

"Shut up, you Yahoos!" Laborite David Kirkwood called out before the tumult subsided.

Conservative E. H. Keeling asked whether anyone but an enemy of Britain and the United States would gain anything by a refusal to standardize arms. Cyril Osborne, also a Conservative, asked if the War Minister would make clear to the United States that the bulk of the British people would be delighted by such an arrangement.

Ignores Both Questions

Bellinger did not reply to either question.

Deputy Prime Minister Herbert Morrison told the House recently that talks were going on concerning the continuation of wartime standardization of weapons, but said no decisions had been reached.

Prime Minister Attlee said the next day that Britain would be willing to conduct similar talks with the Russians, but added that the Russians had shown no similar willingness.

Commons Quiz On Arms Data Is Fruitless

London, Dec. 17 (AP)—Left-wing Laborite Konni Zilliacus failed to find out in the House of Commons today who told the Associated Press last October 30 that Britain and the United States were planning to standardize their land, naval and air weapons.

Zilliacus first inquired "on what authority the War Office informed a United States news agency" of the arms talks.

"My department issued no such statement," War Minister F. J. Bellenger replied.

Warsaw Defers Expatriates, Briton Says

London, Dec. 17 (AP)—British Delegate Sir George Rendel told the Inter-Governmental Refugee Committee today that Polish attacks on the Vatican were deterring many of Poland's Catholic expatriates from returning to their homeland.

An address by Poland's delegate, M. Szeminski, at the opening meeting of the committee's sixth plenary session inspired Sir George's remarks. Szeminski replied immediately that his speech had been misunderstood.

"Some Differences"

"Poland [illegible] appreciates the activities of the churches and other voluntary agencies," said Szeminski, "and there is no reason to believe that Poland is violently opposed to the Vatican or to any churches, for there is entire religious freedom in Poland."

He said that if there were some differences between Poland and the Vatican they concerned "only some political activities of the Holy See."

The Polish delegate said originally that the refugee committee was discouraging repatriation and instead encouraged emigration and resettlement.

Held Only Solution

Sir George said the British Government shared the view that the proper solution to the refugee problem was repatriation, adding "it is folly to be blind to the fact that there is a large population of genuine nonrepatriables."

Sir Herbert W. Emerson, committee director, also replied to the Polish complaints. He said only UNRRA was authorized to spend money on repatriation, and its scope was limited to persons displaced by the war, whereas there were refugees whose flight dated before the war and that the committee was attempting to send back that group.

He said no offers of emigration or resettlement were made unless "the refugee was definitely unwilling to return."

New Row Grips British Labor Party

London, Dec. 17 (AP)—Britain's Labor party fought back today against a new charge from within its own ranks that the Labor Government's foreign policy was one of "appeasement of American imperialism and of hostility to the Soviet Union."

The party's newspaper, the London Daily Herald, disclosed the new dissension last night by publishing Party Secretary Morgan Phillips's reply to a pamphlet reported to have been circulated confidentially among party divisions, trade unions and members of Parliament by the Labor Action in Spelthorne, Middlesex, London suburb.

Quoted excerpts from the pamphlet, speaking of a "Churchill policy" and demanding modification, said that an "Anglo-American line-up" had made the United Nations "a political weapon against . . . the Soviet Union" and urged "co-operation with the Soviet Union and the new democratic states of Europe" to "encourage the American people themselves to face up to their giant trusts and monopolies."

In reply, Phillips declared that the Government stood for the United Nations and in the United Nations usually had found a "formula to unite both American and British views." He added: "We do not propose to join a Soviet bloc or even to form a bloc of our own."

Last month, 58 Labor members of Parliament questioned the Government's foreign policy and, after debate, the Government won a vote of confidence on the subject.

Cut in Domestic Quota Of Scotch Is Sought

EDINBURGH, Scotland, Dec. 17 (AP).—The Scotch Whisky Association said today that it has recommended a 10 per cent cut in the quantity of spirits released for domestic consumption in 1947.

No mention was made of cutting whisky exports, but the statement, issued after a meeting of the association here last night, noted that all stocks were "dangerously low."

Whisky in Britain is rationed unofficially by most package stores, sold on a "when-we've-got-it" basis at the bars and obtainable at very high prices in the black market.

Seek to Flee Troopship

GLASGOW, Scotland, Dec. 17 (AP).Twelve British soldiers, shouting "We want Christmas at home," scuffled with military police on a gangplank tonight in an attempt to flee from the liner Eastern Prince a few minutes before the troop ship sailed for the Orient. Seven of the group got ashore and were moved to a detention camp. The others were pushed back aboard and sailed with the ship. No one was injured.

A few hours earlier 500 troops staged a "sit down" on the pier. Officers persuaded most of them to get aboard, but five stayed ashore. An army spokesman said the five men convinced their superiors they had twenty-eight days' leave due them.

Ulster Frees 14 Prisoners

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Dec. 17 (AP)—The release of fourteen prisoners, convicted of the illegal possession of firearms during the war, was announced today by the Minister of Home Affairs, John E. Warnock. All were sentenced while under twenty-one years of age. Some admitted membership in the illegal Irish Republican Army. "No question of a general amnesty can be considered at present," Mr. Warnock said.

BLUM RECEIVES APPROVAL VOTE

J. Goldberg

PARIS, Dec. 17. — (AP) President-Premier Leon Blum's all-Socialist interim government received an overwhelming vote of approval tonight from the French National Assembly.

With only a minimum of friction between the Communists and the Popular Republican Movement (MRP), the assembly voted 544 to 2 to seat Blum's cabinet, which will remain in office until the latter part of January when a regular government is constituted.

The new cabinet, first under the constitution of France's Fourth Republic, planned to go to work tomorrow on a new budget for the first three months of 1947.

Facing the Compromise

The Communist party and the Centerist MRP—the two strongest political factions in France—combined in the grand compromise which gave approval to the government composed entirely of Socialists, the third ranking party which has less than 100 members in the 600-odd-member assembly.

Before the vote, Blum was warmly applauded by the assembly during a speech in which he promised that his government would "keep our friendships carefully" with other nations.

The three-time premier warned that France must expect to make "sacrifices" and "severe economies," and reiterated the stand of previous administrations for international control of the Ruhr and Rhineland, and French control of the Saar.

The 74-year-old Socialist said that "Republican liberty would run no risk" during the five-week tenure of his government, but added that he and his ministers were convinced that Europe was "evolving toward a controlled economy."

Blum's Cabinet Is Confirmed

J. Goldberg

Paris, Dec. 17 (AP)—The French National Assembly confirmed Premier Leon Blum's all-Socialist Cabinet today to head a five-week caretaker Government. The vote was 580 to 16.

The Cabinet announced it would hold its first session tomorrow, with the financial situation as its chief concern.

Blum will also serve as President and Foreign Minister of the interim regime. In a speech presenting his Cabinet to the Assembly for approval, he warned France of sacrifices and "severe economies" to come.

Both the Left and Center benches applauded the 74-year-old third-time Premier as he made the traditional "ministerial declaration."

"To Keep Up Friendships"

In foreign affairs, Blum said his Government would "keep up our friendships carefully" during the five weeks it would hold office.

He reiterated the stand of previous administrations for international control of the Ruhr and Rhineland and French control of the Saar.

Blum admitted that his dwindling party was assuming "principal responsibility for measures whose unpopularity will doubtless be felt before their beneficial effects." He promised, however, that all economies as well as available resources would be "divided in full democratic equity."

Will Respect Rules

"The rules will be vigorously respected," he said. "Republican liberty will run no risk at our hands. We are a Socialist Government. We are convinced that Europe at present is evolving toward a controlled economy."

Blum, whom the Assembly chose premier-president last Thursday, picked the Cabinet from his own party yesterday after failing to bring together Communists and Centrist-Rightist parties in a national union government.

Blum's action followed initial Communist opposition to inclusion of extreme Right elements in the Cabinet and disapproval by the Popular Republican Movement (MRP) and Leftist rally of a Communist demand for the Ministry of Defense. In announcing his decision, Blum said he had acted to save France from a perilous situation.

He reduced the portfolios from 24 to 17, eliminating the Food Ministry, for one. He himself took over Foreign Affairs. Others appointed included old-time Socialists, resistance workers, a banker, a woman and a Senegalese.

CENSORS MAKE GOOD AS MAKERS OF LACE

PARIS—(AP) Romanian subscribers of the Parish newspaper Combat won't get their paper anymore, as a result of too much cutting by the Groza government censors.

Combat said that after the censors had cut out all the "subversive" editorials, subscribers were receiving "lace rather than a paper" and, it said, postal authorities complained that delivery of "lace" was causing them too much headache.

GERMAN GROUP CLEARS MAESTRO OF NAZI TINGE

D. Begun

BERLIN, Dec. 17—(AP) Wilhelm Furtwaengler, Germany's No. 1 orchestra conductor whom U. S. military government cultural authorities had frowned upon, was acquitted of Nazism tonight by an artists tribunal of his own countrymen.

The denazification tribunal's verdict must be affirmed by Allied authorities before Furtwaengler can resume his career as conductor of the Berlin Philharmonic.

Citing evidence that the eminent musician helped Jewish artists evade the concentration camp and other punishments," the tribunal said Furtwaengler had voluntarily relinquished an honorary title of Prussian state councilor to Hermann Goering in 1934, a year after Hitler's seizure of power, and afterwards had avoided lending his prestige to Nazi functions.

Conductor Cleared By Reich Court

Berlin, Dec. 17 (AP)—Wilhelm Furtwaengler, leading German conductor, was cleared tonight by a de-nazification tribunal of his own countrymen of charges that he voluntarily aided the Nazis. The verdict will require Allied confirmation, however, before Furtwaengler can resume his musical career here.

The musician was defended by three Jews, who testified that Furtwaengler once risked his life to shield them from Nazi persecution.

In an impassioned final statement which was loudly applauded in the crowded courtroom, Furtwaengler declared "Art must stand above politics." He said he chose to remain in Hitler's Germany instead of emigrating as a "hero" because he wanted to show the world that not all Germans were Nazis.

Furtwaengler, who voluntarily returned from Switzerland in an attempt to clear his name from the Allied black list, was acclaimed as a savior by Paul Herzberg, former operatic director, and two members of the Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra.

DACHAU VICTIMS TELL OF TORTURES BY DEATH DOCTORS

T. Reedy

NUERNBERG, Germany, Dec. 17 —(AP) A tailor at the Dachau concentration camp was delivered into the hands of Nazi "death doctors" for experimentation because he refused to make a suit for an Elite guardsman, the War Crimes Tribunal was told today.

The testimony was given by Walter Neff, himself held as a possible war criminal, in the trial before a United States military court of 23 Nazi physicians charged with practicing cruelties on human beings under the guise of science.

Neff, a German, was an inmate at Dachau, but later became a police officer and male nurse associated with doctors who performed experiments on the human guinea pigs.

He said [illegible] for one of the defendants, Hans Romberg, after first identifying him as the man who brought to Dachau a pressure chamber used to determine how long humans could survive at high altitudes without oxygen.

Neff said that Romberg, on learning that the Elite guardsman had selected the tailor for the high altitude experiments, had intervened on grounds that only those condemned to death were to be subjected to the frequently fatal tests.

Neff described what the camp called "Action 13"—a directive under which about 5,000 invalids in the camp were told they were to be given lighter work, but actually were liquidated, he said.

Still other prisoners, the witness said, were instructed to report to the dentist for dental work, "but in reality that was intended only to find out if they had gold in their teeth."

They lost the gold along with their lives, he added.

Wilhelm Stoehr, German politican, testified that he saw Nazi doctors inject pus into 40 clergymen at Dachau to observe their reaction, and that some of the ministers died. He said the physicians were seeking a cure for an inflammatory disease then prevalent at the c[illegible]

SAYS NAZI DOCTORS POISONED CLERICS

Nuernberg, Dec. 17 (A. P.)—A German legislator testified today that he saw SS doctors inject poison into forty clergymen prisoners at Dachau to watch their reactions, and that some of the victims died. Heinrich Wilhelm Stoehr, 42 years old, a Social Democratic deputy in the Bavarian Legislature, was witness at the trial of twenty-three Nazi physicians charged with experimenting on human beings.

He said that he was imprisoned in 1934 because he was a political opponent of the Nazis, that the doctors used him as a male nurse, and that he was finally liberated by French troops at Dachau in 1945. He said he stood outside the surgical ward and watched the doctors inject pus into priests and ministers. They were seeking a cure for an inflammatory disease superinduced by a shortage of water in the camp, he added.

Berlin, Dec. 17 (A. P.).—A German appeals board has refused clemency to two Nazi women under sentence to be hanged for putting to death hundreds of asylum and hospital patients during the Nazi regime, it was announced today. The women are Dr. Hilde Wernicke, physician, and Helene Wieczorek, a nurse.

They were convicted of killing patients at the Meseritz-Obrawalde Sanitarium, in Posen, with injections.

DURANT ACCUSES ARMY PROSECUTOR

Frankfurt, Dec. 17 (A. P.).—Counsel for Col. Jack W. Durant today challenged prosecution's assertion that Durant married the former Wac captain, Kathleen Nash, "to seal her mouth," and asked the military court to strike the statement from the record of his trial on charges of participating in the theft of the $1,500,000 Hessian royal family jewels. Major Joseph Bryan of Middleport, Ohio, declared that the prosecutor, Major Joseph Robinson, made such an assertion "solely to prejudice the court."

Ruling that the assertion would not be considered as evidence unless proved, the court denied the motion to strike it out. The defence then asked a ten-day continuance to obtain evidence to combat that and other "new issues" it said had been raised. Without ruling directly on that request the overcoated court recessed indefinitely until more heat could be obtained in the chilly court room.

Robinson, in his opening statement yesterday, said that Durant's marriage to the Wac captain, later convicted of participation in the jewel theft, was designed to prevent her from testifying against him, under the rule of law that a wife cannot be made to testify against her husband.

4 GREEKS WILL GO TO BATTLE ZONES

Prepare To Leave Athens After Bulgar Village Reports

J.S. Chabales

Athens, Dec. 17 (AP)—Four high Greek officials prepared to leave by destroyer for an on-the-spot investigation of fighting in turbulent Macedonia and western Thrace following press dispatches today which reported sounds of battle in a Bulgarian village just over the Greek border.

NIGHT

The press dispatches said 33 guerrillas were killed in three different fights in the Greek bulge between Turkey and Bulgaria, and added without explanation that the Bulgarian village of Ortakio, whence came the sounds of shooting, was aflame.

Dispatches from Komotine, army headquarters in western Thrace, said twenty guerrillas were killed in a fourteen-hour combat in the snow-covered mountains near the Bulgarian frontier at the village of Tryphyli.

Nine Slain In Another Clash

Nine more guerrillas were slain in an engagement between Didymoteikhon and Souphli on the Turkish frontier, and four killed in a fight between Didymoteikhon and Orestias to the north.

The dispatches said a large number of guerrillas were killed and captured but did not give the troop losses. Some prisoners were quoted as saying they had been trained at the Buljkes camp in Yugoslavia.

Stylianos Gonatas, acting Prime Minister in the absence of Constantin Tsaldaris, who is presenting Greece's case to the United Nations in New York; Constantine Kalkanis, Minister of Public Order; Dimetrious Londos, Navy Minister, and Gen John Spiliotopoulos, chief of the general staff, were to leave tomorrow on a destroyer for visits to Volos, Salonika, Kavalla and Alexandroupolis to make a personal inspection of the violence-ridden areas.

12 Captured On Olympus

Twelve men and women members of a band on Mount Olympus were reported captured in actions elsewhere. Guerrillas captured seventeen Government supply trucks in a mountain pass west of Trikkala and Karditsa, but thirteen were recaptured after a struggle.

Water tanks at a railway station west of Salonika were blown up by another band.

An Associated Press dispatch from Salonika reported that there was an upswing in the number of guerrillas surrendering in order to come under the December 21 deadline of the Government's offer of amnesty.

Leaflets dropped by plane in western Thrace said: "To Greeks led astray: Leave the Bulgarians and their agents and return to Greece and your homes."

Eighty-three voluntarily surrendered in the last 48 hours, the dispatch said. Some were reported suffering greatly from cold and lack of food.

Trikkala and Karditsa, were reported captured in a battle, but thirteen were lost in a subsequent engagement.

Earlier, a Salonika dispatch said British 6th Airborne troops had appeared on the streets of Kavalla, heavily garrisoned tobacco seaport on the Aegean northeast of Salonika. It quoted British authorities as saying that the troops, veterans of fighting in Palestine, were "advance units" slated to replace Scottish troops ready for demobilization.

Greek Battle Said To Have Set Bulgar Town Afire

J.S. Chabales

Athens, Dec. 17 (AP)—The Bulgarian village of Ortakio, just across the Greek border, was reported afire today in one of three battles around the Greek bulge between Turkey and Bulgaria. Newspapers said at least 33 guerrilla foes of the Athens Government had been killed.

Dispatches said battle sounds could be heard from the Ortakio region. Unconfirmed reports told of widespread fighting in the area, but the full extent was not known here. The smoke from the blazing village, however, was declared clearly seen from Greece.

Fight Reported Through Hours

Twenty guerrillas were reported killed in a 14-hour battle in the snow-clad mountains near the Greek village of Trifyllion, at the Bulgarian frontier.

Army headquarters at Komotini said another battle took place north and south of Didimotikon and around Souphli, where nine insurgents were killed, six were wounded and ten captured.

DAY

Greek Army losses were not reported. Some of the "large number" of guerrillas reported captured said they had been trained in a camp at Buljkes, Yugoslavia, for action against Greece, press reports said.

Investigation Slated

Acting Premier Stylianos Gonatas, Minister of Public Order Constantine Kalkanis, Navy Minister Dimitrios Londos and Gen. John Spiliotopoulous, chief of the general staff, were to leave tomorrow aboard a destroyer to investigate conditions in Macedonia and Western Thrace, scenes of the heaviest engagements.

A press dispatch reported seven men and five women members of an irregular band were captured on Mount Olympus. Seventeen supply trucks going through [illegible] Pass in the Agrapaha Mountains west of

4 Nazis Deny Blame In Polish Executions

Warsaw, Dec. 17 (AP)—Four former Nazi chieftains of Warsaw pleaded innocent today before the Supreme National Tribunal to charges that they were responsible for the mass executions of Poles and the destruction of the capital.

All four, Ludwig Fischer, Warsaw's governor from 1939 through 1944; Max Daume, police colonel; Joseph Meisinger, Gestapo chief, and Ludwig Leisz, civil guard captain, stonily maintained they were "not guilty."

NIGHT

There was laughter in the courtroom when Fischer told the tribunal that he was "deeply shocked at the destruction of Warsaw because I am a Warsaw patriot."

Fischer and Meisinger are charged with responsibility for the massacre of more than half a million Jews in Warsaw's ghetto.

Pole-Massacre Trial Of Four Nazis Opens

Warsaw, Dec. 17 (AP)—The Supreme National Tribunal called four former Nazi officials to trial today on charges connected with the mass execution of Poles and Jews and the destruction of Warsaw.

DAY

The four are Ludwig Fischer, governor of Warsaw from 1939 through 1944; Max Daume, police colonel; Joseph Meisinger, Gestapo chief, and Ludwig Leisz, civil guard captain. The prosecution was expected to ask their execution.

Observers included Brig. Gen. Telford Taylor, United States Nuernberg prosecutor.

Fischer, 41, and Meisinger are charged with perpetrating the massacre of about half a million Jews in the Warsaw ghetto during the 1943 Jewish insurrection and the subsequent Warsaw insurrection. Daume, returned here from England, is accused of executing 107 Poles in suburban Wawer

POLES EXTEND TIME FOR NATIONALIZATION

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—The Polish government is expected to grant further extension of time to foreign interests for the presentation of claims for compensation in connection with Poland's nationalization of basic industries.

Nov. 30 had been set as the deadline for the filing of claims, but the newspaper Glos Ludu said that "it will not be possible to complete all the work connected with the nationalization of industry by Dec. 31, 1946, the date provided for in the law nationalizing industry."

The journal added recommendations had been submitted to the council of ministers proposing amendments to the nationalization law and providing that the publication of lists of industries to be taken over by the state be extended to March 31, 1947.

POLAND'S FUTURE SEEN AS 'UP IN THE AIR'

WARSAW, Poland — (AP)—Poland's three-year economic reconstruction plan envisions broad development in the field of commercial aviation.

A third airport serving international commercial airlines is planned in addition to those now operating at Okecie near Warsaw and Wrzeszcz near Gdansk.

Polish passenger planes are expected to number 49 in regular service by 1949. Nine airplane factories are contemplated. The construction of 650 sports aircraft is expected to be carried out during the next three years.

POLES TO TRY FORMER CONQUERORS OF NATION

KATOWICE, Poland—(AP) Another transport of German war criminals returned from Allied zones of occupation in Germany has arrived in Katowice.

Included in 145 prisoners to face trial before Polish tribunals were Erich Brandl, adjutant to the German wartime governor for Krakow and Lublin, accused of murdering and deporting thousands of Poles; Luisa Buch, charged with crimes against Poles at the Ravensbruck concentration camp; Hans Burghardt, described as a German hangman; Dr. Alfred Kleindienst, accused murdering Polish physicians, and General Walter Von Stein, formerly associated with the German administration of Gdansk (Danzig).

Zionists Suspend U. S. Group

U.N. Memorandum and Jewish Underground Proclamation Bring Reaction.

Basle, Dec. 17 (A.P.).—Dr. Lot Lauterbach, head of the organization department of the World Zionist Congress, announced today that [illegible] of the Executive of the United Zionist Revisionists in America had been suspended.

In a prepared statement, Lauterbach said the suspension was made pending the final verdict of the court of honor in the case of six American Revisionist delegates here whose rights to participate in the congress proceedings is under review.

Basis Of Charges

He declared the suspension of the executive in America was based on two alleged documents:

1. A memorandum to the United Nations secretariat asking the United Nations Assembly to take up the Palestine question.

2. A proclamation calling for funds in the name of the "Jewish Resistance," which, according to the proclamation, should be the only one to collect funds for active fighters of the underground "Jewish heroes."

Both the memorandum and the proclamation were breaches of discipline of the Zionist organization, the court of honor held, but the delegates here disavowed participation in the statement. The six delegates involved are gathering additional evidence for their defense.

Congress In Recess

Meanwhile, the congress, after a week's debate on the principal issues—whether to attend the Palestine conference in London and, if so, whether to consider the partition of Palestine—was in recess. Various committees went to work.

An authorized spokesman of the congress said today Dr. Chaim Weizmann, of London, now had a majority in favor of Weizmann's re-election as president of the organization.

The presidential election is expected in about five days, with Weizmann and Rabbi A. H. Silver, of Cleveland, Ohio, running.

The spokesman said he had been asked to make the statement after he said yesterday that Weizman did not have a majority, but that no opposing candidate had, either.

Sweden Accepts Pact on Assets

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 17 (AP).—The Washington agreement between the Allies and Sweden concerning German assets in Sweden was accepted by both houses of Parliament today. The acceptance means the Swedish government is empowered to set the time when the agreement becomes effective.

Turkish Army Cracks Down in Anti-Red Drive

By Freeman

New Bans Seen as Evidence of a Changing Attitude Toward the Soviet Union

Istanbul, Dec. 17 (AP)—The Turkish Army padlocked eight publications in Istanbul today, prohibited the printing and distribution of organs of a "communistic" nature and outlawed branches of two new political parties it described as "directed in a camouflaged manner by Communists and people having extremist Communist tendencies."

One usually reliable source described the actions as a "small purge" and said they might be considered a warning that the Turkish Government was ready to resist any "subversive movements."

Documents Seized

DAY

Observers in Istanbul were struck by the strong wording of the army communiqué announcing the swift steps and were quick to note that they coincided with a rise of anti-Communist sentiment in Iran, just to the east of Turkey, and other events regarded here as possible harbingers of a changing attitude toward Soviet Russia.

Unconfirmed reports said persons of alleged radical tendencies had been arrested and numerous documents seized as secret police and the military descended on suspected establishments.

The steps were taken by the commandant of the state of siege zone, which embraces the Istanbul area and extends north and west through Thrace to the Bulgarian and Greek frontiers.

The military, under the state of siege, has full authority to seal any publication it considers harmful to the security or tranquillity of the public. The state of siege, already in force here for three years, was recently renewed for another six months.

Outlawed Parties

The two new political parties, branches of which were outlawed in the state of siege zone, were the Workers and Peasants Socialist party and the Turkish Socialist party.

Suspended indefinitely by the Army were the political magazines Sendika, Ses, Gun, Yigin and Dost, and the Armenian newspaper Nor-Or.

The morning newspaper Yarin was suspended for four months on a charge that one of its articles "spread propaganda to destroy the political and juridical order of the country."

Reactionary Ideas

The weekly magazine Buyuk Dogu was suspended for a like period because, the communiqué said, "for its reactionary ideas it has been judged harmful to security."

"It is forbidden to bring into the villayets (provinces) which are in the zone of the state of siege any kind of publications of communistic propaganda, as well as to print or sell them," the communiqué concluded.

Informed sources said a military court had already begun an investigation and would examine all seized documents.

JEWS IN PALESTINE OBSERVE HANUKKAH

JERUSALEM, Dec. 17. — (AP) Peace prevailed throughout the Holy Land today as Jews began celebration of their ancient holiday of Hanukkah, an eight-day period of feasting and merrymaking which ends on Christmas eve.

Traditionally, eight-pronged candelabra are placed in shop windows. One candle in each set of eight was lighted tonight, and an additional candle will be lighted each successive night as the holiday progresses. The celebration marks a victory over the Syrians nearly 200 years before Christ.

CHINA EXTENDS SHIPPING CURB

Yenan Official Takes Gloomy View Of Marshall's Efforts

Shanghai, Dec. 17 (AP)—China's fitful economic and political efforts were marked today by these developments:

1. A report of extraordinary Government controls on foreign shipping, interpreted by shippers here as further hampering an already crippled export trade.

2. An interview in Yenan, capital city of the Chinese Communists, in which a Red leader took a gloomy view of a year of work by the United States Gen. George C. Marshall toward mediating China's internal differences.

3. More inconclusive skirmishes, this time in the vicinity of Peiping, with one town changing hands twice in four hours.

Shanghai

In an apparent effort to channel all imports and exports through Shanghai, the Government was reported to have issued an order at Nanking barring foreign ships from loading or unloading cargo at the North China ports of Tsingtao and Chinwangtao.

In Yenan, Lin Tzu-han, who at one time was Minister of Finance in the Chiang Kai-shek Government but now is a member of the Chinese Communist Politbureau, granted John Roderick, of the Associated Press, an exclusive interview in which he took a gloomy view.

Lin, chairman of the Yenan border region government, said it is "very regrettable that General Marshall, who has already been in conference for a year, has not been able to carry out President Truman's statement (of China policy) on December 15 of last year and the resolutions on China problems reached in the foreign ministers' conference in Moscow."

"Relies On Chinese People"

But Lin, when asked flatly if his faction was "prepared to establish a central government in opposition to Nanking now or in the future," sidestepped by saying "the Chinese Communist party relies on the Chinese people." He even said that "if Chiang should decide to carry out democracy, even we will not hesitate to co-operate with him."

On the fighting side, Communists of the 8th Route Army captured Yufa, 27 miles south of Peiping in a night attack, but four hours later Government troops from a near-by garrison rushed the village and got it back.

Clashes Near Peiping

PEIPING, China, Dec. 17 (AP)—Chinese Communists, increasing their pressure in the Peiping area, captured Yufa, twenty-seven miles south, but Government forces recaptured it only four hours later, the Government reported today.

Other Communist troops, penetrating closer to Peiping, reached Changhsintien, fifteen miles southwest, and at one point to the north were within seven miles of this city.

However, a threat from the west was eliminated when the Government captured Miaofengshan, a Communist stronghold twenty miles away.

Meantime, 2,000 Communists, pushing toward Paoting, the Hopeh Province capital ninety miles south of here, attacked Government soldiers within six miles of the city. Fighting continued.

The Chinese press reported without confirmation that skirmishes continued south of the Sungari River, dividing line between Government and Communist forces in Manchuria.

French-Chinese Air Accord

NANKING, Dec. 17 (AP)—China announced today the signing of an agreement providing that France may operate in the air between any point in Indo-China and Shanghai and that a Chinese company (presumably the Chinese National Airways) may operate from any point in China to Saigon.

Secrecy In Malayan Parleys Protested

Singapore, Dec. 17 (AP)—Britain, nearing agreement with Malay Sultans on a proposed federation to replace the Malayan Union, was reported today to have met new opposition from other elements in the Malay, Chinese, Indian and Ceylonese communities.

The new Singapore Council of Joint Action, representing eight ethnic, political and labor groups, has cabled Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones that it opposes anything worked out in secret meetings of the British with the Sultans and the Right-wing Union Malay Nationalist Organization.

India Assembly Is Expected to Vote a Republic

Nehru Resolution Passage Predicted Despite Fears It Will Lead to Civil War

NEW DELHI, Dec. 17 (AP).—All-India Congress (Nationalist party) sources predicted today that the Constituent Assembly will pass without amendment a resolution for the creation of a sovereign Indian republic, despite assertions by some assemblymen that such action might lead to civil war.

Immediate passage of the resolution, drafted by Jawaharlal Nehru, Congress party leader, was opposed on the Assembly floor today by Frank Anthony, president of the Anglo-Indian community, and Dr. Bhim Rao Ambedkar, leader of the Untouchables.

Both said that approval of the measure at this time would have the effect of slamming the door of the Assembly on the Moslem League, which to date has boycotted the Assembly on grounds that the Congress party was planning to torpedo Moslem demands for home rule.

Would Keep League Out

"This resolution of Nehru's is bound to have the effect of keeping the Moslem League out," said Dr. Ambedkar.

The only way to resolve the differences between the Moslem League and the Congress party is through negotiations, he added, and the alternative is an open war.

"If war comes in this country and that war has any relation to the issue with which we are confronted today, it will not be a war on the British, but on the Moslems," Dr. Ambedkar said. "Probably worse, it will be a war on the British and Moslems combined."

The possibility of war also was raised by U Saw, former Premier of Burma, who said in Calcutta that "whether there will be a civil war in India is for Indians to decide, not for foreigners."

Urges Held From U.S.

U Saw (the "U" means reverend sir), a member of the Burmese interim government, urged the United States, as the "leader of democratic countries of the world," to help other nations attain freedom and show the way to world-wide democracy.

The Burmese leader was released last January by the British after having been in custody for four years on charges of conspiring with the Japanese.

Although India officially is at peace, communal fighting between Moslems and Hindus this year has resulted in thousands of deaths.

Five thousand persons were killed in Calcutta alone last August, and the year's death toll in Bombay is approaching 1,000. No accurate figures are available for smaller communities.

Britain has not announced how many troops she still has left in India, but sources in Bombay said they believed the number was somewhat less than 50,000.

Hyderabad Voting For First Time

Bombay, Dec. 17 (AP)—For the first time in history, residents of the vast Indian state of Hyderabad, which has been ruled for centuries by a powerful Moslem Nizam, voted today for members of a legislative assembly.

Hyderabad, largest native state in India, has a population of more than 12,000,000, of which 350,000 are eligible to vote. The election, which will continue for four days, has been boycotted by the predominantly Hindu Congress party, and some Hindu shops were reported closed in protest against the voting.

MORE SEEK DELAY ON INDIA FREEDOM

New Delhi, Dec. 17 (AP)—Two members of India's Constituent Assembly today rallied to the support of a proposal that further consideration of Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru's resolution for creation of a sovereign, independent republic of India be postponed until the Moslem League and the Indian states abandon their boycott of the Assembly.

Frank Anthony, president of the Anglo-Indian Community, who was elected to the Assembly on the Congress party ticket, and Dr. Bhim Rao Ambedkar, leader of the scheduled castes, backed yesterday's proposal for delay made by Dr. Mukund Ramrao Jayakar.

"Could Bring War"

"This resolution of Nehru's is bound to have the result of keeping the Moslem League out," said Dr. Ambedkar. This, he said, could lead to war.

"If war comes in this country and that was has any relation to the issue with which we are confronted today, it will not be a war on the British but on the Moslems," he continued, adding that perhaps it "will be a war against the British and Moslems combined."

Despite the proposal for delay and 47 proposed amendments to Nehru's resolution, Congress party sources hinted that they expected the resolution to pass as it stands. More than twenty members had asked permission to speak on the resolution and amendments before the Assembly recessed until tomorrow.

[Dispatches from Bombay last night said Nehru had denied a story published earlier in the Times of India quoting him as saying in a Benares speech that "in two or three days' time India is to declare herself out of the British Empire."]

Meanwhile, Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, head of India's United Nations delegation, denied published reports quoting her as saying in a Karachi speech Sunday that the British had disapproved of her association with Russian delegates and that she was "shadowed" during her stay in New York.

"That statement is something I never said and never implied," she said. "There was nothing in my Karachi speech to convey that impression."

[The Karachi report denied by Mrs. Pandit was not carried by the Associated Press.]

Pacific Mergers Point Up Army, Navy Friction

Honolulu, Dec. 17 (AP)—President Truman's announcement of a revised army and navy command setup served today to clarify a troublesome source of friction that has existed between the services in the Pacific area for months.

In effect, the new command arrangement for the Middle Pacific largely re-establishes and redefines the authority which the commander in chief, Pacific Fleet, held there prior to 1945. It gives the Navy operational command of the Army in Hawaii and limits General MacArthur's command over the Army in the Central Pacific.

Navy Seeks Change

Several [illegible] a high navy officer here expressed the opinion that an "intolerable" situation existed in the Pacific command. The Navy felt that it had responsibility in the Central Pacific without authority to carry out its mission.

"The commander in chief, Pacific Fleet, is charged with the defense of Hawaii and the Central Pacific," this officer said, "though he has no operational control over either the Army ground forces or air forces."

A presidential directive in 1942 gave General MacArthur command of fleet and army forces in the Southwest Pacific, and Admiral Nimitz top command in the Central Pacific.

Army Stressed 1945 Order

In 1945 a new directive placed all army forces in the Pacific under MacArthur's command. All naval units in the Pacific, except 7th Fleet, were placed under Nimitz's command.

The Navy contended that this 1945 directive was merely to facilitate the invasion of Japan, and not intended as a permanent arrangement.

The Army pointed out that the 1945 directive superseded the 1942 order, and that operational command did not revert to the Navy after Japan's surrender.

Wrangle At Home Unsettled

Washington, Dec. 17 (AP)—The Army and Navy agreed today on unified command for armed forces abroad but left unsettled the wrangle over merger at home.

The House Military Committee proposed that permanent legal status be given to the National Intelligence Authority established by President Truman last January.

The overseas merger was variously interpreted by those interested in the service-unification argument.

Maj. Gen. William H. Arnold, deputy chief of staff for operations and planning in the Army, said that "this is the closest approximation you could get without having unification" of the two departments.

In Navy quarters, the JCS agreement was not viewed as promoting the Army's case, and, as a matter of fact, the new arrangement was largely the result of Navy effort.

Under the new system the seven commands will be:

Far East, MacArthur; European, Gen. Joseph T. McNarney; Pacific, Admiral John H. Towers; Alaskan, Maj. Gen. H. A. Craig; Northeast, commander to be named; Atlantic Fleet, Admiral Marc A. Mitscher; Caribbean, Lieut. Gen. Willis D. Crittenberger.

Japs Killed Patients, Raped Nurses, Court Told

Tokyo, Wednesday, Dec. 18 (AP)—The Japanese marked the fall of Hong Kong on Christmas Day, 1941, by slaying the hospital patients and raping the British nurses, a Canadian chaplain told the International War Crimes Tribunal today.

Capt. James Barnett, of Quebec, chaplain of the Canadian Royal Rifles Regiment, testified that Japanese soldiers came to St. Stevens College Hospital early in the morning and began bayoneting all wounded soldiers who were unable to get out of bed. Patients who were able to walk were herded into a room where they were kept until the next day.

Seven nurses were taken away.

The chaplain said four of the nurses told him the next day that they were raped repeatedly during the night. The mutilated bodies of the other three were found in the bushes on the hospital ground.

SAYS JAP OFFICER FLOUTED GENEVA

Tokyo, Dec. 17 (A. P.).—A survivor testfied at the international war crimes trial today that a Japanese officer declared "It is no use quoting the Geneva Convention; the (Burma-Siam) railroad has to be finished within a certain time at all costs, irrespective of the loss of lives of British and Australian prisoners."

State documents introduced as evidence, show that these costs included the death by starvation, torture and disease of 44 per cent of one unit of 7,000 British prisoners of war sent from Singapore. A score of affidavits declare that the prisoners were worked from twelve to twenty hours a day on scant rations of rice and vegetable soup, with an occasional piece of fish; that they were clad in rotten remnants of the clothing they wore when captured fifteen months earlier; that they were subjected to daily beatings, the mildest of which included whacks with rifle butts that splintered bones and bruised the flesh, and that they were kept at night in flooded huts in camps where cholera and dysentery were rampant.

Jap Leftists Hold All-Day Parade Of Protest

mated by the provost marshal at 350,000 to 400,000 shabbily dressed men, women and boys.

It obviously was intended more to impress General MacArthur with their influence than to accomplish its ostensible purpose, to force Premier Yoshida to resign. As anticipated, the Government majority in the House of Representatives defeated, 236 to 160, an accompanying resolution to dissolve the Diet.

MacArthur himself drove through the crowds of demonstrators at the height of the parade. The marchers readily made room for his well known black sedan.

Russ General Joins Spectators

Among spectators was Lieut. Gen. Kuzma Derevyanko, Soviet member of the Four Power Allied Council for Japan. He was afoot and in civilian clothes.

The demonstration was organized openly by Communist party leaders and Left Wingers of the Social Democratic party. It included Communist party cells and numerous labor unions, all identified by flags and banners.

It exceeded in size the May Day gathering at the Imperial Palace that created some tension and skirmishing. That caused MacArthur to denounce "a growing tendency toward mass violence" and to threaten that occupation forces would "control and remedy" any "physical processes of intimidation."

Leaders Avoid Trouble

Today's demonstration was the first sizable parade since. It appeared that left wing leaders were showing their strength but taking the precaution of avoiding trouble.

There were smiles on the faces of some marchers and some policemen. Others were less jovial and it was clear that the leaders could turn on a far different emotion, with dangerous results.

There were no fights or injuries.

There was only one incident. One exhuberant group broke through a fence surrounding the Parliament building, but was shoved back into the street by Japanese police.

G. I. Holidays Cut in Japan

YOKOHAMA, Dec. 17 (AP).—Lieutenant General Robert L. Eichelberger today said holidays for United States occupation troops will be limited to Christmas and New Year's and the afternoon preceding each.

JAPANESE NOTE ISSUE UP

Increases $666,666,667 in Forty Days to $5,362,533,333

TOKYO, Dec. 17 (AP)—The Bank of Japan reported today its note issue, increasing rapidly to meet year-end credit demands and tremendous Government expenditures, totals 80,438,000,000 yen ($5,382,533,333.). The issue increased 10,000,000,000 yen ($666,666,667) in the last forty days.

The bank estimated its December note issue at 12,000,000,000 yen ($800,000,000), of which 7,000,000,000 yen will go for Government expenditures, 2,000,000,000 as bank loans and 3,000,000,000 in underwriting Government bonds.

New Crimes Cloud Manila Appeal

Manila, Dec. 17 (AP)—Violence and crime swept the Philippines today, even as Interior Secretary Zulueta urged a conference of provincial governors and mayors to labor for peace and order.

Military and civilian police reported these crimes:

Six persons—a bandit leader, two policemen, two children and a bus inspector—were killed at Tacloban when an armed band ambushed a police vehicle.

Wrecked Plane Looted

A railroad policeman was killed in central Luzon when ten armed men stopped and searched a train.

MP's were ordered to arrest woodchoppers accused of looting the wreckage of a Philippines airliner that crashed 40 miles southeast of Manila. A survivor said the woodsmen carried off valuables instead of aiding him and the only other survivor of fourteen aboard.

The abductor of Vicente Po, 28-year-old son of a wealthy Chinese merchant, killed his hostage and himself when trapped.

Philippines Purchase Plane for President

Manila, Dc. 17 (A. P.).—The Philippines Government announced today the purchase of a luxuriously fitted C-53 transport plane, formerly used by Lord Mountbatten in his Southeast Asia command, for the use of President Manuel A. Roxas on inspection trips.

The plane contains eight plush seats, four bunks and office and kitchen facilities. The price, $35,000, was a fraction of its original cost.

Acquitted in Priests' Murder

GUAM, Dec. 17 (AP)—A Japanese Navy lieutenant, Ryoji Tomita, was acquitted today by a United States military commission of charges that he murdered two Catholic priests on Mille atoll in the Gilbert Islands Nov. 25, 1942, during the Japanese occupation.

U.S. Writer And Peron

Buenos Aires, Dec. 17 (AP)—The social-order section of the Buenos Aires police withdrew today the special credentials given to Frank L. Kluckhorn, New York Times correspondent, at the behest of President Juan D. Perón soon after the writer arrived in January.

Another less-privileged set of credentials was offered him.

Kluckhorn has been criticized by administration newspapers among the Buenos Aires press and by officials for his dispatches concerning the policies of Perón.

A summons was served on Kluckhorn this morning at his home and specified that the investigating section of the police wanted him "in connection with a piece of information." He was asked no questions, however. Instead, he was requested to show his special credentials and was informed that they were "worthless."

New Credentials Promised

The authorities then told Kluckhorn new credentials would be offered him by the identification section.

Although supporters of Perón have been among the Argentine newspapers which have been demanding his expulsion, an informed source said the President had assured George Messersmith, United States Ambassador, personally that no Argentine official would do anything to interfere with Kluckhohn's work in this country.

Kluckhohn declined to comment on the case.

He had not yet received the new credentials promised him by police. However, he still has the regular type of credentials issued by the subsecretariat of information, the same as those carried by other newspapermen.

Expulsion Demanded

Kluckhohn, who is 39 and a native of St. Paul, Minn., has been under fire on several occasions from persons identified with the administration of President Perón.

The Buenos Aires newspaper El Lider, which has close ties with Angel Borlenghi, Interior Minister, December 3 demanded Kluckhohn's expulsion from Argentina for what the paper called a "grotesque attack" in an article on Perón. At that time El Lider published Kluckhohn's picture, "so people can know him," but warned readers against a physical attack on the correspondent.

Canada O.K.'s 10% Rise In Price Of New Autos

Ottawa, Dec. 17 (AP)—A ten-per-cent increase in the consumer price of new Canadian-made passenger automobiles and a seven-per-cent boost in the price of commercial vehicles, effective tomorrow, were announced today by the Prices Board.

Permission for the increases was granted, the board said, because of higher prices being paid currently for essential imported parts and "substantially higher costs of both domestic labor and materials."

The companies who are permitted to make adjustments in prices are the Ford Motor Company of Canada, General Motors of Canada and the Chrysler Company of Canada.

The board said the increase was allowed following demonstrators by the three companies of the effect of higher production costs.

BYRNES' FOREIGN POLICIES BACKED BY VANDENBERG

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17—(AP)—Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich), who is expected to head the important Senate foreign relations committee in the new congress, today pledged his continued support to Secretary of State Byrnes in maintaining united postwar foreign policies.

Returning to capitol hill after the long, historic world parleys in New York where he was a Byrnes adviser, Vandenberg declared the secretary of state "has made a superb record in the face of tremendous obstacles" and has "accomplished incalculably valuable results for America and for a safer, happier world."

Byrnes Confers With U. N.

From Byrnes himself came praise for the work of the United Nations assembly and Big Foreign Ministers as having furnished reason for happiness, rejoicing and optimism.

The meetings, which reflected somewhat greater harmony between east and west, inspired the secretary to tell a news conference that he shared optimism already expressed by British Foreign Secretary Bevin and Russian Foreign Commissar Molotov.

Vandenberg, talking to a separate news conference, described the General Assembly as "the major organ of the United Nations." He said it truly is "the town meeting of the world."

In a statement, the Republican senate leader declared that foundations for United, American postwar foreign policy "are now soundly established." For two years, he said, he had sought that end in devoting practically all his time to the diplomatic front.

"I shall continue to do everything within my power to cooperate in maintaining the United, American foreign policy which has been established in respect to the peace settlements in Europe, and in establishing collective security and justice through the United Nations," the Vandenberg statement said.

"I consider it vital to our own national interest.

"I continue to support Secretary of State Byrnes in these policies."

Vandenberg said he expected now to be able to return to his senate labors without serious interruption, but that he would be available for any further assignments that President Truman or Byrnes deemed essential. He indicatad to reporters he would be willing to participate in the main program of the next Foreign Ministers Meeting in Moscow—but not the "entire routine."

Of course, Byrnes said, anyone would know that the agreements reached on the peace treaties in New York do not mean all difficulties have been overcome. But he said it is particularly good that the foreign ministers could appoint deputies to prepare for writing peace treaties with Austria and Germany.

These treaties will be discussed when the foreign ministers assemble in Moscow in March.

Byrnes said he hoped to announce his American deputy soon. And, he said, he certainly intends to ask Senators Connally (D-Tex) and Vandenberg (R-Mich) to accompany him to Moscow. They They have been by his side in the Foreign Ministers Councils in Paris and New York. Byrnes praised their contributions.

While Connally indicated yesterday that he was thinking of stepping out of the role of international negotiater, Byrnes said he hoped the senator only feels tired now and will change his mind later.

BYRNES HAILS MEETINGS HERE AS SUCCESSFUL

Is Especially Glad Work Is Starting on German and Austrian Pacts.

GRINS AT RUMOR HE'LL RESIGN

Denies This Country Has Opposed Socialization of Some Reich Industries.

Washington, Dec. 17 (A. P.).—Secretary of State Byrnes today hailed the achievements of the Big Four Council of Foreign Ministers and the United Nations Assembly as cause for rejoicing.

In his first Washington news conference in nearly two months Byrnes told reporters, however, that the progress made in the international huddles and the progress toward unity which the Big Powers made there do not mean that all the difficulties have been overcome.

Just back from New York and looking fit, he expressed particular pleasure over the Foreign Ministers' agreement to appoint deputies and make a start on getting together on a settlement with Austria and a peace pact for Germany.

The quicker we get a treaty with Austria, the quicker occupation troops can be withdrawn, he pointed out.

9 Other Items Discussed.

Byrnes also:

1. Reviewed Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov's assurance that communications facilities—as adequate as those provided in New York and the previous Foreign Ministers' meeting in Paris—will be made available for correspondents when the Foreign Ministers resume their conferences in Moscow in March.

2. Acknowledged that more than 8,000 applications for immigration visas to this country are being held up in Eire because of lack of office help and space in Dublin. He emphasized that the situation is not unique and said there are similar pile-ups in other parts of the world. He denied specifically that the situation has any connection with charges that Ireland has been harboring Nazis.

3. Said that Italy's application for $100,000,000 from the Export-Import Bank is still under advisement.

4. Reported that it is impossible now to tell whether this country will be able to meet an allocation of 135,000 tons of wheat to Great Britain in December and January, asserting that the result depends on transportation and everything possible will be done.

5. Reported that the White House will issue a statement within a few days reviewing the whole question of food shipments to Europe. This statement will be based on current consultations among State, Commerce and Agriculture chiefs.

Not Opposing Nationalization.

6. Denied published reports that the United States has expressed opposition to British plans for nationalization or socialization of some German industry in its zone of occupation. Byrnes said this country is not opposed to nationalization if the Germans wish to do it by democratic processes.

7. Said he had called George Messersmith, American Ambassador to Argentina, back to Washington for consultation on matters affecting this country's relations with South America. He declined to disclose the exact nature of the projected talks beyond saying that he wants Messersmith's advice. Without prompting, however, he volunteered the statement that Messersmith is not being called home to resign.

8. With a grin, laughed off rumors that he might resign now that peace pacts with Axis satellites have been concluded.

9. Paid tribute to the services of Senator Connally of Texas as an adviser and a representative at the United Nations. He said that he will ask both Connally and Senator Vandenberg (R.-Mich.), his Capitol Hill diplomatic team, to accompany him to Moscow. Connally said yesterday that he thougnt he had done his part. Byrnes expressed the hope that Connally will change his mind.

Naval and Military Committee Merger Is Backed by Mrs. Smith

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17—(AP) Representative Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me) disagreed today with colleagues on the House Naval committee who oppose its consolidation with the Military committee under the congressional reorganization bill.

NIGHT

Opponents of the merger, however, indicated they will push their case, if possible carrying it to the House floor for debate before adoption of House rules for the 80th Congress.

Mrs. Smith made her views known in a letter to representative Cole (R-NY), present ranking minority member of the Naval committee, who circularized Republican members of the new Congress in opposition to merging the two groups.

"I feel," Mrs. Smith wrote, "that there has not been any change in vital aspects and conditions of national security to warrant a reversal of this (merger) provision in the reorganization law. A great majority of Congress voted for this measure and I feel we are honorbound to follow through on the reorganization of Congress and at least give it a fair trial."

Mrs. Smith expressed respect for Cole's "ability and opinions" and regret she could not agree on the advisability of "actively opposing the merger" of the committees.

"I value your views and position and resent the charges that your leadership in opposition to the merging of the committees is prompted by personal desire for chairmanship of the Naval Affairs committee," she wrote.

If the committees remain separated Cole would become chairman under seniority rule. If they are merged the combined committee will be headed by representative Andrews (R-NY).

On Dec. 5 Cole addressed House Republicans urging they join in the anti-merger fight on the contention "such a consolidation is definitely not in the national interest."

Cole's letter was approved by Representatives Bates (R-Mass), Hess (R-Ohio), Anderson (R-Calif) and Towe (R-NJ) of the Naval committee, as well as Representative Elston (R-Ohio) of the Military committee.

Bates, one of the active movers against merger, told a reporter today that every effort will be made to make the issue non-partisan. It is hoped, Bates said, to bring the controversy to the House floor rather than to attempt settlement in the Republican caucus.

"Our opposition was not more vigorous at the time of passage of the reorganization bill," Bates explained, "because Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) was out of the city. He joins with us now in opposing the consolidation."

Vinson, the retiring chairman, agreed in an interview that he is "unalterably against the union."

"One committee just couldn't handle the work," he declared. "If they are merged I'll almost guarantee that within a year the consolidated committee will report back to Congress that it can't cope with the volume of legislation referred to it."

The Georgian cited statistics quoted by Cole that during the last five Congresses the combined work of the two committees "represented from a high of 17.6 per cent in one Congress to a low of 9.6 per cent in another of all the work of the House. The next most active committee during that entire period did 6.1 per cent."

"We Democrats haven't a very big voice now," Vinson commented, "but I shall certainly vote against the merger."

Bates asserted that to merge the committees now would be to "get the cart before the horse." He agreed with Cole that "Congressional committee consolidation should await ultimate legislative action on departmental consolidation."

Joint Chiefs of Staff Leave Merger Row at Home Unsettled.

SEVEN OVERSEAS COMMANDS

New Northeast Area Included—MacArthur Loses Some Domain

—Intelligence Units Joined.

Washington, Dec. 17 (A. P.).—The Army and Navy agreed today on unified command for armed forces abroad, but left unsettled the wrangle over merger at home.

DAY

The Joint Chiefs of Staff, with the bitter experience of Pearl Harbor's dual command in mind, climaxed a long series of negotiations by announcing a plan under which overseas forces will be under the operational command of a single man—Army, Navy or Air as the situation dictates. The plan was approved by President Truman.

The establishment of seven overseas commands among other things whittled away some of the domain of Gen. Douglas MacArthur and put under Navy jurisdiction areas of the Pacific he had controlled. It also re-established some pre-war commands and created a new Northeast Command, its details as yet undisclosed.

Concurrently with the announcement of the single command plan for overseas organizations came a congressional committee recommendation in another field of combined operation.

Intelligence Units Linked.

The House Military Committee proposed that permanent legal status be given to the National Intelligence Authority established by Mr. Truman last January. That agency was created to weave together the intelligence operations of various Government agencies, including the Army's G-2 section, the Navy's Office of Naval Intelligence and units of the State Department which include vestiges of the wartime Office of Strategic Services.

Members of the authority, the committee said, should be the Secretaries of the State, War and Navy Departments or deputies chosen by them for intelligence activities. The three Secretaries, along with a member appointed by the President, were named in the authority as created a year ago.

As a permanent setup, the committee said the agency should get its money directly from Congress and should have complete control of its personnel rather than receive its employees from the three departments.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff plan was variously interpreted by those interested in the service unification argument. Major-Gen. William H. Arnold, deputy chief of staff for operations and planning in the Army, replied to reporters' questions with a statement that "this is the closest approximation you could get without having unification" of the two departments. The Army has urged such a merger; the Navy has opposed it.

Navy Stand Unchanged.

In Navy quarters, the agreement was not viewed as promoting the Army's case.

Those in a position to know the trend of Navy thought said that as a matter of fact the new arrangement was largely the result of Navy effort. They noted that the Navy from the outset of the merger squabble had emphasized the desirability of a unified, single command for operating forces outside the country even while contending that such war-proven procedure was not necessary at home. The Navy argument on this score is that ample facilities exist for co-ordination between the two departments in this country.

The joint Army-Navy announcement last night said that each commander will be responsible for unified planning for defense and, in case of emergency, for the conduct of operations. It was not clear how this unified operational command would function in over-all planning involving other phases of defense and campaigning.

In answer to questions, Arnold said that it was purely an operational command, the responsibility for such things as administration and supplies being retained by the respective commanders of the individual forces in the area.

The unified command system in the field was used universally during the war, but survived V-E and V-J day in only a few areas. These include the zones under control of MacArthur in the Pacific and Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, chief of occupation forces in Europe.

Under the new system the seven commands will be: Far East, MacArthur; European, McNarney; Pacific, Admiral John H. Towers; Alaskan, Major-Gen. H. A. Craig; Northeast, commander to be named; Atlantic Fleet, Admiral Marc A. Mitscher; Caribbean, Lieut.-Gen. Willis D. Crittenberger.

Reduced Navy Held Ready.

Charleston, W. Va., Dec. 17 (A. P.).—"I think we are prepared to meet any emergency that might confront us," Admiral Chester W. Nimitz declared last night in reporting the Navy now is reduced to only one-seventh of its wartime strength.

1946

The Admiral of the Fleet told 650 West Virginia Chamber of Commerce guests that despite the big reduction it probably is more than we need. He added it was good national insurance.

"We look prayerfully to the success of the United Nations," the Admiral continued. "We do not know how it will work out."

Earlier in the day Nimitz and his party flew from Charleston to Beckley in southern West Virginia where he visited the village of Nimitz, named after the Navy leader during the war.

EXPORT PLAN LEADER PICKED

Conway Named To Direct Emergency Program

Washington, Dec. 17 (AP)—President Truman today appointed Capt. Granville Conway to be co-ordinator of emergency export programs.

Under the appointment, Conway, former war shipping administrator, will correlate the work of agencies concerned with export shipments of grain, coal and other products.

Conway, a native of Cambridge, Md., is president of the Cosmopolitan Shipping Company, of New York. He performed a task last year similar to his new post when he was chairman of the interagency committee on export transportation.

Obstacles Termed Different

"Once again," the President wrote Conway in a letter made public by the White House, "we are faced with the problem of achieving large export goals in spite of serious obstacles. These obstacles are different, but no less serious than last year.

"This year, for example, we have a surplus of grain; but the export program will not succeed unless it is given central direction. Whatever the problems, I am determined that our shipments of these critically needed products must be at maximum capacity for the coming months."

Authorized To Use Agencies

In recalling Conway to temporary Government service the President authorized him "to call on all agencies to use their full legal powers to take whatever steps are necessary."

He told Conway that under his leadership last year these agencies "succeeded in carrying out export programs of grain and coal of unprecedented magnitude."

Conway was appointed war shipping administrator last May after serving as deputy and acting administrator since March 28, 1944.

Son Of Sailing Skipper

Son of a sailing vessel captain, and always closely associated with the sea and shipping, Capt. Granville Conway, of Cambridge, Md., appointed yesterday as co-ordinator of emergency export programs, has had experience with shipping problems in two world wars.

During World War I he served with the Shipping Board and Maritime Commission. At the close of that conflict, he held many posts, including that of fleet captain of the reserve fleet division at Norfolk, fleet manager in New London and fleet master of the reserve fleet in New York in 1923.

When the Atlantic Coast district of the War Shipping Administration was set up in April, 1942, Captain Conway was made director. Three months later he was appointed a special expert and special assistant to the Maritime Commission.

Captain Conway was made deputy of the WSA when Lewis Douglas left that post. In January, 1946, he replaced Admiral Land as acting administrator, later to become administrator.

He resigned as head of the war agency last September and since has been living in New York, where he was with the States Marine Company.

HOUSING PLAN GETS GO-AHEAD SIGNAL

Liberalized Permit System for New Houses Goes Into Effect Dec. 24.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17—(AP) The administration's revamped housing program got the go-ahead signal today with an order putting into effect December 24 the liberalized permit system allowing construction of new homes without priorities.

At the same time, Housing Expediter Frank Creedon and the Civilian Production Administration announced that all regulations of both CPA and the National Housing Agency "are being reviewed in the light of the new housing program and some amendments may soon be made in conformance with the President's announced policy."

NIGHT

Decontrol Policy Hit

Amid the controversy over housing methods, the OPA consumer's advisory committee resigned with a parting shot at the administration's decontrol policy. The group declared it was "dismayed at the recent relaxation of many of the controls which appear to be necessary in order to get houses built at anything approaching reasonable prices."

Amplifying the statement, Miss Caroline Ware, Va., chairman of the committee's executive group, said the committee felt that "allocation controls were none too strong" and added that the abandoned $10,000 sale price limit under the former housing program was "already high for the pocketbooks of veterans."

She told a news conference the committee was "particularly concerned that there will be increased diversion of materials" into non-housing construction such as amusement places.

The new program announced by the President removes the $10,000 sales ceiling and allows an adjustment of the $80 monthly rental ceiling for new houses. In addition, the program allows an increase in non-housing construction which had been held at about $35,000,000 per week. Some officials predicted this

HOUSING HEADS PUSH NEW PLAN

Work on Details Despite Wyatt Aid's Attack.

Washington, Dec. 17 (A. P.).—Top housing officials, declining to take notice of the storm of controversy th[illegible]nt Truman's revamped home-building progam had aroused, went into a huddle today to work out specific details.

Housing Expediter Frank R. Creedon and National Housing Administrator Raymond M. Foley of the National Housing Agency met in silence contentions by a retiring deputy and by a C. I. O. official that the new program would curtail the number of new homes for veterans.

Norton E. Long, a deputy administrator under Wilson A. Wyatt, who acted as both expediter and NHA boss, handed reporters a statement in which he challenged the administration "to show how the new program's so-called incentives to encourage rental housing are anything but a fraud perpetrated on veterans for political expediency."

Long Follows Wyatt.

Long resigned yesterday, ten days after Wyatt had quit in protest against what he termed "business-as-usual" methods.

A housing agency spokesman said that Creedon and Foley did not care to "dignify" Long's statement with a reply. Creedon declined to talk to newspaper men about details of the new program, which removes many controls over the building industry and puts added emphasis on rental housing, but he said that he might do so in a day or two.

Fresh industry support for the program came meanwhile from H. R. Northup, secretary-manager of the National Retail Lumber Dealers Association, who contended that rapid construction of new homes had been made practical and possible for the first time since the end of the war.

"If the present trend of decontrol is pushed to a conclusion," Northup said, "the critical shortage of homes can be eliminated by the building industry in 1947."

Expresses Contrary View.

A contrary view was expressed by R. J. Thomas, chairman of the C. I. O.'s housing committee, who declared that Mr. Truman has sounded "the death knell of the veterans' housing program" and that "the ex-G. I.'s will get no homes, but the generals and the well-to-do will."

Long assailed as a "complete phony" Mr. Truman's announced intention of making an additional billion dollars available for rental housing. A billion dollars of such funds has been available to the Federal Housing Agency under Foley, Long asserted, but only about $50,000,000 was used despite "urgent insistence" by Wyatt that loans be made on the basis of more liberal appraisals.

"I challenge Mr. Foley now," Long said, "to state publicly that he has any real intention to relax this penny-pinching policy and use his so-called 'new' billion dollars to stimulate rental construction for veterans."

Long contended that the rental housing plan outlined by Mr. Truman was contained in a "suppressed" report Wyatt submitted to the President on November 20.

House Inquires Into Disposal of War Shipyards

Committee Counsel Says U.S. Spent $2,500,000 to Restore Plant on Coast

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP).—The House Merchant Marine Committee started an investigation of shipyard disposal today with an assertion by its counsel that the government paid $2,500,000 to dispose of a $39,000,000 West Coast investment.

Marvin Coles, committee counsel, said the Maritime Commission paid that sum to the California Shipbuilding Corporation when it withdrew government operations from the California yard. Its total investment there had been $39,307,456.

The money was given to the California firm to restore the yards to their original condition, Mr. Coles said, adding that the company also got $5,093,647 from the sale of equipment and supplies and $221,419 from miscellaneous revenues.

The company's expenses in the proceeding, with the contract nearing completion, have amounted to $2,852,657, Mr. Coles said, leaving an excess of $5,962,409 in receipts over expenses.

In all, according to Mr. Coles, approximately $600,000,000 was spent in shipyard construction by the government and most of it now is surplus.

The current investigation, Mr. Coles said, is directed at the disposal of the California shipbuilding yard and the Bethlehem-Fairfield Shipyard, Inc., on the East Coast.

Among other things, Mr. Coles said, the committee want to know:

"Did the commission originally act in the best interest of the taxpayer in erecting yards on leased land?

"Were the procedures followed in the sale of these yards conducted properly or did they lower the return to the government by eliminating competition and public bids?

"What was used by the commission in valuing the property sold in the absence of adequate accounting records?"

Raymond McKeogh, a member of the Maritime Commission, told the committee he believes the California Shipbuilding Corporation transaction was "a fairly decent consummation of a very delicate and involved situation."

BANNER CROP YEAR REPORTED FOR U.S.

Wheat And Corn Top Production Record Of Nation 1946

Washington, Dec. 17 (AP)—The Agriculture Department reported today that its final tally confirmed earlier estimates that this year's crop production was the greatest in history, from the standpoint of both quantity and quality.

Topping the output were record crops of wheat and corn—grains which last winter's famine relief campaign an ddomestic livestock feeding operations had depleted to dangerously low levels. These crops put the country into a position to ship large amounts of cereals abroad this winter, to expand livestock production and to rebuild grain reserves.

7 Points Over Last Year

The aggregate volume of crops was 26 per cent above the pre-drought (1922-32) average, seven points above last year and two points above the previous record of 1942.

The department said major factors in agriculture's fine showing this year included a fairly large harvested acreage, high yield per acre, and generally good growing and harvesting weather.

Record crops also were reported for rice, potatoes, tobacco, soy beans, cherries, peaches, pears, plums and truck crops. Crops of near record size included oats, peanuts and grapes.

Better than average harvests were reported for hay, sorghum grain, pop corn, dry peas, sweet potatoes, apples, prunes, apricots, hops, sugar cane and sugar beets.

Some Crops Fall

The only crops falling below average production were cotton, cotton seed, barley, flax seed, buckwheat, rye, broom corn, dry beans, cow beans, pecans and maple products.

This year's harvested acreage totaled 345,773,000 compared with 346,482,000 last year and 334,823,000 for the ten-year (1935-44) average. Yields per acre reached new heights for corn, potatoes and tobacco. Except for cotton—which was plagued by poor weather—rye, rice and peanuts, virtually all crops yielded better than average.

Production of food and feed grains were the largest on record, amounting to 162,500,000 tons, or about 7,500,000 tons above 1942's previous record.

3,287,927,000 Bushels

The final figure for corn was 3,287,927,000 bushels. This compares with the 1944 record of 3,228,000,000, with the revised 1945 figure of 2,880,224,000 and with a ten-year average of 2,608,499,000.

Wheat production was reported at 1,155,715,000 bushels compared with 1,108,223,000 last year and the ten-year average of 843,692,000.

The department said sugar production from cane and beets is expected to reach 2,000,000 tons, raw value, or about one seventh more than last year.

Fruit production reached largest volume in history, turning out one sixth more than last year and nearly one third more than average.

More than 9,200,000 tons of commercial truck crops for the fresh market were produced this year, exceeding by nine per cent the previous record set in 1945.

Maryland Figures

The acreage harvested, the yield per acre and production, respectively, of major crops for Maryland follow:

CORN—456,000 acres; 38 bushels per acre and production 17,328,000 bushels.

TOBACCO — 45,000 acres; 900 pounds per acre and production 40,500,000 pounds.

POTATOES—17,000 acres; 132 bushels per acre and production 2,244,000.

Probers Turn Up Story of $15,000 Contributions; Donors Not Named.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 — (AP) Senators digging into the financial deals revolving about Sen. Theodore G. Bilbo today turned up a report of $15,000 allegedly earmarked for defeating him at the polls.

And the Senate War Investigating Committee was told that the custodian of the money—temporarily at least—was Edward Terry, the Mississippi senator's own private secretary at the time.

J. Marvin Quin, vice president of the Jackson State National Bank, Jackson, Miss., told about it.

He said Terry told him the plan was for Gov. Tom Bailey to run against Bilbo this year. Bailey did not make the race. He was talked of as a candidate but his health was not good. He died recently.

Source Not Revealed

Quin did not say [illegible] the money came from but indicated personal belief that Terry got it in New York. He said Terry wrote him about it from there.

Quin said Terry told him that the $15,000 had been raised to "get Gov. Tom Bailey to enter this race against Senator Bilbo."

He had ledger sheets to show that Terry deposited $14,300 in the Jackson State National Bank on Sept. 8, 1945, adding this amount to his previous balance, and withdrew $15,000 on July 10, 1946. Bilbo fired Terry as his secretary last Jan. 1.

The committee's latest excursion into politics as played by Mississippians came amidst detailed testimony about the financial history of the seven bedroom, five-bath Baptist parsonage he built on his farm.

It developed that since Bilbo previously had mortgaged the land for personal loans, the parsonage also was under these mortgages for years.

But since the senate committee began its investigation Bilbo has gotten his bankers to amend the mortgages and leave the parsonage part clear of them. Mortgages remain on his farm lands.

The committee previously has heard war contractors and others testify that Bilbo solicited them for funds to build Juniper Grove Baptist Church and the parsonage as a memorial to his parents. The senate investigation is based primarily on Bilbo's relations with business men who got large war contracts from the government.

Pastor Testifies

The Rev. D. Wade Smith, now the church's pastor, testified that "I hope to move in January first." He said he became pastor two years ago and at that time Bilbo told him he would turn the parsonage over to him when it was completed and furnished.

Quin related that Terry, in addition to a personal account, had a "special account" at his bank and once told him that the funds in it were actually Bilbo's.

He said that altogether $7,214.12 has been deposited in this account and all but $200 withdrawn.

Quin said he talked with Bilbo about the account two weeks ago and the Mississippi Democratic senator indicated then he had never heard of it before.

"He was astonished," Quin declared.

Terry is expected to take the witness stand tomorrow in what may be a climactic day of the committee's delving into Bilbo's financial affairs. Bilbo may follow him promptly.

Bilbo still holds title to the church property, but Forrest Jackson, his attorney, testified Bilbo had drawn a deed and has an oral understanding with the register of deeds that the deed is to be honored and the property conveyed to the deacons in event of his death.

Jackson also said it was Bilbo's plan, if death does not come first, to convey the title when work is completed on this project for which the senator solicited funds as a memorial to "my sainted father."

The story of the mortgages was developed in testimony from Robert M. Newton, president of the Bank of Commerce, Wiggins, Miss., and Herbert H. McLeod of the Federal Land Bank of New Orleans.

In brief it was this:

In 1935, Bilbo mortgaged his 3,600-acre farm for $15,500 with a first mortgage of $8,000 and a second of $7,500.

Then he built the parsonage on the mortgaged land and it consequently became part of the real estate subject to the mortgage.

Since current investigation began, Bilbo has gotten banks to amend the existing mortgages and remove from their coverage 8.35 acres including the land on which the parsonage stands.

The remainder of the farm (3,600 acres less 8.35) is still mortgaged. The amount of the first mortgage is now $5,954; the amount of the second mortgage is $4,138.

McLeod said the two mortgages are now $5,954 and $4,138 respectively.

Other major points in their accounts:

McLeod estimated the parsonage with outbuildings is worth $6,000 to $10,000.

Newton testified Bilbo had deposited about $28,000 in his bank in a special Juniper Grove church account and had withdrawn all but $1,285.38. Bilbo's project included the church as well as the parsonage.

The committee has received testimony that war contractors gave Bilbo funds for this church along with personal gifts of an automobile, and furniture, painted house, dug him a lake, managed his farm at a loss—acts which have cost them some $68,000 out of pocket.

Meeting To Pay Off Bilbo Loan Reported 1946

Washington, Dec. 17 (AP)—Forrest Jackson, attorney for Senator Bilbo (D., Miss.), testified today that friends of the lawmaker attended an emergency meeting in 1940 to raise funds to pay back $3,000 borrowed by Bilbo.

Jackson told a Senate War Investigating subcommittee that Bilbo had borrowed the money from Abe Shushan, New Orleans wholesale dry-goods merchant, and that Shushan had been threatening to disclose information about the loan.

Jackson testified that Edward P. Terry, former Bilbo secretary, called a meeting in Jackson, Miss., in August, 1940, to discuss a "matter of grave importance."

Says State Law Ineffective

The session was attended, Jackson said, by himself, Terry, the late Grant Stewart of New Hebron, Miss., and R. [illegible] Newton, Wiggins, Miss., naval stores merchant.

Previous witnesses have testified that Shushan loaned Bilbo $3,000 at the request of Stewart.

Earlier, Jackson expressed the opinion that "hundreds of thousands of dollars" can be spent in Mississippi political campaigns despite a State Corrupt Practices Act.

Fund Raised to Defeat Bilbo, Inquiry Reveals

NIGHT DAY

Reported Contributions

Under questioning by Senator Ferguson (R., Mich.), Jackson testified that he, Terry and Newton each put up $750 to pay Bilbo's loan and that it was understood Stewart would contribute a like amount.

Jackson at first indicated that, in the line of Shushan's testimony yesterday that the loan was repaid in July, 1940, he was under the impression that Terry had been collecting funds for a loan already paid.

He said later that he could be mistaken about the emergency meeting having been held in August of that year.

Believes Money Raised

"Chances are, then," asked Chairman Mead (D., N.Y.), "that the money actually was collected (by Bilbo's friends) to clear the note?"

"Yes," Jackson replied.

Jackson told the subcommittee that never put up $750 as agreed and that Terry eventually borrowed his share from Jackson.

The lawyer said Terry told Bilbo's friends that Shushan was about to deliver the $3,000 note into the hands of former Governor Hugh White, Bilbo's opponent in the 1940 Mississippi senatorial campaign.

He quoted Terry as saying that Shushan "was trying to embarrass Senator Bilbo by disclosing the note."

"We were good Democrats and we wanted to keep it quiet," Jackson testified.

Not Entered On Books

Jackson said he never had entered on his books the $750 he put up for Bilbo, nor the $750 he gave to Terry. He said also he never had told Bilbo that he put up the money.

Earlier, Jackson testified that he had collected $1,500 in fees from the Volz Construction Company, a war-contractor firm, and $435.38 in insurance fees.

"Did you use any part of that to pay the office expenses of Senator Bilbo?" Ferguson asked.

"I did pay some to Terry from time to time," Jackson said.

He added that he "couldn't guess the amount," but noted that the committee "has one check for $1,100" for that purpose.

"For The Campaign"

When Ferguson asked if that amount was paid "for the benefit of Bilbo," Jackson answered that it went "for the campaign."

Ferguson asked Jackson whether he had told committee investigators that "Terry called you and said he was in desperate circumstances" trying to meet Bilbo's office expenses.

Jackson said this was true, and that he had made contributions in reply to this appeal, but he could not recall the amount.

Jackson said he had never told Bilbo about Terry's calls. He said he did not think it would have been proper.

"Even though you believed the man was dishonest?" Ferguson inquired.

"I didn't say he was dishonest—maybe he was guilty of impropriety," Jackson said.

Parsonage Papers Presented

Just before the hearing recessed for lunch, Bilbo handed the committee a file of papers proposing that he convey title of a church parsonage and other buildings, and the land on which they stand, to the church deacons.

Earlier witnesses testified that the Senator had collected about $28,000 to build a parsonage for the Juniper Baptist Church on land he still owned and that he held title to the church.

Bilbo, sitting with his feet propped up on a chair, whispered to a reporter that the church parsonage and land would be conveyed to the church "as soon as the building was completed."

Ferguson questioned Jackson about these papers at length and noted that Bilbo still could withdraw the proposed title conveyance and retain both the land and the buildings.

Not Intended, He Says

Jackson agreed, but said this was not intended.

Jackson said the Senator planned to complete all the buildings and turn them and the land over to the church next July.

Newton, president of the Poplarville (Miss.) Bank, who said he is not related to F. L. Newton, contractor who gave Bilbo $25,000, testified he had been a "close, personal and political friend" of Bilbo since 1906.

Senator Ferguson asked if it was not true that Bilbo's friends had raised money to pay $3,000 to Shushan "to protect Senator Bilbo's name—you did not want the public to know he had borrowed money from Shushan, Huey Long's associate."

The banker said this was true and that Stewart had borrowed the money from Shushan to help the Senator pay "part of an alimony settlement."

Newton testified also that Senator Bilbo was the only person who could draw funds from ar account for the Baptist parsonage. He said the account had been as high as $28,000, but now was slightly more than $1,285.

Jackson was questioned about the Mississippi Corrupt Practices Act by Ferguson.

After asking about the alleged payment of $11,000 to former Representative Ross Collins's campaign manager after Collins lost his bid for a senatorial nomination in 1942, Ferguson queried:

"How did you get around the Mississippi Corrupt Practices Act? You did not report this as a campaign expenditure."

"Informal Groups" Exempt

Jackson replied that only the main committee of a candidate was required to report its expenditures. "Informal" groups were exempt, he said.

"What good is the State law then?" asked Ferguson.

"I don't think it's any good," Jackson replied. "It's like the Hatch Act (Federal law which limits political expenditures and contributions)."

Ferguson suggested that "thousands of informal committees could be set up and spend hundreds of thousands of dollars" under Jackson's idea of the State law.

"That's right," the lawyer replied.

Bilbo's Plans For Reply

Before today's session started Senator Bilbo told reporters he did not plan to answer testimony until it was completed, including that of his former secretary, Edward B. Terry.

When he does testify, Bilbo will have a chance to tell his side of the story of his relations with a dozen war contractors.

The committee would have preferred to wait for Bilbo's rebuttal until after examining Terry.

But Terry is not due to arrive here until tomorrow morning.

Lake Builder's Report

A. B. Friend, war contractor and former campaign manager for Senator Bilbo, told the Senate War Investigating subcommitee that he had designed an artificial lake on the Senator's farm in Mississippi. Other war contractors said they helped build the lake without cost to Bilbo.

Friend said it was "not an artificial lake but water held back by a dam."

Senator Ferguson estimated it cost $9,000 to move dirt for the dam and asked Friend if he had sought payment from Bilbo.

"I've been a guest in the Senator's home many days and many nights," Friend replied, tartly. "When he sends me a bill for that I'll bill him for my help."

Bilbo's Ex-Aide Off To D.C. To Testify 1946

Meridian, Miss., Dec. 17 (AP)—Edward B. Terry left here today for Washington, indicating he will report on financial dealings involving Theodore G. Bilbo during his seven years as secretary to the Mississippi Senator.

DAY

Terry is to testify before a Senate subcommittee investigating Bilbo's purported war-contract activities. He is due in Washington early Wednesday morning.

"I am prepared to testify," Terry declared, "if the committee will be patient with me. I'll review the entire seven years of my efforts in behalf of the people of Mississippi, regardless of political affiliation, where in the end, I have destroyed my health and Bilbo has greatly increased his financial resources through my efforts."

Doxey Campaign

Terry said he had made out the checks by which F. T. Newton, of Hattiesburg, Miss., contractor handling war contracts, donated $25,000 purportedly to the 1942 campaign of Wall Doxey, who ran unsuccessfully for the United States Senate against James O. Eastland.

"I was in the hotel with Senator Bilbo and Mr. Doxey," Terry added. "They asked me to make out the checks, and I did after asking to whom they should be made out. When the Senator told me 'Theo. G. Bilbo,' I was a bit surprised, but made them out accordingly."

LEGION WILL MEET IN FRANCE IN 1947

Washington, Dec. 17 (A. P.).—Legionnaires will make their third mass pilgrimage to France next year.

Paul H. Griffith, national commander, said today that the American Legion had accepted an invitation from George Bidault, for a sentimental journey to the Legion's birthplace.

More than 25,000 members and their families crossed the Atlantic in 1927 to attend the first Paris convention. In 1937 the trip was made by 5,000 Legionnaires.

Griffith said Phil Collins of Chicago would head a committee to arrange for the 1947 Paris convention, which will be held concurrently with a session in the United States for Legion stay-at-homes.

METHANOL AID EXTENDED

OTC Continues Priority for Sulfa, Streptomycin, Penicillin Drugs

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP)—The Office of Temporary Controls said today that manufacturers will continue to receive through December priority assistance necessary to obtain methanol for the production of streptomycin, penicillin and sulfa drugs.

The Civilian Production Administration division of the OTC will issue authority upon application to draw against reserves of methanol which have been held under CPA direction since the beginning of the coal strike. Coal is a primary raw material for making methanol.

ATOMIC SCIENTIST WINS AIR TROPHY 1946

Washington, Dec. 17 (A. P.).—President Truman today presented the 1945 Robert J. Collier trophy for outstanding aviation achievement to Dr. Luis W. Alvarez, 35-year-old scientist.

Alvarez, professor of physics at the University of California, won the award for his part in the development of the ground-control approach system for all-weather safe landing of aircraft. The presentation, in behalf of the National Aeronautic Association, was made in a brief ceremony in the President's office.

Alvarez participated in the work on atom bomb development in Los Alamos, N. M. He rode in a B-29 which flew one-half mile behind the sister ship which dropped the atom bomb on Hiroshima, to observe and record the effects of the blast. He is now supervising construction of a radiation laboratory for advanced atomic energy research at Berkeley, Cal.

ACC to Fly Wan Hospitalized GI's Home for Holidays

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP)—Sixty-two soldiers with crippling war wounds will spend Christmas at home rather than in military hospitals as a gift of the Army's Air Transport Command.

Maj. Gen. Robert M. Webster of the ATC said today that planes would be supplied and that some forty hospital attendants would give up their own holidays to accompany the patients on air trips to fields near their homes.

Each patient will leave before Christmas Day and return after New Year's, giving each man about two weeks at home.

The men are either amputees or are paralyzed because of spinal injuries. Many of them are unable to travel without attendants.

They will be selected from three hospitals: Letterman General Hospital, San Francisco, Calif.; Percy Jones Hospital, Battle Creek, Mich., and Walter Reed, Washington, D. C.

Sees U. S. Relations Improved

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP).—Senator James E. Murray, Democrat, of Montana, said he told President Truman today that this country's international relations, as observed on a recent trip abroad, are "better than they have been in a long while." Senator Murray returned a few days ago from Europe, where he was a delegate to the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization. He expressed the belief there is "better understanding" in the world as a result of recent developments.

UPHELD FOR FIRING RED BUREAU HEAD

Washington, Dec. 17. (A. P.).—The United States Court of Appeals yesterday upheld the right of the Government to fire Morton Friedman of Queens, N. Y., from his War Manpower Commission job on grounds there was reason to believe he was associated with an allegedly Communist-dominated group and there was a reasonable doubt of his loyalty.

Friedman was classification director of the WMC. He was separated from his position in September, 1944, mainly because of his activity with the American Peace Mobilization Organization, which the Government told the court was Communist-dominated.

The Court of Appeals upheld a lower court action approving the discharge. It said:

"The United States has the right to prescribe the qualifications of its employees and to attach conditions to their employment."

First White House Dinner For the Cabinet Since '41

Margaret Truman Helps Her Parents Entertain 90

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP).—Twenty-two-year-old Margaret Truman helped her parents, President and Mrs. Truman, entertain ninety guests tonight at the first White House dinner in honor of the Cabinet since state entertaining was discontinued in 1941.

This was the first state function on the resumed social calendar that Margaret, who is studying voice in New York, has attended, although she came here for the reception that the President and Mrs. Truman held for the press, radio and photographers on Dec. 5.

All members of the Cabinet were present except Postmaster General Hannegan, who is in Florida.

Rocket Fired in Test To Create Meteorites

WHITE SANDS, N. M., Dec. 17—(AP) A German V-2 rocket streaked skyward towing a fiery tail for about 68 seconds tonight, but the Army would make no announcement on its experiment to create man-made meteorites.

A press representative stationed about six miles from the firing platform, however, said he saw no evidence of meteorites with his naked eyes.

The rocket was fired at 10:10 p.m. (Mountain Standard Time) and the all clear came at 10:23.

The flames from the rocket's jet engines lighted the desert brightly for about three miles.

They were visible for 68 seconds and the white hot rudders for about 52 seconds longer.

V-2 Rocket to Create 'Shooting Stars'

Dime-sized Bits of Iron Will Be Propelled Tonight for More Accurate Data on Size of Real Meteors.

White Sands, N. M., Dec. 17 (A. P.).—Unless scientists' calculations go awry, synthetic "shooting stars" will flash across Southwestern skies tonight in a scenic display visible over a wide area.

The man-made meteors—created by propelling dime-sized bits of iron through the atmosphere at speeds topping six miles a second—will be discharged in the first night-time launching of a German V-2 rocket in this country. The speed of the pellets will be sufficient to fuse them by friction with the air. Army ordnance experts will send the rocket aloft at 12 midnight, Eastern standard time, at the White Sands Proving Ground.

Allowing for curvature of the earth, it is estimated that the fiery spectacle may be witnessed over a 300-mile radius, and at even greater distances through high-powered observatory telescopes.

Half a dozen streams of metal pellets will be shot from the rocket, starting approximately twenty-two miles above the earth and continuing up to the forty-mile level. They will be launched from regular rifle grenades, thrust into space by a bazooka mechanism and set off by newly devised shaped explosives.

The experiment seeks information for more accurate computation of the size of real meteors. It is based on ideas advanced by Dr. Fred Zwicky of the California Institute of Technology.

PRISONER SEIZES GUNS, TERRIFIES TRAIN PASSENGERS

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 17 (AP)—An escaped army prisoner flourishing two pistols terrified passengers aboard a train, leaped to freedom and forced a farmer to drive him from rural Jackson County to Kansas City today before police ended his flight.

Two patrolmen captured the man, whom they identified as Pvt. John S. O'Brien of Rome, N.Y., as he waited for a street car in the downtown section. O'Brien surrendered without resistance although police said two .45 caliber pistols were found in his pockets.

Cpl. Gerrit Denbondt of Sioux City, Iowa, one of the guards returning O'Brien from Indiana to Ft. Leavenworth where he had escaped three months ago, told this story:

O'Brien seized Debondt's revolver early this morning as the train neared Sibley, Mo., and forced the guard to unlock the handcuffs. He took the pistol of the second guard, Cpl. Robert L. Stowers of Seth, W. Va. Gun in hand O'Brien paraded through the train admonishing passengers to "keep still and you won't get hurt." Taking an overcoat from a passenger, he leaped from the train.

While 16 cars of police officers searched the area, Mark Stoner, a farmer, said O'Brien forced him to drive to Kansas City where the escaped prisoner got out, taking Stoner's shoes with him.

Louis A. Johnson, a construction company employe, told police that O'Brien tried to force him to drive to St. Joseph, Mo.

"I told him I was on a job and couldn't leave town," Johnson said. O'Brien got out of the car.

"I told him to use his head instead of his gun and showed him where he could catch a street car."

Johnson called police when he read a newspaper story relating O'Brien's escape.

The FBI said the army prisoner was serving a five-year sentence for desertion.

3 TROOP SHIPS DUE

By The Associated Press

Three troop-carrying vessels are due at U.S. ports today with more than 450 service personnel and 146 war brides and children.

At New York: Gen. George W. Goethals from Bremerhaven with 37 troops and 146 war brides and children.

At San Francisco: Marine Jumper from Jinsen with 115 troops, 17 navy personnel; Gen. William F. Hase, no port given; 299 troops.

The following troop ships arrived yesterday.

At New York: Gen. Richardson, 2,981 troops; Marine Robin, 2,364 troops; both from Bremerhaven.

At Seattle: Fred C. Ainsworth from Yokohama, 642 troops; Henry Failing from Alaska, 721 troops.

LONDON, DEC.17-(AP)-THE BRITISH ADMIRALTY FLATLY DENIED TODAY A CHARGE BY THE SOVIET NAVY NEWSPAPER RED FLEET THAT A CONVOY OF WAR SUPPLIES TO ARCHANGEL WAS MISHANDLED BY BRITISH AUTHORITIES IN JULY, 1942.

"THIS ACCOUNT APPEARS TO IMPUGN NOT MERELY THE NAVAL TACTICS OF THE CONVOY, BUT ALSO THE COURAGE OF THE BRITISH AND AMERICAN SEAMEN WHO TOOK PART IN IT," JOHN DUGDALE, THE ADMIRALTY'S FINANCIAL SECRETARY, TOLD THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

RED FLEET SAID THE ADMIRALTY DID NOT TAKE PAINS ENOUGH IN ORGANIZING THE CONVOY--ONLY 11 OF WHOSE 37 SHIPS REACHED THEIR DESTINATION--AND THAT CREW MEMBERS OF AMERICAN TRANSPORTS LEFT THEIR SHIPS "AT FIRST DANGER" OF A GERMAN RAID.

"THIS PARTICULAR CONVOY, CARRIED OUT IN THE MOST CRITICAL PERIOD OF THE WAR AT SEA, WAS ADMITTEDLY ONE OF THE LEAST FORTUNATE," DUGDALE SAID. "NOT ALL OPERATIONS OF WAR ARE SUCCESSFUL, BUT WE HAVE A RIGHT TO EXPECT THAT THE EFFORTS OF THE ROYAL NAVY IN THE COMMON CAUSE SHOULD NOT BE DECRIED."

DUGDALE SAID 75 CONVOYS CARRIED $1,224,000,000 WORTH OF MILITARY EQUIPMENT AND $480,000,000 WORTH OF OTHER MATERIALS FROM BRITAIN TO RUSSIA BETWEEN 1941 AND 1945.

"OVER THE WHOLE PERIOD 92.6 PERCENT OF THE MATERIAL DISPATCHED WAS FAITHFULLY DELIVERED TO THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT," HE SAID.

THE AMERICAN PROPOSAL, STRESSING INTERNATIONAL CONTROLS AND INSPECTIONS, WAS TURNED DOWN FLATLY BY ANDREI A. GROMYKO OF RUSSIA LAST SUMMER. DURING THE RECENT GENERAL ASSEMBLY SESSIONS, HOWEVER, SOVIET FOREIGN MINISTER V.M. MOLOTOV AGREED TO INTERNATIONAL INSPECTIONS AND CONTROLS, WHICH WOULD OPERATE OUTSIDE THE CONTROVERSIAL VETO BUT WITHIN THE FRAMEWORK OF THE SECURITY COUNCIL.

IT REMAINED TO BE SEEN WHETHER, IN THE LIGHT OF THE DEVELOPMENT, GROMYKO NOW WOULD ACCEPT THE BARUCH PLAN, SEEK TO AMEND IT, OR AGAIN INSIST ON HIS OWN PROPOSAL.

GROMYKO'S ORIGINAL RESOLUTION, ALSO PUT BEFORE THE COMMISSION LAST SUMMER, WOULD BAN ATOMIC WEAPONS AND LEAVE CONTROL AND PUNISHMENT TO THE INDIVIDUAL NATIONS.

BARUCH, CONVINCED OF THE "IMPERATIVE NECESSITY FOR SPEED," HAS PRODDED THE COMMISSION CONTINUALLY AND NOW POINTS TO THE FACT THAT THE BODY MUST REPORT TO THE PARENT SECURITY COUNCIL BY DEC. 31.

BARUCH'S RESOLUTION CALLS FOR A STRONG INTERNATIONAL SYSTEM OF CONTROL OF ATOMIC EMERGY ESTABLISHED AND DEFINED BY A TREATY. THIS TREATY (CONVENTION) WOULD SET UP AN INTERNATIONAL AUTHORITY WITH FULL POWERS OF INSPECTION AND CONTROL OF THE TREATY REGULATIONS. THE ATOMIC BOMB WOULD BE OUTLAWED AND THE UNITED STATES WOULD REVEAL ITS SECRETS STEP BY STEP WITH THE SETTING UP OF EFFECTIVE SAFEGUARDS.

THERE ARE A SERIES OF SHARP DIFFERENCES BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND RUSSIAN PLANS, BUT OBSERVERS GENERALLY AGREED THAT THE INTERNATIONAL INSPECTION BARRIER APPARENTLY REMOVED BY MOLOTOV WAS THE BIGGEST ONE.

DELEGATES EXPRESSED SOME PESSIMISM, HOWEVER, OVER AN EARLY VOTE AND INDICATED THEY EXPECTED SEVERAL SESSIONS OF SPEECH-MAKING.

BERLIN, DEC 17-(AP)-THE SOVIET MILITARY ADMINISTRATION'S OFFICIAL NEWSPAPER, TAEGLICHE RUNDSCHAU, TODAY ATTACKED WHAT IT DESCRIBED AS "MALICIOUS LIES CLAIMING THERE IS CEASELESS AND EXCESSIVE DISMANTLING OF GERMAN INDUSTRIES IN THE SOVIET ZONE."

THE PAPER - IN ITS SECOND ARTICLE THIS WEEK EXPLAINING SOVIET REPARATIONS DEMANDS AND POLICIES TO THE GERMAN PEOPLE -- CONTENDED THAT DESPITE REMOVALS FROM THE RUSSIAN ZONE PRODUCTION CAPACITY THERE STILL SUBSTANTIALLY EXCEEDS THE GERMAN LEVEL OF INDUSTRY AGREED UPON BY THE ALLIED CONTROL COUNCIL.

IN ITS FIRST ARTICLE SUNDAY, THE RUNDSCHAU MAINTAINED THAT GERMANY WAS WELL ABLE TO PAY, IN ADDITION TO INDUSTRIAL EQUIPMENT, THE $10,000,000,000 REPARATIONS STILL DEMANDED BY RUSSIA.

OBVIOUSLY REPLYING TO REPORTS WHICH HAVE APPEARED IN PAPERS LICENSED BY THE WESTERN POWERS CONCERNING NEW SOVIET DISMANTLINGS, THE PAPER ASSERTED TODAY THAT THE RUSSIANS WERE FOLLOWING A "SENSIBLE" ECONOMIC POLICY WHICH FOSTERED REVIVAL OF CONSUMER GOODS PRODUCTION EVEN WHILE DISMANTLINGS WERE PROCEEDING.

THE MAGAZINE PARTY LIFE, PUBLISHED BY THE CENTRAL COMMITTEE OF THE COMMUNIST PARTY, HAS CRITICIZED OFFICIALS IN THE PARTY, MINISTRIES AND GOVERNMENT DEPARTMENTS FOR FAILING TO CARRY OUT THEIR DUTIES IN A RESPONSIBLE FASHION.

ACCUSATIONS BY THE MAGAZINE INCLUDED THE CHARGE THAT OFFICIALS WERE SURROUNDING THEMSELVES WITH "YES MEN" AND FLATTERERS.

WASHINGTON,DEC.17-(AP)-DR.LOUIS A.ALVAREZ, UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA PHYSICIST, SAID TONIGHT IT "IS TECHNICALLY FEASIBLE" TO PROPEL AIRPLANES WITH ATOMIC POWER, BUT THAT IT PROBABLY WOULD NOT BE DONE WITHIN TEN YEARS.

AT THE SAME TIME, DR.ALVAREZ SAID "THERE IS NO OBVIOUS OR SIMPLE WAY IN WHICH TO USE ATOMIC ENERGY FOR SPACE SHIPS.".

HE EXPRESSED HIS VIEWS IN AN ADDRESS AT THE WASHINGTON AERO CLUB'S ANNUAL DINNER IN OBSERVANCE OF THE WRIGHT BROTHERS' FIRST FLIGHT. EARLIER DR.ALVAREZ WAS PRESENTED THE ROBERT J.COLLIER TROPHY BY PRESIDENT TRUMAN FOR OUTSTANDING ACHIEVEMENT IN AVIATION DURING 1945. THE AWARD WAS BASED ON THE SCIENTIST'S WORK IN DEVELOPING A RADAR METHOD FOR GUIDING AIRPLANES IN BAD WEATHER.

DR.ALVAREZ SAID AN IMPORTANT PROBLEM IN ATOMIC POWER FOR AIRCRAFT WAS THE WEIGHT OF SHIELDING, ESTIMATING THAT THIS SHIELD FOR AN ATOMIC UNIT GIVING 25,000 HORSEPOWER FROM A STEAM ENGINE WOULD BE IN THE NEIGHBORHOOD OF 75 TONS.

WHEN PLANES GET TO SUCH A SIZE THAT THE WEIGHT OF THE FUEL EXCEEDS THE WEIGHT OF AN ATOMIC UNIT SHIELD, HE SAID, ATOMIC POWER COULD BEGIN TO COMPETE WITH CONVENTIONAL FUELS. HO EVER, HE ADDED, THERE ARE OTHER UNSATISFACTORY CONDITIONS, SUCH AS THE PROBLEM OF REPAIRING ATOMIC ENGINES. THE WHOLE ENGINE WOULD HAVE TO UNDERGO A PROCESS OF RADIO ACTIVE DECONTAMINATION BEFORE IT COULD BE REPAIRED, HE SAID.

AN AIRPLANE LARGE ENOUGH TO JUSTIFY THE WEIGHT OF THE ATOMIC SHIELD, DR.ALVAREZ SAID, PROBABLY WOULD BE THREE OR FOUR TIMES THE SIZE OF THE B-36 (WHICH WEIGHS ABOUT 270,000 POUNDS) AND WOULD BE CAPABLE OF FLYING NON-STOP AROUND THE WORLD.

THE MONEY IS DERIVED FROM EXCISE TAXES ON SPORTING GOODS AND THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT IS SUPPOSED TO ALLOT PROPORTIONATE SUMS TO EACH STATE. WHILE WARTIME CURTAILMENTS HAVE NOT BEEN FULLY REMOVED, THE OFFICIALS SAID THE FUND IS BEING KEPT INTACT FOR FUTURE USE.

DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS ADDED THAT SECRETARY KRUG WAS ANXIOUS TO RESUME FULL-SCALE OPERATIONS BUT THOUGHT HE SHOULD ACCEDE TO BUDGETARY TRENDS IN THE IMMEDIATE FUTURE.

A SHARP PROTEST AGAINST RESTRICTIONS ON USE OF THE EAR-MARKED FUND CAME FROM H.A.RIDER, CONSERVATION COMMISSIONER OF OHIO. HE WROTE A LETTER DIRECTLY TO PRESIDENT TRUMAN SUGGESTING THAT THE CURRENT FEDERAL ALLOTMENT SHOULD BE AT LEAST $5,000,000, INSTEAD OF $2,500,000.

OFFICIALS ESTIMATED THAT THE SMALLER SUM PROVIDED ABOUT $87,000 FOR OHIO.

"I AM AT A TOTAL LOSS TO UNDERSTAND SUCH IMPROPER APPROPRIATIONS," SAID RIDER'S LETTER, WHICH WAS SENT ALSO TO SECRETARY KRUG AND ALL OHIO MEMBERS OF CONGRESS.

BY REQUESTING ONLY A PART OF AVAILABLE TAX COLLECTIONS, RIDER SAID, THE DEPARTMENT HAD BUILT UP THE FUND TO A POINT WHERE THERE WAS A SURPLUS OF $15,000,000.

(ADVANCE)...NEW YORK, DEC 17-(AP)-RUSSIAN OFFICIALS ARE INTERESTED IN DISCUSSIONS WITH UNITED STATES FIRMS LOOKING TO TRADE IN SOVIET PRODUCTS, AND IN OBTAINING AMERICAN TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE ON A CONTRACT BASIS, E.C. ROPES, CHIEF OF THE RUSSIAN SECTION OF THE U.S. DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE, SAID HERE TODAY.

ROPES OUTLINED IN AN ADDRESS BEFORE THE COMMERCE AND INDUSTRY ASSOCIATION OF NEW YORK THE RESULTS OF A DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE MISSION LAST SUMMER TO THE SOVIET UNION.

IN VIEW OF THE TASK OF RECONSTRUCTING RUSSIA'S WAR-DEVASTATED ECONOMY, HE SAID, THE SOVIET FOREIGN TRADE MINISTER ESTIMATED IT WOULD BE "SEVERAL YEARS BEFORE THE U.S.S.R. WOULD BE IN POSITION TO IMPLEMENT THE ARRANGEMENTS WHICH WE PROPOSED TO PURCHASE SOVIET GOODS, IN QUANTITIES FAR EXCEEDING ANY PREVIOUSLY IMPORTED BY THE UNITED STATES."

ROPES SAID THE HEADS OF SOVIET EXPORT AGENCIES WITH WHOM HE TALKED "OBVIOUSLY WISHED, AS SOON AS POSSIBLE, TO ENTER INTO CONCRETE DISCUSSIONS WITH AMERICAN FIRMS THAT WOULD BE, WHEN THE TIME COMES, THE ACTIVE FACTORS IN CARRYING OUT THE PROPOSALS WE MADE."

HE PREDICTED PROGRESS TOWARD TRADE ARRANGEMENTS WOULD BE MADE IN A SOVIET-AMERICAN TRADE CONFERENCE HE SAID "WILL PROBABLY BE HELD IN WASHINGTON, PERHAPS IN THE NEXT FEW MONTHS."

CHANNELS FOR EXPORTS TO THE SOVIET ALREADY ARE BEING CLEARED, ROPES SAID, AND "AMERICAN BUSINESS MEN MAY LOOK F RWARD TO SELLING AND SERVICING THEIR GOODS IN THE SOVIET UNION FROM THEIR OWN OFFICES THERE." IN ADDITION, HE SAID, THE FOREIGN TRADE MINISTER "PROMPTLY ACCEPTED" A SUGGESTION FOR "THE ADMISSION INTO THE SOVIET UNION OF QUALIFIED AMERICAN BUYERS, TO WORK WITH THE RUSSIANS THEMSELVES TO SELECT, GRADE, EVEN MANUFACTURE THE PRODUCTS DESIRED."

ASIDE FROM STRICTLY COMMERCIAL FIELDS, ROPES SAID, "WE ARE CERTAIN THAT IN A YEAR OR TWO AT THE MOST, THE U.S.S.R. WILL BE OPEN TO FREE ACCESS BY AMERICAN TOURISTS AND STUDENTS."

PRESIDENT CALLS ON CHINA TO END ITS CIVIL STRIFE

Again Backs Chiang But Urges Reds Be Included in Nation's Cabinet.

'HANDS OFF' POLICY

Declares U.S. Armed Forces in China Have Been Drastically Cut.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 — (AP) President Truman called upon China today to quell its civil strife, served notice the United States stands firm in its recognition of Chiang Kai-Shek's national government, and pledged American aid in speeding Chinese economic recovery once peace returns.

In a lengthy exposition of this country's policy toward China, the Chief Executive formally expressed "deep regret" that peace and unity have not been achieved in that country and asserted that China "has a clear responsibility to the other United Nations to eliminate armed conflict."

Seen as Peace Move

Just what prompted issuance of the statement at this time was not spelled out officially, but it appeared likely that it constituted the groundwork for a newly concentrated—and perhaps last ditch—effort to bring Chiang's government and the Communist forces together.

President Truman told his news conference later that the United States all along has wanted Communists included in the Chinese cabinet. This would be in line with the year-old recommendation that the base of the Chiang government be broadened.

He minimized any special significance on the timing of the statement, saying that it had been a year since the last declaration of policy was set forth and that its issuance now was designed to let the American people know what the policy is.

Mr. Truman, in commenting on the formal statement, paid tribute to the work of Gen. George C. Marshall, his personal representative in China, and said he would remain there as long as necessary in the hope of getting things cleaned up.

Simultaneously, the statement stressed anew this nation's pledge of non-interference in China's internal affairs, and the size of United States armed forces in China is being reduced from a peak of 113,000 to "less than 12,000."

As he did just a year ago, Mr. Truman expressed conviction that a united and democratic China is essential to world peace, and that broadening the base of the national government "to make it representative of the Chinese people" would help achieve that objective.

The statement came just a day after Lin Tzu-Han, Communist leader and one-time finance minister in Chiang's government, declared in Yenan that it was "regrettable" that President Truman's suggestions of a year ago have not been fulfilled.

And it followed a demand by Senators Flanders (R-Vt.) and Murray (D-Mont) for an international conference to work out a solution of China's problems. There was no reference in the White House statement, however, to this proposal.

Puts Blame on Reds

The statement laid the blame for the breakdown in negotiations upon the shoulders of the Communists. It declared that Gen. George C. Marshall, the president's personal representative in China, had remained at his post seeking a solution "even though active negotiations have been broken off by the Communist party."

With plain words, Mr. Truman made it clear that the United States is seeking peace in China as its price for long range economic aid.

"When conditions in China improve," he said, " we are prepared to consider aid in carrying out other projects, unrelated to civil strife, which would encourage economic reconstruction and reform in China and, which, in so doing, would promote a general revival of commercial relations between American and Chinese businessmen."

In dealing with a ten-month old plan for military unification of the government and Communist forces, a basic part of Marshall's overall proposal for uniting the two factions, Mr. Truman conceded that its realization had been made difficult by the fighting since last April. At the same time, he contended that the "general principles involved are fundamentally sound."

The policy statement outlined in detail this country's help for China —both before and since Japan's defeat. Mr. Truman called attention, also, to the action of the export-import bank in earmarking $500,000,000 for additional credits to China.

In doing so, however, he made it clear that agreement to extend these additional credits would have to be based upon the policy as enunciated Dec. 15 of last year—the date upon which he urged a broader base for the national government.

"So far," he added in an obvious indication this government would stand upon that condition, "this $500,000,000 remains earmarked, but unexpended."

Truman State

ment on China

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP).—The complete text of today's statement by President Truman on "United States Policy Toward China":

1946

"Last December I made a statement of this government's views regarding China. We believed then and do now that a united and democratic China is of the utmost importance to world peace, that a broadening of the base of the national government to make it representative of the Chinese people will further China's progress toward this goal, and that China has a clear responsibility to the other United Nations to eliminate armed conflict within its territory as constituting a threat to world stability and peace. It was made clear at Moscow last year that these views are shared by our allies, Great Britain and the Soviet Union. On Dec. 27, Mr. Byrnes, Mr. Molotov and Mr. Bevin issued a statement which said, in part:

"The three Foreign Secretaries exchanged views with regard to the situation in China. They were in agreement as to the need for a unified and democratic China under the National government for broad participation by democratic elements in all branches of the National government, and for a cessation of civil strife. They affirmed their adherence to the policy of non-interference in the internal affairs of China."

The policies of this government were also made clear in my statement of last December. We recognize the National government of the Republic of China as the legal government. We undertook to assist the Chinese government in reoccupation of liberated areas and in disarming and repatriating the Japanese invaders. And finally, as China moved toward peace and unity along the lines mentioned, we were prepared to assist the Chinese economically and in other ways.

I asked General Marshall to go to China as my representative. We had agreed upon my statement of the United States government's views and policies regarding China as his directive. He knew full well in undertaking the mission that halting civil strife, broadening the base of the Chinese government and bringing about a united, democratic China were tasks for the Chinese themselves. He went as a great American to make his outstanding abilities available to the Chinese.

Pact on Training Army

During the war, the United States entered into an agreement with the Chinese government regarding the training and equipment of a special force of thirty-nine divisions. That training ended V-J Day and the transfer of the equipment had been largely completed when General Marshall arrived.

The United States, the United Kingdom and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics all committed themselves to the liberation of China, including the return of Manchuria to Chinese control. Our government had agreed to assist the Chinese government in the reoccupation of areas liberated from the Japanese, including Manchuria, because of China's lack of shipping and transport planes. Three armies were moved by air and eleven by sea, to Central China, Formosa, North China and Manchuria. Most of these moves had been made or started when General Marshall arrived.

The disarming and evacuation of Japanese progressed slowly —too slowly. We regarded our commitment to assist the Chinese in this program as of overwhelming importance to the future peace of China and the whole Far East. Surrendered but undefeated Japanese armies and hordes of administrators, technicians, and Japanese merchants, totaling about 3,000,000 persons, had to be removed under the most difficult conditions. At the request of the Chinese government we had retained a considerable number of American troops in China, and immediately after V-J Day we landed a corps of marines in North China. The principal task of these forces was to assist in the evacuation of Japanese. Only some 200,000 had been returned to Japan by the time General Marshall arrived.

Communications Disrupted

General Marshall also faced a most unpropitious internal situation on his arrival in China. Communications throughout the country were badly disrupted due to destruction during the war and the civil conflicts which had broken out since. This disruption was preventing the restoration of Chinese economy, the distribution of relief supplies, and was rendering the evacuation of Japanese a slow and difficult process.

The war-time destruction of factories and plants, the war-induced inflation in China, the Japanese action in shutting down the economy of occupied China immediately after V-J day, and finally the destruction of communications combined to paralyze the economic life of the country, spreading untold hardship to millions, robbing the victory over the Japanese of significance to most Chinese and seriously aggravating all the tensions and discontents that existed in China.

Progress toward solution of China's internal difficulties by the Chinese themselves was essential to the rapid and effective completion of most of the programs in which we had already pledged our assistance to the Chinese government. General Marshall's experience and wisdom were available to the Chinese in their efforts to reach such solutions.

Events moved rapidly upon General Marshall's arrival. With all parties availing themselves of his impartial advice, agreement for a country-wide truce was reached and announced on Jan. 10. A feature of this agreement was the establishment of a unique organization, the Executive Headquarters in Peiping. It was realized that due to poor communications and the bitter feeling on local fronts, generalized orders to cease fire and withdraw might have little chance of being carried out unless some authoritative executive agency, trusted by both sides, could function in any local situation.

Headquarters

The headquarters operated under the leaders of three commissioners — one American, who served as chairman; one Chinese government representative and one representative of the Chinese Communist party. Mr. Walter S. Robertson, charge d'affaires of the American Embassy in China, served as chairman until his return to this country in the fall. In order to carry out its function in the field, Executive Headquarters formed a large number of truce teams, each headed by one American officer, one Chinese government officer and one Chinese Communist officer. They proceeded to all danger spots where fighting was going on or seemed impending and saw to the implementation of the truce terms, often under conditions imposing exceptional hardships and requiring courageous action. The degree of co-operation attained between government and Communist officers in the headquarters and on the truce teams was a welcome proof that despite two decades of fighting these two Chinese groups could work together.

Events moved forward with equal promise on the political front. On Jan. 10, the political consultative conference began its sessions with representatives of the Kuomintang or government party, the Communist party and several minor political parties participating. Within three weeks of direct discussion these groups had come to a series of statesman-like agreements on outstanding political and military problems. The agreements provided for an interim government of a coalition type with representation of all parties, for revision of the draft constitution along democratic lines prior to its discussion and adoption by a national assembly and for reduction of the government and Communist armies and their eventual amalgamation into a small modernized truly national army responsible to a civilian government.

Report by Marshall

In March, General Marshall returned to this country. He reported on the important step the Chinese had made toward peace and unity in arriving at these agreements. He also pointed out that these agreements could not be satisfactorily implemented and given substance unless China's economic disintegration were checked and particularly unless the transportation system could be put in working order. Political unity could not be built on economic chaos. This government had already authorized certain minor credits to the Chinese government in an effort to meet emergency rehabilitation needs as it was doing for other war devastated countries throughout the world. A total of approximately $66,000,000 was involved in six specific projects, chiefly for the purchase of raw cotton, and for ships and railroad repair material.

But these emergency measures were inadequate. Following the important forward step made by the Chinese in the agreements as reported by General Marshall, the Export-Import Bank earmarked a total of $500,000,000 for possible additional credits on a project-by-project basis to Chinese government agencies and private enterprises. Agreement to extend actual credits for such projects would obviously have to be based upon this government's policy as announced Dec. 15, 1945. So far, this $500,000,000 remains earmarked, but unexpended.

While comprehensive large-scale aid has been delayed, this government has completed its war-time lend-lease commitments to China. Lend-lease assistance was extended to China to assist her in fighting the Japanese, and later to fulfill our promise to assist in reoccupying the country from the Japanese. Assistance took the form of goods and equipment and of services. Almost half the total made available to China consisted of services, such as those involved in air and water transportation of troops. According to the latest figures reported, lend-lease assistance to China up to V-J Day totaled approximately $870,000,000. From V-J Day to the end of February, shortly after General Marshall's arrival, the total was approximately $600,000,000—mostly in transportation costs. Thereafter, the program was reduced to the fulfillment of outstanding commitments, much of which was later suspended.

A considerable quantity of civilian goods has also been made available by our agreement with China for the disposal of surplus property, which enabled us to liquidate a sizable indebtedness and to dispose of large quantities of surplus material. During the war the Chinese government furnished Chinese currency to the United States Army for use in building its installations, feeding the troops and other expenses. By the end of the war this indebtedness amounted to something like 150,000,000,000 Chinese dollars. Progressive currency inflation in China rendered it impossible to determine the exact value of the sum in United States currency.

China agreed to buy all surplus property owned by the United States in China and on seventeen Pacific islands and bases with certain exceptions. Six months of negotiations preceded the agreement finally signed in August. It was imperative that this matter be concluded in the Pacific as had already been done in Europe, especially in view of the rapid deterioration of the material in open storage under tropical conditions and the urgent need for the partial alleviation of the acute economic distress of the Chinese people which it was hoped this transaction would permit. Aircraft, all non-demilitarized combat material and fixed installations outside of China were excluded. Thus, no weapons which could be used in fighting a civil war were made available through this agreement.

The Chinese government canceled all but 30,000,000 United States dollars of our indebtedness for the Chinese currency, and promised to make available the equivalent of 35,000,000 United States dollars for use in paying United States governmental expenses in China and acquiring and improving buildings and properties for our diplomatic and consular establishments. An additional sum of 20,000,000 United States dollars is also designated for the fulfillment of a cultural and educational program.

Truce Disregarded

Before General Marshall arrived in China for the second time, in April, there was evidence that the truce agreement was being disregarded. The sincere and unflagging efforts of Executive Headquarters and its truce teams have succeeded in many instances in preventing or ending local engagements and thus saved thousands of lives. But fresh outbreaks of civil strife continued to occur, reaching a crisis of violence in Manchuria with the capture of Changchun by the Communists and where the presence of truce teams had not been fully agreed to by the National government.

A change in the course of events in the political field was equally disappointing. Negotiations between the government and the Communists have been resumed again and again, but they have as often broken down. Although hope for final success has never disappeared completely, the agreements made in January and February have not been implemented, and the various Chinese groups have not since that time been able to achieve the degree of agreement reached at the political consultative conference.

There has been encouraging progress in other fields, particularly the elimination of Japanese from China. The Chinese government was responsible under an Allied agreement for the disarmament of all Japanese military personnel and for the repatriation of all Japanese civilians and military personnel from China, Formosa and French Indo-China north of the sixteenth degree of latitude. Our government agreed to assist the Chinese in this task.

The scope of the job was tremendous. There were about 3,000,000 Japanese, nearly one-half of them Army or Navy personnel to be evacuated. Water and rail transportation had been destroyed or was immobilized. Port facilities were badly damaged and overcrowded with relief and other supplies. The Japanese had to be disarmed, concentrated and then transported to the nearest available port. In some instances this involved long distances. At the ports they had to be individually searched and put through a health inspection. All had to be inoculated. Segregation camps had to be established at the ports to cope with the incidence of epidemic diseases such as Asiatic cholera. Finally, 3,000,000 persons had to be moved by ship to Japan.

Helped Disarm Japanese

American forces helped in the disarmament of Japanese units. Executive headquarters and its truce teams were able to make the complicated arrangements necessary to transfer Japanese across lines and through areas involved in civil conflict on their way to ports of embarkation. American units also participated in the inspections at the port, while American medical units supervised all inoculation and other medical work. Finally, American and Japanese ships under the control of General MacArthur in Japan, and a number of United States Navy ships under the 7th Fleet transported this enormous number of persons to reception ports in Japan.

At the end of last year, approximately 200,000 Japanese had been repatriated. They were leaving Chinese ports at a rate of about 2,500 a day. By March of this year rapidly increased efforts on the part of the American forces and the Chinese authorities involved had increased this rate to more than 20,000 a day. By November, 2,986,438 Japanese had been evacuated and the program was considered completed.

Except for indeterminate numbers in certain parts of Manchuria, only war criminals and technicians retained on an emergency basis by the Chinese government remain. That this tremendous undertaking has been accomplished despite conflict, disrupted communications and other difficulties will remain an outstanding example of successful American-Chinese co-operation toward a common goal.

Much has been said of the presence of United States armed forces in China during the last year. Last fall these forces were relatively large. They had to be. No one could prophesy in advance how well the Japanese forces in China would observe the surrender terms. We had to provide forces adequate to assist the Chinese in the event of trouble. When it became obvious that the armed Japanese would not be a problem beyond the capabilities of the Chinese armies to handle, redeployment was begun at once.

Evacuation Chief Task

The chief responsibility of our forces was that of assisting in evacuation of Japanese. This task was prolonged by local circumstances. Provision of American personnel for the Executive Headquarters and its truce teams has required a fairly large number of men, particularly since the all important network of radio and other communications was provided entirely by the United States. The Executive Headquarters is located at Peiping, a hundred miles from the sea and in an area where there was the possibility of local fighting. Hence, another responsibility was to protect the line of supply to and from headquarters.

Another duty our forces undertook immediately upon the Japanese surrender was to provide the necessary protection so that coal from the great mines northeast of Tientsin could reach the sea for shipment to supply the cities and railroads of Central China. This coal was essential to prevent the collapse of this industrial area. Our marines were withdrawn from this duty last September. Other units of our forces were engaged in searching for the bodies or graves of American soldiers who had died fighting the Japanese in China. Still others were required to guard United States installations and stores of equipment, and to process these for return to this country or sale as surplus property.

At peak strength a year ago we had some 113,000 soldiers, sailors and marines in China. Today this number is being reduced to less than 12,000, including some 2,000 directly concerned with the operations of Executive Headquarters and will be further reduced to the number required to supply and secure the American personnel of Executive Headquarters and the airfield and stores at Tsingtao.

Thus during the past year we have successfully assisted in the repatriation of the Japanese and have subsequently been able to bring most of our own troops home. We have afforded appropriate assistance in the reoccupation of the country from the Japanese. We have undertaken some emergency measures of economic assistance to prevent the collapse of China's economy and have liquidated our own war-time financial account with China.

It is a matter of deep regret that China has not yet been able to achieve unity by peaceful methods. Because he knows how serious the problem is, and how important it is to reach a solution, General Marshall has remained at his post even though active negotiations have been broken off by the Communist party. We are ready to help China as she moves toward peace and genuine democratic government.

The views expressed a year ago by this government are valid today. The plan for political unification agreed to last February is sound. The plan for military unification of last February has been made difficult of implementation by the progress of the fighting since last April, but the general principles involved are fundamentally sound.

China is a sovereign nation. We recognize that fact and we recognize the national government of China. We continue to hope that the government will find a peaceful solution. We are pledged not to interfere in the internal affairs of China. Our position is clear. While avoiding involvement in their civil strife, we will persevere with our policy of helping the Chinese people to bring about peace and economic recovery in their country.

As ways and means are presented for constructive aid to China, we will give them careful and sympathetic consideration. An example of such aid is the recent agricultural mission to China under Dean Hutchison of the University of California sent at the request of the Chinese government. A joint Chinese-American agricultural collaboration commission was formed which included the Hutchison mission. It spent over four months studying rural problems. Its recommendations are now available to the Chinese government, and so also is any feasible aid we can give in implementing those recommendations. When conditions in China improve, we are prepared to consider aid in carrying out other projects, unrelated to civil strife, which would encourage economic reconstruction and reform in China and which, in so doing, would promote a general revival of commercial relations between American and Chinese business men.

We believe that our hopes for China are identical with what the Chinese people themselves most earnestly desire. We shall therefore continue our positive and realistic policy toward China which is based on full respect for her national sovereignty and on our traditional friendship for the Chinese people and is designed to promote international peace.

CHOU PREDICTS CHINA CHANGES

Says Kuomintang Elements Will Oust Extreme Right

J. RODERICK

[The following exclusive interview with China's chief Communist negotiator was obtained in Yenan by John Roderick, of the Associated Press. It gives an authoritative Communist viewpoint of China's future at a moment when President Truman has reiterated the policy of the United States toward China. It was given by Chou, however, before he had access to the President's statement.]

Yenan, Dec. 18 (AP)—Chou En-lai, China's No. 2 Communist and the party's chief negotiator, predicted today that new and vigorous elements in the Kuomintang (Chiang Kai-shek's Government party), now working unnoticed underground, would rise soon to throw off the yoke of extreme Right leadership.

When that time comes, Chou said, other democratic and Left wing elements of the nation would join together to achieve a solid, progressive front.

"The Communists will have broken the back of the Kuomintang military offensive in six months," Chou said, "and within a year there will be sweeping changes effective in China's overall governmental and economic structure."

Continued Four Hours

Chou, whose interview continued for four hours, said he had received no reaction either from Gen. George C. Marshall, President Truman's special envoy, or from Generalissimo Chiang to his recent telegram outlining the two points considered necessary by the Communists before resumption of negotiations. These are abolition of the National Assembly and return of troops to their January 13 position.

He expressed belief that the Government would be unable to start an effective offensive in Manchuria because of an insufficiency of reserves and the necessity of concentrating military efforts elsewhere.

He said the aim of Communist military campaigns within the next few months is to restore the January 13 positions, but that Yenan would not feel an obligation to be limited to this.

Would Evacuate Points

Chou declared that should the Government of Chiang accede to Communist wishes and form a coalition government, the Reds are "fully prepared" to evacuate their troops from Harbin, Tsitsihar, Chefoo and elsewhere.

Chou suggested that a close watch be kept on Shanghai this winter. Recent strikes there were "mere curtain raisers" to what will follow as thousands driven by desperation and hunger begin to protest, he said.

Chou declared that the civil war was not of the Communists' choosing but was "forced on us by the Kuomintang four families, Chiang, Soong, Chen and Kung, who have no other method of safeguarding their enormous wealth."

Munition Purchases

He said negotiations were in progress both at Nanking (capital of the Chinese Government) and Washington for a large Government purchase of munitions. The order would reach at least $200,000,000.

Chou expressed the viewpoint that America soon will be isolated among the family of nations if she persists in her present China policy.

Pauley Upset By Release Of Manchu Data

San Francisco, Dec. 18 (AP)—Edwin W. Pauley, United States reparations commissioner, said here that he was greatly disturbed by the disclosure of his secret report on Manchuria by an unnamed senator.

The report to President Truman and Secretary of State Byrnes, released this week, told of Russian wrecking of Manchuria's industrial economy for "long-range strategic reasons."

"I personally thought the report should be made public," Pauley said yesterday, "but Mr. Byrnes disagreed. He thought it should not be publicized at this time.

"But a Senate committee called for my report on Manchuria and I had no alternative but to give it to them."

Pauley conferred here with Paul V. McNutt before the Ambassador to the Philippines left for the islands.

PROBE IN BALKANS IS URGED BY U. S.

W. RYAN

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 18—(AP) The United States proposed today that the United Nations Security Council "at the earliest possible moment" send to the Balkans a seven-member commission to investigate conditions on both sides of the Greek frontier.

The council, after a session of more thon two hours on Greek complaints that Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria were fomenting guerrilla warfare in northern Greece, adjourned until tomorrow (10:30 a.m., E.S.T.) without taking action.

Britain Backs Proposal

The American proposal was hailed promptly by Britain, Australia and Brazil as a concrete step toward settling the differences between Greece and her neighbors.

If the American suggestion is adopted, it will be the first time the Security Council will have ordered investigators into any country involved in complaints before it. Adoption, however, will require unanimity of the five permanent members of the Security Council, since ordering an on-the-spot investigation of a dispute is a "substantive" matter.

The session was put over until tomorrow on the insistence of Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko, after Chairman Herschel V. Johnson of the United States had asked for an afternoon session. Gromyko said another session today would be inconvenient for him.

Johnson's resolution proposed that the investigation commission be composed of the five permanent members of the council—the U. S., Britain, Russia, France and China—plus Brazil and Poland. The group, authorized in advance to seek out information from governmental authorities, would be dispatched to the Balkans not later than Jan. 15, 1947, under the terms of the proposal, and would report back to the council on its findings as soon as possible.

Asks Judgment Be Withheld

Johnson urged that until such a commission had reported back, the council withhold judgment on Greece's complaints and the counter-allegations of her three neighbor states. He said the United States believed an investigation would be "an essential first step" for deliberating the complaints.

"I shall, myself, avoid making any comments on the merits of the various allegations and counter-allegations unless forced to do so by the statements of other members," Johnson said.

Termed "Highly Dangerous"

Sir Alexander Cadogan, of Great Britain, hailed the Johnson resolution and urged its quick adoption. He characterized the Balkan situation as "highly dangerous" and one not to be solved by mere discussion at the council table.

Paul Hasluck, Australian delegate, also welcoming the proposal, said the statements here by the four nations involved in the dispute made it clear that the matter merited further investigation. He said the dispute was one of "considerable gravity."

Henrique de Souza Gomez, Brazilian delegate, said the deliberations on Greece's complaints would get nowhere without adoption of the proposal, and he urged that it be adopted unanimously.

Constantin Tsaldaris, Greek Prime Minister, has asked the Security Council to send an on-the-spot commission to investigate conditions on the Greek frontier. The three neighbor states countered with demands that a commission investigate conditions within Greece itself, where they charged that the royalist-dominated Government was responsible for conditions of poverty and unrest.

Kosanovic Assails Charges

Sava N. Kosanovic, Yugoslav Ambassador to the United States, making his third appearance before the Security Council in defense of his country, branded the Greek charges as absurd and unscrupulous, and accused Tsaldaris of wasting the Council's time with a "weak and irresponsible case."

"I must categorically affirm that it is untrue that Yugoslavia is menacing the territorial integrity of Greece," he said, replying to Tsaldaris's charge that Greece's neighbors planned a coup de main to sever Greek Macedonia.

Bulgarian and Albanian representatives once again were at the council table to participate in the debate without vote.

DAY

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 18 (AP)—The United States proposed today that the United Nations Security Council send a commission to the Balkans to investigate conditions on both sides of the Greek frontier, and urged the Council to withhold judgment on Greece's complaints against her neighbor states until a report was at hand.

Herschel V. Johnson, chairman and American delegate to the Council, said the United States believed such an investigation "is an essential first step in the Council's deliberations on the Greek charges.

"I shall, myself, avoid making any comments on the merits of the various allegations and counter-allegations unless forced to do so by the statements of other members," Johnson said.

Seven Members Proposed

Johnson's resolution proposed that the five permanent members of the Council—the United States, Russia, Britain, France and China—plus Brazil and Poland, be represented on such a commission.

Greece has charged Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria with fomenting the guerrilla warfare now raging near the northern Greek frontier.

Johnson proposed that the commission proceed to the trouble area not later than January 15, 1947, and that it submit to the Council "at the earliest possible date," a report of its findings.

Sir Alexander Cadogan, British delegate, welcomed the Johnson proposal, saying it would be impossible for the council sitting here to arrive at a just conclusion.

Council Adjourns

Johnson's proposal also won prompt backing from Australia and Brazil.

The Council adjourned at 1.35 P.M. until 10.30 A.M. tomorrow after Soviet Delegate Andrei Gromyko objected to an afternoon session as inconvenient. Johnson urged that the resolution be disposed of before the Christmas holidays.

The proposal arose as the Council resumed its long debate on Greece's charge that Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia fomented the current bloody guerrilla warfare in northern Greece to further their own territorial aims.

Atomic Vote Put Off

Greece has asked an on-the-spot investigation, and the three neighbor countries have countered with demands for an investigation of conditions within Greece itself, blaming the Royalist-dominated Government of Greek Premier Constantin Tsaldaris for the strife.

Sava N. Kasanovich, Yugoslav Ambassador to the United States, making his third appearance before the Council in defense of his country against this complaint, branded the Greek charges as careless and unscrupulous.

He accused Tsaldaris of wasting the Council's time with a "weak and irresponsible" case, and repeated his demand for an investigation of conditions in Grece under King George II.

Bulgarian and Albanian representatives were at the Council table again. The Greek complaint has now been officially designated as a "dispute," and the neighbor nations, which are not United Nations members, will participate without vote in the debate.

AP Dispatches Cited

Kasanovich denied that Yugoslavia suppressed freedom of information for foreign correspondents, as Tsaldris had charged. He referred to dispatches of the Associated Press and other agencies from northern Greece to demonstrate that the northern partisans themselves sought an investigation by the Big Three powers into conditions there.

The United Nations Atomic Energy Commission meanwhile has deferred until Friday, at Russian insistence, its vote on the United States proposals for international control, for which United States Delegate Bernard M. Baruch sought immediate approval yesterday.

Soviet Delegate Andrei Gromyko, suggesting that the American control proposal was not entirely in conformity with the United Nations General Assembly's disarmament resolution voted last week, won agreement for his request for more time to study the plan.

Most of the commission members are already on record as approving the American proposal, but China and Poland supported Gromyko's contention that a quick vote might later produce a threat to unanimity.

Views Of Smuts

Pretoria, Transvaal, Dec. 18 (AP). Prime Minister Jan Christiaan Smuts expressed disappointment in a broadcast tonight that the United Naticns had rejected his plea for incorporation of the former German colony of Southwest Africa into the Union of South Africa.

"The Union Government is determined to maintain at least the position which was given it under the (League of Nations) mandate and to discharge the trust it has undertaken to the inhabitants of Southwest Africa and to the Union itself, to whose security Southwest Africa is essential," he said.

"We found a solid wall of prejudice against the color policies of South Africa which not even the most efficient publicity could have broken down in the time at our disposal."

Asks Palestine Rule by U. N.

Lyttelton Asserts Britain Should Surrender Its Mandate

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Dec. 18 (AP).—Oliver Lyttleton, ranking member of the British Conservative party after Winston Churchill, said today that Great Britain should surrender the Palestine mandate to the United Nations.

Mr. Lyttleton declared in an interview that the average person in England feels the Palestine problem is "insoluble" and added it is one which properly should be worked out by the U. N. Mr. Lyttleton also addressed fifty representatives of the International General Electric Company.

Mr. Lyttelton headed Britain's war production from 1942 to 1945. His tour of General Electric's Schenectady works followed inspections of G. E. plants in Bridgeport, Conn.; Cleveland, Ohio, and Erie, Pa.

BRITISH REPORTED WORKING IN SPAIN TO OUST FRANCO

A. CAVSHVN

LONDON, Dec. 18. — (AP) An authoritative government source said today the British diplomatic mission in Spain was engaged in the unusual task of contacting various political groups with a view to supplanting Generalissimo Franco and that it would not be "surprising" if the United States were doing the same thing.

The State Department in Washington said the United States government was standing on its contention that the Franco problem is one for the Spanish people to work out, and that the government was not undertaking any study of the possibility of a new coalition government such as reported under discussion by British diplomats in Madrid.)

NIGHT

Say British Talks Failed

The informant, who requested that his name not be used, said British diplomats had talked with representative Spanish political groups ranging from "the right centrists to the left wing centrists" in "examining the possibility" of setting up a stable interim government which would replace the Franco dictatorship until elections could be held.

The informant did not discuss how the Franco regime might be deposed if Britain satisfied herself that an interim government could be set up, but he did say the diplomats' examination had included the possibility of gaining support from the army.

Asked whether activities of this kind by a diplomatic mission were unusual, the informant said British relations with Spain were so unusual that it made little difference.

"It is not diplomatically usual for one government to make it public, as we have done, that Britain would like to see a changed government in Spain," he said.

Meanwhile, the British Press Association reported that Eugenie Victoria, former Queen of Spain, would fly to Lisbon, Portugal, Saturday to spend the Christmas holidays with her son, Don Juan, pretender to the Spanish throne.

Don Juan, repeatedly connected with reports that Franco might step out and put him back on the throne abdicated years ago by the late King Alphonso XIII, is living in a villa on the outskirts of Lisbon.

The former queen is a granddaughter of former British Queen Victoria and came to England about a month ago from Switzerland where she lived during the war. The former queen lunched with King George VI and Queen Elizabeth at Buckingham Palace last Friday.

Seek Franco's Downfall

The disclosure of Britain's maneuvers was made after Labor Party Secretary Morgan Phillips had declared yesterday that Britain was the only power "working continuously both inside and outside Spain" for the Spanish leader's downfall.

Phillips was making a detailed reply to an attack on the government's foreign policy by the Spellthorne branch of the Labor party.

The Spellthorne branch had asserted, "Britain opposes any policy which threatens Fascism in Spain."

Sir Victor Mallet, British ambassador in Madrid, was making preparations to leave the Spanish capital in accordance with the terms of a United Nations General Assembly resolution for the withdrawal of top diplomats from Madrid.

Rome dispatches said Italian Foreign Minister Pietro Nenni informed the Spanish ambassador today that Italy also would follow the United Nations lead and withdraw her ambassador from Madrid.

The British informant said at one time it seemed Britain's efforts in Spain to change the government would be crowned with success, but foreign denunciations of Franco before the UN Assembly had strengthened him with the army, with the result that the prospects of ending the regime were impaired.

Diplomatic observers concluded that the British hoped that if a representative group of anti-Franco elements could be brought together the pressure on Franco would be intensified to the extent that he would be compelled to give up his leadership.

The British Trades Union Congress appointed a delegation to place before Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin a resolution calling for severance of all economic and diplomatic relations with the government.

British Studying Chance Of New Spain Regime

1946 DAY

London, Dec. 18 (AP)—A Government source said today that members of the British diplomatic mission to Spain had been "examining the possibility" of whether a coalition Government could be established in Spain to replace the Franco regime and carry on until elections could be held.

The source said the examination included talks with representative groups of Spaniards ranging from "the Right-wing centrists to the Left-wing centrists."

Asked whether activities of this kind by a diplomatic mission were not unusual, the spokesman said that British relationships with Spain were so unusual that it made little difference.

Perhaps U.S., Too

"It is not diplomatically usual for one government to make it public, as we have done, that Britain would like to see a changed government in Spain," he added.

The spokesman declared that while he could not speak for the United States Government it would not surprise him if the United States were examining the situation in Spain in the same way.

The informant did not discuss the method by which an end to the Franco regime might be accomplished.

Denunciations Denounced

He said it had seemed at one stage that prospects for the establishment of an interim government were bright, but that the denunciations directed against the Franco regime in the United Nations had enabled the Spanish leader to consolidate support for himself within the Army on the basis that Spain was being attacked by foreign elements.

Those denunciations, he said, have definitely impaired the prospects of ending Franco's rule.

The spokesman said that the British examination had included the possibility of deriving support for a new Spanish government from the Army—which, he said, did not appear to be solidly behind Franco.

Bevin Foe Asks British Denial Of U. S. Entente

Crossman Demands 'Clear' Statement by Government, Questions Arms Parleys

LONDON, Dec. 18 (AP)—Richard H. S. Crossman, a leader of the Parliamentary Laborite rebellion against Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's foreign policy, appealed today for a "clear" government statement that Great Britain is "in no wise committed to a military entente" with the United States.

In a letter to "The London Times" on the eve of Bevin's return from the Big Four Council sessions in New York, Crossman reiterated that there was a possible connection between peacetime conscription in this country and proposals for a long-range standardization of British and American arms. "But my main contention," he wrote, "is that an Anglo-American entente, which many Americans ardently desire, so far from preventing war would make it more likely."

Declaring that Price Minister Attlee "gave ground to believe" in a recent speech that he "opposes the main proposals of the Fulton (Mo.) speech" of Winston Churchill, Crossman wrote that Attlee was "not completely unambiguous," and added: "It is to be hoped, in the interests both of this country and America, that the government will make it clear that we have no special partnership with the United States and are in no wise committed to a military entente."

Crossman's letter to "The Times" was in reply to a cable to that paper from Randolph Churchill (son of Britain's war-time Prime Minister, who is in America) expressing "surprise" that Crossman was worried over arms standardization and conscription.

Crossman wrote that he thought he was supported in his belief "by facts available to the public."

"War Office spokesmen have stated that standardization of British armaments to American patterns is being discussed," he wrote. He added that America, without plans for peace-time conscription, and Britain, with such plans but with only one-third the population of the United States, "are maintaining armies of approximately the same strength."

"Under present arrangements, therefore," he added, "in the event of a major war against a third power, our armies, supplied in part from American factories, would have to bear the brunt of the fighting while America mobilized."

Bevin Held Unlikely To Purge His Office

London, Dec. 18 (AP)—Ernest Bevin, Foreign Secretary, is unlikely to pure the Foreign Office of its public school types mainly because he rejects a view that they, and not he, frames British policy in international affairs, an official source said today.

Critical of what they call Bevin's "pro-American line," members of the parliamentary Labor party's foreign affairs groups have called for a shakeup of Foreign Office personnel. They have demanded that Socialist sympathizers rather than the products of a "Tory public school system" evolve and administer international affairs for the Labor Government.

Almost Monotonous

The official source said this complaint aganist Bevin was becoming "almost monotonous."

Laborities probably would have been the first to complain if a Conservative government ousted Socialists from what was supposed to be a "nonpolitical civil service," he said.

Bevin, due back in London from New York Friday, will make a foreign affairs broadcast to the nation Sunday night.

Britain Forewarns Group

LONDON, Dec. 18 (AP)—Great Britain served notive on the Intergovernmental Refugee Committee today that it would not underwrite half of the organization's proposed $14,400,000 budget for the first six months of 1947. Sir George Rendel told the committee's sixth plenary session that, under arrangements made in 1943, Britain and the United States agreed to contribute 50 per cent each of the organization's operational funds in so far as they were not contributed voluntarily by other countries. He said Britain now felt she could not continue this pledge.

Britons To Get More Clothing

London, Dec. 18 (AP)—Next year will bring a slight increase in clothes coupons for Mr. and Mrs. John Bull, but the end to clothes rationing is "not yet in sight," Sir Stafford Cripps said today.

In the new rationing year which begins March 1, each Briton can expect 64 coupons, compared with approximately 60 for the current twelve months, Sir Stafford, president of the Board of Trade, told the House of Commons.

Eight Coupons For Dress

The additional coupons will be enough to buy eight pocket handkerchiefs or one pair of full-fashioned hose and two handkerchiefs. A woman's dress still takes from eight to twelve coupons.

Bed sheets, previously available only to bomb victims and newly married couples, will be rationed for the first time and the extra four coupons will be enough to buy one single-sized sheet.

"Owing to the continued shortage of labor and the shorter working week in the cotton and wool industries," Sir Stafford said, "supplies are not likely to increase and may, in fact, decrease."

AUSTRIA OBTAINS BRITISH GRANTS

London, Dec. 18 (A. P.).—Great Britain has made a grant of $34,000,000 to Austria, along with a $6,000,000 credit earmarked for financing wool purchases, Minister of State Hector McNeil told the House of Commons today. He assured a questioner "no political strings" were attached.

Britons To Get Meat Gift From Argentina

London, Dec. 18 (AP)—Each of Britain's 40,000,000 citizens will receive a gift of meat from Argentina valued at 5 pence (about 10 American cents).

The Ministry of Food announced that in the week beginning January 12, each purchaser will be given a rebate of 5pence when he buys his weekly ration of 1 shilling 4 pence (about 28 American cents).

President Perón of Argentina announced at the signing of the recent Anglo-Argentine agreement that his country would send a meat gift to the British people as a gesture of friendship. Prime Minister Attlee responded with a formal expression of thanks.

Blum Puts Lid On Statements

Paris, Dec. 18 (AP)—The Socialist Government of Leon Blum ordered today that no civil servant of France give interviews or press conferences without first receiving authorization from the Premier himself.

The measure was believed adopted because of statements given out by members of the preceding Bidault Government that were later denied when the public reaction was unsatisfactory.

The Cabinet meanwhile discussed eliminating certain Government subsidies, a Foreign Office source said, but then decided to grant indemnities to French industries that had suffered a loss of production because of the coal shortage.

Franc Rallies

The pledge of the 74-year-old Premier that he would defend the franc bolstered "black Bourse" values at about 300 francs to the dollar, as against 350 last week. The British pound stood at about 850, as against 900 two days ago. The official rates are 119 francs to the dollar and 480 to the pound.

One of Bidault's Cabinet members, interviewed by Robert Wilson of the Associated Press last month, said at the conclusion: "It is all right with me if you put all of that in print, but, of course, I may have to deny some points tomorrow."

He did.

Vote Of Confidence

Similar incidents were experienced by other newspaper correspondents whose stories were printed in the Paris press.

The Blum edict signifies that the new Premier plans to guard against the issuance of any embarrassing statements during the few weeks his interim Government holds office. A regularly constituted Government is scheduled to take office my mid-January.

The Cabinet won its five-week tenure by a 544-2 vote as Communists, Radical-Socialists and Popular Republican Movement (MRP) combined in a compromise.

The Communists served notice, however, that they would continue to demand the important Ministry of National Defense.

Giral Silent On Report Of Cabinet Reshuffle

Paris, Dec. 18 (AP) — Dr. Jose Giral, president of the Spanish Republican Government in exile, arrived by plane tonight from New York, but declined to comment on reports that he expected to reshuffle his Cabinet within a few days to avoid an internal crisis.

It was known, however, that Socialists and Syndicalists of the National Labor Conference (CNT) were protesting their "incompatibility" with Communists in the Cabinet.

Followers of the Socialist leader, Indaleció Prieto, said they believed that the exile government must be recast in order to be considered satisfactory by Britain, the United States and France.

JUDGES ANTI-FEMINIST

PARIS—(AP) Although the recently-ratified French constitution guarantees equality of rights to men and women, French magistrates stubbornly remain anti-feminists.

At a recent meeting they voted a motion protesting an eventual nomination of women to posts other than judges of children's courts, objecting to planned nominations of women to posts of district attorneys, public prosecutors and judges.

74 Fliers' Bodies Taken To France From Rumania

By The Associated Press.

PARIS, Dec. 18—The bodies of seventy-four American airmen who died in bombing raids from 1943 to 1945 on the German-controlled oil fields at Ploesti have been brought from Rumania for temporary burial in France, the American Graves Registration Command said today. Almost 600 bodies are expected to be recovered, the command said.

Maj. Charles Jorgensen of Harrisburg, Ill., and seven enlisted men of a searching unit that has been working in Rumania served as guard of honor when the first bodies were dispatched in a special car recently.

3 French Soldiers Killed In Clash

Paris, Dec. 18 (AP)—A French Press Agency dispatch from Hanoi, French Indo-China, said today that three French soldiers and fifteen Viet-Namese were killed yesterday after a French military truck carrying food was fired on by a Viet-Namese defense post near Grand Lac.

The dispatch said that after the shooting French reinforcements shelled houses in which Viet-Namese snipers were believed to be hiding. This incident, the French press said, cost the lives of two Frenchmen and fifteen Viet-Namese.

The report said a third French soldier was killed later while sporadic shooting was still in progress. It added that French authorities in Hanoi ordered the "immediate destruction" of the Viet-Namese post.

A French press agency dispatch from Saigon said that ten French soldiers were killed yesterday near Cuchi, 18 miles northwest of Saigon, during a clash of four French companies and some 300 Viet-Namese.

U.S. To Beam Radio At Russia

Berlin, Dec. 18 (AP)—The United States State Department has begun using powerful transmitters erected at Munich to push its radio broadcasts into the Balkans and the Soviet Union, officials in the American Military Government's political division said today.

The four Munich transmitters, relaying broadcasts originating in New York, will replace State Department operations from Radio Algiers, scheduled to end December 31 at request of the French Government.

A relay point on European soil is necessary because broadcasts from New York cannot now reach into the Soviet Union, officials here said, although Radio Moscow, because of technical and topographical advantages, can penetrate into the United States.

Balkan Sending Begun

Relays to the Balkans began last Sunday. Soviet officials here have been notified that programs for Russia will begin shortly. The Russians indicated no objection to this use of German facilities.

"And so," commented an official here, "if later there arises a Russian objection to anything contained in the broadcasts, it will be a matter between Moscow and Washington and New York.

The Balkan and European relays which began Sunday go out in Czechoslovak, French, English, Yugoslav, Hungarian, Austrian, Bulgarian, Romanian and Polish languages.

News Included

They contain the regular "Voice of America" content of news and cultural programs which officials say, is designed to present and clarify the American point of view on foreign policy.

The French Government, proded by leftist elements, terminated permission for the use of Algiers facilities on the ground that it was "unable to prolong indefinitely an arrangement growing out of wartime agreements, the continuance of which is considered abnormal in time of peace."

Reds Keep Berlin Control

Meanwhile, inside Germany, the Russians still retain their unilateral control of the powerful Radio Berlin, despite repeated requests from the western powers that it be placed under quadripartite control.

The Russians retain not only the frequency and the name of Radio Berlin but its broadcasting house, which is locted in what now is the British sector of the city and its transmitter, in the French sector. These facilites were taken by the Russians when they were occupiers of the city.

U.S. Troops Raid Polish Displaced Persons Camp

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 18 (AP). More than 1,000 American troops raided a Polish displaced persons camp today and arrested at least twelve persons suspected of illegal traffic in currency.

Tanks, armored cars and armed constabulary soldiers searched the Wildflecke area, 30 miles southeast of Fulda, half a day in one of the largest raids undertaken by the American Army law-enforcement agency. About 15,000 Poles were in the camp, one of the largest in the United States zone.

9th Division to Be Deactivated

FRANKFORT ON THE MAIN, Germany, Dec. 18 (AP)—The United States Army Ninth Division will be deactivated by Jan. 15, 1947, Army headquarters here said tonight. The division landed in North Africa in November, 1942, participated in the Normandy landings and fought also in Northern France, the Ardennes, the Rhineland and Central Europe. It suffered 33,864 casualties and captured 113,324 prisoners.

AMG To Bar 'Smokes' At German Barter Mart

Berlin, Dec. 18 (AP)—The American Military Government moved today to take Berlin off the "cigarette standard" of exchange.

After January 1, it was announced, cigarettes will not be accepted at the officially sanctioned barter market where American men and women have been trading their "smokes" for furs, gowns, silverware and other articles offered by Germans.

The announcement carried no explanation, but it is known that Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, deputy military governor, has been investigating the barter market with a view to eliminating or reducing the trading value of cigarettes.

In black markets, cigarettes still bring 1,200 marks per carton ($120 by the military exchange rate.)

Grain Is Rushed to Naples As Rioting Spreads in Italy

ROME, Dec. 18—(AP) The Italian government rushed a portion of its rapidly diminishing grain supply to hungry Naples today, amid new reports of food riots in that strike-bound city and elsewhere in southern Italy.

Unless grain arrives from abroad, Italian granaries will be swept bare within eight weeks—leaving Italians without bread until the 1947 harvest.

Premier Alcide de Gasperi, taking cognizance of strikes in protest against food shortages and high prices, broadcast an appeal to southern Italians to return to their jobs and maintain discipline. He said that Italy was "standing in line at Washington, Buenos Aires, Ottawa and London," and promised that grain would be diverted from the better-supplied northern Italy.

"We will obtain more if we show ourselves disciplined," De Gasperi said. "The moment is one of nervousness and general agitation."

Rome newspapers called for a "Christmas truce" on rising prices.

The general strike in Naples, called two days ago by the city's Chamber of Labor, left only essential public utilities in operation. Naples dispatches said that police drove off a mob which attempted to break into an UNRRA warehouse.

Other reports said that stores were sacked by bread-seeking crowds in Naples and Salerno, and that it was feared the strike would extend to Reggio Calabria and Bari.

The Italian government deferred last night a cut in bread rations from 8.8 ounces to seven ounces, on the basis of last-minute word from Argentina that ships might soon be available there to bring grain to Italy.

UNRRA officials said they were waiting word from the International Emergency Food committee in Washington on Italy's winter food allotments.

Naples Gripped By General Strike

Rome, Dec. 18 (AP)—All Naples province was gripped by a general strike today in protest against rising prices and a scarcity of bread. Premier Alcide de Gasperi appealed to the strikers to return to work, promising that conditions would be better next month.

Stores were reported sacked in Naples and Salerno and reports were that the general strike might extend to Reggio Calabria. Demonstrations against living costs occurred in Bari. Rome newspapers asked a "Christmas truce" on rising prices.

The strike was called two days ago by the Naples Chamber of Labor. Only esschtial public utilities were operating and these at a minimum and only a few stores remained open. Dispatches said a crowd attempting to break into an UNRRA warehouse in Naples was dispersed by police last night.

Santa Wears G. I. Garb in Bremen

6000 U. S. Soldiers Give Parties and Contribute Toys for 110,000 German Children.

Bremen, Dec. 18 (A. P.)—Christmas stated today, a week ahead of schedule, for 110,000 German children in the Bremen Enclave.

The Santa Clauses are approximately 6,000 American G. I.'s who garrison this port. They have contributed $44,000 and built thousands of toys in their spare time to insure that every one of the children in the area has something for Christmas.

Each unit is entertaining several thosand children in a series of Christmas parties. Those living in outlying areas will be served by Santa Clauses traveling in Army trucks.

The movement started voluntarily and then was taken up by the entire garrison. Enlisted men's and officers' clubs donated most of the money. Two bargeloads of gifts were ordered in Holland and Belgium. Toy assembly lines were set up in soldier' clubs. Candy was donated over a period of weeks from each soldier's post exchange ration.

Guerrillas Surrendering

ATHENS, Dec. 18 (AP).—A summary of official reports today disclosed that more than 350 guerillas had surrendered in northern Greece in the last forty-eight hours, coming down from snow-laden mountains where they said scores of their fellows were dying from sub-zero weather and lack of food.

The sharp increase in the number of reported surrenders followed an intensive leaflet-dropping campaign by 3d Army Corps planes. The leaflets emphasized that the deadline for surrender under an amnesty offer was Dec. 21.

A delayed dispatch from Joseph C. Goodwin, Associated Press correspondent, said 3d Army units were taking prisoners in mopping up operations around the foot of Mount Olympus, on the Gulf of Salonika.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Dec. 17 (Delayed) (AP)—Seventeen ships belonging to the Hungarian River and Sea Shipping Company were returned to the Hungarian Government today. They had been held in the United States zone since the war ended.

Striking Building Workers Stone Parliament, Denounce Reaction

BUDAPEST, Dec. 17 (Delayed) (AP).—More than 3,000 persons, shouting such slogans as "Out with the reactionaries," demonstrated before the Hungarian Parliament today, breaking some windows and kicking in the building's double doors.

Most of the demonstrators were striking building workers. Members of the group said the workers wanted to set up work and food co-operatives and were denouncing the Small Holders party for its opposition.

U.S. Prisoner Of Slavs Found Well-Treated

Belgrade, Dec. 18 (AP) — Miss Myrtis Coldtharp, Red Cross nurse from Turnersville, Texas, said today that she had visited William Wedge, former United States Embassy employé, at his prison cell in Croatia, where he is serving eight years for a May Day jeep accident involving the death of a Yugoslav officer, and had found the 21-year-old American in good health and spirits.

Miss Coldtharp and Florence Burrows, secretary to the American Consul in Zagreb, traveled to Lep Glava, north of Zagreb, where Wedge is imprisoned, and were permitted to spend two hours with the former Newton (Mass.) resident in what they described as a modern, clean and comfortable prison.

Requests Sweets, Books

Miss Coldtharp said that Wedge, who is a World War II veteran, wears his own army uniform and does not do any work. He needed no supplementary food rations, she said, but asked for sweets and books.

The Red Cross nurse said he told her that he was receiving good treatment.

Wedge, who was working as night watchman at the United States Embassy in Belgrade at the time the incident occurred, was sentenced by a Yugoslav court on September 10 to eight years' imprisonment and ordered to pay $8,000 indemnities.

Food Main American Problem

VIENNA, Dec. 18 (AP)—The critical food situation dominated every other problem of the occupation authorities in the American zone during November, Gen. Mark W. Clark's monthly report to the Joint Chiefs of Staff said today.

The food ration was raised on Nov. 11 from 1,220 to 1,550 calories a day to equal the German ration. Tuberculosis remained a grave threat, although there was no increase in the number of new cases reported during the month.

NAZI PURGE CRITICIZED

Moscow, Dec. 18 (A. P.).—A. Alexandrov, commentator for Trud, Soviet trade union organ, asserted today that denazification in the British and United States zones of Germany "either is not carried out at all or is handled so that former Nazis, big industrialists and Fascists prosper under the protection of an Anglo-Saxon program for the rehabilitation of Germany."

The writer said that certain political circles abroad had found it expedient to assail the Potsdam decisions, and he asserted that Robert Murphy (political adviser to the United States military commander in Germany) had made an "emotional" radio address to the German people in which he employed such words as "wonderful" to describe the efforts of the Germans to restore democracy.

Polish Woman's Term Upheld

WARSAW, Dec. 17 (delayed) (AP).—A military tribunal today reaffirmed the sentence of five years' imprisonment pronounced Nov. 12 against Mrs. Irena Dmochowska, formerly of Chicago, after her conviction of conspiring against the Polish government. The tribunal also denied her motion for a new trial. She testified during the trial that she had used her position as a translator in the United States Embassy in trying to help two killers of a Polish political leader escape from Poland.

Royalty Asked To Defer Visit

Johannesburg, South Africa, Dec. 18 (AP)—The African National Congress has sent a message to Great Britain's King and Queen asking them to stay away from the Union of South Africa so long as non-Europeans do not enjoy freedom here, it was revealed at a meeting of 500 Africans and Indians tonight.

Dr. Y. I. Dadoo, Indian leader, said "the Indian delegation at the United Nations proved that a new India was coming. Not only for India, but for all other oppressed peoples of the world."

A royal visit to South Africa early next year has been announced from London. The King and Queen are to be accompanied by the Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose.

The Transvaal Indian Congress has joined the Natal Indians in agreeing to boycott the royal visit. These groups represent 90 per cent of South Africa's Indian population, whose charges of racial discrimination against the South African Government were indorsed by the United Nations General Assembly in New York after presentation of the case by India's delegation.

Split Urged In Jerusalem

Jerusalem, Dec. 18 (AP)—Chief Justice Sir William Fitzgerald published today an eighteen-month-old civic study commission report which recommended that Jerusalem be divided into three administrative sections for Jews, Arabs and British.

The commission was made up of five Britons, headed by Fitzgerald. It was appointed by the Palestine Government. Both Jews and Arabs, unrepresented, opposed the appointment.

Holy Places In British Zone

The report recommended that the British zone include the holy places and that the Jewish and Arab sections be included under British supervision under an "administrative council," which would be appointed by the British.

The report recommended that each section hold elections for councillors which would elect district mayors, but specified that the high commissioner, Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham, could depose any elected mayor by decree.

Arabs Protest Taxation

The Arab Executive, which is to leave Friday for a meeting in Cairo, met today and sent a note to the high commissioner protesting the report by the British Colonial Secretary, Sir Arthur Creech-Jones that illegal immigration to date had cost $7,600,000, which was being charged against the Government of Palestine.

"The fact that this sum is being charged against the Government of Palestine, which means that Arab workers pay a part, amounts to making Arabs pay for illegal immigration of Jews," said Dr. Hussein F. Khalidi. "This situation is so ludicrous as to be utterly unheard of."

In Jerusalem, police said a Jew was shot dead by guards at RAF headquarters when he alighted from a taxi and opened fire when challenged. The taxi drove away, but stopped a block from the scene, where the driver was arrested. The body of the dead Jew was found in the rear seat along with leaflets and a grenade, the police reported.

ANOTHER JEW SENT TO WHIPPING POST

Jerusalem, Dec. 17 (Delayed) (A. P.).—A Jerusalem military court today sentenced a 17-year-old Jew to a month's imprisonment and twelve strokes at the whipping post after convicting him of possessing a leaflet bomb.

Two days ago, after a military court had sentenced another Jew to receive eighteen strokes and a year's imprisonment, the Jewish underground organization, Irgun Zvai Leumi, broadcast a warning that "we will treat British soldiers the same way," and military spokesman asknowledged that they were "taking the business seriously."

It was also learned that a Lancaster bomber yesterday returned an unrevealed number of Jews to Palestine from Eritrea, where they had been detained. On landing at Lydda, the police said, two Jews were wounded when one of four guards accidentally discharged a Sten gun. Government spokesmen said there may be a statement later in the week about the return of the Eritrea detainees.

INDIANS TO DELAY SOVEREIGNTY VOTE

Deferment of Action on Nehru's Resolution Gives Chance for Appeal to Moslems

NEW DELHI, India, Dec. 18 (AP)—V. Acharya Kripalani, president of the Congress party, said tonight that it was "quite unlikely" that the Constituent Assembly would vote before January on a resolution declaring India an independent sovereign republic. The resolution was written by Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, the Congress party's leading representative in the Interim Government.

Such delay in the voting would allow time for another effort to bring the Moslem League into the Assembly. Some Congress party sources believe there is still room for negotiations with the League, and that immediate adoption of the resolution might block such negotiations.

There have been unconfirmed reports that Mohandas K. Gandhi, spiritual leader of the Congress party, favors the Nehru resolution but believes that postponement of action might have its advantages.

The Congress party's Working Committee is expected to map the party's strategy tomorrow.

Debate On Proposal By Nehru Resumed

New Delhi, Dec. 18 (AP)—The Constituent Assembly resumed debate today on a proposal to delay, until the Moslem League and the Indian States end their boycott of the Assembly, passage of Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru's resolution to declare India an independent, sovereign republic.

There were indications that those supporting the postponement had gained some ground in the last two days, but it appeared doubtful they could rally sufficient strength to block early passage of the resolution.

NEHRU IS BACK IN NEW DELHI

To Participate In Acrimonious Independence Debate

P. GROVER

Bombay, Dec. 18 (AP)—Jawaharlal Nehru, the Congress party's leading minister in the interim government, cut short his stay in eastern India and was back in New Delhi today to participate in the increasingly acrimonious debate by the Constituent Assembly over the timing of a "declaration of independence" for India.

His own general position has been made clear. While he declined to clarify confused reports of one section of a speech he made at a recent mass meeting in historic Benares, his secretary, Mathai, said today that there was no change in the position.

"You can quote me as stating that the intention is to have India an independent nation as soon as a constitution is drafted," Mathai said.

Sunday Statement Quoted

To that could be added the statement Nehru was quoted as making in Benares last Sunday:

"We have not entered the Constituent Assembly to place our decisions on a silver dish and dance attendance on the British Government for acceptance."

One Indian reporter, who believed Nehru had said at Benares that India would announce herself out of the British Empire in two or three days, was declared by Nehru to be wrong in his report. But the incident itself was significant.

[The account of the Indian reporter, who represented the Times of India, was carried Sunday by the Associated Press.]

Final Turning Point

Congress-minded Indians believe that a resolution by Nehru, now before the Constituent Assembly, is intended to be akin to a declaration of independence. The Indian reporter's "misquotation," when published in Bombay, did not excite special attention by Indian readers. Nehru was believed to be referring to possible early adoption of his resolution by the Assembly. To Indian Congress followers, eager for independence, the resolution is almost the final turning point in the long struggle.

The main paragraph of Nehru's resolution says:

"This Constituent Assembly declares its firm and solemn resolve to proclaim India as an independent sovereign republic and to draw up for her future guidance a constitution."

Try To Avert Passage

Some independents in the Assembly are trying to avert immediate passage of the resolution in order to give the Moslem League an opportunity to reconsider its present decision to boycott the Assembly.

[The Moslem League has declined to participate in the Assembly on grounds that the predominantly Hindu Congress party will override Moslem demands for home rule. Britain has, in effect, served notice on the Congress party that it will not recognize the new constitution unless the Moslem League collaborates in its writing.]

These independents also assert that the immediate adoption of the resolution would be unfair to the princely states which, under terms of the British Cabinet mission's independence plan, do not get a chance to sit in the Constituent Assembly until a later date.

Driving Toward Crisis

But Congress party leaders have indicated their intention to have the Assembly adopt the resolution at once.

Clearly their intention is to drive ahead with the constitution-making, regardless of whether the Moslem League participates and regardless of the British Government's indication that such a constitution will be frowned upon.

Thus the Assembly is driving toward a crisis which many observers feel may bring even sharper conflicts among the Moslems, the British and the Congress than have heretofore occurred in troubled India.

India Gets More Gold.

Bombay, Dec. 18 (A. P.).—India will import from the United States forty thousand ounces of gold ($1,400,000) this month, according to an Indian news agency report from Karachi. The consignment is expected to be flown shortly from the United States through Karachi to Bombay.

Iran-Russ Oil Pledge Renewed

Tehran, Dec. 18 (AP)—Prime Minister Ahmed Qavam said in an interview today he would keep his promise to Russia to submit to Parliament a proposal for oil concessions in five northern provinces, and expressed the hope that national elections could begin Sunday.

Expressing the view that his recently organized National Democratic party was "growing stronger every day," that the Leftist Tudeh party was "getting weaker and weaker" and that the Azerbaijan Democratic party no longer exists, Qavam said, however, the election of the new Parliament might not be completed before three months.

He explained that it would take time to select election commissions and organize the voting machinery.

Azerbaijan Forced Delay

In earlier pronouncements Qavam had proposed to complete the elections by December 21 under the supervision of troops of the Central Government. A delay was caused, however, when the pro-Soviet Azerbaijan Democrat regime refused to admit the troops until several border engagements were fought.

Qavam said he believed that Jafar Pishervari, leader of the Azerbaijan regime at Tabriz, had gone back to Russia. Gholam Yahya Daneshian, commander of the Azerbaijan Army, was disarmed when he crossed into Soviet territory after fighting a last engagement at the border town of Astera on the Caspian, the Premier said.

He added that Iran was undecided whether to seek the return of Azerbaijan officials who fled to Russia.

Under House Arrest

Sallamollah Jacil, former Communist governor general of Azerbaijan, and Haji Mirza Ali Shabastari, former president of the provincial council, have been brought to Tehran and placed under house arrest, Qavam explained, for their own protection. Their case will be examined by the Government, he added.

About twenty members of the Leftist Tudeh party in Tehran have been arrested on unexplained charges.

Qavam relinquished his portfolios of Foreign Minister and Interior Minister yesterday to two under secretaries in the departments after Tudeh criticism that his direct occupation of those posts gave his party an unfair advantage in the elections.

Telegram To Stalin

A committee of Azerbaijanis who fled the province during the Pishevari regime sent a telegram to Generalissimo Stalin today thanking him for Russian forbearance in Iran's two-day civil conflict of last week.

The telegram praised the "peaceful and friendly policy of our neighboring country" while Central Government security forces were going into the province.

Qavam, in an agreement with Russia when that country withdrew her troops from northern Iran several months ago, promised oil concessions in Azerbaijan, Gilan, Mazandaran, Goran and part of Khorassan provinces, with Iran having 49 per cent of the shares in the enterprise for the first 25 years and 50 per cent for the next 25 years.

Denies Reports On U.S. Firms

Qavam, questioned about recurring reports in the Leftist press, denied that American oil companies had sought a similar oil concession in Southeast Iran.

"Up to now no proposal," he said.

Central Government detachments are being sent to all the main towns of Azerbaijan and Kurdistan, including those close to the Soviet border.

Iran Yields To Reds On Oil Concessions

Tehran, Iran, Dec. 18 (AP)—Premier Ahmed Qavam said today that a proposal to grant Russia oil concessions in the five northern Iranian provinces, including Azerbaijan, would be placed before the new Parliament for ratification.

"According to talks with the Soviet Government, we are going to take the proposal to Parliament," he said in an interview. "We have not gone into detail, but the principal question has been decided and it will be left to Parliament to decide on conditions."

Terms Of Basic Notes

Basic notes were exchanged between Qavam and Russian Ambassador Sadchikov stipulating that ran would receive 49 per cent of the shares and Russia 51 per cent for 25 years and a 50-50 division for the second quarter century. The concession includes Azerbaijan, Gilan, Mazandaran, Gorgan and part of Khorassan provinces.

The British hold the leases in the developed oil regions of southern Iran.

Relinquishes Two Portfolios

Qavam has relinquished the portfolios of Foreign Minister and Interior, apparently in response to criticism of the leftist Tudeh party which contended the positions allowed him to control the approaching parliamentary elections.

Asked if American companies had sought a concession in southeast Iran, Qavam replied:

"Up to now, no proposal."

Expects Slow Elections

Concerning the elections, the Premier said he believed they would begin next Sunday "insha Allah (if God is willing)."

He said the actual elections might take months, as commissions must be selected and voting machinery established, but "I hope to be finished after three months."

The Premier said his recently formed Democratic party of Iran was "growing stronger every day," while the Leftist Tuden party was "getting weaker and weaker."

As for the provincial "Democrats" of Azerbaijan, he declared: "I do not believe such a party exists any more."

Central Government officials will be sent to Azerbaijan to administer the province, in view of the collapse of the provincial regime and the Iranian Army's occupation, he said.

Deposed Leaders In Tehran

Dr. Salamollah Javid, former Azerbaijan governor general, and President Shbostari of the Azerbaijan Provincial Council are living in a house in Tehran, pending an investigation which will determine the Government's attitude toward them, Qavam said, adding:

"The people are against them, so they are unde rsupervision."

Jaffar Pishevari, secretary of the provincial "Democratic" party, is believed to have fled to Russia, but Tehran has no official knowledge of it, the Premier said.

Daneshian Reported In Russia

He reported, however, that Gholam Yahya Daneshian, commander of the Azerbaijan Army, made his last stand at Astera, on the Caspian Sea, then fired the town and fled to Soviet territory, where he was disarmed."

Qavam said it was not decided whether Iran would ask the return of provincial officials who entered Russia. He also said no action was contemplated before the United Nations Security Council.

Two under secretaries were named temporarily to the posts until after the elections.

It was reported, meanwhile, that approximately twenty members of the Tudeh party had been placed under arrest, but Government sources declined to comment.

At the same time the Tehran newspaper Etelaat printed a dispatch from Tabriz, capital of Azerbaijan province, saying that the Russian consul there had requested that the Iranian Army assign guards to the Soviet consulate and other Russian property.

Future Of Reds In Turkey Seen As Dubious

Istanbul, Dec. 18 (AP)—Foreign observers in Istanbul expressed belief today that the future of Communism in Turkey had been rendered dubious by yesterday's army crack-down against Left-wing organizations and publications in Turkish Thrace.

Informed quarters, reviewing with increasing interest the sudden cleanup in the Istanbul state of siege zone, which extends to the Greek and Bulgarian borders, said little apparently remained of any Leftist leadership.

Gone with them, these sources said, were two political parties—the Workers and Peasants Socialist party and the Turkish Socialist party—their labor union affiliates and eight publications. An uncounted number of persons was reported arrested in the so-called purge.

"An Expressive Sign"

Although demonstrations which wrecked two newspapers and two bookstores December 4, 1945, were more spectacular, observers viewed yesterday's sweep as infinitely more important and described it as an expressive sign of official displeasure with an external political philosophy.

Oldtime observers said they could not recall when any Government pronouncement had been so outspoken against "Communists" as yesterday's army communiqué.

"Communism" is a word seldom used in Turkey. However, the communiqué used it three times in 250 words. It openly accused the two banned parties and their labor affiliates of being directed by Communists and "people having extremist Communist tendencies."

Permission Required

The eight publications were accused, in general, of "propagating opinions" of the two banned parties, which had headquarters here. In order to start again, the parties must apply to Government-appointed governors in any other province.

A communique "warmly" approving the action here was issued in Ankara following a meeting of the reigning Peoples party last night.

The closed-labor syndicates were among the first in Turkey under a recent law permitting organizations along class lines, and one important observer said the action against them seemed to deal a blow, at least temporarily, to the organized labor movement.

British Bar 'Pretender' In Sarawak

Singapore, Dec. 18 (AP)—The British Government in Sarawak announced today that Anthony Brooke, former crown prince and pretender to the throne, had been prohibited from entering Sarawak to "ensure the present peaceful state of the country."

Brooke, 34, is a nephew of the last white rajah, Sir Charles Vyner Brooke, who ceded the rich territory on Borneo recently to the British Crown. He was in Manila yesterday, preparing to fly to Singapore.

The official statement from Kuching said Anthony Brooke "openly and frequently expressed the intention of changing the form of government and restoring the Brooke regime" and that he was barred to "protect the people against the danger of disorder."

The statement said Brooke's presence in Sarawak "would influence popular feeling by exploiting the affection and prestige attached to the Brooke name."

Chinese Reds Attack Manchurian Land Lines

Peiping, Dec. 18 (AP)—Chinese Communist troops waged guerrilla warfare today against the Government's main land lines to Manchuria and, by Government accounts, heavy casualties were experienced by both sides in a four-hour fight.

Against this military backdrop, the commanders of Chiang Kai-shek's troops in North China wound up an extraordinary conference at which they agreed on "conerete measures for defense" of threatened areas. Chiang's troops have been under cease-fire orders for more than a month, conditioned by the proviso they are to defend themselves if attacked.

Reports told of Communist attacks on the Peiping-Mukden railway and at points along the Tientsin-Mukden rail connection. The latter included a bloody fight near the coal center of Tangshan, northeast of Tientsin.

The guerrilla-type assaults became so widespread that the Government even included the famed Marco Polo Bridge, 10 miles west of Peiping, in its defense zone.

Reds In China Open Shansi Corridor

Peiping, Dec. 18 (AP)—Victorious Chinese Communist forces today opened a corridor connecting Communist-held areas of southwest and northwest Shansi provinces as Government commanders concluded an extraordinary military conference at the provincial capital, Taiyuan.

The generals of Government armies in Shansi, Suiyuan, Shensi and Ninghsia provinces, all threatened by a Communist offensive had conferred more than a week at Gen. Yen Hsi-shan's headquarters. Government sources said an agreement had been reached on "concrete measures for defense."

Seize Ferry Points

The Communists captured six districts, including most of the large cities and towns and numerous villages, in southwestern Shansi while the conference was in progress.

They gained control of two or three principal ferrying points across the Yellow River boundary line between Shansi and Shensi provinces. Meanwhile, they have not slackened their Shansi offensive, the main objective of which is Taiyuan.

Other Communist bands launched an offensive against the Peiping-Mukden railway.

More than 2,000 troops struck at the Government garrison defending an important bridgehead a mile northeast of Tangshan, largest coal-mining center in North China. Gen. Shankuan Yun-hsiang's headquarters reported his troops had repulsed the Communists after a four-hour battle. Government sources said both sides suffered heavily.

Closer To Peiping

The attack was synchronized with assaults on points 25 to 75 miles north and northeast of Tientsin. Tangshan is 60 miles northeast of Tientsin.

The Government military organ, Hsin Sheng Pao, said the Communists had 20,000 troops in eastern Hopeh province.

As the Communists pushed closer to Peiping, headquarters announced it had broadened its defense zone to include the famed Marco Polo bridge, 10 miles west, and the Tahsin district, 15 miles south. Communist guerrillas have been especially active in this region the past week.

Chiang Risks Revolt In Party To Gain Unity

Nanking, Dec. 18 (AP)—Chiang Kai-shek is pinning his hopes of a negotiated peace with the Chinese Communists on adoption of a democratic constitution based on inter-party recommendations in which the Communists joined about a year ago.

That is why the Generalissimo recently risked insurrection within his own Kuomintang (Government party) and slapped down extreme rightists who sought to control the future government by jockeying the specified powers of the president and the Executive Yuan in the new document. Ultra-conservative members had attempted in committees to increase the presidential powers and maintain the Executive Yuan's independence of the legislative Yuan.

Chiang countered with orders to push through the draft in the original form, based on decisions of the Political Consultation Conference at Chungking last January, limiting presidential powers and making the Executive Yuan responsible to the legislative body.

The constitution, if adopted fundamentally as written, will permit Chiang to tell the Communists, "Here is practically everything you asked—now let's talk peace."

Chinese Traitor Executed

NANKING, Dec. 18 (AP).—General Tsih Sieh-yuan, sixty-seven, former commander of the Japanese puppet pacification army in China, was executed today a few hours after Generalissimo Chiang Kais-hek confirmed a death sentence pronounced by the high court. Tsih's body was dumped into a traitor's unmarked grave.

Profiteering Charge By Moscow Derided

Tokyo, Dec. 18 (A. P.).—Allied informants today scoffed at Moscow radio reports that United States business men were engaged in profiteering manipulations in Japan. They said that such operations would violate Federal laws forbidding trading with the enemy.

The Moscow radio was reported to have charged that Americans were lending money to Japanese to buy shares in monopolies and to establish independent firms so they could acquire monopoly control of Japanese industry. Informed persons expressed doubt that Americans would, if they could, invest in Japanese industry, large sections of which will go for reparations.

Convict 123 Japanese, Free 4

YOKOHAMA, Dec. 18 (AP).—The trials of minor Japanese war criminals accused of prison camp atrocities passed the one-year mark today with 123 defendants convicted and four acquitted, the United States 8th Army reported.

M. P. Slain in Philippines

Manila, Dec. 18 (A. P.).—Military Police Headquarters reported today that one policeman was wounded, one Hukbalahap was killed and nine Huks were captured in M. P.-Huk engagements in Nueva Ecija and Laguna Provinces.

MILLION NEW HOMES IN 1947 PREDICTED

1946

Enough Materials for 300,000 More Than This Year, Fleming Says.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming estimated today there will be enough materials to build at least 1,000,000 homes in 1947—300,000 more than this year.

The chief of the new office of temporary controls offered this prediction to a Senate small business sub-committee which also heard a CIO official and a Pennsylvania mayor vigorously challenge administration junking of most construction curbs.

Both John W. Edelman, CIO legislative representative, and Mayor John H. Snyder of York, Pa., told the Senate group that lacking controls the prospect is for a serious shortage of materials.

Raps Control Lifting

Edelman termed President Truman's elimination of most restrictions in his revised housing program a "real disaster" and predicted "chaos" in the building field.

Fleming appeared before the subcommittee along with Housing Expediter Frank R. Creedon and Housing Administrator Raymond M. Foley.

They joined in declaring the "big push for 1947 will be for rental housing."

Addressing Creedon, Chairman Stewart (D-Tenn) appealed for an end of "red tape" in the housing program and added:

"Someone has got to be a czar in this thing and build houses—and quick."

In his statement to the lawmakers, Fleming promised to wind up controls "as quickly as possible." But he said he wanted to serve notice that "while we shall remain attentive to the legitimate needs of business, we do not intend to sway in every passing breeze kicked up by special interests and by selfish interests."

In line with the stripped-down control program outlined by Mr. Truman, Fleming said he was prepared to increase "somewhat" by January 1 the amount of non-residential construction which may be carried on.

This will be gradually further stepped up, he added, "as the season advances and materials come into more plentiful supply."

But Fleming, whose agency has jurisdiction over commercial construction, emphasized that it will be his policy "to maintain a sizeable margin of materials in favor of housing."

He said his estimate of material for 1,000,000 homes in 1947 will leave enough to take care of about $6,000,000,000 worth of maintenance work, as well as a "considerable excess" for non-residential construction.

Housing Chiefs Expect To Push Rental Housing

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP).—Housing Expediter Frank R. Creedon told a Senate subcommittee that the government's "big push for 1947 will be for rental housing."

He was joined in fixing this as the goal by Raymond N. Foley, chief of the National Housing Agency, who testified that "it will be our objective to back up this drive for rental housing by all available means."

The two top housing officials appeared before a small business subcommittee after Senators had been told by John W. Edelman, C. I. O. legislative representative, that removal of most housing controls by President Truman was a "real disaster."

Creedon said Congress will be asked to "provide further aids and incentives" for rental housing, but did not elaborate.

U. S. Ship Control Extended

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP).—The Interstate Commerce Commission today extended the Maritime Commission's authority to operate as a common or contract carrier by water from Jan. 1 to March 1, 1947. This authority permits resumption of peace-time shipping pending return to owners of vessels seized during the war.

Army Maps Its Demands For Rebuilding Manpower

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 — (AP) A highly placed government official said today that if the United States were faced tomorrow with hostilities, its forces overseas would be over-run except in a few isolated spots.

He was one of a group of authorized officials who presented the picture of a precarious situation in event of a crisis and then described War Department plans to be submitted to the new congress to rebuild army manpower.

To Push Training Bill

The officials detailed these plans as follows:

1. To push a universal training bill to cost about $1,000,000,000 a year. The Navy part of the program on the same basis would add nearly $400,000,000. The Army hopes that enough men who have gone through this training would enlist in the regular army to maintain that force at the currently desired level of 1,070,000 without use of selective service.

2. To seek passage by the next congress of a bill for unification of the armed forces. One high ranking officer said he believed a unification bill of some form would be passed at the next session.

3. To procure a revision in law to provide for regular army enlistments of two, three or five years, ending the present short-term option.

Discussing the allocation of troops under the 1,070,000-man army contemplated by next July 1, the department spokesmen said the allocation of strength by combat units, aside from service troops would include:

Europe—one division, two regimental combat teams, ten constabulary regiments, eleven air groups (an air group is normally the equivalent of a regiment of infantry.)

Japan — Six divisions, six air groups.

Alaska—two infantry battalions, two air groups.

Pacific area—1 and 2-3 divisions, 16 air groups.

Cite Dwindling Forces

The United States domestic force of effective troops next July 1 is due to include four divisions and 31 air groups. Currently it consists, however, of one air borne division on the east coast, an infantry division on the west coast and part of an armored division in Texas.

The regular army force would be scaled down further to 375,000 with the end of the overseas occupation.

But, it was emphasized, in this atomic age the nation must consider the possibility of sudden and total war and must be entirely prepared to put a big force into action quickly. A mobilization target of 5,500,000 men within 12 months is aimed at.

Without universal military training, the War Department contends, it would be impossible to fill the ranks of the national guard and organized reserve units which would supply the bulk of the emergency defense force.

Rocket Soars 114 Miles Above Earth; Also Sets Speed Record

White Sands, N. M., Dec. 18 (AP). United States Army ordnance experts in charge of Tuesday night's V-2 rocket test rechecked their instruments today and found the missile reached an altitude of 114 miles and a speed of 5,450 feet per second—3 miles higher and 100 feet a second faster than the record figures announced shortly after the shoot.

Ordnance spokesmen called it the "most perfect rocket yet fired," but said it probably would be several days before any information would be available on the artificial meteorites which the fourteen-ton rocket expelled during its ight and which some 300 cameras attempted to photograph.

Smoke Bomb Fails

Only sour note among the early reports on the test was the failure of a smoke bomb to go off marking the spot where the rocket landed. Air observers searched in vain today for the smoke signal to guide them to the rocket head, which was filled with scientific instruments to record cosmic ray and upper atmosphere data. The signal bomb was timed to go off about ten hours after the shoot.

Although the exact spot where the warhead landed had not been found, one Army observer said, "we have a pretty good fix on the approximate impact point," estimated to be about 27 miles north of the launching platform.

No Reports On Cameras

The army public relations office said no reports had been received from any of the telescopic cameras which were trained on the rocket to catch the dime-sized, man-made meteorites.

But Dr. Fritz Zwicky, of the California Institute of Technology, here for the shoot, said the rocket itself probably was recorded 650 miles away at the Palomar Mountain Observatory in California.

BILBO'S EX-AIDE REFUSES TO TALK OF $15,000 FUND

Probe Session in Uproar as Terry Declines to Say What He Did With It.

FACES CONTEMPT

Testifies Doctor Paid $1,500 to Senator for Narcotic Permit.

1946

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18—(AP)—Edward P. Terry, self-declared custodian of a $15,000 "beat Bilbo" fund, refused today to tell Senate investigators what he did with it and was threatened with contempt and perjury prosecution.

His stand threw into an uproar a Senate War Investigating Committee hearing. It had been startled a few minutes earlier by an assertion from Terry that a physician told him Sen. Theodore G. Bilbo accepted $1,500 to get a narcotics "prescription or license" for a constituent.

Terry is a former secretary to the Mississippi Democratic senator and had been called as a key witness in the committee's inquiry into Bilbo's relations with war contractors.

Tells of Death Threats

Twitching nervously, he reiterated previous assertions that he had received warnings of death if he told what he knew about Bilbo.

Then, under questioning, he told of favors done Bilbo by war contractors. He said Bilbo went "all out" to get contracts for Mississippi friends.

Terry said he never heard of any understanding that these contractors were to make any payments to Bilbo but he told of incidents where, he said, the senator indicated anticipation that the contractors do favors for him.

Earlier in the hearings, the committee had obtained bank records showing a $14,300 deposit was added to Terry's account in a Jackson, Miss., bank on Sept. 7, 1945, and $15,000 was withdrawn on July 10, 1946.

At the time of the deposit, Terry was Bilbo's secretary. They had frequent quarrels and he left the senator's employ last Jan. 1.

Terry testified that $15,000 was given him by Simon Liberman of Park Ave., New York, to be used in financing a campaign by some Mississippian who could oust Bilbo from the senate.

He approached Gov. Tom Bailey about becoming a candidate against Bilbo, Terry related, but the governor would not commit himself because of poor health.

Couldn't Find Candidate

When Bailey finally decided against making the race, Terry went on, he approached speaker Walter Sillers of the Mississippi house who also turned him down.

Terry said he held on to the fund with the intention of throwing it against Bilbo in the Mississippi run-off primary, but Bilbo won in the first primary and there was no run-off. So he said he took the money from the bank in cash and returned it to Liberman.

Liberman is now dead, Terry added.

The committee took a short recess and when it reconvened Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) tore into Terry.

The senator said he had learned Liberman died in January, or five months before Terry withdrew the money from the bank.

Terry protested that "I returned it to where his estate would get it."

Ferguson demanded that he say precisely what he did with it.

"I'm not going to involve other people," Terry replied.

He mumbled that sentence twice more as Ferguson pressed him.

"You refuse to answer the question?" Ferguson demanded.

Refuses to Answer

"I do," Terry replied.

"Your own integrity is at stake," Chairman Mead (D-NY) interjected.

Paul Dillon, St. Louis attorney representing Terry, protested that the matter was not pertinent to the investigation.

"Whether Mr. Terry took some money that did not belong to him is irrelevant to this inquiry," he declared.

But Ferguson and Mead insisted that the question must be answered and when Terry remained adamant announced they would refer to the Justice Department the question of whether there was perjury and to the committee itself the question of contempt proceedings.

Terry was summarily dismissed as a witness.

A contempt proceedings must be approved by the Senate's presiding officer when the Senate itself is not in session and then transmitted to the U. S. District Attorney for possible grand jury action. Conviction is punishable by up to a year's imprisonment and $5,000 fine.

An hour after this uproar, Terry was recalled to the stand and given a second chance to reveal to whom he had repaid the money, but refused.

"Have you changed your mind?" Ferguson asked.

"No sir," Terry replied.

Quizzed on Missing Files

Terry then replied to a score of questions prepared in written form by Senator Bilbo's attorney. In these Terry denied any knowledge of "42 files from Senator Bilbo's office which disappeared about the time you (Terry) left."

Committee attaches said the Simon Liberman to whom Ferguson referred lived on Fifth Ave., instead of Park Ave., New York city.

They said their information was that he was a native of Russia and was associated with Lenin in the early days of the Soviet Republic. He was described as the author of a book, "Building Lenin's Russia."

Terry said the Liberman he knew was introduced to him by the late Senator Pat Harrison and was in the lumber business.

News accounts published on Jan. 6 told of the death in New York on Jan. 5 of one Simon Liberman, who was described as a former leader of the Russian Social Democratic Party. His book "Building Lenin's Russia" told how he stayed on to advise the Lenin regime after the Russian revolution. It described Liberman as "the only capitalist in the Kremlin."

It said he served as director of a timber trust under the Soviets. He left Russia in 1926 for England and later France, and in 1938 came to this country. Besides his interests in lumber production, he was active as a philanthropist.

His son, Alexander Liberman, told reporters in New York tonight that he knew of no such $15,000 contribution by his father. He said his father did not engage in politics.

He added that he is the executor of his father's estate and thus could state with certainty that Terry had not returned any $15,000 to it.

Tells Narcotics Story

The story Terry told about narcotics was this:

He said he was ill and under treatment by Dr. A. J. Pedesta, Vicksburg, Miss., and Pedesta told him of giving $1,500 to Bilbo for a man in Natchez.

Terry said the Natchez man wanted Bilbo to get him a "prescription" from "Dr. Anslinger of the narcotics bureau." When Ferguson questioned the term "prescription," Terry said it might have been a "license."

Terry went on to say that he recalled that Bilbo had him telephone Anslinger to come to the senator's office and remembered Anslinger's being there.

H. J. Anslinger is head of the Narcotics Bureau of the Treasury Department. Committee members said he would be called as a witness. Forest Jackson, attorney for Bilbo, asked that Doctor Pedesta be called. Action on the request was deferred.

Bilbo is to take the stand tomorrow. He told reporters he has prepared a statement "that will show up all these lies for what they are."

Terry, during his testimony, said that A. B. Friend, a Bilbo associate, had told him he would be killed if he divulged what he knew about Bilbo.

Friend, who managed Bilbo's re-election campaign this year and shared in war contracts, went on the stand and said he did not "recall" saying that to Terry.

Plump and grinning, Friend described himself as a man of strictly peaceable disposition. He said he hadn't been in a fight since he was a boy.

"A fellow sharpened his knife on a stovepipe to cut my throat," he reminisced. "But that was 16 years ago—something about a land deal."

Terry depicted Bilbo as going "all out" to help his friends get war contracts and indicating supreme confidence that they in turn would do favors for him.

But he testified that he never heard any conversation between Bilbo and contractors indicating any understanding that there were to be payments to the Mississippi senator.

Nor did Bilbo ever suggest that he, Terry, could get money from contractors for the help the senator's office was giving them, Terry said, adding:

"Too Smart," He Says

"Bilbo was always too smart to bring out anything like that."

He related two instances, however, where he said Bilbo anticipated aid which war contractors later extended.

One was after the 1942 Mississippi primary when the senator and his associates campaigned unsuccessfully for the election of Wall C. Doxey to the senate. Terry said he was out about $4,000 personally and was threatening to resign as Bilbo's secretary. He said Bilbo told him:

"Be calm, stay on the job and don't say anything to these boys until they get well on the way on the jobs."

Terry said he took the reference to be the war contractors getting under way with big profits in Mississippi.

And again, Terry said, Bilbo told him about his plans to construct a lake on his Mississippi farm. He quoted the senator as saying his friends would do it for him.

The committee has heard testimony that Michael T. Morrissey, a contractor, did the work, and later sent Bilbo a bill for $3,670 which has never been paid.

Morrissey's story was that he happened by, saw the senator puttering at the work with the aid of a one-armed Negro and two boys, so volunteered to do the job with his power machinery.

The committee has calculated that the lake job was worth over $9,000 based on the same scale as the charges Morrissey made for work done for the government.

War contractors have testified to other benefactions to the senator—a gift of a Cadillac automobile, furniture, painting his house, donations to his Juniper Grove Baptist Church fund, and contributions for the Doxey campaign in excess of $30,000.

The big question the committee still is picking at is whether these were "payments" for war contracts aid. All the contractors deny that. They said it was because they like Bilbo.

Terry Visibly Upset

Terry, a gaunt man in his 40's, told of serving as Bilbo's secretary from Jan. 1, 1939, until last Jan. 1.

He was so visibly upset that Chairman Mead (D-NY) once advised him to relax "be calm and at ease."

Terry advised the committee last week of receiving anonymous telephone threats against his life and those of his wife and daughter if he testified.

Under a fire of questions from Mead and Senator Ferguson (R-Mich), only committee members present, Terry declared:

That Bilbo said he had borrowed $3,000 from Abe Shushan, New Orleans merchant and associate of the late Huey Long, with the understanding that it would not have to be repaid if Bilbo could "help" Shushan with an income tax case.

(There has been testimony that Bilbo called the revenue bureau "four or five" times about the case and suggested a compromise at about half the $80,000 the government claimed Shushan owed. The bureau failed to follow Bilbo's suggestion. Shushan eventually collected the $3,000 from the senator's friends.)

That M. T. Reed, a contractor, told him (Terry) that he gave Bilbo a check for $3,500 for the Juniper Grove Church parsonage with the understanding that $1,000 was to be returned. He quoted Reed as saying this would have permitted him to charge off $3,500 on his income tax and make the $2,500 gift cost nothing.

But Bilbo never gave him the $1,000, he quoted Reed, and the income tax people disallowed the $3,500 deduction and "said it was a racket."

Terry related that he personally got $3,750 from B. L. Knost, a contractor, but declared that was "on a legitimate bet."

TWO TREASON CASES GO TO BOSTON COURT

1946

Forced Landing In Massachusetts Brings About Legal Technicality

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—Treason cases involving Douglas Chandler and Robert Best will be transferred to Federal Court in Boston because of a legal technicality, the Justice Department announced today.

A department official said the Government would ask a Federal grand jury there to return new indictments against the two men.

Chandler and Best were indicted here in 1943 on charges of broadcasting Nazi propaganda over the Berlin radio. They arrived here from Europe Saturday on an army plane and were arraigned in District Court the same day.

Importance Of Case Noted

The Justice Department official said "because of the importance of this case, we think it is better legal judgment to try the case in the Boston area rather than have questions arise as to the legality of the charges."

The possible illegality, he added, arises from "the fact that the plane carrying Best and Chandler from Germany to Washington made a forced landing at Westover Field, Mass., last Saturday morning."

"The law sets forth that such cases must be tried in the district where the defendant first land. We want to expedite this trial and avoid any legal technicality that might arise."

The official said Tom De Wolfe and Clyde E. Gooch, special assistants to Attorney General Clark, have been assigned to the case.

Editors Planning To Train German Newsmen In U.S.

San Francisco, Dec. 19 (AP)—A plan to bring German newspapermen to the United States, to learn democracy by working on American newspapers, has been disclosed by Paul C. Smith, editor of the San Francisco Chronicle, who recently returned from an Army-sponsored trip through Europe.

A number of American editors who visited Germany and other European countries on the Army trip have agreed "informally," to the plan, he declared. Among them, Smith said, were Palmer Hoyt, of the Denver Post; Barry Bingham, of the Louisville Times; James Kearney, Jr., of the Trenton Times; Philip Parrish, of the Portland Oregonian, and Manchester Boddy, of the Los Angeles Daily News.

He has discussed the project with American Army commanders in Germany, Smith said, adding they were enthusiastic about its potentialties for assisting in the re-education of the German people.

"They would be the foundation stones in the creation of a free press, once they returned to Germany," Smith said.

86 Veterans Get Farms In Government Drawing

One Girl Among Recipients of Homestead Grants

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Dec 18 (AP).—Eighty-five men and one girl—all veterans of World War II—received $2,000,000 worth of rich farmland from Uncle Sam today.

The eighty-six veterans were among 1,305 ex-service men whose names were contained in an old glass pickle jar for the government's first post-war homestead drawing.

The first name drawn was Robert L. Smith, of Banks, Ore., who will have first choice of the eighty-six homesteads. The farms, bared after sprawling Tule Lake was drained, range from 69.8 to 141.3 acres. The most valuable land is on the smallest units.

The list of candidates had been whittled from 2,029 applicants, with 1,305 pasing the Reclamation Bureau's requirements on war service, farm experience, integrity and financial resources of $2,000. The fifty-eighth name drawn was that of a woman, Eleanor Jane Bolesta, an ex-Wave from Everett, Wash., and wife of a disabled veteran. Mrs. Bolesta wasn't there.

MRS. ROOSEVELT APPROVES STATUE

NEW YORK—(AP) Now that Britain has settled its domestic controversy over the Roosevelt statue for London's Grosvenor Square, and will depict the late President in a standing position, the person closest to the late President will find no objection.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, between busy sessions at the United Nations, said she considered sitting a "more natural position," but she added diplomatically "many remember him standing."

The important thing, she said, was that "the British should have the kind of statue they want."

End Of Mexican Price Control Urged

Mexico City, Dec. 18 (AP)—The National Chambers of Commerce plan to appeal to President Miguel Aleman and Secretary of National Economy Antonio Ruiz Galindo for the removal of price controls which have continued in effect since the end of the war.

A free market, the chambers said in a statement, is the only way to rid the nation of black-market operations.

Black markets are operating in corn, rice, beans, raw materials used in the textile industry, construction materials such as corrugated iron, water pipe, wallboard, plaster and durable goods, the statement said.

Canadian, 4 PW's Hanged

Lethbridge, Alta., Dec. 18 (AP)—Four German prisoners of war and a Canadian Army veteran were hanged for murder early today in Canada's largest mass execution in 60 years.

Three of the Germans unsuccessfully attempted to commit suicide a few hours before the hangings.

The Canadian veteran, Donald Sherman Staley, 29, of Bracebridge, Ont., was convicted of the sex slaying on July 24 of Donnie Goss, 6, in Calgary, Alta. Police said he also confessed killing Garry Billings, 11, in Vancouver, B.C., on July 5.

Fellow-P.W. Killed

The German prisoners—Sergt. Maj. Willi Mueller, 31; Staff Sergeant-Major Bruno Perzenowski, 34; Sergt. Maj. Heinrich Busch, 29, and Sergt. Walter Wolf, 29—were convicted of murdering Corporal Karl Lehmann in a prisoner-of-war camp at Medicine Hat, Alta., on September 10, 1944, because of Lehmann's purported anti-Nazi attitude.

Prison sources said Mueller, Perzenowski and Busch attempted suicide a few hours before going to the gallows by cutting their wrists, but were detected almost immediately by guards. The five men are to be buried in a common grave, since there was no one to claim the bodies.

The executions were carried out by provincial authorities on twin gallows at the Lethbridge Jail.

LONDON, THURSDAY, DEC. 19-(AP)-THE MOSCOW RADIO CHARGED TODAY THAT IRANIAN CENTRAL GOVERNMENT TROOPS HAD SHOT "HUNDREDS" OF PERSONS IN AZERBIAJAN PROVINCE AND HAD INSTIGATED "ATTACKS" ON SOVIET CITIZENS IN THE PROVINCIAL CAPITAL OF TABRIZ.

THE BROADCAST CONTENDED THAT THE GOVERNMENT TROOPS HAD BROKEN IRANIAN PREMIER AHMED QAVAM'S AGREEMENT TO ENTER THE PROVINCE, WHICH BORDERS ON THE SOVIET UNION, PEACEABLY.

"IN THE COURSE OF THE PAST FEW DAYS OVER 600 AZERBAIJAN DEMOCRATS HAVE BEEN MURDERED AND ABOUT 300 ARRESTED IN TABRIZ," A TASS DISPATCH QUOTING THE TEHRAN NEWSPAPER DAD DECLARED.

"BODIES OF KILLED DEMOCRATS ARE SCATTERED THROUGH THE STREETS" OF THE PROVINCIAL CAPITAL, THE RUSSIAN NEWS AGENCY'S OWN CORRESPONDENT IN TABRIZ WROTE IN A SECOND DISPATCH BROADCAST BY MOSCOW.

"UNBRIDLED BANDITS INSTIGATED BY ANTI-SOVIET ELEMENTS" AND "WITH THE CONNIVANCE" OF THE IRANIAN CENTRAL GOVERNMENT COMMANDER "ARE ALSO RAIDING SOVIET INSTITUTIONS AND ATTACKING SOVIET CITIZENS," THE TASS CORRESPONDENT ADDED.

"BANDIT ELEMENTS AND DETACHMENTS UNDER COL.HASHEMI IN TABRIZ HAVE FOR SEVERAL DAYS PAST BEEN BRUTALLY SUPPRESSING DEMOCRATIC ELEMENTS, ARRESTING HUNDREDS OF PEOPLE AND SHOOTING THEM ON THE SPOT," THE TASS DISPATCH SAID.

"THE BODIES OF KILLED DEMOCRATS ARE SCATTERED THROUGH THE STREETS OF THE CITY. THE PREMISES OF THE CENTRAL COMMITTEE OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY OF AZERBAIJAN, THE OFFICES OF LOCAL NEWSPAPERS, THE NATIONAL MUSEUM AND OTHER CULTURAL INSTITUTIONS OF AZERBAIJAN HAVE BEEN SMASHED UP."

THE BROADCAST CONSTITUTED THE FIRST MAJOR CHARGE BY MOSCOW AGAINST THE CENTRAL IRANIAN GOVERNMENT SINCE THE SOVIET-SUPPORTED SEMI-AUTONOMOUS GOVERNMENT OF AZERBAIJAN PROVINCE AGREED LAST WEEK TO ALLOW THE ENTRY OF CENTRAL GOVERNMENT TROOPS TO SUPERVISE ELECTIONS. THE AZERBIAJAN DEMOCRATIC PARTY WAS A MOVING FORCE IN THE PROVINCE'S SEMI-AUTONOMOUS REGIME WHICH NOW HAS COLLAPSED.

THE SOVIET MONITOR, WHO DISTRIBUTED THE TWO DISPATCHES QUOTED IN THE BROADCAST, SAID THIS TRANSMISSION BY THE MOSCOW RADIO SERVED ONLY TASS BUREAUS OUTSIDE THE SOVIET UNION.

HE SAID THE TWO DISPATCHES HAD NOT BEEN CARRIED ON ANY OF THE TRANSMISSIONS TASS BEAMS DAILY TO NEWSPAPERS AND RADIO STATIONS INSIDE THE SOVIET UNION, AND THEREFORE APPARENTLY WOULD NOT BE PUBLISHED IN RUSSIA TODAY.

THE CASE MARKED CARROLL'S FIRST COURTROOM APPEARANCE SINCE HE RETURNED TO GERMANY AS A CIVILIAN WITH THE ANNOUNCED INTENTION OF CHALLENGING WHAT HE CALLS INEQUITIES IN COURT MARTIAL PROCEEDINGS. CARROLL, FORMER AIR CORPS CAPTAIN FROM SAN BRUNO, CALIF., WAS ACTIVE IN THE LICHFIELD GUARDHOUSE CASES. WHILE STILL IN UNIFORM, THE ARMY BANNED HIM FROM DEFENDING SOLDIER DEFENDANTS.

HIS LEGAL ASSOCIATE, THOMAS FOLEY OF HAYWARD, CALIF., RECENTLY WITHDREW FROM THE CASES OF WALCZAK AND THREE AMERICAN CIVILIANS, ASSERTING THAT "IT IS IMPOSSIBLE TO SECURE A FAIR TRIAL IN THIS COMMAND" AN OFFICIAL INVESTIGATION OF THE CHARGE HAS BEEN ORDERED.

AT THE OUTSET OF THE TRIAL, CARROLL ATTEMPTED TO INTRODUCE A MOTION CHARGING THAT WALCZAK, 23, HAD BEEN DENIED A FAIR OPPORTUNITY TO PREPARE HIS DEFENSE. THE COURT RULED THE MOTION OUT OF ORDER UNTIL THE COURT MEMBERS WERE SWORN IN.

SHARP EXCHANGES OCCURRED BETWEEN CARROLL AND THE PROSECUTOR, LT. COL.JAMES GLEASON OF CLEVELAND. THE COURT WARNED THAT A CONTINUATION OF "THIS PERPETUAL BICKERING" MIGHT LEAD TO CONTEMPT CITATIONS.

CARROLL WAS DRAWN INTO THE WALCZAK CASE LAST AUGUST WHEN HE ANSWERED AN APPEAL FOR LEGAL HELP WHICH THE SOLDIER SMUGGLED FROM AN ARMY GUARDHOUSE. AS A RESULT, IT WAS DISCLOSED OFFICIALLY THAT WALCZAK AND 12 OTHER AMERICANS HAD BEEN IMPRISONED IN THE GUARDHOUSE FOR MORE THAN A MONTH WITHOUT HAVING CHARGES FILED OR LEGAL COUNSEL PROVIDED. CARROLL ALSO IS REPRESENTING THREE OTHERS IN THE GROUP.

WASHINGTON,DEC 18-(AP)-A BID BY SENATOR VANDENBERG (R-MICH) FOR A BIGGER HAND FOR REPUBLICANS IN THE FIELD OF FOREIGN RELATIONS BROUGHT FROM PRESIDENT TRUMAN TODAY A DECLARATION THAT HIS ADMINISTRATION HAS BEEN TRYING TO ADHERE TO A BI-PARTISAN FOREIGN POLICY RIGHT STRAIGHT THROUGH.

MR.TRUMAN SAID AT A NEWS CONFERENCE, THAT THE PRESIDENT IS RESPONSIBLE FOR THIS COUNTRY'S FOREIGN POLICY. WHEN IT BECOMES THE BUSINESS OF THE SENATE, HE SAID, THE SENATE WILL BE INFORMED AND CONSULTED.

MR.TRUMAN WAS ASKED FOR COMMENT ON A SUGGESTION VANDENBERG MADE YESTERDAY THAT "THE AREA OF BI-PARTISAN AGREEMENT OF FOREIGN POLICY BE EXPANDED TO COVER ALL PHASES OF INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS."

VANDENBERG INDICATED THAT REPUBLICAN COOPERATION ON FOREIGN AFFAIRS IS NOT SOUGHT NOW IN THE HANDLING OF PROBLEMS INVOLVING PALESTINE, THE FAR EAST, ARGENTINA AND OTHER LATIN AMERICAN STATES.

BUT MR.TRUMAN TOOK THE POSITION THAT FOREIGN IS BI-PARTISAN ALL ALONG THE LINE.

THE MICHIGAN SENATOR HAS BEEN A KEY ASSISTANT TO SECRETARY OF STATE BYRNES AT PEACE CONFERENCES AND MEETINGS OF THE BIG FOUR FOREIGN MINISTERS. BUT NOW THAT HE IS IN LINE FOR THE CHAIRMANSHIP OF THE SENATE FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE AND PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE OF THE SENATE, VANDENBERG HAS INDICATED HE WOULD LIKE TO TAKE A LESS PROMINENT ROLE AS AN INTERNATIONAL NEGOTIATOR.

BYRNES, HOWEVER, HAS SAID HE WANTS BOTH VANDENBERG AND SENATOR CONNOLLY (D-TEX), PRESENT FOREIGN RELATIONS CHAIRMAN, TO ACCOMPANY HIM TO MOSCOW FOR ANOTHER MEETING OF THE GREAT POWER FOREIGN SECRETARIES NEXT MARCH. THE WRITING OF PEACE TREATIES FOR GERMANY AND AUSTRIA WILL BE THE CHIEF BUSINESS ON THE SCHEDULE.

NEW YORK, DEC.18-(AP)-HENRY L.STIMSON, FORMER SECRETARY OF WAR, BELIEVES THAT THE TRIAL AND CONVICTION OF NAZI WAR CRIMINALS BY THE ALLIED TRIBUNAL AT NUERNBERG WAS A JUDGMENT BEYOND CHALLENGE.

IN AN ARTICLE IN THE JANUARY ISSUE OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS THE WARTIME CABINET MEMBER TAKES IN THE WHOLE SCOPE AND MEANING OF THE TRIAL, THE PRECEDENCE OF ITS CHARGES AGAINST THE ACCUSED AND THE ESTABLISHMENT OF THEIR GUILT IN EACH OF THOSE CHARGES. ONLY ONE, HE SAID, HAS BEEN SEVERELY CRITICIZED--THE "CHARGE OF CRIMES AGAINST THE PEACE."

STIMSON GOES BACK TO THE EFFORTS AFTER WORLD WAR I TO OUTLAW WAR TO SHOW THE JUSTICE OF THIS CHARGE AND TO CONTEND IT WAS NOT BASED, AS SOME CRITICS HAVE SAID, ON "EX POST FACTO LAW," A LAW WHICH RELATES TO THE STATE OF MIND AND WHICH ASSUMES "THAT IF THE DEFENDANT HAD KNOWN THAT THE PROPOSED ACT WAS CRIMINAL HE WOULD HAVE REFRAINED FROM COMMITTING IT."

"NOTHING," HE WROTE, "IN THE ATTITUDE OF THE NAZI LEADERS CORRESPONDS TO THIS ASSUMPTION; THEIR MINDS WERE WHOLLY UNTROUBLED BY THE QUESTION OF THEIR GUILT OR INNOCENCE X X X IN THEIR WHOLE PHILOSOPHY THEY EXCLUDED THE VERY CONCEPT OF LAW."

THE FORMER WAR SECRETARY RECALLS THAT SCIENTIFIC AND INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENTS OF THE 19TH AND 20TH CENTURIES HELPED INTERTWINE THE WORLD INTO A SINGLE UNIT AND "WEAPONS HAD BEEN SO FAR DEVELOPED THAT A MAJOR WAR COULD SHAKE THE WHOLE STRUCTURE OF CIVILIZATION." THEN, HE SAID, THE "FIRST WORLD WAR MADE IT CLEAR THAT X X X THE WORLD MUST ATTACK THE PROBLEM AT ITS ROOT.

"THUS AFER 1918 REPEATED EFFORTS WERE MADE TO ELIMINATE AGGRESSIVE WAR AS A LEGAL NATIONAL UNDERTAKING. X X X" SINCE THEN, IN THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS AND ELSEWHERE, HE SAID, "AGGRESSION WAS ROUNDLY DENOUNCED AS CRIMINAL."

"THE CHARGE OF AGGRESSIVE WAR IS UNSOUND, THEREFORE," WROTE STIMSON, "ONLY IF THE COMMUNITY OF NATIONS DID NOT BELIEVE IN 1939 THAT AGGRESSIVE WAR WAS AN OFFENSE. X X X AGGRESSION IS AN OFFENSE, AND WE ALL KNOW IT; WE HAVE KNOWN IT FOR A GENERATION. IT IS AN OFFENSE SO DEEP AND HEINOUS THAT WE CANNOT ENDURE ITS REPETITION."

MONTREAL, DEC. 18-(AP)-MAJ. P. J. CASHIN, FORMER FINANCE MINISTER OF NEWFOUNDLAND, PREDICTED TODAY THAT THE ISLAND'S NEW GOVERNMENT WOULD DEMAND "NEW TERMS" IN CONNECTION WITH THE MILITARY BASES LEASED TO THE UNITED STATES DURING THE WAR.

NEWFOUNDLAND, WHICH NOW HAS COLONIAL STATUS UNDER THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT, WILL RETURN TO FULL DOMINION STATUS "WITHIN 12 MONTHS," HE SAID IN AN INTERVIEW.

REFERRING TO THE MILITARY BASES, CASHIN, VACATIONING IN MONTREAL, SAID "WE WERE GIVEN A RAW DEAL WHEN THESE ARRANGEMENTS WERE MADE."

LARGE TRACTS OF TERRITORY NEAR ST.JOHN'S AND AT ARGENTIA WERE LEASED TO THE UNITED STATES ON A 99-YEAR BASIS "BY A BI-LATERAL AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT WITHOUT ANY CONSULTATION WITH NEWFOUNDLAND," HE SAID. NO RENT OR OTHER COMPENSATION WAS RECEIVED FOR THESE BASES, CASHIN ADDED.

HE EXPRESSED BELIEF THAT THE NEW NEWFOUNDLAND GOVERNMENT WOULD SEEK TO OBTAIN SOME COMPENSATION FOR THE BASES.

Security Council Votes Greek Border Investigation

Probe of Greek Fighting Is Voted by UN Council

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 19.—(AP) The United Nations Security Council, in a remarkable spirit of harmony, voted unanimously tonight to send a commission to the Balkans to investigate alleged border violations involving Greece and her neighbors and set up machinery for a prompt report on the bloody guerrilla warfare along the northern Greek frontier.

The Soviet Union, which three months ago vetoed a similar proposal for an investigation of complaints involving Greece, made a number of concessions in the course of two sessions totalling almost nine hours.

U. S. Proposal

Action was completed on the measure, a United States proposal, after the council voted a Polish amendment to invite "liaison" representatives of the four countries involved, to "assist" the commission. Polish delegate Oscar Lange said the amendment would permit the representatives to cross each other's frontiers and "pierce the iron curtain between them."

Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko, in a 'conciliatory' mood throughout, abandoned an amendment which would have limited the membership of the commission's staff, after the council agreed informally that it would have as few staff members as possible.

Adoption of the resolution was the first step in an attempt to resolve a problem which has beset the council for months. Three times during the year Greece has been before the council. Three months ago, Russia had vetoed a U. S. proposal for an investigation, after the Soviet Ukraine had charged that the Greek situation menaced world peace.

The council will take such other steps as are necessary in the dispute between Greece and her neighbors when it has the findings of the commission before it. The commission is directed to proceed to the area involved not later than Jan. 15, 1947, and to report back "at the earliest possible date" on Greek charges that the bordering countries fomented the guerrilla warfare and the neighbor states' counter-charges laying the strife to the royalist-dominated Greek government.

The commission, under terms of a British amendment adopted by the council, will be ordered to recommend whatever steps it deems necessary to prevent recurrence of such disturbances in the area.

Vassili Dendramis, Greek delegate to the UN hailed the decision as one that would "open a new era in application of the charter."

The council adjourned at 8:28 p. m. (EST) and set its next meeting for 3 p.m., Dec. 31—the date set for a report to the members from the UN atomic commission.

Acting paragraph by paragraph on a United States resolution, the council in a long and involved debate, decided to limit the scope of the investigation to "northern Greece, in Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia as the commission considers should be included in its investigations."

Britain Abstains

Egypt and Britain abstained in the voting on the scope of the investigation, for which the other nine members all voted. However, this particular phase of the deliberations was procedural, and Britain's abstention did not constitute as a veto.

Adoption of this proposal represented concessions by both sides in the tangled an often obscure debate. Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko dropped his insistence that the investigation be extended to include the entire internal situation in Greece, and the United States delegate, Herschel V. Johnson, accepted a Polish amendment extending the investigation, which first had been proposed for the border areas alone.

The council decided, 8 to 2, that the commission would be made up of representatives of each of its 11 members as constituted in 1947. Russia had abstained on this Mexican amendment, which changed the membership of the commission from seven to eleven.

The atomic energy commission, meanwhile faced a renewed battle tomorrow in the Security Council chamber (10:30 a.m. EST) on American proposals for veto-free punishment for violators of atomic energy controls.

The political committee of the commission, meeting today, accepted provisionally a report on proceedings and findings, to be made to the full commission tomorrow. It did not discuss recommendations, however, and did not touch on the proposals of U. S. Delegate Bernard M. Baruch. Also, the Soviet representative on the sub-committee, Prof. Semyon P. Alexandrov, made it clear that he participated in the political committee's discussions today and yesterday in a wholly unofficial capacity.

Baruch Seeks Action

Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko last Tuesday assailed the proposals for abandonment of the veto with respect to atomic controls as a violation of the UN charter. However, Baruch was going into tomorrow's session determined to force a decision.

In the security council tonight, Gromyko contended that a preliminary conclusion could be reached on the Greek case without waiting for a report from an investigating commission. That conclusion, he said, should be that Greece failed to substantiate her charges.

He supported the contention of Yugoslav, Albanian and Bulgarian spokesmen before the council that the real cause of the dispute in the Balkans was the character of the Greek government of Premier Constantin Tsaldaris, which Gromyko charged, was conducting an "increasingly severe campaign" against democratic elements in Greece.

U. S. Representative Herschel Johnson, president of the council, had aimed today at a quick vote on his resolution to create the investigating commission, but action was delayed by Gromyko's presentation of two amendments.

The first of these proposed to change the area in which the fact-finding investigation would be conducted from "such territory in Albania, Bulgaria, Greece and Yugoslavia as the commission considers should be included" to "Greece and also in border areas of Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia as the commission considers should be included in its investigation."

The second would alter the resolution to provide instead of "each representative on the commission be entitled to select personnel necessary to assist him" the stipulation "each representative on the commission be entitled to take with him one or two assistants."

Oscar Lange of Poland also said that Johnson's proposal to investigate "border incidents" was insufficient and offered an amendment to specify investigation of "northern Greece" and "along the frontier between Greece on the one hand and Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia on the other." In addition, Lange proposed that the commission include representatives of the parties to the dispute.

Russ Propose Wide Probe Of Greece

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 19 (AP). Russia proposed today that an American proposal for a United Nations investigation of conditions on both sides of the Greek frontier be extended to include a study of conditions throughout all Greece.

Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko also proposed that any investigation of Greece's complaints against Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria be limited in the three neighboring countries to border areas alone.

The amendments advanced in the United Nations Security Council by Gromyko indicated a shift in the Russian position from three months ago, when the Russians vetoed a similar American proposal for a border-area investigation.

British In Greece

As he did previously, Gromyko again raised the issue of the presence of British troops in Greece, declaring that "intervention not by a neighbor but by another power" was a deep-rooted cause of the current strife in Greece.

Gromyko, who shifted from Russian to English in presenting his proposed amendments, said he believed the Council could reach a preliminary conclusion that the Greek complaint was not substantiated by the case presented to the Council—but he added that the Russians would have no objection to the sending of a commission.

Attacks Greek Regime

He attacked the royalist-dominated government of Premier Constantin Tsaldaris, declaring that "terror against democrats in Greece is becoming increasingly severe."

"Consequently," he said, "it is not surprising that the situation is nearing a state of civil war, especially in northern Greece. The maneuver of trying to ascribe the situation to outside influences is a failure."

Tsaldaris has asked a commission investigation of border conditions. The three neighbor states have replied by demanding a study of conditions throughout all Greece, blaming the strife on the Greek Government.

Violations Listed

Gromyko listed numerous instances of what he said were "systematic" violations of the borders of Greece's neighbors.

The Soviet delegate said Greek democrats were prevented from taking part in Greece's Government and suggested that their representatives also should be here in a hearing of the case.

Gromyko suggested that the portion of the American proposal authorizing personnel sufficient to carry on the investigation be changed to limit the investigators to one or two assistants.

"Like Civil War"

He said the world knew this was the third time the Greek question was before the Council within a year, and added that "one is inevitably drawn to conclude there must be deep-seated causes for this phenomenon."

"There is something very like civil war going on in Greece," he said, "a situation confirmed by the Greek statement before the Council. Tsaldaris is trying to divert attention from the internal causes and to ascribe them to external causes."

Yugoslavia's representative declared that the situation inside Greece was one amounting to civil war and that investigation of mere "border incidents" would accomplish nothing.

Sava N. Kasanovich, Yugoslav Ambassador to the United States, said the American resolution—calling for a seven-nation investigating commission to look into the situation on both sides of the frontier—implied that the situation was the same in Yugoslavia as it was in Greece. This, he said, would be a mistaken assumption.

Bulgarian Statement

Vladimir Stoytcheff, representing Bulgaria at the council table, said the American proposal would be acceptable to him but he would like to see the Soviet amendments adopted. Both Bulgaria and Albania are participating in the discussion without vote. Neither is a United Nations member.

Herschel V. Johnson, Council chairman and United States delegate, was believed prepared to press for a quick vote on the American proposal. Passage of the proposal requires unanimity of the five veto-wielding permanent members of the Council.

The proposed commission would travel to Greece and cross the border into Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria to determine facts of Greek charges that her neighbors are interfering in her domestic affairs and countercharges by the accused against the Greek Government. It would be composed of representatives of the United States, Britain, Russia, France, China, Brazil and Poland under Johnson's proposal.

Greek Charges

Greece has charged that her neighbors are planning a coup de main to sever Greek Macedonia. Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria have answered before the Security Council with denials of any designs on Greek territory and demands that the Council look into the situation inside Greece under its Royalist Government.

In presenting his proposal, Johnson said the Council could never arrive at any solution of the dispute by merely sitting in New York and hearing charges and countercharges.

He was supported in this view by Sir Alexander Cadogan, of Britain; Paul Hasluck, of Australia, and Henrique de Souza Gomez, of Brazil.

U. N. Resolution on Greece

From the Herald Tribune Bureau

LAKE SUCCESS, L. I., Dec. 19.—The following is the text of the United States resolution on an investigation of the Greek border strife, as amended and adopted by the United Nations Security Council tonight:

Whereas, there have been presented to the Security Council oral and written statements by the Greek, Yugoslav, Albanian and Bulgarian governments relating to disturbed conditions in northern Greece along the frontier between Greece on the one hand and Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia on the other, which conditions in the opinion of the Council should be investigated before attempting to reach any conclusion regarding the issues involved.

Resolved: That the Security Council under Article 34 of the Charter establish a commission to ascertain the facts relating to the alleged border violations along the frontier between Greece on the one hand and Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia on the other.

That the commission be composed of a representative of each of the members of the Council as it will be constituted in 1947.

That the commission shall proceed to the area not later than January 15, 1947, and shall submit to the Security Council at the earliest possible date a report of the facts disclosed by its investigation. The commission shall, if it deems it advisable or if requested by the Security Council, make preliminary reports to the Security Council.

That the commission should have authority to conduct its investigation in northern Greece and in such places in other parts of Greece, in Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia as the commission considers should be included in its investigations in order to elucidate the causes and nature of the above mentioned border violations and disturbances. That the commission shall have authority to call upon the governments, officials and nationals of those countries, as well as such other sources as the commission deems necessary, for information relevant to its investigation.

That the Security Council request the Secretary General to communicate with the appropriate authorities of the countries named above in order to facilitate the commission's investigation in those countries.

That each representative on the commission be entitled to select the personnel necessary to assist him and that, in addition, the Security Council request the Secretary General to provide such staff and assistance to the commission as it deems necessary for the prompt and effective fulfillment of its task.

That a representative of the governments of Greece, Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia be invited to assist in the work of the commission in a liaison capacity.

That the commission be invited to make any proposals that it may deem wise for averting a repetition of border violations and disturbances in these areas.

BRITISH FARM BILL IS PUSHED

Could Oust Owner For Ignoring Scientific Advice

London, Dec. 19 (AP)—Britain's Labor Government asked today for a revolutionary farm bill under which a farmer could be ousted from his land for ignoring "scientific" advice on how to till his acres, and Winston Churchill angrily announced he would seek overthrow of the Government on the grounds of "tyranny, conceit and incompetence."

The bill, representing the first major governmental attempt at peacetime regulation of agriculture since the repeal 100 years ago of the "corn laws," calls for subsidies, pegged minimum prices and guaranteed markets, even if the Government has to buy some products. It aims at stabilizing agriculture by eliminating much uncertainty from the farmers' plans.

White Paper Issued

It was introduced in the House of Commons yesterday, and today the Government issued a White Paper in explanation of the broad powers it proposes to assume for the bill's enforcement.

The British Press Association tonight reported a "wide measure of agreement" on the bill among Conservatives, and quoted Capt. Harry Crookshank, chairman of the opposition's agricultural committee, as saying that it appeared to follow lines broadly agreed upon for the future development of British agriculture.

Churchill made no reference to the farm bill in announcing today in the House of Commons that he intends to call for a vote of censure when Parliament reassembles after it's Christmas recess. A successful vote would force the Government to change its socialistic program or resign.

Juts Out Lower Lip

Scowling and jutting out his lower lip while his Conservative followers cheered, the wartime Prime Minister told Herbert Morrison, House leader, that "I give notice when Parliment reassembles we shall ask time for a debate on a vote of censure."

"I wonder if you will tell me what the vote of censure is about?" Morrison asked blandly.

"I would not attempt to draft the motion at this moment, but tyranny, conceit and incompetence will be the first charges," Churchill snapped back. Cheers rang out again from the opposition benches, although the Conservatives knew, having tried it during the first Parliamentary session, that they were too few in number to pass a censure vote unaided.

The British National Farmers Union, which claims a membership of 168,000, threw its support to the farm bill, which calls for supervision and even ouster of farmers who decline to heed governmental advice on mechanizing farms and tilling scientifically to gain the greatest possible food production.

The organization saw the bill as "a necessary and welcome effort to establish a permanent statutory basis for a sound policy, not merely for the benefit of partners in the industry, but also in the interests of the nation as a whole."

Tom Williams, Minister of Agriculture, told a news conference that the Government was not "engaged upon a mission to dispossess farmers—but you cannot expect society to guarantee prices and markets if you have not a guarantee of efficiency in some form or other.

Temporary During War

"The fewer people who are stubborn or unreasonable the better we shall like it."

Many of the proposed controls operated on a temporary basis during the war, and in the 1945 election campaign the Labor party promised the bill as part of the first five-year installment on its program of building a planned, socialized economy for the country.

Safeguards against the "admittedly wide powers" granted by the bill include machinery for appeals against dispossession and a requirement for parliamentary approval of orders issued by ministers operating under the bill's general terms.

Guarantee To Tenants

One of the bill's main features is to guarantee tenant farmers against loss for improving a rented farm. This was coupled with provisions for loans to tenants who want to buy farms so that "experienced and otherwise suitable agricultural workers can rise from the ranks and become farmers on their own account."

Some observers said that success in this aim would mean accomplishment of a virtual "revolution" on the land in a country of traditionally large estates worked by salaried employés or share-cropping tenants—a turnover which might be as significant as the emancipation of serfs by the manpower shortage that followed the Black Plague of three centuries ago.

Rural Housing Campaign

Williams, however, did not see "much hope" of accomplishing the objective of a "lot of smallholders" until a rural housing campaign intended to make farm life more attractive has gained more impetus.

The White Paper said costs of guaranteeing prices could not be estimated accurately in advance, but it suggested that other farming services, including subsidies for drainage and liming of land, would amount to about $92,000,000 a year.

State ownership and development was proposed for marginal land which could not be made productive without heavy outlays which could not be expected of a private individual.

Churchill Lays 'Tyranny' To Laborites

London, Dec. 19 (AP)—Winston Churchill today accused the Labor Government of "tyranny, conceit and incompetence," and announced that he would call next month for a parliamentary vote of censure on his charges.

Churchill's announcement came as Prime Minister Attlee's party announced new plans to boss British farmers and prepared to take over the country's 20,000-mile railway system.

As leader of the Conservative opposition, Churchill said he would demand a parliamentary debate to arraign the Government when the lawmakers reassemble January 21 after a month's Christmas holiday.

Foreign Affairs Debate Asked

He likewise asked for an early debate on foreign affairs, "to discuss many grave matters," but majority floor leader Herbert Morrison shoved aside the request, at least temporarily, because Foreign Secretary Bevin had not returned from New York meetings of the United Nations and the Foreign Ministers Council.

A vote of censure is not so severe as a vote of lack of confidence, but its passage would amount to almost the same thing. If carried, it would force either a change of Government policy or resignation of the Government. However, the Laborites control more than 60 per cent of Parliament's 640 seats and Churchill's motion undoubtedly will be defeated decisively, as was a previous censure motion.

Legislation just introduced will authorize extensive supervision of farming, and guarantee prices for many crops. It provides the Government can take away the property of farmers who refuse to abide by official advice on how to grow things. The bill is part of the parliamentary social and industrial "revolution" promised by the Labor party in 1945.

Another Reason For Drive

Although a White Paper issued with copies of the bill did not mention it, another reason for the drive toward greater food production was the husbanding of British foreign exchange, much of which, particularly dollars, now is spent for imported foods.

The White Paper declared a section dealing with guaranteed prices and assured markets gave food and agriculture ministers "admittedly wide powers" to "do anything that is necessary to achieve the purpose" of the law.

Costs of guaranteeing prices "cannot accurately be estimated in advance," the White Paper said.

Advisory Service Offered

Technological and mechanical improvements in farming methods will be offered to landowners and tenants through a nation-wide agricultural advisory service. For those who won't take the Government's advice the bill "enables the Minister to place them under supervision, to issue directions to them and, if necessary, to dispossess them."

Dispossession notices, served either by the Government or by landlords or tenants, could be appealed, however, to local tribunals drawn from landlords, tenants and farm workers.

Seen As Boon To Tenants

The White Paper said better wages, better housing and "the provision of a satisfactory career on the land" would be offered to attract men to farming.

Farm workers or tenants would have a "ladder by which experienced and otherwise suitable agricultural workers can rise from the ranks and become farmers on their own account."

Minimum prices and guaranteed markets provisions will apply to fattened livestock, milk, eggs, grain, potatoes and sugar beets.

"It will be necessary to devise other ways of introducing some stability" to the growing of vegetable crops, the White Paper added.

Among methods of guaranteeing prices and markets the White Paper cited Government purchase of commodities and the continuation of wartime acreage payments now applied to wheat and potatoes—the staples of British diet.

Minimum prices and production targets could be cited for periods of two to four years ahead and actual prices for one year.

Some of the orders given permanent status by the bill have been operated under wartime powers. Wheat acreage was more than doubled and tilled acreage raised from less than 9,000,000 in 1939 to nearly 15,000,000 at the height of the war.

Government ownership of railways was virtually assured by a 362-204 vote on second reading of the nationalization measure in the Commons last night.

British Ban Return Of Smertenko 1946

London, Dec. 19 (AP)—A Home Office spokesman announced in the House of Commons today — amid cries of "Hear! Hear!"—that Prof. Johan Smertenko, vice president of the American League for a Free Palestine, would not be allowed to visit Britain again.

Asked by two Laborites if he was aware that Smertenko was "openly financing terriorist organizations" in Palestine, and that he had sought to form a branch of the American League in this country, Under Secretary George Oliver replied: "This foreign visitor left this country on the eighteenth of December and steps have been taken to exclude him for the future."

Assailed For His Remarks

Smertenko was assailed in the British press for telling a news conference last week that the Palestine resistance movement would continue to operate wherever "vulnerable targets" were found.

He also quoted Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin as saying British troops were in the Holy Land as a "defense measure against Russia." The Foreign Office said it did not recall Bevin had made such a comment.

Synagogue Case Probed

Informed by Communist Philip Piratin that there was "deep anxiety among Jewish people in East London" over the attempted burning of a synagogue December 3, Oliver said a police inquiry was under way.

"Is the Minister aware that this is only one of the many recent cases of anti-Semitic action in this district?" asked Laborite Henry Hynd.

Oliver replied that the matter was being investigated and said he could not comment further.

CHURCHILL CALLS BAN ON BROOKE 'TYRANNY'

LONDON, Dec. 19 (AP)—The Government's action in barring Anthony Brooke from entering the new British crown colony of Sarawak, which his uncle ceded to Britain, provoked a charge of "tyranny" in the House of Commons today from Winston Churchill.

The Colonial Secretary, Arthur Creech Jones, said he had barred Mr. Brooke, former heir to the white rulership of that country, because he was convinced that Mr. Brooke meant to stir up trouble there.

Mr. Churchill said that Mr. Jones' statement, "phrase by phrase and line by line, is a very perfect declaration of tyranny" and constituted "the same argument which is used by every despotic regime when they have taken their decision and nothing must be allowed to be done to agitate against it."

Mr. Brooke, now in Hong Kong, was rajah muda (crown prince) of Sarawak until the North Borneo state was ceded to Britain. He was deposed by the action and has announced he would fight against it.

Mr. Jones said Mr. Brooke was seeking to further his campaign for reinstatement "by personal efforts on the spot, thereby intensifying the harmful effects of his propaganda and possibly causing strife and disorder."

24,365 WAR CASES TRIED BY 7 ALLIES

London, Dec. 19 (A. P.).—The United Nations War Crimes Commission announced today that 24,365 persons have been tried for war crimes in British, United States, French, Greek, Norwegian, Czecho-Slovak and Polish courts. The figures for Poland and Czecho-Slovakia also included trials of persons charged with collaboration and treachery.

Death sentences were returned against 1,432; prison terms were levied against 16,413, and 6,520 were acquited.

In the Far East, the commission reported, 1,468 persons have been tried before United States, United Kingdom and Australian courts, with 457 death sentences, 735 prison sentences and 276 acquittals.

The commission said that no reports were available on trials in Russia or in the Russian zone of Germany.

Attack On Communist Assailed In Commons

London, Dec. 19 (AP)—The Speaker of the House of Commons tonight referred to that chamber's Committee on Privileges, with the warm support of Winston Churchill, the question of whether a newsman who twice bet up Philip Piratin, one of the two Communist members of Parliament, should be disciplined.

Piratin himself read out to the House a letter of apology from the newsman who, the victim said, assaulted him twice today inside the Palace of Westminster. The newsman was not identified in the proceedings.

F. G. Bowles, Laborite, notified the House earlier that Piratin had been "twice physically assaulted and battered." Herbert Morrison, House leader, declared he thought "honor had been served," although suggesting the newsman's employers might find work for him elsewhere than the House of Commons.

Churchill, however, normally an anti-Communist, insisted that the matter of "members being knocked about by strangers" in the precincts of the House was a grave one "I am not in favor of, whether they (the victims) are Communists or tories."

The speaker agreed there is a necessity for further investigation, but did not use his power to have the reporter detained.

Soviet Delegation To Visit Britain

London, Dec. 19 (A. P.).—A delegation from the Supreme Soviet of the U. S. S. R. has accepted an invitation from the British Parliament to visit the United Kingdom at the end of next February, Lord Chancellor Jowitt announced today.

MOSCOW JABS AT BRITAIN

Charges Oppression of Natives in African Colonies

LONDON, Dec. 19 (AP)—The Moscow radio condemned Britain's policies in Africa today, accusing the British of "oppressing, exploiting and brow-beating" nationals of all her .african colonies.

Commentator Mikhail Mikhailov said in the broadcast: "The enthusiasm with which the colonies greeted the Labor Government has now largely evaporated.

"Since time immemorial Britain's colonial policy has masqueraded as the 'White Man's burden.' Conquest of new territories for the purpose of exploiting their natural resources and labor was invariably represented as 'bringing civilization to the wild'."

Blum Plans Tax Hike

Paris, Dec. 19 (AP)—Proposals to discharge 50,000 French Government employés, cut various subsidy payments and increase income-tax payments were understood today to have been drawn up by Premier Leon Blum's new Socialist Government to ease France's ticklish financial situation.

An informed source said the Cabinet discussed plans last night for a heavier tax on stock-exchange operations and for increases in lump-sum income taxes paid by persons with more or less stable incomes, such as business men, industrialists and farmers.

Taking Over Message Network

LONDON, Dec. 19 (AP).—Hugh Dalton, Chancellor of the Exchecquer, announced tonight that Cables and Wireless, Ltd., the world-wide British communications network nationalized this year by the Labor government, will pass into government control on aJn. 1. Sir Stanley Angwin, chief engineer of the British General Post Office, has been named chairman of the new government-owned company, in which the state now holds 2,600,000 shares of 30,000,000 outstanding. John Innes, another General Post Office official, will be managing director.

FRANKFURT, Germany, Dec. 19 —(AP) Golden-haired Eva Braun flaunted her shapely, scantily-clad body and flirted with other men in front of Adolf Hitler before their eleventh hour marriage, newly captured Nazi color films disclosed today.

Her poses and preening and the nude daylight bathing of her sister, recorded on three of the 31 reels of movie film dug from a secret hiding place by U. S. Army agents, were shown at a special "matinee" for news correspondents today after Gen. Joseph T. McNarney viewed them yesterday.

U. S. officers who found the film months ago in the Bavarian mountains said they cast new and important light on the personalities of the fuehrer and his sweetheart.

Gay Parties Filmed

The 10 1-2-hour collection of pictures made by Hitler's personal photographer, Heinrich Hoffman and his aides, gave intimate details of gay war-time parties at Berchtesgaden and of Hitler's solitary walks.

Coquettish and youthful, Eva mugged, flirted, flexed her well-developed body and displayed her gymastic prowess in front of Hitler, his Nazi cronies and her family through these reels.

In multi-colored bathing suits and peasant skirts she displayed her charms vigorously, carelessy and without inhibition, and in kittenish byplays she kidded but never quite kissed the male members of Hitler's entourage.

The scenes with Hitler showed her quieter and more adult. The film showed the German fuehrer attentive but emotionless and almost stolid.

Eva's trim legs, firm muscles and well-moulded body were shown against a backdrop of mountain peaks and lakes in their spring, summer, autumn and winter colorings.

Bathes In Nude

In one sequence with the closest members of the Braun family, her sister, Mrs. Gretl Fegelien, now 31, bathed blithely in the nude under a mountain waterfall.

Said one intelligence officer of Eva, reported to have died in the ruins of Berlin with Hitler after a last-hour wedding made "legal" their long association: "The shots of Eva alone show her to be a really beautiful woman."

There are scenes in the Berghof at Berchtesgaden, now in ruins, showing Hitler gazing out over the sunlit Bavarian peaks, storming at Himmler, Von Ribbentrop and Goering dancing a jig, or angrily waving a magnifying glass while studying a map of the war fronts.

Intelligence officers said that the pictures showing nervous twitches around Hitler's mouth, the constant movement of a knee and the tender handling of the children of high Nazi party officials, had made a substantial contribution to the studies of the fuehrer's character.

They said the films also had been used in search for wanted Nazis and identification of hundreds of members of Hitler's entourage.

Captured Nazi Films Show Eva Flirting with Hitler's Cronies

NIGHT R. O'REGAN

31 Reels Of Movies Show Hitler And Eva

DA R. O'REGAN 1946

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 19 (AP). Intimate new details of the life of Adolf Hitler and Eva Braun have been uncovered by army seizure of 31 reels of color films.

The films, depicting gay parties at Berchtestgaden and bathing in the nude under mountain waterfalls, were dug from a hiding place in the Bavarian mountains "several months ago," army intelligence officers disclosed today.

Taken between 1939 and 1941, long before the couple's eleventh-hour marriage in Berlin's ruins, the films were described as the personal property of the German Führer and his bride.

Used In Nazi Hunt

Intelligence officers said the films had been used in the search for wanted Nazis and for the positive identification of hundreds of members of Hitler's entourage and the summer-time guests at the Führer's Alpine Eagle's Nest.

Carefully catalogued and arranged in time sequence, the films were shown yesterday for the first time to Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, the Army's commander in Europe. Correspondents saw three selected reels from the collection today.

Most of the candid shots were taken by Heinrich Hoffman, Hitler's photographer, who now faces trial by his own countrymen before a de-Nazification court, and his aides.

Officers said the entire collection takes 10½ hours to show.

Shots of Hitler show him gazing out from Berchtesgaden over the sunlit Bavarian peaks, uncertain and unsure of himself and his future; raving at Himmler, Ribbentrop and Goering, dancing a jig or irately waving a huge magnifying glass while studying a map of the war fronts.

Eva "Really Beautiful"

Intelligence officers said shots that showed nervous twitches around the Führer's mouth and the constant movement of one knee were revealing of his character.

The films show frequent scenes of Hitler with Eva Braun, talking calmly to her or apparently kidding her.

"The shots of Eva alone show her to be a really beautiful woman," one officer commented.

The films show Eva dressed almost always in a blue polka dot skirt, white blouse and red velvet vest, with her long golden hair falling over her forehead.

Is Shown At Play

She is dancing, talking, playing with kittens or children or cavorting on the beaches of the Starnberger See, the Chiem See or the Wolfgang See.

The films show Hitler's favorite in at least six gaily colored bathing suits, diving, surf riding, doing gymnastics or climbing trees.

They show trim legs, firm muscles and a well-formed body.

In one sequence with the closest members of the Braun family, her sister, Mrs. Gretel Fegelein, now 31, bathes blithely in the nude under a mountain waterfall.

51,000 Polish D. P.s Go Home

FRANKFURT AM MAIN, Dec. 19 (AP).—About 51,000 Polish displaced persons in the American zones of Germany and Austria will have returned to their homeland by Dec. 31, under a three-month plan whereby those returning by that time receive a sixty-day food bonus, United States Army headquarters announced tonight. This makes 322,000 Polish displaced persons returned by United States forces since the end of the war, and leaves approximately 120,000 displaced Polcs in American D. P. centers.

Wiesbaden Synagogue Rebuilt

FRANKFURT AM MAIN, Dec. 19 (AP).—A synagogue destroyed by the Nazis in 1938 has been restored in Wiesbaden largely through the efforts of an American Air Forces chaplain—Captain William Z. Dalin, of 1681 Fifty-fourth Street, Brooklyn. Chaplain Dalin organized a small group of Wiesbaden Jews who survived Buchenwald and other concentration camps, and with the cooperation of the military government, they succeeded in rebuilding

Venereal Disease Declines

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 19 (AP). The incidence of venereal disease among American soldiers in Germany declined during October and November to one soldier in every 53, as compared with one in every 43 soldiers infected last July, the United States Army announced today.

Reich-Newsmen U.S.-Job Plan Supported

Berlin, Dec. 19 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, deputy American military governor, today indorsed as "a very good idea" a proposal by Paul C. Smith, editor of the San Francisco Chronicle, to bring German editors to the United States to learn free-press practices by working on American newspapers.

General Clay said he thought the plan could be started almost immediately on a limited scale if some method of financing it were obtained.

Hearty indorsement of the plan was also expressed by Brig. Gen. Robert McClure, chief of the Military Government's information control division.

"First Problem's Funds"

"The military would be very sympathetic to a plan for giving proved anti-Nazi journalists training in the United States," General Clay said, "but the primary problem would be financing.

"Military government has no dollar funds it could use for this purpose. However, if the newspapers would pay the journalists' passage and agree to pay their salaries while in the United States, I think such a plan could be put into operation in a short time. Perhaps, also, some private educational or cultural foundation could be interested to contribute financing.

"A Good Idea"

"If adopted, the plan would necessarily have to begin on a limited scale. However, I think it's a very good idea,"

General McClure said he had discussed some such plan briefly and informally with American editors, who toured Germany a few months ago and hoped it could be developed.

"I think such experience would be very useful to our German journalists, especially the young ones," McClure said.

Allies Allot Champagne And Vodka for Berliners

1,000,000 Bottles To Be Given Out for Holidays

BERLIN, Dec. 19 (AP)—An Allied announcement tonight said 900,000 bottles of vodka and 100,000 bottles of champagne will be distributed during the holidays among the 3,000,000 Germans in Berlin.

The vodka is an allotment from Soviet occupation authorities, but was German-distilled.

The champagne comes from French authorities, but likewise was of German origin.

The American Military Government is making 290 tons of processed fruits and fruit juices available to Berlin's children this Christmas.

The British contribution is 145 tons of sweets.

Kramer Affidavit Tells Of Camp Slayings

Nuernberg, Germany, Dec. 19 (AP)—An affidavit read at the trial of 23 German doctors today asserted that hundreds of men and women were killed in concentration camps so their bodies could be used for the Strasbourg University skeleton collection and similar so-called scientific projects.

The affidavit, signed by Joseph Kramer, former commandant of the Belsen concentration camp, who since has been hanged by the British for his crimes, said he gassed and poisoned inmates of the Natzweiler concentration camp so their bodies could be used for medical research.

The American military tribunal granted a defense request to call fifteen German physicians as defense witnesses.

Hessian Landtag Convenes

Wiesbaden, Germany, Dec. 19 (AP). The Hessian Landtag (parliament) convened today, completing the organization of Parliament governments in the American zone. Otto Witte, of the Social Democratic party heads the Landtag, which tomorrow will choose a Minister-President, with duties similar to those of a Prime Minister.

FOOD STRIKE ENDS IN NAPLES; OTHER RIOTING REPORTED

NIGHT

ROME, Dec. 19—(AP) Naples' general strike against food shortages, high prices and unemployment ended at noon today, but new demonstrations broke out in Florence.

After an all-night discussion of Premier Alcide de Gasperi's broadcast appeal for restraint and promise that the Central government would move swiftly to alleviate the Neapolitan distress, the Naples Chamber of Labor voted to call workers back to their jobs.

The strike, begun three days ago, had left only essential public utilities in operation and had virtually paralyzed the city. The strikers empowered "agitation committees" to keep pressing the government for speedy relief, including diversion of stores from better supplied areas.

Press dispatches said angry Florentine housewives stormed several market districts and overturned food carts, duplicated earlier disturbances at Milan and elsewhere.

The government strove to induce merchants throughout the country to declare "a truce on price increases" to match a recently obtained truce on wage boosts, and to keep food prices at the Dec. 1 levels until Jan. 31.

The cabinet will meet tomorrow for the second time this week to consider the food shortage which threatens to find Italian granaries bare by mid-February of the country's No. 1 diet item, wheat.

RIOTING IN FLORENCE

Rome, Dec. 19 (A. P.).—Demonstrations against soaring food prices began in Florence today as a general strike that paralyzed the Naples region for two days was called off.

Press dispatches said that Florentine housewives stormed several market districts, overturning food carts.

The Naples Chamber of Labor, whose representatives conferred with Government officials all night, announced in a broadcast at noon that it was decided to call off the strike and to empower "agitation committees" to keep pressing the Government for relief measures.

DAY

Taylor Is Flying To U. S. From Rome

Rome, Dec. 19 (A. P.).—Myron Taylor, President Truman's personal representative to the Vatican, left Rome by plane today en route to the United States. He is expected to arrive in Washington tomorrow.

Before leaving, Taylor was received in private audience by Pope Pius XII. Taylor also conferred with Premier Alcide de Gasperi.

CHICAGOAN OUSTED BY ZIONIST GROUP

NIGHT

Ziff Scored for Statement; Had Warned of Civil War Danger.

E. G. FISCHER

BASEL, Switzerland, Friday, Dec. 20—(AP) The United Revisionist Party of the World Zionist Congress announced early today that William B. Ziff, Chicago publisher and author, had been expelled from the party membership.

The party's executive committee announced after a long night session that Ziff had been expelled "for breach of discipline and for publication of statements without the knowledge of the leadership of the party."

The announcement added that Ziff, attending the congress as a delegate accredited to the Revisionist Party of America, made statements outside of yesterday's congress session for which "the leadership takes no responsibility."

Ziff, speaking as an individual, told a news conference yesterday that present policies of the Zionists were not drastic enough for solution of the Palestine problem, and that if the present Jewish Agency Executive was reelected and proceeded to collaborate in the partition of Palestine, "it would be a signal for civil war."

The Chicagoan made public a letter from former U. S. Sen. Guy M. Gillette of Iowa to Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the World Zionist organization, which proposed that the Jewish Agency Executive "be taken over by a provisional government which could assume all the functions of government practiced during the war by the various exile governments."

The letter, Ziff declared, was "full of stuff and nonsense." He estimated that active resistance forces in Palestine totaled 20,000 persons "headed by men with true military genius and with a well-organized intelligence."

The Revisionist Party's announcement said that it was a world committee and included the majority of the executive committee of the American Revisionists. Therefore, it said, the committee had the power not only to discredit Ziff as a delegate to the congress, but also to expell him from the American party.

The congress became stalemated yesterday when the Labor Party, in a key position because of a division within the larger general Zionist party, twice caucused without being able to agree upon a candidate for the world organization.

The Labor Party, represented by 103 delegates mostly from Palestine, appointed a committee of three to meet with Dr. Chaim Weizmann, of London, president of the World Zionist organization, and David Ben-Gurion of Tel Aviv, chairman of the Jewish Agency Executive, to attempt reconciliation of the party's views and those of the present administration.

The Labor Party delegation is second only to the 120 delegates from the General Zionists who are reported about evenly divided over supporting the policies of Weizmann or of Rabbi A. H. Silver of Cleveland, Ohio. Silver, opposing any partition of Palestine of any Zionist participation in the forthcoming London conference on Palestine, has declared Weizmann's policies resulted in "disastrous retreat."

Weizmann Storm Center

Weizmann was criticized and defended in a series of statements and counter statements today.

Dr. Israel Goldstein of New York, chairman of the steering committee of the Zionist Organization of America Delegation, expressed "deep resentment over the slurring references to Amrican Zionists" which he said had been made by Weizmann.

Goldstein said Weizmann had made it appear American Zionists were encouraging the youth of Palestine to expose themselves to peril while themselves remaining safe in America.

CHARGES SLUR ON U. S. ZIONISTS

DAY

New Yorker at Basle Retorts to Weizmann Speech.

Basle, Dec. 19 (A. P.).—Dr. Israel Goldstein of New York, chairman of the steering committee of the delegation sent here by the Zionist Organization of America, today expressed "deep resentment over the slurring references to American Zionists" which he attributed to Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the World Zionist Organization. Goldstein issued a statement declaring that Weizmann, in his speech before the World Zionist Congress on Monday night, "so distorted the position of American Zionists as to be susceptible to the interpretation that American Zionists were irresponsibly encouraging the youth of Palestine to expose themselves to dangers while remaining safely in America and offering only moral, political and financial support."

Meanwhile today Weizmann and David Ben-Gurion, chairman of the Jewish Agency Executive, appeared before the standing committee of the Zionist Congress to explain their policies in considering the partitionment of Palestine as a basis for further negotiations with Britain. Ben-Gurion—this time with Nahum Goldmann, the agency's emissary to London and Washington last August and September—also appeared before the political commission.

At a news conference an authorized spokesman of the Zionist Congress said that a letter from United States Senator Guy M. Gillette of Iowa to Weizmann, urging the establishment of a provisional government for Palestine, was "full of stuff and nonsense." Gillette is president of the American League for a Free Palestine. His letter, made public here by William B. Ziff, Chicago publisher, suggested that the powers of the present Jewish Agency executive "be taken over by a provisional government which could assume all the functions of government practiced during the war by the various exile governments."

Ziff told reporters that if the present Jewish Agency is re-elected and proceeds to collaborate in the partitionment of Palestine, "it would be a signal for civil war." Here as a delegate from the Revisionist party of America, Ziff emphasized, however, that he was speaking as an individual.

Ziff said he had been in communication with responsible Resistance leaders in Palestine and that they "would lay down their arms if their case were given a fair hearing before a world court." He estimated the active Resistance forces at 20,000 fighters "headed by men with true military genius and with a well-organized intelligence." Insisting that they are not terrorists but young men sacrificing their careers and their lives," he added: "Men who swim with explosives in their mouths to blast British warships taking refugees to Cyprus are to be reckoned with."

Russian Plane Forced Down, Greeks Report

Salonika, Greece, Dec. 19 (AP)—The Greek 3d Army Corps said a "Russian observation plane" was forced down by bad weather today near Sidirokastron, about 20 miles south of the Bulgarian border.

The plane, "apparently lost," was forced to land because of storms sweeping this area, and its crew members were "well treated," the announcement said.

Greek Villagers Seen Aiding Partisans

By Walter Welebit

Belgrade, Dec. 18 [AP—Delayed]. Greek Partisan troops high on Mount Paikos south of the Yugoslav border told his reporter that people in all the villages behind guerrilla lines have been giving food, shelter, clothing and meager medical attention to the irregulars.

I have just returned from touring Greek Partisan territory in northern Macedonia in company with Peter Furst, correspondent for Reuter, and June Tannan, of Overseas News Agency. We spent three days behind Greek Partisan lines after the Greek Army in Salonika had said no one was permitted to go into the Partisan-held mountains because of security reasons.

Talked With Partisans

With the help of Macedonia peasants, I skirted a Greek Army outpost at Orma at the foot of Mount Kaimakchalan and talked with Partisans and villagers in the general area of Mount Kaimakchalan and Mount Paikos, due north of Edessa and about 65 miles northwest of Salonika. This was the locale of the most severe guerrilla fighting in Greece, north of the road between Salonika and Edessa and south of the Yugoslav frontier.

The guerrillas appeared to be constantly in operation. Partisan commanders and fighting men and women said the people of the villages lived in terror of the Greek Army and gendarmery.

Planting At Night

They related many stories of killings by gendarmes and said that in some places workers did their winter planting at night, surrounded by heavily armed guards of Partisans.

Villagers asserted there had been "discrimination in the distribution of UNRRA goods." They said their village received only one allotment of supplies in two years and that this consisted of only a few cans of milk and some clothes.

Another village of 1,000 persons was said to have received a few old clothes and a little milk.

"UNRRA Black Mart"

One Partisan said that during a guerrilla attack on a village, guerrillas found 50 UNRRA waterproof jackets and 50 pairs of shoes in the Mayor's house. They charged the Mayor with selling the supplies in the black market and a Partisan said the guerrillas shot him on the spot.

No evidence was found that Greek army troops or the gendarmery had ever set foot inside Yugoslav territory. A few Partisans sometimes are known to flee into Yugoslavia, but the main forces remain always in Greece, it was said.

United Front

A deputy commander of Partisan forces assured us the guerrillas were presenting a united front in their fight against the Greek Government. He showed us a Partisan communiqué recounting the biggest series of battles in the area which declared that guerrilla units from other mountains and other sections had co-ordinated their attacks under joint orders from the commander of the Paikos-Kaimakchalan area.

"Our fight against the enemy of the people will continue with unceasing fury," the communiqué concluded. The paper carried at the bottom the same slogan used by all official or public papers in Yugoslavia: "Death to Fascism—Freedom to the People."

"Open Letter"

Another crudely printed "open letter" handed us by the Partisan commander outlined demands and proclaimed the formation of a "Greek Democratic Army."

The letter was directed to the governments of Russia, the United States, Great Britain and Greece and to newspapers in Athens and Salonika. It denied that the Partisans were receiving aid from Yugoslavia or Bulgaria.

The Partisans asked for a commission to investigate on the spot, and guaranteed the investigators' safety.

Danish Newspaper Sees Meat Rationing

Copenhagen, Dec. 19 (AP)—The newspaper Politiken predicted today that the Danish Government would introduce meat rationing and reduce rations of butter and sugar next year to save foreign currency. A severe cut in newsprint and all sorts of paper consumption was forecast.

Politiken said indications were that Denmark's application for a $50,000,000 loan from the World Bank would be rejected and this was one reason for the projected economies which would make 1947 "a year of poverty."

SOVIET ACCUSES IRAN TROOPS OF MASS SLAYINGS

Tass Declares Hundreds of Persons Were Killed in Azerbaijan.

600 REPORTED DEAD IN TABRIZ

Reds Charge Tehran Soldiers Connived in Attacks on Russian Citizens and Institutions.

London, Dec. 19 (A. P.).—The Moscow radio accused Iranian Central Government troops today of shooting hundreds of persons in Azerbaijan Province and of attacking Russian institutions and citizens there.

"In the course of the past few days, over 600 Azerbaijan Democrats have been murdered and about 300 arrested in Tabriz," the broadcast said, quoting a Tass dispatch, which in turn quoted the Tehran newspaper Dad.

"Bandit elements and detachments under Col. Hashemi in Tabriz have for several days past been brutally suppressing democratic elements, arresting hundreds of people and shooting them on the spot," the broadcast said a Tass special correspondent in Tabriz reported in a second dispatch.

Bodies Reported in Streets.

"The bodies of killed Democrats are scattered through the streets of the city. The premises of the Central Committee of the Democratic party of Azerbaijan, the offices of local newspapers, the National Museum and other cultural institutions of Azerbaijan have been smashed up."

The so-called "Democratic party" of Azerbaijan was a moving force in the province's deposed regime. Some leaders reportedly fled across the border into Russia when Central Government troops arrived last week. Premier Ahmed Oavam said yesterday in Tehran that he was undecided whether to seek their return.

Today's broadcast contained the first major charge to be made by Moscow against the central Government of Iran since the Soviet-supported semi-autonomous provincial government in Azerbaijan agreed last week to permit central Government troops to enter the province—after a short-lived "civil war"—for the purpose of supervising elections.

Oil Promised to Russia.

Premier Qavam said in Tehran yesterday he hoped that the parliamentary elections could begin Sunday. At the same time, he said in an interview that he intended to keep his promise to Russia to submit to Parliament a proposal for Soviet oil concessions in Iran's five northern provinces, including Azerbaijan.

The broadcast charged that the central Govehrnment troops by their acts had broken Qavam's promise to enter Azerbaijan peaceably. The Azerbaijan regime's resistance to the entry of central Government troops collapsed December 11 in the second day of fighting. The troops entered Tabriz December 13 to find that the Azerbaijan regime had collapsed and its leaders were in flight, just three days short of a year after it was established.

A committee of Azerbaijanis who fled the province during that regime, under pro-Russian Jafar Pishevari, sent a telegram from Tehran yesterday to Prime Minister Stalin, thanking him for Russian forbearance during the brief civil conflict last week and praising the "peaceful and friendly policy of our neighboring country."

Iranians Kill Hundreds In Tabriz, Tass Avers

Moscow, Dec. 19 (AP)—A Tass dispatch from Tabriz asserted today that Iranian Government troops had slain hundreds of persons in Azerbaijan province in the last few days and had connived in attacks on Soviet institutions and citizens.

In Tabriz alone, Tass declared, more than 600 persons have been killed and 300 arrested by the troops, who were dispatched to Azerbaijan for the announced purpose of maintaining order during the forthcoming parliamentary elections.

"Hundreds Of Bodies"

"Bandit elements and detachments of soldiers under Colonel Hashemi in Tabriz have been brutally mobbing democratic elements for several days, arresting hundreds of persons and shooting them on the spot," the dispatch said.

"Bodies of hundreds of Democrats are lying everywhere on the streets of the city. The building of the central committee of the Azerbaijan Democratic party, editorial offices of local newspapers, the National Museum and other cultural institutions of Azerbaijan have been smashed."

The dispatch added that "incited by elements hostile to the Soviet Union and under the protection of Colonel Hashemi, bandits have broken loose, also attacking Soviet institutions and Soviet citizens in Tabriz."

Pravda Hits Article Attacking British

Moscow, Dec. 19 (AP)—A Soviet naval officer who wrote an article for Red Fleet recently accusing the British of mishandling a convoy to Archangel in 1942 was called to task today by the Communist party organ Pravda for having given "an incorrect, one-sided picture" of the operation."

Pravda said the article, by Captain Second Rank V. Andrev, "merits criticism," but objected to foreign commentators "trying to raise a furore about the article by representing it as 'a campaign of Soviet propaganda' directed against Britain."

Report To Commons

[John Dugdale, the British Admiralty's financial secretary, told the House of Commons in London on Tuesday that the Red Fleet article "appears to impugn not merely the naval tactics of the convoy, but also the courage of the British and American seamen who took part in it."

[Dugdale said the convoy in question was "admittedly one of the least fortunate," but added that "not all operations of war are successful and we have a right to expect that the efforts of the Royal Navy in the common cause should no be decried."]

"Not Public Viewpoint"

Pravda said that, although Andrev's article had appeared in Red Fleet in October, there had been no criticism of it abroad until this month. It added that the recent criticism in London "by no means corresponds to the significance of the article, which does not reflect the viewpoint of the Soviet public."

The Soviet State and public, Pravda said, have "appraised at their worth both the competent operations of the Allied fleets and the indubitable courage of the seamen of Britain and the United States."

The newspaper Red Fleet, it added, has published a number of articles giving a positive appraisal of Allied wartime convoy operations to Russia.

INDEPENDENCE URGED IN INDIA

Lawyer Says It Is Needed As Constitution Guide

New Delhi, India, Dec. 19 (AP)—One of India's leading constitutional lawyers told the Constituent Assembly today that passage of a resolution declaring India a sovereign independent republic was needed in order to give the Assembly a guide for its task of writing a charter of freedom.

Sir Alladi Krishnaswamy Iyer, urging the Assembly to adopt the resolution proposed by Jawharlal Nehru, vice president of the interim government, declared "it is inconceivable that any constitution could be framed without a directive on objectives of the Assembly."

Despite his appeal, debate on the resolution progressed listlessly, and it became apparent that a vote on the resolution probably would not be taken until after the first of the year.

Sees No Objecting

Sir Alladi declared that neither the Moslem League nor the princely states, which are not participating in the Assembly, could object to the resolution.

Nehru, in an interview, declined comment on the resolution, but reiterated his hope that India would gain its independence "very soon."

He denied that he told a meeting of students in Benares several days ago that "in two or three days time India is to declare herself out of the British Empire. The Constituent Assembly will pass a resolution declaring India a free sovereign country and we are not going to submit our decision to the British Parliament."

Report Carried By AP

A report to the Times of India, in Bombay, quoting him to that effect had been carried by the Associated Press.

"I never made any such statement," Nehru said. "I told the students India would gain its independence soon. I spoke only briefly on the subject of independence. I said very little about independence in that speech."

Question about when he hopes and expects India to achieve independence, he said: "How can I answer that at this stage? I hope it will be soon—very soon."

[Mahomed Ali Jinnah, president of the Moslem League, declared at a news conference in Cairo today that any creation of a "Hindu empire" in India would be an "imperialistic menace far worse than British imperialism" and reiterated the league's demands for Pakistan—an independent Moslem state in India. Jinnah is en route from London to India.]

Delay In Final Vote On India Seen

New Delhi, Dec. 19 (AP)—India's Constituent Assembly listlessly continued debate today on Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru's resolution to proclaim India a sovereign, independent republic, and it became apparent the resolution probably would not come to a final vote this year.

The working committee of the Hindu-led Congress party was to meet tonight and a caucus of Assembly members was called to discuss the matter and also that of submitting to the courts the knotty problem concerning compulsory grouping of provinces.

Some Advocate Delay

Some members of the Assembly advocate delaying a vote on the Nehru resolution until the Moslem League and the Indian States end their boycott of the Assembly, but Sir Alladi Krishnaswamy Iyer, one of India's leading constitutional lawyers, declared today that neither the league nor the states could object to the resolution.

"In fact," he added, "neither of these two parties would have a place in the Assembly unless they subscribed to the objectives of an independent India. . . . There is no guarantee that postponement of the resolution "would make the Moslem League come in."

India Famine Threat Ends

BANGALORE, India, Dec. 19 (AP).—C. P. Karunakara Menon, regional food commissioner for South India, said in an interview today that the famine danger in South India is now safely past, and there is no further need for concern provided food imports remain at their present level.

Nanking Hails Truman's Move, But Chinese Reds Assail It

Nanking, Dec. 19 (AP)—President Truman's reaffirmation of American policy toward China evoked pleasure in Government circles tonight, but a Communist spokesman said the United States should cease "confining itself to lip service to peace."

There was no official Government comment, and none was expected. Top leaders of the Chiang Kai-shek regime took the position that the President's statement was mainly directed at critics of his year-old policy rather than at this Government.

Pro-Government sources hailed the statement as indicating that a bitter anti-American campaign by the Communists, which had won some support in America, had failed to influence the White House.

Clean Bill Of Health

They felt that Mr. Truman had given a clean bill of health to the Government. Neutral onlookers, while not viewing it as that strong, expressed belief that it did mean no great change in the American attitude toward China was to be expected in the near future.

While approving the President's desire for peace in China, Wang Ping-nan, Communist spokesman in Nanking, commented, "The immediate task is to put an end to the gruesome civil war. If the United States wants to help on that score it must demonstrate that it is not going to continue helping the Kuomintang (Government party) alone.

"If America wants to show respect for Chinese independence, she must withdraw troops from China. When the United States ceases confining itself to lip service to peace but does things in actual fact, it then will be helping China."

With Gen. George C. Marshall staying on indefinitely as special presidential envoy, observers here believed that adoption of a new Chinese constitution would be followed soon by resumption of some sort of negotiations between the Government and Communists.

The constitutional convention had been scheduled to approve the document today, but was delayed, and Wang Shih-chieh, Foreign Minister, predicted work would be completed some time within the next week.

Chiang has made a determined effort to press through the constitutional draft without major changes, as the Communists themselves had a hand in framing it, even though they boycotted the convention.

Some Amendments

Foreign Minister Wang said, "Naturally there are some amendments to the original draft, but such amendments will be generally an improvement of the original and not a deformation of it."

On the military front, pro-Government dispatches reported Communist guerrillas were attacking the Peiping-Tientsin railway 33 miles southeast of Peiping and the Peiping-Mukden line 80 miles northeast of Tientsin.

Chiang Men Like Truman Stand

Nanking, Dec. 19 (AP)—Members of the Chiang Kai-shek Government were visibly satisfied tonight with President Truman's restatement of American policy toward China, taking the view that it constituted a clean bill of health for the regime.

Informed sources said no formal reaction, however, was to be expected. Top Chinese leaders considered that Mr. Truman's words were directed at critics of his year-old China policy rather than at this Government.

Neutral observers, while not classifying Truman's statement as an indorsement of the Chiang Government, believed that at least it indicated no violent changes in the near future.

The Red Reaction

Wang Ping-nan, Communist spokesman, said, "True peace in China would help the establishment of peace throughout the world."

"The immediate task is to put an end to the gruesome civil war," he said. "If the United States wants to help on that score, it must demonstrate that it is not going to continue helping the Kuomintang (Government party) alone.

"If America wants to show respect for Chinese independence she must withdraw troops from China."

"We Approve"

Of the Murray-Flanders proposal that the United States, Russia and Britain declare themselves out of Chinese politics and that an international conference be called to settle the civil war, Wang Ping-nan said, "No matter who proposed ending United States aid to the Kuomintang to keep the civil war going, we approve."

He declined to say whether the Communists would accept the mediation of other nations, adding "continued United States mediation is difficult under the condition of continued unilateral aid to Chiang Kai-shek."

Disappointed At Slowness

Foreign Minister Wang Shih-chieh said the Government wanted to study the Truman text before commenting.

He said that China stands for "effective reduction of all types of arms and total prohibition of certain types, including the atomic bomb."

He said China was disappointed at the slow progress of the military staff committee of the United Nations, explaining: "We hold there must be immediate implementation of provisions of the Charter concerning the organization of an international force."

Of Sino-Soviet relations, Wang Shih-chieh said: "On the whole, I can say the understanding between the Chinese and Soviet governments of each other's attitude definitely has advanced in the last year. However, inaccurate reports and biased comments in some Soviet and some Chinese newspapers have not been helpful."

He termed "absolutely unfounded" rumors that China planned to issue a new type of currency to replace the greatly devalued Chinese dollar.

He predicted the National Assembly within seven days would adopt a revised constitution "essentially as presented in draft form."

He announced the Government would start its own reorganization soon "regardless of the political situation."

He said the Assembly deliberations have been characterized by tolerance, adding "for this the Kuomintang members perhaps have to thank the Chinese Communists. I hope the Communists also will learn from others. I am happy to observe we learned the necessity and wisdom of meeting the views of opposition parties with an open mind and tolerance."

Reds Press Attacks

[Meantime, relentless Communist attacks completely halted northbound railway service from Peiping to Mukden and threatened to stop service between Peiping and Tientsin, it was reported from Peiping.

[Communists pushed into a triangular area formed by Peiping, Tientsin and Paoting, the Hopeh province capital, crossed the Yungting River south of Peiping and brushed Government troops from the north bank. They drove on toward Langfang, 27 miles southeast of Peiping.]

Big U.S. Credit To China Hinges On Unity

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—The United States dangled an unprecedented $500,000,000 credit before the Government and people of China today as an inducement to establish peace and unity in that land of civil war.

In what he termed a reiteration and clarification of this Government's policy toward China, President Truman said yesterday the United States still believes it is of "utmost importance to world peace" that there be a united and democratic China.

And, Mr. Truman told reporters, he hopes the $500,000,000 credit to China has not been endangered. But he said he did not wish to make a definite statement on whether it is in jeopardy.

May Be Held Back

Diplomatic experts figured he meant that this Government is going to hold back the $500,000,000 Export-Import Bank loan to China until all threats to world stability there are eliminated.

None of the $500,000,000 has been spent, and Mr. Truman emphasized that extension of actual credits would have to be based upon the American Government's policy toward China.

This policy, as defined a year ago and repeated by Mr. Truman, calls for economic assistance to the Chinese, after they have "moved toward peace and unity."

Broader Representation

Inclusion of Communists within the government has been our policy all along, Mr. Truman said. The United States has held that China should make its government representative of all the Chinese people.

The Chief Executive attached no particular significance to the timing of the new statement on America's attitude toward China. He said its purpose was to let the American people know what the policy is.

Mr. Truman said yesterday that Gen. George C. Marshall will stay on the job in China as long as necessary to get the desired results.

Progress Reviewed

For the most part, the Chief Executive's long formal statement reviewed the progress—and lack of it—in the year since he called for peace and unity in China.

In some fields, he said, there has been "encouraging progress," particularly in getting Japanese out of China. And, he said, while the United States had 113,000 troops in China a year ago, the number now is being cut to less than 12,000.

Inclusion of the troops figures was regarded as something of a reply to frequent Russian criticism of the presence of American armed forces in China.

New Clash Feared In Indo-China

Hanoi, Indo-China, Dec. 18 [AP—Delayed]—Hanoi's streets were deserted today and an atmosphere of tension was noticeable amid reports that Viet-Nam troops were concentrated around Hanoi Air Field following street fighting yesterday, which broke out when the French removed Viet-Namese-erected barricades.

Viet-Nam official circles appeared anxious to prevent local clashes from developing into general warfare, but there were indications that officials might be losing their authority over extremist sections of their followers.

French actions in recent clashes at Haiphong and Langson, the evacuation of Viet-Namese civilians and the return of Rear Admiral George T. D'Argenlieu, French High Commissioner, all have caused the Ho Chi Minh Government to "lose face" in certain Viet-Nam circles.

Ten French or Eurasians were reported kidnapped by the Viet-Namese in the last 48 hours and one French paratrooper was killed and another wounded this morning while searching for the body of a paratrooper kidnapped several days ago.

Haiphong Near Normal

Haiphong, Indo-China, Dec 17 [AP—Delayed]—This main port of northern Indo-China, where bitter street fighting was in progress late last month, slowly was returning to normal today despite guerrilla warfare nightly in the countryside.

The Viet-Namese still shell Haiphong sporadically. The French are rationing food and water and they control only the town and the immediate environs.

A Foreign Legion detachment advancing several miles outside the town this morning met stiff opposition from Viet-Namese snipers. Some were entrenched in blockhouses. Two French soldiers were killed and several were wounded.

Harboring Of Nazis In China Charged

Yenan, China, Dec. 19 (AP)—A United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation worker asserted today that Marshal Yen Hsi-shan, warlord governor of Government-held Shansi province, was harboring a small colony of Nazis.

Magdalene Robitscher, UNRRA dentist who fled her native Czechoslovakia in 1939 ahead of Hitler's troops, said one of the Germans harbored at Taiyuan, provincial capital, was a brother of Movie Star Emil Jannings.

Miss Robitscher said she had indignantly refused at first to treat members of the German community but later agreed to do so. She spent several months in Taiyuan before coming to this Communist capital.

Japs Work In Hospitals

"I did not come to China with UNRRA to treat Nazis and Japs," she added, declaring that Marshal Yen also employed Japanese in army hospitals and factories at Taiyuan.

"I asked the American officer of a field (truce) team if the team's job was not to repatriate Japanese, 20,000 of whom were reported fighting for Yen Hsi-shan. He replied: 'That's true but it's difficult because the Marshal is so friendly with them.'"

Miss Robitscher said she found Japanese working as surgeons and technicians at Taiyuan Hospital, where conditions were "filthy" and personally saw Japanese officers leading Yen's troops through the streets.

She now is doing dental work among Chinese Communists here.

Ex-PW's Feted By Trial Head

Tokyo, Dec. 19 (AP)—More than 100 Allied men and women who endured years of abuse in prison camps were told today by the prosecutor of their Japanese captors that their faith in democracy was "an inspiration to the world."

They were banquet guests of Alva C. Carpenter, chief of the Supreme Headquarters legal section, who declared he felt a banquet was only a small payment for what they had suffered.

"Should Be Under Sod"

"I cannot understand," he said, "how you are here tonight. Eighty per cent of you should be under the sod after what has happened to you."

Lieut. Gen. W. Schilling, who heads the Netherlands mission to Japan, said he saw Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, defender of Corregidor, and other Allied officers "forced to stand hours at attention because they refused to write to their governments that they were well treated."

In a special ceremony, Carpenter pinned the Silver Star on Major Donald G. Thompson, of Chappell, Neb., who, the citation said, "with complete disregard for his personal safety" exposed himself to a day-long Japanese artillery bombardment during the defense of Bataan.

Few of the guests talked much about what happened in the years they spent as Japan's prisoners.

Trial Hears Horrors Of Japanese Retreat

Tokyo, Dec. 19 (AP) — A former prisoner of war described to the International War Crimes Tribunal today maltreatment at the Sandakan (Borneo) PW camp and horrors of a retreat with the Japanese through jungles as the Allies reconquered the island in May, 1945.

Warrant Officer William Hector Sticpewich, 38, Newcastel, New South Wales, testified that by the time of the retreat only 536 of an original 2,900 British and Australian prisoners were able to walk. The 2,900 had been transferred from Malaya to Sandakan in 1942.

The Japanese burned the camp as they fled and none of more than 200 ill prisoners left in the hospital ever was seen again, Sticpewich said.

Moving at night, Japanese soldiers herded the prisoners, in groups originally composed of 50, along a jungle trail toward Ranau, 160 miles away.

"My group were all hospital cases before we started," Sticpewich testified. "Every night more dropped in the road and were left behind. We later learned the Japanese murdered all who dropped out. After 26 days, when we reached Ranau, only thirteen were left in my group."

The prosecution contends this pattern of atrocities prevailed throughout the Japanese-controlled areas and was dictated from [illegible]o.

Better Indemnity Deal Is Seen For Japs

T. LAMBERT

Tokyo, Dec. 19 (AP)—A more liberal reparations attitude is hinted in the Far Eastern Commission's report which allows Japan a million more tons of steel capacity than Reparations Commissioner Edwin W. Pauley recommended to President Truman.

Furthermore, the allowable steel production tops the figure that Premier Yoshida recently outlined as a minimum for rebuilding the war-wasted economy in Japan.

The commission in its report said Japan would be allowed to retain a steel rolling capacity of 2,775,000 metric tons annually.

Exemption Set

Supreme headquarters added that this was the amount of rolled steel that could be produced from a 3,500,000 metric-ton steel ingot capacity, "which will be exempted from reparations."

The 3,500,000 metric tons figure out 3,858,050 United States tons, and Pauley in his report to Mr. Truman November 28 recommended that the steel capacity be held to 2,750,000 tons annually.

Yoshida, in a gloomy address to the Diet November 27, said Japan was producing only 300,000 tons of steel and needed at least 2,100,000 tons a year to meet domestic requirements.

Time Is Needed

Informed sources pointed out, however, that it will be some time before Japan can boost her steel output to the allowed level.

Shortages of coal and uncertainty over which plants will be seized for reparations are only two of the factions involved.

Raw materials are running low and Japan, stripped of her Asatic conquests, must import much iron ore.

Many Japanese believe, however, that the Allies realize Japan's strained economic condition [illegible] do not intend to convert the c[illegible]try into a "beggar" nation.

Russia Agrees to Return 50,000 Japanese a Month

Accord With MacArthur Also Covers Koreans in Japan

TOKYO, Dec. 19 (AP)—Russia and General Douglas MacArthur's headquarters signed an agreement today to return to Japan monthly 50,000 Japanese war prisoners and nationals "who desire repatriation."

An announcement said supreme headquarters had told the Russians there was enough shipping available and suggested 360,000 be returned monthly from Soviet zones, but Russia set the limit at 50,000.

The agreement also provided that Korean nationals in Japan may be returned to their homes in Russian-occupied north Korea.

An arrangement for the return of Japanese held by the Russians since the end of the war was reached in principle recently, and some Japanese already have been repatriated. The formal signing was today.

Australian Visits MacArthur.

Tokyo, Dec. 19 (A. P.).—Cyril Chambers, Australian Minister for the army, arrived today for a three-day visit. He lunched with Gen. MacArthur and tonight had dinner with Lieut.-Gen. H. C. H. Robertson, commander of British Commonwealth forces in Japan. He will lunch with Lieut.-Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, Eighth Army commander, at Yokohama tomorrow.

Army Employe Killed

Tokyo, Dec. 19 (AP)—Mrs. Evelyn Bascom, 34, of Detroit, was killed in a jeep accident here Saturday, the Pacific Air Command reported today. She was chief clerk of the civilian personnel section of the command.

Ambassador McNutt Arrives in Manila

Manila, Dec. 19 (A. P.).—(A. P.).—United States Ambassador McNutt, suffering from a severe could, arrived by air today from Washington.

He said that he would call upon President Roxas tomorrow "if I can talk at all." Friends predict that he will return to the United States soon to go into business.

Anti-Communist Mobs Stone Party Quarters In Rio

Rio de Janeiro, Dec. 19 (AP)—Anti-Communist mobs, apparently incensed at an incident involving a Brazilian diplomatic official in Moscaw, attacked and stoned headquarters of the Brazilian Communist party to night, beat a guardsman on duty, wrecked Communist election billboards and burned a Russian flag.

The demonstration occurred several hours after Foreign Minister Raul Fernandes said Brazil would withdraw her second secretary of the embassy in Moscow, Joao Batista Soares de Pina, at the request of Russia.

Despite the violence in downtown streets, no casualties were reported.

Fernandes said Ambassador Pimentel Brandao had agreed to release Soares de Pina, but had felt the secretary was not responsible for a street fight in which he was reported involved.

The Foreign Minister said the diplomat "may have been imprisoned and mistreated" and that he was seeking official information.

REFUGEES' ENTRY INTO U.S. SPEEDED

Four Ships Ordered to Europe to Care for Thousands Waiting at Ports.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 — (AP) President Truman acted today to speed immigration of refugees into the United States by ordering four ships to Europe to provide transportation for thousands waiting at ports.

After conferences with the Maritime Commission, the President said in a statement that four Liberty ships, each capable of carrying 900 passengers, would arrive at Bremerhaven, Germany, during January to begin the task.

"They will be kept in this service until the situation has been fully relieved," he said.

Officials reported at least 7,551 visas have been issued to refugees in Germany and Austria during the year, permitting them to come to the United States.

Mr. Truman noted that up to Oct. 21 only 4,767 persons had been able to enter the country despite a directive he issued Dec. 22 of last year. This directive sought to facilitate entry of refugees into the United States "up to the full limit provided by the immigration law." Because of transportation difficulties, the President said, only 683 more persons probably would enter the United States during the rest of 1946.

"Mindful of the bleak Christmas ahead for these people who have suffered so much," his statement continued, "I have taken up this matter with the Maritime Commission and can hold out hope of early improvement."

The first of the four vessels, the Ernie Pyle, is scheduled to arrive at Bremerhaven on New Year's Day. The Marine Marlin will arrive Jan. 6 and the Marine Flasher will get there two days later. The fourth vessel, the Marine Falcon, now in the Pacific, will reach Bremerhaven late in January.

Mr. Truman said the delays in transportation have "caused a serious situation" among refugees already granted visas.

"At Bremerhaven, for example, 2,100 persons, including 177 orphaned children, are crowded into an embarkation center designed to accommodate only transients," he declared.

Officials said a big reason for the transportation tie-up was the maritime strike.

C. E. Wilson on 9-Man Civilian Commission Appointed by Truman.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19—(AP) President Truman named nine civilians today to study universal military training in the apparent hope of finding a plan acceptable to critics of the proposal.

His surprise move appeared to indicate he is by no means committed to the plan already advanced by the War department. This calls for six months of basic training for every youth upon reaching the age of 18, followed by an additional six months of other military training. Secretary of War Patterson announced it to the American Legion convention Oct. 2 and since then other department speakers have been campaigning for it.

Conference Today

Mr. Truman went to the ranks of education and religion, from which opposition has come in the past, to set up a commission to review the whole question. He called the group to meet with him tomorrow to lay the groundwork for a study of various plans for creating a trained citizens reserve.

He charged his civilian group with responsibility of:

1. Studying "the basic need as well as various plans for universal military training in relation to over-all planning for the national security."

2. Submitting recommendations to the President.

The commission:

Joseph E. Davies, former ambassador to Moscow.

Dr. Daniel Poling, Boston, editor of "The Christian Herald."

The Rev. Edmund A. Walsh, vice president of Georgetown University, Washington.

Dr. Harold W. Doods, president of Princeton University.

Samuel I. Rosenman, New York lawyer and former special counsel to President Roosevelt and Truman.

Mrs. Anna Rosenberg, New York public and industrial relations consultant.

Charles E. Wilson, president of the General Electric Company and former WPB vice chairman.

Truman K. Gibson, Jr., Chicago lawyer and former civilian aide to the secretary of war.

Dr. Karl T. Compton, president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

On Oct. 23, 1945, the president asked Congress for universal training legislation as part of a long-range program of national military security. He said at the time "the latent strength of our untrained citizenry is no longer sufficient protection."

Much Opposition

The program, under which youths of 18 and 20 would be given a year's training but retain their status as civilians, failed to make substantial progress in Congress last year. Opposition was voiced by church, educational and other groups.

An official high in Mr. Truman's confidence said the president hopes the group set up to review the situation may be able to "clarify" the atmosphere and pave the way for an acceptable plan should they agree with him on the need for universal training.

Their backing, the White House apparently believes, might help in winning congressional support.

The president's action supported speculation that pressure for universal training might be delayed if the department finds it necessary to seek extension of the draft.

The draft act will expire March 31 unless extended. The services are trying to recruit in sufficient quantities to avoid the necessity of another battle over draft extension.

U. S. S. Rochester Joins Fleet

QUINCY, Mass., Dec. 19 (AP).—The U. S. S. Rochester—the last of naval ships contracted for during World War II—left the Quincy yard of the Bethlehem Steel Company today for delivery to the United States Navy in Boston. The Rochester, a heavy cruiser named for the city of Rochester, N. Y., was the ninety-ninth naval ship built at the Quincy yard since Pearl Harbor. The vessel was launched Aug. 28, 1945.

Board Named to Study Military Training Plan

SEN. BILBO DENIES TAKING MONEY FOR NARCOTICS PERMIT

Also Brands as 'Lies' Charges He Profited from War Contractors.

WISECRACKS ON STAND

Says Giving Autos to Politicians Is 'An Old Southern Custom.'

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 — (AP) A story of ten $100 bills sent to Sen. Theodore G. Bilbo by a man wanting his help in getting narcotics was related to Senate investigators tonight and brought an immediate denial from the Mississippi senator.

Bilbo also branded as "lies" or "hallucinations" the charges that he profited from relations with war contractors. These charges led to the inquiry by the Senate War Investigating committee.

The matter of the narcotics came out piecemeal from four separate witnesses whose testimony conflicted at points. They were:

Story of Narcotics Permit

Edward Terry, Bilbo's former secretary. He said that Dr. A. J. Podesta, Vicksburg, Miss., told him he gave Bilbo $1,500 for a Natchez, Miss., man who wanted a permit for daily doses of narcotics.

Dr. Harry J. Anslinger, federal commissioner of narcotics. He testified Bilbo called him to his office on Oct. 11, 1945, about a letter from Podesta with accompanying certificates that a Harry Carr of Natchez required a regular supply of drugs.

Harry Holt, special agent for the treasury. He testified that Terry had informed the treasury of the alleged payments and he (Holt) had investigated. He said that on April 30, 1946, he interviewed Podesta at Vicksburg.

Podesta told him, Holt related, that he sent the certificate to Bilbo and that Anslinger's office later approved narcotics for Carr, who was described as a sufferer from asthma and other ailments and as a long-time user of narcotics. Holt quoted Podesta as saying that still later Carr told him he wanted to "do something" for Bilbo, so the physician suggested a contribution for Bilbo's Juniper Grove Baptist Church project.

Says $1,000 Given Bilbo

Podesta's story, as related by Holt, went on:

Carr gave him some money—it was his recollection it was $1,000—and it was turned over to Bilbo in a Jackson, Miss., hotel.

30.24 - 7021

Holt said that the next day he interviewed in Natchez a man whom he called John Carr and got this account:

He had sought the narcotics permit through Podesta and Bilbo and in December, 1945, made a payment to Podesta. He was uncertain whether it was $1,500 or $1,000. Podesta told him he had to make the payment. Something was said about a church but "the contribution was made to Bilbo personally so far as he was concerned and was in payment for services."

The $1,500 was all the money Carr had accumulated during his lifetime.

W. H. Lane, an investigator for the committee. He said he interviewed Podesta Oct. 18, 1946, and the physician told him that after the narcotics arrangement was made Carr wanted to do something for Bilbo and a church contribution was suggested. Podesta added, according to Lane, that Carr gave him ten $100 bills which were turned over to Bilbo.

Bilbo Denies Getting Money

Bilbo, brought back to the stand, testified that Anslinger did come to his office where "I merely gave him" Podesta's letter. But he declared he did not know Carr and never received any money from him.

"Did Dr. Podesta give you any money?" Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) pressed him.

"No, sir."

"How much did Podesta give you for the church?"

"I don't remember."

"Did he give you ten $100 bills?"

"Not that I remember."

Bilbo finally said Podesta might have given him money for the church at some time, but absolutely had not given him anything in connection with the narcotics matter.

In the midst of this examination, Terry, who was standing to the side of the committee room, staggered a few feet and collapsed in a chair.

The committee granted him permission to leave and he left on the arm of his attorney, Paul Dillon.

Ferguson demanded that Bilbo produce all records he has of church gifts. The Mississippi senator said the committee could have them and all his personal files if they wanted them.

"I haven't anything to hide," Bilbo declared.

Hearing Recesses

At that point, the hearing was recessed indefinitely. The committee members will examine Bilbo's files in private and decide whether they will call Podesta and Carr as witnesses.

Ferguson told reporters he anticipated that hearings would be resumed on the Monday after Christmas. Chairman Mead (D-NY) will fix the time.

Bilbo, 69-year-old Mississippi democrat, had been testifying for two and one-half hours, wise-cracking and obviously feeling himself in control of the situation when Anslinger was suddenly put on the stand.

The senator took the stand with a 42-page prepared statement in which he termed the narcotics matter, first mentioned yesterday by Terry, "a lie out of the whole cloth."

The narcotics story was first mentioned yesterday by Terry, Bilbo's ex-secretary, who spoke of a sum of $1,500 said to have changed hands.

Calls Terry "Traitor"

Denying all, Bilbo denounced his former aide as he read from a 42-page prepared statement.

"Christ had his Judas Iscariot; Caesar had his Brutus; George Washington had his Benedict Arnold, but I claim to have had the greatest traitor of them in all in my trusted secretary," he said.

Bilbo is primarily being investigated on allegations that he accepted money and other gifts from contractors whom he helped to get rich war contracts from the government.

He denied today that he sought gifts or funds except possibly when he needed to borrow to settle alimony matters. He called it "an old southern custom" to give presents to public servants.

Bilbo said Negro and Communist-dominated groups who oppose his philosophy are behind efforts to blacken his name and drive him from the senate.

"They want Bilbo destroyed and unseated because of my convictions and ideologies which are opposed to the great objectives of the all-out Negro groups and Communist groups in America," he argued.

Bilbo had appeared completely at ease as he alternately stormed at, ridiculed and belittled the allegations that he profited from relations with war contractors.

He was dapper in a fresh-pressed suit, a red-flowered necktie, a maroon handerkerchief sticking out of his breast pocket.

He recently underwent a mouth operation and his words were sometimes slurred but he exchanged thrusts deftly and confidently with the senators building the record on which may hinge the issue of whether he is to be barred from a seat in the new congress.

Shakes His Fist

Shaking his fist, Bilbo told his colleagues the "absurd charges" against him came from "irresponsible" persons and were fostered by groups which disliked his racial ideas.

He spoke of "my sainted father," recalled his own religious training, and termed "particularly reprehensible" the "insinuations" that he had turned to his own use part of some $28,000 collected from friends —some of them war contractors— for the Juniper Grove (Miss.) Baptist Church.

He asked:

"If my pastor, my deacons and my church membership are satisfied and happy over the way I have handled the funds that my thousands of friends have contributed to the realization of this great dream (the building of a church and parsonage) then pray tell me why and how anybody on earth could object?"

Furthermore, none of the testimony the committee has received in week-long hearings sustains the charges, Bilbo declared, adding:

"All that the witnesses have been able to establish is that I am a very poor man and heavily involved in debt and that I received during all the periods that the investigation has covered but two Christmas gifts, one an automobile and the other living room furniture consisting of a sofa, three floor lamps and two table lamps."

Specifically, he swore:

He "didn't get a damn cent" for himself from $25,000 which war contractor F. T. Newton handed him in 1942 in a Jackson, Miss., hotel room. Newton testified, as did Bilbo, that the money was for the senate campaign of Wall C. Doxey.

All the services — such as the painting of his "dream house" and the digging of a lake—that war contractors did for him were done voluntarily and he expects to pay eventually for these acts of four or five years ago.

Says He'll Pay Debts

"My friends and those who know me," Bilbo explained with a wave of his hand, "know that while I may be delayed in paying what I owe that I finally arrive with the cash."

Ferguson tried to pin down Bilbo to acknowledging that he telephoned from Washington and suggested names of war contractors who should attend a "pep meeting" to raise funds for the Doxey campaign.

"I don't remember," Bilbo replied. "I guess I did. There was nothing wrong about it."

Bilbo said it would be a "natural thing" to call his former campaign manager, A. M. Friend, and tell him to "blow the bugle and bring the boys in from the hills."

"Yes, and shake the bushes," Ferguson put in.

"I said I do not remember," Bilbo continued. "I did not give names."

"You did not say bring in the war contractors?" Ferguson asked, but Bilbo ignored this.

When Bilbo told of a $48,000 loss on operation of his farms by Mike T. Morrissey, war contractor, Senator Ferguson wanted to know if these losses "were for income tax purposes?"

"I would not say that," Bilbo replied.

He added that Morrissey was a "big operator" and had lost $65,000 on "another farm."

Ferguson wanted to know what was the most Bilbo ever lost in any one year in operating his farms.

"I would not remember that," Bilbo replied.

Ferguson suggested Bilbo check his income tax returns.

"I don't keep copies," Bilbo replied. "I'm afraid to."

"Why?" Ferguson asked.

"I hate to see the losses," Bilbo replied as the crowd laughed.

The crowd roared again when Bilbo testified on the return of his farm from Morrissey "I had no hogs, one horse, two mules, one rake, one gobbler, one guinea, one gander and one white rooster."

Ferguson noted that Bilbo had no "breeding stock."

"No, he did not match 'em up," Bilbo replied. "I had to start from scratch."

Bilbo said it was true that he had sought war contracts for Mississippi contractors.

But he contended it was his duty to look after his constituents and declared that what he had done was "no more than has been done by practically all of my colleagues in the senate and by nearly every member of the House of Representatives."

"Old Southern Custom"

As for the Cadillac automobile which Morrissey gave him for Christmas, 1941, Bilbo said friends were always giving automobiles to politicians in Mississippi.

He said he got one and his wife got one when he was elected Governor of Mississippi for the second time.

"It is just an old southern custom," he explained and the crowd packing the hearing room roared.

For that matter, Bilbo said, he understood gifts of automobiles had been made to both President Truman and the late President Roosevelt.

Bilbo named Ross Collins, former Congress member and an unsuccessful candidate against him in last summer's senatorial primary, and Terry as the individuals chiefly responsible for the charges against him and lambasted both.

He called Collins "the most thoroughly, completely and everlastingly condemned, damned and repudiated man in the history" of Mississippi.

As for Terry, he said "I sometimes think that he has a mental illness of imaginary grandeur and impossible hallucinations."

Then Bilbo spoke of Terry's testimony about receiving $15,000 from the late Simon Liberman of New York to be used in behalf of any candidate who appeared able to beat Bilbo for the Senate. Terry was Bilbo's secretary at the time.

Bilbo called Liberman a "Jewish Russian immigrant and one of the leading Communists within the United States" and then made his comparison of Terry with Judas.

40-Year Housing Loan For Vets Is Starr Plea

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—An appeal for 40-year, low-interest housing loans to veterans popped up today as the Government pledged an all-out drive to encourage the construction of homes for rent.

The appeal for long-term loans was addressed to the Federal Housing Administration by Louis E. Starr, commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

But an FHA official said Starr should have directed his request to Congress. He said the law now limits loans to 25 years in the case of one to four family homes.

"Trickle-Down" Process

Starr said he had told the FHA chief, Raymond M. Foley, and Housing Expediter Frank R. Creedon that the elimination of most construction controls had ended the veterans' emergency program.

"Veterans—the majority are on the lower rung of the economic ladder—must now depend on the 'trickle-down' process," Starr said. He said he meant that most new homes will now go to nonveterans, bringing veterans to be satisfied with resultant vacancies in less-expensive and less-desirable units.

Creedon and Foley joined Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, chief of the Office of Temporary Controls, in telling a Senate Small Business subcommittee yesterday of plans for a housing program minus most controls.

"Our big push for 1947 will be rental housing," Creedon declared.

Deterrents Removed

Foley said the additional $1,000,000,000 President Truman has made available for mortgage-insurance authorization "will be used primarily" to finance rental housing, along with much of a like amount voted by Congress last May.

Foley told the committee that many of the chief factors deterring a start on rental housing had been removed.

"The material situation today is much improved," he said. "The rising cost line promises to level off, and in some areas appears already to have done so."

Fleming expects there to be enough materials for 1,000,000 homes in 1947, as against about 700,000 this year.

He expressed the hope that "we can now be freed of the almost ceaseless clamor of various pressure groups that has bedeviled any kind of controls ever since the war ended."

VA TO TIGHTEN UP ON HOUSING LOANS

Will Select Appraiser to Fix 'Reasonable Value' of Properties.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19—(AP) Tightening up on housing loans, the Veterans Administration announced tonight that it, and not the lender, will select the appraiser to fix the "reasonable value" of property for GI loan purposes starting Jan. 2.

Its announcement said the action is designed "to afford veterans all possible protection against overpriced properties in the current high market." It added that under the present system some lenders have been using "obliging appraisers who are most amenable to turning in a high appraisal where necessary to meet the asking price."

Meanwhile, National Housing Agency officials worked on details of orders which will specify requirements to be observed by builders under the administration's new housing program.

William D. Flanders, chief of the federal housing administration's rental housing section, told reporters that one point will include the broadening of mortgage rules to cover "city-type" housing units such as multiple-story apartment buildings with elevators and corridors.

Heretofore, Flanders said, regulations allowed federal mortgage guarantees only on "garden-type housing projects. These were limited to two or three story walk-up apartments without elevators or corridors, with buildings spread over large areas.

He said FHA will continue to promote the garden type, but also will encourage the large multiple story buildings, in large cities as well as apartment buildings in small towns "where the housing needs also are acute."

In the small towns, he continued, "there are many lots which may be used for apartment buildings with perhaps only 12 units.

Two-Pants Suit Ban Is Lifted

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—The Office of Temporary Controls today lifted the four-year-old ban on manufacture of two-pants suits as well as the prohibition on vests for double-breasted suits. The action is effective tomorrow.

The Civilian Production Administration division of OTC said that the restrictions, imposed in wartime, are no longer necessary because of increased production of men's and boys' clothing.

The agency estimated that the restrictions had resulted in the saving of approximately 10,200,000 yards of fabric, or enough material to make 3,000,000 suits for uniforms.

CANADA FIXES DOLLAR VALUE

Parity With U.S. Continued Until Further Notice

Ottawa, Dec. 19 (AP)—The Canadian Government has passed an order-in-council establishing the Canadian dollar at its present value of parity with the United States dollar until further notice, it was learned authoritatively tonight.

This action is necessary under legislation passed at the last session of Parliament to continue the war-born Foreign Exchange Board. The Exchange Control Act becomes effective January 1 and requires that the dollar rate be fixed by order-in-council.

While the order, passed today, does not in itself mean any change, informed sources said it did serve to emphasize that the Government was not planning to revalue the dollar and would be, in effect, a denial of recent reports in some financial quarters in Canada and the United States that revaluation was impending.

To Enter Monetary Fund

As another indication that the dollar would stay where it was, these circles also pointed to the fact that Canada announced last night she would enter the International Monetary Fund, which begins operations March 31, with the Canadian dollar at is present rate.

The provisions of the international fund are that Canada—along with other member countries—has the right to make a change in her currency within a ten per cent limit. Should she wish to make a further change or go beyond that limit, however, the Dominion would have to consult with the fund.

values, but contended that another course would risk aggravating inflation in many countries.

Camille Gutt, of Belgium, the fund's managing director, said it would be up to each country to work to maintain the value of its currency, for the fund will not attempt a pegging program.

He said the fund "takes notice of the existence" of black markets in various countries where local currency is valued below the official fund rate, but said the fund would "not compete" with them.

The United States Share

The setting of par values and an operation deadline of March 1 serves notice to member countries that their shares of the fund's $7,500,000,000 pool must be paid in by that date, Gutt said.

The United States, as the biggest subscriber, will put up $2,750,000,000, of which $1,800,000,000 represents "profit" when President Roosevelt lowered the gold content of the dollar in 1934.

World Fund Starting Currency Stabilization March 1

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—The year-old World Monetary Fund proclaimed today its intention of starting the currency-stabilization operations next March 1, generally at present exchange rates.

The fund fixed initial par currency values of 32 of its 39 member countries at the rates prevailing now, but emphasized it does not guarantee these values.

It deferred the determination of values for Brazil, China, the Dominican Republic, Greece, Poland and Yugoslavia, in each case at the request of the country itself.

Not All At Actual Value

Upon requests from France and the Netherlands, respectively, it also deferred rate-setting for Indo-China and the Netherlands Indies. There was a postponement for Uruguay pending completion of legislative proceedings in that country on monetary affairs.

The fund acknowledged that the rates accepted yesterday do not in all cases correspond with actual

ANOTHER AMENDMENT TO THE JOHNSON RESOLUTION WAS OFFERED BY VLADIMIR STOYTCHEFF, REPRESENTING BULGARIA BEFORE THE COUNCIL, ASKING THAT THE COMMISSION BE AUTHORIZED TO DETERMINE WHETHER ANY GOVERNMENT IN THE DISPUTE HAD "GIVEN PROOF OF INTERNATIONAL GOOD WILL" OR HAD "PROMOTED A SPIRIT OF DISTRUST AND HATE TOWARDS ITS NEIGHBORS."

THIS AMENDMENT WAS BASED ON THE BULGARIAN CONTENTION THAT THE GREEK GOVERNMENT'S ATTITUDE WAS AT THE BOTTOM OF THE FRICTION AND THAT THE TSALDARIS ADMINISTRATION, FAILING TO RECOGNIZE THE "PROFOUND AND SIGNIFICANT CHANGES IN THE BALKANS," WAS CLINGING TO "NARROW-MINDEDNESS AND CHAUVINISM." ADD LAKE SUCCESS (U) XXX DISPUTE

STOYTCHEFF STATED THAT HIS GOVERNMENT ACCEPTED THE AMERICAN PROPOSAL FOR ON-THE-SPOT INVESTIGATION, BUT HOPED THE SOVIET AMENDMENTS WOULD BE ACCEPTED BY THE COUNCIL.

GROMYKO'S AMENDMENTS INDICATED A SHIFT IN RUSSIAN POLICY SINCE ITS VETO THREE MONTHS AGO OF A SIMILAR AMERICAN PROPOSAL WHEN THE SECURITY COUNCIL WAS DEBATING A UKRAINIAN COMPLAINT AGAINST GREECE.

BUT HE MAINTAINED, AS BEFORE, THAT THE GOVERNMENT OF GREECE WAS THE SOLE SOURCE OF THE TROUBLE AND AGAIN ALLUDED TO THE PRESENCE OF BRITISH FORCES IN GVXECEN ASSERTINV THE PRZSENCE OF FOREIGN FORCES WAS "INTERVENTION NOT BY A NEIGHBOR BUT BY ANOTHER POWER, WHICH IS A SERIOUS CAUSE OF THE EVENTS IN GREECE."

AZ018N

"THE ACCUSERS IN THIS CASE SHOULD BE RECOGNIZED FOR WHAT THEY REALLY ARE-- THAT IS, THE ACCUSED," GROMYKO DECLARED IN ASSERTING THAT THE YUGOSLAV, ALBANIAN AND BULGARIAN COUNTER-CHARGES AGAINST THE GREEK GOVERNMENT WERE BETTER FOUNDED THAN THE ORIGINAL GREEK COMPLAINT AGAINS THOSE THREE COUNTRIES AND BLAMING THE STRIFE ON THE TSALDARIS REGIME.

SAVA KASANOVITCH, YUGOSLAV AMBASSADOR TO THE U.S. OPPOSED THE AMERICAN PROPOSAL FOR AN INVESTIGATING COMMISSION AS PRESENTED BY JOHNSON ON THE GROUND THAT MERE INVESTIGATION OF BORDER INCIDENTS WOULD NOT LEAD THE COUNCIL TO THE ROOT OF THE TROUBLE, WHICH, HE ASSERTED, WAS SOLELY THE SITUATION INSIDE GREECE.

SOVIET DELEGATE ANDREI A.GROMYKO TOLD THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL TODAY IT HAD SUFFICIENT INFORMATION ON THE GREEK SITUATION TO DRAW PRELIMINARY CONCLUSIONS WITHOUT AWAITING ANY REPORT FROM AN INVESTIGATING COMMISSION./NS LAKE SUCCESS (DA-4) XXX COUNCIL

THE SOVIET DELEGATE DID NOT IMMEDIATELY REJECT THE AMERICAN PROPOSAL, BUT HIS REMARKS INDICATED HE MIGHT TURN IT DOWN--AT LEAST AS IT STANDS NOW--IF THE MATTER CAME TO A SHOWDOWN VOTE.

GROMYKO DECLARED THE "CAUSES OF THE EVENTS IN GREECE ARE NOT TO BE SOUGHT IN NEIGHBORING COUNTRIES, BUT IN TERROR BEING CONDUCTED AGAINST GREEK DEMOCRATIC ELEMENTS" INSIDE GREECE ITSELF.

WHEN AN AMERICAN PROPOSAL FIRST WAS MADE THREE MONTHS AGO FOR AN INVESTIGATION OF GREEK BORDER INCIDENTS, GROMYKO APPLIED THE VETO AGAINST A MAJORITY VOTE OF THE COUNCIL ON THE CONTENTION THE UNITED STATES WAS ATTEMPTING TO DIVERT ATTENTION FROM THE PRESENCE OF BRITISH TROOPS IN SUPPORT OF GREECE'S ROYALIST-DOMINATED GOVERNMENT.

TODAY GROMYKO RAISED THAT ISSUE AGAIN.

"IN STUDYING THE GREEK COMPLAINT WE MUST ALSO TAKE INTO ACCOUNT THE PRESENCE OF FOREIGN FORCES IN GREECE," HE SAID, "INTERVENTION NOT BY A NEIGHBOR BUT BY ANOTHER POWER, WHICH IS A SERIOUS CAUSE OF THE EVENTS IN GREECE."

HE SAID THE WORLD KNEW THIS WAS THE THIRD TIME THE GREEK QUESTION

1946

WAS BEFORE THE COUNCIL WITHIN A YEAR, AND ADDED THAT "ONE IS INEVITABLY DRAWN TO CONCLUDE THERE MUST BE DEEP-SEATED CAUSES FOR THIS PHENOMENON."

"THERE IS SOMETHING VERY LIKE CIVIL WAR GOING ON IN GREECE," HE SAID, "A SITUATION CONFIRMED BY THE GREEK STATEMENT BEFORE THE COUNCIL. TSALDARIS IS TRYING TO DIVERT ATTENTION FROM THE INTERNAL CAUSES AND TO ASCRIBE THEM TO EXTERNAL CAUSES."

kingdom of god and trample on human freedom."

the 89-year-old churchman said, "you have only to contrast their attitude toward a noble country like spain and their relations with yugoslavia and other communistic homes of persecution in the east."

WHILE THE MEASURE STILL FACES A THIRD READING IN COMMONS -- PROBABLY SOME TIME NEXT MONTH -- THIS WILL AMOUNT TO LITTLE MORE THAN A FORMALITY UNDER THE USUAL PARLIAMENTARY PROCEDURE.

THE VOTE LAST NIGHT CLIMAXED THREE DAYS OF DEBATE DURING WHICH THE GOVERNMENT'S PROGRAM WAS BITTERLY ASSAILED BY THE CONSERVATIVE OPPOSITION, BACKED BY A NUMBER OF LIBERALS AND LIBERAL-NATIONALS.

THE ISSUE WAS DECIDED ON STRAIGHT PARTY LINES, WITH LABOR PRESENTING A SOLID FRONT, BUT PARLIAMENTARY OBSERVERS NOTED THAT THE VOTE SHOWED THE HEAVIEST PARTICIPATION OF COMMONS' MEMBERS IN SEVERAL YEARS AND MARKED THE FIRST TIME IN THIS PARLIAMENT THAT THE OPPOSITION HAD TOTALED MORE THAN 200.

ANTHONY EDEN, BRITAIN'S WARTIME FOREIGN SECRETARY, CONCLUDED THE CONSERVATIVE ATTACK UPON THE MEASURE BY DECLARING THAT ITS PASSAGE WOULD BE "NOTHING LESS THAN A MAJOR NATIONAL DISASTER." HE ASSERTED THAT THE ONLY JUSTIFICATION FOR THE BILL WOULD BE GREATER OPERATING EFFICIENCY AND LOWER COSTS, BUT DECLARED THE GOVERNMENT HAD FAILED TO SHOW HOW THIS RESULT COULD BE ACHIEVED.

EDEN DESCRIBED THE GOVERNMENT'S PLAN TO REIMBURSE STOCKHOLDERS WITH GOVERNMENT SECURITIES PAYING LESS THAN THEIR PRESENT HOLDINGS AS "CONFISCATION OF INCOME FOR MANY WHO CAN ILL AFFORD IT."

HERBERT MORRISON, PRESIDENT OF THE COUNCIL, REPLIED THAT THE BILL -- WHICH ALSO WILL BRING TRUCKING FIRMS AND OTHER FORMS OF COMMERCIAL TRANSPORT UNDER GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP -- WIL PERMIT "A BOLD AND CONSIDERED PROGRAM OF TRANSPORT DEVELOPMENT."

"THERE WILL BE UNDER THE NEW REGIME A SPLENDID OPPORTUNITY TO WELD INTO AN EFFICIENT AND ECONOMIC ENTITY THE TRANSPORT NEEDS OF THIS COUNTRY," HE DECLARED.

"WE HAVE BROUGHT IN THIS BILL NOT FROM ANY ABSTRACT DOGMATIC OR DOCTRINAIRE BELIEFS, BUT BECAUSE WE BELIEVE IT WILL IMPROVE THE EFFICIENCY OF PUBLIC SERVICE OF BRITISH TRANSPORT."

U. S. ATOM CURB PLAN IS APPROVED 'IN PRINCIPLE'

1946 (N)

Gromyko, Defeated in Vote Delay Move, Quits Discussion.

POLAND BACKS REDS

10 to 0 Ballot Is Partial Victory for American Proposal.

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 20—(AP) The United States Atomic Control plan was approved in principle today by the United Nations strenuous Russian objections which prompted Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko to withdraw dramatically from the discussion.

The vote, the first taken on an atomic plan since the commission took up the problem last June 14, represented a partial victory for American Delegate Bernard M. Baruch, who had persistently demanded a yes-or-no ballot on his far-reaching proposal.

Baruch Finally Yields

Baruch finally yielded and agreed to a Canadian compromise which provided for acceptance in principle and called upon a working committee to make the wording conform to the arms reduction resolution recently passed by the General Assembly.

The final vote was 10 to 0, with Poland abstaining.

Gromyko refused to be recorded and told the chairman curtly: "I am not taking part in this discussion."

The Soviet delegate made it clear that his silence was not to be construed as an abstention after earlier advising the commission that he was flatly refusing to engage in any discussion on the substance of the American plan.

The ballot came after the 12-nation commission turned back Russian demands for a week's delay and rejected a Polish move to toss the American plan directly into the hands of a committee without comment.

Gromyko's surprise move recalled his action last March when he suddenly walked out of the Security Council chamber during a discussion of the Iranian case.

Skips Greek Vote

It also marked another step in the Russian interpretation on UN voting. Only last night Gromyko abstained from voting in the Council on an inquiry resolution in the Greek case but immediately advised the chair that such a move did not constitute a veto. In some quarters this was seen at variance with charter provisions that unanimous agreement is required among the Big Five on all substantive matters in the Council.

Today's commission decision paved the way for the committee to draft a final atomic report for submission to the parent Security Council by Dec. 31. There, of course, Gromyko will have the right to veto any part or all of the plan.

His only comment at the close of today's session was to reserve his right to speak on the American proposal at a "later stage."

Gromyko ignored personal appeals from Great Britain and China today in refusing to approve the Canadian compromise. He insisted throughout the early part of the three-hour session that he had not had time to study the proposal and that he could not vote on the substance at this time. He repeatedly demanded that the commission grant him the week's delay.

One of the main provisions of the American plan calls for veto-free punishment of violators and there was immediate speculation among delegates as to whether the committee would construe this phrase as being in conformity with the Assembly arms resolution which called only for veto-less inspections.

Major U. S. Points

Other major points of the Baruch plan included:

1. Setting up an international authority by treaty to control atomic energy for peaceful purposes and to detect and prevent the use of the energy for destructive purposes.

2. International inspections.

3. Prohibition of the manufacture of atomic weapons and disposal of stockpiles of bombs.

4. Institution of a step-by-step control system with the United States giving up its secrets in conforming stages.

In accepting the Canadian resolution several delegates contended that it gave Gromyko his requested delay without committing the commission beyond the approval in principle.

Russia mustered its sole support from Polish Delegate Oscar Lange, who cautioned against any attempt to force passage of a measure without unanimity. He said such a step would destroy the atmosphere of cooperation obtained during the recent Assembly session. In those meetings Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov made several concessions which eventually paved the way for the broad basic program of arms reduction, including atomic control.

Baruch's acceptance of the compromise came after it became apparent that Canada and Great Britain would not go along with the demand for an immediate "final vote. Sir Alexander Cadogan, British delegate, was said to have received new instructions this morning advising him not to take any action which would break the unanimity of the five big powers. Cadogan was one of those who stressed during the meeting that the Canadian proposal was giving Russia its requested delay.

Drafting Job to Start

The working committee is expected to begin its drafting job next week. Each member of the Atomic commission, which includes the 11 nations on the Security Council and Canada, has seats on the committee.

The text of the Canadian resolution finally adopted:

"Resolved that the commission approves and accepts the principles on which these findings and recommendations proposed by the representative of the United States are based and instructs the working committee to include these findings and recommendations in the draft of the commission's report to be delivered to the Security Council by 31 December, 1946, having conformed the wording of such portions of these findings and recommendations as deal with the same subject matter to the wording of the relavant parts of the text of the General Assembly resolution of December 14, 1946 on the "principles governing the general regulation and reduction of armaments."

Russ Demand Vote Delay On Atom (D)

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 20 (AP)—Soviet Russia today demanded another postponement of any vote on American proposals for veto-free punishment for violations of atomic energy controls.

Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko said he was not prepared to speak on the substance of the United States atomic-control resolution today and suggested that action be delayed for "six or seven days."

The Soviet position was made known as informed quarters said other delegations, including Great Britain and Canada, were ready to oppose any move for a showdown without Soviet consent.

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 20 (AP)—The United States will attempt again today to force a showdown vote in the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission on American proposals for veto-free punishment for violators of atomic-energy controls.

If the harmony that prevailed last night in the United Nations Security Council can be consdiered an indication, the commission may make more progress than in previous sessions.

With a remarkable spirit of harmony and conciliation, the Security Council voted unanimously to send an eleven-member commission to investigate Greek charges that her neighbors fomented guerrilla war and countercharges by Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria against the Greek Government.

Clash Foreseen

However, Bernard M. Baruch, United States representative on the Atomic Energy Commission, apparently faced a headon clash with Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko as the commission prepared to convene for what may be a historic session. Gromyko at the last session Tuesday assailed the Baruch proposal for veto-free punishments as a violation of the United Nations Charter.

Baruch has since conferred at length with Gromyko, it was learned, but apparently the Soviet delegate was adamant.

Apparently a large area of agreement prevailed in the commission's Political Committee, which yesterday accepted provisionally a report on proceedings and findings.

Soviet Enigma

Within the Political Committee, the Soviet Union remained an enigma. Prof. Semyon P. Alexandrov, Soviet representative, made it clear he was unable to take part officially either yesterday or the day before in discussion of the report. Thus the way was open for Gromyko to pursue an independent course.

The United States is demanding prompt action. Largely because of American insistence, December 31 was set as a target date for a commission report on all phases of its work to the Security Council.

More Time Asked

Baruch announced his proposals on December 5. Tuesday Gromyko asked more time to study the Baruch recommendations in the light of the General Assembly's disarmament resolution. At the same time he attacked the provisions for veto-less punitive action as a violation of the Charter.

Baruch would not consent to postponement beyond today, and once again he was prepared to push doggedly for a decision on the recommendations he and the American delegation want in the report.

In the Security Council last night, the Soviet Union, which three months ago vetoed an American proposal for an on-the-spot investigation of complaints against Greece, made a number of concessions.

Conciliatory Attitude

In two sessions totaling almost nine hours, Gromkyo displayed a decidedly conciliatory attitude. He dropped a demand to extend the investigation to cover all Greece's internal affairs in favor of a less extensive investigation, and did not insist upon curtailment of the commission's staff.

The Council ordered a report at the earliest possible moment, with recommendations of possible steps to prevent recurrence of the disturbances.

The Greek representative at the Council table United Nations Delegate Vassili Dendramis, hailed the resolution as one which would "open a new era in the application of the charter."

The commission will proceed to the affected area not later than January 15, 1947. Under the terms of the amended resolution, the investigation will be carried on in "northern Greece and in such places in other parts of Greece, in Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia as the commission considers should be included in its investigations."

Text of Baruch's Atomic-Energy Program

HERALD TRIBUNE 1946

Special to the Herald Tribune

LAKE SUCCESS, L. I., Dec. 20.—Following is the text of the resolution by Bernard M. Baruch, American representative, approved by the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission here today, subject to the Canadian amendment at the end which accepts the principles on which it is based but sends the resolution to committee before final adoption:

CERTAIN ITEMS TO BE INCLUDED AMONG THE FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS IN THE FORTHCOMING REPORT OF THE ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL, PROPOSED BY THE REPRESENTATIVE OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA AT THE SEVENTH MEETING OF THE COMMISSION.

Pursuant to the resolution of this commission passed at its meeting held 13 November 1946, the report of the proceedings, findings and recommendations of this commission, to be submitted to the Security Council by 31 December 1946, consists of three parts:

PART I, A SUMMARY OF THE PROCEEDINGS TOGETHER WITH THE RECORDS OF THIS COMMISSION AND OF ITS COMMITTEES AND SUB-COMMITTEES;

PART II, CERTAIN FINDINGS OF THIS COMMISSION BASED UPON ITS DELIBERATIONS TO DATE; AND

PART III, CERTAIN RECOMMENDATIONS OF THIS COMMISSION BASED UPON ITS FINDINGS TO DATE;

Resolved, that Part II of said report shall contain, among others, the following findings of the commission:

PART II

FINDINGS

Based upon the proposals and information presented to the commission, upon the hearings, proceedings and deliberations of the commission to date, and upon the proceedings, discussions and reports of its several committees and subcommittees, all as set forth in Part I of this report, the commission has made the following findings:

1. That scientifically, technologically and practically it is feasible,

(a) To extend among "all nations the exchange of basic scientific information on atomic energy for peaceful ends,"*

(b) To control "atomic energy to the extent necessary to insure its use for peaceful purposes only,"*

(c) To accomplish "the elimination from national armaments of atomic weapons,"* and

(d) To provide "effective safeguards by way of inspection and other means to protect complying states against the hazards of violations and evasions."*

2. That effective control of atomic energy depends upon effective control of the production and use of uranium, thorium and their fissionable derivatives. Appropriate mechanisms of control to prevent their unauthorized diversion or clandestine production and use, including inspection, accounting, supervision, licensing and management, must be applied through the various stages of the processes from the time these minerals are severed from the ground to the time they become fissionable materials and are used.

3. That, whether the ultimate fissionable product be destined for peaceful or destructive uses, the productive processes are identical and inseparable up to a very advanced stage of manufacture. Thus, the control of atomic energy to insure its use for peaceful purposes, the elimination of atomic weapons from national armaments, and the provisions of effective safeguards to protect complying states against the hazards of violations and evasions must be accomplished through a single unified international system of control designed to carry out all of these related purposes.

4. That the development and use of atomic energy are not essentially and exclusively matters of domestic concern of the individual nations, but rather have predominantly international implications and repercussions.

5. That an effective system of control of atomic energy must be international in scope, and must be established by an enforceable multilateral agreement (herein called "the treaty") which in turn must be administered by an international agency within the United Nations, possessing adequate powers and properly organized, staffed, and equipped for the purpose.

Only by such a system of international control can the development and use of atomic energy be freed from nationalistic rivalries with consequent risks to the safety of all peoples. Only by such a system can the benefits of widespread exchange of scientific knowledge and of the peaceful uses of atomic energy be assured. Only such a system of control would merit and enjoy the confidence of the people of all nations.

6. That an international agreement outlawing the production, possession and use of atomic weapons is an essential part of any such system of international control of atomic energy. An international convention to this effect, if standing alone, would wail (A) "to insure" the use of atomic energy "for peaceful purposes only"* and (B) to provide "for effective safeguards by way of inspection and other means to protect complying states against the hazards of violations and evasions,"* and thus would fail to meet the requirements of the terms of reference of the commission. To be effective, such an agreement must be an integral part of a treaty providing for a comprehensive system of international control and must be fortified by adequate guaranties and safeguards in the form of international supervision, inspection and control adequate to insure the carrying out of the terms of the convention and "to protect complying states against the hazards of violations and evasions."*

Further resolved, that Part III of said report shall contain, among others, the following recommendations:

PART III

RECOMMENDATIONS

Based upon the findings of the commission set forth in Part II of this report, the commission makes the following recommendations to the Security Council with respect to the matters covered by the terms of reference of the commission, which recommendations are interdependent and not severable, constituting together and as a whole, the fundamental principles and basic organizational mechanisms necessary to attain the objectives set forth in the commission's terms of reference.

1. There should be a strong and comprehensive international system of control of atomic energy aimed at attaining the objectives set forth in the commission's terms of reference.

2. Such a system of international control of atomic energy should be established and its scope and functions defined by a treaty in which all of the nations members of the United Nations should be entitled to participate with the same rights and obligations. The international control system should be declared operative only when these members of the United Nations necessary to assure its success by signing and ratifying the treaty bind themselves to accept and support it.

3. The treaty should include, among others, provisions:

(A) Establishing, in the United Nations, an international authority (hereinafter called "the Authority") possessing powers and charged with responsibility necessary and appropriate for effective administration of the terms of the treaty, and for the prompt carrying out of its day-to-day duties. Its rights, powers, and responsibilities, as well as its relations to the several organs of the United Nations, should be clearly established and defined by the treaty. Such powers should be sufficiently broad and flexible to enable the Authority to deal with new developments that may hereafter arise in the fields of atomic energy. In particular, the Authority shall be responsible for extending among all nations the exchange of basic scientific information of atomic energy for peaceful ends, for preventing the use of atomic energy for destructive purposes and for stimulating its peaceful beneficent uses for the benefit of the people of all nations.

The Authority should have positive research and developmental responsibilities in order to remain in the forefront of atomic knowledge so as to render the Authority more effective in promoting the beneficent uses of atomic energy and in eliminating its destructive ones. The exclusive right to carry on atomic research for destructive purposes should be vested in the Authority.

Atomic research for peaceful purposes by national agencies should be subject to appropriate safeguards established by the International Authority.

Decisions of the Authority pursuant to the powers conferred upon it by the treaty should govern the operations of national agencies for atomic energy.

In carrying out its prescribed functions, however, the Authority should interfere as little as necessary with the operations of national agencies for atomic energy, or with the economic plans and the private, corporate and state relationships in the several contries.

(b) Affording the duly accredited representatives of the Authority unimpeded rights of ingress, egress and access for the performance of their inspections and other duties into, from and within the territory of every participating nation, unhindered by national or local authorities.

(c) Prohibiting the manufacture, possession, and use of atomic weapons by all nations parties thereto and by all of their nationals.

(d) Providing for disposal of any existing stocks of atomic bombs.

(e) Specifying the means and methods of determining violations of its terms, stigmatizing such violations as international crimes, and establishing the nature of the measures of enforcement and punishment to be imposed upon individuals and upon nations guilty of violating its provisions.

The judicial or other processes for determination of violations of the treaty and of punishment therefor should be swift and certain. Serious violations of the treaty should be reported immediately by the Authority to the nations party to the treaty and to the Security Council. In dealing with such violations, a violator of the terms of the treaty should not be protected from the consequences of his wrongdoing by the exercise of any power of veto.

The provisions of the treaty would be wholly ineffectual if, in any such situations, the enforcement provisions of the treaty could be rendered nugatory by the veto of a state which has voluntarily signed the treaty.

4. The treaty should embrace the entire program for putting the system of international control of atomic energy into effect and should provide a schedule for the completion of the transitional process over a period of time, step by step in an orderly and agreed sequence leading to the full and effective establishment of international control of atomic energy. In order that the transition may be accomplished as rapidly as possible and with safety and equity to all, this commission should supervise the transitional process, as prescribed in the treaty, and should be empowered to determine when a particular stage or stages have been completed and subsequent ones are to commence.

CANADIAN AMENDMENT

Following is the text of the Canadian amendment, which was joined to the American resolution today:

Resolved that the commission approves and accepts the principles on which the findings and recommendations proposed by the representative of the United States of America and contained in document AEC/15/REV. 1 are based, and instructs the working committee to include these findings and recommendations in the draft of the commission's report to be delivered to the Security Council by 31 December, 1946, having conformed to the wording of such portion of these findings and recommendations as deal with the same subject matter as the wording of the relevant parts of the text of the General Assembly resolution of December 14, 1946, on principles governing the general regulation and reduction of armaments.

Washington, Dec. 20 (AP)—Vyacheslav M. Molotov, Russian Foreign Minister, has thanked James F. Byrnes, Secretary of State, for the "warm reception" given Soviet delegates in New York, the State Department said today.

In a letter to Byrnes dated December 14, Molotov also told Byrnes:

"The great work carried out in New York by the Council of Foreign Ministers and the General Assembly for the strengthening of peace and international cooperation will find, I am convinced, a favorable response from the peoples of the whole world."

SUCCESSES OF UN CREDITED TO SOVIETS

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 20—(AP) Praising accomplishments of the United Nations conference and foreign ministers meeting in New York, the Chinese Communist official newspaper today atributed them to " the strength and prestige of the Soviet Union and its unwavering efforts for world peace and democracy."

The editorial comment of the Yenan Emancipation Daily was broadcast by the Chinese Communist radio and heard in San Francisco by the Associated Press.

Stating that the UN and the foreign ministers had made "great strides," the Communist organ said they were due partly to "severe setbacks suffered by the world domination policy of United States authorities and boomeranging of their highly-touted 'get tough with the Soviet Union' policy, which resulted in increasing both Soviet prestige and American isolation."

ATTLEE PLANS TO FREE BURMA

1946 ~~NIGHT~~

Churchill Assails Speeding 'British Empire's Fall'

C. A. HAMS

London, Dec. 20 (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee announced negotiations today to set Burma free, and drew from Winston Churchill the eloquent accusation he was speeding "the decline and fall of the British Empire."

"The words which have come from the Prime Minister's lips today," the former Prime Minister declared, "are, in fact, irrevocable and he has shorn Burma away from the British Crown."

Following up last summer's White Paper announcement of eventual independence for the rich jungle land of which Kipling wrote, Attlee said the White Paper plan now "merits reconsideration" in the interests of speed and that a group of Burmese politicians has been summoned to London for almost immediate negotiations.

Quickest Self-Government

"The Government's desire is that the Burmese people attain their self-government by the quickest and most convenient way possible . . . either within or without the commonwealth," he continued.

Like India, he added, the land of jewels, terraced rice fields and Buddhist pagodas may quit all its

30.24 - 7029

British links, though "we sincerely hope" she will stick as an independent British dominion.

"I must say," Churchill exclaimed, "the British Empire seems to be running off almost as fast as the American loan."

He disclosed that Attlee had told him yesterday about the statement, giving him 24 hours to load his guns for today's oratorical outburst in which Churchill put a personal interest.

His Father Responsible

"We have held Burma since 1885," he observed, a little inaccurately, for it was formally annexed in the following year, 1886. "I have always followed its affairs with attention, because it was my father who was responsible for the annexation of Burma."

Churchill's father, Lord Randolph Churchill, was then Secretary of State for India.

In reply, Attlee needled Churchill with a slyly hidden reference to reports that some Conservatives wish the wartime Prime Minister would step out as leader of their party.

Attlee expressed the belief that Churchill was "the only objector—he has so often found himself alone in these matters."

"Perhaps he has got one supporter," he added as an afterthought.

Churchill played on the blood shed by British soldiers to defend Burma's mineral and agricultural wealth against Japanese invasion in 1942 and again to reoccupy the country, but made no reference to these assets themselves which first drew exploring agents of the East India Company in 1612.

The country's occupation by Japan, when the British and the late Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's Americans and Chinese had been driven out, was a heavy loss to the Allies who needed its tin, manganese, silver, copper, oil and zinc, prosaic industrial materials that lie beside gold, rubies, sapphires and amber.

Air Troopers' Role Large

Since its reconquest, in which air troopers played a large part, Burma has gone through a wave of turmoil and banditry, now almost subsided. Its single, resistance-born political party has split into factions, some of them now administering the country as members of an executive council operating under the British Governor, Sir Hubert Rance.

Elections are to be held early in the new year, and British newspapers have speculated that they will be won, or at least dominated, by the anti-Fascist People's Freedom League from which Communist elements of a wartime coalition recently split off.

The country of nearly 15,000,000 population and 262,732 square miles is now in dire need of manufactured supplies in return for its huge output of rice sent to feed other Oriental peoples.

Reasons For Haste

Attlee did not say what Burmese representatives would be received in London.

It was not possible, as in India, to enact an interim constitution, he said. It was possible, he said, that the delegates to be chosen in the forthcoming elections could make the necessary arrangements for independence, and explained as his reasons for haste that it was necessary to "keep up with movements of public opinion."

To Churchill's exclamation, "this haste is appalling—scuttled is the word, and the only word, that can be applied," Attlee rejoined:

"The Government of this country has not been too fast—it has been too slow."

Ruled Out Of Order

In his fighting speech, cut short by the Speaker, who ruled him out of order, Churchill declared: "It was said in the days of the great administrator, Lord Chatham, that you had to get up very early in the morning in order not to miss some acquisition of territory which was then characteristic of our fortunes.

"The not less memorable administration of the present Government is distinguished for the opposite set of experiences. . . . The steady and remorseless process of divesting ourselves of what has been gained by so many generations of toil, administration and sacrifice continues."

He added, "We are getting accustomed and inurated (a Churchillian word) to the process of the decline and fall of the British Empire."

1946 Burma Self-Rule Plans Enrage Churchill DAY

London, Dec. 20 (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee announced today that discussions would be held with Burmese leaders soon to speed Burma's progress toward self-government. Winston Churchill immediately assailed the decision as a step toward the dissolution of the British empire.

In a fighting speech in the House of Commons cut short by the speaker's ruling that he was out of order, Churchill declared:

"It was said in the days of the great administrator, Lord Chatham, that you had to get up very early in the morning in order not to miss some acquisition of territory which was then characteristic of our fortunes.

Differently Distinguished

"The not less memorable administration of the present Government is distinguished for the opposite set of experiences. I must say the British Empire seems to be running off almost as fast as the American loan.

"The steady and remorseless process of divesting ourselves of what has been gained by so many generations of toil, administration and sacrifice continues."

"Appalling Haste"

Attlee said Britain hoped Burma would remain in the empire, but she was free to choose independence.

"We do not desire to retain within the commonwealth and empire any unwilling peoples," the Prime Minister said.

Churchill denounced "this appalling haste" in offering Burma freedom without an intermediate stage as a British dominion.

"Scuttled is the word, and the only word that can be applied," he declared. Churchill likened the Burmese situation to the independence turmoil in India—"this evil process, which has been attended by disasters of which we are at present only on the threshold."

"Decline And Fall"

The wartime Prime Minister continued:

"Just as we see in home affairs the unseemly rush of legislation, disorganizing our national life and impeding our recovery . . . just so we see the same haste—which, I suppose, will be paraded as vigor—in divesting ourselves of the great possessions of the British Crown, and freeing ourselves from all responsibility for the populations, primitive and even dividend, who have hitherto looked to British justice and administration for the means of leading their ordinary lives in peace.

"We are getting accustomed and inured to the process of the decline and fall of the British Empire."

Too Slow, Attlee Says

Attlee declared it was necessary to "keep up with movements of public opinion" in dependent countries.

"The Government of this country has not been too fast—it has been too slow," he said.

Laborites' Letter Renews Foreign Policy Clash 1946

London, Dec. 20 (AP)—New criticism of Britain's foreign policy emerged from the ranks of the Labor party today, voiced this time by a group opposing "barren controveries," as Parliament began its final session before the Christmas adjournment.

Eight MP's who said they favored a regional federation of European countries as a step toward an ultimate world federal government declared in a letter to the Times, of London, that there was need for "practical initiative" soon and that Britain could best take the lead.

Usborne A Signer

The letter withheld, however, details of "certain concrete" steps" that the signers said they believed "groups of private members of Parliament and other interested individuals in all countries and of all parties might now take, perhaps in concert."

One of the signatories was Henry Usborne, Laborite, from Birmingham, who was chosen by the Government last month for the honor of moving acceptance of the King's speech outlining plans for the new Parliament.

Back-Bench "Revolt"

Usborne later was one of more than 100 abstainers exhibiting displeasure with Britain's foreign policy in a back-bench "revolt" by a group demanding a "Socialist" policy designed to steer a middle course between "capitalist" America and Communist Russia.

Other signatories were A. J. Champion, Victor Collins, Evelyn King, the Rev. G. Lang, R. W. MacKay, John Parker and Wing Commander E. R. Millington, of the Labor-Allied Commonwealth party, who was a delegate to the Luxembourg conference last summer at which the United Nations Association was founded.

LONDON, Dec. 20—(AP) Head hunting in North Borneo and charges of "lying insinuation" became mixed up in a House of Commons debate today on why Anthony Brooke is being barred from Sarawak where he has ambitions to be the white rajah.

Laborite Lt. Col. D. R. Rees-Williams came to the government's defense on the banning of Brooke with what some members regarded as an understatement.

Sarawak in northwest Borneo, he said, "is to some extent a disturbed state."

"Head hunting," he continued, "has been resumed on a very heavy scale. At the end of the Japanese war, 1,500 heads had been taken and"—he paused—"not all of them were Japanese."

While members on both sides of the house ran fingers inside uncomfortable collars, Rees-Williams added, "when Capt. Gammans (a fellow parliament member) and I were there we were offered two heads."

In the last-day-of-school atmosphere of the pre-Christmas session, a conservative member snickered, "better heads, I hope."

Presence Is Opposed

Debating why, if the people of Sarawak had approved their country becoming a British crown colony, the colonial office thought it necessary to keep Brooke from visiting the formerly independent state, Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones said there was danger of violence breaking out of Brooke returned to the Sarawak.

Brooke, Rajah Muda (crown prince) of Sarawak until his uncle, Sir Charles Vyner Brooke abdicated as ruler and turned the rich colony over to the Union Jack, had "inspired agitation and opposition among the people," Jones declared.

Conservative Sir Ian Fraser observed that Jones before he became colonial secretary was a severe critic of colonial administrations, and said, "it isn't surprising when a man turns from poacher to game-keeper that he isn't a success."

That, retorted Jones, was a "lying insinuation."

Reproved by the speaker, the portly minister said, "I will withdraw the word but I do not withdraw the meaning of the word."

Conservatives said Brooke, who got as far as Hongkong on his way back to Sarawak before the government put up the bars, should be brought to trial if he was suspected of violating any law, and not, as one member charged, be held incommunicado at the government's whim.

Commons Embroiled in Debate Over Brooke Ban from Sarawak

Commons Fisticuffs Probed

London, Dec. 20 (AP)—The House of Commons Committee on Privileges considered today the question of whether the chamber should discipline a newsman who twice "assaulted and battered" Philip Piratin, one of the two Communist members of Parliament.

The speaker referred the question to the committee last night, with the warm support of Winston Churchill, after the speaker had read to the House a letter of apology to Piratin from the newsman, who twice beat up Piratin in the Palace of Westminster yesterday.

Churchill Disagrees

Publication of the newspaper man's letter of apology in today's parliamentary papers disclosed that he was T. D. Lucy, a British Press Association staff man.

House Leader Herbert Morrison suggested that "honor had been served and said he felt the newsman's employers might find work for him elsewhere than in the House of Commons.

Churchill, however, rose to declare that the matter of "members being knocked about by strangers" in the precincts of the House was a grave one that "I am not in favor of whether they (the victims) are Communists or Tories."

The speaker agreed but did not use his authority to detain the reporter and assured the House that he would be free during the holidays. Piratin, who represents a predominantly Jewish district in London's East End, acknowledged that he struck a blow in the first encounter with the newsman in the House cafeteria.

"He not only insulted me, but insulted my race," Piratin declared.

London, Dec. 20 (AP)—There will be Christmas gaiety and even plenty in Europe for those who can pay. But for Europe's hungry, destitute multitudes there is no room at the inn.

Though the shadow of war has lifted, the dreariness of cold hearths and bare cupboards' remains. And for the have-nots of the ravaged and defeated nations, Christmas will be just another day.

For those who were not deprived by war, whose purses are still intact, Christmas promises to be what it always has been—a day of festivity.

Paris Shop Windows

The markets of Continental cities bulge with luxuries that seem out of place to the wage earner but are shopping heavens to the nouveau riche. Costs are equivalent to boom-time Christmas bonuses.

In Paris, windows are stuffed with appealing scarves, purses, jewels, silken underthings, fur coats, perfumes and other rich gifts, but prices are fantastic. Foodshops offer silver-wrapped pâté de foie gras, at $9 to $14 a pound; turkeys and geese at up to $30; and champagne at prices that are not even mentioned out loud.

Christmas trees are plentiful. Flowers are a sight to see, but prices are soaring. Night clubs will have special shows for those who want to toss away a month's salary in a night.

Holland Lacks Fuel

Rome presents stores bursting with luxury goods, and people who would be content with an extra ration of spaghetti. In the Via Condotti are splendid arrays of leathers, lace, china, silverware. The toys are those that went unsold last year, at even higher prices, but those who have lire are spending eagerly to get rid of them before they hit bottom.

The scarcity of fuel in Holland has all but blacked out shop windows where expensive and indifferently made toys are displayed. Even potatoes, fish, vegetables and game, which is unrationed, are more expensive than before the war. Turkey costs about $2 a pound.

Germans Are Luckier

Thanks to the occupation forces, Christmas for German children will be a little more on the merry side this year.

Most of the German children would probably rather have a good square meal, anyway, than a "Made in Germany" toy.

Germany's adults, too, are benefiting. Russian occupation authorities are distributing 900,000 bottles of German-distilled vodka in Berlin and the French are passing out 100,000 bottles of German champagne.

The Americans are making available 290 tons of processed fruits and fruit juices for children and the British are contributing 145 tons of sweets.

For those who can affort it in Czechoslovakia, there will be the traditional carp dinner, with caraway-seed cakes, followed up by the supper of goose with red cabbage and Bohemian dumplings. For papa there will be slivovitz, if he has saved enough to buy a bottle.

Fuel shortages in Austria emphasize the cold winds whistling into damaged houses and there will be little nourishment inside. The Viennese hope for a supplementary ration of coffee and fish and there is a promise of a few chocolate bars for children under 12.

In Budapest, there's plenty to buy—but nothing to buy it with.

High Taxes In Norway

Becaues of import restrictions Danish shops cannot offer the pre-war variety of goods, and even if one finds a place to buy a little luxury the price is high and the quality poor.

In Belgium, most of a month's earnings will have to be spent if the generations-old yule tradition is to be followed. Food and luxuries are relatively plentiful, but citizens who Christmas-shopped will now have to tighten their belts to the last notch.

Norway had a more-than-ample supply of Christmas goods, but the heavy taxes—the heaviest in the country's modern history were announced recently—put a damper on Christmas shopping.

In Britain, the outlook was for continued austerity, but Englishmen could look forward to sharing about 11,500 tons of turkey, puddings, sweets and imported fruits. Rationing is still severe, but largely respected, so that everyone gets his share, little though it may be. Prices are four times higher than in prewar days and there's a 100 per cent tax on luxuries.

Ireland had lavish displays of gifts and sufficient food for almost everyone, but there, too, it was the same old story—high prices.

Sweden has an abundance commodities and luxuries, but food supplies were on the alim side.

Switzerland was a land of comparative plenty, except that most luxuries were out of reach of the average man's pocketbook.

Fascist 'Resurgence' Reported In Britain

London, Dec. 20 (AP)—Persistent reports of a "resurgence" of the British Fascist movement were aired in the House of Commons today. Eliciting a cautious Government statement that fascism had yet to become a "menace" to British democracy.

H. L. Austin, Laborite, citing activities of Fascist "splinter groups," said their parent organization, Sir Oswald Moseley's Union of British Fascists, was "planning a comeback" undercover.

His claim that Fascists were reappearing in industry, the armed forces and even the House of Commons itself caused G. H. Oliver, Parliamentary Under-Secretary to the Home Office, to reply:

"It is quite erroneous to believe that because there were criticisms and meetings in small meeting rooms that the Fascist menace is growing so much that something should be done by the Home Office."

Djavid Reported Jailed

LONDON, Dec. 20 (AP)—The Moscow radio quoted dispatches from Teheran today as saying that Iranian Government authorities had arrested Dr. Salamullah Djavid, former Azerbaijan Governor General, and President Shabostari of the Azerbaijan Provincial Council, and was holding them in the Teheran jail.

Molotov Nearing Russia Again

London, Dec. 20 (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov took off from London in a Russian plane today on the last leg of his journey home to Moscow after attending the sessions of the Foreign Ministers Council and the United Nations Assembly in New York.

Molotov passed only a few hours in the British capital, most of them resting at the Russian Embassy, and took off from Northolt Airport before his presence here was generally known.

Bevin's Note Of Caution

Asked if he had any comment for the press as he arrived from Southampton, where he disembarked last night from the Queen Elizabeth, Molotov merely waved his hand.

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, interviewed last night on the Queen Elizabeth, was cheerful about the Big Four and United Nations sessions in New York, but cautioned: "The great test will come in Moscow in March, when we have to deal with real problem of Germany."

Shaw Backs Amnesty Plea

London, Dec. 20 (AP)—An appeal in the Christmas edition of the Catholic Herald for an amnesty for prisoners of war and political prisoners in all countries won indorsement today from George Bernard Shaw, T. S. Eliot, the Church of England bishops of Oxford and Chichester and other notables.

U. S. Said to Review Evictions of Germans; Inability to House More Dependents Cited

MUNICH, Germany, Dec. 20 (AP)—Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, United States commander in Europe, was reported today to have ordered a sharp reassessment of the ejection of Germans from their homes to make room for the dependents of American service men. The resurvey was reported ordered to eliminate injustices that were arousing resentment in the German population.

Mayor Karl Scharnagl of Munich personally appealed to Munich residents on the radio to avoid "demonstrations," warning that reprisals would result.

Brig. Gen. Walter J. Muller, military chief in Bavaria, charged that among specific cases arousing resentment was the ousting of families without regard to whether they were Nazis, anti-Nazis or concentration camp victims and that some houses were taken merely for their furniture. Dr. Wilhelm Hoegner, Minister-President of Bavaria, has contended that military police and armored cars seized entire areas, sometimes at night.

German officials submitted to the Military Government a report that 91 per cent of the dependents' houses were taken from Nazians without Nazi records.

demonstrations, lest there be reprisals.

No Regard To Background

Brig. Gen. Walter J. Muller, United States military chief in Bavaria, reported that German families had been thrown out of their homes without regard to their status—whether they were Nazi, anti-Nazi or concentration-camp victims. Brig. Gen. H. R. Gay, chief of tactical troops in this area, recommended weeks ago that no more dependents be allowed to enter the area.

Muller said some houses were taken simply for their furniture, and then the Germans were told they could move back.

Sixty More For UNRRA

In the Munich area, 1,580 houses have been taken for dependents and others. The city itself was 45 per cent destroyed in the war. German officials informed the information control division that five per cent of the houses had been taken from known victims of concentration camps.

They declared UNRRA, although going out of existence soon, requisitioned 60 more houses in Pasing, near Munich. Their report said houses were requisitioned in Ramersdorf from the families of 56 Jews, 25 concentration-camp victims and 65 displaced persons, in violation of military government directives.

House Seizures In U.S. Zone Under Study

Munich, Dec. 20 (AP)—Gen. Joseph T. McNarney has ordered his commanding generals to investigate the disposession of Germans and correct injustices.

A tnse situation on the requisition of houses exists in the American Occupation Zone. It is especially marked in Bavaria, where Munich's mayor, Karl Scharnagl has appealed to residents to avoid

G.I. Says He Got Threat for Aid In Murder Case

Avers He Also Was Shot at After Asserting Army Let Suspect Flee in Germany

FRANKFURT AM MAIN, Dec. 20 (AP).—A United States Army sergeant said in an affidavit introduced in a military court today that he was slugged and shot at after volunteering evidence in behalf of a soldier accused of murder. The sergeant, Norman Ralph Echord, of Kansas City, Mo., said the slugging was accompanied by a warning that "you had better watch your step—the C. I. D. are watching you."

The C. I. D. is the Army's Criminal Investigation Division, whose agents investigated the death of a German girl for whose alleged murder Private First Class Daniel P. Walczak, of Detroit, is on trial.

Walczak's attorney, Earl J. Carroll, of San Bruno, Calif., introduced Sergeant Echord's affidavit in support of his charge that a Polish prisoner was "deliberately let out" of an Army guardhouse after signing a confession which Carroll maintained would absolve Walczak. "The evidence indicates a deliberate attempt to get this Pole out of the way because the Army investigators found themselves in the embarrassing situation of having two confessions to the same crime," Carroll told the court.

Sergeant Echord's affidavit said the Pole, Bogdon Wasiak, was led from his cell by an Army guard on the night of Aug. 18, and that next morning other prisoners were informed that he had escaped by sawing the bars of his cell. He is still at large. Sergeant Echord said he was put in Wasiak's cell that night, after being arrested for a minor violation of uniform regulations, and was present when the guard released Wasiak.

Two nights after he gave that information to Carroll, Sergeant Echford's affidavit said, he was accosted at the door of his billet by a man in United States civilian uniform who warned him to "watch your step—the C. I. D. are watching you." Before Sergeant Echord could reply, he said, he was struck on the head and knocked to the ground. When he got up "no one was around" and a jeep was driving away.

"On the following day I was shot at while walking along Wolfgang Street about two blocks from my billet," he related.

Carroll won his request for a postponement of Walczak's trial until Feb. 22. The court of seven colonels also granted Carroll's motions to compel the prosecutor to produce the original of Wasiak's statement in Polish.

WAC LEADS MEN IN OFFICERS' CLASS

Heidelberg, Dec. 20 (A. P.).—A Wac emerged today with the highest honors of a class of 349 newly commissioned graduates of an officers training school in which women competed on equal terms with men for the first time in the history of the United States Army.

She is 2d Lieut. Virginia H. Kauffman of 6635 75th street, Middle Village, Queens, a former staff sergeant. There were fifty-five other Wacs in the class.

Lieut.-Gen. Geoffrey Keyes, Third Army commander, urged the class to help raise standards of military conduct in the United States Occupation Zone, eliminating bullying and mistreatment of German civilians.

Lt. Kauffman recently told her parents that she "hoped" she would pass the course, so today's news, left her father, John J. Kauffman, momentarily speechless.

"That's the finest Christmas present I could get," he finally exclaimed.

Virginia is 22 years old, and enlisted in the Wacs at 19. She was tops in her class at Queens College when she left to go into service, he stated. She is six feet tall and "a swell looker," but she isn't interested in men, her father added. She likes Latin and is a good athlete.

Berlin Prelate Plans Mass for Americans

Berlin, Dec. 20 (A. P.).—Konrad Cardinal Von Preysing will conduct a pontificial high mass especially for American personnel at midnight Christmas Eve.

Former German Officers Reported Sent to Russia

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, Dec. 20—The British-licensed newspaper Telegraf said today that Soviet authorities were shipping to Russia "hundreds, if not thousands" of German Army officers released from British and American prison camps.

An American Military Government source said the report was "substantially correct" and expressed belief that the Soviet action was the result of concern over future political agitation in the Russian zone by the former officer class, as well as concern over the need for manpower in the Russian homeland.

Official Soviet comment was not available immediately. Dr. Rudolf Engel, in charge of German resettlement in the Soviet zone, referred questioners to the Russian Military Government.

Coventry and Hamburg To Exchange Greetings

HAMBURG Germany, Dec. 20 (AP).—Coventry and Hamburg, two bomb-blasted cities, will exchange Christmas greetings of "forgiveness and rebirth."

The Provost of Coventry, an English city so hard hit by German bombs that a new verb was coined from its agony, will address a message to Hamburg—target of the Royal Air Force night after night in some of the war's heaviest raids.

Through Radio Hamburg, relayed by the British Broadcasting Corporation, will come the reply from Pastor Bernhard Meckemburg, a Roman Catholic priest imprisoned in Dachau for nearly three years.

Italy Expresses Regret for Slur Against Russia

PoliceBulletin HadAsserted That Terrorist Band Was Being Directed by Reds

ROME, Dec. 20 (AP).—Premier Alcide de Gasperi said today that Italy "expresses the deepest regret" to the Soviet Union over a circular sent out recently by national police chief Luigi Ferarri concerning "Troika," a terrorist organization which the circular termed Russian-directed.

De Gasperi told his Cabinet Russia had protested to the Italian Foreign Ministry. He said it was deplorable that, even though in hypothetical form, "the circular suggested that the Soviet government was the sponsor of the organization."

"In this regard," he added, "it must be stated that the Italian government, first of all, considers such a suspicion as unlikely and absurd. It may be added that the investigations promoted by the circular have absolutely cleared the Soviet government, to whom the Italian Government expresses the deepest regret for this unpleasant incident."

The Premier said the police functionary who composed the circular had been suspended.

The circular of instructions was published early this month by the Italian Communist organ, "L'Unita," which called upon Ferrari to deny its authenticity. Instead, Ferrari confirmed that instructions had gone out to police to watch for "Troika" agents, who were said to be plotting attacks against Allied occupation troops and anti-Communist Italians.

Envoy Recalled From Spain

Rome, Dec. 20 (AP)—Italy will recall her ambassador from Madrid "in conformity with the decisions taken by the United Nations Assembly," Foreign Minister Pietro Nenni informed the Cabinet today. Italy is not a member of United Nations.

Italy To Receive UNRRA Yule Food Gift 1946

FOBRIEN

Rome, Dec. 20 (AP)—A Christmas message from UNRRA's Italian mission today gave Italy the heartening news that food and fuel were on the way to relieve shortages which this week aroused mass protests in Naples and Florence.

The message—from S. M. Keeny, veteran relief worker from Pennsylvania who heads the mission—said 21,569 tons of wheat should arrive in a few days, and added:

"We can look now, I hope, to steady improvement."

Keeny's greetings and good wishes, distributed in connection with the mission's weekly bulletin, reviewed UNRRA's 1946 accomplishments in Italy, where, as in the rest of the world, the UNRRA program formally ends December 31.

Rations, Prices Protested

Unrest over short rations and high prices, including a two-day general strike at Naples, was reported from many places in Italy.

A committee of Roman housewives called on Premier Alcide de Gasperi to beg for relief.

Florence housewives continued rebellious raids on suspected food profiteers.

Bari workers threatened to strike in protest.

So did labor in Syracuse, where distribution of bread rations were temporarily suspended.

At Lecco, schoolchildren walked out because classrooms were unheated.

Noting UNRRA's approaching official demise, Keeny assured the Italians that, "although this will be UNRRA's last Chirstmas in Italy, our work is not yet finished.

More Cereals, Fuel Due

"Ships will go on loading next year," he said, "until the last cargo in our 500,000,000-ton program has been dispatched."

Before the middle of January, the message said UNRRA expects to receive another 31,000 tons of flour, wheat and other bread cereals.

Of fuel, nearly as short as food, Keeny declared that about 90,000 tons of coal have arrived or been shipped from the United States since the end of the coal strike.

CARDINALS DECRY ATTACKS ON POPE

Vatican City, Dec. 20 (A. P.).—Cardinals resident in Rome appealed indirectly today to Italian authorities to take measures against Italian publications which have been waging a bitter campaign against Pope Pius XII and the Catholic Church.

In a letter to the Pope, the Cardinals expressed the hope that "those whose duty it is may understand their grave responsibility before the whole Catholic world to bring back order and peace to the land."

"We feel it our duty to protest vigorously against this unworthy conduct against the supreme head of the Catholic Church, whose person has been recognized sacred and inviolate by solemn convention," the letter said.

The Vatican already has threatened with excommunication the staffs, sellers and readers of the weekly anti-clerical publication, Don Basilio unless it stopped its attacks with editorials and cartoons against the church.

Rome parish priests have called for a mass demonstration of solidarity with the Pope in St. Peter's Square on Sunday.

SLAVS MASSED, ATHENS HEARS

Reported In Large Numbers On Vardar River Route

L.S. CHAKALB

Athens, Dec. 20 (AP)—An informed source said today Allied military authorities had received confidential reports that large numbers of Yugoslav troops were massed at Bitolj (Monastir) and at Skoplje along the traditional Vardar River invasion route to northern Greece.

[There was no comment on this report from Belgrade. Tanjug, the Yugoslav news agency, distributed a report today under an Athens dateline saying the present Greek Government was perpetrating "terroristic acts" against the Greek people.

["Families of Greek National Liberation Front fighters are being arrested, deported and murdered while their homes are being burned," Tanjug said.]

U.N. To Send Commission

The United Nations Security Council is sending a commission to the Balkans to investigate border troubles.

The reports to the Allied authorities said that heavy movement of ammunition trains southward through Skoplje, 70 miles north of the Greek border, had been noted for three weeks, and that normal highway traffic had been halted from Skoplje to Djevdelija, immediately north of the border, since December 6.

"It is reasonable to believe the highway is now being used for military traffic," the reports say.

The reports add that Skoplje and Titolj, the latter only 10 miles from the Greek border and 70 miles west of the Vardar, were "completely overrun" with troops who were occupying houses and buildings as billets.

American Army Uniforms

In addition, the reports noted "a large number of Greeks out of military formation" with some wearing American Army uniforms, possibly obtained from UNRRA.

"Obiously the Yugoslavs are aiding Greek insurgents with arms, training and protection," the report said, and in substantiation said that approximately 3,500 Greeks trained at the Bulkjes Camp near Belgrade passed through the Yugoslav capital since November 25 wearing British and American battle dress.

A highly confidential report from a leading Allied capital said its intelligence agents were informed that the Yugoslavs promised to send 10,000 to 15,000 men to relieve Greek guerrillas and that training in Bulkjes had been suspended until peace treaties were signed.

Semi-Independent State

This report contained the opinion that all the activity was designed to create a semi-independent Macedonian state under Yugoslav control to become a member of the Yugoslav federation.

The area controlled by the guerrillas was described as starting at the bottom neck on the western side of the Greek bulge between Bulgaria and Turkey and extending almost 65 miles westward. The fingers of this control project southward just north of Alexandroupolis, east of Komotini and southward east of Xanthi. It was regarded as significant that the two extensions bypassed British military installations at Xanthi and Komotini.

Two Slav Forces 1946 Reported Near

DAY

Greek Border

Athens, Dec. 20 (AP)—An informed source said today that concentrations of large numbers of Yugoslav troops at Skoplje, on the traditional Vardar Valley invasion route, and near the Monastir Gap at Bitolj had been reported to Allied military authorities.

A highly confidential report says heavy movements of ammunition trains through Skolpje had been noted for three weeks and normal traffic from Skoplje southeastward to Djevdlija, which is immediately north of the Greek border on the Vardar, had been stopped since December 6.

"It is reasonable to believe," the report says, "the highway is now being used for military traffic."

Linked To Greek Plea

An Allied diplomat said the concentration of Yugoslav troops at Skoplje probably was connected with the Greek complaint before the United Nations Security Council that her northern neighbors—Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria—were aiding anti-Government guerrillas.

The Security Council voted unanimously last night to send a commission to the Balkans to investigate the border troubles.

[An Associated Press correspondent en route across Yugoslavia to the Greek border ten days ago reported that the Skoplje-Djevdjelija road had been closed to traffic December 6.]

Both Skoplje and Bitolj, 70 miles to the south, are "completely overrun" with troops who are occupying houses and buildings for billets, the report said.

Some Believed Refugees

Also noted, it said, were "a large number of Greeks out of military formation" and some believed to be refugees, wearing American army uniforms. The uniforms, it was added, were believed to have been from the relief supplies of UNRRA.

An abnormal number of medical hospital units was also reported in Skoplje, with scores of men wearing Red Cross arm bands. At a huge ammunition dump near the city, the account said, men are working "24 hours a day."

Another report said approximately 3,500 Greeks trained at the Bulkjes (Yugoslavia) camp and wearing British and American battle dress, had passed through Belgrade since November 25.

Troop Pledge Reported

A confidential report from a lead-Allied capital said its intelligence service has been informed that the Yugolsavs had promised to send from 10,000 to 15,000 men to relieve Greek insurgents and that training at Bulkjes had been suspended until peace treaties were signed. It was added that no Yugoslav soldiers were believed to be on Greek soil at present.

This same report expressed the opinion that all the activity was designed to create a semi-independent Macedonian state under Yugoslav control, to become a member of the Yugoslav Federation.

The report dealing with the concentration at Skoplje said: "Obviously the Yugoslavs are aiding insurgents with arms, training, evacuation and protection."

No Belgrade Comment

[No official comment on this dispatch was available immediately from Belgrade, with which communication is considerably delayed.]

The area controlled by the guerrillas roughly starts at the bottom neck on the western side of the Greek bulge between Bulgaria and Turkey, extending almost 65 miles westward. Fingers of this control project southward just north of Alexandroupolis, east of Komotini and southward east of Xanthi.

It was regarded as significant that the extensions by-passed British military installations at Xanthi and Komotini.

The Greek Army, however, during the past few days has expressed satisfaction with "mopping up" operations and said the main resistance had been broken at the five-day battle at Corymbos, in which 1,200 guerrilias were routed.

It was officially announced that 300 guerrillas had been killed, 300 more wounded and an additional 500 captured in northern Greece in the last two weeks.

Military sources said forty members of a guerrilla band were killed two days ago in an eight-hour battle marked by hand-to-hand fighting during mopping-up operations in the village of Deskate, in the Khasia Mountains between Kozane and Trikkala.

Dutch Approve Agreement

THE HAGUE, Dec. 20 (AP).—The lower house of the Dutch Parliament approved today, 65 to 30, the draft agreement initialed last month with the Indonesians in Java for setting up a United States of Indonesia to be joined in a union with the Netherlands under the Dutch crown. Catholics, Socialists and Communists supported the motion to approve the agreement. The Conservative and Protestant parties and the Party of Freedom (pre-war Liberals) opposed it.

Belgium Cancels Supply Of Cash For Diamonds

Antwerp, Dec. 20 (AP)—Supply of foreign currencies necessary for the imports of raw diamonds by brokers has been canceled by the Belgian Institute for Foreign Exchange, it was learned here today in diamond industrial circles.

The drastic mesaure taken by the Belgian Government, it was also said, was rendered necessary by smuggling operations of some Belgian diamond racketeers.

The Government had ruled that all raw diamonds should be imported and paid for in American dollars and English pounds gained through the regular business operations in cut diamonds in foreign countries.

GULBERTSON VIEW DERIDED IN PRAVDA

Russian Calls Bridge Expert a Knave for Ascribed Advocacy of Leading With Atom Bomb

E. CULBERTSON

MOSCOW, Dec. 20 (AP)—David Zaslavsky, Soviet publicist, singled out Ely Culbertson, American bridge expert and writer on international affairs, for a savage attack today in Pravda, Communist party organ. The article was headed "Policy of the Knave."

Mr. Culbertson captured Mr. Zaslavsky's attention because of his pamphlet, "Should We Fight Russia?" [The title of the Culbertson book, published several months ago by the John C. Winston Co. of Philadelphia, is "Must We Fight Russia?"]

Mr. Zaslavsky began by denouncing professional card clubs and card circles as a "kingdom of rascals," headed by Mr. Culbertson.

"Ely hates the Soviet Union," he said. "He has reasons. The cause is not only that the Bolshevists confiscated an estate belonging to his parents. He would forgive the Bolshevists this guilt because cards have brought him more money in the United States than batraks [peasants who slave for landlords] in czarist Russia.

Twits Expert on Cards

"Ely cannot forgive the Soviet Union that it does not have freedom for card playing. Of course, we, too, play cards, but it is just an amusement, not a profession. Card clubs are prohibited in the Soviet Union just as houses of prostitution are. Therefore, Cul-bertson's name is not known in our country, and he does not make a cent out of it. He denies the existence of Soviet democracy. What kind of democracy is that, what personal freedom, he shouts, if there is no freedom of card playing?'"

Mr. Zaslavsky said Culbertson thought the United States held the atomic ace, which assured the grand slam by which the Soviet Union could be wiped out. He continued:

"Ely teaches that Americans should thrust their aces (atomic bombs) on Soviet towns at once. The first step should be the destruction of the United Nations by destroying the unanimity of the great powers."

Culbertson Quotes From Book

CHANDLER, Ariz., Dec. 20 (AP)—Mr. Culbertson, who is wintering here, said today that Mr. Zaslavsky's statement was "a clumsy lie to be added to other lies of their party line falsely accusing the United States or its citizens of 'atomic blackmail.'"

"I can assure Mr. Zaslavsky," he added, "that the real truth about the 'atomic blackmail' is that if the situation were reversed, with the Communist rulers holding the monopoly of atomic bombs, there would have been no 'Baruchsky' proposal. [He referred to Bernard M. Baruch's plan for atomic control.]

"Equally clumsy are Zaslavsky's statements that in my book 'Must We Fight Russia?' I showed myself a hater of the Soviet Union and advocate of its extermination."

Mr. Culbertson said he wrote that "unless we transform the United Nations Organization into a genuine instrument against aggression, one of two world wars will be inevitable: either a preventive war within the next three to five years by the democratic world under the leadership of the United States to remove the threat of the rising giant Communist state, or, if this does not take place, a war ten to fifteen years later by Communist-dominated Eurasia to destroy the hegemony of the Anglo-American."

Russ Writer And Culbertson Swap Slams Over Atom Bomb

1946

Chandler, Ariz., Dec. 20 (AP)—David Zaslavsky, Soviet journalist, and Ely Culbertson, American writer on bridge and international affairs, engaged today in a long-distance, name-calling dispute over American-Russian relations and the merits of card playing.

Writing in Pravda, Communist party organ, under the title of the "Policy of the Knave," Zaslavsky assailed Culbertson as a "hater of the Soviet Union."

Referring to Culbertson's book, "Must We Fight Russia?" the Soviet writer asserted that Culbertson thinks the United States holds the atomic ace, which assures the grand slam by which the Soviet Union can be wiped out.

Zaslavsky's Contention

"Ely teaches that Americans should thrust their aces (atomic bombs) on Soviet towns at once," Zaslavsky continued. "The first step should be the destruction of the United Nations by destroying the unanimity of the great powers."

To this blast from Moscow Culbertson, wintering at a resort here, replied:

"Zaslavsky's statement . . . is a clumsy lie to be added to other lies of their party line falsely accusing the United States or its citizens of 'atomic blackmail.'"

"I can assure Mr. Zaslavsky," Culbertson added, "that the real truth about the 'atomic blackmail' is that if the situation were reversed, with the Communist rulers holding the monopoly of atomic bombs, there would have been no 'Baruchsky' proposal.

[He referred to Bernard Baruch's plan for atomic control.]

"Equally clumsy are Zaslavsky's statements that in my book 'Must We Fight Russia?' I showed myself a hater of the Soviet Union and advocate its extermination."

What He Wrote

Culbertson said he wrote that that "unless we transform the United Nations organization into a genuine instrument against aggression, one of two world wars will be inevitable; either a preventive war within the next three to five years by the democratic world under the leadership of the United States to remove the threat of the rising giant Communist state; or, if this does not take place, a war ten to fifteen years later by Communist-dominated Eurasia to destroy the hegemony of the Anglo-American."

Zaslavsky began his Pravda article with a denunciation of professional card circles as a "kingdom of rascals" headed by Culbertson, and said "Ely cannot forgive the Soviet Union that it does not have freedom for card playing."

"The poor fellow is talking through his Communist hat, and is running grave risk of being purged," Culbertson observed.

"He insults not only the 20,000,000 American bridge players but a number of prominent Soviet officials who are great admirers of the Culbertson system, among them the former Ambassador Maxim Litvinoff (a much wiser man than Zaslevsky), who used to force his bridge partners, whenever they made a serious blunder, to sit on my 'Gold Book for Contract Bridge' as a punishment."

"The only true thing from Zaslavsky's web of corny insults and misrepresentations," Culbertson asserted, "is the statement that I believe that history has dealt to the United States a grand slam.

"Even here Zaslavsky failed to complete my thought which is this: This grand slam can be muffed, for we Americans are playing it against ruthless opponents, some of whom are not above cheating."

Red Fleet Admits Error In Article On Convoys

Moscow, Dec. 20 (AP)—The newspaper Red Fleet, official organ of Soviet naval forces which last October carried an article by Capt. V. Andreev casting aspersions on the Allies' conduct of wartime convoys to Russian ports, today admitted an error.

Red Fleet republished in full an article which appeared yesterday in Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, saying Andreev gave an "incorrect, one-sided picture" of these operations, but adding that foreign commentators had exploited Andreev's statements for "purposes of an anti-Soviet campaign."

An editorial note said Red Fleet's editors "acknowledge to be correct Pravda's critical comments regarding Captain Andreev's article."

Moscow Charges Denied

TEHERAN, Dec. 20 (AP)—Gen. Ali Razamara, chief of the Iranian General Staff, said today that when the Government troops entered Tabriz last Friday "some people were killed." He branded as false, however, Moscow radio reports that 600 members of the Azerbaijan Democratic party were murdered.

Palestine City's Mayor Expects Largest Pilgrimage

C. DAVIDSON

Bethlehem, Palestine, Dec. 20 (AP). Short, chunky Issa Bandak, mayor of Bethlehem—whose ruddy face, white hair and twinkling eyes make him look startingly like a child's dream of Santa Claus—said today he expected a greater throng of pilgrims than ever to visit the birthplace of Jesus Christ this Christmas Eve.

Bandak, who is descended from crusaders and who has had a turbulent political career in Palestine during the past decade, said he had been informed by the British Army that he should "expect at least 14,000 soldiers in Bethlehem on Christmas Eve." In addition, he added, "there will be another 15,000 or so from Jerusalem and other places in Palestine."

The colorful mayor recalled his 1930 visit to the United States on a lecture tour and said that while there he visited Bethlehem, Pa.

"The people of Bethlehem and myself will appreciate it if you send this message from us," said Bandak. "The Old Bethlehem of Light sends its sincerest greetings to the Bethlehem of America and all other Americans, from the birthplace of Christianity. As Christianity is the true light which has no limits, we hope all nations appreciate those high principles of Christianity which will work together for peace and prosperity."

India's Congress Party Is Held Likely to Adopt League Idea on Grouping of Provinces

NIGHT

NEW DELHI, India, Dec. 20 (AP)—Strong indications appeared tonight that the Congress party would accept the interpretation of the Moslem League and the British on the compulsory groupings of Indian provinces under the British plan for Indian independence.

Such a step would obviate the referring of the question to a Federal Court, as suggested by the British as a means of solving one of the differences between the predominantly Hindu Congress party and the Moslem League.

Congress party members of the Constituent Assembly held a caucus on the matter and one Assembly member said afterward that "any reference to the Federal Court is to all intents and purposes dead now."

Congress party members opposed to the idea of Federal Court reference argued that to reject the interpretation accepted by the British Government and the League would mean revolution in India.

The argument over interpretation of the British plan has kept the Moslem League out of the Constituent Assembly on the ground that its desires for home rule in groups of provinces was threatened by a Hindu majority.

Meanwhile general agreement was reached in the Assembly to postpone a vote until January on Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru's resolution declaring India an independent sovereign republic. This action also was regarded as a possible mollification of the Moslems.

Vote On India Freedom Put Until January

DAY

New Delhi, Dec. 20 (AP)—Members of Indian's Constituent Assembly agreed today to defer until January a vote on Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru's resolution declaring India a sovereign, independent republic.

Congress party circles immediately turned their attention to consideration of the question of referring the British Cabinet Mission's proposal for eventual independence for India to a Federal court for interpretation.

There were indications that a resolution calling for reference of the problem to the courts would be considered tomorrow.

FRENCH FIGHT IS RAGING IN HANOI SECTOR

Troops Battle Viet Namese Forces In Indo-China

M. MOUTSCHEN

By MICHEL MOUTSCHEN

Hanoi, Indo-China, Dec. 20 (AP)—Fighting between French troops and forces of the Viet Nam Republic insurgents raged today at the edge of the Annamite section of Hanoi, part of which was in flames, but the European section was held under French control.

Ho Chi Minh, president of the Viet Nam Republic, and his War Minister, Vonguyen Giat, and other members of the Viet Nam Republic were reliably reported to have fled from Hanoi yesterday after the wounding of Jean Sainteney, French Commissioner, at French troop headquarters in Tonkin.

Morliere Assumes Control

Gen. Louis Morliere, commander of the French forces in Tonkin, assumed control of the Government today, proclaimed martial law and a nightly curfew and prohibited the possession of weapons except with special permit.

Morliere issued a statement declaring "the Viet Minh (Independence party) perfidiously started hostilities on the same pattern as the Japanese aggression of March 9, 1945. The Viet Minh Government has fled. French authorities are obliged to restore order."

The general Viet Namese attack started at 8 last night when all the city lights faded suddenly. I was in the center of town on my way to dinner.

Sniper Fire Prevented Move

The streets were crowded with many French service men returning to their barracks after a special movie showing for them.

The shooting started in every direction. I tried to reach the near-by French-Viet Namese liaison office, but sniper fire from a Viet Namese house drove me back into the main street.

Grenade explosions and rifle fire lit the gloom briefly as French jeeps and trucks without lights hurriedly tried to return to the barracks. I managed to enter a bakery where eight armed Frenchmen were barricaded.

Continued All Night

The shooting continued all night. Bursts of machine-gun fire, the explosions of grenades and mortar shells were heard throughout the hours of darkness and trucks and armored vehicles roared and rattled through the streets continuously.

This morning, after bitter engagements, French troops occupied the Municipal Theater, where the Legislative Assembly sat, water and power stations and the presidential palace. Low-flying Spitfires are patrolling over the city.

Several Viet Namese field guns continue to shell Hanoi.

Hanoi Plunged Into Darkness, Fired Upon

Singapore, Dec. 20 (AP)—An Associated Press dispatch from Hanoi, Indo-China, delayed in transmission, said Viet-Namese forces opened heavy firing throughout Hanoi last night, five minutes after the city had been plunged into darkness by suspension of electric power service.

In a brief dispatch filed shortly after the shooting started, Associated Press Correspondent Michel Moutschen said "the Viet-Namese began shooting everywhere with field guns, mortars and machine guns."

He said immediate French counteraction was expected. His dispatch promised "more later," but further details were also delayed.

30,000 Around The City

In a dispatch filed at 6 P.M. yesterday, Moutschen said there were unconfirmed reports that 30,000 armed Viet-Namese were concentrated around Hanoi, the capital of the Viet-Nam Republic. Tension throughout the city for the previous 48 hours had apparently been relaxing.

Earlier in the day, Ho Chi Minh, President of the Viet-Nam Republic, cabled Premier Leon Blum of France, protesting against recent incidents in Hanoi and suggested that a French parliamentary mission be sent to Indo-China to investigate.

Viet-Namese newspapers had commented unfavorably on the retention by the new French Government of Socialist Marius Moutet as Minister of Colonies and Admiral George Thierry d' Argenlieu as High Commissioner for Indo-China.

Note Of Pessimism

The newspaper Dank Tanh commented: "The new Government does not encourage us to optimism."

The Viet-Nam Republic, self-proclaimed in August, 1945, was recognized by the French on March 6,

It was originally intended to comprise Tonkin, Annam and Cochin-China provinces, but the March 6 agreement recognized only that part in Tonkin and Annam.

Tanks, Machineguns Used Against Viet Nammese in Hanoi

NIGHT

PARIS, Dec. 20—(AP) Late dispatches from Hanoi arriving in Paris tonight said French troops in tanks, half-tracks and mounted machine gun carriers fought in the streets of the restless Indo-Chinese capital throughout last night after forces of the Viet Nam government bombarded the city with artillery from the outskirts.

Ho Chi Minh, president of Indo-China, fled the city Thursday afternoon, the dispatches said.

The semi-official French press agency said heavy fighting had broken out on several fronts throughout IndoChina and that the Viet Nam government was preparing to leave the capital city.

By 8 a. m. today, dispatches to the agency said, French troops had battered their way into the presidential residence of Ho Chi Minh and that the French tricolor floated all day over that building and the municipal assembly where the Viet Nam assembly sat.

The French wiped out knots of resistance in small scale attacks and gunfire sounded throughout the city all day. A huge fire raged in the Viet Nam quarter of the capital.

There was no estimate of the number of dead and injured.

Agency dispatches said official French circles in Hanoi emphasized that the Viet Namese attack resembled the Japanese thrust of March 9, 1945, and quoted them as saying that Japanese elements were among the Viet Nam forces.

The agency said fighting had flared at Hue, capital of Annam providence 340 miles south of Hanoi, and that attacks had been launched on French garrisons at Halduong on the Haiphong-Hanoi road, at Phulangthoung and Bacninh.

Marius Moutet, French minister for overseas territory, prepared to ers of two Viet Nam Nationalist parties had called for Chinese and American mediation in the struggle.

The situation was complicated by political uncertainty in France, still without a permanent government, and by open Communist sympathy toward the Viet-Namese.

Defend French Rights

Moutet pledged it was government policy "to defend and make respected French rights" in the rich colonial possession.

The Assembly had been called to consider a general debate on Indo-China after receiving reports of the wounding of French Comissioner Jean Sainteney in Tonkin.

Moutet told the assembly that Sainteney was not seriously hurt, although a communique released earlier said his condition was grave. Presumably Moutet had later information.

Sainteney was wounded when a cluster of grenades was tossed at his home, the headquarters of French troops in Tonkin, northern province of the Viet-Nam republic.

He had represented France in signing agreements last March under which the Viet-Nam republic as recognized as a free state within the federation of Indochina and the French Union.

Moutet said he was going to Indo-China in an attempt to conciliate differences, but "we have not decided to abandon our fellow citizens and military men. The government policy is to defend and make respected French rights. It will not let itself be imposed by violence."

Associated Press Correspondent Michel Moutschen in Hanoi said the Viet-Namese, whose forces were estimated unofficially at 30,000, "began shooting everywhere with field guns, mortars and machineguns" in the darkened city.

The Viet Nam republic, headed by President Ho Chi-Minh, was recognized by the French last March as a free state with membership in the Federation of Indochina and the French Union. Yesterday Ho sent a cable to Premier Leon Blum asking that a parliamentary investigating commission be sent to Indo-China.

FRENCH OFFICIAL HURT

DAY

Paris, Dec. 20 A. P.).—The French News Agency, quoting official sources, said today that M. Sainteny, commissioner for the French Republic in Tonkin, Indo-China, had been critically wounded in fighting between French and Viet-Namese forces. Sainteny signed the French and Viet-Nam agreements of last March, by which the French recognized the Annamite regime in Indo-China as constituting the Viet-Nam Republic.

Viet-Namese forces opened heavy firing throughout Hanoi, capital of Viet-Nam, Thursday night, five minutes after the city had been plunged into darkness by the suspension of electric power. Unconfirmed reports said that some 30,000 armed Viet-Namese were concentrated around the city.

China Reds Near Marine Airport

Peiping, Dec. 20 (AP)—Communist guerrillas, continuing to harass the environs of Peiping, were reported on the offensive today 12 miles south of the city near the airport used by the United States Marines.

The Catholic newspaper Social Welfare quoted military sources as saying the Communists were threatening Huangtsun, on the Peiping-Tientsin railway near the southwest corner of Nanyuan (Southern Garden) Airfield, used by the Marines.

It said the Communists also were driving on Wanping, in the hills 20 miles west of Peiping.

Government forces, however, were pushing toward a Communist guerrilla base 23 miles northeast of Peiping, and Gen. Li Tsung-jen, chief of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Peiping headquarters, said he did not think the Communists constituted a serious threat to either Peiping or Tientsin.

Pro-Government reports said that national reinforcements had lifted a Communist siege of Lei-chuang, 80 miles northeast of Tientsin on the Tientsin-Mukden railway, and had restored train service as far north as the Manchurian border.

Another band of 3,000 Communists was reported moving against Utai, 35 miles northeast of Tientsin, threatening a new disruption of service.

China Reds Near U.S. Airbase

DAY

Peiping, Dec. 20 (AP) — Chinese Communist guerrillas, smashing at the Peiping-Tientsin railroad, today pushed within threatening distance of Peiping's South Airfield, a United States Marine airbase.

Government reinforcements were rushed into action as two Communist regiments closed within less than a mile of Huangtsun, which is 11 miles southeast of Peiping and very near the South Airfield. Other Communists closed in on Weishangchuang, 2 miles farther southeast.

Li Tsung-jen, director of Chiang Kai-shek's Peiping headquarters, told interviewers that he did not regard the guerrilla fighting as a great threat against either Peiping or Tientsin.

Railroad authorities said service between Peiping and Tientsin had not been disrupted.

A Chiang China Seen Of Benefit To U.S.S.R.

T. MASTERSON

Peiping, Dec. 20 (AP)—Gen. Li Tsung-jen, director of Chiang Kai-shek's Peiping headquarters, declared today that "a stabilized, prosperous China would benefit Russia."

"Many people in the United States think that by giving active support to (Chinese) National Government the United States would antagonize the Soviets. That is not likely. We hope the Russians do not think we are trying to unify China to the detriment of the Soviet Union," he said.

Li's comment was provoked by President Truman's restatement of United States policy toward China.

"Half-Communist World"

He warned that "unless the United States now helps China to establish a democratic government, she will later face half a world controlled by Communism. If the National Government of China collapses, Chinese Communists will take over.

"China needs help now, especially economic. The United States is the only nation in the world that can now offer economic aid."

Li said the $[illegible],000,000 loan Truman conditionally promised China "would be well spent."

Comment In Nanking

[Government leaders in Nanking, meanwhile remained reticent to express official reaction to Truman's policy statement, presumably on instructions from Chiang. However, Yu Yu-jen, a Kuomintang Government party leader, said Truman's policy coincided exactly with that of Chiang for building a democratic, unified China.

The Government's Central News Agency said, "We should express our gratitude toward such good intentions and earnest desire on the part of our ally."]

Chinese Red Criticizes U. S.

YENAN, China, Dec. 19 (Delayed) (AP)—Li Shao-chi, vice-chairman of the Communist party, charged today that the combination of the Kuomintang (Chinese government party) and the United States had driven the Communists to shoulder arms, and asserted, "We cannot be beaten. We will [illegible]er surrender."

[There was no indication whether Li's comment was provoked by President Truman's re-statement of United States policy toward China, although it was made the following day.]

Li, who is second only to Communist chairman Mao Tse-tung on the important party political bureau, said:

"Please tell the people of the United States we have not chosen to fight. Our aims certainly are neither dark nor forbidding. How can any one criticize our demands when they repeated almost word for word President Truman's December, 1945, statement urging China to adopt democracy, unity and peace? If we should surrender those principles, what would the world think? What would the miserable, downtrodden people of China think?

"Rather, ask Chiang Kai-shek why he fails to give China democracy than accuse us of bad faith. Surely we know more of the demands for democracy and the needs of the poor than the corruptly rich, morally soft leaders of the present family monopoly which calls itself the government of China's millions."

YANK MP'S HALT MELEE AT TOKYO BY KOREAN MOB

T. LAMBERT 1946

TOKYO, Dec. 20—(AP) At least 12 Japanese policemen and undetermined numbers of Koreans were injured today in a pistol-shooting melee at the doors of Premier Shigeru Yoshida's official residence.

The Koreans, estimated by police to number 15,000 and by the Koreans themselves to total 50,000, marched on the residence to present a resolution accusing the government of "illegal discrimination" against Korean residents of Japan.

A delegation of 10 entered the residence. When it failed to emerge as promptly as the crowd had expected, rioting began. Doors and windows of the residence were smashed as the throng sought to force its way inside.

Some 30 Japanese police, firing shots into the air and swinging their clubs, were all but overwhelmed by the mob, which assaulted them with bamboo poles, sticks and fists.

The police said the Koreans also fired pistols, but Korean leaders denied this.

35 Minute Battle 1946

Japanese police officials said the 35-minute battle was broken up when a contingent of American military police ordered the Koreans to disperse. The Americans said they merely cleared traffic lanes through the crowd.

The 10 Koreans who entered the house were held by Japanese police for questioning.

The battle was preceded by a mass meeting called in the Palace plaza by the League of Koreans residing in Japan.

Another delegation went to the diet to present demands that the government "protect the livelihood of Koreans."

The Korean resolutions demanded that they not be taxed on the same basis as Japanese subjects and complained that they were undergoing oppression and surveillance similar to wartime.

The outbreak was only the most recent evidence of long-smouldering antipathy between Japanese and Koreans in Japan. Last May 5, after a clash outside the premier's residence, General MacArthur warned that occupation authorities would intervene unless "physical processes of intimidation" were abandoned by the demonstrators.

In a gun battle with police last April, 17 persons were killed. Thirty-six Koreans subsequently were deported for participation in the fight.

Tokyo Koreans Battle Police, Injuring 12

DAY

Tokyo, Dec. 20 (AP)—Twelve Japanese policemen and several Koreans were injured today in a free-for-all fight at Premier Yoshida's official residence as an estimated 2,000 Koreans forced their way through a police cordon. Doors and windows were smashed.

The Koreans, charging discrimination, demanded that the Government "protect the livelihood of Koreans." After a mass meeting, the crowd—men, women and children—had marched to Yoshida's home.

Ten representatives of the League of Koreans residing in Japan, which sponsored the meeting, went into the Premier's residence to discuss their demands with Government officials. The crowd became restless waiting and demanded admittance.

Crowd Breaks Through

The police closed the gates to the residence and tried to block the crowd, but it surged through and overwhelmed the club-swinging officers.

The 35-minute battle ended after the arrival of ten United States military police and a contingent of metropolitan police who ordered the Koreans to leave.

Tokyo police arrested ten Korean leaders.

Police said they fired four shots into the air in a futile effort to disperse the crowd and charged some Koreans also fired pistols.

The crowd assaulted the police with bamboo poles, fists and the sticks on which they were carrying placards.

Latest Incident Of Feud

Five hours after the battle, some Koreans still remained around the Premier's residence and another crowd gathered at the Imperial Plaza, about a mile away, where the massmeeting had been held.

The melee was the latest evidence of smoldering Korean-Japanese feeling. It was the first battle since General MacArthur's May 5 warning that the Allies would intervene unless "physical processes of intimidation" were halted.

Thirty-six Koreans recently were given jail sentences and ordered deported as the aftermath of a gun battle with Japanese police in April, when seventeen were killed.

Resent "War Guilt" Taxes

A resolution submitted by the Koreans today charged the Japanese Government with distorting the Cairo and Potsdam declarations and expressed a "feeling of dissatisfaction and anger, and determination for a complete struggle."

It protested that Koreans should not pay the same taxes as Japanese "since we were not responsible for the war." It accused Japanese officials of maintaining a feeling of superiority toward Koreans and of "stimulating Japanese masses' racial feelings" against them.

Japs Strafed Nurses On Forced March, One Says

1946

Tokyo, Dec. 20 (AP)—A Australian army nurse who survived a Japanese machinegunning and three and a half years' imprisonment today confronted Hideki Tojo and 26 other war-crimes defendants with a story of barbaric treatment of women and children.

Captain Vivian Bullwinkel, 31, of Adelaide, Australia, testified at the Tojo trial:

She was evacuated from Singapore February 24, 1942, on a small steamer with 250 women and children, including 65 nursing sisters, and a few elderly men. Two days later, near Bangka Island off the northwest tip of Sumatra, three Japanese planes bombed and strafed the ship and it began to sink.

Lifeboats Sunk

All but two of the lifeboats sank because of strafing damage.

"With 12 other nurses, I jumped overside and swam to a sinking lifeboat. There were others clinging to it. We drifted eight hours and landed on Bangka at night. We found two lifeboats with 30 to 40 women and children and about 30 of the ship's crewmen already had landed. There were 12 nursing sisters with them. Later about 20 Englishmen arrived.

Next day the party decided to surrender. All women and children except 22 nurses and one civilian woman were sent away in care of a Chinese doctor. The nurses stayed to care for 12 stretcher cases.

A few hours later, a Japanese officer and 15 soldiers marched the men to the beach.

Marched Into Sea

"We heard shots and the Japanese soldiers came back cleaning their rifles and bayonets. They ordered the 23 of us (women) to march into the sea. We had gone but a few yards when they started machinegunning us. I saw others fall. Then I was hit. A bullet passed through my body at the waist and I was knocked down."

She was washed ashore, unconscious. Reviving, she crawled into a jungle, where she again lost consciouness. Reviving three days later, she was joined by one of the Englishmen. He told here all stretcher patients had been bayonetted and left for dead.

Surrender To Officer

She thrice obtained food in a native village and nursed the Englisman twelve days. They surrendered to a Japanese naval officer at Montok.

Presiding Judge Sir William Webb interrupted to ask if she received any attention for her wound.

"No, I did not. We did not tell the Japanese anything about being wounded or what we saw on the beach."

She said she was held in four camps, where the Japanese mistreated women as well as men, kept prisoners on near-starvation rations and gave them virtually no medicine. Conditions were "appalling" and many died of dysentery and malaria, she added.

Forced To Carry Water

At Palembang, Sumatra, Japanese guards often slapped and beat women and forced them to carry water to the guards' houses.

In one six-month period, 150 of 450 prisoners died.

The Japanese attitude suddenly changed after August 24, 1945—eight days after war's end. A Japanese officer told them that news.

"The next day they gave us quinine, disinfectants and ointments. We also were given local anesthetics and fresh food. We had none of these things before.

"The only time we saw Red Cross parcels was on August 24, 1945, when they were given to us by the Japanese. We had seen food with American labels on it in the houses of Japanese guards."

Occupation Units Visited

Tokyo, Dec. 20 (AP)—Cyril Chambers, Australian Army Minister, today inspected British Commonwealth occupation force installations here. He visited United States 8th Army facilities at Yokohama this morning and lunched with Lieut. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, 8th Army commander.

3 U.S. Soldiers Get Terms In Japan

Yokohama, Dec. 20 (AP)—Three United States soldiers today were convicted by a general court-martial of assault with intent to commit robbery and breach of arrest.

Private Philemon Bice, of Zanesville, Ohio, and Private Luther Johnson, of Hellerton, Pa., were sentenced to fifteen years each at hard labor and Private Ernest Mainer, of Denmark, N.C., to ten years. Their sentences, including dishonorable discharge, are subject to review.

Witnesses testified that one of the trio would enter a Japanese shop and illegally purchase whisky or sake. Another then would enter, claim to be an investigating agent and demand more liquor as a bribe to remain silent.

Osmena Quits Philippine Council

MANILA, Saturday, Dec. 21 (AP)—Former President Sergio Osmena has resigned from the Philippines Council of State, but his resignation has not yet been accepted by President Manuel Roxas, an official announcement said today. No reason was given, but The Manila Chronicle reported that Mr. Osmena's family was irked by a series of small incidents, including the Government not having delivered his birthday telegrams. The Council's function in the Government is advisory.

251 Indonesians Killed In Celebes

Denpasar, Bali, Dec. 19 [AP—Delayed]—The Netherlands East Indies Government announced today that 251 Indonesians had been killed in fighting in South Celebes since the declaration of martial law there on December 11.

It also announced that Dutch troops had carried out four clearing actions against extremists and repulsed a night attack by Indonesians against Malino, which last July was the site of the conference where a United States of Indonesia was first proposed.

The South Celebes is scheduled to become a part of the new state of East Indonesia, plans for which are now being formed at a conference being held here.

The extremists assert that they want to join the Indonesian Republic instead.

McNutt and Roxas Confer

Begin Discussion of Philippine Sites for U. S. Bases

MANILA, Dec. 20 (AP)—American Ambassador Paul V. McNutt and President Manuel A. Roxas today began exploratory talks preparatory to resumption of negotiations for Philippine sites for United States military bases.

Aides said McNutt would present clear cut requests for definite bases and a quick decision. They said he is eager to finish the negotiations and retire to private law practice in New York.

BRAZILIAN'S RECALL ASKED

Soviet Charges Embassy Attache Was Disorderly in Moscow

RIO DE JANEIRO, Dec. 20 (AP)—The Soviet Embassy today issued a statement saying that the Russian Government had asked the recall of Joao Batista Soares Depina, second secretary of the Brazilian Embassy in Moscow, because he was drunk, broke furniture in the National Hotel and assaulted Soviet citizens.

A Brazilian announcement that the secretary was being withdrawn was followed by a series of anti-Communist demonstrations here last night in which mobs stormed the Communist party's headquarters. Burned a Russian flag, wrecked election billboards and beat a guardsman.

The Soviet note said that to safeguard good relations between the two governments no publicity was given to the incident in Moscow. The Brazilian announcement said the secretary was involved in a street fight, but added it was believed he was not responsible.

Soviet Flag Burned By Brazilian Mobs

Rio de Janeiro, Dec. 20 (A. P.)—In a series of anti-Communist demonstrations, mobs last night stoned Brazilian Communist party headquarters, burned a Russian flag, wrecked Communist election billboards and beat a guardsman. No fatalities were reported.

The violence broke out several hours after Foreign Minister Raul Fernandes said that Brazil would withdraw her Second Secretary of the embassy at Moscow, Joao Batista Soares de Pina, at the request of Russia.

Pact with Russia Indicated

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 20 (AP)—Argentine Foreign Office sources said today that Argentina and Russia would sign a treaty of friendship, commerce and navigation "some time during the first two weeks of January." Both countries, the sources said, would establish revolving credits in Moscow and Buenos Aires to facilitate a mutual purchase program.

PRESIDENT ASKS FOR UNIVERSAL ARMY TRAINING

Cites History as Showing Lazy, Fat Republics Always Pass Out.

ADDRESSES NEW COMMISSION

Tells It to Report Its Findings After a Survey—Group Picks Compton as Chairman.

Washington, Dec. 20 (A. P.).—President Truman today called for the adoption of universal training as the best assurance for the continuation of the republic.

Speaking to a new advisory commission set up to survey universal training proposals, Mr. Truman said that the modern nation "no longer depends solely upon the Army and Navy for its protection."

As a student of history, he said he has discovered that great republics of the past "always pass out when their peoples become prosperous and fat and lazy and are not willing to assume their responsibilities."

"I want our young people to be informed what this Government is, what it stands for—its responsibilities. And I think the best way to do this is through a universal training program."

He spoke extemporaneously to the group at an organization meeting in the White House and indicated that further administration moves to obtain training legislation may be delayed until the committee reports back to him.

Deletes Word 'Military.'

"You are not be rushed," he said. "When you get through, I want you to give me a report of your findings."

He asked the committee to consult with Secretaries of War and Navy and other Cabinet officers but emphasized that he also wanted the group to go beyond the military in getting opinion on the hotly debated training proposal.

"I want you to be known as the President's Advisory Commission on Universal Training. I want that word military left out. The military part is incidental to what I have in mind."

The President met with the commission, appointed yesterday, after a lengthy Cabinet session which was devoted largely to discussion of the forthcoming budget to be submitted to the new Republican-controlled Congress in January.

Sees a 'Terrible Reflection.'

He told the group that the fact that almost 30 per cent of the young people who were called up for military service during the last war were physically or mentally unfit was a "terrible reflection on a free country." He emphasized his belief that universal training would provide "physical development as well as mental and moral development."

The nine-member commission, which includes church men and educators, two groups from which criticism of universal training has come, picked Dr. Karl T. Compton, president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, as chairman. Joseph E. Davies, former ambassador to Moscow, was named associate chairman, and Mrs. Anna Rosenberg, New York public and industrial relations consultant, was chosen secretary.

1946

Truman Talk to Draft Advisers

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP).—Following is the complete text of President Truman's informal remarks to his new advisory commission on universal training:

I am very much interested in this commission, because I am very much interested in the coming generation. We found, through the records of the draft boards, that almost 30 per cent of our young people who were called up for military service were unfit physically or mentally. That is a terrible reflection on a free country.

I have been interested in the physical development and the mental and moral development of young people ever since I was graduated from high school. I have been somewhat of a student of history, and I have discovered that great republics of the past always passed out when their peoples became prosperous and fat and lazy and were not willing to assume their responsibilities.

In other words, when the Romans and the Greeks and some of the ancient Mesopotamian countries turned to mercenary defense forces, they ended. That is, when the people of a nation would not do the necessary service to continue their government, it ended eventually in one way or another. That has been true of modern nations also.

World's Greatest Government

I want to see this republic continue. It is the greatest government that the world has seen. It is set up in a way that divides the power of the government among three different sections. That is, we have the legislative branch and the executive branch, headed by the President, and we have the independent judiciary.

I want our young people to be informed on what this government is, what it stands for—its responsibilities. And I think the best way to do this is through a universal-training program. I don't like to think of it as a universal military-training program. I want it to be a universal training program, giving our young people a background in the disciplinary approach of getting along with one another, informing them of their physical makeup and what it means to take care of this temple which God gave us. If we get that instilled into them, and then instill into them a responsibility which begins in the township, in the city ward, the first thing you know we will have sold our republic to the coming generations as Madison and Hamilton and Jefferson sold it in the first place.

I hope you gentlemen, and Mrs. Rosenberg, will approach this job with the idea of insuring the continuation of our form of government. I want you to call as witnesses, if you will, the Secretary of State, the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy, and any other Cabinet members that you think could contribute information to you. The Secretary of Labor can be of great help to you.

Wants "Military" Omitted

Then go outside the executive branch and talk to leaders in the House and the Senate. I want you to be known as the President's advisory commission on universal training. I want that word military left out. The military phase is incidental to what I have in mind.

The modern nation no longer depends solely on the Army and Navy for its protection. Any difficulty in which it is necessary for the Army and Navy to fight involves the whole country. It is a total war these days. More people were killed behind the lines in enemy countries, and in friendly countries, than were killed on the battle fronts. Now that is a startling statement, but if you look at the figures you will find that that is the case.

The two things that I am most interested in as President of the United States are peace in the world and production at home. We must make our production machine work in peace time as it did in war time, so that everybody can have his share of the good things of life under our form of government. And then, if we have peace in the world, we can create that situation in the other countries.

We don't want any territory. We don't want to hog the trade of the world. We do want an interchange of ideas and of merchandise and everything of that sort.

You can help greatly to bring these things about. You are not to be rushed. When you get through, I want you to give me a report of your findings. . . . I didn't intend to make a speech at all.

TRUMAN SENDS ARMY MESSAGE

Much To Be Done, President Says In Christmas Greetings

1946

Washington, Dec. 20 (AP)—President Truman told the men and women of the armed forces in a Christmas message tonight that "there is still much to be done" to gain "a just and enduring peace."

The message follows:

"I am very grateful for this opportunity to extend to each one of you, wherever you may be, my most sincere Christmas greetings.

"We are now involved in a great struggle, a struggle to shape the events of today and tomorrow toward a just and enduring peace for all peoples in all countries. There is still much to be done.

"The accomplishments of our task will require the same devotion and the same high ideals which you, the men and women of our armed forces, have always displayed.

Appreciate "Part You Play"

"The liberty-loving peoples throughout the world, who in darker days prayed for our success in battle, now offer their prayers that our struggle for harmony and tranquillity on earth shall succeed.

"I wish to express the nation's deep appreciation of the part that you are playing, and the hope that our gratitude will in some small way compensate for your absence from home, friends and the dear ones on this Christmas Day.

"Again, may I wish you a very Merry Christmas!

Word To Merchant Marine

In a message to the men of the Merchant Marine, the President said:

"My Christmas message to all who serve in the Merchant Marine is one of good cheer and of confidence in their ability and their will to serve the best interests of the United States in peace as in war. Our good relations with other nations will develop largely through international trade. Those who serve in the Merchant Marine are important ambassadors as they carry our colors and our goodwill abroad.

"Our Merchant Marine aided greatly in the victory which the united nations achieved. This victory has placed before all peoples an even greater challenge to human resourcefulness than the war itself. Let us at this Christmas time rededicate ourselves in the spirit of the good neighbor to the creation of a better world."

Full GI Bill Pay Drawn By 51,000

Washington, Dec. 20 (AP)—Only 51,000 veterans of World War II have drawn their full quota of the $20 a week readjustment allowance provided under the GI Bill of Rights.

Under the law, veterans who served ten or more months pay draw the allowance for the maximum 52 weeks. Veterans who served less than ten months but more than 90 days may draw the allowance (sometimes called unemployment pay) a proportionately shorter length of time.

The 51,000 who have already exhausted their R.A. benefits are only about four tenths of one per cent of the more than 14,000,000 World War II veterans, almost all of whom are eligible. Of those who actually began drawing allowances—soon enough to have exhausted them—they are 2.2 per cent.

More May Follow

Actually few of the 14,000,000 could have exhausted their right to the allowance. The demobilization program was just getting under way a year ago and didn't reach its peak until midwinter. Other veterans may now be well on the way toward using up their benefits.

To date the readjustment allowance program has cost taxpayers $1,750,000,000. That's almost half as much as the total cost of the World War I veterans' bonus. Last summer well over $100,000,000 every month was paid to unemployed veterans.

To be eligible a veteran must be out of work, looking for work and able and willing to take any "suitable" job offered him.

California has the lowest percentage of used-up benefits. Only slightly more than one out of every hundred veterans discharged a year ago have drawn the full-duration allowance.

Tennessee Was High

Tennessee has the highest state percentage. Almost five out of every hundred Tennesseans who were veterans a year ago have used up the works.

But the record shows that Tennessee is far behind Puerto Rica. More than 40 per cent of Puerto Rican veterans who have been out a year have used up their allowance. Low wage scales in Puerto Rica are given as one reason.

Largest single month's expenditure in the program occurred in April, when unemployed veterans received $160,071,000. During the first week in November the number actually drawing the allowance fell below the million mark. Effects of the coal strike and consequent work stoppages may reverse the downward trend.

PATTERSON AIDE FINDS NEGRO GI'S MALIGNED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP)—Marcus H. Ray, civilian aide to Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson, on Negro matters, said today he had found no situation in Germany that would support allegations of misconduct by Negro troops made in a recent report to the Senate War Investigating Committee.

Mr. Ray has just returned from an inspection trip to all theatres.

He said Negro troops in Germany had read accounts of the report by George Meader, counsel to the Senate committee, and that there was "considerable resentment." Asked about its accuracy, hes aid, "I saw no indication of any reason for singling out of Negro soldiers" in complaints of crime and misbehavior.

The morale of Negro troops in Germany would be improved, Mr. Ray said, by formation of some Negro police and constabulary units.

Asked whether prejudice on the part of white military policement might be involved in a high arrest rate for Negro soldiers in Germany, he replied: "These is the possibility of individual prejudices by MP's, you might say almost a probability."

Mr. Ray said he had been told in Japan that white soldiers were "passing out adverse propaganda to the Japanese people, the hysteria sort of thing, that the Negro lies, cheats and steals." He said that he had talked with Gen. Douglas MacArthur about this and that educational plans had been started to "overcome the adverse feeling that has been developed."

plished by an original cost comparable to present modern methods and eventually for much less.

These views were expressed in a report by a New England Council committee which includes in its membership Karl T. Compton, president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and one of the developers of the atom bomb, and Bradley Dewey, president of the American Chemical Society.

Technically Possible

Although no atomic power plants have been built, they said, "there now seems to be no question, from the purely technical standpoint, about the possibility of generating large amounts of power from the heat liberated during the operation of atomic piles."

Many factors, they added, would affect the speed with which the atom is put to commercial use—among them Government financial support for research and development, full release of technical information commensurate with security, and "provided that industry be given the green light to proceed with its own development."

Granted these, they said, "it seems probable that within five years atomic piles could be operating for the purpose of producing electric power."

Heavy Uses Seen First

The committee said that it was difficult to predict what the first commercial uses of atomic power would be, but "it seems likely that it will be for purposes needing heavy and continuous loads of power."

Federal funds for research and development of peacetime industrial and humanitarian application of atomic energy are necessary, the report said, as well as for "large-scale fundamental studies of nuclear phenomena."

"This is one kind of Government financing that we cannot afford to curtail whatever may be the national policy along general lines of retrenchment and economy," the committee said.

"Lot Of Money" Needed

"A lot of money," the committee said, will be necessary to bring about the practical utilization of atomic energy for industrial power to propel ships, turn the wheels of factories and light homes.

However, the report said that electric power could be produced from atomic piles "at a cost comparable with that from the most modern high-pressure tidewater steam central stations" and predicted that eventually the cost "may go well below present production costs."

The New England Council is an industrial and promotion group.

BILBO OPENS FILES TO INVESTIGATORS

Probe Attorneys Dig Into Records as Senator Goes Home.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20—(AP) Senator Theodore G. Bilbo (D-Miss) made plans today to spend Christmas in his "dream house" in Mississippi while attorneys for the Senate War Investigating committee dug through his personal office files here.

The investigation of Bilbo's transactions with war contractors and others still was held open but Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) told a reporter it may be necessary to forego additional public hearings before completion of a report.

Senator is Unruffled

Unruffled by the week of sensational testimony, including more than six hours of his own yesterday, Senator Bilbo told reporters that he has not missed spending Christmas in the "dream house" on his farm since 1935.

Ferguson, Republican member of the three-man subcommittee which recessed its public hearings late yesterday, is the only one of the trio who will sit in the next Congress.

Chairman Mead (D-NY) abandoned his Senate seat to make an unsuccessful race for governor of New York while Senator Tunnell (D-Del) was defeated in November.

Both Mead and Tunnell have left the capital for the Christmas holidays but Ferguson said he was rechecking all of the conflicting testimony and "hope we can have a report ready by Dec. 30."

If he uncovers any angle upon which additional testimony should be taken, Ferguson said he would ask Mead or Tunnell to return for this.

Ferguson said he was giving special attention to two late developments:

1. The possible application of a Federal law which prohibits government contractors from making any contribution to any person for political purposes.

2. Conflicting accounts about payment of $1,000 or $1,500 to Senator Bilbo after he interceded to obtain morphine for an aged user of drugs. Bilbo frankly told of helping a physician obtain this permit but vigorously denied there was any connection with a donation to Bilbo's church parsonage funds.

The contractor prohibition was brought up late yesterday in the hearings after Bilbo testified about obtaining $25,000 from one war contractor and $5,000 from another to help finance the unsuccessful 1942 Senate race of Wall Doxey. Doxey now is sergeant-at-arms of the Senate.

Refuses to Answer

Bilbo, who is a lawyer, was handed a volume containing this Federal statute and asked if it made contributions by contractors illegal. The senator paused for a few minutes and then replied he did not care to interpret the law.

Edward P. Terry, former secretary to Bilbo, first brought up the alleged payment of $1,500 to Bilbo in the narcotics case. Terry said the money came from John A. Carr of Natchez, Miss., through Dr. A. J. Podesta of Vicksburg, Miss.

Dr. Harry J. Anslinger, Federal Commissioner of Narcotics, testified that he granted authority to prescribe narcotics for Carr after visiting Bilbo's Senate office and reading letters from Dr. Podesta and Dr. John Logan, who was Carr's physician.

A special agent for the Treasury and an investigator for the committee testified they had been told that Bilbo received $1,000 or $1,500 for the church parsonage fund for obtaining the narcotics permit.

Denies Connection

Bilbo repeatedly denied knowledge of any connection between the permit and a parsonage donation. He added that if he had received such a donation it was placed in his special bank account for the parsonage. Investigators and attorneys for the committee today were searching the Senator's files trying to find a bank deposit for $1,000 or $1,500 to learn if the money was received before or after the permit was granted.

Meanwhile committee attorneys were assembling evidence for presentation of charges of "perjury" and "contempt of the Senate" against Terry, the former secretary.

Terry flatly refused to tell the subcommittee to whom he returned a $15,000 fund this year which Terry said had been given him in New York City to finance an opponent for Bilbo in this year's Mississippi Senate election.

Terry, said by his attorney to be suffering from a serious heart ailment, nearly collapsed at the hearing late yesterday. His wife reported he was in bed under doctor's orders to see no one at his apartment here.

BILBO TO GO HOME; HIS FILES SEARCHED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP)—Senator Theodore G. Bilbo, Democrat, of Mississippi, made plans today to spend Christmas in his dream house in Mississippi while attorneys for the Senate War Investigating Committee dug through his personal office files here for evidence of a bank deposit of $1,000 or $1,500 alleged to have been paid to the Senator by a narcotics addict.

The investigation of Mr. Bilbo's transactions with war contractors and others still was held open but Senator Homer Ferguson, Republican, of Michigan, told a reporter it may be necessary to forego additional public hearings before completion of a report.

Unruffled by the week of sensational testimony, including more than six hours of his own yesterday, Senator Bilbo told reporters that he had not missed spending Christmas in the dream house on his farm since 1935.

Mr. Ferguson, Republican member of the three-man subcommittee which recessed its public hearings late yesterday, is the only one of the trio who will sit in the next Congress.

Senator James M. Mead, Democrat, of New York, abandoned his seat to make an unsuccessful race for Governor of New York while Senator James M. Tunnell, Democrat, of Delaware, was defeated in November.

Both Mr. Mead and Mr. Tunnell have left the capital for the Christmas holidays but Mr. Ferguson said he was rechecking all of the conflicting testimony and he hoped "we can have a report ready by Dec. 30."

Refugee, Relief Issues To Test 1946 GOP Control

By Alex H. Singleton

Washington, Dec. 20 (AP)—A pair of high-priority issues — international relief and immigration—will provide a quick showdown next year on the willingness of the Republican dominated Congress to apply the principle of global cooperation to specific problems.

Simultaneously, the final action on these two problems appears certain to affect the prestige of the United Nations among many foreign countries still acutely conscious of what happened here after World War I.

Experience within United Nations councils has furnished clear-cut evidence that a number of the smaller nations are looking to the United States for their foreign policy cue.

Crisis Seen In Co-Operation

Secretary of State Byrnes's policy of close consultation on foreign affairs with both parties in Congress obviously has gone a long way toward eliminating an open break between the Administration and the lawmakers such as that which developed under Woodrow Wilson.

Still untested in peacetime, however, is the question whether the idea of international co-operation can survive the twin hazards of an economy drive and sectional opposition to parts of the foreign policy program.

Cost Of Aid Part Of Test

Hence these issues will provide the test:

1. An anticipated Administration request for an emergency appropriation of between $200,000,000 and $400,000,000 to help feed Europe's hungry after UNRRA expires December 31.

2. President Truman's announced intention to seek "liberalization" of United States immigration laws to provide for the admission of some of Europe's homeless refugees.

Also in the field of foreign issues confronting the new Congress are the five Balkan peace treaties, but Senate ratification only is required for them.

Jobless Rise May Be Factor

Mr. Truman's decision to ask Congress to lower the immigration bars temporarily was regarded on Capitol Hill as a 50-50 gamble. Representative Sabath (D., Ill.) has drafted a bill to lump the admission quotas for the fiscal years 1947 and 1948 and permit their immediate use so that political refugees would be given preferential treatment.

Some lawmakers say there is a strong possibility that such a measure, if it gets as far as the House floor, would be completely rewritten there to wipe out even present immigration quotas indefinitely. They add that this possibility would become probability in the event any substantial number of workers were unemployed at the time the legislation was pending.

Might Cause Open Debate

Supporters of the relief appropriation, while confident of ultimate approval, privately acknowledge fear that an attempt will be made to specify just where and how the money should be spent.

To some degree, this would constitute an extension of State Department policy calling for each contributing country to control its relief allocations rather than leaving the decision to an international agency like UNRRA.

But such an extension would shift the final say on United States relief from the Administration to Congress and inevitably provoke open debate on foreign policy issues which American diplomatic chiefs would prefer to settle quietly.

Test Of Senators On Treaties Due

Washington, Dec. 20 (AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes is reported ready today for an early test of the new Republican-controlled Senate's attitude on international affairs with a request for action on four peace treaties with Axis satellites.

Byrnes has advised interested senators he wants to place the pacts with Italy, Bulgaria, Romania and Hungary before the Foreign Relations Committee shortly after they are formally signed February 1. A fifth Allied treaty—with Finland—has been drafted but will not come before the Senate for consideration. The United States was not at war with Finland and had no voice in the treaty terms.

Wants Early Action

While he is expected to ask speedy consideration in an attempt to clear this hurdle before the March 10 meeting of Foreign Ministers in Moscow, there are indications that some Republicans will want to go deeply into the whole matter of treaty negotiations.

Because it normally takes several weeks for Senate committees to process an important matter of this kind, Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.) has told friends it will probably be impossible for him to accompany Byrnes to the opening of the Moscow meeting.

The Michigan Senator apparently feels that he and Senator Connally (D., Texas), both of whom have served as Byrnes's advisers at past Foreign Ministers' discussions, cannot leave until the Senate acts finally. Vandenberg is slated to succeed Connally as Foreign Relations chairman January 3.

Wants Aides In Moscow

Byrnes's hope for quick action on the treaties is reportedly based, in part, on his desire to have the two senators with him in Moscow.

But the underlying urge for speed is represented as stemming from the treaties' terms calling for the withdrawal of occupation forces in some of the countries involved.

Russia promised to get her troops out of Bulgaria and to withdraw all but communications garrisons from Romania and Hungary 90 days after the treaties are ratified by the four major powers and put into effect by the former enemy nations.

House May Sift U.S. Lending At Home, Abroad

Back Into The Red

Washington, Dec. 20 (AP)—Government operations for this fiscal year went back into the familiar red today after one day in the black.

A $496,231,606 interest payment on the $259,097,000,000 national debt sent expenditures so much higher than receipts on the Treasury's latest daily report—December 18—that the previous day's surplus of $176,965,000 was turned into a deficit of $69,445,000.

Washington, Dec. 20 (AP)—Representative Wolcott, the Michigan Republican who next month becomes chairman of the House Banking Committee, announced plans today for a thorough investigation into this country's lending operations "with a view to retrenchment."

Wolcott said both foreign and domestic loan issues would be covered by the inquiry.

Referring specifically to foreign loans, Wolcott said:

"It is essential now that we pull in our horns, as a means of stabilizing our own economy. Economies of other nations are tied to ours. A stabilized American economy is more important than loans to other countries."

Points To Russ Request

As for Russia's pending request for a $1,000,000,000 American loan, Wolcott stressed that the Soviet Union failed to join in the operations of the World Bank and Monetary Fund established under the Bretton Woods agreements, adding:

"I believe that Russia has not joined because when she does she must reveal her true economic condition, which is thought to be so weak as to cause her embarrassment."

The last Congress adjourned without providing the Government's Export-Import Bank with sufficient funds to extend any credit to Russia.

"No One Knows Limits"

Wolcott estimated the Government now has about $25,000,000,000 in loans outstanding—to foreign governments, industries, farmers, home owners and for other purposes—and he said: "The Federal loaning operations have gone so far afield that no one knows their limits."

However, there is one area of operation by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, largest of the lending agencies, which Wolcott said probably will not be restricted.

That is RFC's acquisition of strategic and scarce materials, particularly such defense—vital metals as tin, lead, zinc and copper.

SOVIET BAN ON U. S. FILMS IS ASSAILED

Washington, Dec. 19 (A. P.).—Representative Walter (D.-Pa.) demanded today that Russia permit American documentary films to be shown there if Soviet movies are to continue to be displayed in this country.

He raised the issue in the House Committee on Postwar Economic Policy and Planning after State Department officials disclosed that the United States has sought without success to have Russia remove a restriction against displaying official films portraying life in America.

The only requirement imposed by this country on Russia's movies is that they be registered, the committee was told by John Begg, chief of the State Department's motion picture section.

Walter termed the Russian films "propaganda pure and simple," and contended that the department should make reciprocity a condition to continuance of the Russian right to send pictures here.

Greek Premier Sees Truman

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes attended a conference today between the President and Premier Constantine Tsaldaris of Greece, who came here from New York for a visit as a guest of the State Department.

Rome Premier Plans Visit To Washington

Washington, Dec. 20 (AP)—Alcide de Gasperi, Italian Premier, will come here next month to discuss "renewal of normal commercial relations" and other matters.

A projected $100,000,000 loan to Italy is expected to be high on the list.

The State Department, announcing the forthcoming visit tonight, said de Gasperi is expected to leave Rome January 3 and arrive here January 5.

The trip is at the invitation of this Government.

Yachts in War Get Pennants

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 20 (AP)—A pennant for yacht owners who donated their craft for patrol and police purposes during the war was announced today by Vice Admiral James L. Kauffman, commandant of the Fourth Naval District. Eligible owners in Pennsylvania, Delaware and New Jersey will receive certificates from the naval district entitling them to obtain the pennants, which are not issued by the Navy.

Last Of War Prisoners Soon To Leave Canada

Ottawa, Dec. 20 (AP)—Arthur MacNamara, Deputy Minister of Labor, announced today that "all prisoners of war now in Canada will have been returned to Europe by the end of the month."

About 2,200 Germans are affected. Most of them have been engaged in farm work in western Canada. The prisoners held in Canada once totaled 35,000.

Submit Winiewicz as Envoy

Poland Sends His Name to U. S. For Approval

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP).—Poland's new Ambassador to the United States probably will be Jozef Winiewicz, whose name has been submitted to the State Department for approval.

The Polish Embassy said today that a note asking whether the appointment is agreeable to the American government was delivered to the department several days ago. The United States is expected to accept Mr. Winiewicz as Ambassador soon.

Mr. Winiewicz has been minister counselor at the Polish Embassy in London. In recent weeks he has been a member of the Polish delegation to the United Nations Assembly meeting in New York. The present Ambassador, Oscar Lange, will devote his full time in the future to representing Poland on the United Nations Security Council.

MOSCOW, DEC. 20-(AP)-THE RUSSIAN NAVY NEWSPAPER RED FLEET SAID TODAY THAT THE UNITED NATIONS GENERAL ASSEMBLY SESSION IN NEW YORK "ACHIEVED SUBSTANTIAL SUCCESSES, STRENGTHENED ITS INFLUENCE IN THE WORLD CONSIDERABLY AND DE-ELECTRIFIED THE INTERNATIONAL ATMOSPHERE."

WHILE DECLARING THAT THE UNITED NATIONS' "MAIN ACHIEVEMENT" WAS ITS RESOLUTION FOR REGULATING AND REDUCING ARMAMENTS, RED FLEET ALSO COMMENDED RESOLUTIONS CENSURING THE FRANCO REGIME IN SPAIN AND RACIAL DISCRIMINATION AGAINST HINDUS IN SOUTH AFRICA.

IT CRITICIZED THE TRUSTEESHIP AGREEMENTS APPROVED BY THE ASSEMBLY-ESPECIALLY THE CLAUSES GIVING THE TRUSTEE POWERS THE RIGHT TO MAINTAIN MILITARY BASES IN THE AREAS UNDER TRUSTEESHIP--AS WELL AS THE ASSEMBLY'S DECISION TO SET UP AN INTERNATIONAL REFUGEE ORGANIZATION.

SUCH A REFUGEE ORGANIZATION, RED FLEET SAID, "DOES NOT GUARANTEE THE CESSATION OF CRIMINAL ACTIVITIES OF FASCISTS AMONG REFUGEES AND DISPLACED PERSONS."

NUERNBERG, GERMANY, DEC.20-(AP)-FIELD MARSHAL ERHARD MILCH, WHO WAS DEPUTY CHIEF OF THE NAZI AIR FORCE, PLEADED INNOCENT BEFORE AN ALL-AMERICAN WAR CRIMES COURT TODAY TO CHARGES LINKING HIM WITH THE MURDER OF MILLIONS OF EUROPEANS.

THE SHORT, 53-YEAR-OLD RIGHT HAND MAN OF HERMANN GOERING ANSWERED "NOT GUILTY" IN A LOUD, FIRM VOICE TO THE SIX-PAGE INDICTMENT SIGNED BY BRIG. GEN. TELFORD TAYLOR, CHIEF AMERICAN PROSECUTOR.

MILCH'S TRIAL WAS THEN ADJOURNED UNTIL JAN. 2.

SITTING TO DECIDE THE CASE WERE PRESIDING JUDGE ROBERT M. TOMS OF THE THIRD JUDICIAL CIRCUIT COURT OF MICHIGAN, JUDGE F. DONAL PHILLIPS OF THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE 13TH JUDICIAL DISTRICT OF NORTH CAROLINA AND JUDGE MICHAEL A. MUSMANNO OF THE COURT OF COMMON PLEAS AT PITTSBURGH. ALSO ON THE BENCH WAS AN ALTERNATE, JUDGE JOHN J. SPEICHT, SPECIAL ATTORNEY OF THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE AT MONTGOMERY, ALA.

THE INDICTMENT CHARGED THAT MILCH, INSPECTOR GENERAL OF THE AIR FORCE AND A MEMBER OF THE CENTRAL NAZI PLANNING BOARD, WAS CONNECTED WITH "PLANS AND ENTERPRISES" INVOLVING SLAVE LABOR.

MILCH, IT WAS CHARGED, UTILIZED SLAVE LABOR IN THE AIRCRAFT PLANTS TURNING OUT MILITARY PLANES AND GAVE ORDERS FOR THE MURDER OF PRISONERS OF WAR. HE ALSO WAS SAID TO HAVE HAD A HAND IN PLANNING MEDICAL EXPERIMENTS ON HELPLESS VICTIMS, FOR WHICH CRIMES 23 NAZI DOCTORS NOW ARE ON TRIAL IN NUERNBERG.

A SUBCOMMITTEE OF THE POLITICAL COMMISSION WAS PREPARED TO DRAFT RESOLUTIONS ON THE MAJOR ISSUES--WHETHER THE CONGRESS SHOULD BE REPRESENTED AT THE PALESTINE CONFERENCE ON LONDON IN JANUARY AND WHETHER TO CONSIDER PARTITION OF PALESTINE INTO AN ARAB-JEWISH STATE

SOURCES WHO HAVE ATTENDED COMMITTEE MEETINGS SAID DR. CHAIM WEIZMANN OF LONDON, PRESIDENT OF THE WORLD ZIONIST ORGANIZATION, INSISTED UPON A RESOLUTION CALLING FOR CONTINUED NEGOTIATION WITH BRITAIN AND THAT WEIZMANN WOULD NOT SEEK REELECTION IF HIS VIEW WAS REJECTED.

SOME OF WEIZMANN'S OPPONENTS WERE ARGUING THAT A LEADER SUCH AS RABBI A.H.SILVER OF CLEVELAND, WHO IS SCEPTICAL OF THE RESULTS OF THE LONDON CONFERENCE, SHOULD BE ELECTED.

AMERICAN ZIONISTS, WHO CONTRIBUTE ABOUT TWO-THIRDS OF THE WORLD BUDGET, WERE DEMANDING A GREATER VOICE IN ZIONIST AFFAIRS.

UNITED REVISIONIST PARTY OF THE WORLD ZIONIST CONGRESS ANNOUNCED TODAY THAT WILLIAM B. ZIFF, CHICAGO PUBLISHER AND AUTHOR, HAD BEEN OUSTED FROM PARTY MEMBERSHIP "FOR BREACH OF DISCIPLINE AND FOR PUBLICATION OF STATEMENTS WITHOUT THE KNOWLEDGE OF THE LEADERSHIP OF THE PARTY."

ZIFF, TOLD A NEWS CONFERENCE YESTERDAY THAT ZIONIST POLICIES WERE NOT DRASTIC ENOUGH TO SOLVE THE PALESTINE PROBLEM AND ADDED THAT IF THE PRESENT JEWISH AGENCY EXECUTIVE WERE REELECTED AND COLLABORATED IN THE PARTITION OF PALESTINE, "IT WOULD BE A SIGNAL FOR CIVIL WAR."

THE PUBLISHER ALSO BRANDED AS "FULL OF STUFF AND NONSENSE" A LETTER WHICH HE MADE PUBLIC FROM FORMER U.S. SEN. GUY M.GILLETTE OF IOWA TO DR. THE CHICAGOAN ESTIMATED THAT RESISTANCE FORCES IN PALESTINE TOTALED 20,000 PERSONS "HEADED BY MEN WITH THE TRUE MILITARY GENIUS AND WITH A WELL-ORGANIZED INTELLIGENCE."

THE REVISIONIST PARTY'S ANNOUNCEMENT OF EXPULSION ASSERTED THAT ZIFF HAD MADE STATEMENTS FOR WHICH "THE LEADERSHIP TAKES NO RESPONSIBILITY."

THE ANNOUNCEMENT SAID THAT SINCE THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE WAS A WORLD BODY, INCLUDING THE MAJORITY OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE AMERICAN REVISIONISTS, THE GROUP HAD THE POWER NOT ONLY TO DISACCREDIT ZIFF AS A DELEGATE TO THE CONGRESS, BUT ALSO TO EXPEL HIM FROM THE AMERICAN PARTY.

BUCHAREST, DEC. 19-(DELAYED)-(AP)-JEWISH LEADERS CHARGED AT A PRESS CONFERENCE TODAY THAT ANTI-SEMITIC VIOLENCE WAS AGAIN FLARING IN ROMANIA. LEADERS WHO SAID THEY REPRESENTED ABOUT TWO-THIRDS OF ROMANIAN JEWRY TOLD NEWSMEN THAT USE OF ANTI-SEMITISM IN ELECTION CAMPAIGNING BY JULIU MANIU'S NATIONAL PEASANT PARTY CAUSED OUTBURSTS CULMINATING IN ATTACKS AGAINST JEWISH SYNAGOGUES, HOMES AND PEOPLE. 1946

(THE NATIONAL PEASANT PARTY WAS AMONG OPPOSITION ORGANIZATIONS DEFEATED BY PREMIER PETRU GROZA'S COMMUNIST-DOMINATED GOVERNMENT BLOC IN THE PARLIAMENTARY ELECTIONS A MONTH AGO.)

A PROTEST SIGNED BY 80,000 JEWS WAS REPORTED SENT TO PRESIDENT TRUMAN, PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE AND PRIME MINISTER STALIN.

SPEAKERS SAID THE PRESENT GOVERNMENT FAILED TO ENACT SATISFACTORY LEGISLATION FOR THE RETURN OF CONFISCATED JEWISH PROPERTY AND ATTRIBUTED THIS TO "THE ANTI-SEMITIC ATMOSPHERE CAUSED BY THE OPPOSITION."

THE SPEAKERS SAID THE GOVERNMENT HAD FAILED ALSO TO BRING TO TRIAL THOSE RESPONSIBLE FOR SEVERAL MASSACRES SUCH AS THE IASI MASSACRE OF 1941, IN WHICH MORE THAN 5,000 JEWS WERE KILLED.

PRETORIA, SOUTH AFRICA, DEC. 20-(AP)-PRIME MINISTER JAN CHRISTIAAN SMUTS SAID TODAY THAT THE UNITED NATIONS ASSEMBLY IN NEW YORK WAS A PARLIAMENT OF MAN IN THAT THE COLORED RACES REPRESENTED OUTNUMBERED THE WHITE PEOPLES.

ONE IDEA, THAT OF EQUALITY, DOMINATED THE VIEWPOINT OF THE GREAT MAJORITY IN THE U.N. MEETING, SMUTS SAID AT A RECEPTION, ADDING:

"THAT IS ONE OF THE PROBLEMS THAT WE SHALL HAVE TO FACE IN THE WORLD, NOT ONLY HERE BUT IN THE WHOLE EUROPEAN-OPINION WORLD. WE ARE ONLY THE SPEARPOINT AT THE MOMENT. WE ARE ONLY THE POINT OF ATTACK."

HE SAID THAT THE U.N. ENDORSEMENT OF THE INDIAN COMPLAINT OF RACIAL DISCRIMINATION AGAINST ASIATICS IN THE UNION OF SOUTH AFRICA WAS AN INDICATION THAT "PEOPLE ARE BEGINNING TO SEE SOMETHING NEW IS HAPPENING."

(ADVANCE FOR AMS SATURDAY DEC. 21--EDITORS, NOTE DATE)
(ADVANCE)-WASHINGTON,DEC 20-(AP)-THE ARMY DISCLOSED TONIGHT PLANS FOR MAKING ITS INFANTRY DIVISIONS "UNPARALLELED FIGHTING MACHINES" WITH LIGHTNING MOBILITY AND MORE THAN THREE TIMES THE GUNFIRE OF EXISTING UNITS.

AT THE SAME TIME, IT ANNOUNCED A CORRESPONDING STRENGTHENING OF THE OTHER MAJOR GROUND COMBAT COMPONENT, THE ARMORED DIVISION.

THE REORGANIZATION, WHICH GEN.JACOB L.DEVERS, ARMY GROUND FORCE CHIEF SAID IN A STATEMENT "TAKES INTO ACCOUNT LESSONS LEARNED IN WORLD WAR II AND WHICH LOOKS FORWARD TO THE ATOMIC AGE," WILL DO THIS TO THE INFANTRY DIVISIONS:

PROVIDE A WARTIME STRENGTH OF BETWEEN 17,000 AND 18,000 MEN, AN INCREASE IN MANPOWER OF ABOUT 20 PERCENT, PRODUCE A 200 ERCENT INCREASE IN THE NUMBER OF WEAPONS OF VA RIOUS CATEGORIES WITH A 250 PERCENT INCREASE IN FIREPOWER DUE TO IMPROVED AUTOMATIC AND OTHER CHARACTERISTICS.

INSTEAD OF MERELY ATTACHING ELEMENTS SUCH AS ARMOR ONLY WHEN NEEDED IN THE FIELD, (AS WAS DONE IN WORLD WAR II) PROVIDE THE INFANTRY WITH AN ORGANIC TANK BATTALION AND ANTIAIRCRAFT BATTALION. THE DIVISION WILL HAVE SIX COMPANIES OF M-26 TANKS MOUNTING 90 MILLIMETER GUNS. DIVISION ARTILLERY WILL INCLUDE FIFTY-FOUR 105 HOWITZERS AND EIGHTEEN 155 HOWITZERS. THE DIVISION'S ARMAMENT WILL INCLUDE MORE OF THE VALUABLE RECOILLESS GUNS, FORTY-TWO 75 MILLIMETERS AND EIGHTY-ONE 57 MILLIMETER RECOILESS RIFLES.

THE NEW ARMORED DIVISION WILL BE INCREASED IN MANPOWER--ABOUT 15,000 MEN COMPARED WITH THE TEN TO 14,000 IN THE WAR. BUT THE SIGNIFICANT FEATURE WILL BE THE STRENGTH IN TANKS--325 MEDIUMS, WITH A BATTALION OF HEAVY TANKS WHEN THEY BECOME AVAILABLE. DETAILS ON THE FINAL NUMBER OF WEAPONS AND EXACT TYPES OF ARMAMENT REMAIN TO BE WORKED OUT.

WORLD WAR II EXPERIENCE HAS RESULTED IN ELIMINATION OF TWO ITEMS FAMILIAR TO GI'S--THE TANK DESTROYER AND THE ARMORED CAR. HENCEFORTH, OFFICIALS SAID, ENEMY TANKS WILL BE CHALLENGED BY TANKS INSTEAD OF THE TANK-DESTROYER WHICH HAD FIREPOWER BUT LACKED ARMOR. THE PLACE OF THE ARMORED CAR FOR FAST RECONNAISSANCE WILL BE TAKEN BY LIGHT TANKS.

A GENERAL IMPROVEMENT IN TYPE AND INCREASE IN USE OF VEHICLES WILL GREATLY ACCELERATE THE MOBILITY OF THE INFANTRY DIVISION, BUT DEVERS SAID THAT THE EVENTUAL GOAL OF ARMY GROUND FORCES IS TO MAKE THE INFANTRY DIVISION COMPLETELY "TRANSPORTABLE" BY AIRPLANES. IT WAS

30.24 - 7041

EXPLAINED THAT THIS SHOULD NOT BE CONFUSED WITH THE AIRBORNE DIVISION. THE AIR TRANSPORTABLE DIVISION WILL BE PUT INTO ACTION BY PLANES WHEN A BASE IS SECURED. THE SECURING OF "AIRHEADS" WILL BE THE MISSION OF AIRBORNE TROOPS, LANDING EITHER BY PARACHUTE OR GLIDER.

A38WX

"THE INFANTRY DIVISION OF THE FUTURE," SAID THE GENERAL, "WILL NOT BE MERELY AMPHIBIOUS, STRIKING THE ENEMY BY LAND OR SEA. IT WILL BE TRIPHIBIOUS, CAPABLE OF SWIFT MECHANIZED MOVEMENT BY LAND, SEA AND AIR."

THE TASK OF TRANSPORTING A 17,000-MAN INFANTRY DIVISION, TOGETHER WITH ITS EQUIPMENT AND ARMOR, WILL BE TREMENDOUS. EXPERTS ESTIMATED IT MIGHT REQUIRE ABOUT 400 "VERY LARGE" TRANSPORTS OF A TYPE STILL IN THE EXPERIMENTAL STAGE. TO MOVE A DIVISION WITH EXISTING TYPE TRANSPORTS WOULD REQUIRE ABOUT 1,500 AIRCRAFT, IT WAS ESTIMATED.

DEVERS REITERATED THE ARMY'S CONTENTION THAT THE ADVENT OF ATOMIC BOMBS AND ROCKETS WILL NOT LESSEN THE NEED FOR GROUND FORCES, RECALLING THAT V-WEAPON ATTACKS ON ENGLAND DID NOT CEASE UNTIL ALLIED GROUND ARMIES HAD OVERRUN THE LAUNCHING SITES.

"IN ANY FUTURE WAR," HE ADDED, "THE MISSION OF OUR GROUND FORCES WOULD BE THE SAME. ATTACKS UPON THE CIVILIAN POPULATION OF THE UNITED STATES ITSELF WOULD NOT CEASE UNTIL OUR ARMY'S GROUND FORCES--INFANTRY, ARMORED CAVALRY AND ARTILLERY--DESCENDED UPON THE ENEMY'S AIRFIELDS, LAUNCHING SITES, DEPOTS AND FACTORIES TO SEIZE OR DESTROY THEM."

(ADVANCE) WASHINGTON,DEC.20-(AP)-ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF WAR HOWARD C.PETERSEN SAID TONIGHT THE POLICY OF THE UNITED STATES IS TO ENCOURAGE--BUT NOT FORCE--DISPLACED PERSONS IN THE AMERICAN ZONE OF GERMANY TO RETURN TO THEIR HOMELANDS.

IN A DISCUSSION PREPARED FOR A RADIO INTERVIEW (NBC), PETERSEN SAID THAT JEWS MAKE UP ONLY ABOUT 25 PERCENT OF THE 550,000 DISPLACED PERSONS IN THE AMERICAN ZONE AND ABOUT 70,000 IN AUSTRIA. A SIMILAR NUMBER OF POLES ARE IN THE AMERICAN ZONE, HE SAID.

"A GREAT MANY OF THE POLES," SAID PETERSEN, "WERE HERDED INTO WORK IN GERMAN FACTORIES DURING THE WAR. MANY HAD HOMES IN THE PART OF POLAND CEDED TO SOVIET RUSSIA AND SOME OF THESE DON'T FEEL THEY CAN GO BACK. MANY OF THE BALTS DON'T WANT TO LIVE UNDER THE RULE OF RUSSIA AND THEIR COUNTRIES ARE GONE. MANY OF THE YUGOSLAVS WE HAVE IN OUR ZONE ARE NOW POLITICAL REFUGEES (FROM THE TITO GOVERNMENT)."

ASKED ABOUT THE MEADER REPORT TO THE SENATE WAR INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE WHICH CITED STATEMENTS THAT THE EXODUS OF JEWS FROM POLAND WAS ORGANIZED AND PAID FOR BY JEWISH GROUPS IN OTHER LANDS, PETERSON REPLIED:

"JEWS IN POLAND ARE GOING TO LEAVE POLAND ARE GOING TO LEAVE POLAND REGARDLESS OF OUTSIDE ASSISTANCE. THEY WANT TO GET OUT OF EUROPE, TO GO TO PALESTINE. IN THEIR MIGRATION THEY RECEIVE HELP ALONG THE WAY, HUMANE TREATMENT BY VOLUNTARY JEWISH AGENCIES WHICH ARE DOING FINE WORK. BUT THE HELP THEY ARE GIVEN DOESN'T START THE MOVEMENT. I DON'T THINK COFFEE AND DOUGHNUTS AND WAYSIDE SOUP KITCHENS EVER STARTED A MASS MIGRATION."

Austin Company Promised Coal

London, Dec. 21 (AP)—Laborite M.P. Raymond Blackburn announced tonight that he had received assurances from the Ministry of Fuel and power that coal needed for continued operations at the Austin Motor Car Company works in Birmingham would be provided next week.

The Austin company announced last night that it would be forced to close "indefinitely" on Tuesday for lack of fuel, but the ministry quickly reported that it had "measures in hand" to meet the situation.

NIGHT

"I am satisfied from inquiries I have made that the trouble has been in relation to distribution, owing to a shortage of wagons (freight cars) and, also, owing to the fog," Blackburn said. (Three days of dense fog disrupted much of Britain's transport recently.)

The possible Austin shutdown, which would mean idleness for 17,000 workers, was regarded by some forecasters as the first of a series of industrial suspensions forced by the coal shortage.

plies after an announcement by the Austin Motor Car Company that it would be forced to close because of the fuel shortage.

DAY

Although some gloomy forecasters said that 1,000,000 men might be out of jobs this winter, the Ministry of Fuel forecast: "If every firm practices economy in fuel consumption there is no reason why there should be a complete stoppage."

Hugh Gaitskell, Under-Secretary of the Fuel Industry, said that Britain's export trade would suffer a serious blow if the plant closed on Tuesday. He pointed out that the factory produces more than 1,000 cars a week, half of which are earmarked for export.

Austin officials estimated they would have only 770 tons of coal on hand after Christmas, and that they needed 1,800 tons a week to operate. The plant has 17,000 workers.

R. A. M. Dimond, regional fuel officer in the Midland area, said that 1,000 tons of coal weekly for the Austin Company "must be found from other consumers."

Sir Miles Thomas, the executive vice-president of the large Nuffield Automobile Company, said that his company had saved out enough fuel to "see us through without any dramatic shutdown."

The Leyland Motors Foundry at Farrington closed because of lack of coke.

Five-day Week Asked.

City officials in Birmingham, in an effort to stave off other possible shutdowns in the vital industrial Midlands, asked all factories there to institute a five-day week on a staggered-hours basis to spread dwindling coal stocks.

The gravity of the situation was emphasized by Arthur Horner, general secretary of the Union of Mine Workers, who warned that 1,000,000 workers would be thrown out of their jobs for every 5,000,000 tons of coal needed by industry but not produced this winter.

The threat of Britain's first major industrial shutdown came as the Government was preparing to make nationalization of coal mines effective on January 1.

Adding to the Government's problems was the immediate threat by workers to close all power stations in London by December 31 unless steps were taken to give them a raise of 10 cents an hour, a forty-hour week and improved working conditions.

EUROPE SHIVERING AMID COLD WAVE

1946

London, Dec. 21 (A. P.).—Bitter cold brought suffering to Europe's homeless today and slowed the movement of food to the hungry. Temperatures sank to zero in Germany, 5 above in northern France and 10 above in Belgium. It was 13 in England.

On the Mediterranean, subfreezing weather gripped Nice, France, and Turin, Italy. Torrential rains swept Italy, washing out two bridges near Taranto and tying up traffic for an expected five days.

In Germany, sheet ice on the Rhine forced bargeloads of coal, grain and potatoes onto already overloaded railroads. The freezing of a canal stopped potato imports from the Russian to the British zone. Ice on roads slowed trucks.

DAY

Officials expressed a fear of a food-distribution crisis and said that Westphalian and Rhenish flour mills might have to close for lack of coal, but there were bright spots. The British and French went skating and Parisians toasted the Food Ministry, which recently de-rationed rum and lemons—resulting in the sale of hot grog at 50 cents a glass.

Atom Curb Job Pushed

1. truck

New York, Dec. 21 (AP)—United Nations delegates attempting to shape an atomic energy program to control the bomb pushed on into the holiday period today in efforts to reach an agreement by January 1.

While other United Nations branches remain dormant until the end of the year, the work of the Atomic Energy Commission will be interrupted only for Christmas Day itself.

NIGHT

On the heels of yesterday's approval in principle of an American control plan, members of the commission's political committee held a long session today on a final report on safeguards. Indications were that the informal meetings would run up to Christmas Eve.

The safeguards document, drafted after weeks of conferences by scientists and diplomats of twelve nations, must be ready for the formal committee meeting December 26.

The following day the commission's working committee will begin its major task of wrapping the United States plan, the safeguards report and the General Assembly resolution on arms slashing into one package. This final product will go to the full commission December 30 and thence to the parent Security Council on New Year's Eve.

No Mention Of Veto

Meanwhile, delegates disagreed over whether in yesterday's vote they had approved a United States proposal to eliminate the big power veto on punishment for violators of any control plan.

This was a major point in the program put forth by Bernard M. Baruch, American delegate, and accepted in principle by the full commission. However, spokesmen for the Canadian delegation, which sponsored the final draft, emphasized that the approved version stipulated that the wording of the United States plan be made to conform with the Assembly's arms resolution.

The Assembly document made

no mention of the veto, and said that control of atomic energy would be within the framework of the Security Council where the veto applies.

Question Near Decisive Stage

Vyacheslav M. Molotov, Soviet Foreign Minister, declared in the Assembly debate that Russia would agree to an international control and inspections system free of the veto, but insisted that enforcement measures be kept under the veto-conscious Security Council.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, gave no new clue in yesterday's debate when he refused to discuss the substance of the American proposal and even refused to vote on it.

It was apparent as the whole question neared a decisive stage that any final plan would have to draw Russian support, since that country could veto anything else in the Security Council which must finally approve the commission prog-

U. N. DELEGATES ARGUE EFFECT OF ATOM VOTE

Amendment Passed Despite Russian Stand May Permit Veto Use

New York, Dec. 21 —(AP)— Delegates to the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission disagreed today over whether they had approved a United States proposal to eliminate the big power veto on punishment for violation of atomic energy control.

This was a major point in the American atomic control plan which was approved "in principle" yesterday by the commission and it appeared at first that the controversial issue had been decided finally—although without the approval of Soviet Russia.

Members of the U. S. delegation hailed the commission's action as a complete victory for Bernard M. Baruch, 76-year-old sponsor of the American proposals, but it became clear today that the question of the veto on punishment as well as some other points in the Baruch plan still faced a bitter fight.

Condition Included

A spokesman for Canadian delegate Gen. Andrew G. L. McNaughton, sponsor of the compromise which the commission finally adopted, emphasized that the Canadian proposal laid down an important condition, which should not be overlooked.

This was the stipulation that the wording of the Baruch resolution must be made to conform to phraseology of the resolution which the General Assembly passed last week outlining a program for world arms reduction.

It was recalled that the Assembly's resolution recommended that enforcement of arms limitation regulations, including the control of atomic energy, be placed within the framework of the Security Council, where the veto applies. The resolution omitted any reference to the veto.

While members of the U. S. delegation contended that this omission did not prevent the Security Council from agreeing not to use the veto on atomic matters, it was pointed out that the Assembly had rejected several attempts to write in provisions on the veto.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov declared during the Assembly debate that Russia would agree to an international control and inspection system free of the veto, but he insisted that enforcement must be kept under the Security Council.

There was no indication that Russia's firm opposition to any limitation of her veto rights had changed.

Russia Fails To Vote

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate on the Atomic Commission, did not express his views on the provisions of the Baruch plan since he insisted he was not ready to discuss the substance of the resolution and would not even take part in the voting.

He demanded that the Baruch measure be submitted to a "searching analysis" to ascertain "whether it corresponds to the resolution adopted by the General Assembly."

HEAVY GUERRILLA FIGHTING RAGES IN NORTH INDOCHINA

French Troops Battle Natives in Many Major Cities and Towns.

PARIS IS ALARMED

French Mission Delayed by Fog in Flight to Scene of Hostilities.

PARIS, Dec. 21—(AP) Full scale guerrilla warfare raged today in major cities and towns of northern Indochina as French troops battled the Viet-Namese in bloody street fighting that reached its greatest intensity in the flaming native quarter of H-

NIGHT

The once quiet tree-shaded avenues of Hanoi, capital of the Annamite republic of Viet Nam, were cut by barricades and trenches. Many houses in the Viet-Namese section were burning. Rifle firing and the clatter of patrolling French armor and planes were continuous.

Pledges Fierce Resistance

In Paris, a Viet Nam spokesman, M. Maio, told the newspaper France-Soir, "if the hostilities continue, Indo-China is lost."

"We will destroy everything and we will die," he continued fiercely. "There will be a permanent state of war."

If Viet Nam did not get satisfaction from a first hand government investigation of the situation, he declared, an appeal will be taken to the United Nations and meanwhile the Vietnamese will fight.

A French communique tonight describing the situation 12 hours earlier gave a picture of continuing street battles and widespread fighting after two nights and days of terror in which several cases of the murder and kidnapping of Europeans were reported in Hanoi dispatches.

The communique from Saigon said Viet-Namese snipers were still firing from housetops in Hanoi and that their forces, aided by native "tu-ye" militiamen, still held the postoffice building. Earlier the French regained a hospital.

The Viet-Namese were hurling "violent attacks" against the French forces at Bac Ninh and at Phulangthoung, about 30 miles north of Hanoi, but the French command still had the situation "in hand," the communique added. Fighting also as continuing inside Namdinh, 50 miles south of Hanoi.

Marius Moutet, France's minister of overseas territory, postponed until tomorrow night his scheduled departure for Saigon as fog closed in over Paris, grounding the plane that was to carry him and other members of his mission to the scene of the fighting.

He had promised to be back in Paris within two weeks to give the National Assembly a first-hand report on the situation, thus deferring a full-dress parliamentary debate on Indochina, a subject intertwined with France's financial and political crisis.

Blum Worried

Premier Leon Blum, obviously worried, told a party group the government did not possess all the information which had appeared in the newspapers, and he hoped the situation was not as serious as it was being painted.

Shortly afterward however, the first communique of the French high command from Saigon underscored the accuracy of the first press dispatches.

The first communique said French troops, suffering heavy losses, had advanced in two sectors of northern Indochina but lost a small garrison at Vinh, 155 miles south of Hanoi and on the coastal rail line leading to Saigon. The small French detachment at Vinh capitulated when presented by an ultimatum by the Viet-Namese, but only after demanding and receiving guarantees for protection of French lives and property, the communique said.

Unofficial estimates said Viet-Namese forces numbered 30,000, but it was pointed out that this could be swelled by thousands of natives. Under terms of the Viet-Nam agreement with France they were permitted 10,000 troops.

A neutral source in Paris said French forces in Indo-China probably number 65,000. They were believed to have between 10,000 and 15,000 in the north, confined chiefly to main cities and towns. They were well equipped with British, French and American material, including light armor. A French squadron of Spitfires has been operating in Tonkin.

In Cochin-China, in the south, where all is still quiet, the estimates of French troops ran from 40,000 to 50,000.

FRENCH SUFFER HEAVY LOSSES IN INDO-CHINA

Troops Advancing in Two Sectors After Small Garrison Is Taken.

CONTINUOUS SNIPING GOING ON

Control of Airfield Is Retained and Hospital at Hanoi Is Reoccupied.

Paris, Dec. 21 (A. P.).—French troops suffered heavy casualties in advancing in two sectors of northern Indo-China today, and lost a small garrison at Vinh to Viet-Nam forces, the French general staff at Saigon announced today in a communique reported by the semi-official French press agency. The general staff said that French troops, braving continuous sniping from surrounding rooftops, had reoccupied the Lanessan hospital at Hanoi, Viet-Nam capital.

At Tourane, the communique said, the French garrison was suddenly attacked yesterday morning by Viet-Nam forces. Severe losses were suffered by both sides, the announcement said, but the French maintained control of the Tourane airfield, and proceeded to mop up the surrounding areas.

Tourane was cleaned up in the afternoon, the communique said. At Vinh, the small French detachment capitulated under an ultimatum presented yesterday by the local Viet-Nam commander, the announcement reported.

Surrender Terms.

It said that the garrison was too small to protect French civilians in the area, and that the Viet-Namese promised under the surrender terms, that the lives and property of the French nationals would be spared. Three French male nurses were killed and two others wounded by sniper fire at the Hanoi Hospital.

"In all places of Tonkin and Annam, operations for the relief of besieged localities were carried out normally," the communique said. A delayed Associated Press dispatch from Hanoi said that French Spitfires machine-gunned some positions yesterday, and that street fighting and the mopping up of buildings held by the Viet-Namese was continuing.

Viet-Namese forces held their army barracks last night, the dispatch said. Several cases have been reported of the murder and kidnaping of Europeans, the dispatch said. The power station was bombed and heavily damaged.

The press agency said that French armored troops, after all-night street fighting, held full possession of Hanoi, and were mopping up isolated Viet-Nam bands.

French forces were reported to have been in control since yesterday morning of the Municipal Theater, seat of the republic's Legislative Assembly, and the palace of Republican President Ho Chi Minh, said to have fled Thursday with his Defense Minister, Vonguyen Giat, and others.

Proclaims Martial Law.

Gen. Louis Morliere, French commander in Tonkin State, of which Hanoi is the center, proclaimed martial law yesterday, dispatches said, with the charge that the Viet Minh (Independence party) had started the hostilities and the report that the "Viet Minh Government" had fled.

A Saigon communique from the office of the French High Commissioner to Indo-China said that Viet Namese forces had cut electric power and the telephone lines in Hanoi and attacked the city at 8 P. M., Thursday night.

The Annamese section of Hanoi at one time was reported burning. Jean Sainteney, French Commissioner to Tonkin State, was wounded by hand grenades thrown into his home, the Government said.

French reports also told of attacks on French garrisons at Bacninh, Haiduong and Phulangthuong, all within an area fifty miles east of Hanoi, and of fighting at Hue, Annam State

January Meeting Planned.

The outbreak came amid preparations for a January French-Viet Nam meeting to define the republic's place in the French Union and pointed up disagreement of French Communists, reported to favor a freer hand for the republic, with Government colonial policy.

A heavy fog over Paris prevented the departure tonight of Marius Moutet, Minister for Overseas Territories, and an official mission which was to fly with him to Indo-China. Moutet's son, Gustave, who was to have accompanied him, said that the departure had been delayed until tomorrow.

Moutet, pledging the Government "to defend and make respected French rights" there, persuaded the National Assembly last night to hold off an inquiry for two weeks pending his on-the-spot investigation of disorders in Indo-China, part colony and part protectorate, and exporter of rice and rubber.

Priest Tells of Torture by Nazis

Says He Was Nine Times Injected With Malaria and Immersed Ninety Minutes in Ice Water.

Nuernberg, Dec. 21 (A. P.).—The Rev. Leo Michalowski, a Catholic priest, 36 years old, testified at the trial of twenty-three German doctors today that he was chosen to undergo malarial experiments and ice water immersion because he was "a Pole, a Catholic and a priest."

Speaking in German, he told the American military tribunal that as an inmate of Dachau he suffered nine infectious malarial injections, and that, before fully recovering his health, he was subjected to experiments in ice water. The water experiments were in the interests of the German air force, he said, and were attended by two Luftwaffe officers. He was dressed in the uniform of a German air force pilot before being dropped into the frigid water, where he remained in acute pain but fully conscious for ninety minutes, Father Michalowski declared. He was forced to smoke half a cigarette and to drink a glass of schnapps, and lukewarm grog during the experiment to test their effects on body re-

Father Michalowski said that after the experiment he was warmed by sun lamps, but that he knew that naked women were used to revive other men who underwent the ice water tests.

After the experiment, he added, officials told him: "Everything that happened to you is a military secret. You have to keep quiet about it and under no circumstances discuss it with anybody else."

De Gasperi Trip To U.S.

Rome, Dec. 21 (AP)—Premier Alcide de Gasperi will leave for the United States January 3, it was announced today, and he will take suitcases filled with little else but troubles.

All the aspirin in Italy scarcely could assuage the headaches of the tall 65-year-old Christian Democrat leader has had since the June plebiscite produced the Italian republic and his shaky four-party government.

Should President Truman ask him what he has achieved in the half-year, de Gasperi might well rest his case on a paraphrase of the remark of the French aristocrat after the revolution: "I have survived politically."

Food Is Running Low

It is easy, however, to pick out the problems on which Washington could give help and which may well be discussed. These are:

1. Food. Italy has just enough wheat to last six weeks into the new year, with sixteen weeks to go after that to the first of the harvest. Already spaghetti and macaroni rations, mainstays of the national diet, have been cut in half. A twenty percent cut in the small bread ration is in the cards. Many Italians are hungry, and only this week disorders in several places occurred, notably in Naples, where a general strike for two and a half days protested the scarcity of food, high prices and unemployment.

Lira Bucks Up Slightly

2. The currency. Although the lira has bucked up slightly in the last few days, today's black or free market rate was from 620 to 650 to the dollar, as against an official rate of 225. The prewar rate was 30 lira to the dollar. The lira slid to an all-time low of 800 to the dollar once this month. This depreciation has been accompained by steadily rising prices, which outpaced wage boosts.

3. Raw materials. October indices showed Italy's industrial production ranging from 28 per cent of prewar in pigiron through 56 per cent in artificial textile fabrics, 66 per cent in chemicals, 76 per cent in mechanical goods, 88 per cent in cotton thread and 113 per cent in electric power. But much of this industrial activity is ascribed to aid from UNRRA's import program, especially in coal, and UNRRA dies here early in 1947.

Listeners May Be Attentive

4 Trade. If Italy could get her foreign trade going again she could use the resulting credits abroad to buy the needed raw materials for industry. But imports for the first ten months of this year ran to $753,000,000 as against exports of only $199,000,000. These are figures of UNRRA, which points out that, although the trade balance is sadly out of line, the picture is not as bad as it looks because the import dollar is valued at 100 lire and the export dollar at 225 lire.

5. The peace treaty. There is not much that Washington can do about changing the terms of the peace treaty worked out at Paris and New York. But de Gasperi may find attentive listeners when he tells of the repercussions in Italy to loss of colonies, sharp reductions in Army and Navy and the $360,000,000 reparations bill.

Only today Admiral Raffaele de Courten, chief of staff of the Navy, retired, and Italian newspapers said he was resigning in protest against the peace-treaty disposal of the Italian fleet.

Il Giornale d'Italia linked the resignation with the arrival here of British Admiral Sir Algernon Willis, who was understood as anxious to discuss reports that Italian crews might scuttle the fleet rather than give it over as war booty to the victors. The exact units which the Italians will be required to turn over have been kept secret, presumably as a precaution against any scuttling.

Mission Seeks Italian Settlers For Argentina

Rome, Dec. 21 (AP)—A far-reaching plan to people Argentina's vast pampas and thriving cities with selected men and women from Europe, was launched here today with arrival of a ten-man emigration mission from that South American country.

The mission, headed by Adolfo Scilingo, career diplomat, and the Rev. Jose Clemente Silva, Catholic priest, ministers plenipotentiary, hoped to be sending by February or March 5,000 Italians monthly to Argentina.

The mission will organize immigration later from Spain and other European countries.

Italian Premier Will Visit U. S.

Rome, Dec. 21—(AP)—Premier Alcide de Gasperi has accepted an invitation of the U. S. Government to visit the United States, a government communique said today, and will leave Rome January 3, arriving in Washington January 5.

The communique said he would talk with Secretary of State James F. Byrnes and other American officials on "questions of mutual interest" such problems included: The Italian food supply, the Italian financial situation, and the Italian peace treaty.

POLES SPURN BRITISH NOTE ON ELECTIONS

Charge London Failed To Fulfill Obligations To Warsaw

Warsaw, Dec. 20 [AP—Delayed]. The Polish Government today handed the British Ambassador a note curtly rejecting his country's expression of anxiety over the January 19 general elections and countercharging that Britain had violated her obligations to Poland assumed at Yalta and Potsdam.

The United States Government has made a similar expression to the Polish Government, and a Foreign Ministry spokesman said a reply was "under preparation."

Replying to the British request for assurances of free and unfettered elections, the Polish Government said it was not within the province of Britain to remind Poland of her obligations or to attempt to impose British "opinions or directives" as to how the elections should be held.

Charges Are Denied

The reply said that Poland could not accept the British note as compatible with Poland's sovereignty and declared there were no reasons for "further debates" on the subject of elections since Poland was fulfilling her obligations with the balloting to be held January 19.

[Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, leader of the Polish Peasant party which is in opposition to the pro-Soviet Government bloc, reported Saturday night that his followers had succeeded in running a "blockade" of election commission offices to present the party's list of candidates in all 52 of Poland's election districts.

[He said the blockade was by members of the Government parties, the militia and security police.

Charges Are Denied

[Mikolajczyk reiterated his charges that Polish Peasant party members were being subjected to arrest and estimated that approximately 30 per cent of its candidates had been jailed. His charges have been denied by Government spokesmen, who said only supporters of anti-Government underground bands have been arrested.]

In making the accusation that Britain had failed to fulfill obligations to Poland, the reply to the British note said that among other things the British had failed to liquidate remnants of the former Polish Government in London, were continuing to tolerate that regime with support of British funds, and had failed to halt the London Poles from "plotting a third world war."

The note charged that Britain had failed to turn over Polish army forces but had formed a resettlement corps which had made Polish soldiers the "object of international barter."

Issue On Polish Gold

Additional charges were that Britain had failed to protect properties of the Polish Government and had permitted the London Poles to obtain deposits and archives, had failed to return Polish gold vitally needed for reconstruction; had failed to return Polish warships; had permitted the London Poles to interfere with Polish repatriations, and had failed to accept agreed quotas on Germans expelled from Poland destined for the British occupation zone of Germany.

Beyond doubt, the note added, "the essentials of Yalta and Potsdam were not filled by Britain," either in letter or spirit.

Slaying Laid To Underground

Warsaw, Dec. 20 (AP)—[Delayed]. Police said today that an underground NSZ (national armed forces) band had hacked eight men to death with axes after attacking a truck near Sokolow, east of Warsaw, and dragging the members of a workers party into the nearby forest. Two Polish soldiers were reported slain at the same time.

Polish Leaders To Aid Church And State Link

Warsaw, Dec. 21 (AP)—President Boleslaw Bierut today told a delegation of Catholic writers the Government would continue its efforts to improve relations between the church and state.

The newspaper Rzeczpospolita quoted the President is saying he would like to see greater participation of Catholics in political life and hoped a permanent understanding soon would be evolved between church and state.

Relations between the Government and the clergy recently became more strained after an official declaration that Catholic pulpits were being used in behalf of the cause of Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, deputy premier, in the forthcoming national elections.

Spain Tries 6 for Rebellion

MADRID, Dec. 21 (AP).—Six persons, including Jose Antonio Llerandi, a native of Cuba, went on trial here today before a military court on charges of "military rebellion."

U. N. Action on Greece Is Welcomed by Athens

Acting Premier Minister Says It May Prevent Conflict

ATHENS, Dec. 21 (AP).—Acting Foreign Minister Stephanos Stephanopoulos expressed satisfaction today with the United Nations Security Council's decision to send a commission to investigate the facts of Greek charges that Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria are planning to sever Greek Macedonia from Greece.

Stephanopoulos told reporters, "the decision not only does justice to Greek views but also marks the beginning of a procedure which, if properly applied, will prevent friction and conflicts arising between nations."

MAY ASK REMOVAL OF U. S. SOLDIERS

Copenhagen, Dec. 21 (A. P.)—Acting Foreign Minister Frants Hvass said today that the Danish Government is considering denouncing the agreement of 1941 under which United States soldiers are stationed in Greenland.

Hvass said in an interview that he believed Foreign Minister Gustav Rasmussen had discussed withdrawal of American troops with United States officials on a recent visit to Washington. Rasmussen is expected to report to Parliament on his return.

"American soldiers stay in Greenland," Hvass said, "according to the Danish - American agreement of April 9, 1941. A clause in that agreement provided that it could be denounced when the peace and security of the American continent was no longer endangered. This situation must be supposed to exist now."

Hvass declined to discuss the number of American troops now in Greenland, saying that American authorities in Washington are the only ones entitled to answer that.

Austria Holds River Boats

Hungary Appeals for U. S. Aid to Free Craft Held for Debt

BUDAPEST, Dec. 19 (Delayed) (AP).—Hungarian officials said today that the majority of seventeen Hungarian ships returned officially to this country recently by the United States had been seized by the Austrian government, on behalf of the Rothschild Bank, for indebtedness. The officials added that Foreign Minister Janos Groengyoessy requested American aid in freeing the craft.

Budapest newspapers said the craft, which belong to the Hungarian River and Sea Shipping Company, were intercepted at Linz by Austrian police.

Romanian Nationalizes Bank

Bucharest, Dec. 21 (AP)—The Romanian Parliament passed last night a bill fully nationalizing the national bank, effective January 1. Present shareholders will be compensated at the average market quotation of bank shares for the first nine months of this year.

Anti-Tito Outlaws Sentenced

BELGRADE, Dec. 21 (AP).—The people's court at Maribor today sentenced three members of the outlawed Krizari (Crusaders) and seventeen other persons to forced-labor prison terms ranging from short terms to twenty years, in connection with 113 "acts of banditry."

Clothing For Vienna Babies

Vienna, Dec. 21 (AP)—Babies born in Vienna the night of December 24-25 will receive a complete package of baby clothing from the American Red Cross.

PRAVDA BLASTS TURK LEADERS

Charges Militaristic Effort To Organize Arabic Bloc

Moscow, Dec. 21 (AP)—Pravda, Communist party organ, accused Turkish leaders today of following risky anti-democratic policies based on a "myth" of outside dangers invented by foreign imperialists and militarists.

The most lengthy and outspoken commentary published in Russia about Turkey in a long time said this militaristic policy was connected with the increased interest of Turkish leaders in organizing "a bloc of Arabic countries with non-Arabic Turkey at the head of it."

[This was the first Russian reaction to Turkey's suppression of pro-Soviet publications and organizations in the Bulgarian border and Dardanelles area where the military, under an extended state-of-siege regime, carried out extensive arrests this week. Eight Leftist publications were padlocked, two political parties outlawed and all "Communistic" organizations forbidden].

Policies Called Short-Sighted

The Pravda commentator blamed what he termed the short-sighted internal and foreign policies of the Turkish Government for bringing about a crisis in the political life of the nation.

"Life is becoming more expensive in Turkey," said the writer, G. Akopan. "An offensive is being conducted on the wages of the workers. Unemployment is growing. . . . a degradation of agriculture is in progress. . . .

"Two political parties and their sections have been silenced, trade unions scattered and the publication of six newspapers and magazines prohibited in villages where a state of siege has been announced.

"It is generally known that democratic ideas and principles do not have the interests of Turkey's ruling class. However, even in Turkey the extraordinary military-police measures now being applied are unusual."

Relations Sharpened

The writer asked why Turkish leaders carry on a policy of ever sharpening their relations with their neighbors and keep a million men under arms. He continued:

"Whenever Turkish leaders begin talking foreign policy they drag out the argument about the presence of 'foreign dangers' to Turkey. All sensible thinking Turks understand this 'foreign danger' is a myth invented by those who try to deceive people and conceal the real aims of their anti-democratic policy.

The commentator said that catch phrases and hostility toward neighboring countries was not popular with the Turkish people and that recently more sober appraisals of the risky policy were being heard.

"However, the commentator observed, "the ruling circles show their complete indifference to these voices by their recent actions directed against democratic elements of Turkey."

"Provocateurs" Operating

The writer said that "slanderous anti-Soviet poisoned propaganda which is admitted regularly into the Turkish press bears witness how freely all kinds of provocateurs, war mongerers, paid agents of foreign imperialistic forces operate in Turkey.

"It cannot be denied that militarization of Turkey serves precisely the aims of these imperialistic forces. An effort has been made to broaden the arena of these dangerous activities. It is well known that an increased interest of Turkey in Arabian countries is connected with this. More and more often does the Arabian press discuss the question of attempts of Turkish diplomacy to nail up a bloc of Arabic countries with non-Arabic Turkey at the head of it."

"It is difficult to deny," the commentary concluded, "that such foreign policies are the result of the influences of imperialistic circles and contradict the interests of the Turkish people."

STALIN WELL, ELLIOTT SAYS

Roosevelt Granted Interview On Russ Leader's Birthday

E. Cleveland

Moscow, Dec. 21 (AP)—Elliott Roosevelt was granted a birthday interview with Generalissimo Stalin tonight and reported that the Russian leader appeared in good health and fine spirits.

Roosevelt, who was accompanied at the interview in the Kremlin by his wife, the former Faye Emerson, of the films, said that Stalin had just returned to Moscow from a vacation and looked surprisingly well for a man who was observing his sixty-seventh birthday.

The late President's son said that he and his wife would leave Moscow by plane early tomorrow for Paris, then fly to Ireland and the United States to be with his mother, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, for Christmas at Hyde Park, N.Y.

Roosevelt Impressed

Roosevelt did not reveal the subject of his interview with Stalin—which, incidentally, was the first personal interview granted by Stalin to any foreign correspondent in many years.

He said he would write about it when he got home, but he was emphatic in reporting how well Stalin looked.

Roosevelt appeared greatly impressed after his meeting with Stalin.

His wife, too, was impressed by the force of the Generalissimo's personality, she said. She explained she was merely "a very fortunate wife" with nothing to say beyond confirming what her husband said about how well the Generallisimo looked.

Roosevelts Go To Kremlin

The Roosevelts left their suite at the National Hotel at 9 P.M. and went across Red Square to the Kremlin for the interview. They returned to the hotel for supper, during which they told of the visit.

Roosevelt said he asked Stalin numerous questions and received answers which he plans to write as soon as he returned to the United States.

"I've had a great experience in Russia," he said, "and I'll certainly want to come back."

The Moscow radio used only fifteen words to tell Russians that this was Stalin's sixty-seventh birthday.

A newscaster, opening the daily "Radio Calendar" broadcast which lists the day's events and anniversaries, said only:

"Sixty-seven years ago, on Dec. 21, 1879, J.V. Stalin was born at Gori, Georgia."

Roosevelt's report on Stalin's apparent excellent health was in contradiction to reports that have appeared in the foreign press during the generalissimo's absence from Moscow that he was dangerously ill and possibly dead. These reports repeated previous unsubstantiated stories that Stalin had suffered heart attacks.

Azerbaijan Governor Appointed By Tehran

Tehran, Dec. 21 (AP)—An official announcement today said Abdul Hassan Sadeghi, former communications and roads minister in the Iranian Cabinet, had been appointed governor-general of Azerbaijan province.

He succeeds Dr. Salamollah Javid, who was ousted when Iranian Government troops entered Tabriz a week ago and removed from power the Democratic party which had held authority during the year Azerbaijan was allowed a semi-autonomous status. Dr. Javid was ordered transferred to Tehran.

CIVIL WAR HELD NEAR IN CHINA

J. Patterson

PEIPING, Dec. 21—(AP) High ranking Chinese government and Communists leaders agreed today that all-out civil war was imminent.

NIGHT

Gen. Li Tsung-Jen, chief of Generalissimo Chiagn Kai-shek's Peiping headquarters, declared in an interview that government armies would resume their offensive shortly if the Communists continued to ignore the government cease-fire order of Nov. 11.

From Yenan, Communist capital city, came a declaration by Li Shao-Chi, Communist party vice-chairman, that the government and the United States had driven the Communists into arms and "we cannot be beaten; we will never surrender."

Also from Yenan, Gen. Chou En-Lai, No. 2 Communist and chief negotiator in the fruitless and now ruptured peace conferences, said his forces were prepared to "launch an all-out strategic offensive" in six months if the government refused to return its troops to the positions of Jan 13, when an ineffectual agreement was made.

Chou held that Communist military strength was increasing and "we feel amply able to smash the Kuomintang (government party) offensives."

Chou claimed the government forces had been greatly weakened in the past year of desultory fighting and that major cities, such as Kalgan, which the government has taken have proved an embarrassment due to the necessity of heavily garrisoning them.

WAR'S RENEWAL IN CHINA SEEN

Both Sides Warn of Strife's Resumption Soon

J. Patterson

Peiping, Dec. 21 (A. P.).—Climaxing weeks of political bickering, Chinese Government and Communist leaders declared today that full-scale resumption of civil war is imminent.

Gen. Li Tsung-jen, director of Chiang Kai-shek's Peiping headquarters, said that Government armies would resume the offensive if the Communists continue to disregard Chiang's cease-fire order.

DAY

Six weeks ago, in a truce bid, Chiang ordered his forces to end their offensives. The Communists, demanding a restoration of territories seized by the Government since an oft-violated January 13 truce, immediately attacked in several areas.

In Yenan, the Communists' chief negotiator, Chou En-lai, told Associated Press correspondent John Roderick: "The Communists will launch an all-out strategic offensive, if the Government persists in its refusal to follow the democratic lines set by the interparty conference last January, and fails to return its troops to their January 13 positions."

Li declared in an interview: "The Communists have captured many of our cities since the cease-fire order went into effect six weeks ago. I instructed my commanders to follow the cease-fire order strictly and not to fight unless attacked. My forces were put at great disadvantage. We couldn't shift our troops to protect our weakly defended cities."

Li termed daydreaming a Communist leader's boast that if the Kuomintang (Government party) refused to accede to Communist demands, the Communist forces in six months would reduce the national military power and force the Government into an agreement.

He accused the Communists of stalling, "to gain time in which to extend their sphere of influence over the country."

He asserted that they would "fail in their attempt to overthrow the Government by creating economic chaos. The Government will prevent economic chaos. Don't miscalculate the Chinese people. They went through eight years of fighting the Japanese under worse conditions than exist now."

On the military front, Communist guerrillas pushed through Government defenses to within eleven miles of Peiping, were driven off in a counter-attack then fought right back in another thrust at Antung on the Peiping-Tientsin railroad.

Meantime, the Government bid for the support of Mongolians in northwest Manchuria and Jehol Province. Transport planes from Gen. Tu Li-ming's Mukden headquarters dropped leaflets imploring the Mongolians not to be influenced into taking sides with the Communists.

Philippines-U. S. Negotiations

MANILA, Dec. 21 (AP).—American Ambassador Paul V. McNutt predicted today "an early and satisfactory conclusion" to United States-Philippines negotiations for American military bases in the Philippines. He declined to discuss details.

CHILE DEFENDS NEW PACT

Offers to Others the Favors Granted to Argentina

SANTIAGO, Chile, Dec. 21 (AP)—Chile today defended her recently-negotiated trade agreement with Argentina from "misinterpretations" abroad, and said she would be glad to offer "similar favors" to other countries.

A statement issued by the Foreign Ministry said that Chile and Argentina considered the pact "a new step in American economic cooperation." Under the measure, this country received a credit of 700,000,000 Argentine pesos [$175,000,000], in return for coal, iron, copper and other materials.

The fact that "advantages" of the Argentine treaty cannot be invoked by a third country "does not in any way mean the exclusion in the future of similar agreements with other nations, especially on the American continent," the statement said.

$3,000,000 Credit for Bolivia

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Dec. 21 (AP).—Guillermo Mariace Muniz, manager of the government-controlled oil wells, announced officially today that the Export-Import Bank at Washington had advised "that it is disposed to concede an additional credit of $3,000,000 to be used on a plan of well-drilling and the construction of a pipeline from Camiri to Cochabamba."

WORK BEGUN BY TRUMAN ON MESSAGE

Note To Congress May Touch Problems In Labor Field

Washington, Dec. 21 (AP)—President Truman, hopeful of co-operation from the Republican-controlled Congress, began work today on a State of the Union message expected to be much shorter and less specific than the 21-point program he presented to the old Congress.

Mr. Truman was reported to be planning to refer only in broad terms to many of his former detailed recommendations and to propose new measures only in the light of developments in the last year.

Carroll Reece, Republican national chairman, served notice in a speech at St. Louis Thursday that the President could not expect co-operation from the Eightieth Congress if he renewed his former program in entirety. Reece remarked that the State of the Union message "will indicate the extent of his desire for real, effective co-operation with the new Republican Congress."

Emphasis On Labor

The President's principal new recommendations probably will be in the field of labor relations. He has indicated to Congressmen and others that he definitely will have something to say on this subject in his message.

Another topic definitely slated for inclusion is the proposed Army-Navy merger. The President told a news conference he will renew this controversial recommendation.

The question of universal training probably will await recommendations due in March from the President's special commission just named to study it.

Income taxes, which some Republicans have pledged to trim as much as twenty per cent, probably will be dealt with in more detail in the budget message.

First Proposed In 1945

Mr. Truman first proposed his 21-point program to a 1945 session. Congress was called back in September from a recess to deal with problems "crowded down upon us with the surrender of the Japanese."

The message dealt with increased unemployment compensation and higher premium wages, wartime controls, war powers and executive-agency reorganization, "full employment," a permanent fair employment practices committee, wage stabilization and labor disputes, United States Employment Service, agriculture, selective service, housing, research, transition tax revision, surplus-property disposal, small business, veterans, public works, lend-lease and post-war reconstruction, congressional salaries, ship sales and stockpiling of strategic materials.

Half Of Program Shelved

About half of the program was sidetracked by the Democratic-controlled Seventy-ninth Congress.

The new State of the Union message will go to the Congress after it convenes January 3. Since that is a Friday and the Congress will require time to organize, the message—one of three planned by the President—may not be delivered until the following Monday.

It has not been definitely decided whether the message will be delivered in person. But since it will be briefer than the 21-point message of September 6, 1945, which was repeated and elaborated on in a combined legislative-budget message last January, the President might go to the Capitol himself.

There will be three messages this time—legislative, budget and a third one transmitting a report of the new economic council established under the Employment Act.

WAR BLUNDERS BARED BY NAVY

Costly Errors in First Two Years of War Against Japan Revealed.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 — (AP) Costly blunders of the first two years of the war against Japan are recounted with notable victories of the last two years in a detailed summary released tonight by the Navy.

The volume, "The Campaigns of the Pacific War," is based on "ultra-secret" Japanese battle plans and other captured documents, as well as American combat records. The report traces campaign by campaign the long sea road from Pearl Harbor to Tokyo Bay.

Pacific Slip-Ups Told

It includes a frank recital of U. S. stumblings and slip-ups at Mid-Way, the Aleutians and Guadalcanal, from which the Navy painfully learned how to use air power.

Skillful Japanese planning for the Pearl Harbor attack and for the great conquests of the East Indies is acknowledged by the U. S. Navy writers.

The success of these plans, however, blinded the Japanese ever after to believe that final victory was just "one crushing blow" beyond their fingertips.

The Navy report was prepared for the United States strategic bombing survey, which was set up to study the importance of air power.

Immediately after the Japanese surrender, the survey established headquarters in Tokyo, questioned Japanese war leaders and examined secret papers of the high command. These interrogations were published previously in two volumes and form the core of the present summary.

Highlights of Battles

Highlights of the more important battles and campaigns follow:

Pearl Harbor—

Planning started in January, 1941. Dec. 9 (Hawaiian Time) was picked for the attack, but this was later moved up to Dec. 7 because of "possible advantages x x x from a Sunday attack." If discovered before Dec. 5, the Japanese carriers had orders to turn back.

No follow up of the raid was made since its only purpose was to destroy the capital ship strength of the United States, and the Japanese accurately estimated the damage done.

The success of the Japanese expansion, plus the American raid on Tokyo, were both reasons for seizing additional defense bases such as Midway, the Japanese said.

Fundamental Error'

Later they considered this further grab a "fundamental error." American naval officers said Midway was "perhaps the decisive battle of the war."

American forces sank four Japanese carriers and one heavy cruiser at a cost of one U. S. carrier and a destroyer.

An American mistake, and a bloody air lesson, was the sending out of unprotected torpedo squadrons.

"Unfortunately, both the Army and Navy torpedo attacks against the enemy were made in vain," the analysis said. "Approaching without fighter protection, the torpedo groups were attacked and cut to pieces principally by the defending Japanese fighters before they were able to press home their attack."

Report on Aleutians

The Japanese landings were made right after the Midway defeat, but U. S. search planes did not learn Kiska and Attu were being occupied until four days after the start of the landings. After 14 months of U. S. bombing the "disappointing total" of less than seven per cent of the Japanese garrison had been killed by the air raids.

The Japanese evacuated 5,100 troops from Kiska in 45 minutes one afternoon following the American seizure of Attu. Some 25 days later 34,000 American and Canadian troops attacked the deserted island after week of air and surface bombardment.

A "dark chapter in the United States air effort" was failure to attack Japanese cruisers and destroyers that heavily damaged two American warships in a daylight battle. The bombers were delayed "several hours" changing their bomb loads for an attack.

The U. S. defense of the Aleutians and Alaska "was entrusted" to 78 planes because the task force commander (not identified) was ordered to operate "cautiously." He hid his destroyers around Dutch Harbor and kept his principal surface ship strength south of Kodiak, "almost certainly out of reach of the Japanese but equally beyond range of any promising quarry."

Army Bombers Called Inaccurate at Midway

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP).—The accuracy of Army bombing received a ribbing from Navy writers in a campaign survey of the war in the Pacific issued tonight.

In the Battle of Midway, B-17s of the 7th Air Force made sixty-two bombing runs on the Japanese fleet but scored no hits, according to Japanese testimony given to the Navy after the war.

"The difficulties which attend high-altitude bombing of ships were well illustrated," said the Navy report, "when a flight of B-17s reported sinking a 'cruiser' by an attack delivered from 10,000 feet.

"In fact, the 'cruiser' was a United States submarine, which hastily submerged when the first bombs fell off her bow."

Courts-Martial Reforms Urged; Army Discrimination Charged

1946

Washington, Dec. 21 (AP)—An American Bar Association committee reported tonight the charge of discrimination in army courts-martial as between officers and GI's was true in some cases and "seriously impaired" morale.

The committee, appointed by Robert P. Patterson, Secretary of War, also found that "sentences originally imposed were frequently excessive and sometimes fanastically so."

Board's Recommendations

To overcome these and five other criticisms of the court-martial system which the committee held "well founded" it recommended that:

1. "Qualified enlisted men" be permitted to sit on courts trying GI's, and enlisted men be "encouraged to attend." The Doolittle board similarly recommended that sergeants should sit on courts-martial.

[A study of relations between officers and enlisted men had been made by a War Department board headed by former Lieut. Gen. James H. Doolittle, in a broad investigation of the Army's "caste" system.]

2. The law members of each court and the defense counsel be members of the Judge Advocate General's Department and be appointed by it instead of by the commander who orders the trial, as at present. The commander would continue to name the trial judge advocate.

3. It be made unlawful for commanders or others to try to influence the action of an appointing or reviewing authority in connection with courts-martial, or to reprimand a court or its members.

Urges Larger Department

4. The Judge Advocate General's Department be enlarged and trained lawyers be provided for court-martial duty. The committee noted that "frequently officers with no legal training were used as law members, trial judge advocates, or defense counsel, even though there were available a sufficient number of competent men in the Army for all the courts."

5. A board of officers be named to make a continuous study of changes in the articles of war and courts-martial procedure.

The bar association committee was headed by Dean Arthur T. Vanderbilt, of the New York University Law School.

Other members were Walter P. Armstrong, of Memphis, Tenn., Joseph W. Henderson, of Philadelphia, and Jacob M. Lashly, of St. Louis, former presidents of the American Bar Association; Frederick E. Crane, retired chief judge of the New York Court of Appeals; Circuit Judge Morris A. Soper, of Baltimore; Floyd E. Thompson, former chief justice of Illinois; William T. Joyner, of Raleigh, N.C., and Judge Alexander Holtzoff, of Washington, D.C.

Prompt Consideration Pledged

Kenneth C. Royall, Under Secretary of War, said in a statement the report "will receive prompt and careful consideration and the War Department's action thereon and any recommendations for legislation in connection therewith will be announced in the near future."

The committee was appointed by Patterson last spring, held hearings here and elsewhere throughout the country and received hundreds of briefs and memoranda from lawyers and laymen, most of whom served on courts-martial during the war.

Called "Actual Breakdowns"

It cited "seven frequent criticisms" which it heard and concluded they "are well founded and reflect actual breakdowns in the operation" of the court-martial system:

1. "There was an absence of sufficient attention to and emphasis upon the military-justice system, and lack of preliminary planning for it."

2. "There was a serious deficiency of sufficiently qualified and trained men to act as members of the court or as officers of the court."

3. "The command frequently dominated the courts in the rendition of their judgment."

4. "Defense counsel were often ineffective because of (a) lack of experience and knowledge, or (b) lack of a vigorous defense attitude."

Comment On Sentences

5. "The sentences originally imposed were frequently excessively severe and sometimes fantastically so."

6. "There was some discrimination between officers and enlisted men, both as to the bringing of charges and as to convictions and sentences."

7. "Investigations, before referring cases to trial, were frequently inefficient or inadequate."

On the score of discrimination, the committee had this to say:

"The critics did not always understand the difficulties of the situation or appreciate the severity of the punishment inflicted upon an officer by the imposition of a fine or the loss of promotion or reduction in rank, and the devastating effect of this punishment upon his career.

"Nevertheless, we are convinced that in some instances and in some areas there was foundation for the complaint and it was a general source of criticism among the troops and seriously impaired their morale.

"In general, we believe that officers would be less likely to offend if they were subjected to a greater extent to the deterrent influence of punishment which in army circles is deemed so effective in dealing with enlisted men."

System Held Good One

The committee agreed with witnesses who testified "almost without exception" that "the Army's system of justice in general and as written in the books is a good one; that it is excellent in theory and designed to secure swift and sure justice; and the innocent are almost never convicted and the guilty seldom acquitted."

But it noted that "there was often a disquieting absence of respect for the operation of the system in its tremendous expansion under the impact of war. There was considerable indignation at some of the current and all too frequent breakdowns. The general comment was that the system laid down in the manual for courts martial of the army was not followed as closely as it should have been and that the system not infrequently broke down."

Ascribed To Two Factors

This is ascribed to two factors—failure of the army to use available lawyers, placing "incompetent men" on the courts; and actions of generals "who conceived it the duty of the command to interfere for disciplinary purposes."

"The result, in the opinion of many witnesses," the report continued, "was that although the innocent were not punished, there was such disparity and severity in the impact of the system on the guilty as to bring many military courts into disrepute both among the law-breaking element and the law-abiding element, and a serious impairment of the morale of the troops ensued where such a situation existed."

TRUMAN CONFIRMS NAZI CRIME JUDGES

Washington, Dec. 21 (A. P.).—President Truman today gave presidential appointments to three American judges and an alternate, who since October, have been trying Nazi doctors and scientists in one phase of the war crimes trial in Germany.

The White House said the judges had been serving at the request of the Army and the presidential appointments were made to give them more official status. They are sitting at Nuernberg.

The appointees are Walter B. Beals, chief justice of the Washington State Supreme Court; Harold L. Sebring, associate justice of the Florida Supreme Court; Johnson Tal Crawford, Oklahoma District Court judge, and an alternate, Victor C. Swearinggen, former special assistant to the Attorney-General. The four men constitute one of six special courts authorized to try war criminals in the American zone of occupation, two of which already have been set up.

The appointments were made in an executive order which said they were pursuant to the four-Power agreement of the Control Council for Germany and to the charter of the International Military Tribunal.

The latter court was established by the United States, France, Great Britain and Russia and resulted in the execution of eleven major Nazis earlier this year.

The members appointed today will receive personnel assistance from the State, War, Justice and Navy departments. Their expenses will be paid by the War Department.

The court to which the three were named is one of six which will continue the trial of war crimes defendants in the American zone. Each court is composed of three judges with one alternate and the personnel is American.

NEW TRAINING PLAN GOING TO CONGRESS

Washington, Dec. 21 (A. P.).—Recommendations on universal youth training—going into and beyond the military field—will be laid before President Truman by an advisory group in time for Congress to be informed during the next session.

Dr. Karl T. Compton, head of the committee chosen by Mr. Truman, who urged the members to follow the idea of "insuring the continuation of our form of government," said the report likely will be ready late in March.

The group, designated as the President's Advisory Commission on Universal Training, was told by Mr. Truman that "the military phase is incidental to what I have in mind." He said he wanted young people informed on what the government stands for, and its responsibilities.

Dr. Compton told reporters that any adequate program must recognize the fact that the nation's security depends not only on its military strength but also the physical, spiritual, religious and moral fiber of its young men. All these aspects will have equal emphasis, he added.

Mr. Truman did not differentiate between young men and women in reference to the need for training. Dr. Compton said whether to include young women in the commission's work on the problem might be given consideration if developments indicate a need for it.

INFANTRY GETS MORE GUNFIRE

1946

Army Adds to Mobility—Air Transport Stressed.

Washington, Dec. 21 (A. P.).—The Army disclosed last night plans for making its infantry divisions unparalleled fighting machines with lightning mobility and more than three times the gunfire of existing units. At the same time, it announced a corresponding strengthening of the other major ground combat component, the armored division.

The reorganization, which Gen. Jacob L. Devers, Army Ground Force chief said in a statement takes into account lessons learned in world war II and which looks forward to the atomic age, will do this to the infantry divisions:

Provide a wartime strength of between 17,000 and 18,000 men, an increase in manpower of about 20 per cent, produce a 200 per cent increase in the number of weapons of various categories with a 250 per cent increase in firepower due to improved automatic and other characteristics.

Heavy Tanks Added.

Instead of merely attaching elements such as armor only when needed in the field (as was done in world war II), provide the infantry with an organic tank battalion and anti-aircraft battalion. The division will have six companies of M-26 tanks mounting 90-millimeter guns. Division artillery will include fifty-four 105 howitzers and eighteen 155 howitzers. The division's armament will include more of the valuable recoilless guns, forty-two 75 millimeter and eighty-one 57-millimeter recoilless rifles.

The new armored division will be increased in man power—about 15,000 men compared with the 10,000 to 14,000 in the war. But the significant feature will be the strength in tanks—325 mediums, with a battalion of heavy tanks when they become available. Details on the final number of weapons and exact types of armament remain to be worked out.

World war II experience has resulted in elimination of two items familiar to G. I.'s—the tank destroyer and the armored car. Henceforth, officials said, enemy tanks will be challenged by tanks instead of the tank-destroyer which had firepower but lacked armor. The place of the armored car for fast reconnaissance will be taken by light tanks.

Would Move by Air.

A general improvement in type and increase in use of vehicles will greatly accelerate the mobility of the infantry division, but Devers said that the eventual goal of Army ground forces is to make the infantry division completely transportable by airplanes. It was explained that this should not be confused with the airborne division. The air transportable division will be put into action by planes when a base is secured. The securing of "airheads" will be the mission of airborne troops, landing either by parachute or glider.

"The infantry division of the future," said the general, "will not be merely amphibious, striking the enemy by land or sea. It will be triphibious, capable of swift mechanized movement by land, sea and air."

TRUMAN IS ASKED FOR VIEW ON END OF WAR POWERS

DEC 1946

Washington, Dec. 21—(AP)—Congressional Republicans planning to trim the wartime and emergency powers of the executive branch asked President Truman today to say which ones he believes are no longer needed.

Senator Wiley (R-Wis.), said he had solicited Cabinet members and the Veterans Administration for their recommendations but was told in each case these had been submitted to Mr. Truman.

In a letter to the President, Wiley asked him to tell:

1. Which special powers within each Cabinet department and the Veterans Administration "do you desire to be terminated immediately at the outset of the 80th Congress?"

2. The dates or conditions "under which each of the remaining war powers should be terminated."

Wiley, who was delegated by the Rpublican Steering Committee to draft a report on termination of the special powers, said he would have one ready for the December 30 meeting of the Republicans even if the President does not make known his position.

Gen. Clark to Work On Austrian Treaty

Washington, Dec. 21 (A. P.).—Secretary of State Byrnes named Lieut.-Gen. Mark W. Clark today as his deputy, to begin preliminary work on a peace treaty for Austria. Clark, American Commanding General in Austria, will join deputies of Foreign Ministers from France, Great Britain and Russia in London on January 14 to begin the work.

Ambassador Robert Murphy, political adviser to the American Commander in Germany, was named yesterday as deputy on the German peace treaty.

State Department Hails British-Burma Parley

DEC 1946

Says It May Speed Country's Self-Government

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP).—The United States today expressed "confident hope" that the forthcoming conferences between British and Burmese officials will speed the day "of full self-government" for Burma.

In a statement commenting on the British Labor government's invitation to a Burmese delegation to attend conferences at London, the State Department said it "welcomes" the action.

"The United States has many good friends in Burma," the statement added, "including those who gave invaluable assistance to our troops in Burma in the campaign against the Japanese."

The State Department recalled that the British gave "important and responsible posts" in the Burmese government to Burmese leaders in October, 1946.

"It is our confident hope that the London talks will result in further progress toward the agreed goal of full self-government for that important Asiatic country," the statement said.

TESTS FOR FORMER PW'S

VA Offers Full Examination to Those Feeling After-Effects

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP)—The Veterans Administration offered comprehensive physical examinations today to the 125,000 former American prisoners of war who feel after-effects of their imprisonment.

Special consideration will be given to disability claims filed by such veterans. Former prisoners of war whose disability claims already have been denied also may have their cases reopened by applying to the nearest VA office.

A spokesman explained that the VA was not trying to add to its disability claims list, but wished to clear up borderline cases before a time lapse makes them even more difficult to settle.

"As the result of thorough studies of the effects of malnutrition on former prisoners, VA physicians are better equipped to determine the nature of disabilities," he said. "In many cases, the effects of malnutrition may have escaped detection in ordinary physical examinations. In certain instances, the after-effects may have been slow in appearing."

Ethridge Chosen For Greek Inquiry

Washington, Dec. 21 (AP)—James F. Byrnes, Secretary of State, tonight named Mark Ethridge, publisher of the Louisville Courier-Journal, as American representative on the United Nations commission to investigate alleged Greek border violations.

Ethridge will have two or three technical assistants who will be announced later.

In the Fall of 1945 he investigated political conditions in Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Romania for Brynes. His report has not been made public.

The Security Council decided Thursday to send a commission to investigate disturbances along the borders between Greece and Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia.

Medal Is Presented To Transworld Chief

Washington, Dec. 21 (AP)—Robert W. Patterson, Secretary of War, presented the Medal for Merit today to Jack Frye, president of Transworld Airlines, for "outstanding services to the United Nations" in wartime.

A citation said Frye made a "noteworthy contribution" in the operation of commercial air transports, inaugurating overseas air routes and training pilots and crews.

GI BILL HELPS TOO FEW, SAYS V.F.W. LEADER

DEC 1946

Cost 20 Billions, Only Half Benefit, Bonus Supporter Holds

Washington, Dec. 21 (AP)—Omar B. Ketchum, of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, estimated tonight that taxpayers will put out $20,000,000,000 or more under the GI Bill of Rights and less than half of the World War II veterans will get any substantial benefit.

The V.F.W. legislative director gave the figures in an article in the January issue of the V.F.W. National News as an argument for a Federal bonus to veterans.

Ketchum projected his cost estimate over the life of the GI bill's various benefits, on the basis of Veterans Administration figures on the outlay up to October 31.

2,500,000 Veterans Aided

He got actual cost figures for only three sections of the law, those providing educational aid, loans and unemployment allowances, and arrived at a partial total of $2,761,766,833 in direct benefits to veterans and estimated administrative costs within the Veterans' Administration. He noted there are other big items, difficult to estimate, representing the outlays of such agencies as the Treasury and the General Accounting Office.

Ketchum reported these figures on direct benefits to veterans up to October 31: Education (subsistence, tuition and such), $946,381,521; loan guaranty, $38,004,838; unemployment allowances $1,679,123,056.

The V.F.W. official estimated 2,500,000 veterans are receiving, or have received, benefits under the education section of the act, about 6,500,000 have had unemployment allowances and 500,000 have received loan benefits.

Aid Seen For 7,500,000

He figured that over the years about 5,000,000 will get substantial aid under the education provisions, 1,500,000 under the loan title, and the unemployment allowances will depend on economic conditions.

There will be numerous duplications, with thousands receiving benefits under all three sections, Ketchum said.

On that basis, he added, "it is estimated that less than 7,000,000 World War II veterans will receive substantial benefits under the GI act before its provisions expire."

DALTON FORECASTS 'A LOT OF HOUSING'

DEC 1946

Deputy Expediter, Resigning, Says Wyatt Laid Foundation for 'Tremendous Building'

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP)—With the assertion that "we'll get a lot of housing, but it's no longer a veterans' program," the deputy housing expediter, Neil Dalton, resigned tonight to return to duty as assistant to the president of the Louisville Courier-Journal.

Mr. Dalton was in charge of field operations for the former expediter, Wilson Wyatt, who quit because of President Truman's relaxation of controls. He credited Mr. Wyatt with laying the foundation for "tremendous building next spring."

But unless the Government helped finance the makers of assembly-line houses, Mr. Dalton declared, there was "no way to get modest, low-cost dwellings to relieve the next few hardship years."

The American Institute of Architects predicted, however, that the relaxation of controls would "not only speed up construction but will reduce costs."

The institute has advocated complete removal of wartime controls, including rent ceilings, immediately. Its statement tonight said the housing situation was becoming "progressively better and the outlook for housing veterans is improved."

Simultaneously the Labor Department reported a 2.7 per cent increase in November in the number of apprentices in the building industry, which faces a labor shortage next year. The increase was achieved despite the seasonal drop in new construction.

Mr. Dalton emphasized that his resignation was not a protest, like that of his fellow-deputy, Norton E. Long, a week ago. He said he had arranged previously with Mr. Wyatt to leave by the year-end. He added that he had offered to give aid when needed to Mr. Wyatt's successors, Raymond M. Foley, national housing administrator, and Frank R. Creedon, expediter.

"The outlook for large numbers of conventional-type houses is excellent, but that's nothing new," Mr. Dalton told an interviewer. "When Wyatt took over, his first effort was to increase production of building materials.

"That has been highly successful. Every line on every production chart is heading to the sky. The fruit of that planting will be harvested next spring in tremendous building activity.

"But I don't think we can get houses within reach of the lower-income family without an industrialized, mass-production housing program."

Whether this could be achieved depended on "important" decisions soon to be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, Mr. Dalton said. He thought the lending policy might be settled this week.

"In time, private capital alone will develop a factory-built housing industry, but the question is whether we will get them soon enough to save veterans from hardship in the years just ahead," the retiring deputy continued. "This is a question of the Government actually paying out money to buy time."

ATTORNEYS ACT TO CITE TERRY FOR CONTEMPT

DEC 1946

Ferguson Says He Would Vote to Unseat Bilbo on Present Evidence.

SECRETARY ILL IN CAPITAL

Senator, With Hearing Recessed, Will Spend Christmas in Dream House No. 1.

Washington, Dec. 21 (A. P.).—Attorneys for the Senate War Investigating Committee said today that they have asked for authority to file contempt charges against Edward P. Terry, former secretary of Senator Bilbo (D.-Miss.) The action is based on Terry's refusal to tell the committee what became of $15,000 which he said a New Yorker gave him to use against Bilbo in the Mississippi election this year.

Committee counsel must obtain permission of President Pro Tem McKellar (D.-Tenn), and then pass the contempt complaint along to the Federal District Attorney here for presentation to a grand jury. Penalties for contempt of the Senate range up to a year in jail and $1,000 fine.

Senator Mead (D.-N. Y.), the chairman, directed George Meader, counsel for the committee, also to push a perjury charge against Terry.

Senator Ferguson (R.-Mich.) says that on the basis of evidence already presented to the committee he would vote against allowing Bilbo to take his seat, if the matter was subject to a roll call. Participating in a radio broadcoast last night he asserted: "I would say the evidence is very clear there was a violation of the law in Bilbo's accepting money from a war contractor."

The former secretary testified that he got the $15,000 from Simon Liberman of New York to back any opponent who could defeat Bilbo this year. Unable to find such an opponent, Terry said, he then was told to give the funds to any one who opposed Bilbo in the run-off primary. But Bilbo mustered a majority over his four opponents in the first primary and there was no run-off. So, Terry said, he handed the cash back to Liberman.

Terry Then Closed Up.

Ferguson declared this was impossible because Liberman died several months before Terry's bank accounts showed the money repaid. Terry said that he was confused and declined to tell who received the funds.

A woman, who identified herself as Mrs. Terry, said that he is ill in his apartment here, under doctor's orders to talk to no one, and has nothing more to say about the transaction.

Meanwhile the 69-year-old Bilbo, declaring he has cleared himself of all complaints about his dealings with contractors, said that he will spend Christmas at his Dream House home near Poplarville, Miss.

"I've not missed spending Christmas in the Dream House since 1935," Bilbo said.

The Senator told a reporter he hardly expects to get the keys to an expensive new automobile and additional home furnishings from Santa Claus this year. Witnesses testified that he received these gifts from war contractors in 1941 along with an artificial lake, a swimming pool, a Dream House No. 2, a painting of the original Dream House and thousands of dollars for a church parsonage on his farm.

Old Southern Custom.

Bilbo explained that gifts to public servants "are an old Southern custom" and that while some contractors were among the donors, they were "old friends" and there were "no strings attached."

Ferguson reported that he and committee attorneys are rechecking all testimony and exhibits in an attempt to complete a report by December 30. The other two sub-committee members, Mead and Tunnell (D.-Del.), are not members of the new Congress which takes office January 3. The sub-committee report will go to the full war investigating committee and from there to the new Senate.

Food Prices Drop in Cities

Labor Statistics Bureau Reports 3.5 Per Cent Decline Here

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP).—Food prices dropped in eleven of twelve large cities between Nov. 26 and Dec. 17, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today.

Prices in New York declined 3.5 per cent, Kansas City, Boston and Washington, 3 per cent; Los Angeles and Pittsburgh, 2 per cent; Chicago and Detroit, 1.5 per cent. Minor declines took place in Cleveland, Houston and Denver, while in Savannah prices were unchanged.

Meats, except chickeen, declined in most cities. Round steak, chuck roast and bacon were lower in ten of the cities. Pork chops dropped in all twelve.

STOP WATCH CLOCKS ATOM

New Electronic Measuring Device Is Perfected at Yale

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 21—An electric "stop watch" capable of measuring time intervals as brief as one-thousandth of one millionth of a second—so short an interval that light, speeding at 186,000 miles a second, would travel only one foot during the measured period—has been perfected in the Sloane Physics Laboratory at Yale University.

The "stop watch," known as a precision time measurer, is the only machine of its type known to have been developed in this country. It was perfected by Dr. Howard L. Schultz, assistant Professor of Physics, a member of the Yale faculty since 1938 who was on the staff of the Radiation Laboratory of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology during the war years.

Designed to measure the speed of atomic particles—and to count them as well—the device is also used to determine the energy of a charged particle in nuclear reactions. According to Dr. Schultz, it "opens a new field in instrumentation—a field which has barely been scratched."

Bishop Buddy Urges U.S. Oust Its U. N. Delegates

San Diego Prelate Calls Them 'Appeasers' of Russia

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Dec. 21 (AP).—Bishop Charles Francis Buddy of the Catholic Diocese of San Diego stated in a "Christmas message" issued to the press and radio here yesterday that Congress should "take prompt steps to oust" United States delegates to the United Nations, which he maintained was "sowing the seeds of war."

The bishop's statement, which particularly criticized United Nations "vicious interference in Spain," said the American delegates were "timidly in the role of appeasers" of Russia.

"The prominent representatives to the peace table," the statement declared, "ignored the spirit of the veterans who won the great victory. Instead of getting down to their solemn duty of promoting peace, the United Nations conferees busied themselves in sowing the seeds of war. They tried to outsmart, outshine and circumvent one another."

German Newsmen May Work in U. S.

Editor Proposes Jobs to Teach Them Democracy

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 21 (AP).—A plan to bring German newspaper men to the United States to learn democracy by working on American newspapers has been disclosed by Paul C. Smith, editor of "The San Francisco Chronicle," who returned recently from an Army-sponsored trip through Europe.

The plan can be set in motion, Mr. Smith said, as soon as a peace treaty with Germany has been signed and the status of erstwhile enemy nations fixed.

A number of American editors who visited Germany and other European countries on the Army trip have agreed "informally" to the plan, he declared. Among them, Mr. Smith said, are Palmer Hoyt, of "The Denver Post"; Barry Bingham, of "The Louisville Times"; James Kearney jr., of "The Trenton Times"; Philip Parrish, of "The Portland Oregonian," and Manchester Boddy, of "The Los Angeles Daily News."

The idea is to bring German newspaper men to America for a year," Mr. Smith said. "They would work in the city rooms and on the beats, exactly like American staff men.

"They might be asked to write special articles interpreting news events from Europe.

"But the main purpose is to let them learn democracy by working with Americans on American newspapers. They will discover, first hand, a free press, and will learn, better than through any amount of lecturing, what a free press means in the life of a nation."

Mr. Smith said he saw reporters and editors in Germany some of whom, although comparatively young, had passed most of the war years in concentration camps. "I'd be glad to have any one of them on this paper," he said.

DR. MC CONAUGHY TO RESIGN USC POST ON DEC 31

New York, Dec. 21—Dr. James L. McConaughy, governor-elect of Connecticut, will relinquish his post as president of United Service to China December 31, in order to assume his new duties, it was announced yesterday at the offices of USC, 1790 Broadway.

Dr. McConaughy was tendered a farewell party by the officers and staff members at USC headquarters this afternoon when felicitation and well wishes were extended.

Commenting on Dr. McConaughy's departure, Charles Edison, national chairman of USC, stated: "Throughout his four years' leadership of USC, Dr. McConaughy has made an outstanding contribution to China and to Chinese-American understanding and co-operation. During this same time, he rendered distinguished war-time service as associate director of the Office of Strategic Services, and more recently has served as chairman of the Navy's Civilian Advisory Committee.

"He has long had a deep-rooted interest in China, with particularly close associations with Yale-in-China and West China Union University and with a special propensity for helping Chinese students studying in America.

"As he assumes the important responsibilities as Connecticut's governor, all his associates and friends at USC extend to him good wishes. China will continue to count upon a share of his interest and affection."

Dr. McConaughy came to the presidency of USC in 1942 after 18 years as president of Wesleyan University, at Middletown, Conn. He served one term as lieutenant governor of Connecticut, during 1939-1940. Dr. B. A. Garside, who has been vice president and secretary of USC since 1941, has been appointed to the newly-created post of executive vice president.

LONDON, DEC 21—(AP)—ALEXANDER, FORMER FIRST LORD OF BRITAIN'S ADMIRALTY TODAY ASSUMED THE TITLE OF MINISTER OF DEFENSE MINISTER, FOLLOWING ROYAL APPROVAL OF LEGISLATION CREATING THE NEW CABINET POST WHICH IS RESPONSIBLE FOR COORDINATING ARMY, NAVY AND AIR FORCES. MEANWHILE, IT WAS GENERALLY RECOGNIZED THAT ANY PLAN WHICH COULD NOT GAIN RUSSIAN APPROVAL WAS DOOMED IN ADVANCE, BECAUSE RUSSIA COULD WIELD THE VETO ON THE PLAN ITSELF IN THE SECURITY COUNCIL, WHICH MUST APPROVE THE PROPOSED TREATY.

RECOGNIZING THIS, THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT WAS REPORTED TO HAVE SENT NEW INSTRUCTIONS TO SIR ALEXANDER CADOGAN YESTERDAY ADVISING HIM TO USE EVERY MEANS POSSIBLE TO WIN SOVIET APPROVAL AND AVOID A SPLIT AMONG THE BIG FIVE.

FRENCH DELEGATE ALEXANDRE PARODI, WHILE SUPPORTING THE CANADIAN COMPROMISE, DECLARED THAT THE QUESTION OF ELIMINATING THE VETO FROM ATOMIC MATTERS STILL REMAINED UNSOLVED. HE EXPRESSED BELIEF, HOWEVER, THAT THE ISSUE WOULD BE SOLVED.

THIS ISSUE OVER THE ARMED FORCES WAS WHAT MADE IT IMPOSSIBLE FOR SOCIALIST PREMIER BLUM TO FORM HIS INTENDED COALITION GOVERNMENT LAST WEEK. THE TWO MOST POWERFUL PARTIES IN FRANCE, THE COMMUNISTS AND GEORGES BIDAULT'S MRP, WERE UNABLE TO AGREE ON WHO SHOULD HAVE THE MINISTRY OF DEFENSE.

THE COMMUNISTS REFUSED TO TAKE PART IN A BLUM GOVERNMENT UNLESS THEY WERE GIVEN THE DEFENSE POST, AND THE MRP REFUSED TO CONSENT TO THIS, CHARGING THAT THE COMMUNISTS INTENDED TO "UNDERMINE" THE FRENCH ARMY BY LOADING IT WITH A "FIFTH COLUMN."

SO BLUM WAS OBLIGED TO BRING IN A MINORITY GOVERNMENT COMPOSED ENTIRELY OF SOCIALISTS PLEDGED TO UNPOPULAR ECONOMIC CUTS. THEY PLAN TO START SAVING MONEY BY DISCHARGING GOVERNMENT EMPLOYES, NOT EXCLUDING SOLDIERS.

"WE HAVE NOT ENOUGH MEN NOR ENOUGH ARMS," HE SAID, "BUT WE WILL WAGE A WAR OF DESTRUCTION, OF SABOTAGE TO MAKE LIFE IMPOSSIBLE FOR THE CONQUERORS. IT'S VERY SIMPLE. IT WILL BE JUST LIKE THAT. A PERMANENT WAR, A BATTLE EVERY DAY, FROM GENERATION TO GENERATION."

HE DECLARED THAT ESTIMATES OF 30,000 ARMED VIET-NAMESE WERE EXAGGERATED AND SAID THAT THE MARCH AGREEMENT RECOGNIZING THE VIET NAM REPUBLIC ALLOWED THE VIET-NAMESE 10,000 EFFECTIVES AND THE FRENCH 15,000 REGULAR SOLDIERS.

BERLIN, DEC. 21-(AP)-GERMANS IN THE AMERICAN ZONE HAVE BEEN FED FROM RESERVE STOCKS FOR THE LAST THREE MONTHS AS FOOD IMPORTS FROM THE UNITED STATES HAVE RUN LESS THAN HALF OF REQUIREMENTS, BUT A BIG INCREASE IS COUNTED UPON NEXT MONTH TO MAKE UP DEFICIENCIES, GEN. JOSEPH T.MCNARNEY, AMERICAN MILITARY GOVERNOR, SAID TODAY.

THE THEATER COMMANDER TOLD A NEWS CONFERENCE THAT A LOCAL RCISIS IN MEETING THE OFFICIAL 1,550 CALORIES DAILY RATION IN WUERTTEMBERG-BADEN HAD BEEN SOLVED BY A LOAN OF FLOUR AND CEREAL FROM ARMY STOCKS.

MCNARNEY SAID HE HAD BEEN INFORMED THAT 300,000 TONS OF AMERICAN FOOD FOR GERMANY WAS ON THE SEAS OR IN PROCESS OF LOADING AND EXPECTED TO ARRIVE IN THE NEXT MONTH.

"OVER THE LAST THREE MONTHS," HE SAID "WE HAVE BEEN GETTING LESS THAN HALF THE IMPORTS NEEDED TO SUPPORT THE 1,550-CALORY RATION, BUT WE EXPECT ANTICIPATED SHIPMENTS IN THE COURSE OF THE NEXT MONTH TO MAKE UP THE DEFICIENCY. MEANWHILE, WE HAVE BEEN USING RESERVE STOCKS."

MCNARNEY WAS ASKED ABOUT CHARGES MADE BY INDIVIDUAL GERMANS IN NEWSPAPERS HERE THAT THE RUSSIANS HAVE BEEN ARRESTING AND DEPORTING TO THE SOVIET UNION FOR LABOR PRISONERS OF WAR RELEASED BY THE AMERICANS AND BRITISH. HE SAID THAT SO FAR HE CONSIDERED THESE REPORTS "JUST RU BUT ADDED:

"IF THE REPORTS WERE PROVED TRUE THEY DOUBTLESS WOULD BECOME A SUBJECT FOR QUADRIPARTITE DISCUSSION. IF TRUE, THEY WOULD BE OF CONCERN TO THE UNITED STATES BECAUSE ANY FORCIBLE DEPORTATION OF LABOR IS CONTRARY TO OUR POLICY."

MCNARNEY SAID ATTEMPTS TO AGREE ON A UNIFORM FOUR POWER POLICY ON THE USE OF GERMAN TECHNICIANS AND LABOR OUTSIDE GERMANY HAD SO FAR BEEN UNSUCCESSFUL.

TO IMPROVE RELATIONS BETWEEN AMERICAN TROOPS AND THE GERMAN POPULATION, MCNARNEY SAID, AMERICAN COMMANDERS WERE "WEEDKING OUT THOSE SOLDIERS WHO DON'T FIT INTO THE OCCUPATION."

HE SAID THERE HAD BEEN NO INCREASE IN THE NUMBER OF INCIDENTS BETWEEN AMERICANS AND GERMANS "ALTHOUGH AN INCREASE HAD BEEN EXPECTED AS MISFIT PERSONNEL, KNOWING THEY WERE SOON GOING HOME, MIGHT HAVE BEEN EXPECTED TO TAKE ONE LAST FLING."

BERLIN, DEC 21-(AP)-THE SOVIET MILITARY ADMINISTRATION ANNOUNCED TODAY THAT MARSHAL VASSILY D.SOKOLOVSKY, RUSSIAN MILITARY GOVERNOR OF GERMANY, HAD INTERVENED ON BEHALF OF FARMERS IN THE RUSSIAN ZONE WHO WERE BEING JAILED AND FINED FOR INABILITY TO DELIVER FIXED PRODUCTION QUOTAS, WHICH THOUSANDS OF FARMERS HAD COMPLAINED WERE TOO HIGH.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT SAID THAT IN MANY CASES SOKOLOVSKY ORDERED THE QUOTAS REDUCED AND THE PENALTIES CANCELLED.

THE RUSSIAN STATEMENT CONCEDED THAT QUOTAS IMPOSSIBLE OF FULFILLMENT HAD BEEN FIXED IN SOME COMMUNITIES AND IT BLAMED THE LOCAL GERMAN AUTHORITIES FOR A SITUATION WHICH HAD RESULTED IN A GROWING "FARMERS' REVOLT."

THE RUSSIANS ALLEGED THAT WHERE IMPOSSIBLY HIGH QUOTAS WERE SET, ESPECIALLY FOR NEW FARMERS ESTABLISHED UNDER THE BIG LAND REFORM PROGRAM, THE LOCAL ADMINISTRATIONS "ACTED CONTRARY TO ORDERS OF THE SOVIET MILITARY ADMINISTRATION".

IT CHARGED-- AS HAD THE COMPLAINING FARMERS-- THAT NO REGARD WAS GIVEN TO LACK OF SEEDS AND UNFAVORABLE WEATHER WHICH IN SOME PLACES RESULTED IN SHORT CROPS.

ACCORDING TO GERMAN REPORTS, PEASANTS WHO FELL SHORT IN THEIR QUOTAS WERE TRIED BY COURTS LARGELY COMPOSED OF MEMBERS OF THE COMMUNIST-DOMINATED SOCIALIST UNITY PARTY WHICH SOMETIMES DEALT OUT PENALTIES WITHOUT HEARING THE FARMERS DEFENSE ARGUMENTS.

FRANKFURT, GERMANY, DEC.21-(AP)-GEN. JOSEPH T.MCNARNEY, EUROPEAN THEATER COMMANDER, STEPPED INTO THE MUNICH HOUSING CRISIS TODAY BY ORDERING THAT ALL REQUISITIONING OF GERMAN HOMES IN THE BOMB-SCARRED BAVARIAN CITY BE HALTED UNTIL AFTER CHRISTMAS.

THE GERMAN POPULATION HAD BEEN SHOWING SIGNS OF DEEP RESENTMENT AT WHAT IT BELIEVED WERE INJUSTICES IN THE DISPOSSESSION OF GERMANS IN MID-WINTER TO ACCOMMODATE THE INFLUX OF AMERICANS' DEPENDENTS.

MUNICH WAS 45 PERCENT DESTROYED BY BOMBS AND SHELLS.

BRIG. GEN. H.R. GAY, CHIEF OF U.S. CONSTABULARY IN THE MUNICH AREA, TOLD A NEWS CONFERENCE YESTERDAY THAT 550 AMERICAN FAMILIES HAD BEEN HOUSED IN THE AREA, THAT 638 MORE WERE SCHEDULED TO ARRIVE AND THAT HE DID NOT SEE HOW THE BOMBED OUT AREA COULD ACCOMMODATE THE EXPECTED ARRIVALS.

THE GERMAN POPULATION IN THE BAVARIAN CITY HAD EXPRESSED DEEP RESENTMENT AT WHAT IT DESCRIBED AS GRAVE INJUSTICES IN THE DISPOSSESSION OF GERMANS TO MAKE ROOM FOR AMERICAN FAMILIES.

GERMAN OFFICIALS HAD CLAIMED THAT 91 PERCENT OF THE HOUSES SEIZED WERE TAKEN FROM GERMANS WITHOUT NAZI RECORDS. DR.WILHELM HOEGNER, MINISTER-PRESIDENT OF BAVARIA, CHARGED THAT MILITARY POLICE AND ARMORED CARS SEIZED ENTIRE AREAS, SOMETIMES AT NIGHT.

MUNICH, DEC. 21-(AP)-DR.JOSEPH MUELLER, CHAIRMAN OF THE CHRISTIAN SOCIAL UNION PARTY, FAILED TODAY TO WIN ELECTION AS MINISTER PRESIDENT OF BAVARIA AND IT SO INFURIATED HIM HE STRODE OUT OF THE LEGISLATURE WITH 28 OF HIS FOLLOWERS.

THE POST WENT TO A "DARK HORSE" CANDIDATE, HANS ERHARD, 48-YEAR-OLD JURIST WHO HAD ONCE HELPED PROSECUTE ADOLF HITLER AND THROW HIM IN JAIL AFTER THE UNSUCCESSFUL PUTSCH IN MUNICH IN 1923. ERHARD HAD BEEN TROTTED OUT AT THE LAST MOMENT BY THE CSU.

MUELLER HAD BEEN DECLARED BY THE U.S.MILITARY GOVERNMENT TO BE ELIGIBLE AS A CANDIDATE, ALTHOUGH HE WAS FACING A GERMAN DENAZIFICATION COURT. HE HAD BEEN ACCUSED OF NAZI CONNECTIONS BECAUSE HE WAS IN THE GERMAN INTELLIGENCE CORPS UNDER HITLER. MUELLER DENIED THE CHARGE, SAYING HE USED HIS CONNECTIONS TO PLOT THE OVERTHROW OF THE NAZIS AND OBTAIN PEACE TERMS THROUGH THE VATICAN.

THE DEFEAT OF MUELLER CAME AS A SURPRISE, FOR EARLIER IN THE DAY HE HAD BEEN GIVEN A VOTE OF CONFIDENCE BY THE 104 DELEGATES OF HIS PARTY. IN THE FIRST SECRET BALLOTING FOR MINISTER PRESIDENT HE GOT ONLY 73 OF THOSE VOTES TO 59 FOR ANTON PFEIFFER AND 33 FOR ERHARD.

THE IRATE MUELLER REFUSED TO PARTICIPATE IN THE SECOND BALLOT, IN WHICH ERHARD GOT 121 VOTES, ONE MORE THAN THE REQUIRED TWO-THIRDS.

ERHARD WILL HOLD THE POST FOR FOUR YEARS.

ERHARD SAID TONIGHT HE HOPED HE AND MUELLER COULD WORK TOGETHER AND THAT HE WAS "SATISFIED" THAT MUELLER REMAIN AS CSU CHAIRMAN, PROVIDED MUELLER ACCEPTS THE LEGISLATURE'S CHOICE FOR THE HEAD OF THE GOVERNMENT.

HE ANNOUNCED HE HAD SET ASIDE FIVE CABINET SEATS FOR THE CSU, THREE FOR THE SOCIAL DEMOCRATS AND ONE FOR THE ECONOMIC RECONSTRUCTIONISTS.

MUNICH, DEC.21-(AP)-THE NEW BAVARIAN LEGISLATURE TODAY CHOSE AS MINISTER-PRESIDENT HANS ERHARD, 48-YEAR-OLD JUDGE WHO HELPED PROSECUTE AND CONVICT ADOLF HITLER AFTER HIS 1923 BEER HALL PUTSCH HERE.

ERHARD, A DARK HORSE CANDIDATE, WAS BROUGHT OUT AT THE LAST MINUTE BY THE CHRISTIAN SOCIAL UNION PARTY AFTER ITS CHAIRMAN, JOSEPH MUELLER, FAILED TO RECEIVE ENOUGH VOTES.

ERHARD WON 121 VOTES, ONE MORE THAN THE REQUIRED TWO-THIRDS, ON THE SECOND BALLOT, WITH 15 VOTES CAST AGAINST HIM AND SIX HELD INVALID.

THE JURIST HAS BEEN STATE SECRETARY FOR JUSTICE UNDER DR. WILLIAM HOEGNER, SOCIAL DEMOCRATIC MINISTER-PRESIDENT, WHO WAS NOT NOMINATED IN TODAY'S BALLOTING. ERHARD IS REGARDED HIGHLY FOR HIS ROLE AS SECOND PROSECUTOR, WHEN HE WAS A YOUNG LAWYER, AT THE TRIAL OF HITLER, RUDOLF HESS AND OTHER EARLY NAZIS WHO PARTICIPATED IN THE PUTSCH.

HIS VICTORY TODAY SO INFURIATED MUELLER THAT THE LATTER WALKED OUT OF THE CONVENTION WITH 28 OF HIS FOLLOWERS AND REFUSED TO PARTICIPATE IN THE FINAL VOTING.

EARLIER TODAY MUELLER HAD RECEIVED A VOTE OF CONFIDENCE FROM 104 C.S.U. DELEGATES, BUT IN THE SECRET BALLOTING FOR THE OFFICE ITSELF HE GOT ONLY 73 TO 59 FOR ANTON PFEIFFER AND 33 FOR ERHARD. THE NEW MINISTER PRESIDENT SWEPT IN ON THE SECOND BALLOT.

TEHRAN, DEC.20-(DELAYED)-(AP)-OCCUPATION BY THE IRANIAN ARMY OF THE REBELLIOUS PROVINCE OF AZERBAIJAN ON THE RUSSIAN BORDER HAS BROUGHT NEW STRENGTH TO PREMIER AHMED QAVAM AND HAS PLACED HIS NEW "DEMOCRAT PARTY OF IRAN" IN A DOMINANT POSITION FOR PARLIAMENTARY ELECTIONS SCHEDULED TO BEGIN SUNDAY.

NOW THAT THE AZERBAIJAN INSURGENT LEADERS HAVE BEEN OUSTED FROM THE PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT, MANY OF THEM FLEEING ACROSS THE RUSSIAN BORDER, THE LEFTIST TUDEH PARTY IS THE ONLY SERIOUS OPPOSITION FACING QAVAM.

MUCH OF THE TUDEH'S ACTIVITY HAS CEASED TO RECEIVE PUBLIC ATTENTION. THE TWO PRINCIPAL TUDEH NEWSPAPERS HAVE BEEN SUPPRESSED. A TUDEH PAPER RECENTLY DECLARED THE PARTY WOULD BOYCOTT THE ELECTIONS, CONTENDING THAT THEY WERE NOT GOING TO BE FAIRLY CONDUCTED.

MOST FOREIGN OBSERVERS BELIEVE THAT QAVAM WILL HAVE LITTLE TROUBLE IN WINNING A MAJORITY OF PARLIAMENT BECAUSE OF THE INCREASE IN HIS POPULARITY FOLLOWING HIS HANDLING OF THE AZERBAIJAN QUESTION.

(ADVANCE)...TOKYO, DEC.21-(AP)-JAPAN'S LAND REFORM STATUTE, UNDER WHICH TNANTS WILL BE PERMITTED TO PURCHASE THE SOIL THEY WILL, IS A "VE GOOD LAW," BUT IT ALONE WILL NOT SOLVE THIS COUNTRY'S AGRICULTURAL PROBLEMS, IN THE OPINION OF WOLF I.LADEJINSKY OF THE OCCUPATION HEAD-QUARTERS NATURAL RESOURCES SECTION.

LADEJINSKY, WHO HAS BEEN AGRICULTURAL ECONOMIST HERE, IS RETURNING SHORTLY TO HIS POSITION AS PRINCIPAL ECONOMIST IN THE OFFICE OF FOREIGN AGRICULTURAL RELATIONS FOR THE U.S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE. HE TOLD ALLIED CORRESPONDENTS THAT HE REGARDED THE JAPANESE LAND REFORM ACT AS BETTER THAN THOSE OF DENMARK, IRELAND AND ENGLAND.

WHILE THE LAW ITSELF IS VITAL, HE SAID, JAPANESE AGRICULTURE CANNOT CARRY THE HUGE SHARE OF THE NATION'S ECONOMY WITH WHICH SOME THEORISTS WISH TO SADDLE IT.

JAPAN NEVER IN MODERN TIMES HAS BEEN SELF-SUFFICIENT IN FOOD, HE DECLARED. BROADENED OWNERSHIP OF LAND PROBABLY WILL INCREASE THE YIELD BUT THE NATION STILL WILL HAVE TO IMPORT FOOD.

IF JAPAN'S POPULATION REACHES 80,000,000 WITHIN THE NEXT FIVE YEARS AND HER PEOPLE REQUIRE 2,200 CALORIES A DAY EACH, THE COUNTRY WILL NEED 19,000,000 TO 20,000,000 TONS OF FOOD A YEAR. "IT IS DOUBTFUL IF JAPAN COULD RAISE 17,000,000 TONS," HE ESTIMATED.

JAPAN HAS ABOUT 15,000,000 ACRES OF FARM LAND AND IT MAY BE EXTREMEL DIFFICULT TO INCREASE IT. IN HIS BELIEF, A GOVERNMENT LAND RECLAMATION PROGRAM RELIES TOO HEAVILY ON THE NORTHERN ISLAND OF HOKKAIDO, WHICH HE TERMED LARGELY MARGINAL.

BUENOS AIRES, DEC.21-(AP)-U.S. AMBASSADOR GEORGE S.MESSERSMITH LEFT FOR WASHINGTON TODAY TO REPORT TO SECRETARY OF STATE JAMES F.BYRNES ON THE FIRST SIX MONTHS OF HIS MISSION TO ARGENTINA, WITH PRESIDENT AND MRS. JUAN PERON AND TWO CABINET MINISTERS AT THE AIRPORT TO SEE HIM OFF.

DIPLOMATIC OBSERVERS EXPRESSED BELIEF MESSERSMITH'S TRIP MIGHT INVOLVE A SHOWDOWN FIGHT FOR ESTABLISHMENT OF A CLEAR NORTH AMERICAN POLICY TOWARD ARGENTINA, AS WELL AS FOR THE PURPOSE OF SUBMITTING HIS REPORT.

THE AMBASSADOR HIMSELF HAS REPEATEDLY DENIED REPORTS THAT HE DIFFERED ON POLICY WITH SPRUILLE BRADEN, ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF STATE FOR LATIN-AMERICAN AFFAIRS AND MESSERSMITH'S PREDECESSOR HERE BUT ARGENTINE OFFICIALS HAVE DECLARED THERE IS A CONTROVERSY INSIDE THE U.S. STATE DEPARTMENT WHICH HAS BEEN BLOCKING "COMPLETELY NORMAL RELATIONS" ? BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND ARGENTINA.

IN ANY EVENT, DIPLOMATS REGARDED THE PRESENCE AT THE AIRPORT OF PERON AND HIS MINISTERS--FOREIGN MINISTER JUAN BRAMUGLIA AND WAR MINISTER JOSE HUMBERTO SOSA MOLINA--AS EVIDENCE THAT ARGENTINA FELT MESSERSMITH'S TRIP TO WASHINGTON WAS OF THE UTMOST IMPORTANCE.

THE ARGENTINE GOVERNMENT, WHOSE ARMED FORCES WANT TO BUY NORTH AMERICAN ARMS HERETOFORE DENIED THEM, IS HOPEFUL, QUALIFIED SOURCES SAID, THAT A FIRST HAND REPORT FROM MESSERSMITH MIGHT AT LEAST LET PERON KNOW DEFINITELY WHAT THE U.S. EXPECTS OF ARGENTINA.

MEANWHILE, FOREIGN OFFICE SOURCES SAID ARGENTINA AND RUSSIA WOULD SIGN A TREATY OF FRIENDSHIP, COMMERCE AND NAVIGATION, "SOME TIME DURING THE FIRST TWO WEEKS OF JANUARY."

halifax, n.s., dec. 21 - (ap) - two thousand prisoners of war, the last of 35,000 former nazi soldiers interned in canada during the war years, marched aboard the transport [illegible] samaria tonight, bound for great britain and, eventually, germany.

the ship is scheduled to sail tomorrow.

(ADVANCE) WASHINGTON,DEC 21-(AP)-ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF STATE SPRUILLE BRADEN SAID TONIGHT THAT "A FEW UNDEMOCRATIC GOVERNMENTS" IN THE WESTERN HEMISPHERE POSE A THREAT OF BOTH "RIGHT" AND "LEFT" TOTALITARIANISM TO ALL THE AMERICAN NATIONS.

BRADEN AND ELLIS BRIGGS, DIRECTOR OF THE OFFICE OF AMERICAN REPUBLICS AFFAIRS, WERE SPEAKERS ON THE STATE DEPARTMENT'S WEEKLY RADIO PROGRAM EXPLAINING FOREIGN POLICY.

"THERE IS MORE DEMOCRACY IN THE AMERICAS TODAY," BRADEN SAID, "THAN THERE WAS A GENERATION AGO, AND THERE WAS MORE A GENERATION AGO THAN THERE HAD BEEN A GENERATION BEFORE THAT.

"BUT A FEW UNDEMOCRATIC GOVERNMENTS STILL EXIST AND NOW IN OUR TIME WE ARE CONFRONTING IN THIS HEMISPHERE NEW THREATS OF TOTALITARIANISM OF BOTH THE SO-CALLED 'RIGHT' AND 'LEFT.'"

HE DID NOT IDENTIFY THEM.

BRADEN SAID THE POLICY OF THE UNITED STATES IS BASED ON "A MORE FRIENDLY FEELING FOR AND A GREATER DESIRE TO COLLABORATE WITH THOSE GOVERNMENTS WHICH REST UPON THE PERIODICALLY AND FREELY EXPRESSED CONSENT OF THE GOVERNED."

ASKED WHAT THE UNITED STATES WOULD DO IF TOTALITARIANISM BEGINS TO MAKE HEADWAY AGAINST DEMOCRACY IN THE WESTERN HEMISPHERE, BRADEN REPLIED:

"TOTALITARIANISM ANYWHERE IN THIS HEMISPHERE, WOULD, IF ALLOWED TO DEVELOP, BECOME A THREAT TO THE PEACE OF ALL THE AMERICAN REPUBLICS AND WOULD THEREFORE BE A MATTER OF EQUAL CONCERN TO ALL OF THEM--NOT JUST TO US ALONE."

BOSTON, DEC 21-(AP)-FEDERAL AUTHORITIES WERE PREPARING EVIDENCE TODAY AGAINST TWO MEN THEY BELIEVE ARE THE FIRST AMERICANS EVER TO BE ACCUSED OF TREASON-BY-RADIO.

U.S.ATTORNEY GEORGE F.GARRITY SAID THE GOVERNMENT WILL PRESENT EVIDENCE TO A FEDERAL GRAND JURY ON DEC. 27 IN THE CASE OF ROBERT H. BEST AND DOUGLAS CHANDLER, WHO WERE INDICTED BY A GRAND JURY IN WASHINGTON IN 1943 OF BROADCASTING FROM BERLIN DURING THE WAR.

GARRITY ADDED THAT THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE WILL PROSECUTE THE CASE IN BOSTON BECAUSE OF A PROVISION IN THE LAW THAT STIPULATES THE ACCUSED PERSONS SHALL BE TRIED IN THE DISTRICT WHERE THEY LAND ON RETURNING TO THIS COUNTRY.

THE PLANE CARRYING THE TWO MEN FROM GERMANY WAS FORCED TO LAND AT WESTOVER FIELD, CHICOPEE, MASS., LAST SATURDAY.

BOTH BEST AND CHANDLER ARE FORMER AMERICAN NEWSPAPERMEN. THE GOVERNMENT CONTENDS THE LATTER WAS KNOWN IN HIS BROADCASTS AS "PAUL REVERE."

BEVIN CONFIDENT RUSSIA WILL WORK FOR WORLD PEACE

MACHIN

Nations Will Cooperate with Russia, Says British Leader.

SEES REVISION OF VETO

Foreign Secretary Pledges Aid to Italy—Replies to Critics.

LONDON, Dec. 22 (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin tonight expressed the belief that Russia has shown herself ready to coopearte with other nations and that complete peace is within grasp of the world.

The foreign secretary, who returned last week from United Nations and Big Four foreign ministers meetings in New York, said in a speech prepared for a BBC broadcast that Russia realized there was "a desire for complete understanding."

"There is throughout the world a readiness to cooperate with he and see her develop her system her own way, with the recognit that others equally have the ri to their own way of life," he d clared.

Defines Britain's Role

Defining the new role of Gre Britain, Bevin said "the war h left two great powers predom nant—the United States and Sovie Russia. Great Britain lies midwa in geography and way of life."

On the Hotly contested matter of the veto in the United Nations, Bevin predicted that a new "code of conduct will be adopted in practice."

"We are not abolishing the veto," he added, "but we are trying to modify its use—to let it serve the purpose for which it was originally intended."

Bevin predicted also that Yugoslavia, which he said was faced "with a great task of economic reconstruction," would cooperate for world peace with the family of nations.

"Italy, injured as she is by the war, can be sure of the help of the rest of us," he continued. "She must herself provide will and leadership on the part of her own democratic leaders. If this is done, she will soon get on her political legs."

Replies To Critics

The foreign secretary also took mild issue with the 100 or so parliamentary critics within his own party, some of whom have accused him of teaming with the United States at the expense of Russia.

Britain, he said, does not tie herself to anybody and extends the "hand of friendship and cooperation to all."

Acknowledging that the peacemakers at times caused "anxious moments" when they failed to agree, Bevin appealed for patience and expressed the belief that they were on the right track.

"I believe we have entered the first stage of establishing concord and harmony between the great powers," he declared.

"First, we are agreed on the first round of the peace treaties, which are the instruments to restore normality after the war.

"Second, we are shaping the organization to which the United Nations look to guide their relations and keep the peace."

More Work to Be Done

While some goals have been achieved, he continued, there is an "enormous amount of work to be done at Moscow."

"We have laid down an agenda for a further meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers in Moscow on March 10th next year," he said, "at which the whole economic and political future of Germany will have to be dealt with.

"We must avoid the creation of a cesspool of cheap and half-starved labor in middle Europe. At the same time we must ensure that Germany can never again be a menace to the Allies."

In addition at the Moscow conference, he added, they would attempt to "finalise" the position of Austria with a new treaty.

Pointing to the decision to set up an international zone at Trieste, Bevin asserted "I can only hope that the Yugoslavs and the Italians will seize this opportunity for cooperation."

"You have all heard the allegations that we are joined too closely in our policies with the United States: That our relations with Soviet Russia are not so close as they should be, and that this course will retard the pacification of the world; and may lead to another war," Bevin recalled.

"My first answer to these allegations is that Great Britain brings her mind to bear on every problem on its merits. She does not tie herself to anybody, except in regard to her obligations under the Charter, and I think that what I have just said about our policies shows that we have a mind and purpose of our own.

Offers Cooperation

"My second answer is that we hold out the hand of friendship and cooperation to all, for we believe profoundly that such friendship and cooperation between the great powers is the surest basis on which to build a peace for all time.

"Soviet-Russia, who is now recovering from the wounds of war, fully realized, I think, at New York that there was a great desire for complete understanding, and that there is throughout the world a readiness to cooperate with her and see her develop her system in her own way, with the recognition that others equally have the right to their own way of life."

The announcement several days ago that Bevin would speak set off a flurry of speculation, but the speech contained nothing as startling as some observers had anticipated. It was primarily a year-end report to the nation on British efforts at peacemaking.

Text of Bevin's Address

LONDON, Dec. 22 (AP).—The complete text of Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's radio address tonight follows:

First of all, allow me to extend to you my warmest greetings for Christmas and best wishes for the New Year. I had hoped to be back from New York in time to have given a full report to Parliament in connection with this task of peace making, but unfortunately the conferences were not finished. But I realized the anxieties felt by every one since the close of the war as to the future destiny of our own country and the Commonwealth and empire and the general peace situation. The many conferences and failure to reach finality must, I know, have caused you many anxious moments.

Therefore, I think it essential to try to make clear as briefly as I can some of the problems which have had to be faced. You must realize that when war is declared, all the machinery of international relations, which is the result of years of effort, is broken. It is very much like seeing a fine machine working with perfect rhythm, when at one blow the essential parts are destroyed and the whole process which keeps the world in even motion goes and another force takes hold. The whole world gets in the grip of the war machine. The difference between the two situations is that while in the former instance foreign relations are constructive, the second situation demands, in order to achieve victory, that the whole mind of the people is turned to destruction. And the more successful you are in achieving victory, the more destruction is caused and the more difficult it becomes to create again a smooth-working machine.

At the end of every struggle of this character people's minds turn to some method to try to prevent a recurrence, and on each occasion plans are prepared, as was done at the end of the 1914-'18 war, when President Wilson, in addition to the treaties, proceeded to propound, with others, the idea of the League of Nations. Hopes were raised and, unfortunately, in that case, only led to disappointment.

War More World-Wide

This war has been more world-wide than the 1914-'18 war. Then the countries of the Far East were allies, and the trouble was limited to the war against Germany and to the Middle East, from which the dissolution of the Turkish Empire followed. In this war the whole world was involved and the Allies had to face a far more powerful concentration of foes—Germany, Italy, Japan and their satellites—and to liberate a far greater area from the enemy's domination. This world-wide war carried in its train the most devastating destruction ever known and with it an intensification of scientific development for the purposes of war greater than in any previous period—proceeding from high explosive to the rocket and atomic energy, and with perfection, although not used, of bacteriological warfare and other devilish devices which overshadowed peace planning and caused suspicion and made confidence so difficult to establish.

In its train all this brought with it the terror of the concentration camp, the introduction of slave labor running into many millions. Indeed, it would be true to say that over vast areas there was scarcely a village or a home that was not affected to a greater or lesser degree.

In the end victory was achieved, but with a mountain of debris, human and material, and costly disaster which it is almost beyond the human mind to appreciate or understand. It was in these conditions that the peacemakers had to begin their work, and I ought to explain that despite the impensity of the struggle, peace making was being studied while the guns thundered over the earth.

To make peace, the first essential in creating a new machine to regulate international relations and get them working smoothly again is to have a plan, just as an engineer, when contemplating a new machine, begins in the drawing office.

You have to think out every detail, and while we were doing that in our commonwealth, so governments elsewhere were thinking it out too. It was like great research groups operating in different countries. Then they must be brought together, examine each other's ideas and see whether a better operating instrument can be devised for the future to replace the one which broke down at the outbreak of war. That is what is being done. That is what the conferences during the war and at Potsdam were trying to do. But everybody likes his own design. The great difficulty is when you come to put them together and try to make one workable machine.

The United Nations

The first thing that emerged happily was a realization of the defects of what I will call the Wilson Design, or the League of Nations, and the substitution in its place of what is now known as the United Nations, though no one must imagine this is perfect.

There was an impelling force for the creation of this institution and, while nothing that comes off the drawing board is perfect, as time goes on improvements are effected, modifications will be introduced, and that is what statesmen are doing. At the conference in New York we found this process operating pretty effectively.

One thing that has caused a deal of controversy was what is called the veto. It has been found a difficulty in its early trials. To solve this difficulty I called a conference of the five permanent members to see if a code of conduct could be established by the five powers that had the right to use the veto. While we could not then agree I am sure such a code of conduct will be adopted in practice.

We are not abolishing the veto, but we are trying to modify its use: to let it serve the purpose for which it was originally intended.

Bound up with international action, and the debris of war to which I have already referred, an enormous amount of improvisation has had to be done—for the liberated countries, through U. N. R. R. A., international relief organizations, and so on. All have to grapple with immediate problems of world disorder. Out of the United Nations have also been born other instruments of a permanent character like the Economic and Social Council, health and education organizations, and now, during the latest meeting of the Assembly, the first steps have been taken to deal with disarmament.

So far as our country is concerned, we have had to decide what our policy was to be. Having been in two wars, we have decided to construct the whole of our future relationships with the world on the basis of the United Nations. It is of prime importance to us for our future security and development that this instrument should be effective and should give us and the rest of the world the security for which for generations humanity has been yearning.

I have made it clear that while we would not yield to pressure for propaganda purpsoes we would supply all the information required by the Charter to make this instrument effective.

Three Purposes

We have got to create what I call policy conditions or political conditions of such a character that will achieve three purposes. One is to make unnecessary the use of national armaments at all, and secondly, if international policy wins, then all scientific development will be used for peaceful purposes. Instead of frontiers bristling with guns, we must attain a state of peace in which the mind of man is turned towards his economic and cultural development without fear. That is what freedom from fear really means.

And the third purpose is to make the great natural resources of the world available to all; there should be limits on the possibility of raising the standard of life of the great masses of the people who have never yet had an opportunity of enjoying to the full all the advantages which modern life offers. Thus, the permanent instrument to which we look for the salvation of the world is the United Nations.

But there are immediate tasks to be accomplished before the debris of war is cleared up. The peace treaties are one of these tasks.

The preparation of the treaties has been done by the Council of Foreign Ministers. Beginning with Italy and the ex-satellite states of Germany, we have devoted ninety-eight meetings to the discussion of these treaties.

Why have they taken so long? Because every clause, every paragraph, has been contested and judged by the test of whether it would ultimately fit in with the greater organization. During the last three weeks of the meetings, we went ahead. It was a very welcome change to the earlier stages, when passions were high and misunderstandings great, and when we were working in the atmosphere of the immediate aftermath of war. It has been a very trying time. But I am glad that patience has triumphed.

And I am fully convinced that understanding will grow. For at last we have succeeded, and the treaties are ready for signature.

From them I take just a few illustrations. They are too long to deal with in detail in a broadcast, but you have heard a good deal about Trieste. Why is it so important? Well, it is where the Latin and Slav meet, where for centuries they have struggled. We have now left as few of the Italians as we could under Slav rule, and as few Slavs as we could under Italian rule.

On the other hand, by the formation of an international zone, we have created a meeting ground at a port where, I hope, great trade will develop and which, if used rightly, will serve at least 70,000,000 people in Europe—Yugoslavs, Italians, Czechoslovaks, Poles, Austrians, Hungarians and Swiss. I can only hope that the Yugoslavs and the Italians will seize this opportunity for co-operation.

The Danube Issue

Another illustration is that of the Danube. In the treaties we have provided for freedom of navigation on this great waterway of vital international importance, a channel of trade to many countries, and, if used aright, a source of great health-giving trade development for the whole territory.

One other illustration—the Tyrol. There again we have prevented, I believe, an Irredentist Movement by promoting an agreement between Italy and Austria, which should be of benefit to the whole of the Alpine powers. My policy is to work to create conditions in which the different races can co-operate and which will reflect themselves in the happiness and freedom of the people. In every discussion I keep before me the thought—can I turn this to the economic benefit and prosperity of the common people? I urge the people of Europe to help by taking a broad view.

Yugoslavia has a great task of economic reconstruction ahead, and will, I believe, cooperate to the fullest possible extent.

Italy, injured as she is by the war, can be sure of the help of the rest of us. She must herself provide will and leadership on the part of her own democratic leaders. If this is done, she will soon get on her political and economic legs.

And the Balkan countries may be assured that if they desire trade they can have it. That is why I am glad our treaties provided for no discrimination.

The other task with which we have had to grapple is the future of Germany. Great difficulties have arisen, but we have made a practical beginning towards their solution by fusing the British and American zones, on the clear understanding that the other zones will be welcome to join us if they wish. We are sharing the cost of this fusing between the United States and ourselves. We are pooling technical resources and skill. We shall create conditions which will allow the German to regain his self respect.

Will Take Time

But I warn the country that this will take time. Hitler so drilled his people that it will take at least a generation to get things right. Education, wrongly used, has a disastrous effect on peace making. We are coming up against this problem continuously. U. N. E. S. C. O. should be a great help.

We have laid down an agenda for a further meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers in Moscow on March 10th of next, at which the whole economic and political future of Germany will have to be dealth with. We must avoid the creation of a cesspool of cheap and half-starved labor in middle Europe. At the same time we must ensure that Germany can never again be a menace to the Allied powers.

The Moscow conference will also deal with the problem of what occupation forces should remain in Germany and how the civil government there can gradually be built up. At Moscow we shall also discuss Austria, which was overrun by Hitler and which has been re-created. We shall attempt to finalize her position by a new treaty. When you see the agenda for this conference you will understand the enormous amount of preparatory work that has to precede the conference and the enormous amount of work to be done in Moscow.

Throughout all of these negotiations my colleagues and I have been striving to find an approximation of ideas between the great powers themselves. It is true we represent different economic systems.

America, a country of free enterprise, has shown a willingness to play her part to the full in the creation and maintenance of a sound, effective international instrument and has, indeed, offered to enter into a forty-year treaty, to make sure of the disagreement of Germany and Japan.

Soviet Russia, who has evolved an entirely different system, but who has been invaded and suffered terrible destruction which has practically undone the whole of the great economic work she accomplished between the Revolution and the Hitler attack, now has to re-create herself again.

France Co-operating

France, who has been invided three times, who has given to the world enduring principles of liberty and has a deep culture and wide literature, France, too, is making her contribution to this new interlocking world.

China, who has gone through such a devastating period, still torn by civil war, will yet unite and contribute with her age-long philosophy and experience.

Great Britain, developing rapidly her social, democratic state, with her great experience and having learned lessons of leadership through the many years of her evolution, has, with the Commonwealth, a great contribution to make, and will still take her place as a great power.

The war left two great powers predominant—the United States of America and Soviet Russia. Great Britain lies midway in geography and way of life. Whereas Soviet Russia and the United States are land empires, their metropolitan territory occupying a vast area, Great Britain and the Commonwealth are spread over the seven seas. Can any one believe that if five great powers live in concord and harmony and are helped by smaller powers who are contributing energies and hope, war is possible at all?

I believe we have entered the first stage of establishing concord and harmony between great powers. What is the ground for that belief? First we are agreed on the first round of peace treaties, which are instruments to which the United Nations look to guide their relations and keep peace. Great Britain with her experience has, if I may say so without boasting, much to give to the others. As examples of what we have done: ours were first drafts of the treaties; and apart from the work of peacemaking and the shaping of the United Nations organization, we have been pushing our pacificatory and modernizing course in those parts of the world not directly affected by the Council of Foreign Ministers or by the United Nations organization, where we have interests or influence.

Case of East Indies

I cite only the Netherlands East Indies, where British statesmanship through two men, Lord Inverchapel and Lord Killearn, lent its help and experience to promote agreement between the Dutch and Indonesians. This agreement, which has now been approved by the Netherlands States General, is a constructive contribution to pacification of a large area. It has laid the dust of war and will open a vista of hope and progress to many millions of South-east Asians, who are thus ready to take their place in modern world.

All these developments illustrate the patient and constructive efforts of the British policy since the end of war. You have all heard allegations that we are joined too closely in our policies with the United States; that our relations with Soviet Russia are not so close as they should be and that this course will retard pacification of the world, and may lead to another world war.

My first answer to these allegations is that Great Britain brings her mind to bear on every problem on its merits. She does not tie herself to anybody, except in regard to her obligations under the Charter and I think what I have just said about our policies shows that we have a mind and purpose of our own.

My second answer is that we hold out the hand of friendship and co-operation to all, for we believe profoundly that such friendship and co-operation between great powers is the surest basis on which to build peace for all time. Soviet Russia, who is now recovering from the wounds of war, fully realized, I think, at New York that there was a great desire for complete understanding, and that there is throughout the world a readiness to co-operate with her and see her develop her system in her own way, with the recognition that others equally have a right to their own way of life.

In this talk I have tried to sketch the background against which we are working for peace and shall have to continue working for several years to come.

So do not be impatient. We must build slowly, striving for perfection. For remember the peacemakers are building not only for this generation but for generations yet to come.

Fascism Is Astir, Mosley Declares

London, Dec. 22 (AP)—Sir Oswald Mosley, prewar leader of the British Union of Fascists, told a rally tonight that fascism "is stirring again in England and in the world."

More than 100 of his supporters, including persons detained during the war for fascist beliefs and a sprinkling of uniformed soldiers, applauded Mosley at a "welcome home" Christmas party in an East End hotel. It was Mosley's first trip into London's big working class district since his release from wartime internment.

"When I'm back here, I'm in the original homeland of our movement," he told his supporters.

British authorities, Mosley declared, "tried to shake us. They did their best to throw us into jails, into concentration camps, but they never shook the faith within us, and they never will."

Two days ago a Government official assured a parliamentary questioner that British Fascists were not organized, although he acknowledged that a few might have guns and might use them "in certain circumstances."

'A Nuisance' Is GBS's Cheery Yule Greeting

LONDON, Dec. 22—(AP) For all that he has a beard like Santa Claus, George Bernard Shaw is firmly in the Scrooge camp when it comes to Christmas.

As his ninetieth Yuletide approached, playwright Shaw sent this holiday message to the Reynolds News:

"Christmas is for me simply a nuisance.

"The mob supports it as a carnival of mendacity, gluttony and drunkenness.

"Fifty years ago I invented a society for the abolition of Christmas. So far I am the only member.

"That is all I have to say on the subject."

EX-GI GIVES YULE PARTY FOR BRITISH

35 Orphaned Children Feted—FatherChristmas Wore U.S. Navy Garb

Beckenham, Eng., Dec. 22 (AP)—An enterprising former United States soldier devoted himself in absentia today to an international example of the Christmas-spirit with an uproariously successful Christmas party for 35 British children who lost either one or both parents during the war.

The gathering, held at Saint Hilda's Church of England Children's Society home in this English town a dozen miles from London's outskirts, was a pleasantly hectic jumble at which all the children were handed gifts by an unorthodox "Father Christmas," and nearly all the 53 attending adults were allowed to hold a baby.

Newspaper Appeals For Funds

Former Pfc. Jess McMillan, who works in a Minneapolis drugstore, started the ball rolling for the party.

With the help of George Grim, columnist of the Minneapolis Star Journal, a newspaper appeal for funds was launched and money for the party, totalling $262, was contributed from 53 Midwestern cities.

"Father Christmas," the British name for Santa Claus—was youthful Jean Bushey, a United States sailor from Minneapolis, who distributed gifts clad in regulation navy garb.

"Tell Him Thank You"

To the 35 children, mostly from 18 months to 2½ years old, he handed shoes, dolls, dresses, rompers, Polo shirts, stuffed animals, chewing gum, dusting powder and 25 pounds of candy.

Only "alumni" of previous GI parties were Jimmy Jackson and his sister, Patricia. Jimmy, asked if he had a message for McMillan, said:

"Tell him thank you—I don't know any more to say."

50 FRENCH DIE IN HANOI CLASH

Attacks By Viet-Nam Extend Through North Indo-China

Paris, Dec. 22 (AP)—The French News Agency said today that at least 50 French soldiers had been killed and 150 wounded during recent fighting in Hanoi and that Viet-Namese attacks had extended to the whole of northern Indo-China.

Premier Leon Blum was expected to make a statement before the French National Assembly tomorrow about disorders in the French possession in southeast Asia.

Some European civilians and Eurasians were reported killed or missing in Hanoi, capital of the Viet-Nam Republic.

Annam Capital Attacked

The agency said Hue, capital of Annam and 300 airline miles south of Hanoi, was attacked on the same day by Viet-Namese using mortars and automatic weapons against fixed French positions. Civilian houses also were attacked and there were casualties among French civilians.

A midnight Associated Press dispatch from Saigon reported violent fighting at Hue, with the conflict spreading in Indo-China. Most of the French civilians were said to have escaped but some French towns still were reported not cleared of the Viet-Namese.

French sources in Indo-China said the Viet-Namese appeared to be preparing an attack against Hongay, coal center 80 miles east of Hanoi. The attacking Viet-Namese were reported to have isolated the French in the towns of Namdinh and Hajduong.

European Quarter Cleared

French military headquarters in Saigon asserted that the European quarter in Hanoi had been cleared except for snipers. Fighting continued in the Annamite section of the city, with the Viet-Namese holding control of the university and post office, where regular Viet-Namese troops and Civil Guards were on the firing lines.

French troops were said to have occupied the Government palace, used by the Ho Chi Minh Government, which fled on Thursday.

Warships At Tourane

French warships were anchored at Tourane, 375 miles south of Hanoi. Tourane was reported still free of fighting, although its communications with the airdrome were cut.

Gen. Louis Morliere, French commander in Hanoi, gave orders to the French garrison at Vinh to lay down its arms after an ultimatum had been sent to the commanding officer by the Viet-Namese, who surrounded the area. The news agency said Morliere acted to prevent a massacre.

FRENCH ASSEMBLY VOTES BUDGET CUT

PARIS, Dec. 22. — (AP) The French National Assembly overrode right wing opposition today and adopted one section of a provisional three-month national budget which provides for drastic governmental economies and may result in the discharge of 50,000 government workers.

The vote on the economy budget was 530 to 60.

30.24-7059

In spite of the money saving features of the budget, the deputies voted themselves a 20 per cent pay increase. Their pay has been 35,000 francs a year ($2,900). The increase was to meet the rising cost of living.

With the deputies also concerned with the fighting between French troops and Viet Nam forces in Indochina, they will take up the military budget tomorrow.

Profiteers Mar Berlin Christmas

Berlin, Dec. 22 (AP)—Heartless German profiteers cast a shadow today over Berlin's traditional "Christmas market," re-established this year by the city government to entertain hundreds of thousands of children in the Lustgarten.

Police reported that gift vendors had set unscrupulously high prices for crude, shoddy toys, while falsifying their records to avoid taxes.

Ten of the worst cases of profiteering were brought to court Friday, and the guilty stall operators were punished with fines up to 5,000 Reichsmarks ($500 at the official Allied exchange rate) and assignment to forced labor.

Nefertiti's Head Lost To Egypt

DECREE

Berlin, Dec. 22 (AP)—Queen Nefertiti's lovely and priceless stone head won't be returned to Egypt, where she reigned some 5,000 years ago, unless a future German Government itself accedes to Egyptian claims, an American authority said today.

The sculpture, perhaps the most celebrated treasure of the Pharaohs, has been requested by Egypt in repeated appeals during the last year to American and British occupation officials and to the Allied control authority.

"But Nefertiti's head just doesn't fall under the definition of restitution of objects looted by Nazis from occupied countries since 1939," said Richard Howard, chief of the fine arts, monuments and archives section in the United States Military Government.

"Spirited Out Of Egypt"

"She was, according to the Egyptians, illegally spirited out of their country by German archeologists in 1913 — before Hitler was even a corporal—and it's not a case at all for Allied Military Government action."

Howard, former director of the Dallas (Texas) Museum, said the head was being carefully guarded at the American collection center at Wiesbaden and was expected to be returned to German custody "when, as and if there is a central government."

Nefertiti's countenance, of unfading charm despite the fact a semi-precious jewel is missing from one eye, formerly was exhibited at the Kaiser Friedrich Museum in Berlin.

McNarney Gives Holiday Greeting

1946

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 22 (AP). Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, American commander in the European theater, in a special Christmas greeting tonight, called on both Germans and American occupation forces "to live in peace and harmony and with good will toward all mankind."

"Perhaps there was never a time in history when people should reflect so seriously on the significance of the exhortation uttered nearly 2,000 years ago," McNarney said in a broadcast address.

"Without the earnest will and honest effort of all men, there can be no permanent 'peace on earth.' We of the United States occupation forces, and, I feel sure, you of Germany have that will for peace expressed at the very inception of Christian civilization and which we repeat at this season of the year.

"We desire to live in peace and harmony and with good will toward all mankind."

Directing his remarks to Americans in Germany, he continued:

"My felicitations are those of a coworker in a mission to which we are assigned. To each and all of you I express my deepest appreciation for the loyalty, steadfastness and self-sacrifice which you have displayed in the pursuance of your appointed tasks.

"To the German people, particularly to those who have labored to restore a measure of individual national liberty and to bring a speedy rehabilitation of our distressed country, I extend greetings of the Christmas season and my fervent wish for 'peace on earth to men of good will.'"

McNarney will make his first public address to the German people Christmas Eve, speaking before an anticipated 10,000 persons in Frankfurt.

ZIONISTS SHUN LONDON PARLEY

Political Group Votes Against Participating At Present

Basel, Switzerland, Dec. 22 (AP)—The political commission of the World Zionist Congress voted, 20 to 16, today against Zionist participation in the London Palestine conference "under present conditions."

Rabbi A. H. Silver, commission chairman, said the group had approved a resolution calling on Great Britain for the "fulfillment of international obligations." The action will go before the plenary session tomorrow.

Dr. Silver, of Cleveland, said in an interview that the British abrogation of the white paper, restricting immigration to Palestine, was one of the prerequisites to Zionist participation in the London meeting. The committee action was considered a victory for Silver and a move strengthening his candidacy for the presidency of the World Zionist Organization.

Intention Reaffirmed

The General Zionist Organization of America, representing 40 votes among the 370 delegates, reaffirmed its intention to support Dr. Chaim Weizmann, of London, present World Zionist president, for election as honorary president. Weizmann's intimates have insisted he would not accept the honorary post, and that he was a candidate for re-election as president only on condition that his administration could continue negotiations with England.

An authorized spokesman of the congress said the Labor party had voted, 89 to 30, in favor of Weizmann for president "plus all that it implies." The spokesman insisted that "Labor party action is indicative of the final results of this congress."

Terms Morrison Plan Dead

He continued:

"It also is unequivocally clear that the Zionist Organization and the Jewish Agency will not enter into negotiations on the basis of the Morrison plan providing for provincial autonomy for Palestine. The Morrison plan is completely dead. The Jewish Agency will enter the Palestine conference in London only on the condition that the Morrison plan not be revived in any shape or form."

The Morrison plan was projected by Herbert Morrison, British Lord President of the Council.

Meer Grossman, of New York, chairman of the American Revisionist delegation which has 40 votes, said that organization was opposed definitely to Weizmann and his policies.

Rare Art Returns to Hungary

BUDAPEST, Dec. 22 (AP).—More than $60,000,000 worth of art treasures taken from Hungary by the Germans were returned to Hungary tonight on a special train from the American occupation zone in Germany. Brigadier General George Hatton Weems, commander of the American military mission in Hungary, and Hungarian officials including Under Secretary of State Istvan Baoch were present when the treasures arrived.

SOLDIERS TAKING STUMP IN POLAND

Army Paper Says They Will Tell People How To Vote.

Warsaw, Poland, Dec. 22 (AP)—The army publication Slow Zolnierza said today that Polish soldiers will tell Poles for whom they should vote in the January 19 general elections.

The army's political division already is instructing the soldiers to vote for the pro-government bloc of parties.

A Foreign Office spokesman maintained, however, that soldiers, while receiving political education, are not being used in electioneering but to fight underground bands.

Notes Party Opposition

Another publication entitled "Instruction for Work in the Field" and bearing the army's official political stamp said today Vice Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk's Polish Peasant (PSL) party opposed soldiers voting in the elections, as permitted in the September 22 election law but prohibited in the 1921 constitution. The booklet said:

"Soldiers will vote against reaction hiding under the wing of the PSL. We will vote for the democratic bloc. . . . Soldiers will go to villages and cities with the word truth of the new Poland."

The publication Slow Zolnierza carried cartoons of Mikolajczyk and attacks on the United States and Great Britain as his supporters.

Charges Thousands Seized

Mikolajczyk charged that the security police were arresting thousand of his supporters under accusations of underground activities.

The Government bloc leaders declared that the provisional regime never will surrender its power and that all opposition will be liquidated "with iron and fire."

The Government said it was mobilizing all law-enforcement agencies to maintain "law and order" in the elections.

Greek Freighter Sinks

Athens, Dec. 22 (AP)—The Athens radio said today the Greek freighter Syra struck a mine and sank while entering Volos Bay in eastern Greece. One person was killed and four wounded, the broadcast said.

Bulgaria Welcomes United Nations Probe

Sofia, Bulgaria, Dec. 22 (AP)—Editorials in Sofia newspapers today welcomed the forthcoming investigation by a United Nations commission of guerrilla fighting in Greece along the Greek-Bulgarian border.

Zmedelsko Zname, organ of the Government Agrarian party, said:

"Let us be enlightened about what is happening in Greece. Let the investigation commission arrive and see that not incidents but a real war is taking place and not at the Greek border but in Greece herself."

YUGOSLAV COURT SENTENCES 18 NAZIS TO DEATH

CARRUTHERS

BELGRADE, Dec. 22 — (AP) A high Yugoslav military court in a special session today sentenced nine former Gestapo chiefs in Serbia to death by hanging, nine former Nazi SS (Elite Guard) officers to death by shooting, and other former Nazis to prison terms.

Two former SS men were sentenced to 20 years at forced labor, and an ailing 74-year-old colonel received a five-year sentence.

The death sentences will be carried out within two or three days, if normal procedure is followed.

Atrocities Related

During the two weeks the trial lasted the defendants were confronted with details of atrocities which the prosecution charged were committed under their orders and often were witnessed by them.

Lt. Gen. August Meissner, Gestapo chief in Serbia during 1942-44 and the chief defendant, was sentenced to hang. He stood erectly throughout the lengthy reading of all the sentences and sometimes turned, talked and smiled at other defendants. As he was led from the courtroom, the spectators cried out: "Hang him in the Terrazia!"

(The terrazia is the main square of Belgrade, where Meissner was accused of having ordered public hangings of partisans as a "lesson to insurgents.")

Also among those sentenced to hang were Wilhelm Fuchs, SS colonel and chief of the Einsatz Gruppe (active forces) in Serbia, and Joseph Sepp Hahn, former fuehrer of the Belgrade prison.

Sepp - Hahn, seriously injured when he plunged down a staircase in the courthouse last week in an unsuccessful suicide attempt, still is confined to a hospital and was not in court when the sentences were pronounced.

A small boy held in his father's arms near the exit of the courtroom spit in the face of each prisoner led out by an armed guard.

The defendants were charged in court with having been responsible for the deaths of 150,000 Serbians and 35,000 Jews during what was described as one of the cruelest occupation regimes in the history of the war.

Italians Have No Fear Of American Recession

Rome, Dec. 22 (AP)—Italy's heavy pack of troubles, which Premier Alcide de Gasperi will open for White House inspection early in January, does not include fear of an American business recession, a survey of business opinion here indicated today.

"Looking up from a well of postwar miseries, Italy is not capable yet of conceiving that there might be other troubles than her own, least of all in a United States which seems to her gloriously prosperous and secure," one economic expert said.

The Italian-American Chamber of Commerce brushed aside the possibility of a recession in America to get at what it considered a serious problem with the query:

"What will be the American tariff policy now that the Congresses which support Roosevelt's reciprocal trade policy are no more?"

Franco-Italian Trade Agreement Is Signed

Rome, Dec. 22 (AP)—Italy and France signed a new trade agreement today providing for the exchange of more than $30,000,000 worth of goods next year.

France will receive raw silk, oils, sulphur and fruit mainly. Italy will get phosphates, potassium, steel, iron scrap, bauxite and other products.

Bandits Surrender In Portugal Siege

2-Day Battle Ends With 20 of Gang Captured

LISBON, Dec. 22 (AP).—Spanish and Portuguese bandits beseiged by troops in the Hamlet of Cambedo, near Chaves, in northern Portugal, were reported today to have surrendered after a forty-eight-hour battle.

The gang gave up, it was said, after its stronghold in three buildings in the center of Cambedo was le veled by mortar fire in an attack led by Lieutenant Colonel Augusto Falco Pereira, commander of the Republican Guard of Oporto.

The original gang leader was killed on the first day of the battle, and today's report showed twenty bandits captured, most of them wounded. A seventeen-year-old Cambedo girl also was wounded, it was said.

Two soldiers were reported to have been killed and five wounded, among them a secret agent, Joaquim Alves, of the Defense Police, credited with discovering the gang's headquarters ni the disguise of a border smuggler.

Russia Eyes Azerbaijan

Moscow, Dec. 22 (AP) — Soviet newspapers reported under heavy headlines today that an "orgy of reaction" had swept the Iranian province of Azerbaijan, and indications here were that the Soviet Government planned a strong protest against the recent occupation of the province by Iranian troops.

In Russian eyes, the recent moves by the Iranian Central Government amount to a repudiation of an agreement concluded last June between the Central Government and so-called "Democratic" party officials of Azerbaijan.

[The pro-Russian "Democrats" came to power in Azerbaijan, which borders on Russia, while the province was occupied by Soviet troops.

Reoccupied By Troops

[The "Democrats" first declared their independence from Iran, then signed an agreement last June under which the province assumed semi-autonomous status within the framework of the Iranian Central Government.

[Central Government troops reoccupied the province during the last two weeks for the announced purpose of supervising parliamentary elections. "Democratic" party officials quickly relinquished control, some of them fleeing into Russia from the Central Government troops.

[Approximately 12,000 Iranian troops paraded through the Iranian capital of Tehran today in celebration of the reoccupation.]

There still has been no official comment here on the Iranian situation, but developments plainly are causing serious concern.

Report Nullification Claim

Moscow newspapers said that the commander of Iranian troops in Azerbaijan had announced officially that the Central Government's agreement of last June had been nullified.

The newspapers also said that 700 persons were reported arrested in Tabriz, the Azerbaijan capital, and that two military courts had been established to try the so-called "Democrats." The papers also referred to what they called the mass arrests of trade union officials in Tehran.

On another subject—the United Nations—the Communist party organ Pravda said that the Soviet delegation had won a "great moral diplomatic victory" at the General Assembly session in New York.

Anti-Soviet Aim Charged

Pravda said that this victory was achieved at the expense of "reactionary circles" who had hoped to isolate the Soviet Union and turn the United Nations into an "instrument of anti-Soviet policy.

The Communist newspaper reiterated the optimism, which has been expressed frequently here during the last week, over the prospects for great power collaboration.

Another Pravda article, commenting on Greek accusations that her Balkan neighbors are inciting civil war within Greece, said that the Greeks themselves were fighting "in revolt against a regime established in that country against the will of the people as a result of foreign support."

Elliott Roosevelt Leaves Moscow

Moscow, Dec. 22 (AP)—Elliott Roosevelt and his wife, Actress Faye Emerson, left Moscow by plane for the United States today after their interview yesterday with Prime Minister Stalin on his sixty-seventh birthday.

Roosevelt said they would fly home via Paris and hoped to spend Christmas with his mother, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, at Hyde Park, New York.

The interview, which took place in the Kremlin, was the first indication that Stalin had returned to Moscow after a prolonged vacation. There still was no official word on the actual date of his return.

Roosevelt did not disclose the subject of the interview, but emphasized that the generalissimo appeared fit after his vacation and was in good spirits.

Stalin obviously will want a detailed account of the recent meetings in New York of the Big Four Foreign Ministers and the United Nations General Assembly from Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, who returned here by plane yesterday. Molotov was accompanied by his deputy, Andrei Y. Vishinsky.

However, the Prime Minister unquestionably kept well informed—at a distance—with day-by-day developments in New York.

Reds Press School Program

MOSCOW, Dec. 22 (AP). — The cabinet today ordered the Ministry of Education to corerct the failure of authorities in some places ot carry out Russia's universal compulsory education law. The decision was taken after Minister of Education A. G. Kalashnikov acknowledged that numbers of school-age children in Russia were either not attending school or dropping out before graduation.

ARAB ARMY LEADERS DISCUSS STRATEGY

JAFFA, Palestine, Dec. 22.—(AP) Approximately 50 ranking officers of Najada, Arab Army organization, representing all parts of Palestine convened here today to discuss strategy and to witness a parade in which an estimated 700 uniformed Arabs from headquarters companies participated.

One district commander said that the leaders had been summoned by Mohamed Nimer Huwari, Najada chief, "to discuss means of preserving discipline among the ranks until the time is ready for concerted action."

This spokesman added that there was large-scale "dissidence among members because of inaction by the organization in the face of two recent raids by Jews into Arab territory."

Burmese Cool to Attlee Plan

Press Not Enthusiastic Over Invitation to Leaders

RANGOON, Burma, Dec. 22 (AP). —The Burmese press offered a lukewarm welcome today to a British invitation to Burmese leaders to visit London and discuss self-government for Burma.

"The Sun," official newspaper of the Myochit party managed by ex-Premier U Saw, said Prime Minister Attlee's Friday announcement on the subject fell short of the Indian plan made public last May, which assured India independence.

[Attlee, announcing that Burmese leaders had been invited to consider revising the present self-government plan, said Britain hoped Burma would remain in the empire, though she was free to choose independence.]

Dutch Indies Plan Indorsed

Eastern Islands Agree in Principle to Formation of New State

DENPASAR, Bali, Dec. 21 (Delayed) (AP).—The Netherlands Indies government reported that delegates from eastern islands today indorsed in principle Dutch plans to form a new state of East Indonesia having equal status with Borneo and the Republic of Indonesia in the projected United States of Indonesia.

A communique said the delegates had agreed that the state should be established with themselves as members of the provisional Parliament and had laid down provisions for setting up a government. The state would include all islands east of Java and Borneo, except New Guinea, and would have a population of more than 8,000,000.

CHINESE RED TROOPS PERIL RAIL LINE

PEIPING, Dec. 22—(AP) Communist guerrillas, estimated to total 4,000 men, penetrated government defenses 13 miles southeast of Peiping today and reached within one-third of a mile of the Peiping-Tientsin railway, government reports acknowledged.

The guerrillas smashed through two rows of barbed wire entanglements around the town of Weishanchuang and sent national troops reeling, the account said. The defenders regrouped before the railroad station and kept the railroad clear.

Another Communist band was advancing against Anting, 15 miles southeast of Peiping, and a third attacked the village of Fangshan, 22 miles southwest of Peiping, the government reports said.

The railway northeast of Tientsin, leading to Mukden, also was the object of Communist attacks, the government reported, while Red bands captured one town in northern Chahar province and two in Shansi.

87 Articles in New China Constitution Approved

Nanking, Dec. 22 (AP)—Eighty-seven of the 150 articles in the projected new Chinese constitution were approved on second reading today in an unprecedented Sunday session of the National Assembly.

The passage was characterized by an absence of discussion and with the most controversial articles already passed, smooth completion was expected by tomorrow afternoon.

Then there will remain only a third reading which is solely to check possible errors of language and decision on the date the constitution will become effective.

MASSACRE OF WOMEN TOLD AT JAP TRIAL

TOKYO, Monday Dec. 23 (AP)—Japanese troops who captured Batavia, Java, in 1942 massacred "all the women and children" they imprisoned there, an affidavit by a Netherlands army lieutenant informed the international war crimes court trying 27 Japanese leaders today.

Sounds of executioners' guns were muffled by the dynamiting of fish in a nearby river, the witness, Lt. F. R. Oldham, said in his statement. Presumably, such precautions were taken to prevent reports of massacres from reaching the world.

Another affidavit by Capt. Jongeneel of the Netherlands army said he saw one Dutch officer beaten with a stick, lashed across the face with a belt, and kicked downstairs by a Japanese corporal.

Amnesty Expected For Third Of Conscientious Objectors

Washington, Dec. 22 (AP)—Pre-Christmas actions are planned by President Truman and the Justice Department for the release of about one third of the conscientious objectors still in prison.

This was learned officially today as demonstrators in convict stripes, some with imitation balls and chains, paraded before the White House with placards demanding a Christmas amnesty for the objectors. Similar marches were arranged today in eight other cities.

Two official steps are contemplated:

1. Creation by Mr. Truman of a three-member board to consider each case on its merits and recommend action to the President, who will decide who is to be released.

2. An order by the Justice Department expected before Christmas opening jail doors to 150 members of Jehovah's Witnesses, a religious group, who are serving terms for similar offenses.

About 300 To Stay In Jail

The latter have served one year—or one third of their terms—and will be released on parole for good behavior. About 300, however, will remain in jail.

Not counting the Jehovah's Witnesses, officials reported only 25 conscientious objectors still will be in prison after Christmas. There were 41 yesterday, but six were released then and ten more are to be freed before Wednesday.

The twin Government steps will start the last phase of one of the most agitated side issues of the war.

Officials of the Committee for Amnesty, a national organization which has sponsored demonstrations, reported 6,000 to 7,000 persons were sentenced to prison terms averaging three years for refusing to serve in the armed forces, even in noncombat posts.

Parade Before White House

Sixteen demonstrators wearing "prison suits" took up their quiet march outside the tall White House fence at 11:15 this morning and paraded for two hours.

They left a petition bearing several thousand signatures with White House attachés, then transferred their operations to the Justice Department. There a lone former conscientious objector in striped suit—Roger Axford, of Chicago—has paraded the sidewalks for months. He was joined in recent weeks by Dick Suzuki, of Hawaii and California.

Frank Olmstead, of Washington, a member of the Committee for Amnesty, said it arranged other demonstrations today in New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Toledo, Chicago, Minneapolis, St. Paul and Los Angeles.

He explained the Government puts Jehovah's Witnesses in a "slightly different" category from other conscientious objectors because of their religious beliefs.

A study last year showed three classes of CO's or "conchies":

1. Those who objected to both combatant and noncombatant service but qualified for assignment to civilian work camps. Up to September 1, 1945, there were 11,505 of these.

2. Those opposed to combat service but who would do noncombat work. There were more than 10,000 of these in the military service.

3. Those sent to prison because (a) their sincerity as objectors was questioned, (b) they refused even to enter a work camp, or (c) they deserted camps or refused to work after being assigned.

One Given Medal Of Honor

Projects on which objectors were put to work included ditch-digging, scientific experiments in which many volunteered as "guinea pigs," parachute fire-fighting, attending patients in mental hospitals, milking cows and making weather maps.

Last October, Mr. Truman presented the Congressional Medal of Honor for the first time in history to a conscientious objector. He was Pfc. Desmond T. Doss, 26, of Lynchburg, Va., a member of the 307th Infantry Medical Detachment, 1st Battalion, 77th Division. The award was for outstanding bravery in aiding wounded comrades on Okinawa, during which Doss himself received several wounds.

Wadsworth Fights Drive to Block Military, Naval Committee Union

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22—(AP) Rep. Wadsworth (R-NY) opened a vigorous fight today against the quiet drive to block merger of the House military and naval committees as provided by the congressional reorganizations.

In letters to all Republican congressmen, he insisted the consolidation would enable the house for the first time in history to get the "full story" on the nation's military needs—Army and Navy and Air Force.

Denies Threat to Navy

Wadsworth, who was chairman of the Senate Military Committee when he served in that chamber and is intimate with many of the armed forces' high command, disputed the contention that creation of a single committee would lead ultimately to the "swallowing up" of the Navy.

Simultaneously, he argued that the committee merger is a basic part of the plan, voted last session, for modernizing congressional action by sharply reducing the number of committees handling legislation.

"To retrace our steps after having accomplished this great reform would, in my judgment, be regrettable," he wrote. "If we commence pulling stones out of the new structure before we have even tested it, there is no telling what other demolition will be attempted.

"Indeed, it would be a pity if the newly elected Republican majority in the House should start to undermine it. Most certainly we would lose some of that public confidence which we now enjoy and which we must retain if we are to go forward in the service of our country."

Wadsworth's letter was in answer to one from Rep. Cole (R-NY), ranking Republican of the Naval committee and a leader in the fight against the merger which is expected to reach a showdown shortly after Congress convenes.

Replying to the argument that the Navy needs a separate committee "for its own protection" in the House, Wadsworth declared:

30-24-7061

"No one in his right mind, in or out of the Congress, would approve for one moment any steps leading to the 'eventual disintegration of our Navy,' nor of the Marine corps for that matter.

"We are all exceedingly proud of the Navy. We shall always support it. And we feel the same way about the Army and the Air Corps, knowing as we do that the preservation of each of these elements in our national defense is absolutely vital."

Wadsworth argued that in the past both the military and Naval committees have heard only one side of the picture and have had to recommend legislation without obtaining the related needs of the other service.

U. S. WILL RETAIN VITAL WAR PLANTS IN DEFENSE PLAN

Factories to Be Operated by Army-Navy Munitions Board.

OTHERS RULED SURPLUS

Some Held Available in Case of Emergency Need.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22—(AP) The Army and Navy Munitions Board disclosed today the armed services propose to retain and operate 60 or more vital plants from the multi-billion dollar war industry now being dismantled.

As an additional national security measure, the services hope the government will keep strings on more than 250 other plants. Some government-owned manufacturing facilities already are being offered for sale or lease with the proviso that they be available for munitions orders in case of another war within the next two decades.

Majority Being Sold

The bulk of the World War II munitions industry, however, is being sold outright for conversion to civilian production or for scrapping.

Richard R. Deupree, Cincinnati industrialist who is the civilian chairman of the munitions board, told a reporter:

1. Of more than 3,200 plants owned or financed by the government, some 2,800 already have been turned over to the War Assets Administration as surplus.

2. Those for which the Army and Navy seek to obtain operating funds from Congress include 11 aircraft plants. The remainder are shipbuilding facilities and plants with specialized equipment for making guns, ammunition and explosives and for loading shells.

3. The fate of the vast war-born synthetic rubber industry "must be solved next year" because imports of natural rubber are beginning to mount toward pre-war proportions. The munitions board hopes the rubber industry will continue to operate up to half of the approximately 1,000,000 tons annual productive capacity.

4. An initial $100,000,000 which the last Congress provided to build up a $2,100,000,000 stockpile of critical metals and other materials is about spent. A $360,000,000 appropriation for the second year's purchases in a five-year program will be sought at the forthcoming session.

The munitions board, which includes Undersecretary of War Kenneth C. Royall, Assistant Secretary of the Navy W. John Kenney and a military and civilian staff, has primary responsibility for industrial war plans.

4 Major Categories

In deciding the disposition of the wartime arms and other emergency plants, Deupree said the Army and Navy, working with the munitions board, divided them into four major categories: The 2,800 to be disposed of outright, about 250 others to be sold with the proviso that arms orders must be accepted in an emergency; plants to be retained and operated by the Army and Navy; others which the armed services will lease directly with provision for emergency recapture.

Still being put into final shape are plans for production pilot lines in private industry, and for a revival of the munitions "educational orders" arrangement of the pre-Pearl Harbor era. These are aimed at retaining some of the wartime manufacturing "know how" as atomic age insurance.

The War Assets Administration reported today that 10 more of its surplus plants are being processed for disposition to private industry. A spokesman said only the government-owned interest or portion of the installations is involved and that no detailed description is available immediately.

The WAA listed them as follows, emphasizing that the identification of some is by the name of the wartime lessee, and is not to be confused with privately-owned properties:

New England Shipbuilding Corp., Portland, Me., east and south areas, railroad right of way; Lukenweld, Inc., Coatesville, Pa.; Passamaquoddy Tidal Power Project, Eastport, Me.; Camp Barkeley Military Reservation, Abilene, Tex.; Port Johnston Terminal, Bayonne, N. J.; Vormeesville sub-depot, (Barrow Pit) Albany County, N. Y.; Jefferson Barracks, St. Louis County, Mo.; radio range site, Hood County, Tex.; Bethlehem-Sparrows Point Shipyard, Inc., Baltimore, and Cumberland Homesteads, Crossville Tenn.

PEACE TREND UPSETS PLAN OF AIR FORCE

Economy, Demobilization Block Its Program For Recovery

1946

Washington, Dec. 22 (AP)—Plans of the Army Air Forces to recover "full fighting effectiveness" by the end of this year have gone awry under the impact of demobilization and economy.

Gen. Carl Spaatz, AAF commander, announced that goal last March. Asked today the state of that program, AAF officials answered:

"We are not ready to fight a war if one came today—and we won't be for quite a long time."

As explained by those concerned with the AAF program, the situation is:

Actually the Air Forces has about the planned number of men for the interim force, 400,000. It has the required number of approximately 6,000 aircraft—and many more.

Trained Men Lacking

But it has nowhere near the number of trained, experienced men among the 400,000, nor the organization needed to operate so vast and intricate a machine as a modern air force.

For reasons of military security, officials were unable to specify the precise number or condition of units. However, so far as is known, only one "very heavy bombardment" unit—the type which operates super long range bombers and can drop atom bombs if needed—is in comparative readiness for emergency. Overseas air forces needed to support occupation duties have been hard hit by cutbacks, but still manage to maintain a semblance of strength. They, however, are not capable of the strategic duties assigned to VHB groups.

U.S. Believed Strongest

About the only glum satisfaction AAF planners have is their belief that, while the United States air fleet may be in poor condition at the moment, it still remains the most powerful in the world. The other two major military powers, Britain and Russia, are outweighed, it is believed here.

Britain's RAF, dwarfed during the latter years of the war by the AAF, has suffered proportionately heavier reductions in the postwar months than the American force.

Russia, never especially interested in bombardment aviation and tardy in building up its tactical air force during the war, probably trails both the United States and Britain both in numbers of aircraft and in design.

Just Beginning To Recover

AAF officials say the Air Force now is just beginning to recover from a low point of disorganization reached late last summer. Loss through demobilization of key personnel, including maintenance men as well as air crews, was a factor upsetting the hope Spaatz expressed last winter.

Upon this difficulty were imposed financial stringencies arising out of general cutbacks, a situation for which the AAF policy makers do not blame the Administration, but which nevertheless has put planning into a spin.

Of equal concern, planners say, is uncertainty over appropriations by the new economy-minded Congress. This is reflected in hesitation over procurement plans for new bombardment type aircraft and fighters and keeps the operations of the design department restricted to drawing boards instead of the desired rate of experimental building.

BIG DEFICIT LOOMS IN FEDERAL COURT

Truman Begins Work on Messages to G.O.P.-Controlled Congress.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22. — (AP) Prospects of a substantial year-end deficit confronted President Truman today in drafting state of the union and budget messages for the new Congress, despite a near-balance for the first six months.

And Senator Taylor (D-Idaho) reported "an enormous amount of pressure is being exerted upon the President to persuade him to embody the Republican point of view" in the state of the union message. Taylor urged Mr. Truman to resist it and "support and preserve the gains made for the people under three Roosevelt Administrations" regardless of the G.O.P. stand.

Works on Message

His statement followed word at the White House, as the chief executive started the work yesterday, that the message would be shorter and less specific than the 21-point program presented to the old Congress.

The budget message, to follow that on the state of the union early next month, is expected to outline a $37,000,000,000 spending program for the fiscal year starting July 1 and to take another look at the situation for this fiscal year.

Government analysts figure on a deficit of $1,900,000,000 or more for this fiscal year, in which spending is budgeted at $41,500,000,000.

Veterans Costs Climb

They explained that veterans expenditures are running far above early estimates and may top them by as much as $1,000,000,000. That would more than offset a saving of about $800,000,000 from discontin-

by President Truman and the Justice department for the release of about one third of the conscientious objectors still in prison.

This was learned officially today as demonstrators in convict stripes, some with imitation balls and chains, paraded before the White House with placards demanding a Christmas amnesty for the objectors. Similar marches were arranged today in eight other cities.

NEW ONE CURBS ENDS DECEMBER 31

Many Other Restraints May Be Eased At Same Time

Women's Clothes

Washington, Dec. 22 (AP)—Heavy overproduction of women's clothing may bring price slashes ranging as high as 50 per cent after Christmas, Theodore G. Maynard, chief of the clothing branch, textile division, Office of Temporary Controls, said tonight.

He attributed overproduction to high prices which had discouraged buying, together with a comparatively mild winter, which lessened the need for heavy clothing.

Washington, Dec. 22 (AP)—Curbs on telephone installations will be wiped out by New Year's, it was learned officially today, and many of the other remaining wartime restraints on industry may be eased at the same time.

The telephone decontrol is due December 31, a Civilian Production Administration spokesman said. But it is not expected to put the ordinary householders immediately on the same footing with doctors, essential industries and public utilities in getting new telephones installed.

Backlog Of Unfilled Orders

Paul V. Valle, CPA chief of utilities, explained at New Haven, Conn., that at a recent meeting of the telephone industry advisory committee of the CPA the utility representatives expressed the opinion that the order of preference which the Government originally set up "would be continued in substantially the same form through action of the telephone compaines in co-operation with appropriate state and local utility commissions."

With a backlog of unfilled orders estimated at 2,500,000 last month, however, telephone installations probably will continue to be slow, CPA officials said, and telephone companies have agreed to try to take care of the most urgent needs first.

CPA Decontrol Plan Speeded

Many companies have the existing order of preference set forth in their tariffs. A telephone official said that "I don't know of any place in the country where precedence won't be maintained" despite the removal of the Federal requirement for it. The precedence order was established by the War Production Board more than four years ago.

Although CPA now has fewer than 50 orders of all kinds on its books, a fraction of the wartime web of controls, its decontrol program has speeded up since President Truman merged it into the new Office of Temporary Controls ten days ago.

Under study at the moment, with decisions due soon, are the following moves:

1. Modifying the "CC," or bottleneck-breaking, priority. It was designed originally to help reconverting industry obtain essential equipment and materials and is widely used to aid veterans and small businesses in bringing their operations up to the profit-making level.

May Ease Can Control

2. Further easing—or perhaps scuttling—of control over cans. It restricts their use for beer, dogfood and other items. A majority of CPA sentiment now seems to favor outright revocation, although some officials fear this would cause a shortage for food canners, in view of the tin shortage.

3. Dropping the order which channels Manila and agave fiber into essential cordage products like rope, binder twine and baling twine.

4. Revoking certain chemical orders, including the one limiting the delivery and processing of cane alcohol.

Phone Order Due Thursday

5. Relaxing and simplifying the controls over lumber and plywood. One of these limits the amount of plywood which may be used in any house; the other limits sales af various types of lumber.

The telephone control revocation is due for issuance next Thursday, effective New Year's Eve. It will wipe out the CPA preference list, which begins with the Army, Navy and Veterans Administration and goes on through local governments, hospitals, morticians, newspapers, schools, essential industries, food processors, persons seriously ill, and so on down to veterans and service men and their families.

Thomas Says Democrats Feel He Followed Election System

Washington, Dec. 22 (AP)—Senator Elmer Thomas (D., Okla.) predicted today Democratic members of an investigating committee will hold next week that the Mississippi election system and not Senator Bilbo (D., Miss.) prevented Negroes from voting there.

Thomas said that as a member of the Senate Elections subcommittee, which held hearings on the ground, he is convinced that "Bilbo did nothing that almost every other politician in Mississippi hasn't done" in this year's primary campaign.

Bilbo was accused of preventing Negroes from voting in the Democratic primary in which he won renomination. Republicans looked to this charge as a possible ground for efforts to unseat him.

System In Evolution

"Senator Bilbo's views on this question are well known," Thomas observed. "As far as I can see, he didn't say anything in Mississippi that he hasn't said on the Senate floor."

Thomas said he regards the Mississippi primary system as being in the process of an evolution that eventually will lead to voting by Negroes in increased numbers.

"A few of them voted this year," he remarked. "More of them are likely to vote in the next election and some day most of them will be voting. I watched the same thing happen in Oklahoma, where there is now no question about Negroes so long as they are qualified voters."

Republicans Undecided

Thomas's prediction on the findings of the Democratic majority found Republicans still apparently undecided what they will do about a minority report at a December 30 meeting of the group. Senator Hickenlooper (R., Iowa) said he does not know yet what, if anything, the minority will have to say about Bilbo.

Regardless of the outcome of the elections inquiry, the new Republican-controlled Senate will get a report on some of Bilbo's activities. Senator Ferguson (R., Mich.) has been working on a report of the War Investigating Committee's inquiry into the Mississippi Senator's relations with war contractors. Bilbo acknowledged receiving funds from them and said they were used to finance the unsuccessful senatorial primary campaign of Wall Doxey in 1942.

Mead And Tunnell Leave

Senators Mead (D., N.Y.) and Tunnell (D., Del.), defeated in the November election, have closed up shop and gone home. But committee attachés said they believe the two will be willing to join in a report by January 3 before they officially go out of office.

This report, with any made by the full Elections Committee, headed by Senator Green (D., R.I.), may be referred by the Senate to its new Rules Committee for recommendations.

If this action is taken, Senator Brooks (R., Ill.), expected to head the rules group, said it will have to decide whether any further investigation of Bilbo is justified.

U. S. Asks Full Details On Russia's Ouster Of Navy Ship from Dairen

VESSEL ORDERED TO LEAVE OR RISK 'CONSEQUENCES'

Soviet Authorities Give Commander Only 20 Minutes to Depart.

NO EXPLANATION

American Businessman Aboard Refused Permission to Go Ashore.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23—(AP) The State department tonight sought full details on a "verbal ultimatum" issued by Soviet military authorities ordering a U. S. Navy craft to leave the port of Dairen, Manchuria, within 20 minutes or risk unnamed consequences.

A State department spokesman said the department was awaiting a report on the incident from H. Merill Benninghoff, American consul general at Dairen.

The spokesman added that if a report were not forthcoming shortly, the department would press for one.

Ship Ordered Out

A dispatch from Dairen said the American ship, an unarmed wartime troop landing craft, pulled out after receiving the Russian ultimatum. The dispatch was sent by William H. Newton, Scripps Howard staff writer representing the Combined World Press.

Under Soviet pressure, the ship departed so hurriedly that its commanding officer, Lt. (JG) Ray C. White, of Silver City, N. M., and the American diplomatic courier, Harris H. Ball, of Amarillo, Tex., arrived on board only at the last minute before the vessel left. Both had been ashore at the American consulate awaiting the outcome of a final appeal to the Soviet military commander of Dairen to permit an American business man to go ashore.

The dispatch quoted the Russian commander, Maj. Gen. V. U. Korzhanoff, as sending word to the ship that "unless you leave within 20 minutes we will not be responsible for the consequences."

The Navy department here withheld immediate comment, saying only that the craft, the LCIL (landing craft infantry large) 1090 left Dairen Dec. 21 (Dec. 20, U. S. time) on its return trip to the American base at Tsingtao on the North China coast.

Even before the order for the American vessel to leave, Korzhanoff had refused to permit an American businessman to debark, despite the fact that he carried full clearance from U. S. authorities. The Soviet commander also barred two American newspapermen, representing the combined World Press.

Occupied By Reds

Soviet troops have occupied Dairen, the finest seaport in Manchuria, since the Japanese surrender. Red army forces still control the city, although the Chinese-Russian treaty of 1945 called for its designation as a free port.

Newton, one of the two American correspondents banned from landing, said the Soviet-appointed Chinese mayor of Dairen was not even advised by the Russians that the ship had arrived, but subsequently commented:

"If I had known you were coming, I would have been at the dock to greet you."

The ship arrived at Dairen on Dec. 18 carrying diplomatic mail and supplies for the U. S. consulate, and requested permission to remain in port 48 hours. Without comment, Soviet authorities accepted the request.

The vessel remained in harbor two additional hours while Benninghoff sought permission for the American businessman, Jesse L. Poole, of Atlanta, Ga., representing the Standard Vacuum Oil Co., to go ashore. Almost immediately, the Soviet "ultimatum" was presented.

Pauley Charge Recalled

The incident recalled a recent charge by Edwin W. Pauley, U. S. reparations commissioner, that the Russians had virtually "sealed off" Dairen during their secret operations in stripping key industrial machinery from Manchuria. Pauley said his inspection group had been unable to obtain the necessary credentials to visit Dairen, either from Soviet or local authorities.

"Dairen has been practically sealed off by the Soviets for their own exclusive use," Pauley said, in a report to President Truman, "despite the fact that under the Sino-Soviet treaty of Aug. 14, 1945, Dairen is to be an open port and the Soviets are entitled to use only part of the port facilities."

Richard Cushing, former member of the Associated Press China staff, said in San Francisco that a similar incident occurred last February when the Russians used the same method to eject him and two other American newsmen from the port.

Cushing said full-scale Red army maneuvers, complete with tanks, artillery and troops, were in progress at that time in the hills north of the city.

Besides the rebuff to the U. S. Navy, the dispatch reporting this weekend's brush with the Soviets said the American consul general, Benninghoff, was left standing in the bitterly cold street when he attempted to intercede with the Russian military commander. Finally, he was told by a sentry that General Korzhanoff was not available.

Navy Craft, Given But 20 Minutes To Sail, Quits China Port

DAY

Twenty-minute Ultimatum Forces LCI(L) to Put to Sea Hastily.

AMERICAN CONSUL REBUFFED

Red Military Officials Refuse to Admit Two Correspondents and Business Man.

By WILLIAM H. NEWTON.
(Representing the Combined World Press.)

Dairen, Manchuria, Dec. 20 (Delayed) (A. P.).—A United States Navy ship pulled out of the port of Dairen this afternoon after receiving a verbal ultimatum from Russian military officials to the effect that "unless you leave within twenty minutes, we will not be responsible for the consequences."

Previously, the Russian military commander in charge of the city had refused to permit an American business man with full clearance from United States authorities to debark. Also denied permission to land were two American newspaper men, representing the combined world press.

[Russian troops have occupied Dairen since the Japanese surrender. Although the Chinese-Russian treaty of 1945 called for its designation as a free port under Chinese administration, Soviet forces still are in control of the city.

[In Washington, the State Department said that it had received no report of the "verbal ultimatum" and would have no immediate comment. The Navy Department reported that a Navy vessel identified as LCI(L) 1090 (Landing craft, infantry, large) left Dairen Dec. 21 (Dec. 20, United States time) on a return trip to the United States base at Tsingtao, on the north coast of China. There was no other immediate comment from the department.]

Ship Was on Second Trip.

The vessel, LCI(L) 1090, was on a second routine courier mission to Dairen carrying diplomatic mail and supplies to the United States consulate there.

In view of the fact that the details of the first trip had been revealed to the press, Admiral Charles M. Cooke Jr., commander of the Seventh Fleet, permitted two correspondents to go on the trip so that they would be present in the event that their going ashore met with the approval of local authorities. Admiral Cooke had ruled that no photographs could be made without the consent of the local officials.

The ship arrived at Dairen December 18 and requested permission to remain in port forty-eight hours. This was accepted without comment by the Soviet authorities who met the ship at anchorage.

The ship remained in the harbor two additional hours while United States Consul-General H. Merrill Benninghoff attempted a last minute appeal to the Soviet military authorities to permit an American business man, Jesse L. Poole of Atlanta, Ga., representing the Standard-Vacuum Oil Company, to go ashore. It was at this time that the Soviet ultimatum was delivered.

The Russians ordered the ship to leave despite the fact that neither the diplomatic courier nor the commanding officer were aboard. They were at the American Consulate, awaiting results of Benninghoff's final appeal to the Soviet commander. They arrived on board only at the very moment of the ship's departure.

The Russian military commander of the city, Major-Gen. V. U. Korzhanoff, refused to see the American Consul-General, however, and the ultimatum was delivered to the ship by one of his military aids. When the Consul called at the Soviet commander's home to appeal from the decision banning the three Americans from dairen, ne was left standing in the bitterly cold street while a sentry carried his request inside. After some time, he was told that Gen. Korzhanoff was not available.

Benninghoff had previously called on the Russian Consul-General, S. N. Petrov, to inquire why American citizens were not allowed ashore. Petrov replied that the whole matter was in the hands of Soviet military authorities. He said that authorization for such entries must come from Moscow.

The refusal today was the third rebuff that the American Consul-General had received from the Soviet military during the American ship's brief visit. Previously Benninghoff had asked Soviet diplomatic authorities to forward to the military authorities his request that the three Americans be permitted ashore. No reply was received. Earlier today Benninghoff visited Gen. Korzhanoff's office but was informed that the Soviet commander was "not in town." He then called at the Russian commander's home and was again turned away.

However, the Russian commander was in his home when Benninghoff called, it was learned.

Red Army Controls City.

Dairen is completely under the control of the Red Army. The local Soviet-appointed Chinese mayor is a figurehead, who was not even advised by the Soviets that the American ship had arrived.

"Had I known you were coming, I would have been at the dock to greet you," he said.

Armed Chinese police, under Soviet direction and control, paced the docks day and night, preventing any one from coming aboard or going ashore unless they possessed a Soviet pass. Several ship's officers and diplomatic courier Harris H. Ball of Amarillo, Tex., were permitted ashore by the authorities.

The Soviet ultimatum to leave the port was delivered to the ship by a Red Army major, who stated that he was the personal representative of Gen. Korzhanoff.

Ensign Tilghman B. Koons of Plainfield, N. J., who speaks Russian, interpreted for the senior Navy officer on board, Commander Edgar L. Yates of Portland, Ore. The captain of the ship is Lieut. (j. g.) Ray C. White of Silver City, N. M.

The LCI(L) 1090 carried a crew of twenty-six enlisted men and five officers. All of the ship's armament was removed before the trip to Dairen.

Ejected Writer Recalls Dairen Rebuff In Feb.

By Richard Cushing

San Francisco, Dec. 23 (AP)—Russia still has no welcome mat out for Americans at the big Soviet-occupied port of Dairen, Manchuria.

Her "verbal ultimatum" to a United States Navy vessel to leave Dairen within twenty minutes without debarking an American business man and two correspondents was the same method she used to eject three American newsmen last February.

Only we had an armed escort then—to make sure we caught the train. No American correspondent has been in Dairen since that time, and the American consul general, H. Merrill Benninghoff, has met with great difficulty attempting to set up shop.

Collared At Hotel

Associated Press Photographer Julian Wilson, of Louisville, Ky., and Sergt. Dick Wilson, of New York city, reporter for the China edition of Stars and Stripes, rode with me into Dairen on a Soviet train last February 26 after covering the Russian stripping of Manchurian industries in the Mukden area.

Full-scale Red Army maneuvers, complete with tanks, artillery and foot soldiers, could be seen from our train window as we passed the soft rolling hills north of the city.

Collared by Red Army officers as we registered blithely at a hotel, the Red Star, we were haled before Lieut. Gen. Georg Xirilovitch Koslov (he later was relieved of his command).

Put In "Protective Custody"

Koslov expressed considerable displeasure at our presence but was uncertain what action to take. He put us in "protective custody," restricting us to our hotel under guards with orders to see that we made no sight-seeing tours of the area.

However, I managed to slip out the next morning and talk with a few civilians, including the former Danish consul, to find out the reaction of neutrals to the Soviet occupation, and thereby roused the ire of our reluctant host, who quickly made arrangements for our departure.

Red Chief Vents Wrath

Flushed with anger, Koslov refused an interview and said we definitely were off our beat, since Dairen was "as Russian as the Red Square in Moscow" as long as the war was on—and the war was still on, in his view, until the peace treaty with Japan is signed.

Our stay was only 24 hours old when we were escorted out of Dairen by three armed Russians, after a parting tongue lashing from Koslov, whose words left no doubt that Dairen was an unhealthy place for Americans.

Especially so, we concluded, when an inspection of our baggage disclosed that carbon copies of stories we had written about the Russian stripping of industries had been filched during our stay there.

Bevin Sees Basis For Real Peace

London, Dec. 23 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin is optimistic over the chances for "friendship and co-operation between great powers," which he terms "the surest basis on which to build peace."

"I believe we have entered the first stage of establishing concord and harmony between great powers," he told the people in a broadcast last night—adding later: "Friendship and co-operation between great powers is the surest basis on which to build peace for all time."

But he warned that peacemaking would take several years.

Moscow Aims Outlined

He reported on the Big Four Foreign Ministers treaty making and the United Nations General Assembly session in New York, from which he returned Thursday, and laid down his aims for the Foreign Ministers' next meeting in Moscow on March 10.

Bevin declared that "the war left two great powers preponderant—the United States of America and Soviet Russia," with Great Britain lying "midway in geography and way of life."

He said the United States "has shown a willingness to play her part to the full" in peace machinery and expressed a belief that the Soviet Union "fully realized" at New York "that there was a great desire for complete understanding, and that there is throughout the world a readiness to co-operate with her and see her develop in her own way, with the recognition that others equally have a right to their own way of life."

Shaw Boosts Wallace For Roosevelt Views

DAY

The Communist newspaper did not publish the text of a letter from Shaw, who previously had come out for Wallace as President. The Daily Worker had asked the playwright to comment on the controversy over the proposed Roosevelt memorial statue in Grosvenor Square.

Shaw declined to enter the dispute over whether Franklin D. Roosevelt should be depicted as standing or sitting, but said the statue should be lifesize rather than "another of our ten-foot monsters."

The chief staff officer in the ministry will be Lieut. Gen. Sir Leslie Hollis.

Sir Henry Tizard, Knight Commander of the Bath, is head of Britain's defense research policy committee which will work with the new ministry.

Ocean Storms Turn Back Planeload of G. I. Wives

NIGHT

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Dec. 23—A Pan American Airways plane carrying twenty-five GI brides, one bride-to-be and twenty-five children of American veterans was forced by ocean storms to return to London tonight after it had reached Ireland on a flight to the United States.

The wives, to whom the trip had been offered as a Christmas present, were the "saddest people in London," a Heathrow airport official said. Weather permitting, the plane will start out again tomorrow.

The wives had been on waiting lists for sea transport. Messages reached them in various parts of Britain and set them scurrying about to pack and get to London in time for the take-off.

The plane was returning to the United States after having carried Army wives to Germany. It left London with a record passenger load, since thirteen other adult passengers were aboard for the England-to-Ireland leg of the flight.

French Heroes Meet at Exhibit

LONDON, Dec. 23—(AP) Agents and heroes of the French Resistance movement mingled with art connoisseurs and socialites at a recent private view opening a new Anglo-French art gallery in London.

The Gimpel Fils gallery in Brook St., proved to be a happy ending to an adventure story that stretched from parachutes to pictures, from the horrors of German concentration camps to a soft-carpeted salon in Mayfair.

Nucleus of the collection is the pictures Ernest Gimpel and his brother Peter saved from the collection of their father Renee Gimpel, noted art dealer with galleries in the place Vendome and in New York.

One of the first Resistance members, Renee Gimpel died in the Neuengamme Concentration Camp. Ninety crates of his treasures stolen by the Germans during the occupation, still are missing.

Among guests at the exhibit were secret agents and commandos who worked with Ernest in Underground France, or knew his tiny, Canadian born wife when, as Kay Moore, Winnipeg, she blotted their hazardous journeys in the FANY (First Aid Nursing Yeomanry) liaison with the French in London.

"We spent nine days in an open boat," said Gimpel, "I and some other agents and escaping pilots, sailing from St. Raphael via Gibraltar."

An intensive commando course in England, the six weeks wait at Kay's house, and Gimpel was in Paris as assistant military delegate, after parachuting from a plane. Gimpel was arrested with his chief by the Gestapo, tortured for forty-eight hours, and then served out his term in Fresnes, Buchenwald, Auchwitz and Flossenburg.

"I had my L-pill (lethal pill) in my mouth for the whole time I was tortured," he recounted, "and I kept thinking, 'I won't speak, because if I feel I can't help it, of course I must bite the poison pill to stop me, and then I will be dead, and there will be no hope for me any more.' But when the Gestapo finished with me I put it in the lining of my coat. It had got a bit worn with being in my mouth so long. When it burst, it ate a huge piece in my clothing."

Royal Family At Sandringham

Sandringham, England, Dec. 23 (AP)—King George VI, Queen Elizabeth and the Princess Elizabeth and Margaret Rose arrived tonight to spend Christmas at the King's Norfolk estate.

FRANCO ORDERS HOME HIS ENVOY TO BRITAIN

LONDON, Dec. 23 (AP)—Spanish Ambassador Domingo de las Barcenas has been recalled to Madrid and will leave his London post soon, the Spanish Embassy announced officially today.

The announcement followed a British Foreign Office statement that Ambassador Sir Victor Mallet has been instructed to vacate his post in Madrid in accordance with the United Nations resolutions on Spain.

The Minister Councillor, the Marquis of Santa Cruz, will be the Spanish chargé d'affaires in London, the Spanish Embassy stated.

THE HAGUE, the Netherlands, Dec. 23 (AP)—P. C. Petteman, the Netherlands special envoy and Minister Plenipotentiary in Madrid, has been recalled by Queen Wilhelmina, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs said tonight.

Nine Detained On Way To Zionist Conference

London, Dec. 23 (AP)—Seven men and two women flying to Switzerland for the World Zionist Conference were detained under guard tonight at a hotel near Croydon airport, where their plane made an unscheduled landing because of fog.

Immigration officials said the nine persons were not permitted freedom of movement because they lacked permits to enter the United Kingdom. The plane, bound from Lydda, Palestine, was to have landed on the Continent instead.

Names of those detained were not disclosed. All were expected to continue their trip tomorrow.

Detention of transient passengers is not without precedent in England. Earl Browder, United States Communist, was kept incommunicado when he passed through England earlier this year on his way home from Moscow.

LASKI DROPS SUITS

London, Dec. 23 (A. P.).—Harold J. Laski, who lost a libel suit against the weekly Newark Advertiser, disclosed today that he would withdraw similar actions filed against the London Daily Express, the London Evening Standard and the Nottingham Guardian. Laski, an economics lecturer, author and former chairman of the Labor party, announced the decision through his wife with the explanation that "no good purpose" would be served by proceeding with the suits.

A high court jury on December 2 returned a verdict that the Newark Advertiser did not libel Laski in reporting that he said at a 1945 political meeting that labor, if unable to get what it needed by general consent, would "have to use violence, even if it means a revolution." The jury also ruled that Laski must pay the costs, which have been estimated at $60,000.

SHOWDOWN FIGHT ON IN INDO-CHINA

French Rushing Gen. LeClerc To Far Eastern Colony

Paris, Dec. 23 (AP)—French troops, supported by planes and tanks, battled through the main streets of Hanoi today in their showdown fight for control of northern Indo-China. An official proclamation expressed fear that warfare might soon erupt in southern Indo-China and thus engulf all of the rich empire outpost.

Leon Blum, interim President-Premier of France, told the French National Assembly here that the situation was "serious" and might grow worse. He promised a policy of firmness and said he was rushing Maj. Gen. Jacques LeClerc, the famed armored-warfare specialist, to the troubled Far Eastern colony.

First Word Of Viet-Nam Head

LeClerc led French forces into Indo-China after the Japanese surrender.

Meanwhile, a delayed dispatch from Saigon gave the first word of Viet-Nam President Ho Chi Minh, whose Government fled Hanoi after the initial outbreak of hostilities on Thursday.

The dispatch quoted Ho as saying yesterday at Bachninh, 15 miles northeast of Hanoi, that the Viet-Namese, preferring death to slavery, would fight a long struggle for freedom and that "20,000,000 Viet-Namese would ultimately vanquish 100,000 reactionaries."

Atrocities Charged

He accused the French of provoking war by arresting and terrorizing the people of both northern and southern Indo-China, and charged them with using their planes to bomb women and children.

French authorities in Hanoi, capital of the Viet-Nam republic, accused the Viet-Namese of atrocities against French civilians, including sadistic murders and torch slayings.

Authorities said bodies of 29 French civilians, including eleven women, had been recovered, and that the hearts had been cut out of some and daggers jabbed into the eyes of others.

The Associated Press correspondent at Hanoi said that he had seen last week end the bodies of nineteen Chinese, who had been manacled and machine gunned.

Much Sniper Activity

French armored units rumbled through Hanoi streets as infantry units attacked the city hall and post office in the Indo-Chinese quarter of the city, the French news agency said. The attack was preceded by a bombardment by both planes and field guns.

Delayed Associated Press dispatches from Hanoi said that the main Viet-Nam army barracks, pounded by planes and artillery, finally was captured by the French yesterday. Some Viet-Namese and Japanese, entrenched in blockhouses, rejected surrender terms, but finally were driven out by the artillery and aerial bombardment.

Much Sniper Activity

French mopping-up operations around other Viet-Nam strong points in Hanoi proceeded slowly in the face of much sniper activity. Viet-Nam artillery continued a "sporadic and inaccurate" shelling of the city.

A French Army spokesman in Hanoi said other French-garrisoned towns were "successfully holding their positions," and that the French had enlarged their perimeter in Haiphong, approximately 60 miles east of Hanoi.

French authorities announced that all male French civilians in Hanoi and vicinity would be drafted into the civil guard to help protect property against "looters."

A state of siege was proclaimed in Tonkin and northern Annam.

Trucks equipped with loudspeakers broadcast appeals in Hanoi for the Viet-Namese to surrender. The loudspeakers blared:

"Viet-Namese, surrender. The Viet-Minh Government has fled. Hoist a white flag on your houses and give your arms back. Every armed civilian captured will be shot. Every house without a white flag will be searched. Every house from where shooting starts will be attacked."

Cochin-China Under Curfew

Cochin-China, southernmost state in Indo-China, was placed under a curfew, and a proclamation issued at Saigon by the French commissioner and the autonomous Cochin-Chinese Government said there was a "possibility of a Viet-Nam attack in Cochin-China."

Blum, while asserting that the situation was "serious" and that it might "grow worse during several weeks," told the French Assembly that it was not "alarming."

A full-scale legislative debate on the East Asian colony was averted when the Premier-President said he was taking a firm stand.

"The orders have been given without quibbling and without delay," he said. "Measures have been prescribed. The first have been executed. Others will follow."

French Hold Port City

Blum declared that the French and Chinese quarters at Hanoi had been opened up, as well as the highway from the city to the outlying airport, and that the Pasteur Hospital had been reoccupied.

However, he said, "resistance continues south of the city."

French troops have retained control of Tourane, port city 380 miles south of Hanoi, Blum said, although the city's airport was being shelled by the Viet-Namese.

The Premier-President asserted that it was France's duty to "preserve French lives out there" and to spare the blood of "a people whose political liberty we recognized ten months ago." He voiced the hope that when order was re-established France could resume negotiations with a "free Viet-Nam."

Blum did not specify whether he meant the Cabinet of President Ho Chi Minh or some new Viet-Nam government.

He said that LeClerc, France's most famous wartime commander, would leave by plane for the Far East Thursday. LeClerc, who escaped during World War II from a German prisoner-of-war camp and led Free French forces all the way from the sands of Africa to the gates of Paris, has served as commander in chief of French Far Eastern forces.

Admiral Georges Thierry D'Argenlieu, French high commissioner in Indo-China, arrived today to take personal command of the situation. Marius Moutet, Blum's Colonies Minister, has reached Cairo on his hurried flight from Paris to the Far East. He will report back to the Assembly on the Indo-Chinese situation.

France Sending Gen. LeClerc To Indo-China

Paris, Dec. 23 (AP) — President Léon Blum said today the "serious" situation in Indo-China may worsen in the next few weeks, and announced he was dispatching Gen. Jacques LeClerc, armored-warfare specialist of World War II, to the troubled outpost of empire.

Blum, addressing the National Assembly, promised a policy of firmness in dealing with the Viet-Nam forces, currently battling French troops in Indo-China.

LeClerc, whose tanks took Strasbourg after riding in the vanguard of the forces that seized Paris, will leave by plane Thursday.

Defines French Duty

Blum announced that French troops had captured Tournane and opened up part of Hanoi, the battered capital of the Viet-Nam republic, which was formed last March in agreement with the French. The French press agency reported earlier that French troops had attacked Viet-Nam positions at the Hanoi City Hall and Post Office.

Blum said it was France's duty to "preserve French lives out there" and also to spare the blood of "a people whose political liberty we recognized ten months ago." He voiced the hope that when order was re-established France could resume negotiations with a "free Viet-Nam."

Blum did not specify whether he meant the Cabinet of President Ho Chi Minh, which has fled Hanoi, or some new Viet-Nam government.

French Use Planes

French authorities were quoted as saying that 29 French civilians, including eleven women, had been killed in the fighting and that their bodies were brutally mutilated.

The French onslaught opened with a bombardment by planes and field guns on Viet-Nam troops in a strongly fortified barracks that formerly housed Indo-Chinese guards, the news agency said.

Power, Water Lacking

Viet-Nam batteries were reported shelling the French-held citadel with old 75-mm. guns that the Japanese had previously taken from the French.

French armored units and infantry battled for possession of the Rue Coton, main thoroughfare of the Indo-Chinese district to the north of the capital. Other French troops were reported advancing down the Boulevard Gambetta, south of the downtown district.

French engineers struggled to repair the damaged power plant and restore electrical service. The city was also described as without water.

State Of Siege

The French news agency announced the proclamation of a state of siege in Tonkin and northern Annam.

French official circles, the agency said, announced that the bodies of some Japanese were among the guards killed defending the Hanoi residence of the Viet-Nam President, Ho Chi Minh, when it was stormed by French troops on December 18.

French police arrested numerous natives, whom they described as "Viet-Nam personages," on charges of having participated in the Tran Trong Kim Government set up by the Japanese in 1945.

Mayor Of Hanoi Ousted

The French military operations followed by a few hours the return from Paris of the French High Commissioner, Admiral Georges Thierry d'Argenlieu.

A decree was published by the French setting up a civil guard, presumably a body in which French civilians would be deputized to act with military and police powers.

Another decree ousted the Indo-Chinese mayor of Hanoi and installed a French administrator named La Riviere in his place.

Rebel HQ Secret

French dispatches from Hanoi said security forces had orders to distinguish between the mass of the population and "Viet-Nam militants who seem to them suspect."

"French authorities have formally forbidden the undertaking of summary executions," it was announced.

The French said they had no information on the location of the secret headquarters to which Viet-Nam Government leaders have fled. A clandestine Viet-Nam radio station remained in operation. The French expressed belief the radio station was a mobile unit.

Midnight Masses Forbidden

Meanwhile a curfew proclamation in Cochin-China, claimed by the Viet-Nam Republic along with Annam and Tonkin, announced "the possibility of a Viet-Nam attack in Cochin-China."

30.24-7067

The proclamation was issued at Saigon by the French commissioner and the autonomous Cochin-Chinese Government, which the Viet-Namese have accused of being a puppet regime. It ordered all public places closed at 10 P.M. Christmas Eve and forbade holding midnight masses "to protect the population against all risks."

"These orders," it was stated, "constitute simple precautionary measures."

A press dispatch from Hanoi, where more than 200 French soldiers had been reported killed or wounded recently in fighting with Viet-Namese forces, said the French had warned that ununiformed natives found carrying firearms would be shot.

"Any house that fails to fly a white flag will be searched, and any house from which shots are fired will be attacked," the warning also was quoted as saying.

Moutet On Way

Marius Moutet, Minister for Overseas Territories in Blum's new interim Cabinet, was meanwhile speeding toward Hanoi by plane for an on-the-spot investigation of the disorders. Moutet, who took off from Orly airport at 10.15 last night, carried with him the Assembly's promise to defer an inquiry for two weeks pending his report.

French authorities were quoted as saying that the bodies of the slain civilians had been brutally mutilated.

Attacks Repulsed

French sources in Indo-China said that the Viet-Namese appeared to be preparing an attack against Hongay, coast center 80 miles east of Hanoi, but the port itself was reported firmly in French hands.

In other areas in northern Indo-China where fighting has occurred, French troops are now in control, Hanoi dispatches said. Viet-Namese were said to have attacked several towns Saturday night, including Namdinh, Haiduong and Phulangthuong, but they were repulsed.

No News Of Garrison

Viet-Namese were said to have cut Hanoi's railroad and highway links with the port of Haiphong in several places and to have destroyed a bridge near Haiduong midway between the cities.

Huë, Annam state capital 340 miles south of Hanoi, reported looting and burning of French houses. No news had been received about 200 French civilians and a garrison of 30 soldiers at Vinh, 150 miles south, which capitulated to Viet-Namese on Friday.

Saar Step By French Assailed

NIGHT 1946 KASISCHKE

Berlin, Dec. 23 (AP)—The American and French military governments in Germany were at odds tonight over the French action in sending 1,200 men into the coal-rich Saarland to set up a customs barrier between the Saar and the rest of Germany.

Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, deputy American military governor, charged that the French move constituted "an entirely unilateral action which was not presented to the Allied Control Council."

Blame Black Market

The French, who desire separation of the Saar from Germany or at least its economic integration with France, contended officially that their action was an anti-black market operation designed "to prevent the exporting of food products from the Saar and an influx of currency into the territory."

In London a British Foreign Office spokesman supported the French action, saying that it was a step against currency manipulators and black marketeers and that the French had informed the Foreign Ministers Council in New York that such action was contemplated.

But Clay, obviously irked by the action, declared:

"Under quadpartite government of Germany any action like that taken by the French without placing it before the Allied Control Council for consideration is a unilateral action.

To Notify Washington

"What's going to happen around here if a cordon is thrown around every black market area in Germany? Suppose we did it in Bavaria or even the Bremen enclave? Suppose the Russians did it in Saxony?"

He said he intended to notify Washington formally of the French move and added: "I don't know what instructions my Government will give me."

The French-licensed Berlin newspaper Der Kurier said that, beginning December 29, the crossing of the Saar border will be permitted "only for German nationals and foreign civilians, of whatever nationality, who possess passports with a visa written in three languages."

Traffic By Permit Only

As of December 22 traffic of goods between the Saar and the remainder of the French occupation zone was declared bound by "personal and nontransferable permit," it added.

There was no immediate reaction from the Russians, but it was recalled that when French occupation authorities last July ordered the transfer of eleven rural communes from the Rhineland to the Saar the Soviet-controlled Berlin Zeitung ascused the French of "preparing to annex the Saar."

The French said at the time that the action was taken to "adapt the administrative organization of the Saar to economic reality." The communes consisted of 79 Rhineland districts totaling about 600 square miles.

Public German reaction came from Berlin's Social Democratic Party, which said the French move looked like "at least a risky attempt to influence the Saar population to a one-sided attitude for future decision, especially as there may be a plebiscite."

Such a plebiscite was conducted after France held custody over the Saar for fifteen years after the first World War.

The Saarlanders voted overwhelmingly for return to Germany.

Parties In Germany Shun Responsibility

DAY DOANE

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 23 (AP). Formation of coalition cabinets in all three states in the United States occupation zone of Germany demonstrated today that no single party was yet strong enough—or willing—to assume sole responsibility for German self-government.

The new constitutions of Bavaria, Wuerttemberg-Baden and Greater Hesse alike provide for a parliamentary system under which the predominant party in each normally would form a cabinet of its own members and take up responsibility for directing the government.

Bavaria Shows Trend

But not one of the victorious parties dared take that initiative in any German state—not even in Bavaria, where the Christian Social Union party holds 104 of the 180 seats in the state parliament. All the cabinets will contain ministers from several parties.

In one state, Wuerttemberg-Baden, the strongest party did not even get the Minister-Presidency, a post comparable to that of prime minister.

Military government observers pointed out that coalition cabinets were necessary in both Wuerttemberg-Baden and Greater Hesse, where no one party gained a majority of parliamentary seats.

Some observers professed to detect a hesitancy by still developing parties to assume full individual responsibility during these times, especially while still subject to military government supervision.

Clay Is Annoyed As French Act To Sever Saar

DAY 1946

Berlin, Dec. 23 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, deputy American military governor, expressed annoyance today at what he called the "entirely unilateral action" of the French in separating the Saar from the rest of Germany with a customs frontier.

Lieut. Gen. Joseph Pierre Koenig, French military governor, placed 1,200 customs officials on the boundaries of the rich coal region with Baden and the Rhine-Palatinate yesterday to "prevent the exporting of food products from the Saar and an influx of currency into the Saar."

Clay said the matter had not been presented to the Allied Control Council. Other American officials said privately that the French had made a single-handed move to gain a settlement of French demands regarding the Saar outside the four-power councils.

The French are understood to desire at least a customs union with the Saar, its close economic integration with France and its separation from Germany in some fashion.

"Anti-Black Market"

London, Dec. 23 (AP)—A Foreign Office spokesman today described the French action in placing 1,200 customs men on the Saar frontier as "an anti-black-market operation."

Red Cross Holds Parties.

Frankfurt, Dec. 23 (A. P.).—More than 125,000 children—Germans, displaced persons and American dependents—are being entertained at Christmas parties in American Red Cross clubs in Germany, Red Cross Headquarters reported today.

Each child gets a gift package of candy, gum, soap, toothbrush and toothpaste from surplus stocks.

British, Russ Extend Interzonal Trade Quotas

Berlin, Dec. 23 (AP)—A "stopgap" agreement announced yesterday between British and Soviet occupation zone authorities will extend their present interzonal trade quotas until next April 1, with the Russian zone committed to supply 10,000 tons of grain a month and the British zone agreeing to furnish a minimum of 25,000 tons of iron and steel.

A trade pact between the Russian and American zones concluded last summer is still in effect, and has a provision for automatic three-month extensions.

Meanwhile, British officials said that German representatives from the United States and British zones would meet with Germans from the Soviet zone in January to draft trade terms of much wider scope.

Relief Costs Rise In U.S. Zone

DAY KASISCHKE

Berlin, Dec. 23 (AP)—Public relief rolls, rising steadily in the United States occupation zone of Germany, require 22.17 per cent of all governmental expenditures for the 1946-47 fiscal year. Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, deputy military governor, reported these figures today.

Approximately one German of every sixteen in the American zone is receiving public relief as the need increases to extend aid to many thousands of refugees and expellees still arriving in the zone from other areas.

Relief Cases Increase

The American zone, which has a population of 16,231,648, according to the Germany-wide census taken at the end of October, had 1,130,638 on relief in November. This represented an increase of 52,653 from October.

During the same period, relief expenditures mounted from 29,919,181 marks ($2,991,918 at the military rate of exchange of 10 cents per mark) to 31,883,337 marks ($3,188,333). Public welfare budgets for the fiscal year were estimated at 1,396,000,000 marks ($139,600,000), Clay's report said. The figures also include funds for operating welfare institutions.

At Frankfurt, United States Military Government authorities announced today that prisoners of war held by the United States would be paid for their labor at the rate of 1 mark for each 30 cents earned, instead of at the official rate.

Prisoners Pay Rate

This announcement raised immediate speculation as to whether the mark would be pegged at 30 cents generally, but the office of the United States Army's fiscal director said it was only for payment of war prisoners.

It was explained that the pay rate for prisoners was established by the War Department in accordance with provisions of the Geneva convention of 1929 and had no bearing on the commercial rate of exchange.

PRINCESS AT TRIAL

Frankfurt, Dec. 23 (A. P.).—Princess Sophie of Hesse today identified gems on display at the court-martial of Col. Jack W. Durant of Chicago and Washington as part of the $1,500,000 Kronberg Castle collection which Durant is accused of stealing. A stately blonde clad in a beige dress, black coat and hat, and black calf-length boots, the princess testified in English. She identified various items as the property of Princess Maria Alexandria of Hesse and of Prince August Wilhelm of Prussia.

The court session was marked by frequent clashes between Major Joseph S. Robinson of New York, the prosecutor, and Capt. Glenn V. Brumbaugh of Los Angeles, defense attorney. Brumbaugh objected frequently to the prosecution's procedure in identifying the gems before they had been placed in evidence, and Robinson argued that by his constant objections, Brumbaugh was delaying the case.

DONALD DAY FREE FROM ARMY PRISON

NIGHT

Department Of Justice No Longer Interested In Him

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 23 (AP). Donald Day, former Chicago Tribune correspondent in the Baltic countries, was released today from the United States Army prison here after nine months' confinement during which American authorities investigated his radio broadcasts from Germany in the last year of the war.

An intelligence officer said Day was released because the Department of Justice "is no longer interested in him." The spokesman said no charges were pending against Day.

Describes His Broadcasts

The former correspondent said in an interview today that he had broadcast over the German short-wave radio for five months in 1944 and 1945 at the request of German officials.

"But there were no restrictions on my talks," he said. "I said what I pleased. I followed no propaganda line. I merely told the story of what happened in the Baltic region, where I was correspondent for the Chicago Tribune for twenty years, describing the fate of Poland, Lithuanian, Latvia, Estonia and Finland at the hands of Russia."

Day spent the Winter of 1944-45 in Berlin, making broadcasts over the German radio, he related. Then, in April, 1945, when Russian troops approached Berlin, he and his wife fled to Bavaria.

"In June I reported voluntarily to American military officials, who released me after four days of questioning, but last March they arrested me again.

In Solitary Confinement

"For three and a half months I was held in solitary confinement and not until October would they even accept a letter from me to send to the United States. I was fed so badly that I lost 30 pounds."

Day was held in the Army Intelligence Service interrogation center at Oberursel near Frankfurt.

The white-haired, 51-year-old newspaper man said he hoped to return to the United States soon.

"I don't see why I should have any trouble going back," he said. "I've never given up my American citizenship."

REDS ANNOUNCE NEW ECONOMIC PLANNING SET-UP

NIGHT GILMORE

MOSCOW, Dec. 23 — (AP) The Soviet government decreed today a sweeping post-war reorganization of the Soviet Union's economic planning system involving more planning powers for individual ministries.

The reorganization also calls for a special new planning organ for science and increased emphasis on verifying the degree to which plans are carried out in practice.

These measures were outlined in the Journal of Planned Economy.

Under the new decree, which relaxes the strict centralization of planning activity prevailing here during the war, individual ministries will submit economic plans to the government annually rather than quarterly and will have new authority to modify production assignments to enterprises under their control within limits as circumstances require.

These new measures involve no departure from fundamental collectivist principles underlying the Soviet economic system. They are strictly organizational measures aimed not at abandoning the planning system but at improving it and adapting it to post-war conditions and tasks.

One significant new measure is the creation of a department charged with drafting a "genuinely scientific state technical plan embracing all the most important spheres of science technics." This represents a far-reaching attempt to plan scientific progress.

The reorganization has as one of its aims the overfulfillment of plans by giving the ministries more independence and initiative.

Another aim is to give planning organs more time to concentrate on the highly important but hitherto somewhat neglected task of checking up on how the plans are being carried out.

The decree reorganizes the Gosplan (State Planning commission presided over by Nikolai Alexandrovich Voznesenski), setting up new overall coordinating departments including the department of "economic relations proportions," one of the tasks of which is to eliminate bottlenecks in industry.

Special administrations also are provided to plan whole sectors of the economy such as fuel, transport and agriculture.

U.S.S.R. Already Framing March German Plan

By Eddy Gilmore

Moscow, Dec. 23 (AP)—Convinced they set the pace at the New York United Nations sessions, the Soviets are now concentrating on the German question and all its ramifications, drawing up a program of ideas for positive proposals to settle the problem.

As the world has seen before, the U.S.S.R. does not go into conferences without definite proposals on the biggest issues, and the same can be assumed for the Moscow meeting of the Foreign Ministers Council next March 10.

Impetus To Stalin's Return

The Russians are expected to have something definite to propose, perhaps something as newsworthy and startling to the other great powers as their recent disarmament suggestions.

It can be said with certainty that the U.S.S.R. has some definite ideas on Germany that will be new.

The greatest impetus to Russia's plans for the future is, of course, the return of Prime Minister Stalin to Moscow, refreshed and rested from his vacation.

Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and his deputy, Andrei Y. Vishinsky, also are both back in the capital. Both experienced long hours of work during the New York United Nations meetings, and the first thing they are expected to do is to rest. Both returned to Moscow in excellent health and spirits.

Fewer Troops In West

The Russians are sure to push the disarmament question hard during the coming months. They express the desire to get the men in their armed forces back into civilian life, to speed up the new five-year plans.

It is known here that the U.S.S.R. is withdrawing large numbers of troops from Germany and other occupied countries. They are seen in railway stations almost daily and on the streets, going to and from their temporary barracks in the city.

When questioned, they say they are from Germany and Austria, adding that they have been demobilized and are going back to farms and factories.

It may well be that before long Russia will have fewer troops in Germany than others of the great powers.

Russ Housing Loans Exceed Billion Rubles

Moscow, Dec. 23 (AP)—Russia's postwar own-your-home movement progressed this year with loans totaling 1,500,000,000 rubles ($282,000,000 at official exchange) announced by the state for city dwellers, chiefly former service men, for the purpose of building their own houses.

These long-term loans, running as high as 10,000 rubles (nominally $1,800), are repayable within ten years at two per cent interest. Local Soviets provided free land.

The increased scale of individual home building was made possible in part by the improved performance this year of the U.S.S.R. building materials industry, which was said to have doubled the output of bricks and lime, and produced considerably more cement, window glass and gypsum than in 1945.

ROOSEVELT BOOK IN RUSSIA

Moscow Plans an Edition of Elliott's 'As He Saw It'

MOSCOW, Dec. 23 (AP)—An informed source said today the Soviet Union would publish Elliott Roosevelt's book, "As He Saw It," in the Russian language early next year.

The late President's son gave Prime Minister Stalin on Saturday night an autographed copy of the book, which includes Elliott Roosevelt's accounts of the Big Three wartime conferences. The decision to publish the book in Russian was made earlier, it was said.

Roosevelt's interview with Stalin on the Generalissimo's sixty-seventh birthday was the first indication that Stalin had returned to the Kremlin from a prolonged vacation. Roosevelt said that Stalin appeared fit and in good spirits.

SOVIET OFFERS U. S. A MARKET

But Russians Feel They Can Get On Without Us.

Moscow, Dec. 23 (A. P.).—Considered from a purely business point of view, the Soviet Union stands as one of the greatest potential markets for American-made products. There is much evidence not only that Russia needs millions of dollars' worth of things the United States is making or can make but that she is willing to buy them. Recently concluded economic agreements with Sweden, Uruguay, Norway and Finland indicate Russia's desire to do business on an international basis.

Some things the Russians need badly in their post-war reconstruction and five-year plan—things they believe the United States could sell them almost immediately—are machinery, machine tools, and bearings, electrical equipment, transport equipment, particularly locomotives, railroad cars and boats, and oil and mining equipment. Premier Stalin has said that Russia would like a loan from the United States—and many Russians tell you frankly that the bigger it is the better. Russia unquestionably—and, industrially, for a country damaged as she was by the war—wants long-term credit, perhaps for twenty to thirty years. She would like low interest, perhaps 2 or 3 per cent.

Has Gold and Furs.

How is Russia going to pay? She certainly can pay in gold, and she has an almost unlimited supply of furs—two items the United States deals in. She could, and probably would, use American engineers and other technicians as she has used them before.

Russians say an economic crisis in the United States would be disastrous to the world. They say they'd like to see prosperity in the United States with firm, friendly and mutually beneficial ties with the Soviet Union, and they express belief that their country is going to prosper.

Persons in the foreign-trade delegations that have been here this fall have expressed mild amazement that no loan arrangement nor new economic agreement exists between the Soviet Union and the United States. Although Russia would like an American loan and would like to do business with the United States, Americans should not get the impression that Russia cannot get along without it. The Soviet Union, which lost 7,000,000 men in the war and had its country ravaged as no other was, gives evidence of supreme confidence that it can mend its own fences if necessary.

Soldier Voting Program Disclaimed By Warsaw

Warsaw, Dec. 23 (AP)—A Foreign Ministry spokesman said today the Polish "government disclaims responsibility" for armp pamphlets which urged soldiers to vote for the pro-government bloc of parties in the January 19 general elections.

Booklets published by the army's political education division have been instructing soldiers to vote for the bloc, which the army publication Slow volnierza said yesterday Polish soldiers should tell Poles how to vote.

The foreign office spokesman said he did not consider Slow Zolnierza an official document, adding that "an official document is what is stated by members of the government."

Sponsors of the pamphlets were told, the spokesman said, that the contents of the publications did not contribute to making "the position of the government easier in the international field."

Zionists Turn Down London Parley Bid

EISNER

BASEL, Switzerland, Tuesday, Dec. 24.—(AP) The World Zionist Congress voted 171 to 154 today against participating in the London conference on Palestine under existing circumstances.

The vote was on a resolution sponsored by Rabbi A. H. Silver of Cleveland, Ohio.

Passage of the measure put Silver in the favored position for the presidency of the World Zionist organization.

Earlier the congress adopted unanimously today a resolution condemning the British White Paper of 1936 "as an obstacle to the rescue and rehabilitation of hundreds and thousands of the surviving Jews in Europe."

In another resolution unanimously approved, the congress demanded unrestricted emigration to the Holy Land and hailed "the continuous flow to Palestine of Jewish immigrants—men, women and children—who have braved every terror to reach the shores of their homeland."

This resolution also proclaimed "the inalienable right to every Jew in need of a home to seek salvation in Palestine" and pledged the sympathy and support of the Zionist movement to "all Jews determined to exercise that right."

Zionist Head Seen Staying

Dr. Stephen S. Wise, a member of the executive of the Jewish Agency, predicted yesterday that Dr. Chaim Weizmann, of London, would remain at the helm of the World Zionist Organization and that the Zionists would participate in the palestine conference in London next month.

On the eve of the final plenary meeting of the twenty-second World Zionist Congress, where the issue of the London conference apparently hung in the balance and where Weizmann leadership was unchallenged by some groups, Rabbi Wise said:

"It may sound unsafe for me, before the congress is ended, to venture a prediction, yet I do. Dr. Weizmann will remain at the helm.

Just Deals Sought

"He will be authorized to proceed to the London conference in January to present Zionism's aims and claims. For the sake of the sorely tried Jewish people, tragically depleted in numbers and strength and for the sake of granting reparation to that people which has suffered most and for the sake of world peace, I pray that Britain, long friend of the Jewish people, may deal wisely and justly with them.

"Six unearned Arab kingdoms have come out of the first World War. We ask for nothing more than a viable Jewish state with control over immigration, industry and finance, in an adequate area of Palestine that shall bring the Jewish state into the company of the United Nations of the world."

Attitude Not Inexplicable

Dr. Wise, Rabbi of the free synagogue in New York, and founder of the American Zionist organization, said he "could not believe that in this hour of confusions the World Zionist Organization should be so unwise as to reject the leadership of the statesman, Dr. Weizmann, who won for the Jewish people the Balfour declaration.

"There are groups which deem it unwise to go to the London conference. That attitude is not inexplicable in view of the way in which we fared at the London Arab-Jew conference of 1936, the result of which was the evil white paper.

Support Pointed Out

"In the meantime, as has been pointed out, our cause has won the understanding support of the President and the State Department in addition to having the backing of wide public opinion in our country. We will, of course, reject the Morrison proposal, which would mean cantonization without any guarantee of control over Jewish immigration into Palestine.

"I cannot for myself see how the British Labor Government, committed for years to the unequivocal support of the Zionist, can now summon us to confer with it without being ready to grant our minimal demands, namely, a viable state in an adequate area of Palestine."

Arab Group Charges Interference By British

Cairo, Dec. 23 (AP)— The Arab Executive Committee of Palestine cabled the British Government tonight protesting what it termed British "interference" in Moslem affairs in Palestine.

Prior to the sending of the protest an official spokesman of the Arab League said Arab states would not send representatives to the Palestine conference in London, scheduled to resume next month, if the British Government confirmed reports here that it would approve the partition of Palestine.

Zionist Committee Hits 'Terrorism'

Basel, Switzerland, Dec. 23 (AP)—The political commission of the World Zionist Congress drew up today a resolution denouncing "terrorism" in Palestine.

The resolution was drafted for submission to the final plenary session of the Congress tonight.

The chief issue before the Congress—whether to participate in the Palestine conference to convene in London on January 14—hung in the balance, pending a vote tonight by the 370 delegates from 43 countries. The political commission voted, 20 to 16, yesterday against Zionist participation.

Budget Is Doubled

The budget commission has approved a $62,000,000 budget for 1947, subject to approval by the plenary session. This is more than double the 1946 budget.

Rabbi A. H. Silver, of Cleveland, Ohio, political commission chairman, said one of the prerequisites for Zionist participation in the London meeting would be British abrogation of the White Paper restricting immigration to Palestine.

Observers said the commission's 20-to-16 vote against representation strengthened Silver's candidacy for the presidency of the World Zionist Organization.

18 Nazis Doomed For Slav Crimes

Belgrade, Dec. 23 (AP)—Eighteen one-time Nazi officials awaited execution today for ordering atrocities against Serbs and Jews during the German occupation of Yugoslavia.

A high military court yesterday sentenced nine ex-Gestapo chiefs to hang and nine former Elite Guard officers to be shot following a two-week trial which brought out testimony that they were to blame for the deaths of 150,000 Serbs and 35,000 Jews. Normally execution would occur within a few days.

Crowd Is Emotional

Two one-time Elite Guard men drew twenty-year sentences at forced labor and a colonel, 74 and ill, a five-year term.

Lieut. Gen. August Meissner, 1942-44 Gestapo chief in Serbia, left the courtroom amid cries of "hang him in the Terrazia!" (Bel-grade's public square, where the Nazis hanged Partisans.)

A father held up his small son to spit in the prisoners' faces as they were led out.

55 Greek Leftists Surrender

Athens, Dec. 23 (AP)—The Greek Ministry of Public Order reported today the surrender of 33 guerrillas in the Mount Olympus region and an additional 22 in Turnavos.

An engagement between guerrillas and the military near Kastoria, in western Macedonia, in which the leader of the irregulars was killed, was also reported.

An official announcement said fifteen guerrillas and four soldiers were killed in fighting near Souphli Turkish border.

It was disclosed today that an automobile carrying former Premier Panayotis Kanellopoulos was fired on two days ago about fourteen miles east of Patras, on the western coast of Greece. No one was injured, and the car was not damaged.

No Arms On Russ Plane

Identity of the assailants was not known, but the Liberal newspaper Ta Nea said they were Xites, members of an extreme rightist organization.

An official report said the Russian plane, forced down December 19 at Sidirocastron, just south of Rupel Gorge, was not carrying "arms or photographic equipment, and there is no reason for suspicion."

The report was made by a three-man military investigating committee sent to the scene shortly after the plane had been forced down after losing its way in bad weather while en route from Bucharest to Plovdiv, Bulgaria.

Chinese Currency Hits New Black-Mart Low

Shanghai, Dec. 23 (AP)—Chinese National Currency depreciated to a new low black-market rate of 7,600 C.N.C. to one United States dollar today and then recovered to about 6,800. The legal rate is 3,350.

Financial quarters expressed concern over the wild fluctuations of recent days, wondering how long C.N.C. could avoid total collapse.

China Is Preparing For Prewar Christmas

Shanghai, Dec. 23 (AP)—Despite renewed talk by both sides of the possibility of all-out civil war, China is preparing to spend Christmas almost on the scale of prewar days.

The country's two foremost Chinese Christians, the Generalissimo and Mme. Chiang Kai-shek, expect to spend Christmas quietly in Nanking, their first there since 1936.

United States Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart plans to visit old friends in Peiping. General Marshall, special United States envoy, whose wife has gone to Honolulu for the winter, is expected to stay on the job in Nanking, ready—if circumstances permit—to tackle afresh the task of helping the Chinese achieve peaceful unity.

In Shanghai everything is to be had for the asking—provided the buyer has the astronomical price. Turkeys and all other good things for the table are plentiful, but extremely high, and so are Nylon hosiery, fine perfumes, chinchilla and mink coats.

REDS ATTACK MINES

Peiping, Dec. 23 (A.P.).—Communist guerrillas were reported in the official Government newspaper Chih Shih Jih Pao today to be attacking the Mentoukou coal mines, fifteen miles west of Peiping, a principal source of coal for this ancient capital.

Government troops succeeded at the same time in halting a Communist offensive against the important Peiping-Tientsin railroad, but the threat of guerrilla attacks remained.

Communists were reported intrenched only twelve miles southeast of Peiping, with some massed about fifteen miles to the southwest. Government reports said that 7,000 Communists from central Hopei province had been brought up to bolster units southeast of this walled city.

Inland, Communists were said to be converging from four sides on Taiyuan, capital of Shansi province, and attacking strong points around Paoting, capital of Hopei.

Approval Of Chinese Constitution Is Near

Nanking, Dec. 23 (AP)—The new Chinese constitution will be approved either tomorrow or Wednesday, will be promulgated January 1, and will become effective either October 10 or November 12, Chen Li-fu, organization minister, announced today.

October 10 is the anniversary of the Chinese republic; November 12 is Dr. Sun Yat-sen's birthday.

Chen said the Government was preparing regulations for a transitional period between adoption of the constitution and election of officers, including a president, which is slated for some time during 1947.

BRITAIN IN MOVE TO STRENGTHEN MALAYAN STATES

SINGAPORE, Dec. 23. — (AP) The British government announced tonight details of a proposed plan for a "Federation of Malaya," designed to bring political unity to the loosely associated native states and British colonies which constitute the present Malayan Union, on the southern half of the rubber-rich Malay Peninsula.

The plan reserves for the British the complete control of the defense and external affairs of the strategic area, whose quick domination by the Japanese in the early stages of World War Two brought consternation to the British empire.

The lengthy "constitutional proposals for Malay" envisage the creation of a central government under a crown-appointed high commissioner; extension of federation citizenship to most residents; creation of legislative executive councils for the federation of nine Malay states and settlements of Penang and Malacca; and state governments headed by native sultans acting on the advice of a British resident officer.

The proposals were prepared by a 12-man working committee representing the British government, the sultans and the United Malays National organization. It has already been approved by the sultans and the British cabinet, and now will be submitted for the approval of Indian, Chinese and other racial groups.

The plan has been opposed by the newly formed Pan Malayan Council of joint action, representing 15 Chinese and Indian trade union associations, on grounds that it was worked out in secret sessions, without prior consultation with the Malayan people.

There is no mention in the proposals of Singapore, which remains a separate crown colony, or the governor general's office, which apparently would remain the chief colonial office for Malaya, Sarawak and British North Borneo.

Federal citizenship would be granted to any subject of a Malayan sultan, any British subject born in Penang or Malacca who has resided there continuously for 15 years, any British subject born on the Malay Peninsula whose father was born there or resided there continuously for 15 years, or any person whose father is a federal citizen at the time of the person's birth.

The British government would undertake to prevent "any grave menace to the peace and tranquility of the federation or any Malay state or settlement," and to afeguard "the financial stability and credit of the federal government."

BROOKE ALLOWED TO ENTER 2 AREAS

Singapore, Dec. 23 (A. P.).—Anthony Brooke, an erstwhile Prince of Sarawak on Borneo, will be given "unconditional entry" into Singapore Colony and the Malayan Union, the two Governments announced today. This action, their brief statement added, "does not affect in any way the decision to exclude him from Sarawak."

Brooke is the nephew of Sir Charles Vyner Brooke, Sarawak's former White Rajah, who earlier this year turned the State over to Britain. On his way back to Sarawak recently, the younger Brooke reached Hong Kong before the British Government barred him from the island holding.

In House of Commons debate on his exclusion, Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones charged last Friday that Brooke had inspired opposition to the British among Sarawak's people and violence threatened if he returned.

Hindu-Moslem Outbreak In Bombay Fatal To 6

Bombay, Dec. 23 (AP)—Six persons were killed and thirteen injured in knife attacks today, and police reported thirteen casualties in other attacks yesterday.

These incidents were the latest in a series of sporadic Hindu-Moslem outbreaks in Bombay extending over the past few months.

U.S. Pays Philippines For War Currency

Manila, Dec. 23 (AP)—The United States Army today authorized the payment of $25,000,000 to the Philippines in partial reimbursement for emergency ccrrency issued during the war by Filipino guerrillas.

The money was made available from a War Department appropriation for the expenses of the United States Army in the Philippines. Assistant Secretary of War Howard Peterson was here last summer negotiating the matter.

A wide variety of crudely printed emergency notes were issued by the guerrillas, with General MacArthur's approval, to finance espionage activities against the Japanese during the occupation.

In addition, the Philippine Government advanced emergency currency to the Army in outlying islands before the surrender of Corregidor.

Cheery Christmas For The Filipinos

Manila, Dec. 23 (AP)—This will be the brightest Christmas in six years for the Philippines.

Lighted, gaily-colored paper or bamboo stars of Bethlehem hang from the doors of nearly every rusty sheetiron shack in the midst of miles of war ruins. Christmas trees, brought from the mountains of northern Luzon, and a strange, cheery touch to these tropical lowlands.

Most of the islands' old, mossy Spanish churches lie in ruins, but services will be held in cleared spaces inside the tumbling walls.

Brass bands, the Filipino substitutes for Christmas carollers, are busy night and day.

Christmas stocks in stores are scarce, due to the recent American maritime strike, but Manila's main shopping centers have been jammed with would-be purchasers.

ARGENTINA NOTES AGENTS DEPORTED

13 Of 52 Slated To Go Have Sailed, Minister Says

Buenos Aires, Dec. 23 (AP)—Juan Bramuglia, Foreign Minister, said tonight that thirteen accused Nazi agents had been deported from Argentina aboard the Argentine transport Pampa which sailed Saturday for Hamburg.

The mass deportation, Bramuglia told a news conference, should be considered as evidence that Argentina has been fulfilling and will continue to fulfill her international obligations.

Bramuglia, said by some political circles to have timed his announcement to coincide with the arrival of the United States Ambassador, George S. Messersmith, in Washington, declared the Argentine Government took "extraordinary measures" to ouse the aliens "who occupied themselves during the war in activities against this country and the United Nations."

Axis property and all business concerns which have been under the control of the Enemy Property Board are expected shortly to be either "liquidated, nationalized or reformed as private concerns with Argentine owners," Bramuglia said.

Some Apparently Warned

The Foreign Minister said efforts were made to maintain secrecy concerning a decree issued November 15 ordering the deportation of 52 Nazi agents.

However, he added, many of them, apparently having been tipped off to their imminent seizure, escaped and now are being hunted throughout the republic. Seventeen of the 52 were detained immediately, he said, and thirteen of them were deported today, the other four having blocked immediate repatriation by legal appeals.

AFL Group To Accept Argentine Invitation

Washington, Dec. 23 (AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, today announced appointment of a five-man committee to investigate "labor, economic and political conditions" in Argentina at the invitation of the Argentine Government.

Simultaneously, the Congress of Industrial Organizations declined to accept a similar invitation, issued by President Juan Perón of Argentina through the Argentine Embassy here.

An embassy spokesman said the AFL delegation, accompanied by several United States news men, will leave Washington early in January, flying in an Argentine Government plane to Buenos Aires.

The invitation was also made on behalf of the Argentine Confederation of Labor.

Named To Make Trip

Green named the following AFL officials to make the trip:

Arnold S. Zander, president, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employés, Madison Wis.

Lee W. Minton, president, Glass Bottle Blowers Association of the United States and Canada, Philadelphia.

Israel H. Goldberg, vice president, United Hatters, Cap and Millinery Workers International Union; New York city.

Miguel Carriga, vice president, Hotel and Restaurant Employés International Association; New York City.

Serafino Romualdi, representative, International Ladies Garment Workers Union; New York city.

Venezuelan Rebels Reported Still Active

Caracas, Venezuela, Dec. 23 (AP)—Reports from western Venezuela indicated today that remnants of the rebels who staged an abortive revolt against the Betancourt Government twelve days ago still are active in that area. Dispatches from Valera said yesterday that insurgents had invaded the city airport Saturday but were repelled by Government troops.

The object of the attack apparently was to destroy bombers parked at the airport, 285 miles southwest of Caracas. Later these planes bombed positions occupied by rebels reportedly under the command of Gen. Juan Bautista Araujo near Paramo de Tuname, which was occupied by national police.

Rumors trickling back from the area said Araujo might have abandoned the state of Trujillo and crossed the border into Colombia.

Canada Abandons War Shipping Controls

Ottawa, Dec. 23 (AP)—Removal of all controls imposed on Canadian shipping during the war and disbandment of the Canadian Shipping Board were announced by the trade department.

The board was set up in wartime with control powers over all shipping of Canadian registry, both on the seas and Great Lakes. It worked in conjunction with the British Ministry of War Shipping and the United States War Shipping Administration in allocating vessel space for war cargoes.

TRUMAN ESTIMATES 1947 UNRRA COSTS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP) — President Truman advised Congress today that the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration shipments abroad in 1947 "may well amount to $750,000,000," although plans have already been laid for winding up the agency.

"It is therefore unlikely that more than a few of the liberated areas will require further free assistance," he said. The United States proposes to extend assistance where dire need continues after the end of the UNRRA's aid.

Mr. Truman sent Congress the ninth report on the UNRRA operation. In a letter transmitting it, he promised that, with his next report, "it will be possible to provide a clearer picture of the plans for the liquidation of UNRRA and the provision for post-UNRRA relief needs in 1947."

He said he was in full accord with the State Department's stand that the UNRRA should be liquidated and any further urgent relief problems should be met by Governments acting directly with needy nations.

MESSERSMITH BELIEVED SET ON SHOWDOWN

Ambassador's Visit Seen As Challenge To Braden Policy In Argentina

Washington, Dec. 23 (AP)—George S. Messersmith, American Ambassador to Argentina, returned here today with "absolutely nothing to say" on reports that he is seeking a showdown with James F. Byrnes, Secretary of State, on Argentine policy.

The Ambassador, who went to Argentina as an ace diplomatic trouble-shooter eight months ago, said he will come back to Washington Thursday from Wilmington, Del., where he will spend the Christmas holiday with relatives. He said he expects to return to his South American post in about two weeks, after conferring with Byrnes.

On his arrival by plane from Miami, Messersmith was met by Dr. Oscar Ivanissevich, Argentine Ambassador to Washington, who issued a formal statement praising him as a "truly great representative of the United States . . . who has won the respect and admiration of the Argentine people."

"No Personal Interest"

The statement said Messersmith had witnessed "the great and growing democratic process that is going on at present in Argentina" and declared that "Americans and Argentines alike know that no personal or subordinate interest will ever succeed in separating our common destiny."

The comment on "personal" interest was interpreted as referring to the wide schism between Messersmith and Spruille Braden, Secretary of State, in their views on American policy toward Argentina.

Meanwhile, Secretary Byrnes, who sought several times to sidestep the showdown which Messersmith is reported determined to have, disclosed he will leave early tomorrow for Aiken, S.C., to spend Christmas and the time of his return here was uncertain.

Time Of Meeting Uncertain

When he and Messersmith would meet, therefore, was also uncertain.

There was no question among diplomats, however, as to Messersmith's purpose in virtually forcing a meeting. The Ambassador has split off completely from the continued "tough" policy of Spruille Braden, Assistant Secretary of State, toward the Perón Government of Argentina and is prepared to demand extensive revision. Braden is equally set against any change and Byrnes has stated both publicly and privately that he is backing Braden to the limit.

Diplomatic authorities expect that in this situation if Messersmith demands that Byrnes take action counter to Braden's wishes, Byrnes will reject Messersmith's demands.

Ambassador's Alternatives

In that event, there will be little left for the long-term career diplomat except to request a transfer to some other post, seek retirement because of ill-health, which he has, or accept an embarrassing defeat in a campaign he has waged for many months.

When Messersmith went to Buenos Aires as American envoy last May, Juan Perón, Argentine strong man, had already been legally elected President, over the indirect but strong opposition of Braden. Messersmith's job, according to diplomatic informants, was to maintain the firm line laid down by Braden with respect to Perón's ridding Argentina of Nazis and Nazi influences, and also to try to straighten out relations, if possible.

Reported Messersmith Views

While Braden, who preceded Messersmith as Ambassador at Buenos Aires, maintained an even tighter basic policy toward Perón, Messersmith reportedly became convinced:

1. That Perón was sincerely anxious to get along with the United States.

(2) That there was an excellent market for American products in Argentina if the way could be cleared for the two countries to do business on a great scale.

Meanwhile, Perón sent Gen. Carlos von der Becke, a trusted aide and former chief of staff, as a special emissary to Washington to try to arrange for military collaboration by Argentina with the United States. Braden in effect ruled that political obstacles must be cleared away first and von der Becke's mission was a failure.

Byrnes Reaffirms Policy

Reports subsequently spread of a virtual feud between Messersmith and Braden with the Ambassador insisting that Braden be removed in order to allow development of a different policy toward Argentina.

Whether or not these reports were true in detail, Byrnes found it necessary upon his return from Paris in October to reaffirm his absolute support of Braden and declare there was no change contemplated in Argentine policy.

Then, while Byrnes was at the foreign ministers' meeting in New York, Messersmith sent word that he was coming home and Byrnes tried to persuade him not to do so.

Believed Intent On Showdown

While the Ambassador blamed the need for medical treatment of a stomach disorder as the reason for his visit, he had made it clear to various friends—and it is so understood by top officials at the State Department—that the real and important purpose of his trip is to seek a showdown with Byrnes.

The Secretary is reported determined to try to handle the situation with a minimum of fireworks, but to insiders it seemed apparent that if Messersmith presses his case Byrnes has already decided to turn him down completely.

One result of Messersmith's action, however, evidently will be to focus Byrnes's attention on Argentine and Latin American relations in general in a way that has not been actual for many months. Some State Department officials think this in itself may produce changes in the situation.

U. S. PLEDGES AID TO GREECE'S FIGHT FOR INDEPENDENCE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 — (AP) The State Department disclosed tonight that the United States has renewed assurances of American support for the independence and integrity of strife-ridden Greece.

The assurances, given to Greek Prime Minister Tsaldaris on his visit here, followed persistent reports of troubles on Greece's borders.

The United States also promised Tsaldaris to explore "all possibilities of rendering immediate as well as long-range economic assistance" to the little country, the State Department said.

Premier Leaves

After four days of high-level talks, the Greek premier left Washington today en route to Athens via New York.

The State Department said it was agreed that the forthcoming investigation of Greek frontier disorders by a United Nations Security Council commission should help remove one impediment to post-war reconstruction by easing the tense political situation on Greece's Balkan frontiers.

The statement was the first official expression on Tsaldaris' visit. The Prime Minister came here after urging the UN inquiry into his charges that leftist border incursions were fomented from Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria.

Tsaldaris told reporters that an American credit of between $100,000,000 and $200,000,000 was desired to help finance a five-year reconstruction plan.

During his stay, Tsaldaris called on President Truman and was entertained by Secretary of State Byrnes. Among others, he conferred with Paul A. Porter, who will head an American economic mission leaving next month to study Greek needs for reconstruction and development and determine how they can be met by mobilizing Greece's own resources as well as by outside assistance.

The State Department said the Prime Minister described his country's economic situation "with particular reference to the problems presented by the imminent cessation of UNRRA shipments."

Assurances Renewed

The department's statement said: "Although the talks were primarily on economic subjects, it was recognized that the feeling of insecurity of the Greek people had impeded Greek reconstruction and it was felt by the participants that the recent action of the Security Council in appointing an investigating commission to visit Greece and neighboring countries should have an important indirect effect on economic rehabilitation, as it was regarded as the first step toward alleviating the tense political situation in that area.

"The United States authorities took the occasion to renew assurances of support, in accordance with the principle of the United Nations, for the independence and integrity of Greece."

Mobilizing Plan In Case Of Atom War Is Pushed

Washington, Dec. 23 (AP)—The Army and Navy Munitions Board expects to complete by next fall its two-year job of drafting the Government's detailed plan to mobilize industry in the event of an atomic war.

Richard R. Deupree, the board's civilian chairman, said, however, the precautionary blueprint, being sketched in the light of World War II experience, would be subject to continual revision.

It contemplates the creation of another War Production Board or similar agency under civilian control but streamlined to avoid the loose play of the American war effort just after Pearl Harbor.

Just A First Edition

Deupree, a Cincinnati industrialist, said that the 1947 industrial mobilization plan "actually will be just a first postwar edition."

"With munitions and industry changing so fast, it will have to be revised annually," he said. "Today we have to figure on high-octane gas for bombers, but tomorrow it might be low-octane kerosene or atomic power."

Already some 2,800 of 3,200 or more plants owned or financed by the Government have been turned over to the War Assets Administration for disposal.

Synthetic Rubber's Fate

The 60 or more for which the Army and Navy must obtain funds from Congress to operate include eleven aircraft plants and some basic explosives and shell-loading facilities.

Still to be decided is the fate of the synthetic rubber industry, currently under study by the Government's Rubber Reserves Corporation and a committee headed by William L. Batt, wartime WPB vice chairman. Of more than 50 such plants, the WAA has sold one, offered another for sale and is preparing to offer still others as they are declared surplus. Disposals will follow the Batt committee's recommendations.

Survey By Nelson

Industrial leaders who had leading roles in the WPB and other emergency agencies are contributing their ideas. However, Donald M. Nelson, former WPB chairman, is independently surveying possible standby plants at President Truman's request.

Deupree said the armed services proposed to retain and operate 60 to 65 wartime munitions plants. In addition, they hope the Government, in selling or leasing more than 250 others, will provide that the facilities must be available for emergency orders during the next two decades.

The Munitions Board, Deupree said, is prepared to recommend that at least half the industry's million-tons-a-year top capacity be retained in operation or standby status.

Senator Johnson Hits Universal Training

Washington, Dec. 23 (AP)—Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D., Col.) today termed universal military the spiritual and moral training of the spiritual an moral training of American youths to the 'brass hats'."

In a letter to Dr. Karl T. Compton, chairman of President Truman's newly created advisory commission on universal training, Johnson, a member of the Senate Military Committee, declared:

"Such an un-American innovation would substitute sex training and guzzling for spiritual training, and moral stagnation for the development of a healthy, wholesome, self-reliant and energetic morale."

Congress Divided, He Says

Johnson told Compton that Congress "is almost equally divided on the advisability of military conscription," adding that the commission's report "might tip the scales."

Mr. Truman, addressing the first meeting of the Compton group last week, stressed that "the military phase is incidental" to what he has in mind.

"I want that word 'military' left out," the Chief Executive asserted.

But Johnson, addressing his letter to Compton as "chairman, civilian advisory commission on universal military training," wrote:

"Out of one side of our mouths we talk of world disarmament, and out of the other we start a world armament race!

"Russia is not going to be deceived by our juvenile strategy in dropping the term 'military' from 'universal training.'

"Latin America will notice that we have substituted shotgun diplomacy for our vaunted good-neighbor policy."

Takes Issue With Truman

Johnson took issue with the President on another score. Mr. Truman told the commission he wants it to draft a plan to prevent this country from going the way of Rome and other great nations which became "prosperous and fat and lazy."

"The United States is the world's foremost nation in so many fields, including the military," Johnson wrote Compton, "because of the wholesome contribution to right living by her public and private schools and colleges, her churches and her Sunday schools, her amateur and professional sports, her luncheon clubs and fraternities and, above all, the splendid influence of the average American home.

"These institutions are going and growing concerns, and while they survive, talk of this republic's decline is vicious nonsense. Fat and lazy people do not support schools and churches and these related activities."

For Necessary Defense

Johnson said he insists upon whatever national defense is necessary "for our full and complete protection," but added:

"In this age goose stepping and the manual of arms are pure poppycock which add nothing to our national defense."

"should be an intelligence corps; next we should have an industry which is easily convertible to war production; then a first-class scientific research department, and last, well-trained technicians.

"One chemist or one physicist is more valuable to our defenses than are 10,000 foot soldiers."

Johnson applauded Mr. Truman's step in calling for advice on the issue, telling Compton that "the gravest dangers to this republic are that it may become militaristic or that a military hierarchy may be created here."

"Such a proposal on Christmas Eve seems especially unfortunate," the Senator concluded.

Congress Itself Seen Probing Army Trials

Washington, Dec. 23 (AP)—Congress members showed an inclination today to make their own investigation of the Army's court-martial system although generally applauding the report from an American Bar Association inquiry committee.

Senator Revercomb (R., W.Va.) said that in the light of the report and the complaints reaching Congress, "it is clear that an overhauling of the court-martial system definitely is required."

"Congress should make a thorough investigation, giving attention to this committee's report, and see that we get a court-martial system that is unquestionably fair," Revercomb added.

"On Right Track"—McClellan

The bar association report, made public Saturday night, said there is evidence to sustain, in some instances, the oft-repeated charge of discrimination between officers and GI's in army courts-martial. This "seriously impaired" morale in some cases, the report added.

Senator McClellan (D., Ark.) described as "on the right track a recommendation that the law member of each court and the defense counsel be members of the Judge Advocate General's department and be appointed by it. At present, they are named by the commander who orders the trial.

Civilian Review Proposed

McClellan said he agrees with Revercomb that there is "something wrong" at present and "plenty of room for improvement."

Similarly, Senators Wiley (R., Wis.), Brewster (R., Maine) and Stewart (R., Tenn.) said they feel there is a definite need for improved procedures. Stewart said he thinks it might be wise to have a civilian review board which would examine results of all military trials.

Brewster commented that the bar committee has "rendered a great public service."

"Arthur Vanderbilt and I were classmates at Harvard Law School and I have the highest regard for him," he added. Vanderbilt, dean of the New York University School of Law, headed the bar group.

Recommendations Listed

Among recommendations was one that "qualified enlisted men" be permitted to sit on courts trying GI's and that enlisted men be encouraged to attend.

Others included:

1. That it be unlawful for commanders or others to try to influence action or to reprimand a court or its members.

2. Expansion of the Judge Advocate General's department and provision for trained lawyers for court-martial duty.

3. Creation of a board to make a continuous study of changes in the articles of war and courts-martial procedure.

One criticism repeatedly presented to it, the committee said, was that "the sentences originally imposed were frequently excessively severe and sometimes fantastically so."

ARMY, NAVY OPEN ANTI-VICE DRIVE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23—(AP) The Army and Navy have joined in an anti-vice drive to combat prostitution, venereal disease and other "conditions inimical to the morals and welfare of service personnel."

Secretary of War Patterson and Secretary of the Navy Forrestal signed an order on Oct. 14 setting up the central joint Army-Navy disciplinary control board, it was disclosed today.

On the direction of this central board, joint Army-Navy disciplinary boards are being set up in every Army area and Navy district.

The local boards will operate under policies set by the central board to see that an "eight-point plan" of vice suppression is affected.

Members of the central board were ordered to meet monthly, or oftener, to receive reports from local boards, to recommend policies and actions to the War and Navy departments which will improve "conditions adversely affecting morals and welfare of service personnel."

The local Army-Navy disciplinary boards will inform themselves on conditions in their areas "relating to prostitution, venereal disease, liquor violations, disorders, and other undesirable conditions."

The boards then will recommend suitable action to the Naval district or Army area commanders to correct conditions found detrimental to servicemen's morals and welfare. In addition, they will cooperate with civil authorities in dealing with such conditions.

The boards were authorized to recommend places and areas "off limits" and "out of bounds" and such recommendations may be made at its discretion with or without advance notice to the proprietor.

To further carry out this directive, the War Department today announced the establishment of a venereal disease control council, which will assist the joint Army-Navy disciplinary control board.

First Stratoplane Ready For Army

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 23 (AP)—The first Boeing postwar tarnsport plane, a stratofreighter which will go into service with the Army Air Forces as a long-range troop and cargo carrier, rolled out the plant's doors today.

The plane was built to carry as many as 140 troops with full equipment and up to 41,000 pounds of cargo, William M. Allen, president, said at brief ceremonies.

The stratographer, of the YC-97 type, is the first of ten sister ships being built for the Army. Three experimental ships of that type were built during the war, and one flew from here to Washington, D.C., in six hours four minutes nonstop, a record which still stands.

45,000 Seeking 5,000 Navy Scholarships

Washington, Dec. 23 (AP)—More than 45,000 applications have been received for 5,000 college scholarships being offered in 1947, the Navy announced today.

Competitive examinations will be held January 18 in 555 cities throughout the United States and its possessions.

The program is intended to provide new officers for the Navy. Graduates may return to civilian life as reserve officers after a minimum of two years' active naval duty.

GRONINGER TO RETIRE

General to Quit Dec. 31 After 38 Years of Duty

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Homer M. Groninger, 59, war-time commander of the New York and San Francisco ports of embarkation, will be retired Dec. 31, after thirty-eight years of active duty, the War Department stated today. He is on terminal leave at his home in Port Royal, Pa.

As director of the New York Port of Embarkation from Oct. 4, 1940, to June 12, 1945, more than 3,000,000 troops passed through the port for the European and Mediterranean Theater, along with 35,000,000 tons of supplies.

With the cessation of hostilities in Europe, the General was transferred to San Francisco to speed up movement of men and supplies for the final blows against Japan.

DRAFT CONVICTIONS WILL BE REVIEWED

Truman Names Three-Member Amnesty Board, Headed by Roberts.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23—(AP)—In a pre-Christmas move toward possible clemency for some persons convicted of violating the Draft Act, President Truman today set up a three-way amnesty board to review all such convictions.

In recent weeks demonstrators, some of them clad symbolically in prison stripes, have been parading before the White House demanding release of "conscientious objectors still in U. S. prisons."

Robert Heads Board

The White House emphasized, however, that conscientious objectors comprise only a small proportion of the 11,000 cases which the new board, headed by former Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts, will review. The board was directed to recommend executive clemency in "deserving" cases.

The order came at the close of a day in which the holiday spirit permeated the White House where Mr. Truman sat behind a desk piled high with presents.

The White House calling, too, reflected the spirit of the season.

The President shook hands with several hundred government employes, including secret service agents assigned to presidential duty. He went through another period of hand shaking with under secretaries and assistant secretaries of the 10 government departments.

Those who saw him reported the chief executive was bubbling over with good humor and looking forward to his flight home Christmas Day to visit his 94-year-old mother, Mrs. Martha E. Truman of Grandview, Mo.

In a statement accompanying his order setting up the special amnesty board, the President stressed that conscientious objectors as a group performed patriotic service during the war.

His press secretary, Charles G. Ross, told reporters that of the 11,000 cases the board will review only 800 are classified as conscientious objectors by reason of religious training and belief.

Ross said that only 25 of the 1,300 persons still in jails for alleged draft act violations are conscientious objectors.

Clemency in most cases, Ross said, would involve steps looking to the restoration of civil rights for violators who have completed sentences.

Two Other Members

James F. O'Neil, chief of police of Manchester, N. H., and Willis Smith of Raleigh, N. C., former president of the American Bar Association, were named to serve with Justice Roberts.

The President's statement pointed out that the selective service act recognized conscientious objection to war because of religious training and belief and provided alternative service.

Under this provision, he said, about 25,000 men were inducted and served in the armed forces as noncombatants, some receiving awards for heroism "up to and including the Congressional Medal of Honor."

About 12,000 others, he said, served throughout the war in civilian public service camps.

Jehovah's Witnesses' Convictions Reversed

Washintgon, Dec. 23 (AP)—The Supreme Court today reversed the convictions of two Jehovah's Witnesses for alleged violation of the Selective Service Act, ordering both cases back for new proceedings in which the men must have opportunity to present defenses against their draft classification.

The decision was a consolidation of two cases. Involved were Taze Hamrick Gibson, sentenced in federal court at Sioux Falls, S.D., to a five-year prison term for leaving a work camp at Hill City, S.D., and George William Dodez of Wooster, Ohio, who refused to report to a camp after classification for such work by his draft board.

Both said they were ministers of religion and should have been exempted from all service instead of being classified as conscientious objectors liable to work in civilian camps.

Justice Rutledge, in the court's unanimous opinion, said the question of the validity of their classification should not have been excluded at their trials, but the court stated pointedly that it was not passing on the validity of any such defense.

The point to remember, Rutledge said, is that there is "no necessity" for the forfeiture of civil remedies (in civil courts) in the cases of those classified as conscientious objectors and assigned to work camps.

They remain civilians, he said, not subject to military authority, and their cases differ from those of men actually inducted into military service. In the case of actual induction, he said, habeas corpus is the available remedy.

Draft-Board Action Upheld

Another unanimous selective-service opinion, delivered by Justice Douglas, upheld the action of a draft board in accepting recommendations made by an advisory panel on theological classifications.

The case involved Harry Horowitz and Jacob S. Samuels, of New York city, who claimed exemption from military service on the ground they were preparing to be rabbis. The Third United States Circuit Court had ordered the men's release, holding that local draft boards had acted improperly in considering the recommendations made by an advisory panel set up by the New York city selective-service headquarters.

The Supreme Court declined to interpret a section of the Selective Service Act which gives exemption to men who are conscientious objectors "because of religious training and belief." Herman Berman, of Los Angeles, who unsuccessfully sought exemption, asked for the ruling.

To Rule On Status Of Guards

The court agreed to rule on the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation's contention that plant guards are employers under the terms of the National Labor Relations Act, and therefore ineligible for representation by the union to which production workers belong.

This case grew out of the refusal of the company to negotiate with the United Steel Workers of America for the guards in its Otis plant at Cleveland. The company contended that they rated as employers under a definition in the National Labor Relations Act: "Any person acting in the interest of an employer directly or indirectly."

The Circuit Court at Cincinnati, asked to enforce an NLRB order that the company bargain with the union, held that the nature of the men's work makes it improper to allow them to be represented by the same union that speaks for production workers.

Police Relationship Cited

The Circuit Court also held that the men are municipal police under Ohio law and that public responsibility would not fit in with obligations to the union.

The high court accepted for review, along with the Jones & Laughlin guards' case, a similar action involving guards at the E. C. Atkins Company's plant, which make saws, tools and armor plate, at Indianapolis.

The court already has agreed to go into a somewhat similar case involving foremen of the Packard Motor Car Company. That case, however, offers a more direct test on the eligibility of supervisory employés for union representation, since there is no question in it of a police tieup which might give the foremen a responsibility to the public.

NLRB Certification Upheld

The highest tribunal upheld the National Labor Relations Board in certifying an AFL union to bargain for employés of the A. J. Tower Company, raincoat manufacturers, at Roxbury, Mass. The decision was based on the rule that challenges against votes must come before—and not after—an NLRB election.

The decision was divided, 8 to 1, with Justice Murphy speaking for the majority.

The main point at issue was a challenge to the vote of Mrs. Jennie A. Kane filed by the company five days after the election.

116-114 Tally For Union

The tally was 116 votes for the union and 114 against, with one vote questioned by the union and that of Mrs. Kane by the company.

The company contended that with two votes in dispute and only two votes separating victor and loser in the count, the result was inconclusive. It was determined that the Kane vote, which the Tower Company wanted thrown out, was for the union.

After Mrs. Kane had been allowed to vote, the company said it had learned that she actually had quit the job, although at the time of the election she was listed as an employé on sick leave.

Jackson In Dissent

Justice Murphy, with special concurrence from Justice Frankfurter, upheld the NLRB in requiring that challenges be presented prior to the actual casting of ballots.

Justice Jackson in his dissent said he would have agreed, except that he believed a third interest was involved — that of the anti-union employés.

He said those workers were allowed no poll watchers to present challenges in advance, as company and union watchers could do. He concluded that inquiry is still in order until it appears that "all persons interested in the election have had adequate opportunity to question the ballots cast."

Spare Stamp 53 Valid Jan. 1946

Washington, Dec. 23 (AP)—OPA said today that Spare Stamp No. 53 will be good for five pounds of sugar beginning January 1 and added that an additional ration may become available within four months.

"It is anticipated," the agency said, "that the second consumer stamp for 1947 will be validated before Spare Stamp 53 expires." April 30.

OPA pointed to Agriculture Department estimates that the new sugar crop may be large enough to allow an additional five pounds of sugar a person in 1947. This would make a total of twenty pounds on regular ration stamps.

Three regular stamps were validated during 1946, allowing a total of fifteen pounds per person, in addition to two home-canning stamps good for five pounds each.

As for the canning-sugar outlook for next year, an OPA official declared that "if the supply situation turns out as good as expected, there will be at least ten pounds per person, and possibly more."

Transit Association Ships a Street Car To Shelter Family of 'Kilroy Was Here'

EVERETT, Mass., Dec. 23 (AP)—As far as the American Transit Association is concerned, the identity of the elusive Kilroy of "Kilroy Was Here" fame has been established, and in token of this recognition a street car was shipped today to James J. Kilroy of Halifax, Mass.

The street car was lifted with a huge crane to a trailer at the shops of the Boston Elevated Railway and started for Mr. Kilroy's home thirty miles down the south shore. There it will be attached to the Kilroy dwelling, scene of an acute housing problem, to provide living quarters for six of nine little Kilroys ranging in age from 6 months to 15 years.

The street car represents a prize in a contest conducted by the American Transit Association to establish authorship of the contagious phrase. In brief, Mr. Kilroy's claim is based on the following:

During the war he was employed at the Bethlehem Steel Company's Quincy shipyard, inspecting tanks, double bottoms and other parts of warships under construction. To satisfy superiors that he was performing his duties, Mr. Kilroy scribbled in yellow crayon "Kilroy was here" on inspected work. Soon the phrase began to appear in various unrelated places, and Mr. Kilroy believes the 14,000 shipyard workers who entered the armed services were responsible for its subsequent world-wide use.

At any rate, when the street car is installed in Halifax its new owner can, if he chooses, scribble on it: "The Kilroys are here."

The vehicle is about fifty feet long, thirty-seven years old and weighs twelve tons. Its motors have been removed.

Rental Housing Financing Liberalized by FHA Order

Number of Building Industry Controls Removed; Other Curbs Lifted.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23—(AP) The Federal Housing Agency announced tonight liberalized financing for builders of rental housing simultaneously with the removal of a number of controls over the housing industry.

The action was one of a series in which government agencies scrapped a series of industrial controls in a pre-holiday speed-up of President Truman's decontrol program.

Besides stripping several controls from the veterans emergency housing program and relaxing FHA rules for rental housing projects, the government also junked distribution controls over penicillin; mandatory priorities for installation of telephone service; limitations on the use of tinplate; a prohibition against importation of cane spirits, and wholesale and retail inventory controls on a number of items of clothing.

Carrying Charges Reduced

In liberalizing rental housing financing, FHA reduced the monthly carrying charges on FHA-insured mortgages, which had the effect of extending the average period of maturity for such mortgages from 27 years and 7 months to 32 years and 7 months on the basis of a 4 per cent interest rate. The reduction was made by lowering the 2 per cent initial minimum principal payment to 1 1-2 per cent, with subsequent principal payments reduced accordingly.

FHA also announced that it had broadened eligibility standards for this type of mortgage insurance, permitting loans for elevator and corridor type apartment houses, among other things.

The agency said too that it would provide a means for adjusting its insurance commitments to meet fluctuating construction costs and was studying means to protect builders against decreased earnings after the current housing shortage is relieved.

Revision of housing controls was announced earlier at a joint news conference by Federal Housing Expediter Frank R. Creedon and National Housing Administrator Raymond M. Foley.

Removed were the old cost ceiling of $10,000 on houses built for sale and a requirement that plans and specifications be submitted to the federal housing administration for establishment of a ceiling price, followed by government inspection to insure adherence to the plans.

No more priorities will be issued to home builders, but suppliers will be required to honor those already outstanding. Builders who use priorities already issued must adhere to the regulations that went with them.

Rules for Permits

These conditions will be attached to the granting of a house-building permit under the new system:

The dwelling must be suitable and intended for year round occupancy. The total floor area must be limited to 1,500 square feet, which officials said was sufficient for an ordinary three-bedroom house.

Only the number of fixtures normally used in equipping one bathroom may be installed.

Builders of dwellings for sale to veterans are required to hold them for veterans for 60 days after completion.

Rental properties must be submitted to FHA for establishment of a rent ceiling based on cost. Instead of a flat ceiling of $80 per month, the average for an entire project is held at $80 per unit, plus $3 per room in service charges. Rental projects must be held 30 days for veterans.

Under the new program, non-veterans may obtain permits to build homes for their own occupancy and for construction under some other circumstances.

Removal of controls over distribution of tinplate will permit unlimited use of the material to make tin cans for such food items as shortening, coffee, beer and pet foods and such non-food products as turpentine, paint, liquid soap and polishes.

SENATOR M'MAHON HOME AFTER TRIP TO EUROPE

NEW YORK, Dec. 23—(AP) Senator Brien McMahon (D-Conn.), returning from a European tour, said today the United States must "win for democracy the war of ideologies which is being waged in Europe."

To do this, he urged continued American shipments to Europe of foodstuffs and coal, and remarked that "no sounder investment in world stability, nor a more worthwhile contribution to a democratic world could be made."

McMahon, chairman of the Senate's Atomic Energy committee, arrived here by plane from London en route to Washington.

Surprise To Editor

New York, Dec. 23 (AP)—Dr. David Z. Krinkin, editor of Russky Golos, Russian-language daily published here, said today he was "greatly surprised" at a dispatch from Moscow in which a Soviet writer charged that Russky Golos had been "terrorized" and that editors and contributors had been arrested and fined.

The charges were made by Andrei Malyshko, a young poet, in an article in Ukrainian Pravda. He said "progressive" Ukrainian newspapers in the United States and their editors and contributors had received similar treatment.

"Didn't Tell The Truth"

Krinkin, whose paper professes friendship for the Soviet regime, said when asked for comment on Malyshko's charges:

"I am the editor. I have never been terrorized—never arrested. I am greatly surprised to hear this story. How come this story is being spread in Russia and over here?

"If the writer said this, he didn't tell the truth. None of my editors or contributors ever was terrorized or arrested. I never heard of any one being."

Met Delegation In New York

Krinkin said he recently met a Ukrainian delegation, including Malyshko, in New York at a public gathering, but was not well acquainted with the writer.

Malyshko recently returned to Kiev after a three-month tour of the United States and Canada. He said in his article that the United States Department of Justice "requested that we leave America immediately."

THE MESSAGE, DELIVERED VERBALLY IN MOSCOW BY BRITISH AMBASSADOR SIR MAURICE PETERSON, WAS IN REPLY TO A RUSSIAN NOTE ON THE SUBJECT RECEIVED HERE IN OCTOBER. THE RUSSIANS SAID THEN THEY FAVORED TWO-POWER TALKS BETWEEN RUSSIA AND TURKEY.

THE BRITISH REPLY HELD THAT JAPAN, A SIGNER OF THE MONTREAUX CONVENTION, SHOULD BE EXCLUDED FROM THE TALKS, BUT THE UNITED STATES, A NON-SIGNER, SHOULD BE INCLUDED.

LONDON, DEC. 23-(AP)-DISPATCHES FROM MOSCOW REPORTED INDICATIONS TODAY THAT THE SOVIET UNION PLANNED TO PROTEST IRAN'S MILITARY OCCUPATION OF THE OIL-RICH IRANIAN PROVINCE OF AZERBAIJAN, BORDERING RUSSIA.

MOSCOW NEWSPAPERS WERE QUOTED AS REPORTING THAT THE IRANIAN COMMANDER IN AZERBAIJAN HAD PROCLAIMED NULLIFICATION OF AN AGREEMENT BY WHICH THE CENTRAL GOVERNMENT LAST JUNE GRANTED SEMI-AUTONOMY TO THE PROVINCE, WHICH REVOLTED LAST DECEMBER DURING SOVIET OCCUPATION. SOVIET AUTHORITIES WERE REPRESENTED AS REGARDING THE RECENT IRANIAN GOVERNMENT ACTIONS AS OUTRIGHT REPUDIATION OF THIS AGREEMENT.

SOVIET NEWSPAPERS ALSO WERE SAID TO HAVE PRINTED REPORTS OF THE ARREST OF SOME 700 PERSONS IN TABRIZ, AZERBAIJAN PROVINCIAL CAPITAL, AND OF THE ESTABLISHMENT OF TWO MILITARY COURTS TO TRY MEMBERS OF THE SELF-STYLED "AZERBAIJAN DEMOCRATIC PARTY."

IRANIAN TROOPS MARCHED INTO AZERBAIJAN WEEK BEFORE LAST WITH THE AVOWED AIM OF OVERSEEING PARLIAMENTARY ELECTIONS BY ORDER OF PREMIER AHMED QAVAM. SOME 12,000 SOLDIERS PARADED THROUGH TEHRAN, IRAN'S CAPITAL, YESTERDAY TO CELEBRATE THE RETURN OF AZERBAIJAN TO CENTRAL-GOVERNMENT CONTROL.

THE PARLIAMENT TO BE ELECTED IS TO VOTE UPON OIL CONCESSIONS TO RUSSIA IN AZERBAIJAN.

THE SPOKESMAN SAID GREAT BRITAIN SUPPORTED THE ECONOMIC INTEGRATION OF THE SAAR WITH FRANCE, ALTHOUGH THE GOVERNMENT VIEW WAS THAT IT WOULD BE PREFERABLE FOR SUCH INTEGRATION TO COME AS A RESULT OF A FOREIGN MINISTERS' COUNCIL DECISION.

FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN TOLD THE HOUSE OF COMMONS OCT.22 THAT GREAT BRITAIN ACCEPTED FRENCH PROPOSALS REGARDING THE SAAR "SUBJECT TO THE NECESSARY ADJUSTMENTS OF THE FRENCH REPARATIONS BALANCE AND THE ELIMINATION OF THE EXACT AREAS."

"WE HAVE DECIDED TO CONSTRUCT THE WHOLE OF OUR FUTURE RELATIONSHIPS WITH THE WORLD ON THE BASIS OF THE UNITED NATIONS," BEVIN SAID OF HIS OWN COUNTRY. "IT IS OF PRIME IMPORTANCE TO US FOR OUR FUTURE SECURITY AND DEVELOPMENT THAT THIS INSTRUMENT SHOULD BE EFFECTIVE."

THE FOREIGN SECRETARY CALLED FOR THE CREATION OF "POLITICAL CONDITIONS" TO ACHIEVE THESE PURPOSES:

(1) "MAKE UNNECESSARY THE USE OF NATIONAL ARMAMENTS AT ALL."
(2) SEE THAT "ALL SCIENTIFIC DEVELOPMENT WILL BE USED FOR PEACEFUL PURPOSES."

(4) "MAKE THE GREAT NATURAL RESOURCES OF THE WORLD AVAILABLE TO ALL; THERE SHOULD BE NO LIMITS ON THE POSSIBILITY OF RAISING THE STANDARD OF LIFE OF THE GREAT MASSES OF THE PEOPLE."

OF GERMANY, HE SAID THAT MERGER OF THE BRITISH AND U.S. OCCUPATION ZONES WOULD "CREATE CONDITIONS WHICH WILL ALLOW THE GERMAN TO REGAIN HIS SELF-RESPECT" BUT WARNED: "HITLER SO THOROUGHLY DRILLED HIS PEOPLE THAT IT WILL TAKE AT LEAST A GENERATION TO GET THINGS RIGHT."

"WE MUST AVOID THE CREATION OF A CESSPOOL OF CHEAP AND HALF-STARVED LABOR IN MIDDLE EUROPE," BEVIN SAID. "AT THE SAME TIME, WE MUST INSURE THAT GERMANY CAN NEVER AGAIN BE A MENACE TO THE ALLIED POWERS."

OF AUSTRIA, HE SAID THAT THE MOSCOW CONFERENCE WOULD "ATTEMPT TO FINALIZE HER POSITION BY A NEW TREATY"; OF ITALY, THAT SHE "CAN BE SURE OF THE HELP OF THE REST OF US"; OF YUGOSLAVIA, THAT SHE "HAS A GREAT TASK OF ECONOMIC RECONSTRUCTION AHEAD AND WILL, I BELIEVE, COOPERATE TO THE FULLEST POSSIBLE EXTENT," AND OF OTHER BALKAN COUNTRIES, THAT "IF THEY DESIRE TRADE THEY CAN HAVE IT."

HE DECLARED THAT FRANCE WAS "MAKING HER CONTRIBUTION TO THIS NEW INTERLOCKING WORLD" AND THAT CHINA WOULD "YET UNITE AND CONTRIBUTE WITH HER AGE-LONG PHILOSOPHY AND EXPERIENCE."

THE LONDON PRESS ALMOST UNIVERSALLY ACCLAIMED HIS IMPLICATION OF VIRTUAL CERTAINTY THAT THE U.S., BRITAIN AND THE SOVIET UNION WOULD WORK TOGETHER.

"THERE MAY WELL BE SUBSTANCE FOR RECENTLY EXPRESSED BELIEFS THAT PROFOUND CHANGES IN SOVIET POLICY HAVE BEEN DECIDED ON IN MOSCOW," SAID THE LIBERAL NEWS CHRONICLE.

MADRID, DEC. 23-(AP)-SIR VICTOR MALLET TOLD A NEWS CONFERENCE TONIGHT THAT HIS IMPENDING DEPARTURE FROM MADRID WAS NOT A "FORMAL RECALL" AND SAID THAT FOR THE PRESENT HE WOULD CONTINUE TO HOLD THE POSITION OF BRITISH AMBASSADOR TO SPAIN ALTHOUGH WORKING IN LONDON.

HE REFUSED TO COMMENT ON REPORTS THAT HE HAD SPONSORED CONVERSATIONS HERE LOOKING TOWARD THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A PROVISIONAL SPANISH GOVERNMENT TO REPLACE GENERALISSIMO FRANCISCO FRANCO'S REGIME.

(MALLET'S RECALL WAS ANNOUNCED BY THE BRITISH FOREIGN OFFICE LAST SATURDAY--ONLY SIX DAYS AFTER THE UNITED NATIONS GENERAL ASSEMBLY IN NEW YORK ADOPTED A RESOLUTION CALLING UPON ALL MEMBER NATIONS TO WITHDRAW THEIR DIPLOMATIC MISSIONS FROM SPAIN.

(LAST WEDNESDAY AN AUTHORITATIVE GOVERNMENT SOURCE IN LONDON SAID THE BRITISH DIPLOMATIC MISSION IN SPAIN WAS ENGAGED IN THE UNUSUAL TASK OF CONTACTING VARIOUS SPANISH POLITICAL GROUPS WITH A VIEW TO SUPPLANTING FRANCO.)

SHANGHAI,TUESDAY,DEC.24-(AP)-FOREIGN QUARTERS EXPRESSED LITTLE SURPRISE TODAY AT THE SOVIET ACTION IN DAIREN IN ORDERING A U.S. NAVY CRAFT TO LEAVE AND REFUSING TO ALLOW TWO U.S. NEWSMEN AND AN AMERICAN BUSINESS MAN TO LAND.

U.S. NAVAL AUTHORITIES THOUGHT BEFORE THE SHIP SET SAIL FOR DAIREN, THAT THE AMERICANS PROBABLY WOULD NOT BE ALLOWED TO LAND.

IN ARRANGING FOR A SECOND LANDING SHIP COURIER MISSION TO DAIREN, ADM.CHARLES M.COOKE,JR., DECIDED TO TAKE TWO AMERICAN NEWSMEN BUT, THROUGH HIS PUBLIC INFORMATION OFFICER, LET THEM KNOW BEFOREHAND THEY MIGHT NOT BE ALLOWED TO LAND.

THE CORRESPONDENTS WERE LEFT TO SELECT ONE NEWSWRITER AND ONE PHOTOGRAPHER AND, AT A MEETING ON DEC.8, THEY DECIDED TO DRAW LOTS. 1946 THE NAVY ALERTED THE CORRESPONDENTS DEC.15 AND TWO DAYS LATER THE DRAW TOOK PLACE.

THE NEWSWRITER WHO WON THE DRAW TO REPRESENT THE AMERICAN PRESS WAS WILLIAM H.NEWTON, SCRIPS HOWARD STAFF WRITER. REPRESENTED IN THE POOL WERE THE LOS ANGELES TIMES, TIME-LIFE, NEWSWEEK, NEW YORK TIMES, UNITED PRESS, ASSOCIATED PRESS AND SCRIPPS-HOWARD.

ONLY TIME-LIFE AND THE NEW YORK TIMES HAD PHOTOGRAPHERS IN SHANGHAI, AND ON A FLIP OF THE COIN, MARK KAUFFMAN OF TIME-LIFE WON FROM GEORGE ALEXANDERSON.

THE ORIGINAL ARRANGEMENTS CALLED FOR NEWTON'S COPY TO BE DISTRIBUTED SIMULTANEOUSLY TO THE PRESS BOTH IN WASHINGTON AND SHANGHAI, BUT THE FIRST STORY ARRIVED WITH A NOTE SAYING IT HAD NOT BEEN SENT TO WASHINGTON. NO EXPLANATION WAS GIVEN.

KAUFFMAN'S PICTURES, WHICH WILL BE POOLED IN SHANGHAI FOR DISRIBUTION, HAVE NOT ARRIVED. THE BEST HE COULD HAVE GOT WOULD BE SHOTS OF DAIREN FROM THE HARBOR.

AMERICAN AUTHORITIES PREFERRED TO LEAVE COMMENT ON THE SOVIET ACT TO HIGHER LEVELS IN WASHINGTON. AMONG THE CHINESE THERE IS A STRONG UNDERCURRENT OF RESENTMENT OVER RUSSIA HOLDING DAIREN, WHICH WAS TO BECOME A FREE PORT UNDER THE RUSSIAN-CHINESE TREATY.

HANOI, DEC.22-(DELAYED)-(AP)-FRENCH MILITARY AUTHORITIES ANNOUNCED TODAY THAT 29 FRENCH CIVILIANS, INCLUDING 11 WOMEN, HAD BEEN SLAIN BY VIET-NAMESE DURING RECENT FIGHTING IN HANOI AND SAID THAT AMNY OTHER CIVLIANS WERE MISSING AND PERHAPS DEAD.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT ASSERTED THAT THE BODIES OF THE 29 LISTED AS SLAIN HAD BEEN BRUTALLY MUTILATED AND THAT FOUR APPARENTLY HAD BEEN BURNED TO DEATH. THE HEARTS WERE CUT FROM SOME OF THE VICTIMS, WHILE OTHER BODIES WERE FOUND WITH DAGGERS PLANTED IN THE EYES, THE FRENCH DECLARED.

THEY REPORTED THAT FRENCH TROOPS HAD THE SITUATION IN HAND IN ALL TOWNS IN NORTHERN INDOCHINA WHERE FIGHTING HAS OCCURRED, BUT DECLARED THAT MOPPING UP OPERATIONS WERE BEING CARRIED OUT SLOWLY IN HANOI TO AVOID UNNECESSARY CASUALTIES AND PROPERTY DESTRUCTION.

MANY EUROPEAN HOMES IN HANOI ALREADY HAVE BEEN LOOTED AND BURNED BY THE VIET-NAMESE, WHO SHELLED THE CITY WITH FIELD GUNS AND MADE SEVERAL ATTACKS ON FRENCH POSITIONS SATURDAY NIGHT, AN OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT SAID.

THE FRENCH ACKNOWLEDGED THAT THE VIET-NAMESE HAD CAPTURED THE PASTEUR INSTITUTE BUILDING AND SAID THE FRENCH WARDEN HAD HIS FAMILY AND HAD BEEN KIDNAPED.

IN NORTHERN INDOCHINA, SEVERAL VIET-NAMESE ATTACKS WERE REPORTED REPULSED SATURDAY NIGHT AT NAMDINH, HAIDUONG AND PHULANGTHUONG. THE SMALL HARBOR AT HONGAY, COAL CENTER 80 MILES EAST OF HANOI, WAS REPORTED ENTIRELY UNDER FRENCH CONTROL.

VIET-NAMESE WERE SAID TO HAVE CUT HANOI'S RAILROAD AND HIGHWAYS LINKS WITH THE PORT OF HAIPHONG IN SEVERAL PLACES AND TO HAVE DESTROYED A BRIDGE NEAR HAIDUONG MIDWAY BETWEEN THE CITIES.

STIFF FIGHTING WAS REPORTED AROUND THE HANOI HOSPITAL, WHERE FIVE FRENCH MEDICS WERE LISTED AS KILLED.

HUE, ANNAM STATE CAPITAL 340 MILES SOUTH OF HANOI, REPORTED LOOTING AND BURNING OF FRENCH HOUSES. NO NEWS HAD BEEN RECEIVED ABOUT 200 FRENCH CIVILIANS AND A GARRISON OF 30 SOLDIERS AT VINH, 150 MILES SOUTH, WHICH CAPITULATED TO VIET-NAMESE FRIDAY.

HANOI HEADQUARTERS OF GEN. LOUIS MORLIERE, FRENCH COMMANDER IN TONKIN STATE, SAID THAT MORLIERE, ACTING ON INTELLIGENCE REPORTS OF IMMINENT TROUBLE, HAD CONFINED FRENCH TROOPS TO QUARTERS ONLY THREE HOURS BEFORE THE VIET-NAMESE ATTACK BEGAN THURSDAY NIGHT.

A SPOKESMAN SAID THAT SINCE THE DECISION LEFT ONLY A LIMITED NUMBER OF SOLDIERS, OFF DUTY AND UNINFORMED OF THE ORDER, ON THE STREETS, IT HAD PREVENTED A GENERAL MASSACRE OF UNARMED FRENCH SERVICEMEN.

HE SAID PREMEDITATION FOR THE ATTACK WAS SEEN IN EVIDENCE THAT VIET-NAMESE LIAISON OFFICERS TWO DAYS BEFORE THE OUTBREAK HAD TRIED TO LEARN WHETHER THE FRENCH TROOPS WOULD BE CONFINED.

NIGHT LEAD WAR CRIMES (120)

TOKYO, TUESDAY, DEC.24-(AP)-A DUTCH OFFICER TOLD THE INTERNATIONAL WAR CRIMES TRIBUNAL TODAY THAT ORDERS FOR THE BEHEADING AND TORTURE OF ALLIED PRISONERS OF WAR DEFINITELY CAME FROM TOKYO.

"I SAW THE ORDER POSTED ON OUR BULLETIN BOARD," SAID THE MAJOR, MICHAEL RINGER, UNDER QUESTIONING BY THE DUTCH PROSECUTOR, LT.COL. J.S.S.DAMASTE.

PRESSED FOR DETAILS BY TRIBUNAL PRESIDENT SIR WILLIAM WEBB, RINGER SAID THE ORDER LISTED 28 OFFENSES AND SPECIFIED DEATH FOR ATTEMPTING TO ESCAPE, HITTING A JAPANESE SOLDIER, SPYING AND MAKING MAPS. HE SAID IT WAS DATED TOKYO, APRIL 23, 1943.

RINGER TESTIFIED THAT "TORTURES WERE HORRIBLE" AND WHEN ASKED BY SIR WILLIAM IF COMPLAINTS WERE MADE TO THE COMMANDER OF THE PRISON CAMP RELIED:

"AT FIRST WE MADE WRITTEN AND VERBAL COMPLAINTS, BUT THE INTERPRETER WARNED US THE COMMANDANT WAS BECOMING ANNOYED, THAT THE ENTIRE SENIOR STAFF WAS BECOMING ANNOYED, AND WE STOPPED COMPLAINING."

WASHINGTON,DEC 23-(AP)-THE TEXT OF A STATEMENT AND EXECUTIVE ORDER ISSUED BY PRESIDENT TRUMAN TODAY SETTING UP AN AMNESTY BOARD FOR CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTORS: (ABOUT 600)

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT

FREEDOM OF CONSCIENCE IS BASIC TO OUR AMERICAN TRADITION OF INDIVIDUAL LIBERTY. THE CONGRESS RECOGNIZED THIS TRADITIONAL FREEDOM WHEN IT ENACTED THE SELECTIVE TRAINING AND SERVICE ACT OF 1940. THAT ACT RECOGNIZED CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTION TO WAR BY REASON OF RELIGIOUS TRAINING AND BELIEF, AND PROVIDED ALTERNATIVE SERVICE IN WORK OF NATIONAL IMPORTANCE UNDER CIVILIAN DIRECTION.

UNDER THIS PROGRAM, ABOUT 25,000 MEN WERE INDUCTED AND SERVED IN THE ARMED FORCES AS NON-COMBATANTS. SOME OF THESE MEN RECEIVED AWARDS FOR HEROISM UP TO AND INCLUDING THE CONGRESSIONAL MEDAL OF HONOR. IN ADDITION, ABOUT 12,000 MEN SERVED THROUGH THE WAR IN CIVILIAN PUBLIC SERVICE CAMPS, WHERE THEY PERFORMED TASKS IN CONNECTION WITH THE PRESERVATION OF OUR NATURAL RESOURCES.

ACTING UNDER THE POWERS GRANTED THE PRESIDENT BY THE CONSTITUTION, I HAVE TODAY ISSUED AN EXECUTIVE ORDER CREATING THE PRESIDENT'S AMNESTY BOARD. THIS BOARD WILL EXAMINE THE CASES OF ALL PERSONS CONVICTED UNDER THE SELECTIVE TRAINING AND SERVICE ACT OF 1940, AND WILL RECOMMEND THOSE PERSONS IT DEEMS DESERVING OF EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY.

THE CHAIRMAN OF THE PRESIDENT'S MANESTY BOARD WILL BE THE HONORABLE OWEN J.ROBERTS OF WASHINGTON, D.C., FORMER ASSOCIATE JUSTICE, SUPREME COURT OF THE UNITED STATES; RECENTLY CHAIRMAN OF THE WAR DEPARTMENT ADVISORY BOARD ON CLEMENCY. THE OTHER MEMBERS WILL BE MR.JAMES F. O'NEIL, CHIEF OF POLICE OF MANCHESTER, NEW HAMPSHIRE, FORMER VICE-CHAIRMAN OF THE AMERICANIZATION COMMITTEE, THE AMERICAN LEGION; AND MR.WILLIS SMITH OF RALEIGH, NORTH CAROLINA, FORMER PRESIDENT OF THE AMERICAN BAR ASSOCIATION.

EXECUTIVE ORDER

ESTABLISHING AN AMNESTY BOARD TO REVIEW CONVICTIONS OF PERSONS UNDER THE SELECTIVE TRAINING AND SERVICE ACT OF 1940 AND TO MAKE RECOMMENDATIONS FOR EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY WITH RESPECT THERETO

BY VIRTUE OF THE AUTHORITY VESTED IN ME AS PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES BY SECTION 2 OF ARTICLE II OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES, WHICH PROVIDES THAT "THE PRESIDENT X X X SHALL HAVE POWER TO GRANT REPRIEVES AND PARDONS FOR OFFENSES AGAINST THE UNITED STATES, EXCEPT IN CASES OF IMPEACHMENT," AND IN THE INTEREST OF THE INTERNAL MANAGEMENT OF THE GOVERNMENT, IT IS ORDERED AS FOLLOWS:

1. THERE IS HEREBY ESTABLISHED A BOARD OF THREE MEMBERS, WHICH SHALL BE KNOWN AS THE PRESIDENT'S AMNESTY BOARD. THE MEMBERS OF THE BOARD SHALL BE APPOINTED BY THE PRESIDENT, WHO SHALL ALSO DESIGNATE ITS CHAIRMAN.

2. THE BOARD, UNDER SUCH REGULATIONS AS IT MAY PRESCRIBE, SHALL EXAMINE AND CONSIDER THE CASES OF ALL PERSONS CONVICTED OF VIOLATION OF THE SELECTIVE TRAINING AND SERVICE ACT OF 1940, AS AMENDED (50 U.S.C. APP. 301 FF.), OR OF ANY RULE OR REGULATION PRESCRIBED UNDER OF PURSUANT TO THAT ACT, OR CONVICTED OF A CONSPIRACY TO VIOLATE THAT ACT OR ANY RULE OR REGULATION PRESCRIBED UNDER OR PURSUANT THERETO. IN ANY CASE IN WHICH IT DEEMS IT DESIRABLE TO DO SO, THE BOARD SHALL MAKE A REPORT TO THE ATTORNEY GENERAL WHICH SHALL INCLUDE ITS FINDINGS AND ITS RECOMMENDATIONS AS TO WHETHER EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY SHOULD BE GRANTED OR DENIED, AND, IN ANY CASE IN WHICH IT RECOMMENDS THAT EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY BE GRANTED, ITS RECOMMENDATIONS WITH RESPECT TO THE FORM THAT SUCH CLEMENCY SHOULD TAKE. THE ATTORNEY GENERAL SHALL REPORT THE FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE BOARD TO THE PRESIDENT, WITH SUCH FURTHER RECOMMENDATIONS AS HE MAY DESIRE TO MAKE.

Hope Heartens Europe Despite Hunger, Cold

J. Steinhoff

LONDON, Dec. 24 (AP).—Europe's war-weary millions celebrated tonight their most cheerful Christmas Eve in eight years, amid some faint indications of better times to come.

Timid hopes for the future penetrated the despair engendered by the cold and hunger still gripping the battered continent on the second yuletide since the Nazi defeat.

In some favored lands, passed over lightly by the destructive forces of two world wars, there was food and fuel aplenty and traditional Christmas rejoicing.

WOES NIGHT

But in the wrecked cities and on the barren fields of Europe, worldly woes maintained an iron grip.

Low temperatures prevailed over most of the continent, and many homes were without fuel. To millions of families, the expected "white Christmas" meant only additional suffering from the cold.

Although there was no imminent danger of mass starvation, most of Europe was desperately hungry and could count at best on a frugal Christmas dinner.

POLITICAL TENSION EASED

Politically, the tension seemed to have eased and statesmen spoke hopefully of the recent achievements of the United Nations Assembly and Foreign Ministers Council. From Rome, however, came an appeal by Pope Pius XII to statesmen of the world: To draft an enduring peace and save Europe and the world from the "flames of new conflicts."

In most defeated countries, Christmas promised to be about as stern a day as any other.

But in Germany, the occupation armies—particularly the British and American—organized thousands of parties for children.

CELEBRATE IN BERLIN

Groups of American and German children, riding through Berlin's icy streets on hay wagons, sang Christmas carols, and Germans and Americans worshipped together in churches.

There was a slight increase of rations to Germans. A typical menu in a Munich restaurant offered pea soup, fried liver or sausage with green salad, potatoes with beets, mixed vegetables and bread. But such a meal cost the maximum of three marks (30 cents) and coupons for an entire week's meat ration.

In contrast, the menu for many Americans in Germany was tomato juice, roast turkey with giblet gravy, mashed potatoes, candied yams, cranbery sauce, olives, asparagus, pickles, fruit salad, mince pie, cheese cake, hot rolls, butter, jam, cream, sugar, coffee and an ice.

HOSPITAL JAMMED

Thousands of persons huddled together in Berlin's dreary "warming stations." Hospital admissions increased as the cold wave continued, and authorities expressed fear that there would be a sharp rise in the number of cases of respiratory diseases.

The United Kingdom prepared for every variety of weather—mostly unpleasant. Rain and snow were predicted.

Freezing temperatures prevailed in northern France, but the mercury was rising slightly. Snow and rain were expected.

Holland expected ice and good skating. Dutch newspapers, which not so long ago printed war maps, now published maps to show where the skating was good, and many thousands of the Dutch planned to be on the ice on Christmas day.

In central and eastern Europe, Christmas was expected to be a chilly, gray and largely cheerless day.

ROOSEVELTS LEAVE

London, Dec. 24 (A. P.).—Elliott Roosevelt and his wife left London for the United States by plane at 6:25 P. M. today. The son of the late President declined to enter the controversy over whether the London statue of his father should be a standing or seated figure.

DAY

"It is a great honor to have any statue at all, and any manner in which they feel it is best to depict him would be perfectly fine," he told an interviewer.

Roosevelt and his wife arrived last night from Berlin on their way home from Moscow.

PLANE STARTS AGAIN

London, Dec. 24 (A. P.).—A Pan-American Airways clipper loaded with G. I. brides and their children made a second start for New York shortly after 5 A. M. today, its crew confident that this time they would push through and that the passengers would be in Manhattan in time to celebrate Christmas.

The ship was forced by ocean storms last night to turn back over Ireland and return to London.

DAY

The plane is due to reach New York tomorrow morning.

When the ship disappeared into the mist over London Airport it had aboard twenty-two G. I. wives, twenty-five babies, two British girls bound for America to be married, two other women and a crew of ten.

Pan-American officials said that this would be the largest number of persons ever to cross the Atlantic on a commercial flight in an airplane.

Among the passengers were Mrs. Jean Brogna and her daughter, Janet, bound for 108 Montgomery avenue, Staten Island; Mrs. Hester Lambert and her son, Edward, headed for Jamaica, and Mrs. Lilian Drotman, who will live at 53-10 Whitney avenue, Elmhurst.

4th Republic Starts Official Rule in France

R. Jackson

Paris, Dec. 24 (AP).—France's Fourth Republic came into being legally today, and the nation was ruled by a constitutional regime for the first time since her forces fell before the German invader six years ago.

NIGHT

The Fourth Republic was born at a time when the entire shaky foundation of France's colonial empire was threatened by bloody fighting in French Indo-China in the Viet-Namese bid for independence. The interim President, Socialist Leon Blum, already has ordered Gen. Jacques Le Clerc to Saigon in an attempt to halt the fighting.

The historic moment in France's long road to political reconstruction came at 3:11 p. m. (9:11 a. m., EST) when the upper house of the newly elected National Assembly held its first session.

From the moment the Council of the Republic convened, the new constitution, approved by the people in October, became effective. The council met only for 25 minutes and then adjourned until Friday, when its officers will be named.

French Republic Officially Born; Condition Bad

R. Jackson

Paris, Dec. 24 (AP)—France's Fourth Republic officially came into being this afternoon. The upper house of Parliament held its first session and constitutional government was restored after six years of war, conquest by the Nazis, and liberation.

However, restitution of government subject to popular control found the nation in a perilous financial state, and the entire structure of the colonial empire was threatened by the bloody Viet-Nam bid for complete independence in faraway Indo-China.

Files For Presidency

The historic moment when the upper house, called the Council of the Republic in the new constitution instead of the Senate of pre-war France, convened was 3.11 P.M. From that moment the new constitution, approved by the people in October, became effective. Constitutional government in France had been wiped out in May, 1940, by the Germans.

DAY

Vincent Auriol, 52, president (speaker) of the National Assembly or lower parliamentary house, announced that he was a candidate to become the Fourth Republic's first president. He was the first to state his candidacy officially.

New Regime Due

The President, who will nominate a Premier to form a Cabinet to replace the present Socialist Government of Interim President Leon Blum, will be chosen January 16 by the Council and Assembly in joint session.

The Council met today for only 25 minutes, adjourning until December 27, when officers will be elected. Jules Gasser, 81, Radical-Socialist, presided over the opening session, held in the Luxembourg Palace, scene of last summer's peace conference.

The National Assembly met to vote a temporary budget by midnight, a budget involving heavy economies aimed at saving the nation from further inflation and economic ruin.

In Indo-China, however, lay one of the greatest perils to the colonial empire. There severe fighting was raging between French troops and Viet-Nam native forces.

More Troops Sped

Interim President Léon Blum acknowledged the seriousness of the situation before the Assembly yesterday and said he had ordered Maj. Gen. Jacques LeClerc, armored warfare expert, to Saigon in an effort to bring peace to the strife-torn colony.

The French press agency reported that the 10,000-ton French cruiser Duquesne, carrying units of the first regiment of parachutists, left Algiers yesterday for Indo-China.

An official proclamation yesterday expressed fear that the warfare in northern Indo-China might spread to the south and thus engulf all the rich outpost of empire, but Blum promised a policy of firmness in dealing with the situation.

French Take Key Span In Indo-China Battle

Hanoi, Dec. 23 [AP—Delayed]—Steady fighting was reported from most major towns in Tonkin province, in northern Indo-China, as French troops endeavored today to consolidate their positions against aggressive Viet-Nam forces.

The French announced that they had captured intact an important railroad and highway bridge near Haiduong, halfway between Hanoi and the port of Haiphong, 60 miles to the east. Sharp fighting was said to be under way at Haiphong.

At the same time a French armored column striking out from Langson, 80 miles north of Hanoi, was reported to have fought its way eastward to Dinh Lap, halfway between Langson and the coast.

DAY

Stiff fighting was reported at Nam Dinh, 60 miles south of Hanoi.

French sources said the Viet-Namese had sabotaged coal mines at Camcha, north of Haiphong, and near Hongay harbor.

[Dispatches from Saigon said French authorities had confiscated an issue of the newspaper Doimoi, which appealed to Viet-Namese to fight for freedom.]

Germans Cheer U. S. Amnesty Announcement

McNarney Extends Christmas Pardon to

800,000 'Little' Nazis

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 24 (AP). Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, in a Christmas message to 3000 applauding Germans in historic Roemberg Square, announced today an amnesty for 800,000 "little Nazis" in the United States occupation zone of Germany.

The commander of United States forces in the European theater said he expected Germans to proceed more vigorously against "active Nazis who brought destruction upon their country."

American officials estimated that amnesty would enable the denazification program to be completed in 18 months in the United States zone.

The amnesty which will reduce the number of persons liable to prosecution to about two million, will apply to all those not listed as major offenders or whose yearly income during the calendar years 1943 and 1945 was less than 3000 marks and whose taxable property in 1945 did not exceed 20,000 marks.

NIGHT

Also exempted from prosecution are persons more than 50 per cent disabled.

The theater commander criticized the lack of "unified economic treatment" for Germany and said that zonal boundaries should not hamper Germany's economic life.

So far as was known, the United States was alone in adopting the amnesty procedure.

Government, estimated that the amnesty and a speedup in German court hearings would allow the de-Nazification program in the United States zone to be completed in another eighteen months.

"At the present rate, it would have taken six years to get through the backlog of 3,000,000 cases," said Wilson, formerly a police executive of Berkeley, Cal.

He said 40,000 German civilians were interned in the American zone, awaiting de-Nazification trials. More than 400 German tribunals are now hearing cases.

Three Thousand Hear General

McNarney delivered his message before a crowd of 3,000 Germans in historic Roemberg Square. He spoke in English and his words were translated into German.

The General, standing outside this city's old Town Hall, told the gathering the expected the amnesty to enable the German administration to proceed more vigorously against "active Nazis who brought destruction upon their country."

The Germans listened intently to the first speech delivered to them directly by the theater commander since the end of the war and applauded him both at the beginning and the conclusion of his address.

The amnesty, the announcement said, will apply to all persons who are not chargeable under the "law

800,000 Nazis in U. S. Zone Get Amnesty for Christmas

Gen. McNarney Proclaims American Change in Denazification Policy in Address to Germans.

1946 J. Berlin

Frankfurt, Dec. 24 (A. P.).—Approximately 800,000 "little Nazis" in the American zone of occupation were granted amnesty today—a day before Christmas—by proclamation of Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, United States commander in Europe.

DAY

The amnesty required the number of American Zone Germans liable to prosecution under de-Nazification laws from approximately 3,000,000 to about 2,000,000.

O. W. Wilson, chief of public safety in the American Military of liberation from national socialism and militarism" as major offenders, or offenders whose yearly income during the calendar years 1943 and 1945 was less than 3,000 marks and whose taxable property in 1945 did not exceed 20,000 marks.

Policy Change

Also exempted from prosecution are persons not major offenders, or offenders who are more than 50 per cent disabled. McNarney estimated that the amnesty would apply to approximately 800,000 persons.

The announcement, while coming virtually on Christmas Eve, was not regarded so much as a holiday present, but as a major change in American policy.

It appeared aimed at breaking the log-jam of multitudinous cases in de-Nazification courts so that full attention could be directed to bringing major offenders to justice more quickly.

Two Million Chargeable

Approximately 11,000,000 Germans have been required to fill out de-Nazification questionnaires and about 3,000,000 of that number have been found chargeable under the law.

The number chargeable will be reduced to approximately 2,000,000 as a result of today's amnesty.

"I am sure that this amnesty will permit German administration to proceed more vigorously to seek out and punish the active Nazis who brought destruction on their country and at the same time will encourage those who come under its terms to seek the ways of democracy," McNarney said.

The General gave the news to the Germans in person by addressing a Christmas gathering of citizens in a public square of this United States Army headquarters city.

Only U.S. Giving Amnesty

So far as was known, the United States was alone in adopting the amnesty procedure. None of the other three occupying powers had announced intentions of any similar action up to the time McNarney spoke.

Reviewing the past few months, McNarney said German de-Nazification had not been "altogether satisfactory" but "we are heartened by the increased effort which has become evident in the past six weeks."

It was about six weeks ago that Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American deputy military governor, told German Minister presidents bluntly that unless the Germans stepped up their de-Nazification efforts the Americans would take over the program again.

Progress Cited

McNarney said, however, that on the positive side substantial progress had been made in building up democratic institutions.

"I refer specifically," he declared, "to the development of local and state government, culminating in the adoption of constitutions and the election of constituent assemblies by the freely expressed will of the people in each of the three states in the United States zone."

McNarney hit at the lack of "unified economic treatment" for Germany and declared zonal boundaries should not hamper Germany's economic life.

"Shortage of food, coal, transport, industrial raw materials and consumer goods of virtually every kind still characterize the German scene," he said.

Economic Weakness Noted.

"This highly unsatisfactory economic situation, candor compels me to say, has been accentuated to some extent by failure of the four occupying Powers jointly to implement that very important part of the Potsdam Agreement providing for the unified economic treatment of Germany.

"Zonal boundaries," McNarney continued, "should exist only for delimiting occupational areas and not to hamper Germany's economic life. Neither the equitable distribution of essential commodities between the zones nor the working out of a balanced economy for Germany as a whole to provide payment for essential imports has been accomplished.

"Both of these are required under the provision of the Potsdam agreement, as Secretary Byrnes pointed out in Stuttgart. Moreover, the Central German administration departments for finance, transport, communications, foreign trade and industry, likewise provided for in the Potsdam Agreement, have not yet been established by quadripartite action."

Advantages Foreseen.

He said that the United States offer to join with any other occupying Powers in joint economic operation of the zones, and accepted only by the British, will result in many reciprocal advantages to the two zones beginning in 1947.

Declaring that American-sponsored youth groups now had more than 700,000 members, McNarney added: "Looking ahead, it is anticipated that the economic situation will show substantial improvement and that the development of democratic government and of German youth activities will progress even more favorably during the coming year.

"These factors should lead towards a peaceful, self-supporting and democratic Germany, provided you, the German people, have an honest desire to reach this goal."

Axis Sally and 2 Men Freed In Germany by U.S. Army

Frankfurt, Dec. 24 (AP).—United States Army officials disclosed in a Christmas Eve announcement today that Mildred Gillars, who they identified as a honey - voiced "Axis Sally" of the Berlin radio, was among three American broadcasters released from an Army prison.

The other two, who also were frequently htard over the German radio during the war, were Minnesota-born former Embassy Clerk Herbert Burgman and Donald Day, former Chicago Tribune correspondent.

No charges are pending against any of the three, Army officials said, an dit is up to the Department of Justice to decide whether they will be prosecuted. The only restrictiin on their release was that they report regularly to the Army Intelligence branch.

Two Under Observation

Army officials emphasized the original detention of the three was ordered by the Department of Justice and that the department also authorized the release.

(In Washington, a Justice Department official told a reporter that the three will remain under observation and that no decision has been reached about prosecution. He declined comment on reasons for the releases.)

Miss Gillars, although informed she was free, declined to leave the Army detention center at nearby Oberursel, Army officials said. They added that they could not explain her action. Miss Gillars was born in Portland, Me.

Future Is Uncertain

An intelligence officer said that the silver-haired, lissome Miss Gillars, 37, came to Germany in 1934 to study piano in Dresden. Thousands of doughboys heard her sentimentally describe life and comforts in the United States and call on United States troops to surrender.

Ambassador Robert Murphy said in Berlin he was asking the State Department about the future of the three Americans.

"I wouldn't suppose they'd stay on in Germany," he said, "but their prospects of being allowed to return to the United States aren't certain, either. I'll have to hear first from Washington before I know."

'Axis Sally', 2 Others Freed From Prison

Frankfurt, Dec. 24 (AP)—Mildred Gillars, American musician who became known as "Axis Sally" through her wartime radio broadcasts from Germany, has been released from a United States Army prison, army officials disclosed today.

Freed with Miss Gillars, a 37-year-old former resident of Portland, Maine, were two other Americans who also broadcast over the German radio during the war.

Army officers identified one as Minnesota-born Herbert Burgman, former United States Embassy clerk in Berlin, who stayed in Germany throughout the war and participated in English-language short-wave broadcasts.

Donald Day Released

The other was Donald Day, former Chicago Tribune correspondent, woh took part in German radio broadcasts in 1944 and 1945, after fleeing to Germany from Finland, where he said he had incurred Russian disfavor with his criticisms of communism.

All three were released on instructions from the United States Department of Justice at whose request they had been held by the Army, headquarters officials said.

Miss Gillars, arrested in Berlin in March by a counterintelligence corps agent, was said by military government officials to have won the name of "Axis Sally" from her Berlin broadcasts to United States troops in North Africa and later in Europe during the war.

"Conscience Clear"

Silver-haired and neatly dressed, Miss Gillars received Allied correspondents shortly after she was taken into custody and informed them:

"My conscience is clear. I have nothing to hide. Everything I did was of my own free will."

She said she had been paid quite well, but that her main motive was to "stop the war."

No Charges Pending

Day, 51, released after nine months in confinement pending investigation of his wartime radio broadcasts from Germany, said he hoped to return to the United States soon.

No charges are pending against the three. It is a question for the Department of Justice as to whether they will be prosecuted, a spokesman for the army intelligence branch said. The officer said the Army's only part in their confinement was that of holding them for the department.

The only restriction on their release was that they must report regularly to the army intelligence branch.

An intelligence official said Miss Gillars was 37 years old and that she came to Germany twelve years ago to study piano in Dresden. He said she started broadcasting over the German radio soon after the war began. Her broadcasts were beamed directly at American troops, and her honeyed voice and appeals to American sentimentality won her the nickname of "Axis Sally."

Burgman, under the alias "Joseph Scanlon Burgman," participated in the radio programs "Station Debunk" and "The Voice of Free Americans" which were heard widely in the United States, an intelligence officer said.

War Department Clerk

The official said he was born in Hokah, Minn., in 1896, became a War Department clerk and, after serving with the Army of Occupation in Coblenz, became a clerk in the United States Embassy in Berlin in 1920. He held that position until 1941.

Day, a new correspondent in the Baltic States from 1921 to 1942, was said by an army spokesman to have "refused orders from his newspaper to return home and ignored similar instructions from United States Government agencies."

Army officials said they did not know whether Day, Burgman and Miss Gillars would be permitted to return to the United States.

Day said he hoped to return.

"I don't see why I should have any trouble going back," he said. "I've never given up my American citizenship."

Trial of Thyssen Deemed Unlikely

FRANKFURT, Germany, Dec. 24 (AP).—A reliable source here said tonight that it was likely that because of lack of evidence, Fritz Thyssen, German industrialist, would not be tried by the American tribunal at Nuremberg.

If Thyssen is not tried, he will be released from custody, it was understood.

The trial of German industrialists charged with war crimes, among whom Thyssen now is listed, is scheduled to begin early next month.

Internee Branch in Germany

FRANKFORT on the Main, Germany, Dec. 24 (AP)—United States Army headquarters announced today the creation of a "civilian internee branch" to expedite the disposition of 24,000 German civilians still interned in the American zone of occupation. The cases of 80,000 civilian internees already have been disposed of, including 45,000 turned over to German authorities for trial.

Annexation Of Saar Held French Aim

Berlin, Dec. 24 (AP)—Sections of the Russian-controlled German press in Berlin said today that France's action in establishing a customs cordon around the Saar had in effect removed that coal-rich territory from the German economy and represented a step "toward France's ultimate aim of annexing the Saar."

All Soviet-controlled papers here gave the story top front-page position, together with a statement by Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, deputy American military governor, that he regarded France's step as "an entirely unilateral action which was not presented to the Allied Control Council."

The Soviet-licensed Berliner Zeitung observed:

"Now the French customs cordon at the Saar means practically the economic separation of the Saar from Germany. The question arises whether France can single-handedly institute this apparent 'economic union' of the Saar with France merely by presenting an accomplished fact, without interallied action."

Menus Tell the Story Of Munich Christmas

MUNICH, Dec. 24 (AP).—The Christmas menus in the United States-occupied zone of Germany:

For Americans: Tomato juice, roast turkey with giblet gravy, mashed potatoes, candied yams, cranberry sauce, olives, asparagus, pickles, fruit salad, mince pie, cheese cake, hot rolls, butter, jam, cream, sugar, coffee, ice.

For Germans in a typical Munich restaurant: Pea soup, fried liver or sausage with green salad, potatoes with beets, mixed vegetables, bread. Total cost, maximum of 3 marks, entire week's meat-ration coupons.

Europe In Grave Danger Of War, Pope Warns

Vatican City, Dec. 24 (AP)—Pope Pius XII declared today, on the eve of the second Christmas since World War II ended, that Europe stood in grave danger of new conflicts.

Addressing the resident members of the College of Cardinals, whose 95-year-old dean, Gennaro Cardinal Granito Pignatelli di Belmonte, had just presented their Christmas greetings, the Pontiff called for an early, just and definitive peace.

Cites "Constant Agitation"

Otherwise, he said, the "constant agitation" of Europe's peoples, their "disillusionment and discontent" over the war's aftermath, might give rise "to the flames of new conflict."

The Pontiff's address was broadcast by the Vatican's short-wave station and rebroadcast over the Italian and Spanish long-wave stations.

In "the gravity of the present hour," the Pontiff invited the rulers of the world to base their policies on three consdierations:

1. "To remove dangerous international tensions" and "end the present intolerable state of uncertainty," he urged "the advent of a definite peace among all states."

30-24 7079

Urges "Seal Of Justice"

2. To the labor of peace, he pleaded, let the rulers apply "the seal of a true justice, of a far-seeing wisdom, of a sincere service to the common interests of the entire human family."

3. Let them finally, he said, establish in their instruments of peace "a procedure clearly determined" for correcting them, so that the "voice of reason and equity" demanding modifications might be heeded.

There was emotion in the Pope's voice as he lamented the fate of the Atlantic Charter in the years since President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill promulgated it.

Asks What's Left Of Charter

"All peoples listened," he said. "At last they could beathe.

"And what is now left of that message and of its provisions?"

Speaking of the antagonism that the church confronts today, the Pontiff said that "no Christian has the right to abstain from the fight against the enemies of Christ."

No one, he said, must rest "with folded arms, with head bowed and with knees weak."

The church, the Pontiff said, did not fear and today, as yesterday, remained solid against trials.

Renews Appeal For Needy

The Holy Father again directed his attention to the needs of war-ravaged countries, referring to his appeal of last spring.

"Much," he said, "has been done" for children and the aged, and much help given has "saved the honor of humanity."

"But," he said, "it was not enough—and we are compelled to renew our appeal of last spring.

"Bread—in the literal sense of the word—is lacking for whole populations."

This danger of need, he said, has darkened the threshold of the new year.

Sees Some Basis For Hope

The tenor of the Pope's address, which lasted 34 minutes, was generally pessimistic, but he did point to some reasons for hope.

Principles needed for peace have "made real progress during the past year in not a few minds," the Pontiff said.

He suggested that the atom bomb—though he did not call it by name—might also be a factor for peace.

"The might of new instruments of destruction which modern technique has developed and continues to develop to such an extent that they appear, to the terrified eyes of humanity, infernal creations," the Pope said, "has brought the problem of disarmament into the center of international discussions, under completely new aspects, and provides an incentive that was never felt before."

"Only Shadow Of Four Freedoms"

The Pope's reference to the Atlantic Charter contained an implicit dismissal of the claims of certain governments, not named, to be exemplifying its principles.

"Even in some of those states which, either through free choice or under the aegis of other greater powers, love to appear to the world of today as the standard-bearers of new and true progress," he said, "the 'four liberties' recently hailed with enthusiasm by many now seem only a shadow or a counterfeit of what was in the mind and intentions of the most loyal of their promulgators."

Pope Fears New Conflicts, 1946 Urges Speedy, Stable Peace

Vatican City, Dec. 24 (AP).—Pope Pius XII, declaring that Europe even now was in danger of "the flames of new conflicts," appealed today to the world's statesmen to conclude with all possible speed a stable peace which could "save the world from incalculable shocks and disorders."

The Pontiff, addressing resident members of the Sacred College of Cardinals on this second Christmas Eve since the end of the Second World War, said that the Atlantic Charter seemed to some countries today to be only a counterfeit of what was intended by its promulgators.

SEES HOPE FOR MANKIND

But he saw hope for mankind in the development of weapons of mass destruction. Without mentioning the atom bomb or any other such weapon specifically, the Pope said this new factor, "the might of new instruments of destruction," had brought the need for international agreement sharply into focus.

Obviously referring to the recent disarmament resolution of the United Nations General Assembly in New York, the pontiff said:

"This factor has brought the problem of disarmament into the center of international discussions, under completely new aspects, and provides an incentive that was never felt before: Thence springs hope of solving what past generations have longed for in vain."

CARDINAL'S GREETINGS

With little preamble, the pontiff plunged into the world's most pressing problems soon after Gennaro Cardinal Granito Pignatelli di Belmonte, 95-year-old dean of the Sacred College, presented him with the Cardinals' Christmas greetings.

"Let the new year see the peace a reality," Pope Pius begged the world's statesmen, pleading that indefinite prolongation of an abnormal state of instability "is the clear symptom of an evil which constitutes the sad characteristic of our age."

"When for the first time the Atlantic Charter seemed to some countries today to be only a counterfeit of what was intended by its promulgators.

"We most willingly recognize the untiring efforts of outstanding statesmen who for a year or so, in a series of almost uninterrupted and toilsome conferences, have labored to bring about what honest men the world over ardently long for and desire.

"But, alas, differences of opinion, mutual distrust and suspicion and the doubtful value in fact and in justice of not a few decisions already taken or still to be taken, have made uncertain and fragile the strength and vitality of compromises and solutions based on force or political prestige, which leave deep down in many hearts delusion and discontent.

WARNS OF UNREST

"Instead of advancing towards a real peace, people in vast territories of the globe and in large sections, especially, of Europe, are in a state of constant unrest from which there could arise sooner or later the flames of new conflicts."

The temporal head of the Roman Catholic Church prefaced his words with the remark that he knew his words and intentions might "run the risk of being misinterpreted or even of being distorted for the scope of political propaganda," but said "the possibility of such erroneous or malicious comments could not seal our lips."

URGES JUST PEACE

Declaring himself "profoundly impressed with the gravity of the present hour," he called upon the statesmen of the world:

1. To remove "dangerous international tensions" and direct all their energies and good-will toward "putting an end to the present intolerable state of incertitude and to hasten as soon as possible the coming of a definite peace among all states."

2. To apply "all the forces of your mind and will to give to your work of peace the seal of the true justice, of far-seeing wisdom, of a sincere service to the common interests of the entire human family."

3. To guarantee more than a superficial stability in the peace to come by leaving the way open for adjustments in the future "according to a clearly determined procedure, as soon as the majority of the peoples, the voice of reason and of equity show that those amendments are opportune and desirable or even called for."

REVISION POSSIBLE

"Certainly everything cannot be foreseen," he added, "but it is wise to leave the door open for future revisions and eventual adjustments."

The Pontiff called for a "speedy and complete conclusion of peace," declaring that only a prompt return to normal relations among nations could "save the world from incalculable shocks and disorders which would only help the forces of evil."

He called upon the statesmen to frame such a peace "that may teach future generations to outlaw every trace of brutal force and to restore to the idea of right the priority of place from which it was wickedly dislodged."

ASKS FOOD FOR HUNGRY

The Pope appealed once again for food for the hungry in the world's war-devastated areas, saying that help given by a people to a people, without regard for national boundaries would help "create the indispensable spiritual requirements of peace."

He concluded by saying:

"With this prayer on our lips, we extend to all who are listening to us this Christmas Eve a fervent wish that 'The peace of God which surpasseth all understanding' may be theirs, and from the depth of our heart we impart to our beloved sons and daughters throughout the world as a pledge of the choicest graces of the word of God made man, our paternal apostolic blessing."

Text of Pope Pius XII's Christmas Address to Sacred College of Cardinals at Vatican Ceremony

(By The Associated Press.)

ROME, Dec. 24—The official English translation of the address of Pope Pius XII to the College of Cardinals today:

1946

Was there ever in the history of the human race, in the history of the Church, a Christmas feast and the dawn of a new year in which men felt more keenly and showed more clearly than today the yearning to see the contrast disappear between the message of peace from Bethlehem and the internal and external unrest of a world which so often abandons the straight path of truth and justice?

Humanity has barely come from the horrors of a cruel war, the results of which fill her still with anguish, and she now gazes with amazement on the yawning abyss between the hopes of yesterday and the realizations of today, an abyss which the most persistent efforts can bridge over only with difficulty, because man, who is capable of destruction, is not always himself capable of reconstruction.

Behold, for almost two years now the roar of cannon is silenced. Military results in the field of battle have brought about an indisputable victory for one of the belligerent parties and a defeat without precedent for the other. Seldom in the history of the world has the sword traced such a clear line of division between the conquerors and the conquered.

The joyous and exuberant intoxication of the victory has vanished. The inevitable difficulties have manifested themselves in all their crudity. Indeed, over all human designs and plans, are written the words of the Lord: "by their fruits you shall know them." (Matthew VII, 20).

Victory's Fruits Bitter

One thing is beyond all doubting—the fruits and the repercussions of victory have been, up to the present, not only of indescribable bitterness for the defeated, but for the victors, too, they have proved to be a source of untold anxiety and danger.

These dissensions in the past have gradually increased in their consequences to such a degree that no true lover of humanity—and much less the Church of Christ, ever solicitous to fulfil her mission—could close her eyes before such a spectacle.

The Church, which has received from the Divine Saviour a mandate for all nations to lead them to their eternal salvation, does not intend to intervene and to take sides in controversies on subjects of mere earthly interest. She is a mother. You do not ask a mother to favor or to take the part of one rather than another of her children.

All ought equally to find and to feel in her that farseeing and generous love, that intimate and unfailing tenderness which gives her faithful children the strength to walk with firmer step in the royal path of truth and light, and inspires those led astray and the erring with the desire of returning to her maternal guidance.

Never before, perhaps, has the Church of Christ, her ministers and faithful of every rank and class had such need of this enlightened love—a love ready for sacrifice knowing no earthly limit or human prejudice—as they have in the critical situation of today. The sad vicissitudes of the past seem as nothing in comparison.

Prompted By Spirit of Charity

It is, then, only the spirit of charity, the sacred duty of our apostolic office, that prompts us to speak today, the eve of the Holy Nativity. This alone induces us to address the entire world, and to use the waves of the air to carry to the extremity of the earth the expression of our anxieties and fears, of our prayers and most ardent hopes, confident that many noble and understanding hearts, even outside the Catholic communion, will hear our appeal and will lend us their efficacious collaboration.

We do not mean to criticize but to stimulate; not to accuse but to help. "Thoughts of peace, and not of affliction" (Jeremiah xxix, 11) move our heart, and we would wish to quicken such thoughts in the depths of the souls of those who hear us.

We well know that our words and our intentions run the risk of being misinterpreted or even of being distorted for the scope of political propaganda. But the possibility of such erroneous or malicious comments could not seal our lips.

We would think ourselves unworthy of our office, of the cross that the Lord has placed on our weak shoulders; we would believe that we were betraying the souls that look to us for the light of truth and sure guidance, if, in order to avoid evil interpretations, we hesitated to do our full part at this critical hour to reawaken dormant consciences and to recall them to the duties of the holy warfare of Christ.

No claim of veto, no matter where it comes from, could hold against the precept of Christ, "Go and teach." With unswerving obedience to the Divine Founder of the Church, we devote ourselves and will continue to devote ourselves to the utmost limit of our strength, in the fulfillment of our office to defend truth, to protect the right, to propound the eternal principles of humanity and of love.

In the exercise of this, our duty, it may well be that we shall meet with oppositions and misunderstandings. But we find strength in the lot meted out to the Redeemer Himself and to those who followed in His footsteps. The humble but intrepid words of the Apostle Paul come to mind: "To me it is a very small thing to be judged (by men). * * * He that judgeth me is the Lord." (I Corinthians iii, 4.)

Peace Not in Sight

It was indeed to be feared, considering the ruinous and confused condition in which the cruel conflict left the world, that the path from the end of the war to the conclusion of the peace would be long and painful. But at present we are witnessing its continuation without being able to foresee—despite some notable progress at last made—how or when it will be terminated; and this indefinite prolonging of an abnormal state of instability and uncertainty is the clear symptom of an evil which constitutes the sad characteristic of our age.

Men were witnesses of prodigious activity in all the fields of military power, formidable in its precision and extent of preparation and organization, lightning-like in the speed and improvisation with which it was continuously adapting itself to circumstances and needs; now they see the elaboration and the drawing up of peace taking place with great slowness and amid divergencies not yet overcome in determining aims and methods.

When for the first time the Atlantic Charter was announced, the whole world listened; at last one could breath freely. But what remains of that message and its provisions?

Even in some of those States which, either through free choice or under the aegis of other greater powers, love to appear to the world of today as the standard bearers of new and true progress, the "Four Liberties," recently hailed with enthusiasm by many, now seem only a shadow or a counterfeit of what was in the mind and intentions of the most loyal of their promulgators.

We most willingly recognize the untiring efforts of outstanding statesmen, who for a year or so in a series of almost uninterrupted and toilsome conferences, have labored to bring about what honest men the world over ardently long for and desire.

But alas, differences of opinion, mutual distrust and suspicion, the doubtful value, in fact and in justice, of not a few decisions already taken or still to be taken, have made uncertain and fragile the strength and vitality of compromises and solutions based on force or political prestige, which leave deep down in many hearts delusion and discontent.

Unrest in Wide Sections

Instead of advancing toward a real peace, people in vast territories of the globe and in large sections, especially of Europe, are in a state of constant unrest from which there could arise sooner or later the flames of new conflicts.

When one sees and ponders all this, one is profoundly impressed with the gravity of the present hour and feels the need of calling on the rulers of the nations, in whose hands lies the destiny of the world and from whose deliberations depend the success and progress or the failure of the peace, and asking them to consider three points:

(1) The first condition, in order to fulfill the expectations of the nations, to lessen and gradually to remove the internal disturbances from which they suffer, to remove the dangerous international tensions, is that all your energies and all your good-will be directed to putting an end to the present intolerable state of incertitude and to hasten, as soon as possible, the coming of a definite peace among all states, and that notwithstanding difficulties which no calm consideration can fail to recognize.

During the long years of the war and post-war period, human nature, a prey to innumerable and indescribable sufferings, has given proof of incredible powers of resistance. But this power is limited. For millions of human beings that limit has already been reached; the spring is already stretched too far; the slightest thing would cause it to snap, and its breaking could have irreparable consequences. Humanity wants to be able to hope again.

A speedy and complete conclusion of peace is of real and lively interest to all those who know that only a prompt return to normal economic, juridical and spiritual relations among nations can save the world from incalculable shocks and disorders which would only help the dark forces of evil.

Therefore, let the year that is now coming to an end be the last year of vain and fruitless expectancy; let the new year see the peace a reality.

Appeal to Nations' Rulers

(2) The year of fulfillment! This thought leads to the second appeal, that every right-minded person makes to the rulers of the nations.

You rightly long to see—and how could it be otherwise?—your names written in letters of gold on the scroll of the benefactors of the human race. The mere thought, that one day—even without fault on your part—they may be opprobriously listed among the authors of its ruin, fills you with horror. Apply then all the forces of your mind and will to give to your work of peace the seal of the true justice, of far-seeing wisdom, of a sincere service to the common interests of the entire human family.

The utter dept of misery into which the horrible war has thrown humanity calls for help and imperiously demands to be healed by means of a peace that is morally noble and irreproachable; such a peace that may teach future generations to outlaw every trace of brutal force and to restore to the idea of right the priority of place from which it was wickedly dislodged.

We justly appreciate the arduous but noble work of those statesmen who, disregarding the insidious voices of revenge and hate, have been toiling and are still toiling without respite for the fulfilment of such a high ideal. But notwithstanding their generous efforts, who could ever say that the discussions and debates of the year that is ending have resulted in a clear plan, drawn up logically in its main outlines, and calculated to reawaken in all nations confidence in a future of tranquillity and justice.

Cooperation of All Urged

No doubt such a disastrous war, unleashed by an unjust aggression and continued beyond lawful limits when it was clear that it was irreparably lost, could not be terminated simply in a peace which did not include guarantees that similar acts of violence would not be repeated. Nevertheless, all the measures of repression and prevention should keep their character of means and hence remain subordinate to the lofty and ultimate purposes of a true peace which, while providing the necessary guarantees, contemplates the gradual cooperation of conquerors and conquered in the work of reconstruction to the advantage of the entire family of nations and as well of each of its members.

Any balanced observer will be willing to recognize that these indisputable principles have made real progress during the past year in not a few minds, and that, too, as a result of the painful repercussions felt by the vital interests of the victorious states themselves. One finds some satisfaction also in noting that competent and authoritative voices in ever-increasing numbers are raised against an unlimited prolongation of the present conditions on the life and economic recovery of the defeated.

Immediate contact with the indescribable misery of the post-war period in some zones has awakened in many hearts the consciousness of a common responsibility to lessen effectively and eventually to overcome such a great evil. This sentiment is as honorable for one as it is encouraging for the other.

Recently a new factor has arisen to stimulate the desire for peace and the determination to promote it more effectively: the might of new instruments of destruction which modern technique has developed and continues to develop to such an extent that they appear to the terrified eyes of humanity infernal creations. This factor has brought the problem of disarmament into the center of international discussions under completely new aspects and provides an incentive that was never felt before. Thence springs hope of achieving what past generations have longed for in vain.

Notwithstanding these well-founded motives of hope, in which no one can rejoice more than the church, it seems that, in the present state of affairs, one must expect with great probability that the future peace treaties will only be an "opus imperfectum." Many of those who write them will recognize in them the result of compromises between the policies and claims of differing political powers rather than the expression of their own personal ideas based on the true and just concepts of right and equity, of human feeling and prudence.

Third Appeal to Rulers

(3) This leads naturally to the third appeal addressed to the rulers of the nation:

If you wish to give more than a superficial stability and duration to your labors for the new order and a peace that will not fail, if you wish to prevent its being violated sooner or later due to its own harshness, to the practical difficulties of putting it into effect, to its inherent defects and shortcomings, to the omissions and insufficiences perhaps inevitable today, to its real or imagined effects in the future which cannot be calculated at the moment, then take care to leave open the way for amendments according to a clearly determined procedure, as soon as the majority of peoples, the voice of reason and of equity show that these amendments are opportune and desirable or even called for.

In design, a machine can appear to be of indisputable perfection for its rigorous mathematical precision, but may show itself seriously defective in a real trial when it is faced with a number of unforeseen technical difficulties. In a moral, social and political order, how much more easily can a project appear excellent on paper, the fruit of laborious discussion, but then fail in the test of time and experience, where psychological factors play an important role! Certainly everything cannot be foreseen. But it is wise to leave the door open for future revisions and eventual adjustments.

In doing this, you will show yourself faithful to the words spoken in memorable circumstances by authoritative interpreters of public opinion; you will be sure of not causing any prejudice to your best interests; and you will give to the entire human family a luminous example by showing that there is no safer way toward the desired peace than that which comes from the re-education of mankind in the spirit of fraternal solidarity.

Message From Bethlehem

When one knows one is advancing along a safe path; how beautiful a thing it is to walk in the light! The light: look at it, all of you who are united by the same faith in the Saviour of the world! To illumine the path, it comes down from the star that shines over Bethlehem.

If one wishes to return to the great principles of justice that lead to peace, one must go to Bethlehem. One must recall the example and the doctrine of Him who from the cradle to the Cross knew no higher mission than that of fulfilling the will of the Heavenly Father, from rescuing the world from the darkness of error and mire of sin where it lay pitiably. It must be brought to acknowledge its subjection to the majesty of the Divine Law as its norm of right thinking and its measure of wholesome and conscientious conduct.

The great return to the axioms of the message of Bethlehem was never more necessary for the world than today. Indeed, rarely has the contrast between the precepts of that Divine Message and the reality as we see it been made, alas, so clear to men.

Frightened by this contrast, would you wish, beloved sons and daughters, to lose courage? Would you wish to increase the number of those who, alarmed at the instability of the times, begin themselves to waver in such a way that more or less knowingly they play the part of the adversaries of Christ?

No Christian has the right to show himself tired of the fight against the anti-religious surge of today. It matters little under what forms, with what methods, weapons, words enticing or menacing, and in what disguises the enemy hides himself. No one can be excused for remaining in His presence with folded arms, bowed head and trembling knees.

Tactics Against the Church

The same tactics are always used against the Church: "Strike the shepherd, and the sheep shall be scattered" (Zacharias xiii, 7). Ever the same tactics, powerless to find something new, always inglorious as it is vain. It repeats itself in the most diverse places and even tries its strength against the very see of Peter. The Church, even though her heart bleeds, does not fear for herself—she has the divine promise—but she fears the loss of so many souls. Her Annals are there to recall how many times the most impetuous assaults have been dashed to pieces against the strong and calm rock on which she is built.

Sure of her immortality today as yesterday and tomorrow as today, all the efforts to conquer and tear her asunder must yield and come to nought before the vital force of the Vinculum Caritatis, which unites pastor and flock.

If in the arduous but resolute performance of our office anything gives us peace and encouragement, it is, after our confidence in Him who chooses the weak things to confound the arrogance of the strong, the solid conviction of being able to count on the prayer, fidelity and watchfulness of an "Acies Ordinata" (An Army Set in Array) whose fitness and experience have overcome the greatest trials.

Recently we had the pleasure of raising to the honors of the altars a heroic band of martyrs, who, in sealing with their blood the profession of their faith, have embellished the dawn of our century. Since those days other bands of priests and faithful, soldiers of Christ yet unknown, have rendered and still render the same testimony. We do not doubt that a day will see them brought from obscurity to glory, when history will finally lift the heavy curtain that covers and darkens our time.

May the example of their courage and their fidelity in spurning death inflame the hearts of our beloved sons and daughters and fill them with the same sentiments of strength and confidence which insure for the standard of Christ its peaceful victory for the greater good of all humanity!

Many Are Still Hungry

We cannot end this our Christmas message without recalling the suffering and the needs arising from the serious food situation and health conditions of the nations tried by the war.

Already on the fifth of April of this year we uttered a cry of help to the rulers and to the peoples of those countries who could come to the help of the starving populations with their reserves. And in truth much has been done. Moved by the tragic plight, especially of the weak, the aged and the children, the civilized world did not remain insensible or slothful, and praise is due to the humane and Christian spirit of those men and nations who organized multiple relief works. Following on the sanguinary paths of the armies they brought to the victims of the war all kinds of help. They have saved the honor of mankind which was so shamefully outraged by violence and hate.

Would to Heaven that these funds of energy and provision—charitably lavished in relieving the most needy and bringing them from utter ruin—would that they had been sufficient for the task! Alas, it is not so. Therefore, we feel compelled to renew our appeal of last spring. There looms over vast territories of Europe and the Far East the specter of the most appalling famine and starvation.

Bread—in the literal sense of the word—is needed by entire populations, who because of its lack are becoming weak, worn out, enervated, the prey of diseases and pains, and dangerously aroused by the dull goad of hopeless rancor and deep-seated social rebellion.

Such is the tremendous danger that darkens the dawn of the new year, a danger so much more serious because, from some symptoms which reveal uncertainty and weariness, the magnanimous work of human solidarity seems on the verge of deteriorating even before a remedy can be applied to the ills which it was designed to relieve.

It is but human that they upon whom fortune is smiling should be inclined to keep aloof and forget the wretchedness of others. Closing their eyes and their hearts to the misfortunes of a neighbor who is unknown and far away, they think they can justify in their own consciences the isolationism and disinterestedness in the necessities of others. Their personal needs consume funds that the practice of charity would have laid aside, and their means of relief fail to provide that assistance for which charity to the neighbor would have destined them.

Therefore, we say once more to all who can lend a helping hand: Let not your zeal grow cold; let your help be ever more available and generous! Away with all greedy selfishness, all mean doubts, all bitterness, all indifference, all rancor.

Let your eye see only the misery and above all the suffering of millions of children and young people who are perishing with hunger. In this way you, at one and the same time, give and receive the ineffable Christmas gift: "Peace on earth to men of good will!"

Nothing is so well suited to create the indispensable spiritual requirements of peace as help liberally given by state to state, by a people to a people, without regard to national boundaries, so that nations, laying aside feelings of rivalry and of vengeance, restraining their craving for power and banishing the thought of privileged isolation, may learn from their own fortunes to understand, to tolerate, and to help one another, and thus, upon the ruins of a civilization forgetful of the teachings of the Gospel, the Christian Commonwealth may rise again, in which the law of love is supreme.

With this prayer on our lips we extend to all who are listening to us this Christmas Eve a fervent wish that "the peace of God, which surpasseth all understanding" (Phil. iv, 7), may be theirs, and from the depth of our heart we impart to all our beloved sons and daughters throughout the world as a pledge of the choicest graces of the word of God-made man, our Paternal Apostolic Blessing.

New Zionist Head Waits Council Action

Basel, Switzerland, Dec. 24 (AP).—The World Zionist Congress today empowered its general council to elect a Jewish Agency executive and name a president to succeed Dr. Chaim Weizmann, whose policy of continuing negotiations with Britain on the Palestine issue was repudiated today.

Last minute efforts to select an agency executive failed and the Congress adjourned its 13-day session. The general council meets tomorrow, but there was no indication that it would act immediately upon the elections.

Strong contender for the presidency was Rabbi A. H. Silver of Cleveland, Ohio, leader of the opposition to Dr. Weizmann's policies. Silver's resolution against continued negotiations with the British was carried by a vote of 171 to 154.

Dr. Weizmann's secretary said he was flying to London today.

Zionist Council To Elect Head

Basel, Switzerland, Dec. 24 (AP)—The World Zionist Congress, at the closing session of its twenty-second biennial meeting today, empowered its General Council to elect a Jewish Agency executive and name a president of the Congress.

The General Council will meet tomorrow. It is composed of 77 members representing the major parties constituting the Congress in proportion to their strength in the Zionist movement. It is the interim authority between sessions of the Congress.

The president to be selected will succeed Dr. Chaim Weizmann, of London.

Policy Repudiated

Weizmann's policy of continuing negotiations with Great Britain for settlement of the Palestine problem was repudiated by the Congress.

Rabbi A. H. Silver, of Cleveland, Ohio, who challenged Weizmann's policy, held conferences in an effort to form an agency executive that would be representative and at the same time subscribe to the Congress decision not to participate under existing conditions in the London Palestine conference scheduled for January 14.

Unless circumstances change, only the General Council could change the Congress policy of non-participation, a spokesman explained.

Jewish State Urged

Unrestricted immigration into Palestine, establishment of a Jewish state in an adequate area of Palestine, and efforts to explore the possibility of Jewish-Arab understanding were urged in a resolution adopted by the Congress. The Assembly called on dissident groups to refrain from further bloodshed in Palestine and protested deportation of Jews from Palestine.

A resolution to hold another Congress not later than July, 1948, was defeated.

Polish Police Held Beating Candidates

Warsaw, Dec. 24 (AP).—Vice Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, leader of the Polish Peasant Party (PSL) declared today Poland's secret police had embarked on a campaign of intimidation of PSL candidates in Gestapo style to force them to withdraw their names from parliamentary election lists.

The vice premier said in a news conference that many nominees were beaten and immersed in bitterly cold water, then imprisoned in damp cellars for days. He said they were released only upon agreeing to withdraw as candidates. Most of this, he said, occurred in the Silesian and Pomeranian provinces.

The vice premier said that, of a total of 854 PSL parliamentary candidates, 65 were now imprisoned and 49 names had been striken off the lists by election commissioners.

The government has generally been denying Mikolajczyk's accusations.

Polish Count Gets Term On Art Charge

Warsaw, Dec. 23 [AP—Delayed]. Count Andre Potocki, a member of one of Poland's oldest and proudest families, was sentenced to eight years' imprisonment today following his conviction on charges of trying to smuggle his family's art treasures out of the country.

His dark-haired bride, Countess Maia Potocki, was sentenced to six years' imprisonment.

The pair were arrested last October by security police, who said they were loading priceless works of art into trucks at night. Polish law forbids the export of art objects.

268 Rebels Surrender, Athens Says

Athens, Dec. 24 (AP)—Greek military authorities announced today that 93 guerrillas had surrendered in Macedonia and 175 more in central Greece under an extended amnesty offer, which now expires December 31.

The announcement estimated that more than 100 guerrillas had been killed in fighting during the past 24 hours. Casualties among Government troops were placed at ten killed or wounded.

Yugoslavia Expropriates Land

BELGRADE, Dec. 24 (AP).—The Yugoslav government announced today it has expropriated nearly 130,000 thousand hectares (321,000 acres) of arable land from large estates of big landowners, the Church and private enterprises in Croatia.

'Izvestia' Says Spellman Stirs Hatred of Reds

Charges Agitation Against Russia by Warning of Soviet Invasion of U. S.

MOSCOW, Dec. 24 (AP).—The government newspaper "Izvestia," in a Christmas Eve denunciation of Francis Cardinal Spellman, accused the Catholic Archbishop of New York today of attempting to stir up "violent hatred" against Russia by warnings of a Soviet invasion of the United States.

The "Izvestia" article, written by R. Moran, a columnist, said the Cardinal had conducted an "anti-Soviet crusade" and was well known for his hatred of "everything progressive."

Moran said the Cardinal wrote recently in "Cosmopolitan" magazine that "only the bat-blind can fail to be aware of the Communist invasion of our country."

[In New York, Cardinal Spellman was not available for comment. His article in "Cosmopolitan," entitled "Do We Want a Soviet Peace?" appeared in the magazine's November issue. In it he expressed concern lest the democratic nations submit to a "Pax Sovietica," which he likened to the Mongol-imposed "Pax Tatarica" of seven centuries ago. The goal of the new dictators, he said, is "One World—theirs!"]

Moran continued: "The world, as is known, is not populated by blind bats. It contains not a few people who well understand that Spellman's 'crucifixion of civilization' is only a screen employed to conceal another anti-Soviet crusade, doomer moreover, like all the rest, the inflorious failure."

[The Moscow radio, heard in London, quoted "Izcestia" as saying Cardinal Spellman presented "the Hitlerite myrmidons as martyrs." The broadcast declared: "Who are the 'sufferers' Spellman is waxing sad about? He is, it appears, writing about the traitotrs who fought on Germany's side against the Allies. In the Cardinal's words they are vaguely called 'anti-Communists' who during the preferred the Germany Army." This evidently referred to the Cardinal's published statement that "50,000 anti-Communist Ukainians, Ruthenians and Cossacks who had been lured into the German Armies, have been forced to return to Russia for 'liquidation.'"

[The broadcast opened with a sardonic slute to the prelte, terming him an outstanding flier, mountain-climber, "gifted broadcaster," the "highest paid poet in America" and a film scenario writer of great experence."]

Meanwhile, a bi-weekly journal, "Bolshevik," accused W. Averell Harriman, former American Ambassador at Moscow, and Sumner Welles, former Under Secretary of State, of lending their influence to an American newspaper campaign to "process the American public in the anti-Soviet spirit."

The same periodical called Admiral William F. Halsey a "contemporary American imperialist" because of his recent statement that American ships would go wherever the Navy pleased. This was interpreted by the Russian magazine as a demand for "American military control over all the seas and oceans."

The Communist Youth newspaper, "Komsomol Pravda," carried an attack on the demobilization of women by the United States Army. The attack was in the form of a letter purportedly written by a former American servicewoman, Evelyn Field, saying that servicewomen encountered great difficulties in obtaining work or education.

Moscow Radio Hits Prelate On Article

London, Dec. 24 (AP)—The Moscow press and radio joined today in Christmas Eve denunciation of Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishp of New York, who warned, in a recent magazine article, against a possible Soviet "invasion" of the United States.

[Cardinal Spellman was not available today for comment.]

After references to the Roman Catholic prelate as a flyer, mountain-climber, broadcaster and "the highest-paid poet in America," the Government newspaper Izvestia accused him, in an article broadcast in English, of chronic "anti-Soviet fabrications."

"His article," the broadcast said, "hypocritically bewails those whom, in his opinion, America must take under her guardianship.

"Who are the 'sufferers' Spellman is waxing so sad about? He is, it appears, writing about the traitors who fought on Germany's side against the Allies. In the Cardinal's words, they are vaguely called 'anti-Communists' who during the war preferred the German Army.

Reported By Vatican

"Spellman presents the Hitlerite myrmidons as martyrs, complaining that in the liberated countries of Europe torturers are tried as traitors.

"Finally, Spellman, as befits a film scenario writer of great experience, takes up the most overwhelming subject. Assuming the pose of a prophet, he calls for the light of civilization to be saved and howls that 'only blind bats can imagine that the Soviet invasion of our country is far distant.'"

Of this statement the broadcast said, "in broad daylight it looks a pretty pitiful farce."

Izvestia said the Cardinal's article appeared in Cosmopolitan and was reprinted in part in the Vatican newspaper L'Osservatore Romano.

Ukrainians' Hostile Ideas Assailed by Red Journal

Struggle Against Prejudice of Non-Russians Urged

MOSCOW, Dec. 24 (AP).—The Communist party journal "Bolshevik" appealed today for a struggle against "nationalistic prejudices" which it said survive among certain elements of non-Russian peoples, particularly the Ukrainians, inhabiting the Soviet Union. It denounced the "hostile theory which opposes Ukrainian culture to Russian culture."

Referring to "serious ideological errors and distortions of nationalist character" in works of literature and art produced in the non-Russian republics of the U. S. S. R., "Bolshevik" decried attempts to play down the class strugle in the past of the non-Russian people and efforts to glorify all kinds of Khans and Czars, irrespective of their activities."

"Bolshevik" said the Russian people culturally are "the most outstanding nation of all nations in the Soviet Union."

UNNRA Ukraine Relief for 1946 Over 317 Millions

Moscow, Dec. 24 (AP).—The Kiev newspaper Ukrainian Pravda quoted Ukrainian Finance Minister G. I. Sakhnovsky today as saying the Ukraine republic had sold UNRRA products for 1,689,000,000 rubles ($317,532,000 at nominal exchange) this year and that the proceeds were being spent on reconstruction measures and cultural material.

The Minister said that "although the relative importance of assistance received from UNRRA is extremely insignificant in comparison with the devastation and damages in our country's economy, this inconsiderable assistance" undoubtedly would help in liquidating the effects of war.

Jew Found Slain In Tel Aviv

Jerusalem, Dec. 24 (A. P.).—A 25-year-old Jew, Israel Levin, was found dead near the Tel Aviv zoo today with seven bullet wounds in the head, his eyes blindfolded and arms bound after a telephone caller told police the location of the body. Levin was reported kidnaped from his home in a Tel Aviv suburb by underground members yesterday.

Iran Says Kurds Offer to Give Up

TEHRAN, Iran, Dec. 24 (AP).—The newspaper Etelaat and Keyhan reported today that Mulla Mustafa Barazani, Iraqi Kurd leader now in Iranian Kurdistan, and other Kurd chieftains had asked permission to surrender with their 10,000 troops.

They were said to have asked General Homayooni, commander of Iranian forces in Kurdistan, to place them under protection of the Iranian government, and Tabriz authorities were reported to have instructed the general to deal kindly with them. Ezat Azizi and Mir Haj Etnoori Beig were among those asking to surrender.

Reinforced Reds Step Up Attacks, Chinese Say

Peiping, Dec. 24 (AP)—Government sources declared today the Chinese National Army has eliminated a Communist threat against the northwest section of the Peiping-Tientsin railroad after several weeks harassment.

They acknowledged, however, that reinforced Communist armies had stepped up attacks in the Paoting and Tinghsien areas of central Hopeh province.

Fierce fighting was reported northwest of Paoting. The official newspaper Chih Shih Jih Pao said Communist troops defeated Government defenders, forcing them to retreat to fortifications within 5 miles of Paoting, the provincial capital.

The independent Hsin Min Pao said a total of 10,000 Communist troops converged on Tinghsien from three directions.

Vast Throngs in Bethlehem For Celebration of Christmas

Roman Patriarch Leads Long Procession From Jerusalem to Old City of David Where Messiah Was Born.

C. DAVIDSON 1946

Bethlehem, Dec. 24 (A. P.).—Throngs of Christians worshiped today in the ancient stone church built over the manger where Christmas began, the birthplace of Jesus Christ.

The Rev. Louis Barlassina, Roman Catholic patriarch, began Christmas Eve vespers after making the traditional Christmas pilgrimage from the old city of Jerusalem. He has headed the Catholic clergy in Palestine for 28 years.

Several thousand pilgrims packed the Bethlehem Manger Square, where the devout mingled with the curious.

Colorful Procession

Barlassina, who will conduct high pontifical mass at midnight, made his way into the birthplace town of Christ at the head of a colorful, respectful procession.

He was escorted by five colorfully garbed mounted policemen. In the procession were carloads of church dignitaries and government officials, winding slowly over the road first built by the Romans.

At Mount Elias Monastery, in the Judean hills, were Christian and Arab notables from the small village of Beit Jala, where tradition says King Saul was born. The parade route passed by Rachel's tomb, in which lay the remains of Jacob's wife.

Mayor Issa Effendi Bandak of Bethlehem and other notables awaited the procession at the edge of the town for an excursion through the ancient bazaar district to the church built over the grotto where Jesus was born.

Political Situation Calm

An air of festivity prevailed in Jerusalem and the political situation remained calm. There still was evidence that Palestine was one of the world's trouble spots.

At 3.30 A.M., a few Christian Arabs, in a premature holiday celebration, fired half a dozen shots into the air in the capital within earshot of the guards near the barbed wire skirting public office buildings.

The guards, remembering recurrent terrorist raids, began laying down a barrage of Bren-gun fire. Armored cars wheeled up and the whole city was tense for an hour.

6,000 Autos On Road

Palestine police and British military police, in new uniforms, were on duty along the Bethlehem road to cope with some 6,000 cars trying to secure parking spaces available for a few hundred.

Some 14,000 soldiers in all were expected to make up half the total throng at the Manger Square in Bethlehem.

Priests and their helpers finished preparing the altars of the Church of the Nativity and St. Catherine's.

Last night they tested the lights on the big star that symbolizes the Star of Bethlehem, which guided the three Wise Men to the manger of the Christ Child.

By this morning, people had already begun to flock into the little town. Many of them were British soldiers on temporary leave from the job of guarding this uneasy land.

Visitors crowded the curio shops in quest of souvenirs to send to friends and relatives throughout Christendom.

Fatal Rioting Renewed

BOMBAY, Dec. 24 (AP).—One person was knifed to death and two others wounded today in a renewal of communal disorders which claimed seven lives yesterday.

Burmese Accept Bid For Parley

Rangoon, Dec. 23 [AP—Delayed]—The Anti-Fascist People's League announced today that it had accepted—with reservations—a British invitation to a conference in London early next year to discuss Burma's future.

The AFPL, which is led by Gen. Aung Sang, expressed disappointment over the British Government's statement outlining a course toward freedom similar to India's, and said it was "not to the satisfaction of the Burmese people."

The league statement said a delegation was expected to leave for London about January 6, and added that the delegates have been "instructed to break off talks and return as soon as possible for the launching of an all-out fight for Burmese freedom should the discussions proceed unsatisfactorily."

[A statement made by Prime Minister Attlee in London last Friday proposed that the present Burmese members of the Governor's Council continue serving in lieu of an interim government, pending election of a Legislature to serve as a Constituent Assembly for the new sovereign state, either within or outside the British Commonwealth.]

Russians Viewed Determined To Keep Dairen

By William H. Newton

[Representing the Combined World Press]

[Distributed by the Associated Press]

Dairen, Manchuria, Dec. 20 [AP—Delayed]—Soviet Russia, I learned today, intends to retain full control of the city of Dairen—gateway to Manchuria—and will keep her military forces there until after the peace treaty is signed with Japan.

This will be done under a technical definition of a clause in the Chinese-Russian pact concerning Dairen, which says "in peacetime Dairen is not included in the sphere of efficacy of naval base regulations determined by agreement on Port Arthur of August 14, 1945, and shall be subject to military supervision or control in this zone only in the case of war against Japan."

Clever Phrase

"In peacetime" is the catch. Technically, China and Russia still are at war with Japan until a peace treaty is signed.

Despite the fact that two American correspondents who visited Dairen aboard a United States Navy courier ship were refused permission to enter the city by the Russian commander, Maj. Gen. V. U. Korzhanoff, a comprehensive picture of conditions under Soviet rule has been obtained from neutral and Chinese sources.

Dairen is a cold, depressed, dismal city. Life is almost as closely regulated as behind the iron curtain.

The only currency is Soviet military script. Industry is paralyzed. Hunger and unemployment is widespread.

Only three buildings in the city are heated against the freezing cold. Prices are wildly inflated.

Privation And Fear

Russian and Chinese civilians who lived there before and during the war eke out an existence of privation and fear. None dares to be intimate with the Americans, who are under almost constant surveillance. Summary arrests and punishment are the rule rather than the exception.

There is no freedom of speech or the press. One Chinese language newspaper is published infrequently, whenever its Communist publishers "can think of something to say against the United States," according to reliable sources.

Petty cruelties to the Chinese and White Russians are an almost daily occurrence. Many young Chinese students have been arrested for expressing beliefs that full Chinese sovereignty should be restored.

Soviet propaganda posters—featuring portraits of Stalin and other Soviet dignitaries—are everywhere. Other posters advise the hungry and jobless Chinese people in the Soviet-controlled city that if America would get out of China there would be peace and prosperity.

At the same time the Soviets are making full use of American lend-lease equipment, including Liberty ships, planes and motor vehicles of all sorts. The only observable transport the Soviet Army has in Dairen is American.

Officials Live In Fear

There are indications that the fear which rules the daily lives of the Chinese people, through some sort of poetic justice, also haunts the lives of the Soviet masters. For every act of local Soviet officials is reviewed by Moscow and Soviet military and diplomatic representatives seemingly live in terror of taking any step unless cleared first with the Kremlin.

Observers believe it was these fears of making decisions which prompted General Korzhanoff to issue his ultimatum to the United States Navy courier to "leave port within twenty minutes or we will not be responsible for the consequences."

U. S. Admits Legality of Red Rule in Dairen

Order to Naval Ship To Quit Port Deemed Within Soviet Rights

By John M. Hightower

Associated Press Reporter

The United States tacitly recognized the legality of continued Soviet military control of the Chinese port of Dairen yesterday. Also, a State Department spokesman said the Russians acted legally in ordering an American naval vessel to leave Dairen after its authorized 48-hour stay had expired.

Refusal of the Soviet authorities at Dairen to admit an American businessman and two newspapermen without prior clearance from Moscow also was upheld by the State Department.

The American view was disclosed at a news conference at the State Department by Press Officer Lincoln White. He first issued a brief statement substantially confirming a news account of the Dairen incidents of last Friday originally reported by William H. Newton, an American correspondent, in a dispatch published in this country Monday.

Newton declared that the naval vessel which had called at Dairen with supplies and mail for the American consul general had left the port after receiving a verbal ultimatum from Russian military authorities that if it did not get out within 20 minutes "we will not be responsible for the consequences."

Information NIGHT

White said that initial information received here through official channels was somewhat garbled in transmission and he could not confirm the specific point of a 20-minute ultimatum.

However, the statement which he issued declared that after Consul General H. Merrell Benninghoff had failed to gain admittance for the three American civilians, "the ship left two hours after its legal 48-hour stay had expired."

Asked specifically whether the Russians were within their rights in handling the situation as they had, White replied, "Yes, legally the Russians were within their rights."

Asked whether their military occupation of Darien is proper, the statement which he issued had this to say:

"Dairen, under the terms of the Sino-Soviet treaty of August, 1945, is to be a free commercial port under Chinese administration, but the Soviet and Chinese governments have not yet made arrangements for the asumption of Chinese control. Pending the conclusion of these arrangements, Dairen remains under Soviet military control."

"It has been the hope of this government that the Chinese and Soviets would be able to work out these arrangements for a transfer of control, but we recognize that it is a matter to be handled by those two governments."

White said that the official information received by the State Department was in the nature of a preliminary report. This left the way open for a further American declaration, should that be considered necessary, on the basis of later reports which might deal more clearly with the question of the so-called ultimatum.

Senator Stewart (D-Tenn.), declaring "We've been entirely too easy" with Russia, yesterday urged a thorough investigation into the "verbal ultimatum." He told a reporter:

"This is a matter which ought to be gone into thoroughly. I will be much interested to see what the State Department and the Navy have to say."

U. S. OFFICIAL BACKS OUSTER BY DAIREN REDS

1946

State Department Aid Calls Russian Ultimatum to Navy Ship Legal.

EXPLAINS STAY HAD EXPIRED

Cites Lack of Clearance for American Business Man and Two Correspondents.

Washington, Dec. 24 (A. P.).—A State Department official said today that Russian military authorities at Dairen acted within their legal rights in ordering an American vessel to leave that Manchurian port last Friday after its authorized forty-eight-hour stay had expired.

Press officer Lincoln White also declared that the Russians were within their legal rights in refusing to permit an American business man, a news reporter and a photographer aboard the vessel to land at Dairen.

None of them, White explained, had received prior official Russian clearance. Such clearance, however, had been given to a diplomatic courier aboard the craft.

Statement Issued.

White's views were expressed in a statement and in replies to questions from reporters.

His statement declared that an account of the incident by the American reporter, William H. Newton, had been confirmed as to its substantial accuracy by American diplomatic reports from China. But, White said, he was unable to confirm definitely and specifically that in ordering the United States vessel to leave, the Russians had given the commander a verbal ultimatum. Newton had said that the Russians ordered the vessel to leave within twenty minutes or the Russians would "not be responsible for the consequences."

For the moment, on the basis of these preliminary reports, the department is taking a hands-off attitude toward thet matter but officials made it clear that this is not necessarily their last word.

White added that Dairen was made a free port under the Sino-Soviet treaty last year but the Soviet and Chinese Governments have not completed arrangements for the Chinese to assume control.

"Pending the conclusion of these arrangements, Dairen remains under Soviet military control," White stated.

Dairen Probe Is Urged; Russ Policy 'Too Easy'

Washington, Dec. 24 (AP)—Senator Stewart (D., Tenn.), declaring "we've been entirely too easy" with Russia, today urged a thorough investigation into the "verbal ultimatum" which forced an unarmed United States Navy ship to leave Dairen.

Stewart referred to the edict which sent the vessel, on a routine courier mission, hurrying from the Manchurian port after receiving this warning from Russian military officers:

"Unless you leave within 20 minutes we will not be responsible for the consequences."

To Speed Official Report

Commenting on a Dairen dispatch in which Scripps-Howard Reporter William H. Newton told of the incident for the combined world press, Stewart said:

"This is a matter which ought to be gone into thoroughly. I will be much interested to see what the State Department and the Navy have to say."

The State Department has been silent pending an official report from H. Merrill Benninghoff, the American consul general at Dairen. A spokesman said that if the report is not received shortly, efforts will be made to speed it up.

Hits Grab In Manchuria

The only navy comment thus far has been an acknowledgment that the landing craft described in the Dairen dispatch had left there for a United States base in China last Friday, the day the ultimatum was issued.

"Russia ought not to have been allowed to enter Manchuria in the first place," Stewart declared. "They have done nothing but pillage that whole area."

The Tennessean contended that the Soviet Union "made no contribution of any consequence" to the war against Japan, since "the atom bomb already had been dropped" when Russia entered the Pacific war.

"Their Attitude Toward Us"

"We've been entirely too easy with them," Stewart said, "and this incident shows their attitude toward us."

Senator Johnson (D., Col.), also commented, "it looks like the good neighbor policy hasn't quite reached that part of the world." He added:

"Ultimatums of this kind are not quite in keeping with the Christmas spirit."

"This incident, if true," said Senator Wiley (R., Wis.), "illustrates how ticklish the world situation is. It is a matter for the State Department to handle.

Was On Courier Mission

The ultimatum was issued while the navy vessel was on a routine courier mission to Dairen. The Russion military commander there refused to permit an American business man and two American newspapermen to land.

The Chinese-Russian treaty of 1945 stipulated that Dairen should be designated a free port under Chinese administration. Despite this, Soviet forces still are in control of the city.

The navy ship had received tacit clearance from the Russians to remain in the harbor 48 hours. It stayed two additional hours while Benninghoff sought permission for the American business man to go ashore.

The ultimatum was delivered while these negotiations were in progress.

Nip Japanese Black Market

2 United States Privates Lay Trap, Seize 6 Japanese and Goods

YOKOHAMA, Dec. 24 (AP).—Two nineteen-year-old Philadelphians, Private First Class Clarence O. Hill and Private Edward Terrill, were credited today with breaking up a Japanese black market ring.

Colonel R. W. Herwig, commander of the 71st Quartermaster depot, said a Japanese told Hill and Terrill they could make big money working with the gang. They reported to Lieutenant Colonel P. D. Harter, security officer at the Yokohama Quartermaster Base, who instructed them to pretend to co-operate with the Japanese.

They did, a raiding party which helped spring the trap arrested six Japanese and seized a large quantity of silk, watches, cigarettes and oil.

Yule Aids Marriages

YOKOHAMA, Dec. 24 (AP).—The Christmas season has added impetus to occupation marriages. U. S. consular officials said there had been 21 marriages of occupation personnel since Dec. 1 and 34 since Nov. 15. The total since May exceeds 100.

Americans in Japan Told to Seal Lips

NAGOYA, Japan, Dec. 24 (AP).—A slip of the lip may not sink a ship these post-war days, but Major General K. B. Wolfe, commander of the U. S. Fifth Air Force, today ordered his force to stop "all leakages of classified information to unauthorized persons."

Colonel W. T. Smith, who will direct the security campaign, said "if there is only one person with hostile intentions toward our occupation movement, it is our duty to protect our plans and material from that person."

There was no other explanation of Wolfe's order.

Banking in Manila Back to Normal

Manila, Dec. 24 (A. P.).—Banking facilities in the Philippines virtually have returned to normal nearly two years after the islands were liberated.

Branches of the National City Bank of New York, the Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China, the Shanghai Banking Corporation and The Netherlands Indies Commercial Bank are open for business in rebuilt offices.

The Bank of America is almost ready to open its first oriental branches here.

35 Evade Shipment To Reich As Axis Agents

Buenos Aires, Dec. 24 (AP)—Federal police hunted through sparsely settled regions of Argentina all the way to Tierra del Fuego today in search of 35 accused Axis agents who evaded deportation to Germany as ordered November 15.

Foreign Minister Juan Bramuglia disclosed last night that only 17 of the 52 Axis agents whose deportation was ordered in conformance with the Act of Chapultepec and United Nations pronouncements actually had been captured.

Among those deported were Hans Harmeyer and Ottomar Muller, both identified by Allied sources as collaborators of Johannes Siegfried Becker, chief of the Nazi wartime spy system in South America. Becker is one of those being hunted.

Roxas Urged To Act Against Huk Raiders

Manila, Dec. 24 (AP)—Moro Governor Arolas Tulawe of Sulu today proposed to President Roxas to send four companies of tough Moro military police against the insurgent Hukbalahaps in central Luzon.

Tulawe said the Moros formerly were members of guerrilla units that fought the Japanese with kris, bolos or whatever weapons they could obtain. Their forefathers gave Generals Pershing and Wood a rough time in the Moro pacification campaign.

The Huks, organized as guerrillas to fight the Japanese, have opposed the Government since war's end, demanding agricultural reforms. They have been blamed for numerous raids on rice fields and killings.

Yule Greeting To Nation Set By Truman

Washington, Dec. 24 (AP)—President Truman, after delivering a Christmas greeting to the nation today, will fly home to Missouri tomorrow to wish his mother a Merry Christmas in person.

Rounding out a series of traditional Yuletide ceremonies at the White House, the President planned to speak to the country over the major networks at about 5.17 P.M.

His five-minute talk will climax a tree-lighting program on the south lawn of the White House, where Mr. Truman spoke last year in the first postwar resumption of the occasion.

To Fly To Kansas City

The President will take off from National Airport tomorrow for Kansas City, to spend Christmas Day with his mother, 94-year-old Mrs. Martha E. Truman, of Grandview, Mo., and other members of the family.

The First Lady and Margaret Truman left for the "little White House" at Independence, Mo., last week.

The President's tentative schedule calls for turkey dinners with his mother, his wife's family and with an elderly aunt in Independence.

Mr. Truman will fly back to Washington Thursday afternoon. He will be accompanied by his military aide, Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, who will drive from Kansas City to Glasgow, Mo., to visit his own mother.

Truman Christmas Message 1946

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24 (AP).—The complete text of President Truman's Christmas Eve message to the nation:

Fellow citizens everywhere:

Again our thoughts and aspirations and the hopes of future years turn to a little town in the hills of Judea where on a winter's night 2,000 years ago the prophecy of Isaiah was fulfilled.

Shepherds keeping the watch by night over their flock heard the glad tidings of great joy from the angels of the Lord singing, "Glory to God in the Highest and on Earth Peace, Good Will Toward Men."

The message of Bethlehem best sums up our hopes tonight. If we as a nation, and the other nations of the world, will accept it, the star of faith will guide us into the place of peace as it did the shepherds on that day of Christ's birth long ago.

I am sorry to say all is not harmony in the world today. We have found that it is easier for men to die together on the field of battle than it is for them to live together at home in peace. But those who died have died in vain if in some measure, at least, we shall not preserve for the peace that spiritual unity in which we won the war.

The problems facing the United Nations—the world's hope for peace—would overwhelm faint hearts. But as we continue to labor for an enduring peace through that great organization, we must remember that the world was not created in a day. We shall find strength and courage at this Christmas time because so brave a beginning has been made.

So with faith and courage we shall work to hasten the day when the sword is replaced by the plowshare and nations do not "learn war any more."

Selfishness and greed, individual or national, cause most of our troubles. He whose birth we celebrate tonight the world's greatest teacher. He said:

"Therefore all things whatsoever you would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them; for this is the law and the prophets."

Through all the centuries since He spoke history has vindicated His teaching.

In this great country of ours has been demonstrated the fundamental unity of Christianity and democracy. Under our heritage of freedom for every one on equal terms we also share the responsibilities of government. Our support of individual freedom—free speech, free schools, free press and a free conscience—transcends all our differences. Although we may not hope for a new heaven and a new earth in our day and generation we may strive with undaunted faith and courage to achieve in the present some measure of that unity with which the nations and the sons of our allies went forth to win the war.

We have this glorious land not because of a particular religious faith, not because our ancestors sailed from a particular foreign port. We have our unique national heritage because of a common aspiration to be free and because of our purpose to achieve for ourselves and our children the good things of life which the Christ declared He came to give to all mankind.

We have made a good start toward peace in the world. Ahead of us lies the larger task of making the peace secure.

The progress we have made gives hope that in the coming year we shall reach our goal. May 1947 entitle us to the benediction of the Master: 'Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called the children of God."

Because of what we have achieved for peace, because of all the promise our future holds, I say to all my countrymen: Merry Christmas!

Merry Christmas, and may God bless you all!

Small Reports Industry Is at Peace-Time Top

Final Civilian Production Statement Declares Full Employment Is Reached

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24 (AP).—John D. Small, former civilian production chief, reported to President Truman today that postwar reconversion gains have already boosted industrial production "at least 50 per cent above the average of the late 1930's . . . and for the last six months it has climbed from one peacetime record to another."

Mr. Small warned, however, in his final report on the Civilian Production Administration, that labor and management must work together to avoid further strikes or lose "much of the gain" in high production and employment achieved since the war ended. The C. P. A. has now been absorbed by the new Office of Temporary Controls.

At present, Mr. Small said, virtually full employment has been reached, with 57,000,000 to 58,000,000 people in jobs—"the highest in the country's history."

This figure is 6,000,000 higher than after V. J.-Day, 4,000,000 above the war-time peak and 14,000,000 higher than in 1939, he said.

Blending optimism with caution, Mr. Small declared the nation's economy is generally in a "healthy condition" and "it should be possible to achieve maximum output for most commodities within a reasonable period of time under the momentum that has been accumulated."

On the other hand, he told Mr. Truman in a final report on the C. P. A.:

"A new wave of work stoppages at this time or in the next few months could well lose for the country much of the gain that has been made in recent months."

Mr. Small emphasized that "some better solution" must be found for solving labor disputes and cautioned that "the exercise of war-time priority and allocation powers is not the solution."

"The solution must be reached," he said, "by management and labor working together, in the realization that production once lost cannot satisfy human needs, fill pay envelopes, or return profits to the owners.

"Major strikes of early 1946 delayed the achievement of today's record employment and production by several months. Their effects are still being felt in diminishing degree."

Set up in November, 1945, to take over activities of the old War Production Board, C. P. A. was charged with helping industry along the war-to-peace conversion path through allocation of scarce materials, issuance of priorities to aid essential users obtain materials, and by preventing excessive exports and hoarding of items in short supply.

Mr. Small resigned about two weeks ago to return to private business.

Government controls, which numbered 700 at the war-time peak, have been reduced to fewer than fifty and still others will be dropped soon.

Mr. Small said some controls "are still needed to prevent hoarding, to prevent excessive exports, to meet national emergencies such as the recent coal strike and to assist the housing progra n. However it seems to me that the majority of the remaining C. P. A. controls can safely be lifted in the near future."

12,000 Units Cut From Temporary Housing Project

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24 (AP).—An official disclosed today that the Federal Public Housing Administration has ordered a cutback of approximately 12,000 units in its program of temporary veterans housing because of rising material and labor costs.

An agency spokesman told a reporter that projects sponsored by scores of cities and colleges throughout the country would be affected.

SECOND SHRINKAGE

This is the second major shrinkage of the program, which was planned early this year to furnish 200,000 temporary dwelling units for veterans out of a $445,000,000 fund provided by two Congressional appropriations. This goal was exclusive of projects financed by municipalities and educational institutions to reconvert surplus Government buildings, such as barracks, into housing units.

Last August FPHA reduced its goal to 188,000 units because of rising building costs. The second cut of 12,000 has been forced by decontrol of building material prices and wages, the agency spokesman said.

INSTRUCTIONS GO OUT

He added that instructions were sent to FPHA field officers recently to concentrate all available funds and facilities on projects at least 85 percent complete and to finish them as rapidly as possible.

The spokesman said this would mean that some projects for which funds were originally earmarked will not be started. In a few cases projects already started will be suspended, perhaps to be finished later if funds hold out. In most instances the cutback will mean a reduction in the number of units to be included in a project.

Permanent Air, Naval Base Urged For Pacific

Washington, Dec. 24 (AP)—Establishment of a permanent United States air and naval base in Japan was urged today by Representative Bishop (R., Ill.), member of a House Naval subcommittee just returned from a Pacific tour.

He also suggested combining the Marshalls, Carolines, Marianas and other Pacific island groups into a territorial government with its seat at Honolulu, retaining the right to establish naval and air bases anywhere in the territory.

Bishop said a preliminary subcommittee report does not embody his recommendation for a base in Japan.

"Some of the members feel it can't be done," he said, "but it can be done by making it a part of the peace treaty."

Such a base, large enough to repair warships, Bishop asserted, would "assure peace for all time" with the Japanese.

The principal purpose of the five-man committee was to survey sites for future naval bases. It left November 21, visited Japan and China as well as the Philippines, Okinawa, Guam and other Pacific islands, and returned Saturday.

Representative Healy, of California, the second Republican on the subcommittee, was defeated for re-election, as were two of the Democratic members, Representatives Izac, of California, and Biemiller, of Wisconsin. The other member is Representative Mansfield (D., Mont.).

In suggesting establishment of "a territory of the Pacific," Bisnop said it would give the natives an opportunity to join in a form of self-government under American supervision.

He said the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce had agreed, at his suggestion, to invite native chiefs to a conference soon to discuss the project.

Bishop said that after having viewed the situation in China, he believes the United States should withdraw its troops now and let the Chinese settle their own differences.

Truman Picks Jan. 6 For Annual Message

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24—President Truman today tentatively picked Jan. 6 to deliver to the Congress his annual message on "the state of the Union."

Whether he will deliver the message in person was not announced.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters that the present program, subject to revision, calls for a message on economic affairs a couple of days later, followed by a third message submitting the Government's budget for the year beginning July 1. But these two might be reversed, Mr. Ross added.

Two Transports To Arrive Today

By the Associated Press

Two vessels are scheduled to make Christmas day dockings at United States Ports with more than 2000 troops and Navy personnel.

The arrivals:

At New York—Newbern Victory from Leghorn.

At San Francisco—William Mitchell from Guam and Pearl Harbor.

Yesterday's arrivals at New York included: General M. B. Stewart, General Pope and General Omar Bundy, all from Bremerhaven; and Stevens Vitcory from Leghorn.

Food Situation Of World Still Critical 1946

Washington, Dec. 24 (AP)—Sir John Boyd Orr, director general of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization, said today the world food situation as a whole is little better than a year ago and there will be critical shortages before the 1947 harvest.

Orr made this statement in releasing a new FAO appraisal of the food picture.

The report showed there was a little increase in the 1946 harvest in devastated countries of Europe and that the Americas produced a bumper output of food.

Reserves Smaller

"But the latter has been largely offset," Orr said, "by increased consumption in the producing countries and by the fact that reserves of food were much less at the time of the 1946 harvest than in 1945." The report said supplies of most foods coming on the world market as exports in the twelve-month period ending June 30, 1947, are much less than before the war and that the exportable surplus of the all important cereals is no greater than last year.

Sir John said that, "in spite of the generous spirit evidenced by the United States in the granting of aid and credits, the situation will be complicated by the termination of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration."

Still Critical

"Thus, the position between now and the next harvest is still critical, with food supplies available to the people in many parts of the world standing at about half the amount available to the well-fed people. The quality of these diets is also poor because of their low protein and fat content."

Sir John said the situation in shortage areas calls for "economy measures and even greater generosity on the part of exporting countries."

The report itself said the prospective situation in deficit countries in the coming months is such as to warrant an immediate tightening of controls and food-economy measures in all countries and a reconsideration by exporting countries of the quantities they feel able to make available for shipment.

Limited-Diet Areas

The report said the following countries will be limited to less than 80 per cent of their prewar diets: Parts of India, parts of China, Malaya, parts of Manchuria, Romania, Austria and Germany.

Countries limited to between 80 and 95 per cent of prewar diets were listed as Korea, the Philippines, parts of India, Java, parts of China, Algeria, Tunisia, Portugal, French Morocco, Greece, parts of Manchuria, Italy, Poland, Spain, Hungary, Soviet Russia, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, Belgium, Uruguay, Cuba, Finland, the Netherlands, the United Kingdom, France, Switzerland and Norway.

2-Week Training Cruise For 1,800 Naval Reserves

3 Vessels Picked, Including Battleship Wisconsin

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24 (AP).—More than 1,800 Naval Reserve officers and men will up anchor on two-week training cruises within the next two months, the Navy said today.

One of the Navy's two battleships still in active service, the 45,000-ton Wisconsin, is scheduled to leave Norfolk Jan. 5 with forty reserve officers and 500 enlisted men for a cruise to the Canal Zone.

On the same day, 200 reservists, including twelve officers, will leave San Francisco on the destroyer Buck with no announced destination.

On Jan. 26, fifty officers and 500 enlisted men will leave New Orleans on the cruiser Macon, bound for the Canal Zone.

On Feb. 2, the Wisconsin will take on another group of 500 officers and men at New York for another cruise to the Canal Zone.

Warns Holders Of Italian Stocks

Washington, Dec. 24 (A. P.).—The Italian Embassy announced today that American stockholders of Italian corporations have been given until June 30, 1947, to convert bearer shares into registered stock. The same deadline also has been established, the embassy said, for the stamping of registered shares with the inscription "stock circulating abroad."

Stockholders who fail to take the proper steps, the embassy added, "might incur the risk of having their shares become valueless."

INDO CHINA (750)
BY ROBERT WILSON

PARIS,DEC.24-(AP)-WHEN FRANCE LOST THE WAR IN WESTERN EUROPE IN 1940, SHE LOST SOMETHING EQUALLY GRAVE IN FAR-OFF INDOCHINA. SHE LOST FACE.

THAT LOSS WAS A FACTOR IN ENCOURAGING NATIVES TO MAKE A BID FOR COMPLETE INDEPENDENCE FROM THE FRENCH.

THE FATE OF THAT BID IS BEING DECIDED BY DIVE BOMBERS AND MACHINEGUNS, AS FRANCE TRIES DESPERATELY TO KEEP POSSESSION OF A TERRITORY THAT IS LARGER IN SQUARE MILES THAN CONTINENTAL FRANCE ITSELF.

WHY ARE FRENCH TROOPS AND NATIVES KILLING EACH OTHER AT THE MOMENT IN HANOI?

BECAUSE THE SELF-PROCLAIMED INDEPENDENT REPUBLIC OF VIET-NAM (HALF RECOGNIZED BY FRANCE) WANTS NOT ONLY FREEDOM TO RUN ITS OWN INTERIOR AFFAIRS WHICH FRANCE HAS GRANTED, BUT ALSO DESIRES:

1. THE RIGHT TO MANAGE ITS OWN FOREIGN AFFAIRS WITHOUT INTERFERENCE FROM FRANCE'S PROJECTED INDOCHINESE FEDERATION.

2. TO ANNEX THE ADJOINING PROVINCE OF COCHIN-CHINA, WHICH THE FRENCH SAY WANTS TO BE A SEPARATE MEMBER OF THE FEDERATION.

WARFARE IS RAGING BECAUSE FRANCE SAID "NO" WHEN THE VIET-NAM'S PRESIDENT, HO CHIN MINH, PRESENTED THESE DEMANDS LAST SUMMER AT A CONFERENCE IN PARIS. WHEN HO CHIN MINH ASKED WHAT FRANCE'S INTENTIONS WERE, OFFICIALS SHRUGGED THEIR SHOULDERS AND SAID THEY COULDN'T ANSWER.

THAT SHRUG OF FRENCH SHOULDERS IS ANOTHER REASON FOR THE CURRENT BLOODSHED.

FRANCE COULDN'T ANSWER HO CHIN MINH BECAUSE SHE HAD NO GOVERNMENT. IT IS TRUE THAT SHE HAD AN INTERIM REGIME AT THE TIME. BUT SHE HAD NO CONSTITUTION, NO LEGAL EXECUTIVE, LEGISLATIVE AND JUDICIAL SYSTEM, AND NO LEADERS WHO COULD TAKE THE RESPONSIBILITY FOR A DECISION SO IMPORTANT FOR THE WHOLE FUTURE OF THE EMPIRE.

HO CHIN MINH SAID IN AN INTERVIEW AT THAT TIME THAT HE UNDERSTOOD AND SYMPATHIZED WITH FRANCE'S DILEMMA AND WAS GOING BACK TO TRY TO PERSUADE EXTREMIST NATIVE LEADERS TO WAIT UNTIL HE COULD NEGOTIATE WITH A PERMANENT FRENCH GOVERNMENT.

THE NATIVES WERE TOO IMPATIENT, HOWEVER. HO CHIN MINH HAS BEEN BY-PASSED AND HIMSELF HAS HAD TO FLEE WITH PART OF HIS CABINET FROM BESIEGED HANOI.

AT STAKE FOR FRANCE IS A RICH TERRITORY SLIGHTLY LARGER THAN TEXAS, WITH A POPULATION OF 24,000,000, ONLY 42,000 OF THEM--BEFORE THE WAR--BEING EUROPEANS. TO FRANCE, INDOCHINA IS AN INDISPENSABLE SOURCE OF RICE, RUBBER, FISH, COAL, PEPPER, CATTLE AND HIDES, ZINC AND TIN.

INDOCHINA CONSISTS OF SIX STATES, TWO OF WHICH FORM THE VIET-NAM REPUBLIC--ANNAM AND TONKIN. THE OTHERS ARE COCHIN-CHINA, CAMBODIA, LAOS AND ANGCHOW. CHINA IS ALONG THE NORTHERN FRONTIER, SIAM ON THE WEST, AND THE SOUTH CHINA SEA ON THE EAST AND SOUTH.

THE TERRITORY WAS OVERRUN BY THE JAPANESE, WHO IN 1941 CONCLUDED AN "ARMED PROTECTION" PACT WITH THE VICHY GOVERNMENT WHICH HAS SINCE BEEN SCRAPPED BUT IS STILL ANOTHER FACTOR IN FRANCE'S LOSS OF PRESTIGE WITH THE NATIVES.

A124

FRANCE'S GREATEST NEED IS FOR TIME. BY HER NEW CONSTITUTION, WHICH WENT INTO EFFECT DEC.24, SHE IS COMMITTED TO SCRAPPING HER PRE-WAR COLONIAL POLICY OF EXPLOITATION.

"FAITHFUL TO HER TRADITIONAL MISSION, FRANCE INTENDS TO CONDUCT THE PEOPLES, WHOSE CHARGE SHE HAS TAKEN, TO THE FREEDOM OF ADMINISTERING THEMSELVES AND DEMOCRATICALLY DIRECTING THEIR OWN AFFAIRS, RULING OUT ANY ARBITRARY COLONIAL SYSTEM," READS THE CHARTER.

THE CONSTITUTION ALSO PROVIDES FOR A LEGISLATURE KNOWN AS THE "ASSEMBLY OF THE FRENCH UNION" MADE UP OF DELEGATES FROM THE COLONIES, AND A "HIGH COUNCIL OF THE FRENCH UNION" WHOSE FUNCTION WILL BE "TO ASSIST THE GOVERNMENT IN THE GENERAL CONDUCT OF THE UNION."

PERHAPS BECAUSE HO CHIN MINH SPENT SEVEN YEARS IN MOSCOW MANY FRENCHMEN OPENLY ACCUSE THE RUSSIANS OF STIRRING UP INDOCHINA IN THE HOPE OF EVENTUALLY SETTING UP A SATELLITE NATION THERE. HO CHIN MINH DENIES HE IS ANY LONGER A COMMUNIST.

FRANCE'S ENVISAGED NEW DEAL FOR THE COLONIES IS ONE OF GRADUAL STEPS, WHICH THE INTERIM GOVERNMENT IN 1945 FORESAW "MAY PERHAPS DISAPPOINT CERTAIN YOUNG AND IMPATIENT EXPONENTS OF NATIONALISM WHO BELIEVE THAT THE ONLY WAY TO PROGRESS IS THROUGH COMPLETE AND IMMEDIATE CHANGE."

FRANCE PROPOSES, FOR EXAMPLE, TO CREATE AN INDOCHINESE FEDERATION, IN WHICH THE INHABITANTS WOULD HAVE DUAL NATIONALITY.

THEY WOULD BE INDOCHINESE CITIZENS AND CITIZENS OF THE UNION. EACH STATE WOULD HAVE ITS OWN CONSTITUTION AND RETAIN ITS CUSTOMS AND TRADITIONS.

"IN OTHER WORDS, THE EXISTING MONARCHIES AND THE MANDARINS' ADMINISTRATION WILL NOT BE ABOLISHED BUT WILL BE ADAPTED IN SUCH A WAY AS TO ALLOW EVERY CITIZEN TO EXERCISE DEMOCRATIC LIBERTIES."

THE INDO-CHINESE FEDERATION WOULD EVEN HAVE ITS OWN LAND, SEA AND AIR FORCES, BUT THEY WOULD BE DIRECTED BY THE FRENCH HIGH COMMAND. AND FRANCE DOES NOT WANT TO GO SO FAR AS TO LET EACH STATE HAVE SEPARATE DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH THE REST OF THE WORLD.

PRECEDE LONDON SPELLMAN

BY EDDY GILMORE DAY

MOSCOW, DEC. 24-(AP)-SOVIET PUBLICATIONS ATTACKED FOUR PROMINENT AMERICANS IN ARTICLES TODAY.

COLUMNIST R.MORAN DECLARED IN THE GOVERNMENT NEWSPAPER IZVESTIA THAT FRANCIS CARDINAL SPELLMAN, ARCHBISHOP OF NEW YORK, WAS CARRYING ON AN "ANTI-SOVIET CRUSADE."

HE SAID CARDINAL SPELLMAN WAS KNOWN FOR HIS "VIOLENT HATRED FOR EVERYTHING PROGRESSIVE, IN THE FIRST INSTANCE FOR THE SOVIET UNION." HE CITED A COSMOPOLITAN MAGAZINE ARTICLE BY THE CARDINAL WHICH HE SAID VOICED AN APPEAL TO SAVE "THE CROSS OF CIVILIZATION," ENDANGERED BY SOVIET POLICIES IN EUROPE.

THE BI-WEEKLY POLITICAL JOURNAL BOLSHEVIK STRUCK AT SECRETARY OF COMMERCE W.AVERELL HARRIMAN, FORMER U.S. AMBASSADOR TO MOSCOW; SUMNER WELLES, FORMER UNDERSECRETARY OF STATE; AND ADM. WILLIAM F. HALSEY, WARTIME COMMANDER OF THE U.S. THIRD FLEET.

HARRIMAN AND WELLES WERE ACCUSED OF LENDING THEIR INFLUENCE TO WHAT BOLSHEVIK CALLED A CAMPAIGN IN THE AMERICAN PRESS TO "PROCESS THE AMERICAN PUBLIC IN ANTI-SOVIET SPIRIT."

BOTH WERE CALLED PERSONS WHOM "REACTIONARY IMPERIALIST FORCES WITH SPECIAL READINESS ARE EXPLOITING FOR THEIR OWN ENDS AND PERSONS, WHO DURING THE WAR DID NOT GET AROUND TO COMPROMISING THEMSELVES WITH UTTERANCES HOSTILE TO THE SOVIET UNION, BUT WHO NOW SUPPORT THE SLOGAN: 'FIRM POLICY.'"

HALSEY WAS CALLED A "CONTEMPORARY AMERICAN IMPERIALIST" 1946 BECAUSE HE SAID THE UNITED STATES NAVY WOULD GO WHEREVER IT PLEASED. THE ADMIRAL'S ADVOCACY OF FREEDOM OF THE SEAS WAS INTERPRETED BY BOLSHEVIK AS A DEMAND FOR "AMERICAN MILITARY CONTROL OVER ALL SEAS AND OCEANS."

THE REFERENCE TO HARRIMAN WAS THE FIRST CRITICAL MENTION SINCE THE AMBASSADOR LEFT TO BECOME A CABINET MEMBER. HIS REPUTATION HERE WAS THAT OF A FRIEND OF THE SOVIET UNION.

MOSCOW, DEC. 24-(AP)-A SWEEPING REORGANIZATION OF THE SOVIET UNION'S ECONOMIC PLANNING SYSTEM, WITH INCREASED EMPHASIS ON VERIFYING THE DEGREE TO WHICH PLANS ARE CARRIED OUT IN PRACTICE, HAS BEEN DECREED BY THE RUSSIAN GOVERNMENT.

THE NEW SYSTEM WILL GIVE INDIVIDUAL MINISTRIES MORE POWER IN PLANNING AND ALSO INVOLVES A SPECIAL NEW PLANNING ORGAN FOR SCIENCE, ACCORDING TO AN OUTLINE PUBLISHED YESTERDAY IN THE JOURNAL OF PLANNED ECONOMY.

THE DECREE RELAXES THE STRICT CENTRALIZATION OF PLANNING ACTIVITY WHICH PREVAILED DURING THE WAR AND PERMITS MINISTRIES TO SUBMIT THEIR ECONOMIC PLANS TO THE GOVERNMENT ANNUALLY INSTEAD OF QUARTERLY AND GIVES THEM AUTHORITY TO MODIFY PRODUCTION ASSIGNMENTS WITHIN LIMITS, AS INDICATED BY CIRCUMSTANCES.

A FAR-REACHING ATTEMPT TO PLAN SCIENTIFIC PROGRESS WAS SEEN IN THAT PART OF THE DECREE WHICH CREATED A DEPARTMENT CHARGED WITH DRAFTING A "GENUINELY SCIENTIFIC STATE TECHNICAL PLAN EMBRACING ALL THE MOST IMPORTANT SPHERES OF SCIENCE TECHNICS."

THE GOSPLAN(STATE PLANNING COMMISSION UNDER NIKOLAI ALEXANDROVICH VOZNESENSKY) IS REORGANIZED UNDER THE DECREE, WHICH ESTABLISHED OVERALL COORDINATING DEPARTMENTS, INCLUDING A DEPARTMENT OF "ECONOMIC RELATIONS PROPORTIONS," CHARGED WITH ELIMINATING BOTTLENECKS IN INDUSTRY.

NIGHT LEAD BETHLEHEM

BY CARTER L.DAVIDSON

BETHLEHEM, WEDNESDAY, DEC 25-(AP)-APPROXIMATELY 30,000 PILGRIMS SAW CHRISTMAS DAY, 1946, USHERED INTO THIS TINY BIRTHPLACE OF CHRISTENDOM TODAY AT A PONTIFICAL MASS WHICH CLIMAXED THE MOST COLORFUL CHRISTMAS EVE IN THE MEMORY OF VETERAN BETHLEHEM AUTHORITIES.

THE DAY-LONG CEREMONIES ENDED TWO AND A HALF HOURS AFTER MIDNIGHT WITH THE TRADITIONAL RE-ENACTMENT OF CHRIST'S BIRTH IN THE LOW-CEILINGED AND INCENSE-FILLED GROTTO AT THE SPOT WHERE THE EVENT OCCURRED.

A SMALL WAX FIGURE SYMBOLIZING THE CHRIST CHILD WAS PLACED IN A MARBLE REPLICA OF THE MANGER IN A CEREMONY CONDUCTED BY LATIN PATRIARCH LOUIS BARLASSINA.

WITNESSING THE RE-ENACTMENT OF THE MIRACLE BIRTH WERE HIGH GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS AND A FRACTION OF THE HUGE CROWD OF WORSHIPPERS WHO JAMMED THE NATIVITY TOWN DURING THE DAY.

ONLY ONE UNTOWARD INCIDENT MARRED THE PROCEEDINGS, DESPITE THE STRIFE AND VIOLENCE THAT HAS TORN THE HOLY LAND FOR MONTHS. THAT WAS AN ACCIDENT. A BRITISH ARMY TRUCK LEFT THE ROAD NEAR BETHLEHEM, CUTTING A POWER LINE AND PLUNGING THE ANCIENT CHURCH OF THE NATIVITY INTO DARKNESS FOR HALF AN HOUR.

EARLY IN THE DAY GREAT CROWDS BEGAN TO ASSEMBLE IN THE BRIGHT SUNLIGHT. DESPITE THE STRIFE WHICH HAS SCOURGED THE HOLY LAND IN RECENT MONTHS, A FESTIVE AIR PERVADED THE LITTLE TOWN.

ELSEWHERE IN PALESTINE THERE WERE REMINDERS OF THAT STRIFETM IN JERUSALEM A FEW CHRISTIAN ARABS IN A PREMATURE HOLIDAY CELEBRATION FIRED SHOTS IN THE AIR. GUARDS, ALERT FOR NEW DISORDERS, WENT INTO ACTION INSTANTLY, AND FOR AN HOUR THIS CHRISTMAS EVE THE HOLY CITY BRISTLED WITH BREN GUNS AND ARMORED CARS.

IN THE JEWISH CITY OF TEL AVIV, THE BULLET-RIDDLED BODY OF A YOUNG JEW WAS FOUND. UNOFFICIAL SOURCES SAID HE WAS THE VICTIM OF AN ABDUCTION BY A FANATICAL UNDERGROUND ORGANIZATION.

POLICE WERE ON DUTY ALONG THE BETHLEHEM ROAD, TOO, TO COPE WITH SURGING CROWDS AND SOME 6,000 VEHICLES HEADING TOWARD THE SCENE OF THE NATIVITY. AMONG THE VAST THRONGS IN BETHLEHEM'S MANGER SQUARE WERE SOME 14,000 MORE SOLDIERS AND POLICE.

THE TRADITIONAL SERVICES BEGAN SHORTLY AFTER NOON IN THE OLD CHURCH, WHEN THE REV. LOUIS BARLASSINA, 75-YEAR-OLD ROMAN CATHOLIC PATRIARCH, LED A PROCESSION FROM THE OLD CITY OF JERUSALEM TO BETHLEHEM.

THE PATRIARCH, WHO HAS BEEN HEAD OF THE LATIN CLERGY IN THE HOLY LAND FOR THE PAST 28 YEARS, LED THE PROCESSION FROM JERUSALEM'S HISTORIC JAFFA GATE, SITE OF THE THRONES OF SUCH MIGHTY MONARCHS AS SAUL, DAVID, SOLOMON AND HEROD.

ESCORTING HIS COLORFUL PROCESSION WERE FIVE BRILLIANTLY GARBED MOUNTED POLICE AT THE HEAD OF A LINE OF CARS BEARING CHURCH DIGNITARIES AND OFFICIALS OF THE PALESTINE GOVERNMENT.

THE PROCESSION PROCEEDD SLOWLY OVER THE WINDING ROAD BUILT BY THE ROMANS, AND HALTED BRIEFLY AT MOUNT ELIAS MONASTERY IN THE BLUE JUDEAN HILLS, TO GREET CHRISTIAN AND ARAB NOTABLES OF THE TINY VILLAGE OF VEIT JALS. THERE, TRADITION SAYS, KING SAUL WAS BORN.

THE PARADE NEXT PAUSED AT RACHEL'S TOMB, WHERE LIE THE REMAINS OF JACOB'S WIFE.

THOUSANDS OF PILGRIMS--DEVOUT AND CURIOUS ALIKE--JAMMED BETHLEHEM'S MANGER SQUARE AS THE PATRIARCH WAS MET BY ISSA BANDAK, MAYOR OF BETHLEHEM, AND OTHER DIGNITARIES.

THE PATRIARCH WAS ROBED IN FUCHSIA AND ERMINE AND WORE A MAGNIFICENT CROSS AND CHAIN OF GOLD AND RUBIES. WITH HIM WERE OTHER HIGH CHURCHMEN GARBED IN MAUVE, PURPLE AND WHITE; ACOLYTES IN WHITE LACE; CHOIR BOYS IN RED CASSOCKS AND WHITE SURPLICES. LOOKING ON IN THE VANGUARD OF THE THRONG WERE COWLED BENEDICTINE AND FRANCISCAN MONKS.

POLICE FIRMLY HELD THE THRONGS BACK FROM THE AISLE LEADING TO THE ANCIENT CHURCH'S "EYE OF THE NEEDLE" DOOR--THE DOOR WHICH IS LOWERED TO ABOUT FOUR FEET TO PREVENT CAMELS FROM STRAYING INSIDE.

THE PATRIARCH BLESSED HIS CENSERS AND OTHER ALTAR ACCOUTREMENTS AND PREPARED FOR A SERVICE F VESPERS, SOLEMN MATINS AT 10:30 P.M., AND A HIGH PONTIFICAL MIDNIGHT MASS. IN THE MANGER GROTTO, MEANWHILE, CONSTANT PRAYERS WERE SAID IN THE GROTTO DURING THE EIGHT HOURS BEFORE MIDNIGHT.

DAIREN INCIDENT

BY SPENCER MOOSA

1946

SHANGHAI, DEC 24 (AP)-A STRONG BUT CAUTIOUSLY REPRESSED RESENTMENT PREVAILS AMONG CHINESE OVER RUSSIAN MILITARY CONTROL OF THE BIG MANCHURIAN PORT OF DAIREN, SO COMPLETE THAT AN AMERICAN NAVY SHIP WAS REPORTED ORDERED OUT ON 20 MINUTES NOTICE FRIDAY.

THERE IS A GENERAL FEELING AMONG THE CHINESE THE SINO-SOVIET TREATY, DEALING WITH DAIREN, WAS FORCED UPON CHINA IN 1945 AT A TIME WHEN THE ALLIES SEEMED CONVINCED JAPAN MIGHT FIGHT TWO YEARS MORE ON THE ASIATIC MAINLAND, THUS ENVISIONING AN AMERICAN INVASION AND THE NEED OF RUSSIAN HELP.

(IN A DELAYED DISPATCH SENT FRIDAY FROM THE WITHDRAWING AMERICAN SHIP OFF DAIREN, WILLIAM H.NEWTON, SCRIPPS HOWARD REPORTER, REPORTED ASCERTAINING FROM UNDISCLOSED SOURCES THAT RUSSIA INTENDED USING A TECHNICAL DEFINITION IN THAT TREATY TO STAY ON AT DAIREN UNTIL AFTER THE PEACE TREATY IS SIGNED WITH JAPAN.

(NEWTON, REPRESENTING THE COMBINED AMERICAN PRESS, SAID ONE CLAUSE PROVIDES THAT DAIREN SHALL BECOME EXEMPT FROM MILITARY CONTROL "IN PEACETIME" BUT THE RUSSIANS TAKE THE POSITION THAT RUSSIA AND CHINA REMAIN AT WAR WITH JAPAN UNTIL A PEACE TREATY IS SIGNED.)

THE CHINESE OBVIOUSLY WOULD LIKE TO SEE PROVISIONS OF THE TREATY SCRAPPED BUT NO ONE IN AUTHORITY WILL BE QUOTED ON THE SUBJECT FOR FEAR OF STRAINING SINO-SOVIET RELATIONS.

IN NANKING, THE NEWS THAT THE AMERICAN VESSEL, LC-3 1090, WHICH WAS ON A ROUTINE COURIER MISSION, HAD BEEN ORDERED OUT, ELICTED NO OFFICIAL SURPRISE BECAUSE CHINESE NAVAL VESSELS HAVE BEEN UNABLE EVEN TO ENTER THAT PORT. CHINESE POINTED OUT THIS DISBARMENT PERSISTS DESPITE THE FACT THE 16-MONTHS OLD TREATY PROVIDES DAIREN SHALL BE JOINTLY ADMINISTERED BY CHINESE AND RUSSIAN AUTHORITIES.

FOR SOME TIME NOW, SOLDIERS OF THE CHINESE NATIONALIST GOVERNMENT HAVE BEEN HALTED WITHIN A 15-MILE RADIUS OF DAIREN AFTER PUSHING TO THAT POINT AGAINST CHINESE COMMUNIST RESISTANCE. WHEN THE GOVERNMENT TROOPS REACHED THOSE POINTS, REPORTS BECAME CURRENT THEY WERE PREPARED TO ENTER AFTER PRELIMINARY NEGOTIATIONS.

(IN HIS DAIREN DISPATCH, NEWTON SAID THE RUSSIANS AGREED TO THE ORIGINAL REQUEST FOR A 48-HOUR STAY BUT WHEN THE SHIP REMAINED TWO ADDITIONAL HOURS WHILE THE U.S. CONSUL GENERAL SOUGHT PERMISSION FOR AN AMERICAN BUSINESSMAN TO GO ASHORE THE SOVIET ULTIMATUM WAS THE ANSWER. NEWTON AND PHOTOGRAPHER MARK KAUFFMAN, ALSO FAILED TO LAND. IN WASHINGTON, A STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIAL SAID THE RUSSIANS ACTED WITHIN THEIR LEGAL RIGHTS IN REFUSING THE THREE MEN ADMISSION.

(NEWTON SAID, HOWEVER, HE ASCERTAINED FROM NEUTRAL AND CHINESE SOURCES THAT DAIREN, UNDER COMPLETE RUSSIAN MILITARY CONTROL, WAS A DISMAL CITY. HE WAS INFORMED THAT ONLY THREE BUILDINGS IN THE CITY ARE HEATED; PRICES ARE WILDLY INFLATED; THERE IS NO FREE PRESS; THE ONLY OBSERVABLE TRANSPORT THE SOVIET ARMY HAS IS AMERICAN LEND-LEASE MATERIAL; AND EVERY MOVE THE RUSSIANS MAKE MUST BE CLEARED FIRST WITH THE KREMLIN.)

DAIREN

NANKING, DEC. 24-(AP)-OFFICIAL CHINESE SOURCES TODAY SAID THEY WERE NOT SURPRISED THAT THE RUSSIAN COMMANDER OF SOVIET-CONTROLLED DAIREN HAD SUMMARILY ORDERED A U.S. NAVAL VESSEL TO LEAVE THAT PORT.

THEY EXPLAINED THAT EVEN CHINESE NAVAL VESSELS ARE NOT ABLE TO ENTER DAIREN ALTHOUGH THE 16-MONTH OLD SINO-SOVIET TREATY PROVIDES THAT DAIREN SHALL BE AN OPEN PORT, JOINTLY ADMINISTERED BY CHINESE AND RUSSIAN AUTHORITIES.

THE OFFICIAL GOVERNMENT SPOKESMAN, FOLLOWED THE CHINESE POLICY OF DECLINING TO COMMENT ON RUSSIAN AFFAIRS AFFECTING CHINA.

THE U.S. NAVY'S LCI-(L) 1090, ON A ROUTINE COURIER MISSION TO DAIREN WAS ORDERED BY THE RUSSIAN MILITARY COMMANDER TO DEPART FRIDAY WITHIN 20 MINUTES "OR WE WILL NOT BE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE CONSEQUENCES," REPORTED WILLIAM H.NEWTON, SCRIPPS HOWARD CORRESPONDENT CHOSEN BY LOT TO REPRESENT THE WORLD PRESS.

NEWTON, LIFE MAGAZINE PHOTOGRAPHER MARK KAUFFMAN, ALSO CHOSEN BY LOT, AND AN AMERICAN BUSINESSMAN WERE DENIED PERMISSION TO VISIT DAIREN ALTHOUGH THEY HAD FULL CREDENTIALS. THEY WERE PASSENGERS ON THE NAVY LANDING CRAFT.

THE RUSSIANS HAVE CONTROLLED DAIREN SINCE WAR'S END.

(IN TOKYO, THE RUSSIANS NOTIFIED GENERAL MACARTHUR THEY ARE READY TO REPATRIATE 32,000 JAPANESE FROM SOVIET ZONES BY JAN. 1, INCLUDING 6,000 FROM DAIREN. THE JAPANESE WOULD BE LOADED ONTO RUSSIAN SHIPS. THE RUSSIANS SAID 54,000 MORE JAPANESE WOULD BE AVAILABLE FOR REPATRIATION FROM DAIREN IN JANUARY.)

SINGAPORE, DEC 24-(AP)-DETAILS OF A PROPOSED "FEDERATION OF MALAYA" TO UNITE POLITICALLY THE NATIVE STATES AND BRITISH COLONIES WHICH COMPRISE THE PRESENT MALAYAN UNION, HAVE BEEN RELEASED BY THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT.

THE PLAN RESERVES FOR THE BRITISH CONTROL OF THE DEFENSE AND EXTERNAL AFFAIRS OF THE STRATEGIC AREA ON THE SOUTHERN HALF OF THE RUBBER-PRODUCING MALAY PENINSULA.

CONSTITUTIONAL PROPOSALS FOR THE FEDERATION WERE PREPARED BY A 12-MAN WORKING COMMITTEE REPRESENTING THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT, THE SULTANS AND THE UNITED MALAYS NATIONAL ORGANIZATION. THE PLANS ENVISAGE THE CREATION OF A CENTRAL GOVERNMENT UNDER A CROWN-APPOINTED HIGH COMMISSIONER; EXTENSION OF CITIZENSHIP IN THE FEDERATION TO MOST RESIDENTS; CREATION OF LEGISLATIVE EXECUTIVE COUNCILS FOR THE FEDERATION OF NINE MALAY STATES AND SETTLEMENTS OF PENANG AND MALACCA; AND STATE GOVERNMENTS ACTING ON THE ADVICE OF A BRITISH RESIDENT OFFICER.

THE PLAN HAS BEEN APPROVED BY THE SULTANS AND THE BRITISH CABINET AND NOW WILL BE SUBMITTED FOR THE APPROVAL OF INDIAN, CHINESE AND RACIAL GROUPS. ON THE OTHER HAND, THE NEWLY FORMED PAN-MALAYAN COUNCIL OF JOINT ACTION, REPRESENTING 15 CHINESE AND INDIAN TRADE ASSOCIATIONS, HAS ALREADY SIGNIFIED OPPOSITION TO THE PROPOSAL ON THE GROUND THAT IT WAS WORKED OUT IN SECRET SESSION, WITHOUT PRIOR CONSULTATION WITH THE MALAYAN PEOPLE.

THE PROPOSALS MAKE NO MENTION OF SINGAPORE, WHICH APPARENTLY REMAINS A SEPARATE CROWN COLONY.

TOKYO, DEC.24 (AP)-JAPANESE MURDERED PRISONERS OF WAR UNDER SPECIAL ORDERS FROM TOKYO, THE DUTCH PROSECUTOR TOLD THE INTERNATIONAL WAR CRIMES TRIBUNAL TODAY.

"THESE WERE NOT EMOTIONAL EXCESSES OF REVENGE, PERPETRATED BY COMMON SOLDIERS WIMOSE MENTAL BALANCE HAD BEEN SWEPT AWAY. THEY WERE PREMEDITATED ACTS COMMITTED IN ACCORDA CE WITH SPECIAL ORDERS," DECLARED LT.COL.J.S.S.DAMSTE, THE PROSECUTOR.

DAMSTE QUOTED THE BRITISH COMMANDER IN JAVA, J.D.S.SITWELL, AS STATING HE OBTAINED THE SPECIFIC PROMISE OF THE JAPANESE THAT THEY WOULD ABIDE BY THE GENEVA CONVENTION, BUT LATER WAS TOLD "THE JAPANESE WILL APPLY THE RULES OF THE CONVENTION ONLY SO FAR AS IT SUITS US TO DO SO."

THE PROSECUTOR SAID THE CONSTANT RESHUFFLING OF ALLIED PRISONERS TO VARIOUS AREAS ADDED TO THE SUFFERING.

"FOR EXAMPLE," HE SAID, "OF THE DUTCH PRISONERS ALONE, ABOUT 14,000 WERE SENT TO THE BURMA-SIAM RAILROAD, 7,800 TO JAPAN, 1,000 TO AMBOINA ISLAND IN THE BANDA SEAS OF MALACCA STRAITS, AND 2,000 TO FLORES ISLAND SOUTH OF CELEBES."

DAMSTE SAID BOYS OF 13 WERE CONSIDERED ADULTS AND SENT TO PRISON CAMPS WHERE THEY WERE SUBJECTED TO HARSH PUNISHMENT.

"THERE WAS NO DISCRIMINATION IN RACE OR SEX," HE DECLARED. "THE JAPANESE PRONOUNCED DEATH ON THE SPOT."

HE SAID ONE DUTCH MAJOR TOLD HIM OF SEEING 239 PERSONS EXECUTED IN STRICT SECRECY "TO SETTLE THE CASE, WHATEVER IT WAS, RIGHT ON THE SPOT."

YOKOHAMA,DEC.24-(AP)-TWO U.S. SOLDIERS WERE SENTENCED TO LIFE IMPRISONMENT AT HARD LABOR UPON CONVICTION BY A COURTMARTIAL OF RAPE AND A THIRD WAS SENTENCED TO 10 YEARS AT HARD LABOR FOR MANSLAUGHTER OF A JAPANESE WOMAN.

PFC.LARRY GALLAGI, STAFFORD,CONN., AND PFC.RAYMOND G.RARAJAS, MIAMI,ARIZ., WERE "CONVICTED OF ACTING TOGETHER IN THE RAPE OF A JAPANESE WOMAN," SAID U.S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS.

PFC.ROBERT O.HENDRIX, ESTILL,S.C., WAS CONVICTED OF MANSLAUGHTER. HE ORIGINALLY WAS CHARGED WITH MURDER. WITNESSES SAID HE WAS SEEN WITH A JAPANESE WOMAN THE EVENING OF OCT.20. HER BODY WAS FOUND IN A TOKYO BUILDING NEXT MORNING. KEYS FOUND NEAR HER BODY FITTED HENDRIX' LOCKERS AND BLOODSTAINS ON HIS CLOTHES WERE OF THE SAME TYPE AS THE WOMAN'S, WITNESSES TESTIFIED.

HENDRIX SAID HE QUARRELED WITH THE WOMAN BUT DID NOT KILL HER.

ALL THREE SENTENCES WERE SUBJECT TO REVIEW.

AS THOUSANDS DONNED THEIR FINEST DRESS TO GATHER IN BOMB-GUTTED CATHEDRALS AND GIVE THANKS FOR PEACE AND FREEDOM, EDITOR DAVE BOGUSLAV OF THE MANILA TIMES WROTE OF 1941:

"WE WERE BOUND TO HAVE SOME SORT OF CHRISTMAS EVE CELEBRATION THAT EVENING, BECAUSE, AFTER ALL, IT WAS CHRISTMAS EVE. MACARTHUR, QUEZON, ROMULO AND THE REST HAD GONE TO CORREGIDOR. THERE WAS NOTHING TO PUT IN THE PAPER BUT FRAGMENTARY SCRAPS THAT RAY CRONIN OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS COULD SCRAPE TOGETHER FROM MESSAGES THAT GREW LEANER AND LEANER, AND THAT BOB CRABB MONITORED OUT OF THE AIR FOR UNITED PRESS.

"THAT WAS OUR NEWS, THEN, SO WE WALKED OUT OF OUR OFFICE, AND MADE OUR WAY THROUGH THE DARKENED CITY TO THE MANILA HOTEL TO CELEBRATE THE EVE."

THERE ARE NO SQUARE-WINGED PLANE FORMATIONS OVER MANILA THIS CHRISTMAS DAY OF 1946. MANILA IS ON ITS WAY BACK--AND STRUGGLING BACK, WITH IT, IS THIS STILL-RAVAGED LAND OF 18,000,000, DETERMINED TO MAKE THEIR INDEPENDENT, DEMOCRATIC WAY AS A FREE AND PEACEFUL NATION.

WASHINGTON, DEC 24-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES IS INQUIRING INTO A FRENCH ACTION SENDING 1,200 MEN INTO THE SAAR REGION OF GERMANY TO SET UP CUSTOMS CONTROLS BETWEEN THAT AREA AND THE REST OF GERMANY, LINCOLN WHITE, STATE DEPARTMENT PRESS OFFICER, SAID TODAY.

WHITE SAID THE WHOLE QUESTION OF THE SAAR AND THE FRENCH ACTION WILL BE EXAMINED BEFORE ANY INSTRUCTIONS ON THE MATTER GO TO LT.GEN. LUCIUS D.CLAY, AMERICAN DEPUTY MILITARY GOVERNOR IN GERMANY.

DISPATCHES FROM BERLIN YESTERDAY DESCRIBED CLAY AS DISSATISFIED WITH THE FRENCH MOVE ON THE GROUND THAT IT WAS TAKEN WITHOUT CONSIDERATION BY THE ALLIED CONTROL COUNCIL IN BERLIN.

WHITE, INDICATING THAT THE FINAL AMERICAN ATTITUDE MIGHT NOT BE UNFAVORABLE, SAID THAT AT THE FOREIGN MINISTERS MEETINGS IN BOTH PARIS AND NEW YORK THE MATTER OF FRENCH ADMINISTRATION IN THE SAAR WAS RAISED BY DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTER COUVE DE MUREVILLE AND NO OBJECTION HAD BEEN RAISED BY SECRETARY OF STATE BYRNES, BRITISH FOREIGN MINISTER BEVIN OR SOVIET FOREIGN MINISTER MOLOTOV. NEW YORK, DEC. 24-(AP)-SYNGMAN RHEE, CHAIRMAN OF THE KOREAN REPRESENTATIVE COUNCIL, SAID TODAY THAT "A HANDFUL OF COMMUNIST ADHERENTS ARE TRYING TO DESTROY THE UNITY OF KOREA BY OBSTRUCTIVE TACTICS IN ORDER TO INVITE FOREIGN INTERFERENCE IN ITS AFFAIRS."

RHEE SAID IN AN INTERVIEW THAT LESS U.S. MILITARY GOVERNMENT INTERFERENCE IN INTERNAL AFFAIRS AND A CRYSTALLIZATION OF AMERICAN STATE DEPARTMENT POLICY WERE ESSENTIAL TO "SAVE KOREA FOR DEMOCRACY."

RHEE, FORMER PRESIDENT OF THE PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT OF KOREA IN EXILE, ARRIVED IN THIS COUNTRY RECENTLY, HE SAID, TO OBTAIN "AMERICAN SUPPORT FOR A SETTLEMENT OF THE KOREAN INDEPENDENCE QUESTION."

THE KOREANS, HE DECLARED, ARE "GETTING RESTLESS. THEIR PATIENCE HAS BEEN WORN OUT."

"FIRST REQUISITE TO SAVE SOUTHERN KOREA FOR DEMOCRACY IS A CRYSTALLIZED U.S. STATE DEPARTMENT POLICY TOWARD THE COUNTRY," RHEE SAID. "THEN, IF THE MILITARY GOVERNMENT WOULD ONLY LET THE KOREANS SETTLE THEIR INTERNAL AFFAIRS ALONE, THERE WOULD BE NO TERRORISM, NO DISSENSION, NO DISORDER."

BUT, HE ADDED, THE MILITARY GOVERNMENT "HAS INSISTED THAT IN ORDER TO SET UP ANY GOVERNMENT SOME COMMUNISTS MUST BE IN IT, AND THAT IS WHAT HAS CAUSED DIFFICULTIES."

THE KOREANS, HE SAID, "DO NOT WANT TO SURRENDER THE WILL OF 18,000,000 PEOPLE IN SOUTHERN KOREA TO THE TERRORISTIC ACTIVITY OF 20,000 NON-PATRIOTIC FOLLOWERS OF COMMUNISM.

"EVEN NORTHERN KOREA HAS NOT BEEN COMMUNIZED UNDER RUSSIAN OCCUPATION. WHEN I WENT TO SOUTHERN KOREA IN OCTOBER, 1945, THE COMMUNISTS SAID THEY HAD 2,000 ADHERENTS THERE; THEY NOW CLAIM 20,000."

(NY) IN GREAT CATHEDRALS AND TINY HOMES, IN SONG, STORY AND PAGEANT THE PEOPLE OF MANY NATIONS CELEBRATED CHRISTMAS EVE AND LOOKED BEYOND THE PROBLEMS OF OUR TIMES TO THE HOPE AND UNIVERSAL MESSAGE IN THE NATIVITY OF THE PRINCE OF PEACE.

IT WAS THE SECOND PEACETIME CHRISTMAS EVE SINCE THE END OF WORLD WAR II. HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS OF ALLIES WHO HAD STORMED BEACHES AND MARCHED THROUGH MUD AND COLD TOGETHER WERE HOME.

BUT EVEN AS JOYOUS CHRISTMAS CAROLS SOUNDED IN AMERICA AND GOOD LITTLE CHILDREN AWAITED THE PROMISED GIFTS OF SANTA CLAUS, FIGHTING WAS UNDERWAY IN TWO PARTS OF THE FAR EAST.

REPORTS OF BITTER STRIFE BETWEEN FRENCH AND NATIVES CAME FROM TONKIN PROVINCE IN NORTHERN INDOCHINA. IN CHINA, GOVERNMENT FORCES SAID COMMUNISTS HAD STEPPED UP THEIR ATTACKS IN THE PAOTING AND TINGHSIEN AREAS OF CENTRAL HOPEH PROVINCE.

FROM VATICAN CITY A CALL FOR A JUST, EARLY AND DEFINITIVE PEACE CAME FROM POPE PIUS XII. HE ADDRESSED RESIDENT MEMBERS OF THE COLLEGE OF CARDINALS AND SAID THAT IF THE NATIONS FAILED IN THEIR PEACE-MAKING THE "CONSTANT AGITATION", THE "DISILLUSIONMENT AND DISCONTENT" COMING TO THE PEOPLE OF EUROPE IN THE AFTERMATH OF WAR MIGHT BRING "THE FLAMES OF NEW CONFLICTS."

BETHLEHEM, WHERE THE CHRIST CHILD WAS BORN 1,946 YEARS AGO, 1946 GREETED THE CHRISTMAS SEASON WITH TRADITIONAL CEREMONY. FROM HISTORIC JAFFA GATE IN JERUSALEM A LONG PROCESSION MADE ITS WAY TO THE LITTLE TOWN OF BETHLEHEM TO PAY HOMAGE.

ONE OF THE LARGEST THRONGS IN HISTORY WAS THERE, BUT THE HOLY LAND, SCENE OF MANY DISORDERS DURING THE PAST YEAR, WAS TRANQUIL.

ALTHOUGH THE GREAT BULK OF AMERICA'S WARTIME FIGHTING FORCES WERE HOME, THOSE STILL OVERSEAS AND THOSE STILL HOSPITALIZED WERE NOT FORGOTTEN. WHITE HOSPITAL CORRIDORS HAD THEIR CHRISTMAS TREES AND PRESENTS FOR THE WOUNDED.

FORCES OF OCCUPATIONS IN GERMANY WERE BUILDING APPETITES FOR A TYPICAL YULETIDE ARMY MENU, TURKEY AND THE TRIMMINGS AND OF COURSE, MINCE PIE.

U.S. FORCES IN GERMANY EVEN HAD A CHRISTMAS PRESENT FOR THE GERMANS: AMNESTY FOR 800,000 "LITTLE NAZIS" BY PROCLAMATION OF GEN. JOSEPH T. MCNARNEY.

AT HOME SANTA CLAUS FACED THE PROBLEM OF GETTING AROUND IN HIS SLED WITH LITTLE SNOW FOR HELP. THE WEATHERMAN PREDICTED A SUNNY CHRISTMAS DAY WITH SNOW ON THE GROUND ONLY IN THE MOUNTAINS OF THE FAR WEST AND IN MAINE.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN LIGHTED THE NATIONAL CHRISTMAS TREE ON THE WHITE HOUSE LAWN AND SPOKE TO THE NATION BRIEFLY BY RADIO WITH A MESSAGE OF HOPE FOR PERMANENT PEACE.

CHRISTMAS DAY WAS TO BE A HOLIDAY FOR THE STOCK AND COMMODITY MARKETS OF THE NATION.

PERHAPS OF ALL THE EAGER, HAPPY CHILDREN IN THE NATION LAST NIGHT THE HAPPIEST WERE THE NINE YOUNGSTERS OF FRANK ANDERS IN RANDALL, MINN., WHO WERE GRATEFUL BECAUSE THEY COULD WALK AGAIN.

ALL NINE WERE STRICKEN WITH INFANTILE PARALYSIS--THE ONLY CASE ON RECORD IN WHICH SO MANY MEMBERS OF A SINGLE FAMILY HAVE SUFFERED FROM THE DISEASE,
ACCORDING TO THE MARCH OF DIMES FUND FOR INFANTILE PARALYSIS.

THE ANDERS CHILDREN ARE RECOVERING. THEY GATHERED BENEATH THEIR TREE AND AGREED THIS WAS THE BEST CHRISTMAS OF ALL.

(NY) THE WORLD--EXCEPT FOR ISOLATED SECTIONS--WAS IN A FESTIVE MOOD TODAY, THE EVE OF THE SECOND CHRISTMAS SINCE THE END OF WORLD WAR II.

CHILDREN THE WORLD OVER ANXIOUSLY AWAITED THE COMING TONIGHT OF SANTA CLAUS--THE FAT, JOVIAL, WHITE-WHISKERED, MYTHICAL GENTLEMAN WHO DEPOSITS GIFTS UNDER THEIR CHRISTMAS TREES WHILE THEY SLEEP--IN A GESTURE SYMBOLIC OF THE GIFTS PRESENTED BY THE THREE WISE MEN TO THE INFANT CHRIST AT HIS BETHLEHEM BIRTHPLACE 1946 YEARS AGO.

BUT THE WEATHERMAN BROUGHT ONE DISAPPOINTMENT, PROMISING LITTLE IN THE WAY OF A WHITE CHRISTMAS. THE DAY WILL BE SUNNY FOR MOST OF THE UNITED STATES TOMORROW, THE WEATHER BUREAU SAID, AND ABOUT THE ONLY SNOW ON THE GROUND WAS IN THE FAR WESTERN MOUNTAINS AND IN MAINE.

BETHLEHEM GREETED ONE OF THE LARGEST THRONGS IN ITS HISTORY FOR THE CELEBRATION OF CHRISTENDOM'S JOYOUS FEAST AND THE TRADITIONAL PROCESSION FROM THE HISTORIC JAFFA GATE SITE IN JERUSALEM TO THE LITTLE TOWN OF THE NATIVITY. AN AIR OF FESTIVITY PREVAILED IN JERUSALEM AND THE POLITICAL SITUATION REMAINED CALM.

IN VATICAN CITY, POPE PIUS XII, ADDRESSING RESIDENT MEMBERS OF THE COLLEGE OF CARDINALS, CALLED FOR AN EARLY, JUST AND DEFINITIVE PEACE. HE DECLARED THAT OTHERWISE THE "CONSTANT AGITATION" OF EUROPE'S PEOPLES, THEIR "DISILLUSIONMENT AND DISCONTENT" OVER THE AR'S AFTERMA

PEOPLES, THEIR "DISILLUSIONMENT AND DISCONTENT" OVER THE WAR'S AFTERMATH MIGHT GIVE RISE TO A NEW CONFLICT.

A CHRISTMAS PRESENT OF AMNESTY IN THE AMERICAN ZONE OF OCCUPATION IN GERMANY WAS GIVEN APPROXIMATELY 800,000 "LITTLE NAZIS" BY PROCLAMATION OF GEN.JOSEPH T.MCNARNEY, U.S. COMMANDER. THE ACTION REDUCED FROM ABOUT 3,000,000 TO AROUND 2,000,000 THE NUMBER OF GERMANS IN THAT AREA LIABLE TO PROSECUTION UNDER DENAZIFICATION LAWS.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN, IN WASHINGTON, PLANNED TO DELIVER A CHRISTMAS GREETING TO THE NATION IN THE LATE AFTERNOON AT A TREE-LIGHTING CEREMONY AT THE WHITE HOUSE.

ALL STOCK MARKETS AND THE PRINCIPAL COMMODITY MARKETS IN THE NATION PLANNED TO CLOSE TOMORROW.

A FEW TROUBLE SPOTS STILL SAW CONFLICT ON THE EVE OF THE TRADITIONAL DAY OF PEACE.

STEADY FIGHTING WAS REPORTED FROM MOST MAJOR TOWNS IN TONKIN PROVINC IN NORTHERN INDOCHINA, AND CHINESE GOVERNMENT SOURCES REPORTED STEPPED-UP COMMUNIST ATTACKS IN THE PAOTING AND TINGHSIEN AREAS OF CENTRAL HOPEH PROVINCE.

THE POLICE OF BAKERSFIELD, CALIF., CAUGHT THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT. INSTEAD OF SUMMONSES TO TRAFFIC LAW VIOLATORS, THEY HANDED OUT RED AND GREEN CHRISTMAS CARDS BEARING A PICTURE OF SANTA CLAUS AND A REQUEST TO OBEY LOCAL ORDINANCE

NEW YORK, DEC. 24-(AP)-REP. JOSEPH CLARK BALDWIN (R-N.Y.) SAID TODAY ON HIS RETURN FROM A 10-DAY TOUR OF PALESTINE THAT HE WOULD SUBMIT A REPORT TO PRESIDENT TRUMAN ON THE PALESTINE SITUATION, BOTH IN WRITING AND IN PERSON.

BALDWIN, WHO LOST IN THE RACE FOR NOMINATION FOR REELECTION IN THE 17TH NEW YORK ELECTION DISTRICT, IS ADMINISTRATIVE CHAIRMAN OF THE POLITICAL ACTION COMMITTEE FOR PALESTINE.

HE DECLARED AT A NEWS CONFERENCE THAT THE UNITED STATES SHOULD TAKE PART NOT ONLY IN FORMAL CREATION OF A JEWISH STATE IN PALESTINE BUT ALO IN POLITICAL AND FINANCIAL ASPECTS OF THE GROWTH OF THE ENTIRE MIDDLE EAST.

HE SAID THAT THE JEWISH STATE SHOULD BE FOUNDED TO INCLUDE AMONG ITS CITIZENS THE HOMELESS JEWS OF EUROPE, WHETHER OR NOT THEY ACTUALLY MOVE TO PALESTINE.

COMMENTING ON RECENT VIOLENCE IN PALESTINE, BALDWIN SAID THAT MILITARY ACTION FOLLOWS FAILURE OF POLITICAL ACTION.

"I'M NOT IN FAVOR OF ANY VIOLENCE UNTIL POLITICAL ACTION HAS FAILED," HE ADDED. "THEN I'D PREFER TO SEE IT TAKE THE FORM OF MY ANCESTORS, WHICH WAS OPEN WARFARE."

King's Message To Britons Predicts Better Days Ahead

(N)

London, Dec. 25 (AP)—Heartened by King George's Christmas Day promise that "better days lie ahead," Britain celebrated her merriest Christmas in eight years today despite war-born shortages and dismal, murky weather.

While gales hammered at much of the British coast, temperatures soared unexpectedly over most of the war-battered Continent, where the warmer weather was greeted joyously by people who have been without fuel all winter.

Paris Forgets Worries

In Paris, the Christmas gayety almost resembled the lush brilliance of prewar years, and worries about the fighting in Indo-China and about the future of the new Fourth Republic were temporarily forgotten.

Most Frenchmen worshiped at chilly churches, and later in the day sat down to a glass or two of wine and a fairly abundant meal. The big restaurants along the Champs-Elysees had to turn away crowds, but prices soared to as high as 3,000 francs ($25).

Snow fell over the ruins of Berlin, where American troops gave Christmas parties and played Santa Claus for tens of thousands of German children. Under the new "friendship" policy, Germans and Americans attended church together and sang carols.

In the land where Christmas originated, approximately 30,000 pilgrims crowded into the little town of Bethlehem for the traditional re-enactment of the birth of Christ. Long lines of police, alert against any new outbreak of the strife, stood guard along the road from Jerusalem to Bethlehem.

King George VI, broadcasting his annual Christmas message to his subjects all over the world, said "our task is to mobilize the Christmas spirit and to apply its power and healing to our daily life."

The King said that the convalescence of the war-weary world could be "hastened by our continued endurance and good will."

"Can Show Way Again"

"We showed the way when the bombs were falling," he said. "By our discipline, our endurance, our patience we can show the way again.

"We have survived the greatest upheaval in human history. Our hard-won liberties and our democratic institutions are unimpaired. . . . We are celebrating Christmas as free men and in peace.

"Better days lie ahead. We must not concentrate too much on the difficulties of the present—they will pass. So let us rather think of the possibilities that the future may hold for us."

The King said that a divergence of opinion, "amid the dilemmas of a changing world," was a wholesome situation, since "opinion striking against opinion ignites the spark that can kindle the lamp of truth."

Appeal By Archbishop

The speech was broadcast into a golden microphone reserved for the King's annual Christmas message. He delivered the address alone in his study at the royal residence of Sandringham. Queen Elizabeth, Queen Mother Mary and the Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose listened to the sovereign's words coming from a loudspeaker.

King George and Queen Elizabeth worshiped in the little chapel on the estate at Sandringham, prior to Christmas dinner at the residence and the King's broadcast.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, in a special Christmas message distributed to the press, appealed for faith in the "message of Christmas"—peace and joy.

Extended To Prisoners

Some of Britain's holiday cheer extended to the thousands of German prisoners of war still in England. For the first time, Britons were permitted to invite the prisoners into their homes, so there were German Christmas carols around many a British Christmas tree.

Prisoners of war also were allowed outside their camp unescorted, for the first time. They could be seen, wearing the vestiges of military uniforms, walking London's almost deserted streets—looking at the fire-gutted buildings razed by Nazi bombers and rockets as recently as two years ago.

French newspapers carried the announcement of a Christmas present for 7,000 Saar-born German prisoners now in French hands. The statement said the 7,000 would be set free next month.

"Jet-Propelled Reindeer"

Fables of jet-propelled reindeer and tales of how Ben Chapman and the Philadelphia Athletics would win the 1947 baseball pennant kept 60 orphanage youngsters enthralled as Americans in Algiers played hosts at a Christmas party.

Col. Clarence J. Blake, of Kansas City, and his staff planned the party at which the youngsters were entertained by Chaplain and Mrs. William C. Allayaud, of Nemacolin, Pa. Chaplain Allayaud's tales of Santa Claus and his predictions on next year's World Series kept him surrounded by children crying, "Again the stories."

Archbishop Urges Faith

LONDON, Dec. 25 (AP)—The Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, appealed for faith in "the message of Christmas—peace and joy"—as Britain celebrated its happiest Christmastide since 1938.

"How can we speak of such things," the Archbishop asked in a special message, "in the face of the harshness of these times, the grim conditions, physical and moral in many parts of Europe and all that must oppress the mind and spirit of every man?

"Because Christmas tells us how peace and joy are to be found. Man cannot create them for himself. Christ came to give them, and man must be humble enough to receive them from Him.'"

The Primate's message was the keynote of services attended by thousands on a "green Christmas" in most of the country. The King and Queen worshiped in the little chapel at Sandringham.

In British homes, Argentine turkeys, red apples from Canada and citrus fruit from Palestine contributed to the most colorful—and tastiest—Christmas dinners in years. Whisky for toasts, a product for which Britain herself is justly famous, was the only serious shortage.

British Envoy To Spain Flies Back To London

London, Dec. 25 (AP)—Sir Victor Mallett, British Ambassador to Spain recalled in accordance with the United Nations' anti-Franco ruling, arrived by plane tonight from Madrid.

Mallett was the first diplomat of a United Nations member actually to be recalled following the General Assembly's decision to withdraw top envoys from Spain as a mark of disapproval of the Franco regime.

British Envoy Leaves Spain

MADRID, Dec. 25 (AP).—Sir Victor Mallet, British Ambassador to Spain, left for London today without comment. The Duke of Alba, former Spanish Ambassador to London, and the Foreign Ministry chief of protocol saw him off.

[British government sources said last week Sir Victor would leave in accordance with a United Nations resolution for the withdrawal of leading diplomats from Madrid.]

British-French Travel Regulations Are Eased

London, Dec. 25 (AP)—The Foreign Office announced today that after January 1 French citizens and British subjects will need no visas to travel to France and to the United Kingdom.

Valid passports, however will continue to be required.

A Foreign Office statement said that an agreement with France, reached last October and now ratified by an exchange of notes, applies to travel to the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, on one hand, and to metropolitan France and Algeria, on the other. The overseas territories of each country are excluded for the time being.

LE CLERC ON WAY—

Expert on Mobile Warfare Flying Toward Storm Center.

PARIS, Dec. 25—(AP)—France acted to strengthen her hand on both the political and military fronts today in Indochina where the Christmas was darkened by continued fighting with ardent Nationalists among the 24,000,000 natives determined upon full independence.

The first French parachutist regiment embarked from North Africa for the disturbed overseas empire aboard the cruiser Duquesne. Two battalions of Foreign Legion troops already were on the way as reinforcements.

General Is on Way

France's foremost expert on mobile warfare, Gen. Philippe LeClerc was flying toward the storm center as a special emissary of the government of Socialist Leon Blum to take charge of all military operations to reestablish order and French authority. LeClerc colorful hero of North African desert operations during the war, was acting under direct orders from the chief of staff for national defense, Gen. Alphonse Juin.

Colonial Minister Marius Moutet also arrived in Saigon, the capital of so-far peaceful southern Indochina, at the head of a special fact-finding mission which is to report back to the Blum government within two weeks on steps for restoring peace.

Adm. Georges Thierry D'Argenlieu, French high commissioner for Indochina, told the inhabitants in a Christmas day message quoted by the French Press agency that France would not give them the complete independence demanded by Viet-Nam.

The admiral, who had just returned to Saigon from conferences in Paris with President Blum and other officials, said independence would be "a fiction" which would "gravely prejudice" the interests of both France and Indochina. He pledged, however, that France would respect agreements for local self-government.

(A Manila dispatch quoted travelers arriving there from Bangkok, Siam, as saying former German prisoners of war who joined the French Foreign Legion for duty in Indochina, were deserting the French forces in the current fighting.)

Meagre reports on the military situation to the French press said Hanoi, former capital of the Viet-Nam government of president Ho Chi Minh had been completely occupied by French forces.

A French general staff communique issued at Saigon said numerous Japanese fighting in the Viet-Namese ranks committed suicide as they fell back from Hanoi toward Hue to the south.

This French column, however, was meeting "very lively" resistance, the communique said, with Viet-Namese defenses showing evidence of having been expertly prepared probably with technical advice from former Japanese officers.

The French Press agency said the body of a Japanese captain in uniform was found among the large number of Viet-Namese killed at Nam Dinh.

French Forces Advance

A French column was advancing to the relief of a garrison cut off at Hai Duong and besieged, the communique said. The general staff denied that 2,000 French troops had surrendered at Nam Binh and Bac Ninh.

Spitfire fighter bombers finally had been used to put out of action Viet-Namese artillery—a battery of French 75's captured by the Japanese in 1941—which had been shelling Hanoi for days.

Military reports from Hanoi said the French were "extending their control" everywhere in Tonkin, the northernmost province of Indochina, but acknowledged that the troops were encountering fierce sniper fire and well-placed mines and booby traps. Many Japanese were reported in action with the Viet-Namese.

At Namdinh, 50 miles south of Hanoi, delayed reports said the French had captured the town hall, postoffice and police headquarters.

French troops were reported fighting toward Huo, 350 miles south of Hanoi, and pushing out to the west and east. Langson on the Chinese border also was the objective of a northern push.

Start Hunger Strike

The revolt in the Orient was reflected at Moulins, 170 miles southeast of Paris, where 300 Indochinese serving with the French army went on a Christmas day hunger strike in protest against France's course.

The troops attempted to march on the prefecture, carrying banners calling upon "democrats" among the French people to recognize Viet-Nam aspirations. Police intervened and the troops dispersed quietly, said the French Press agency.

Several hundred Viet-Namese at Bordeaux, who live in the suburbs there, also were dispersed by police when they attempted to hold a demonstration in the streets.

Jean Sainteny, French commissioner for Tonkin, who was wounded in the head in the first outbreak at Hanoi, meanwhile continued to improve and resumed his duties from his bed.

He told reporters he was wounded when a machinegun carrier in which he was riding was blown up by a mine.

FRENCH TO RELEASE 7,000 MORE CAPTIVES

PARIS, Dec. 25 (AP)—The Government has decided to set free next month 7,000 Saar-born German prisoners now in French hands, Paris papers reported today.

Quoting a joint statement from the Defense, Labor and Foreign Ministers, they said the measure would apply to Saar-born prisoners employed in sectors of the French economy other than mines. The statement recalled that Saar-born Germans working in mines had been freed last summer and authorized to return to the Saar to work in the mines there.

FRANCE'S ACTION INVOLVING SAAR STIRS PROTESTS

BERLIN, Dec. 25—(AP)—Political parties of eastern Germany voiced strong opposition today to the French action in establishing a customs frontier around the Saar.

The official French explanation that the operation was an anti-blackmarket measure and a move to insure the Saar miners more food was viewed with suspicion by German politicians and the Russian-controlled section of the Berlin press.

"The Saar must not be lost to us," said an editorial in the organ of the Soviet-inspired Socialist unity party.

The Far Rightist Liberal Democratic party's newspaper called the action a "painful Christmas surprise," while the Christian Democrats expressed fear that "German faith in international conferences and negotiations will be badly shaken" if France is allowed to separate the Saar from Germany.

The Socialist Unity party paper declared that France "by drawing the Saar into its customs system has altered the borders—nothing less," and the Soviet-licensed Berliner Zeitung said France had amputated the Saar from the economic body of Germany by unilateral action."

'AXIS SALLY' GIVES REASON

Says German Radio Allowed 'Dramatic Expression' Outlet

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 25 (AP)—Mildred Gillars said in an interview today that she became "Axis Sally" because the German radio gave her "the outlet for the dramatic expression I had always sought."

Miss Gillars, 37, was arrested in Berlin last March on suspicion of treasonable activities in behalf of the German propaganda agency. She will leave the United States Army prison for an uncertain future tomorrow, obliged only to report regularly to military authorities.

Whether the Department of Justice later may decide to prosecute her was not known.

Dark Prospect In Germany

Despite her freedom, she was far from cheerful about the prospect of life in occupied Germany.

Miss Gillars, a native of Maine, does not know whether she is still an American citizen. Her passport was taken away in 1941. She is not even sure she can obtain German food rations until her nationality is clarified.

She has 1 mark 85 pfennigs (about 18 cents). She is wearing a borrowed suit.

"I have no place to live," she said. "But I had some friends in Germany once. Surely someone will extend a helping hand."

Highest-Paid Performer

"I planned to go on the German stage when the war was over," she sighed. "Two plays had already been written for me."

Miss Gillars, the highest-paid performer of the wartime German radio, still has the glib speech which caused the American soldiers to listen to her broadcasts even when they scorned or hated her.

Her once jet-black hair is gray.

"It turned gray in just a few weeks," she said, "those horrible weeks after the fall of Berlin"—when she was hiding from her own former countrymen.

Frankly fearful of "beginning life all over again," she had begged and won permission to stay in jail over Christmas. There at least she was sure of a Christmas dinner.

Her chief hope was to get back to America, which she left in 1934 to study music abroad.

RUSSIANS RENAME CITIES

Towns Rechristened in What Was Once East Prussia

MOSCOW, Dec. 25 (AP)—The presidium of the Supreme Soviet announced today that the city of Pillau in what was formerly German East Prussia had been renamed Baltiisk. The city is on the Baltic seacoast in the section of East Prussia taken over by the Soviet Union and now bearing the name of Kaliningrad, after the late President Mikhail Kalinin.

Among other towns renamed in the decree are Tilsit, which becomes Sovetsk, and Insterburg, now called Chernyakovsky after the brilliant Russian tank general who died in battle during the Red Army's operations in the area.

Mass Burial Ground Found

Warsaw, Dec. 25 (AP)—The newspaper Robotnik reported today that authorities had found a new Nazi mass-burial ground, where 1,000 Poles were interred near Bydgoszcz.

Stockholm, Dec. 25 (AP)—L. G. Dreyfusn, new United States Minister to Sweden, arrived at Malmoe today on his way to Stockholm.

ARABS ASK BOYCOTT OF LONDON PARLEY

CAIRO, Dec. 25. — (AP) The Palestine Arab Executive committee requested the seven Arab states today to boycott the Jan. 14 London Palestine conference unless the British government accepts the committee's demands.

The decision was announced after a session presided over by Haj Amin el Husseini, exalted mufti of Jerusalem.

The committee insisted that the British invitation be addressed to Arab executive committee, and particularly to "committee leader Haj Amin el Husseini."

It also demanded that the conference discuss establishment of an Arab government in Palestine and measures to halt Jewish immigration.

Fuad I University Reopens

Cairo, Dec. 25 (AP)—Fuad I University, which was closed November 27 after students had participated in violent anti-British and anti-Government demonstrations, was permitted to reopen today.

Five hundred armed soldiers were stationed outside the entrance and police guarded other approaches as a precaution against new disorders.

MIXED RECEPTION GREETS 'ZION' BAN OF LONDON TALKS

JERUSALEM, Dec. 25—(AP)—A mixed reception today greeted the decision of the World Zionist Congress in Basel, Switzerland, not to participate under present circumstances in the London conference on Palestine which is to be resumed in mid-January.

Hatsofh, official organ of the religious orthodox Mizrachi party, approved the decision, saying participation in the conference would mean "helping the Attlee-Bevin government to continue its anti-Jewish policy."

The right-wing Nationalist daily, Hamashkif, of the Revisionist party, also approved the policy but warned that there was "danger" that Dr. Chaim Weizmann and his so-called pro-British political line was not yet completely eliminated and might yet stage a comeback.

The leading Liberal paper Haaretz regretted the defeat of the Weizmann policy, however, and declared the Zionist Congress was a political failure.

The Socialist paper Mishmar also voiced disappointment at the "serious blow" to the Zionist movement, and expresed fear that the Zionist Executive yet to be elected at Basel would be "under the influence of political adventurers largely guided by verbal radicalism and sterile tactics rather than by responsible approach and creative vision."

EAST INDONESIAN STATE PROCLAIMED

Second Step Toward Island Federation Is Taken

Denpasar, Bali, Dec. 25 (AP)—The second step in formation of a United States of Indonesia was taken here yesterday when the provisional state of East Indonesia was proclaimed in the name of Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands.

The new state embraces all of the Netherlands East Indies east of Java and Borneo except New Guinea, has a population of more than 8,000,000, and includes some of the Indies' richest copra and spice-producing areas.

The first step in organizing the new United States of Indonesia was taken at Cheribon several weeks ago when an agreement, now approved by the Dutch Government, recognized the Indonesian Republic in Java, Sumatra and some smaller adjacent islands containing the Indies' richest tin mines and oil fields.

Borneo To Be Next

A third step will be taken next month at the Pontianak conference when Borneo is scheduled to receive statehood similar to east Indonesia. The status of Dutch New Guinea will be settled later. This half island may come within east Indonesia.

The Indonesian Republic, East Indonesia and Borneo will become equal federal partners in the United States of Indonesia which, together with the Netherlands homeland, will form a union under the Dutch crown.

Seventy delegates from the eastern islands laid the groundwork for East Indonesia in a two-weeks' conference at which the Balinese nobleman Rajah Sukawati was elected first president. Two votes were necessary before Sukawati was chosen, 36 to 33, over Tadjoeddin Noor, a pro-republican attorney who headed the Indonesian Nationalist party in South Celebes before Hubertus J. Van Mook, Netherlands governor general, outlawed the movement last October. The loser was chosen first chairman of the parliament.

Like American State

Asia's newest state, consisting of the islands of the Celebes, the Moluccas, Bali, Lombok, Dutch Timor and numerous smaller islands, will exercise powers roughly similar to those of an American state.

The 24-point plan of Government delegates to the central Government such federal powers as conduct of foreign affairs and issuance of coinage, and calls for the appointment of a Netherlands crown commissioner to advise and assist the new president. The plan was approved by Van Mook.

Chinese Charter Adopted

Nanking, Dec. 25 (AP)—China's new national constitution—its goal, all-party rather than one-party government—was formally adopted by the National Assembly today, more than ten years after its first draft originally was published.

The Japanese war and subsequent strife between the Government and Chinese Communists had delayed the work.

The Charter was approved on its formal third reading today only after Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek had twice stepped from his seat to quiet a noisy minority bloc seeking new revisions.

Fundamentally Unchanged

It remained fundamentally unchanged from inter-party recommendations made by the meeting of 1,485 delegates last November 15.

Still absent on this final day were Communist delegates, who shunned the constitutional convention as "a unilateral show" of the Kuomintang (Government party).

The Assembly decided that the constitution would be officially promulgated next January 1 and would take effect December 25, 1947.

China's National Assembly Adopts New Constitution

NANKING, Dec. 25 — (AP) After a decade of delay caused by war and internal discord, China has a new constitution which vests sovereignty in the people and guarantees their rights.

The document was formally adopted today by the National Assembly, still minus representatives of an important segment of the people—the Communists who have split with the Central government.

A coalition government, instead of the present one-party rule, will be set up under the new charter, which becomes effective a year from today.

Whether the Communists would be represented in that new all-party government remained for the new year to develop. They were reported to be strengthening their organization for the protracted contest with the Nationalist government and indications from Yenan, Red capital, were that there was no suggestion of any party dissension.

John Roderick, Associated Press correspondent who has spent several months in Yenan, reported from there, that the powerful Communist Politbureau had been enlarged to include three new Manchurian members. This was interpreted as a recognition of the importance of Manchuria in the party's political framework, and as notice to Chiang Kai-shek that the Reds have no intention of quitting Manchuria.

Roderick reported that while the Politbureau members for Manchuria nominally are in control there, the actual leader is Gen. Lin Pao, who is not a member of the policy group.

The bureau functions during periods between the Central committee sessions.

RED MASSACRE CHARGED

Chinese Group Reports That 1,000 Were Killed at Chungli

NANKING, Dec. 25 (AP)—A delegation of Government sympathizers from Chahar Province today charged that Chinese Communist troops massacred more than 1,000 citizens of Chungli and sacked the town on Dec. 9.

The delegation exhibited photographs of piles of mutilated and burned bodies to support their story.

They said Communist troops machine-gunned 700 farmers who helped in the defense of Chungli and burned others, including women and children.

Li Chieh-chung, chairman of the delegation, said 300 dead were found inside a Catholic church by Government reinforcements who ejected the Communist troops three days later.

Chungli is twenty-two miles northeast of Kalgan, former Communist military base captured last fall by Government forces.

Communists At Yenan Show Manchurian Aims

J. BODRICK

Yenan, Dec. 25—The Chinese Communist party has enlarged its Politbureau to include three new Manchurian members, thus recognizing the importance of Manchuria in its political framework.

This fact—never before made public—is further proof that the Communists have no intention of quitting Manchuria, now or in the future.

Workings of the political bureau are kept a close secret. The Associated Press is the first news service—either foreign or Chinese—to learn of this development.

General Actual Leader

It also was learned that although nominally the new Politbureau members have sway in Manchuria the actual leader continues to be a military man, General Lin Pao, who ranks sixth in personal popularity within the party but is not a member of the important policy group.

There is no suggestion here now of any split or even any dissension in the party despite rumors to that effect often made in the pro-Government press.

Liu Shao-chi, No. 2 member of the Politbureau and the party's leading theorist, acknowledged that the party weathered a severe storm in 1943 over the Marxist revolutionary application.

Mao Faction Victorious

Mao Tse-tung, the party chairman, headed a faction maintaining China should experience a democratic capitalist period before socialism. Another urged immediate socialism.

Liu said Mao's faction won, the other faction came over to his side, and all are now united for the common goal.

Undoubtedly some still share dogmatist views, but they are powerless in the present party councils.

Chinese Relief Leader Explains Loan Program

Shanghai, Dec. 25 (AP)—The director general of CNRRA explained terms of projected low-interest Government loans to productive business today, and described them as the equivalent of emergency treatment for someone desperately ill. An economic recession is gripping China now.

The spokesman, P. H. Ho, is also chairman of the Government's production loan examination committee. Some hundred billion Chinese dollars (about $30,000,000, United States) will be extended to industries at four per cent monthly. To "help alleviate the monstrous burden of high interest rates under which Chinese industries have been trying to operate," Ho explained.

Short-term loans in Shanghai have brought 15 to 20 per cent interest a month. Coupled with skyrocketing labor costs, this has forced many factories to suspend operations.

DUTCH OFFICIALS SLAIN BY JAPS, COURT TOLD

TOKYO, Thursday, Dec. 26—(AP) In revenge for burning Java's oil fields, Japanese officers executed Dutch civil officials near Blora and stood by while their soldiers repeatedly raped the wives of the slain, the war crimes tribunal was told today.

The incident, reported by affidavit by one of the woman victims whose name was withheld, occurred while Netherlands forces were fighting a delaying action in March of 1942, just before Allied forces on the East Indies island surrendered.

Other affidavits by Indonesian members of the Dutch army and by Allied officers described a series of executions at prisoner of war camps in various parts of Java in 1942. Most of the executions were for attempted escape, and other prisoners were forced to watch while Japanese soldiers bayoneted the victims.

Maj. Gen. Hervey Degge Wilnot Sitwell of Oakleigh, Bedford, England, said in another affidavit he was beaten repeatedly by guards when he refused to discuss the military situation after the surrender. He was the British commanding officer in Java.

Western Influence in Japan

TOKYO, Dec. 25 (AP)—Thousands of Japanese—some in city homes, many in rural areas—celebrated Christmas under Western influence that stands now at a new peak. It was a brighter holiday than last year's, despite Saturday's earthquake tragedy, because the food outlook is more promising.

American soldiers transmitted their Christmas enthusiasm to the Japanese, and for weeks shops along Tokyo's Ginza have displayed "Merry Christmas" signs and special wares.

BARRACKS FIRE IN JAPAN

One Soldier Dead and Another Seriously Hurt at Nagoya

NAGOYA, Japan, Thursday, Dec. 26 (AP)—One United States soldier was burned to death, and another was injured seriously in a fire that destroyed the barracks of the First Air Force at Komaki Airdrome Sunday, the Army announced today.

Corp. Riley Pate Jr. of Oakwood, Tex., was burned fatally.

Pfc. Francis J. Wunderlich of Los Angeles carried to safety Corp. George B. Harding of Munhall, Pa., who was badly burned. Private Wunderlich escaped from the building and then returned to rescue his injured comrade.

Lieut. John B. Burroughs of Augusta, Ga., officer of the day, smashed a window and helped two other men to escape.

The fire was discovered by Corp. George J. Volgar of Joliet, Ill., and Pfc. William E. Russel of Wayne, Mich., who ran through the building arousing the sleeping occupants. Origin of the fire was not determined.

BLACKHAWK DIVISION TO BE DEACTIVATED

MANILA, Dec. 25. — (AP) It was reported today that the 86th (Blackhawk) division of the U. S. Army would be deactivated within 30 to 90 days. A high source at the American Army command for the western Pacific unofficially confirmed the report but said it was not yet available for release.

The 86th is the only complete American combat division in the Philippines. It is scattered throughout Luzon guarding Army installations.

The division arrived in the islands in the closing weeks of the war after transfer from the German front.

JENKINS ASSAILS U.S. SUGAR POLICY

Ohio Congressman Says Rationing Could End In '47

Washington, Dec. 25 (AP)—Representative Jenkins (R., Ohio), chairman of the Republican Congressional Food Study Committee, assailed the Government's sugar policy tonight and predicted both rationing and price control of sugar can be safely abolished late in 1947.

Each household consumer should receive at least 10 pounds more sugar in 1947 than in 1946, he said in a report on the committee's findings.

In addition, industrial consumers should get a twenty per cent increase—from 60 to 80 per cent of their 1941 supplies—on the basis of latest estimates, the report said.

Blames Fear Of Surplus

Blaming "the Government's senseless fear of a wartime sugar surplus," Jenkins declared American housewives have been getting "the short end of the sugar deal" for five years.

"Loss of the Philippine sugar production of about a million tons a year early in the war should have been a clear warning to those responsible to exert their utmost efforts to increase Cuban production to offset these losses throughout the war," Jenkins said.

"However, our officials seemed to be obsessed with the fear of a possible sugar surplus."

Cuban Cane Wasted

Cuba had enough sugar to make up entirely for the loss of Philippine sugar, he said, but the United States contract in 1943 "insisted that Cuba leave unharvested enough cane to produce an estimated additional 1,750,000 tons of sugar."

The report also declared the

1946 shortage was "chiefly the direct result of the Administration's policy of sharing the relatively adequate supplies produced in our normal production areas with other countries."

More than 1,600,000 tons of sugar produced in the United States supply area was shipped abroad this year, the report said.

Says Tariff Is Needed

Coincident with the report, Senator Butler (R., Neb.) declared a "plain old-fashioned tariff" is needed to protect the American sugar industry.

"There can be no doubt about our being in a terrible mess with our sugar problem," his statement said.

"Unless the program is changed, we are certain to see less sugar produced in the United States and we will become more and more dependent on imports.

The control program resulted this year in thousands of irrigated acres being planted to potatoes where sugar beets should have been produced. Now potatoes are a drug on the market and we are seriously short of sugar.

Complete Decontrol Unwise

Jenkins's report cautioned that complete sugar decontrol now would be "dangerous and unwise," almost inevitably resulting in tremendous competitive bidding for available supplies, speculative hoarding and the grabbing of huge available stocks by the big sugar-consuming corporations.

"All this would certainly operate to the detriment of the housewife," Jenkins said.

"For five years the housewife has received the short end of the sugar deal. Without any general access to black markets or inclination to use them even if available, unable to 'pad' her requirements or negotiate with Government officials for larger allowances, she has been the easiest to regulate and the first to suffer real sugar curtailment."

Wants Ration Boosted

Jenkins urged that any increase in 1947 sugar ration allowances over and above the proposed ten pounds extra for household consumers and the twenty per cent increase for industrial users, should go entirely to individual household consumers rather than to industrial users.

"The fact is that the industrial users—canners, bottlers, bakers, confectioners, etc.—have received throughout the war not only much larger proportions of this nation's available sugar supplies than they ever received in prewar years but even a greater tonnage of sugar than industry used before the war," he added.

1946

CONSTRUCTION ACTIVITY IN '47 TO SET RECORD

Commerce Department Predicts 22 Billions Worth Of Building

Washington, Dec. 25 (AP)—Industry and Government officials tonight forecast record-smashing construction activity in 1947, the Commerce Department predicting nearly $22,000,000,000 worth of building of all kinds.

The Associated General Contractors of America, Inc., agreeing that builders would hit the $20,000,000,000 mark, estimated $15,000,000,000 would be in new construction, the rest in long-delayed repair and maintenance work.

This would far exceed the previous peak in 1942, when the great race for military installations and war plants was in full swing and the Government was doing two thirds of the building.

80% Private Construction

Private industry now is performing nearly 80 per cent of all construction, which this year will amount to about $15,000,000,000, according to the Commerce Department.

Its construction division, at work on detailed analyses of the 1947 outlook for issuance next week, said it now appears the total will run between $21,500,000,000 and $22,000,000,000 in the new year and that housing will account for about 40 per cent of the total.

The division chief, John L. Haynes, reported a fortnight ago that about 1,000,000 new houses and apartments would be included in the 1947 construction total. This is far below the goal of 1,700,000 starts set by former Housing Expediter Wilson Wyatt, but a division spokesman said next year would bring more completions and a greater proportion of new, permanent dwellings, with less emphasis on trailers, temporary units and remodelling jobs.

Hindered By Regulation

The Associated General Contractors, representing 4,000 firms over the country, said housing would benefit from the dropping of Federal regulations and the promised relaxation of restrictions on commercial and industrial building.

The contractors' group also forecast a rise in state, local and Federal public works, ending a delay brought about by the fact that many cities have rejected all bids on many jobs in the last year because of high costs. With the flow of materials assured, the spokesman said, contractors can figure costs more closely and will not have to add amounts to cover delays and unforeseeable expenses.

However, a fresh cry for housing help went out to the RFC today along with the disclosure of a second 12,000 cut in the number of temporary dwellings being erected for veterans.

Rising material and labor costs were blamed for the reduction.

Advance By RFC Asked

Representative Kefauver (D., Tenn.) wired both President Truman and George Allen, Reconstruction Finance Corporation director, urging a $25,000,000 RFC advance to permit completion of the Federal Public Housing Administration program.

Congress provided a $445,000,000 fund earlier this year to build 200,000 temporary homes under this program, but the number now has been cut to 176,000.

FPHA ordered the first 12,000 reduction last August, and officials said yesterday a similar slash is being put into effect because of additional cost increases since the decontrol of building materials.

All Depends On Funds

With the new, smaller goal, FPHA field officers are under instructions to concentrate all remaining money on projects at least 85 per cent complete.

This will mean, officials said, that some projects will not be started and that some will be suspended to be finished only if funds hold out or additional money is forthcoming.

Kefauver, in urging the RFC loan, said it could be repaid from [illegible]als.

RANKIN PLANS PROBE OF 'PINK PROFESSORS'

1946

Mississippian Calls On Veterans And Civic Groups To Lend Hand

Washington, Dec. 25 (AP)—Representative Rankin (D., Miss.) today outlined a congressional investigation of what he called "pink professors" as one of the first tasks of the new session and called upon veterans' organizations and civic groups to lend a hand.

Rankin, a member of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, said an investigation of alleged subversive influences in some of the leading educational institutions would be one of the first undertaken by the group in the new Congress.

"One of its main problems will be to enlist the aid of patriotic organizations, including veterans' groups, to drive from our educational institutions those pink professors who are now being subsidized from questionable sources," he said.

Report Voluminous Evidence

Rankin reported voluminous evidence that professors of "questionable loyalties" are holding positions in which "they can influence the minds of our young people."

Some, he added, receive a large part of their pay from "so-called foundations and are spreading subversive propaganda among the students of this nation." He did not identify them.

"We are determined that this Government shall not be undermined," he declared. "We are determined that the American Government and the American way of life shall not be destroyed."

Other Inquiries Scheduled

Other investigations which the committee probably will start early in 1947, Rankin said, will cover the moving-picture industry, the radio and "other methods of communication."

"The committee will intensify its drive and its efforts to remove from the Federal pay roll every Communist and every other subversive individual," he said. "It will also give its attention to the Communists in the moving-picture industry, the radio and other methods of communication."

Through publicity, he indicated, the committee believes it can drive "communistic elements" out of non-Federal positions, while through the means of curtailed and restricted appropriations it can remove them from Government jobs.

Patterson Notes Peace Progress

Washington, Dec. 25 (AP)—Robert P. Patterson, Secretary of War, said today that while the world is a "long way from the 'peace, good will toward men' promised by the herald angels 1,900 years ago" it is making "definite progress."

"The nations of the world this year, if they have done nothing more, have sat down together and discussed universal disarmament," he said.

Patterson's Christmas radio talk was directed principally to men still in service and to sick and disabled veterans.

Noting that the countries of the world "plan to continue" the disarmament discussions, Patterson said:

"A year ago they could not talk about universal, lasting peace. Five years ago, ten years ago they could not even consider the hope. Today there is a strong possibility, not that we shall achieve peace overnight, but that we are making definite progress on the path toward peace."

AVIATION IS LEADER IN SCIENTIFIC GAINS OF POSTWAR YEAR

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 25.—Aviation advances during 1946 were described by the National Geographic society today as outstanding in a year of engineering and construction achievements which generally focused on postwar reconversion.

The flying wing, preliminary tests of the XS-1 supersonic plane, the ram jet engine, rocket experiments, and new commercial airliners were among the developments recorded by military and civilian aircraft engineers. They represented largely a projection of wartime blueprints.

In other industrial fields, amid discussion of potential uses of atomic energy, new locomotives were being built, and the world's largest steam turbine was under construction at Schenectady, New York. In the Soviet Union, waterjet propulsion was applied to river steamers.

European Railroads Restored

War-torn countries centered attention on reconstructing power plants, ships, harbors, bridges, railroad and other transportation facilities, and communication systems.

Connecting railroad and ferry service between London and Paris was re-established. More than half the rail lines in France had been destroyed, but 1946 saw their rapid reconstruction after the rebuilding of 2,000 bridges and the repair of many tunnels. Most French ports were again in operation.

Using 50,000 laborers, China replaced more than a thousand miles of the Canton-Hankow railroad in six months. The Soviets largely restored their damaged rail lines.

Netherlanders rebuilt the bridge over the Hollandsche Diep, 20 miles southeast of Rotterdam. It is one of the longest bridges in Europe. In Greece the lofty Corinth Canal bridge, destroyed by the Germans, was reopened. The Poles bridged the Vistula between Warsaw and suburban Praga.

The first permanent new bridge over the Rhine, near Duisberg, Germany, was opened to traffic. A British-built bridge at Cologne is to be named "Patton Bridge" in memory of the general.

Chinese Farmland Drained

The Mont Cenis tunnel between France and Italy was repaired. Oldest of the great Alpine tunnels, it had been partially destroyed by the Germans. Work was begun on a new tunnel under Mont Blanc.

China nearly completed a reclamation project involving repair of the huge break in the Yellow River dam, opened in 1938 to check the Japs. It will return an estimated 2,000,000 inundated acres of farmland to production.

In the Soviet Union repairs were virtually finished on the gigantic Dnieper power dam ruined in the war. Hundreds of village hydroelectric stations were under construction. To restore the dwindling Caspian sea, reservoirs and canals were being built to throw water into the Volga river, tributary to the sea.

Completion of Bolivia's Angostura dam, 70 feet high and 650 feet long at the crest, provides for irrigation of about 50,000 acres in the Cochabamba area. India began work on big irrigation and power projects on the Mahanadi, Damodar, and Kosi Rivers.

Missouri River Project Started

In the United States, construction was started on the Missouri river project. This program calls for more than a hundred dams to control floodwaters, irrigate 5 million acres, supply more than 200 hydroelectric power plants, and add 760 miles of navigable river channel.

The White river power and flood-prevention work progressed along the Missouri-Arkansas boundary. Norfolk dam already is in operation, and three more dams are in progress at Bull Shoals, Table Rock, and Lone Rock. In the northwest, a two-mile bore through solid rock will bring water from the reservoir of the Grand Coulee dam to irrigate some 1,500 Washington farms.

Prominent among new bridges in the United States was one over the Kentucky river, about 16 miles from Lexington, Kentucky, described as the highest continuous steel-deck bridge in the country. At Massena, New York, the world's first all-aluminum bridge span was installed.

66,627 Veterans Have Drawn $20 Weekly For One Year

Washington, Dec. 25 (AP)—The Veterans Administration reported tonight that 66,627 veterans so far have drawn $20-a-week unemployment benefits for the full limit of 52 weeks.

"That figure speaks well of the veterans group generally and shows that talk of a '52-20 club' among veterans is a bit unfair," commented Ray R. Adams, director of the Readjustment Allowance Service.

The GI Bill of Rights permits unemployed veterans to draw $20 a week from the Government as a "readjustment allowance" for a maximum of 52 weeks. Some critics of the program have dubbed this a "52-20 club."

16,156 Exhaust Benefits

A VA study disclosed that 16,156 veterans exhausted those benefits during October—an increase of 56 per cent over the September total.

"Two million veterans were out of the service by May 1, 1945, Adams noted. They have had one and a half years in which to make claims. It is amazing that so few of them have exhausted their benefits."

The number of continued claims for unemployment allowances decreased during November to less than 1,000,000 for the first time in 1946. The total of continued claims for the last week in November dropped to 867,000.

$71,126,000 Paid In November

During that week, 964,748 veterans were receiving the unemployment allowance. Payments during November totaled $71,126,000 compared with $91,942,000 in October.

The steadily rising total of employed World War II veterans reached 10,700,000 early in November, VA said. However, the unemployment rate among veterans was six per cent, more than twice that for nonveterans. The number of veterans "looking for work" was estimated at 700,000.

The number of veterans attending schools or taking job-training with VA assistance reached a record total of 2,258,937 November 30. Of that number, 178,497 were disabled veterans.

Terminal-Leave Pay Reported

Washington, Dec. 25 (AP)—Terminal-leave pay now is rolling out to former GI's at a rate of more than $12,500,000 a day in bonds and perhaps $345,000 a day in cash.

This showed up today in Treasury reports which also revealed that, in little more than two months after payments got under way, the Government has paid out more than a fifth of the total amount it expects to pay.

The program is budgeted for this fiscal year at $2,418,000,000, payments in the form of five-year bonds drawing interest at 2½ per cent a year now top $505,600,000.

Would Let Them Cash Bonds

Cash payments, on which timely data is less precise, achieved a relation approaching 1 to 36 with bond payments by the start of this month, which would put total cash payments to date at more than $14,000,000.

Some 12,000,000 former soldiers, sailors and marines are expected to claim a share of the $2,418,000,000 voted by the last Congress to compensate for time-off they did not get in service.

The new Congress is to be asked to change the law so they can turn in the bonds for cash anytime they desire. Representative August H. Andresen (R., Minn.) said he will introduce a bill to permit immediate cashing of the bonds as soon as the new Congress assembles.

24 BRITISH BRIDES, 25 BABIES REACH LAGUARDIA FIELD

NEW YORK., Dec.—25 — (AP) Twenty-four British brides and 25 children of American GI's arrived in time to celebrate their first Christmas in the United States today after an arduous trans-Atlantic plane trip beset by delays because of weather conditions.

The plane arrived at La Guardia field about 45 hours after the first takeoff from London on Monday. On the second try, the plane landed at Shannon but because weather over the north Atlantic was reported to be bad, it went south to Santa Maria in the Azores.

From Santa Maria, the ship took off for North America, overpassed Gander, Newfoundland, and landed at Moncton, New Brunswick.

Each wife had one child except Mrs. Nellie Allen, wife of Clifford Allen of Bay Ninette, Alabama, a former private in the Medical Corps. Mrs. Allen brought two children, Michael, one year and eight months, and Norman, eight months old.

Six of the wives were met by their husbands, the remainder being taken to Fort Hamilton in Brooklyn by an Army bus. The latter will be quartered there until arrangements are made to send them on to their new homes.

Purser Joseph Hornyak, Portage, Pa., who was responsible for care of the children enroute said:

"It was the nicest Christmas eve I ever spent. I felt like Santa Claus taking care of all those children."

EUROPEAN CHRISTMAS (ROUNDUP)

BY ALVIN STEINKOPF

LONDON, DEC. 25—(AP)—SHORTAGES OF FOOD AND FUEL COMBINED TODAY TO MAKE CHRISTMAS A BLEAK OCCASION FOR MILLIONS OF PERSONS IN MANY PARTS OF WAR-RAVAGED EUROPE.

FAINT HOPES FOR A BETTER FUTURE HELPED SOMEWHAT TO BRIGHTEN THE CONTINENT'S SECOND YULETIDE SINCE THE DEFEAT OF GERMANY, BUT THROUGHOUT THE STRICKEN AREAS OF CENTRAL AND EASTERN EUROPE CHRISTMAS WAS LARGELY A CHEERLESS DAY.

IN THE TENSE HOLY LAND, THOUSANDS OF THE FAITHFUL FLOCKED TO THE LITTLE TOWN OF BETHLEHEM TO COMMEMORATE THE BIRTH OF THE CHRIST CHILD IN THE HISTORIC CHURCH OF THE NATIVITY.

IN MANY PARTS OF EUROPE, WHERE AN EXTRA RATION OF BREAD CONSTITUTED THE YULETIDE BOUNTY, COLD WAVES SWEPT TOWNS AND PENETRATED HOMES, WITHOUT FUEL.

IN GERMANY THE POPULACE RECEIVED A SLIGHT INCREASE IN RATIONS, A TYPICAL RESTAURANT MENU CONSISTING OF PEA SOUP, FRIED LIVER OR SAUSAGE WITH GREEN SALAD, POTATOES AND BEETS, MIXED VEGETABLES AND BREAD.

SUCH A MEAL COST THREE MARKS (30 CENTS) AND TOOK COUPONS FOR AN ENTIRE WEEK'S MEAT RATION.

AMERICAN OCCUPATION FORCES IN THE FORMER CORNER REICH DINED ON TOMATO JUICE, ROAST TURKEY WITH GIBLET GRAVY, MASHED POTATOES, CANDIED YAMS, CRANBERRY SAUCE, OLIVES, ASPARAGUS, PICKLES, FRUIT SALAD, MINCE PIE, CHEESE CAKE, HOT ROLLS, BUTTER, JAM, CREAM, SUGAR, COFFEE AND ICE CREAM.

GERMAN CHILDREN, HOWEVER, ENJOYED PERHAPS THEIR HAPPIEST CHRISTMAS

30.24-7097

IN EIGHT YEARS, PARTICULARLY IN THE AMERICAN AND BRITISH ZONES, WHERE THOUSANDS OF PARTIES WERE ARRANGED FOR THEM AND SPECIAL CANDY RATIONS WERE ISSUED BY THE OCCUPATION ARMIES.

IN THE COUNTRIES THAT HAD NOT FELT THE DESTRUCTIVE TIDE OF WAR, THERE WAS AN ABUNDANCE OF FOOD AND FUEL AND TRADITIONAL CHRISTMAS REJOICING. BUT SUCH FESTIVITY WAS IN THE MINORITY.

HOLLAND LOOKED FORWARD TO A DAY OF ICE AND SKATING. DUTCH NEWSPAPERS, WHICH LITTLE MORE THAN A YEAR AGO PRINTED WAR MAPS, PUBLISHED MAPS TO SHOW WHERE THE SKATING WAS GOOD.

THE UNITED KINGDOM PREPARED FOR AN UNPLEASANT TURN IN THE WEATHER, WITH PREDICTIONS OF RAIN AND SNOW.

FROM ROME, ALSO OCCUPIED WITH A FUEL PROBLEM, CAME A CHRISTMAS EVE APPEAL FROM POPE PIUS XII TO STATESMEN OF THE WORLD TO DRAFT AN ENDURING PEACE AND SAVE EUROPE AND THE WORLD FROM THE "FLAMES OF NEW CONFLICTS."

MOSCOW, DEC. 25-(AP)-O. KURGANOV, A PRAVDA CORRESPONDENT RECENTLY RETURNED FROM JAPAN, REPORTED TODAY THAT HE AND OTHER SOVIET CORRESPONDENTS WERE DETAINED AT ATSUGA AIRDROME NEAR YOKOHAMA LAST AUGUST BY U.S. MILITARY POLICE AFTER THEY HAD REFUSED TO BE PHOTOGRAPHE IN PROFILE AS WELL AS FULL FACE.

"OUR RECEPTION AT ATSUGA AIRDROME WAS FAR FROM THE GENERAL HUMAN CONCEPTS OF DEMOCRACY," SAID KURGANOV, IN AN ARTICLE IN PRAVDA. HE SAID THAT GEN. MACARTHUR HAD ORIGINALLY LANDED AT THE SAME AIRPORT WITH REMARKS ABOUT A "GREAT WORLD DEMOCRACY" ON HIS LIPS.

KURGANOV REPORTED THAT A "THICK WALL" OF AMERICAN MPS SURROUNDED HIS PLANE AFTER IT HAD BEEN ESCORTED INTO JAPAN BY ZOOMING AMERICAN FIGHTERS. HE DECLARED THAT THE SOVIET JOURNALISTS HAD REFUSED TO PERMIT PROFILE PHOTOS TO BE TAKEN BECAUSE THAT SEEMED "TOO INSULTING."

HE ADDED THAT WHEN ONE OF HIS COMPANIONS TOOK OUT HIS OWN CAMERA AND BEGAN TO TAKE PICTURES OF THE WHOLE SCENE AN AMERICAN OFFICER PREVENTED HIM FROM DOING THIS.

BETHLEHEM

BETHLEHEM, DEC. 25-(AP)-APPROXIMATELY 30,000 PILGRIMS CROWDED INTO BETHLEHEM TODAY FOR CHRISTMAS RELIGIOUS CEREMONIES USHERED IN BY THE TRADITIONAL RE-ENACTMENT OF THE BIRTH OF CHRIST IN THE GROTTO BUILT TO MARK THE SPOT WHERE THE EVENT OCCURRED ALMOST 2,000 YEARS AGO.

AMONG THE WORSHIPPERS WERE THOUSANDS OF BRITISH TROOPS ON LEAVE FROM THEIR TASK OF GUARDING THE TROUBLED HOLY LAND. UNTIL LATE LAST NIGHT BRITISH TRUCK CONVOYS RUMBLED INTO THE LITTLE TOWN, CROWDED WITH SOLDIERS COME TO HELP CELEBRATE THE BIRTH OF THE SAVIOUR.

A HIGH PONTIFICAL MASS PRECEDED THE CEREMONY IN THE MANGER GROTTO, WHICH BEGAN TWO AND ONE-HALF HOURS AFTER MIDNIGHT.

WHILE HIGH GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS AND A FRACTION OF THE HUGE CROWD OF PILGRIMS WATCHED, LATIN PATRIARCH LOUIS BARLASSINA PLACED A SMALL WAX FIGURE SYMBOLIZING THE INFANT JESUS IN A MARBLE REPLICA OF THE MANGER.

THE CHRISTMAS EVE PROCEEDINGS, WHICH CLIMAXED A DAY OF PROCESSIONS AND RELIGIOUS OBSERVNACES, WERE TEMPORARILY MARRED WHEN A BRITISH ARMY TRUCK, WHICH WENT OFF THE ROAD NEAR BETHLEHEM, CUT A POWER LINE AND PLUNGED THE CHURCH OF THE NATIVITY INTO DARKNESS FOR HALF AN HOUR.

A GRIM REMINDER OF THE UNDERCURRENT OF STRIFE GRIPPING THE HOLY LAND WAS EVIDENT IN THE LONG LINES OF POLICE WHO MAINTAINED GUARD ALONG THE ROAD TO BETHLEHEM, PARTLY TO COPE WITH THE SURGING CROWDS AND PARTI AS A PRECAUTION AGAINST ANY UNTOWARD INCIDENT.

SOME OF THESE IMPROVEMENTS APPEAR TO BE MADE WITH A VIEW TOWARD MORE EXTENSIVE NEEDS THAN OCCUPATION DUTIES REQUIRE. ONE AIRFIELD NEAR TOKYO COULD ACCOMMODATE B-29S WITH ROOM TO SPARE.

OFFICERS ACKNOWLEDGE PRIVATELY THAT MILITARY EYES ARE TURNED TOWARD RUSSIA. JAPAN HAS BECOME A STRATEGIC BASE THAT COULD BLOCK ANY RUSSIAN ADVANCE SOUTHWARD INTO CHINA OR EASTWARD ACROSS THE PACIFIC.

INFORMATION ON MILITARY IMPROVEMENTS IS CLOSELY GUARDED BUT RUSSIA IS KNOWN TO BE INTERESTED IN DEVELOPMENTS.

U.S., Canada Settle Differences on Plan For Atomic Control

1946

ATOMIC PLAN (N) IRONED OUT

F.W. CARPENTER

U.S. And Canada Reported Agreeing On Details

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 26 (AP)—Members of the United States and Canadian delegations were reported authoritatively tonight to have settled their differences over the Baruch plan to control atomic energy.

An informed source said that the United States did not give up any of its basic principles in achieving the agreement.

The differences were said to have been mainly those of procedure, rather than fundamentals.

Step Toward Settlement

This agreement, if approved finally by the heads of the delegations and their respective governments, will go a long way toward a settlement of the atomic problem when the delegates of the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission meet tomorrow as a committee of the whole for a showdown on the United States plan.

The political committee of the commission approved a draft report on scientific and technical features of atomic control at a closed meeting here today, but the major contention over the Baruch plan has remained to be solved.

Earlier, Canada's delegation had submitted a number of comments and proposals affecting the Baruch plan. These were said to have been discussed at a meeting of the "second echelon" of the two delegations this afternoon and early tonight.

Reported "Well Satisfied"

Both sides were reported "well satisfied after the long conference.

With such agreement it was predicted that Bernard M. Baruch, chief United States delegate, and Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Canadian delegate, would approve the settlement.

There is a possibility that other delegations will bring up new points at the meeting tomorrow but with Canada and the United States now in agreement the meeting is expected to be much smoother.

No Sign Of Soviet Attitude

There still was no indication as to the attitude Russia will take in the important meeting.

By a 10-to-0 vote, with Russia not participating and Poland abstaining, the political committee today adopted every section of the draft report on scientific and technical features of atomic control except general findings and recommendations.

The commission is working against time to complete a report to the United Nations Security Counell by Tuesday. Everything has been acted upon except the really essential part of the report—the commission's general political findings on atomic control and the recommendations as to just how the atom shall be controlled.

Expect Hours Of Discussion

The big guns of the delegations will sound off tomorrow. Some delegations are preparing for sessions through the week end, realizing that many hours of discussion may be necessary to reconcile the conflicting viewpoints.

The political committee met in harmony until the final vote was taken.

Then the white-haired Russian scientist, Dr. S. P. Alexandrov, said: "I have not participated in the adopton of this report as the representaive of the U.S.S.R."

Follows Gromyko's Lead

It was stated authoritatively that Dr. Alexandrov declined to participate on the same grounds as those cited by Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate on the full commission, last Friday when the United States plan was voted on by the commission.

At that meeting Gromyko insisted he must have further time to study the plan and therefore he was not participating in the meeting. Dr. Alexandrov was quoted as saying that he had not had time to study the report and that he was not expressing a view for or against it.

There was no comment from the Soviet delegation after the meeting today.

Five Sections In Report

The report as it stands now is made up of five sections. These are:

1. Proceedings, giving the history of the commission's work.
2. Findings.

(a). Those of a technical character.

(b). Safeguards.

(c). General findings (blank until the committee of the whole acts).

Recommendations Left Blank

3. Recommendations (the page for this section has been left blank, with only the heading written down).

4. Report of the scientific and technical committee (this was made last September and it found that control of the atom was feasible. This also left the political question of such controls up to the commission).

5. Report and findings on informal conversations of the delegates.

There are also extensive annexes. The whole report totals so far about 80 pages.

The political committee thanked the secretariat for its work in compiling the document. The committee also commended the atomic commisison group of the secretariat, which is headed by Dr. L. Pendleton Herring, formerly of Harvard, for the skill, objectivity and integrity with which the report was drafted.

DEAL LOOKS TO BUILDING OF PIPELINE (N)

Pact To Sell 'Substantial' Quantities Announced In London

T. FLANAGAN

London, Dec. 26 (AP)—An international oil deal pledging virtual American-British commercial partnership in further development of much of the Middle East's oil riches was disclosed tonight in an announcement from the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company.

The announcement said:

"Anglo-Iranian Oil Company Limited announces the conclusion in principle of agreements for the sale of substantial quantities of crude oil to Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and Socony Vacuum Oil Company over a period of years.

Pipeline Suggested

"A term of these agreements provides for the prior investigation by the parties of the possibility of constructing a pipeline from the Persian Gulf to the Mediterranean."

The annoucement was confirmed by Standard Oil of New Jersey. A Foreign Office spokesman, describing the transaction as a "commercial deal," said that the British Government "would have had prior knowledge" of the agreements.

The British Government has two ex-officio members on the board of the company who have veto power over broad decisions but are obliged not to interfere in the commercial management of Anglo-Iranian. In effect, the Government's veto is used to cover political aspects of company dealings.

TWO U. S. CONCERNS TO GET IRANIAN OIL

London, Dec. 26 (A. P.).—The Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, Limited announced tonight long-term agreements "in principle" to sell oil to two American companies—Standard of New Jersey and Socony-Vacuum—and said a pipeline might be built from the Persian Gulf to the Mediterranean.

A statement said:

"Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, Limited, announce the conclusion in principle of agreements for the sale of substantial quantities of crude oil to Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and Socony-Vacuum Oil Company, over a period of years.

"A term of these agreements provides for the prior investigation by the parties of the possibility of constructing a pipeline from the Persian Gulf to the Mediterranean."

the deals involve one of the biggest oil transactions of all times.

State Department officials welcomed news of the transactions insofar as they relieved the drain on the dwindling oil resources in the United States and South America.

Two major American companies—Standard of New Jersey and Socony Vacuum—were involved in both deals according to announcements from London and New York.

Far-Reaching Deal

In what was considered the most far-reaching transaction, it was disclosed that a "preliminary" agreement had been reached whereby the Arabian-American Oil Company, which owns exclusive rights to the Saudi-Arabian fields, would sell about 30 per cent of its holdings to Standard Oil of New Jersey. Socony Vacuum Oil Company is expected to buy another 10 per cent.

The Arabian-American company is controlled by Standard Oil of California and the Texas company.

Standard of New Jersey, announcing its share in this deal, said final consummation is contingent upon surveys and discussions now in progress.

In the second agreement, Standard of New Jersey and Socony Vacuum reached an accord in principle with the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, ltd., to purchase substantial quantities of crude oil from this British company, which operates in Iran.

Because Standard of New Jersey and Socony Vacuum up until now have shipped mostly American oil to their European and Asiatic customers, government officials said it would now be possible to conserve oil resources in the United States. Both companies will be able to ship the middle eastern petroleum instead because it is closer to their clients, they said.

New Pipelines Seen

Two new pipelines are foreseen as a result of the deals to facilitate the flow of oil from the Persian gulf area to the Mediterranean. The first, operated by the Arabian-American Oil company in Saudi Arabia, would go from Dhahran through one of the Levant countries. The second would be laid from the Basra-Abadan area to the Mediterranean under the control of the Anglo-Iranian company.

The two American oil companies involved in both deals will pay part of the cost of constructing the pipelines. No estimate of the cost was immediately available but officials said they thought the amount might run as high as $300,000,000.

A third pipeline already is in operation carrying oil from Iraq. Officials said there were tentative plans for enlarging this to increase the flow to the Mediterranean from Iraq.

A direct effect of the increased oil output in Saudi-Arabia, officials here said, will be to raise the revenue going to the Saudi Arabian government. The added money will enable the country to go ahead with long-contemplated projects such as improvement of harbors and transportation.

Crown Prince Saud's visit to the United States Jan. 14 is tied in with the expected conclusion of the four-company agreement. These officials said one of the main purposes of his stay in the United States would be to inspect harbors, transportation and sewage systems to get an idea of what Saudi Arabia should have.

Officials here considered the Saudi-Arabian oil deal perhaps the most important of the two. It was believed to involve more oil, although the figures were not made public, and to be more significant from the standpoint of conserving United States resources.

EUROPE MARKS QUIET YULETIDE

Christmas Spirit Survives Post-war Rigors.

London, Dec. 26 (A. P.).—Food shortages, fuel shortages, inflation and bitter memories of war combined to dampen, but not to quench, in Europe, the spirit of one of Christendom's holiest days.

Temperatures soared unexpectedly in much of Europe to ease a little bit and for a little while, one problem of a Continent which has been without fuel all winter. Rations were relaxed a trifle in many lands to give the hungry multitudes a bit more food for the holiday.

England celebrated her merriest Christmas in eight years and heard King George say in a broadcast: "Our task is to mobilize the Christmas spirit and to apply its power and healing to our daily life.

Better Days Predicted.

"Better days lie ahead," he continued. "We must not concentrate too much on the difficulties of the present—they will pass. So let us rather think of the possibilities that the future may hold for us."

Frenchmen forgot their worries for a while to worship in chilly churches and sit down to fairly abundant meals with a glass of wine or two.

G. Is Play Santa Claus.

In Germany, American occupation troops played Santa Claus for thousands of German youngsters at parties given under the new friendship policy. Germans and Americans attended church together.

Across the world the Japanese, too, celebrated the day. American soldiers transmitted their enthusiasm for the yuletide season to the Japanese.

French newspapers published an announcement saying that 7,000 Saar-born German prisoners would be set free next month. In Britain, prisoners were permitted outside their internment camps unescorted for the first time.

Thousands of pilgrims journeyed to Bethlehem for the traditional re-enactment of the birth of Christ.

England Asleep On Boxing Day

London, Dec. 26 (AP)—It may be nothing more than the day after Christmas in America but in England it's Boxing Day—and quiet.

The proverbial Sunday afternoon in Philadelphia is like New Year's Eve in Times Square by comparison.

From the northern border, where the Scots fondle jugs of their national beverage in anticipation of New Year's, to the southern coast, where whole families are snugged up in resort hotels, the only sounds to be heard are the gentle snore and the polite burp.

Like Christmas itself, Boxing Day is a national holiday. It exists in order that people can get over Christmas before going back to work. The people take full advantage of it.

Everything is closed, including the eyes of taxi drivers. You can't buy bread, milk or, unless you find an untraditional publican, beer. Trains and busses creep along resentfully if they run at all. Newspapers don't publish. Dogs don't bark.

Boxing Day gets its name, according to most authorities, from the old custom of leaving boxes of Christmas goodies for the mail man the milk man and others who bring things to you on the day after Christmas. The name has outlived the custom.

Off To The Pantomimes

Only the children have any holiday fervor left on the day after. They drag muttering parents, whenever possible, to the pantomime—the Christmas stage extravaganza that is half fairy story and half denatured burlesque.

North of the border, the Scots, who look down their cold-reddened noses at the whole business of Christmas, ignore Boxing Day as well. Their holiday is New Year's.

BRITISH MIDDLE EAST COMMANDER TO RETIRE

LONDON, Dec. 26—(AP) Gen. Sir Miles Dempsey, commander of British forces in the Middle East, will retire next July 1, the War Office announced tonight.

He has accepted the chairmanship of Britain's racecourse betting control board.

Lt. Gen. Sir John Crocker, now head of the army's southern command, will succeed Dempsey.

Soviet Marshal Decorated

London, Dec. 26 (AP)—Marshal of the Soviet Union Konstantin Rokossovsky has been awarded the Order of Lenin to mark his fiftieth birthday and to recognize his "important services" to the state and its armed forces, Tass, the Russian news agency, reported today.

Paris Identification Checking Criticized

Paris, Dec. 26 (AP) — Caustic criticism of the economic police who swarmed through Paris luxury restaurants Christmas Eve, demanding identity cards of diners, was voiced by Figaro and other newspapers today. They expressed hope the raids would not be repeated for the New Year's celebration.

Acknowledging that the intent was some measure of fiscal control, Figaro said that the restaurants visited by the inspectors were filled with many British and other visitors to France. It said the act must have left a poor impression of France's hospitality.

"It remains to be seen whether anything will come of the raids," the newspaper said. No arrests were made and a number of diners fled when tipped that the police were making mysterious rounds.

"So where the state might have garnered another half-million francs in taxes, it now won't get half," the article said.

American Charges That Paris Views Sector as Unit Apart From Its Occupation Zone

BERLIN, Dec. 26 (AP)—A French-American dispute over the Saar widened today, the United States declaring that Paris already regarded the area as a unit apart from its occupation zone in Germany, and demanding again an explanation of recent actions there.

Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, Deputy United States Military Governor, asked the French about a report that the big Robert Bosch electrical parts plant was removed from southern Wuerttemberg into the Saar.

This was the second time the Americans had asked about the plant. In a meeting of the Allied Control Council's coordinating committee, Maj. Gen. Robert Noiret, General Clay's opposite number, replied that the French did not feel obliged to report to the other occupying powers on "removal of a factory from one place to another within our zone."

The dispute developed publicly last week-end, when the French sent 1,200 customs officers into the Saar to set up a customs barrier between the territory and the rest of Germany.

"Amputation" Charged

German political leaders here charged that this, in effect, was a change of frontier and an "amputation of the Saar from the German economy." The Germans said it was a step by the French toward annexing a German territory rich in natural resources.

The dispute over reports that the French were stripping industries in other parts of their zone for the benefit of the Saar first arose a month ago when the United States asked them about the Bosch plant, which produces magnetos, dynamos and electrical equipment. When the French delayed in replying, the Americans brought the matter up again in the coordinating committee.

The Americans said that during a discussion between French and United States Military Government officials on a plan for an exchange of newspapers between the two zones, the French declared they did not consider the Saar part of the French zone but a separate administrative unit.

General Clay informed the French that the United States could not approve creation of a separate administrative unit in Germany by another occupying power unless such action was approved on a Foreign Office level. He insisted that transfer of factories in a manner affecting the level of German industrial capacity fixed by the Allied Control Council was a matter for four-power consideration. He rejected a French contention that such action was no concern of the four-power council.

Factory Moving By French Is Protested

Berlin, Dec. 26 (AP)—The Americans have officially demanded from the French an explanation of reports that they have been stripping industries from other sections of their zone in Germany and transferring them into the Saar, around which they have now established a customs frontier, it was learned today.

Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, deputy American military governor, asked specifically about the big Robert Bosch electrical parts plant, which the French are said to have moved from southern Wuerttemberg into the Saar.

Unilateral Matter, French Hold

Clay, it was learned, requested that the French present the facts in this case to the quadripartite Allied Control Authority here. He rejected a French contention that it was a unilateral matter and not of quadripartite concern.

The dispute over the French zone industries was another facet of the Saar issue, which came into prominence when the French last week end sent 1,200 customs officers into the Saar to set up the customs frontier between the resources-rich territory and the remainder of Germany.

Clay protested that operation as an "entirely unilateral action which was not presented to the Allied Control Council for consideration."

Germans Charge "Amputation"

Although the French asserted that the customs action was an anti-black-market measure to safeguard the Saar's food supply and shield its fiscal economy, German political parties here charged that it was, in effect, a change of the frontiers and "amputation of the Saar from the German economy."

German political spokesmen said today it was a step by the French toward annexation of the Saar and they expressed the hope that the Foreign Ministers Council at its Moscow meeting in March would "rescue the Saar for Germany."

Letters Sent First

The Americans first asked the French about the Bosch plant—which produces magnetos, dynamos and other electrical articles—a month ago. The request was made in a letter to Maj. Gen. Rober Noiret, French deputy military governor and, like Clay, a member of the Allied Control Authority's co-ordinating committee.

When the French delayed in replying, Clay brought the matter up again in a co-ordinating committee meeting.

Noiret replied that the French did not feel obliged to report to the other occupying powers on "removal of a factory from one place to another within our zone."

Clay's Contention

Clay replied that it was a matter for quadripartite consideration when factories were transferred in such a way that they affected the level of German industrial capacity which has been fixed by the Control Council. Clay said that the level of industry was affected when a plant is taken out of an occupation zone and put into "a separate administrative unit."

The Americans said that the French themselves had referred to the Saar as a separate administrative unit during a discussion with American Military Government officials on a plan for exchange of newspapers between the United States and French zones. During that discussion the French were said to have stated they did not consider the Saar part of the French zone.

Clay then informed the French that the United States could not approve or accept creation of separate administrative units in Germany by any other occupying power unless these actions were approved on a government (Foreign Office) level.

Army Moves to Stamp Out Germany's Black Market

Berlin, Dec. 26 (AP)—United States occupation authorities had under study tonight a directive to prohibit the private importation of cigarettes into Germany by American personnel as a means of stamping out the "cigarette standard" on the black market and safeguarding the German economy.

A recommendation made to Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, deputy military governor, by a special investigating board, would forbid the importations, now running at a rate of about $100,000 a month.

The committee reported that the sale and barter by Americans of cigarettes at inflated values ranging up to 1,200 marks ($120) per carton of 200 was setting up "a currency competitive to the legal currency," discrediting the legal currency, resulting in "maladjustment of ration goods and legal processes, taking valuables out of the economy without replacing them" and inducing "undignified" trading for personal reasons on the part of soldiers.

Ban Starts January 1

A second recommendation of the investigators, which already has been accepted, was to eliminate cigarettes as an item of exchange in any barter center sponsored by the Army or Military Government.

This ban goes into effect January 1 at the Berlin barter shop where today the volume of cigarette trading was between 200 and 300 per cent above normal as traders rushed to swap their cigarette stores for cameras, chinaware and furs.

Similar barter shops are sanctioned in Frankfurt and Munich, but most of the personal cigarette imports have been going to Berlin where the market has been biggest.

The investigating committee estimated that 90 per cent of the cigarettes traded by Americans at the barter center eventually reached the black market, where Germans exchanged them for articles otherwise unobtainable.

Average 1,000 Cartons A Day

An officer at one of Berlin's three Army post offices estimated that parcels coming through his office daily contained about 1,000 cartons.

He said the volume of cigarette shipments—from mail services and private senders—had run so heavily the last three months that the staff sometimes had difficulty handling regular mail.

Parcels to individuals contained as many as 25 cartons, he reported.

Only a portion of these cigarettes have gone to the "legal" barter center. Many Americans and other Allied personnel have been selling and bartering direct with Germans.

Barter center point values have been reduced more than half since September. But still a portable typewriter can be obtained for five cartons, a Meissen set of chinaware for twelve persons for about 27 cartons, a Leica camera for 40 cartons, a radio for ten, a vacuum sweeper for seven.

A Suit For 5 Cartons

In direct dealings with Germans some persons reported obtaining electric refrigerators for five cartons, and men's suits made to order for five or six cartons.

Some American families are reported to have furnished their homes by bartering cigarettes.

Normally, cigarettes have represented about 60 per cent of the trading material offered by Americans in Berlin's sanctioned barter market and food and cosmetics only one per cent. The volume there has run about 300 cartons daily.

Military Government investigators found that Germans often refused to take legal currency for services or in transactions, demanding cigarettes instead.

May Issue Directive

The president of the Berlin police told investigators, "some people find it more profitable to stand in line two or three days at a crowded barter shop to obtain cigarettes than to work."

An embargo on importation on the smokes would be effected through a European theater directive banning them from the army mails.

The report to Clay recommended that if this was done the weekly cigarette ration at army post exchanges, which also supply American civilians as well as soldiers, be increased to meet the needs of the "maximum smoker." The present allowance is 200 cigarettes per week per adult.

U.S. Zone May Ban Private Import Of Cigarettes

Berlin, Dec. 26 (AP)—The United States Army and Military Government were considering today a recommendation to prohibit the private importation of American cigarettes into Germany by occupation personnel, as a drastic measure to take the country off its black-market "cigarette standard."

The recommendation was contained in a report made to Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, deputy American military governor, by a special investigating committee. It said the sale and barter of cigarettes at inflated values by Americans was damaging the German economy.

Boost Weekly Ration

The report recommended that the embargo on importation of cigarettes be effected through a European theater directive banning them from army post office channels.

It suggested that if this was done the weekly cigarette ration at army post exchanges, which also supply civilians, be increased to "meet the needs of the maximum smoker." The current allowance is 200 cigarettes per week per adult.

It also recommended that cigarettes be eliminated as an item of exchange in any barter shop sponsored by the Army or Military Government.

Would Hit Private Mail

Some members of the investigating committee, which was composed of Military Government officials, questioned whether a prohibition against cigarette importations could be enacted. However, a Military Government legal officer said he knew of no Federal statute that would prevent it.

Presumably a ban on imports would include packages sent by private individuals in America to addressees here, as well as shipments from commercial firms. Thousands of Americans in Germany have been receiving cigarette shipments from mail order firms.

Cigarettes sell in the German black market at 1,200 marks ($120 at the military rate of exchange) and up per carton of 200.

By bartering cigarettes, some American families have obtained enough articles to furnish their houses.

Other Allied forces in Germany also have been dealing in cigarettes and food, but generally to a smaller extent than Americans and at a higher cost to themselves.

Two Main Findings

The seven-member AMG investigating committee based its recommendations for the embargo on two main findings:

1. The presence of cigarettes in the German economy has "set up a currency competitive to the legal currency which discredits the German currency, with resulting maladjustment of rationed goods and legal processes."

2. The presence of cigarettes as a cheap medium of exchange in the hands of Americans "constitutes an inducement to undignified trading with the German economy for personal reasons, without placing anything into the economy in return."

The investigators found that many Germans went so madly after cigarettes that sometimes they took them in preference to food, and that often they refused to accept German currency for services and in transactions and demanded cigarettes instead.

90 P.C. Go To Black Mart

Perhaps the chief reason for this was that Germans who obtained cigarettes—often in transactions at officially-sanctioned barter shops—would sell or trade them in the black market for articles which were otherwise unobtainable.

The report estimated that "probably 90 per cent" of American cigarettes obtained by Germans at the Military Government barter shop here went directly into the black market.

Hitler Counted On Puppet Nazi Party in Russia

Plan Was To Be Announced When Moscow Fell, With Renegade Slavs Forming It

BERLIN, Dec. 26 (AP)—Adolf Hitler's plan for a Nazi party of Russia, including a stooge Fuehrer and a mystical flag, has been disclosed in secret German records.

At the time when Hitler believed Moscow was on the verge of capture, a twelve-point manifesto was drafted in Berlin for issuance by Slav renegades. "The National Socialist party of Russia greets the brave German people, who have overthrown the slavery of Stalin," the manifesto declared.

Thousands of copies were printed in November, 1941, but as it became evident that the Wehrmacht had bogged down in the winter slush, the manifesto was filed away under the heading "Geheim"—secret!

The still-born National Socialist party of Russia, according to recovered documents, was to have been headed by a traitorous former citizen of the Soviet Union who adopted the pseudonym "Engineer Semlje." For a party flag, St. George, the mythical dragon-slayer, was to be portrayed on a white field, and on the left side there was to be a George Cross.

Only a few score Russian-born agents are known to have been gathered in eastern Poland, awaiting the call to return to their native land as German puppets, but there are indications they would have announced the rise of Russian National Socialism from the Kremlin if the German Army had entered Moscow.

The manifesto, however, admitted that the party would not "come to power" until the war ended and that its promises would not be fulfilled beforehand.

Designed chiefly to discourage continued Soviet resistance, the manifesto asserted the new National Socialist party "takes over responsibility for Russia's fate."

It listed these party objectives:

Complete destruction of the Communist and Kolhoz (collective farm) system; free transfer of land to the peasants; freedom of private initiative; yearly vacation of two months for farm workers; free distribution of lumber to all; nationalization of forests, railways and industry; amnesty for Komsomols (Communist youth); amnesty for well-behaved members of the Communist party; amnesty for all Communists "who with weapons in their hands have helped to throw down Stalin; amnesty for members of the order of Heroes of the U. S. S. R., and "annihilation of all Jewish commissars."

German Bomb Case in AMG Court

STUTTGART, Germany, Dec. 26 (AP)—Eleven Germans accused of bomb outrages against denazification courts in the United States occupation zone will be tried here Jan. 3 by the American Military Government, the AMG announced today. Marshal Herro of Milwaukee will act as president of the court, which will include Earl P. Deets of Baltimore, Dr. Raymond Bring of Miami, Maj. Mack Terry of Binghamton, N. Y., and Capt. Herbert Schwab of Los Angeles.

Parri Eyes Role In Italo-Slav Negotiations

Rome, Dec. 26 (AP)—Government quarters reported today that Premier Alcide de Gasperi, soon to leave for negotiations in the United States on Italian problems, had asked former Premier Ferruccio Parri to head a mission to Marshal Tito for Italian-Yugoslav talks.

Parri, who led Partisan fighters against the Germans in the final stages of the war, helped found the Action party and headed the Italian Government for six months last year, has not given his answer yet.

Two Particular Problems

The Italian Cabinet recently decided to send a commission of technicians to Belgrade in the near future to develop the contacts made with the Tito Government in New York and to discuss these problems:

1. The treatment of minority groups left on the wrong side of the new Italo-Yugoslav frontier that has been worked out by the Paris Peace Conference and the Foreign Ministers.

2. The resumption of trade relations.

Communist Leader Palmiro Togliatti, in an "unofficial mission" to Belgrade last November, stirred a clamorous controversy when he reported Marshal Tito was ready to bargain on Trieste, trade and some other questions.

Italian PW's Released

The offer on Trieste came to nothing, as the Foreign Ministers in New York proceeded to agree on a statute for the Free State of Trieste.

Italian representatives made direct contact with Yugoslav representatives in New York, however, and one fruit of Togliatti's trip has been the release of thousands of Italians held as prisoners of war in Yugoslavia. A third contingent of prisoners, numbering 2,680, arrived at Ancona, an Italian port on the Adriatic, on Christmas Eve.

It was believed that de Gasperi chose Parri, his immediate predecessor as Premier, to head the mission because several Ministers insisted that the delegation have a "political" character as well as a technical makeup.

Zionists Plan Executive Of Jewish Unit

Basel, Switzerland, Dec. 26 (AP)—Rabbi A. H. Silver, of Cleveland, Ohio, said today that the General Council of the World Zionist Organization was pursuing efforts to create an executive of the Jewish Agency.

A subcommittee headed by Silver was appointed by the General Council to continue conferences.

merely had lost its bearings. The Soviet military attache here was advised the plane and its crew were free to depart.

Sporadic fighting continued in the north. A press report from Trikkala said 30 guerrillas were killed and 50 were wounded in an attack on the village of Kanisko, in an area where army units recently began a mopping up campaign.

A dispatch from Kilkis said 40 families from two villages either "were seized by or joined up with" bands which attacked the villages.

Press reports from Salonika and irregular bands killed seven gendarmes and three villagers in attacks on two other small towns.

The Greek Second and Third Army Corps announced that 68 guerrillas surrendered yesterday under terms of an amnesty offer, and that 19 others were killed and 11 captured in mopping up operations.

GREEKS HURL NEW BULGARIAN THREAT OVER BORDER RAID

JOSEPH GOODWIN (N)

ATHENS, Dec. 26—(AP) The Athens press today quoted the Greek commander at Drama as declaring that guerrillas fighting government troops in Thrace were fleeing across the frontier and that "Greek forces will chase them into Bulgaria despite the consequences."

The dispatches attributed the statement to Gen. Nicholas Pappanicholou, commander in the narrow strip of Thrace between Bulgaria and the Aegean sea.

Strong Protest Made

The general made a "strong protest" to the local Bulgarian commander concerning entry of guerrillas from Bulgaria into Greece for an attack on a Greek village, but the Bulgarian officer rejected the protest on grounds that he had orders from his government, the press reports said.

The United Nations Security Council recently voted an 11-nation commission of inquiry to be sent to northern Greece and the border areas of Bulgaria, Albania and Yugoslavia, to look into Greek declarations that the three neighbor states were fomenting the bloody guerrilla warfare and counter-charges that the Greek royalist government was responsible for events in the north.

The Greek government, meanwhile, announced that a military investigation of a Russian plane's forced landing near Sidirocastro last week showed that the plane

GREEKS MAY CHASE FOE INTO BULGARIA

Athens, Dec. 26 (A. P.).—Three Athens newspapers quoted Brig.-Gen. Nicholas Pappanicholou, Greek commander at Drama, today as saying that his forces had been ordered to pursue retreating guerrillas "into Bulgaria despite the consequences."

Drama is in the narrow Thrace area between Bulgaria and the Ægean Sea. Considerable fighting has been in progress in Thrace.

The dispatches said that Pappanicholou made a 'strong protest to the Bulgarian commander at Katonevrookopi concerning the free entry of bandsmen from Bulgaria into Greece for an attack on the Greek village of Prosotsami." The Bulgarian officer was said to have declined the protest with the explanation that he had no orders from his Government.

Pappanicholou was quoted as saying that in the case of irregulars taking refuge or basing in Bulgaria, "Greek forces wil chase them into Bulgaria despite the consequences."

A press report from Trikkala said that thirty guerrillas were killed and fifty was wounded during an attack on the nearby village of Kanisko, in the area where Army units in Thessaly recently began a mopping up campaign.

Russ Hit U.S. 'Imperialism' 1946

Moscow, Dec. 26 (AP)—The Soviet Trade Union organ Trud today lauded efforts of the working class in Latin-America to "liberate their countries from the yoke of foreign monopolies which are striving to convert Latin-America into one huge colony."

The foreign monopolies in question, Trud declared, are primarily large American companies which, it said, have invested heavily in the Latin-American countries. The paper asserted that these companies had "utilized the war for greater expansion of their influence and to subordinate to themselves whole branches of industry" in Latin America.

Charges Open Repression

"Reactionary circles in Latin America, with the co-operation of United States monopolies, are striving to suppress the activities of trade-union organizations by means of open repression and subversive maneuvers of their agents," Trud asserted.

It identified these "agents" as representatives of the American Federation of Labor which, it said, was defending "the policy of imperialist penetration into the Latin-American countries, engaging in "provocational attempts to create a new association of Latin-American trade unions in competition with the Confederation of Latin-American Workers.

ARMED GANGS NET $107,000 IN PALESTINE

Bandits Rob 2 Diamond Plants, 40 Miles Apart, At Same Time

Jerusalem, Dec. 26 (AP)—Two bands of armed Jews robbed two diamond factories 40 miles apart almost simultaneously today and made away with nearly $107,000 in diamonds, cash and bonds, police reported.

Six armed men police said were believed to be of the Irgun Zvai Leumi underground resistance organization staged a spectacular raid on the Eden Hayaset factory in the all-Jewish town of Nathanya and fled with nearly $80,000 in cut diamonds.

Carried Tommy Guns

A few minutes earlier a band of three men carrying tommy guns invaded the Shamir diamond factory in Tel Aviv and escaped with $24,000 worth of diamonds, $3,000 in cash and some Government bonds.

The raids apparently were for the purpose of replenishing the underground war chest.

Nathanya, 40 miles from Tel Aviv, is the capital of Palestine's $35,000,000 diamond industry.

At that place the raiders held up more than 100 employés while looting the safe.

Meanwhile, police were investigating two killings which appeared to have been the result of executions ordered by irregular "courts" of the Jewish Resistance and of Arab Nationalists.

Said To Be A "Police Spy"

Irgun Zvai Leumi posted announcements in Tel Aviv and Jerusalem that it had "tried, convicted and executed" one of its members on Christmas Eve "because he was found to be a police spy."

The bullet-riddled body of a young Jew was picked up in Tel Aviv Tuesday.

Police reported the slaying of Emir Mohammed Zeinati by Arabs in Haifa on Christmas Day and said it appeared to have been the result of an Arab "purge." Arab informants said they thought Zeinati was killed "because he was believed to have sold land to Jews and to have espoused Jew-Arab unity."

JEW AND ARAB DIE IN TRAITOR PURGES

Jerusalem, Dec. 26 (A. P.).—Irgun Zvai Leumi, the Jewish national military organization, announced in posters today that it tried, convicted and executed one of its own members on Christmas Eve "because he was found to be a police spy."

A 25-year-old Jew, Israel Levin, was found dead near the Tel Aviv zoo on Tuesday with seven bullet wounds in his head, his eyes blindfolded and his arms bound. He had been kidnaped from his home in a Tel Aviv suburb on Monday.

Investigating today's posters, and also delving into the killing of Emir Mohammed Zeinati by Arabs in Haifa, the police said that both killings appeared to be of a purge nature. Arab spokesmen said they had information that Zeimati was slain "because he was believed to have sold land to Jews and to have espoused the cause of Jew-Arab unity." He died on Christmas day.

1 Dead, 5 Hurt In Bombay Outbursts 1946

Bombay, Dec. 26 (AP)—One person was reported killed and five injured during the night as a result of sporadic outbursts of communal violence marked by repeated police gunfire.

Police said they had to fire to quell outbreaks of acid and stone throwing that developed in clashes between Hindus and Moslems. The lone fatality was the result of a knifing, but the five persons listed as injured were wounded during the shooting.

Seven arrests were reported by police.

Hanoi French Repulse Viet-Namese Attack

Hanoi, Indo-China, Dec. 25 [AP—delayed]—French troops repulsed a violent counterattack by Viet-Nam forces upon the native quarter of Hanoi last night as large-scale mopping up operations continued in the southern districts.

The Viet-Namese entered the mansion of the Jean Saitenys, French commissioner, which was partly burned. They left their dead behind them in the retreat.

French garrisons at Namdinh and Phulangthoung were reported holding their positions, despite violent attacks. A French column advancing eastward from Langson, 80 miles northeast of Hanoi, toward the Gulf of Tonkin made a junction with a column from Tienyen which had covered 40 miles in three days, despite difficult terrain and sometimes stiff military opposition.

French official quarters commented that the local Nung populations, which they said had been terrorized by Annamites, Viet Minh (the "united revolutionary front") and Chinese Communists, assisted the Tienyen column in its advance.

Indo-Chinese Revolt Blamed On Viet Nam Head By French

JOSEPH L. GOODWIN

Paris, Dec. 26 (AP)—A French Foreign Office spokesman tonight accused Ho Chi Minh, president of the fugitive Viet Nam republican government, of deliberately planning and directing the nationalist uprising against colonial authority in French Indo-China.

It was the first time the fighting in France's Far Eastern colony had been blamed directly upon Ho, who had been looked upon by many in France as a moderate, helpless against more ardent nationalists in the Viet Nam ranks.

Government Seat Set Up

The accusation came as dispatches from the embattled colony reported that Ho, who fled his capital at Hanoi at the outset of the fighting last week, had re-established his government at Hadong, 6 miles to the southwest.

Other dispatches said French colonials, now in command of the entire European quarter of Hanoi, were jabbing ahead on virtually all the scattered fronts as the nationalists fell back.

The French Foreign Office spokesman accused Ho of duplicity in proposing to the French Government mutual concessions looking toward re-establishment of normalcy while preparing for the uprising.

The spokesman released what he said was a letter from Ho to President-Premier Blum, dated December 15, which proposed that French and Viet Nam troops return to their positions at Haiphong and Langson as of November 20.

It referred to "grave incidents" which "are currently spilling blood in our country," and spoke of the "current state of hostilities."

The spokesman said, however, that while the offers were being made, roads were being mined on Hanoi's principal streets; trains were halted at junctions so that the city would be cut in two, road blocks thrown up and sabotage prepared against the central electric plant.

Disguised As "Patients"

On the days preceding the first open attack—December 19—the Yersin hospital in Hanoi was filled with "false patients" who really were Viet Nam soldiers in disguise, the spokesman said.

At Cherbourg, port officials reported the liner Ile de France, still fitted out as a war transport, would be diverted from its trans-Atlantic schedule to carry troops to Indo-China. These officials said the ship would sail this week for North Africa and then to Toulon whence it would take 9,000 troops to Indo-China.

The liner was scheduled to make two trans-Atlantic voyages in 1947 before being reconverted for peacetime. There was no immediate confirmation of the report in Paris.

French Advance Reported

From Indo-China unconfirmed reports said French armor and infantry reinforcements from the area of Haiphong port had reached a point 35 miles from Hanoi, about halfway to the northern capital.

Isolated but violent incidents were reported at Saigon in the southern state of Cochin China. A French dispatch reported failure of a Viet Nam effort to enlist the autonomous republican Government's support in Cochin China in a joint independence move. Saigon was under a 10 P.M. curfew.

A delayed Associated Press dispatch from Hanoi said the Viet Nam troops there counterattacked violently near the rim of the native quarter on Christmas Day, penetrated and partly burned the French commissioner's mansion and then fell back before French fire, leaving many bodies on the field.

Civilians Urged To Leave

M. A. Sainteny, the commissioner for Tonkin, was in bed at the time, recovering from head wounds suffered in the initial outbreak in Hanoi when he was struck by fragments from a road mine.

French troops manned a tight cordon around the city's Annamite sector, and the civil population was urged to evacuate the area before mopping-up operations were begun. Food conditions in the isolated sector were described as desperate.

About 75 miles to the north, on the Chinese border, a French column from Langson joined with another from Tienyen, near the coast 40 miles north of Hongay harbor, and advanced 40 miles toward unspecified objectives in a three-day march which often met stiff opposition.

Natives Aid Garrison

At Langson itself a French garrison had broken a nationalist siege and routed Viet Nam forces. Natives in the area came to the garrison's aid, military sources at Hanoi said, adding that the rapid advance from Langson was aided by local populations which had been terrorized by Annamite and nationalist forces and their adherents.

Meanwhile, in Paris, Premier

Blum was reported to have told his Government there was no significant change in the Indo-China situation since he reported on it three days ago to the National Assembly.

However, at Saigon, Marius Moutet, Colonial Minister, was quoted as preparing a report to Paris that the situation was "well in hand." Moutet arrived in Saigon yesterday and made a quick military survey of conditions in the north.

A French general staff communiqué, which the French press agency said was delayed in transmission, reported clashes at Nam Dinh, southeast of Hanoi and near the coast. There, the bulletin said, French troops inflicted severe losses on the Viet Nam forces.

French troops apparently also were in control of Haiduong, half way between Haiphong and Hanoi on the main road. However, Haiphong's suburbs were reported still under shell fire by Viet Namese nationalists using Japanese mortars and 75-mm. guns.

French Minister Probes Trouble In Indo-China

Paris, Dec. 26 (AP)—Colonial Minister Marius Moutet today began an on-the-spot investigation of the situation in Indo-China as French troops slowly fanned out through the northern states of Annam and Tonkin against stubborn opposition by Viet-Nam nationalists.

Dispatches from Saigon in the southern state of Cochin-China reported Moutet's arrival there yesterday on a special fact-finding mission. He was greeted by Admiral George Thierry d'Argenlieu, French high commissioner for Indo-China, who had arived from Paris earlier in the week.

Moutet was also greeted at the airport by delegates claiming to represent a majority of the Annamite population as well as by many French, who presented him with a petition asking the replacement of d'Argenlieu and most of his regime. The delegates maintained that dissatisfaction with d'Argenlieu was largely responsible for the trouble in the north.

Visit To Be Short

Saigon itself was fairly quiet during the night, the French Press Agency reported. Hand grenades were said to have been thrown into a French barracks and at a French military truck, but without causing any casualties. A policeman was killed and another seriously wounded in another incident, the agency said. Saigon was under a 10 P.M.-to-5 A.M. curfew.

The Saigon advices said Moutet declined to comment on the situation, merely declaring that there had been no change in French policy and that his Government would continue to work for the protection of legitimate French interests, French citizens and the friends of France.

He was quoted as saying that he intended to visit Hanoi, capital of the young Viet-Namese Republic and one of the main trouble centers, but that his visit would be short because he had to return to Paris for the French presidential election on January 16.

D'Argenlieu Broadcasts

The French National Assembly last week agreed to postpone an inquiry into the Indo-China situation for two weeks to give him an apportunity to make a report.

D'Argenlieu, in a Christmas Day broadcast, declared that France could not grant Viet-Namese demands for complete independence, but pledged that his Government would respect agreements for local self-government.

He asserted that to grant the demands would "gravely prejudice" the interests of both France and Indo-China.

Meager reports on the military situation over the week end said that Hanoi had been completely occupied by the French but told of continued sharp fighting elsewhere in Tonkin and Annam.

A Manila dispatch quoted travelers arriving there from Bangkok as saying that former German war prisoners who had joined the French Foreign Legion for duty in Indo-China were deserting the French during the current fighting.

CHINESE TROOPS TAKE OFFENSIVE

PEIPING, Dec. 26—(AP) The first first time since Chiang Kai-shek issued cease fire orders Nov. 11, government reports today told of an offensive gesture by Chiang's troops.

These reports said Peng Lai, one of three principal ports on the north coast of Shantung Peninsula, had been wrested from Chinese Communists as the Nationalists strove to open a corridor from the peninsula coast to the Tsingtao-Tsinan railroad.

Since Chiang issued his cease-fire order as a move to restore peace between the government and the Communists, the only government military action reported has been defensive in nature.

But there was the suggestion elsewhere that from Shantung that the government is going back into action. Aroused by persistent Communist guerrilla activities around Peiping, the eleventh war zone headquarters said the Nationalists would begin a "country purge" to crush groups threatening the Peiping-Tientsin railroad. The latest guerrilla success was the capture of Lutung, a village in Peiping's north suburbs.

Chinese In Drive On Guerrillas

Peiping, Dec. 26 (AP)—Chinese Communist guerrillas, in a surprise move, captured a village only seven miles north of Peiping today and provoked the Government into an about face in its policy.

The Communists' unexpected attack from the north elicited a statement from eleventh war zone headquarters that National troops would begin a "country purge" to crush guerrillas threatening the Peiping-Tientsin railroad.

Previously, Government military leaders persistently maintained the guerrilla attacks were not serious and dismissed them as nuisance tactics.

Government reports said 1,000 to 2,000 Communists captured the village, Lutung, Christmas Day after a fifteen-hour battle and still held it today, although they once were driven off by Government reinforcements.

The local press said guerrillas were harassing national garrisons in other villages around Peiping and also have begun attacking the southeast section of the railroad.

The Communists also stepped up their attacks around Paoting, capital of Hopeh province.

JAP FILMS SHOWN AT TOKYO TRIAL

Tokyo, Dec. 26 (A. P.).—Japanese propaganda films misrepresenting Dutch and Australian prisoners of war as well fed and luxuriously housed in Java were shown before the International War Crimes Tribunal today. Lieut.-Col. J. S. Sinninghe Damste, associate prosecutor for the Netherlands, told the court that survivors said that they were forced to pose for the film at gun point and under threat of death to friends or relatives if they refused, and that they only saw the food, adding: "Food—the thing we dreamed about—succulent beef, steaming bread—we saw the food, handled it, but that was all—the Japanese ate it."

The films, taken in 1942, were supplanted with post-liberation Australian movies showing the true situation. One general affidavit was made by an Australian, Brigadier Arthur Seaforth Blackburn, who directed the inserts and who had previously testified regarding camp conditions.

Cornelius C. Leenheer, a Dutch citizen of Kisaran, Sumatra, now attached to the British Army as a major, described mistreatment of women in the camps. He was a rubber plantation manager for the United States Rubber Company at the time of the invasion.

MacArthur Invites Byrnes To Japan

Tokyo, Dec. 26 (AP)—General MacArthur today invited Secretary of State Byrnes to visit Japan "to emphasize the importance of America's inherent interest in the future of the Pacific."

His invitation was in reply to a Byrnes' message congratulating MacArthur "on the great job you have done in Japan."

BYRNES ASKED TO VISIT JAPAN

MacArthur's Invitation Given In Yule Greeting Exchange

Washington, Dec. 26 (AP)—An invitation to Secretary Byrnes from General MacArthur to visit Japan was disclosed today by the State Department, but officials indicated there was little likelihood that the Secretary could make such a trip, at least for several months.

The Allied commander expressed belief in an exchange of holiday greetings that a visit by Byrnes "would do much to orient the American people as to the vital importance of America's inherent interest in the futuer of the Pacific."

Congratulated On Job

MacArthur's invitation followed the receipt of a Christmas message in which Byrnes congratulated him on "the great job you have done in Japan" and added "You have demonstrated that you are a statesman as well as a soldier."

The State Department made the exchange public after MacArthur's headquarters at Tokyo disclosed the invitation.

Might Return Via Tokyo

The Secretary himself was absent on a Christmas holiday at Aiken, S.C., but a department official told newsmen he will be busy for some time preparin gfor the Big Four peace conference on Germany to open in Moscow in March.

The Secretary intedns to represent the United States at this conference and the spokesman did not rule out the possibility that he might be able to return to the United States from Moscow by way of Tokyo.

Admiral Crawford Shifted

Tokyo, Dec. 26 (AP)—The United States Navy today announced that Rear Admiral George C. Crawford, of Black Mountain, N.C., has been appointed commander of Cruiser Division 13, based in the Marianas. He has been in command of Cruiser Division No. 1, based at Yokosuka.

Japanese Diet Adjourns

TOKYO, Dec. 26 (AP).—The ninety-first extraordinary Diet (Parliament) session adjourned today after a month's stormy meeting. Political controversies shelved or delayed major legislation.

Japan Takes Over Raw Silk

TOKYO, Dec. 26 (AP)—The Government decided today to place raw silk under a State monopoly to prevent diversion into undesirable channels, to improve quality and to relieve producers of losses caused by fluctuations in foreign prices.

Brutality Of Jap Medic Told At Crimes Trial

Yokohama, Dec. 26 (AP)—Raymond S. Kirch, Lake of the Hills, Lake Wales, Fla., charged in an affidavit today that Rikio Shioiri, a PW camp medical orderly, knocked him down because he asked for treatment.

The affidavit, read at the war-crime trial for Shioiri, said Kirch's feet were swollen from malnutrition and cold. He declared the orderly made him put on shoes "even though the pain was more than I could bear." He charged the Japanese hammered him in the abdomen and knocked him down.

POLISH GROUP SEEKS TO ENTER PHILIPPINES

MANILA, Friday, Dec. 27—(AP) A group of 150 Polish refugees in Telaviv, Palestine, petitioned the government today for permission to come to the Philippines.

In a letter to Philippine authorities, the group of newspapermen, artists and scientists said they faced return to their native land, but did not want to go back because Poland was under the political influence of Russia.

DAIREN ORDER IS EXPLAINED

State Department Says No "Ultimatum" Was Given

Washington, Dec. 26 (AP)—The State Department said today latest information indicated that no official Soviet "ultimatum" was involved in last week's enforced departure of an American naval vessel from the Russian-held naval port of Dairen, Manchuria.

A dispatch from William H. Newton, Scripps-Howard writer representing the combined world press, reported the refusal of Russian military authorities to permit an American business man and two correspondents to land at Dairen from an American vessel which hurriedly left port two hours after the expiration of its authorized 48-hour stay. Newton spoke of a verbal ultimatum by Russian military officials.

No "Fist Shaking"

After obtaining clarification of a "garbled" portion of a report from Consul General H. Merell Benninghoff at Dairen, a State Department spokesman expressed belief that the Russian "ultimatum" which sped the vessel's departure was not "in any sense a fist-shaking affair."

The spokesman, Lincoln White, department press officer, said that Benninghoff had advised that the Soviet official in charge of the docks had granted a two-hour extension of stay to the ship on his own authority.

Then, becoming nervous, this official told the ship's officer the vessel must leave or he could not be responsible for the consequences. White explained that this apparently meant that he simply didn't know what the reaction of his superiors might be.

On Routine Mission

The vessel, the LC-3 1090, went to Dairen on a routine courier mission carrying diplomatic mail and supplies to the United States Consulate there.

Today's explanation appeared to close the Dairen incident so far as the State Department is concerned.

In another development with a bearing on Russian-American relations, the State Department today firmly rejected a Soviet protest over a fight between two Russians and American military police in Shanghai.

The Moscow press gave prominence to this incident following the publication of reports of the Dairen affair in American newspapers.

Followed Auto Accident

An exhaustive investigation by American authorities in Shanghai showed, White said, that the military police became involved only after the Russians had beaten the driver of an American Army jeep which struck the Russians' car.

Instead of "seeking official intervention," the Russians were said to have pulled out the ignition wires of the jeep and then assaulted the driver, Corporal Robert C. Carson.

The M.P.'s thereupon subdued the Russians with "considerable difficulty."

There were no denials that they were beaten. They were treated at a hospital for contusions and bruises but were able to leave without assistance, the State Department said.

The Soviet Consul General at Shanghai has been told that the two Russiains could file a claim through American Army channels for any damage suffered to their motor car in the accident.

U.S. Rejects Red Complaint On China Row

Washington, Dec. 26 (AP)—The State Department announced today it has rejected Russian complaints that two Soviet citizens were attacked by American military police in Shanghai on September 23.

The Department blamed the two Russians for the fighting, which occurred after an automobile accident. The Russians had asked compensation for injuries received in the clash.

The incident first drew a complaint from Soviet authorities in Shanghai on December 19. The protest was taken to the State Department by the Russian embassy here.

Dairen Incident Virtually Closed

Coincident with the Department's statement, the Department's press officer, Lincoln White, expressed the opinion that there was no ultimatum involved in a warning by Soviet official at Dairen, Manchuria, last week to American naval officers to get their ship out of port after its authorized 48-hour stay had expired.

This appeared virtually to close the Dairen incident as far as the State Department is concerned. White said that the warning was given by a Soviet official in charge of the Dock rather than by Soviet military commanders and that it was, in his opinion, "not in any sense an ultimatum."

White previously had stated that the Russian officials were within their legal rights in requesting the ship to leave.

COMMUNISTS PLAN MASS STRIKE, VIEW

Accused Of Revolutionary Plot By House Probers' Counsel

Washington, Dec. 26 (AP)—Ernie Adamson, counsel for the House committee charged with investigating un-American activities, came up today with a report saying:

1. There is a "conspiracy" brewing to promote a communistic revolution in the United States through an economy-wrecking general strike or other means.

2. Seventeen important CIO labor unions are dominated by Red agents of the Soviet Union.

3. The Library of Congress is "a haven for aliens and foreign-minded Americans."

CIO Denies Charge

4. The State Department ought to protest about activities of "numerous representatives of foreign nations" attached to the United Nations and busily following "with blind obedience the dictates of Moscow."

5. "Communist-controlled unions" are making inroads in the Panama Canal Zone and by tying up the canal "can paralyze our entire shipping and commerce."

Committee members reserved comment on Adamson's findings. The CIO and the Library of Congress called the respective references to them untrue.

Members said the committee probably would meet early next week formally to approve, or modify, the report.

"We haven't had a chance to read it yet," one member said. "It's all news to me."

"Creating Unemployment"

Adamson declared:

"The time has come for all labor unions to inquire fully into the aims of those who pose as friends, but actually have no other interests than a fervent and sometimes violent desire to be instrumental in the establishment of a virtual dictatorship in the United States."

Communists, who, he maintained, have infiltrated into the field of government, labor and education, "realize that the Communist plan of creating unemployment in the United States is the only medium through which they can possibly gain control of the United States through a victory at the ballot box."

Other methods that may be used in "a foreign-inspired conspiracy," he said, include "a general strike in the United States through Communist-controlled labor unions which will ultimately result in a revolution," or "industrial sabotage in the form of strikes . . . during a period of war between the United States and Soviet Russia."

Denied By Librarian

As for the Library of Congress, Adamson said many persons accepted for employment in its reorganized legislative reference department "have had extensive association with agencies or societies who have shown inclination to change the economy, if not the Constitution, of the United States."

Luther Harris Evans, Librarian of Congress, said: "I deny flatly and completely" the "haven" accusation.

He added that many of his employés might have belonged to organizations which were interested in changing the Constitution by granting women's suffrage or eliminating lame ducks from Congress.

"But if he means that they are subversive or belong to organizations engaged in subversive activities, then I deny that flatly and completely."

Evans said that if the committee offered any "facts" he would meet them and refute them.

Adamson said that probably the "most serious penetration" by Communist forces "has been within the labor movement, where the Communists dominate seventeen vital unions of the CIO."

"This Is An Old Saw"

Henry Fleischer, speaking for the CIO said, "This is an old saw used time and again and there is nothing new in it." Fleischer added that "we don't think much of Mr. Adamson or his committee."

The CIO spokesman expressed the opinion that "Mr. Adamson is mad at us" because the CIO convention recently adopted a resolution saying that the committee "would go on from attacking what they call radicals and liberals to a direct attack on labor unions."

Adamson contended that "numerous representatives of foreign nations who are attached to the United Nations have been attending meetings sponsored by the Communists fronts in the United States and addressing audiences upon matters affecting the United Nations."

"One-Sided Opinions"

However, he said, they "are presenting one-sided opinions directed in favor of the Russion foreign policy and the nation which they themselves represent."

The State Department should protest these activities, he added.

The committee, Adamson said, "cannot emphasize too strongly . . . the danger from this 'Fifth Column' within our gates which follows with blind obedience the dictates of Moscow."

Adamson, 52-year-old native of Carrollton, Ga., practiced law in Atlanta, New York and Pittsburgh before accepting the committee post early in 1945. He is the son of former Representative William C. Adamson, of Georgia.

Reports have been prevalent since Republicans won control of Congress last month that he will be replaced next month by Robert E. Stripling, former chief investigator when former Representative Martin Dies, of Texas, headed the committee.

FOREIGN POLICY BACKING ASKED

Morse Also Urges Public Support for AMG.

Washington, Dec. 26 (A. P.)—Senator Morse (R.-Ore.) called today for support and strengthening of the administration's foreign policy as a means of winning the peace and avoiding another war.

Just back from a six weeks' tour of Europe and the Middle East, he also asserted in a statement that Americans at home had "let down" United States Military Government and State Department officials abroad. American prestige among Allied, liberated and conquered countries has suffered as a result, he said.

"Every American here at home should feel somewhat ashamed of the lack of adequate support which we have given these representatives of ours abroad since V-E and V-J Day," he added.

If the next twenty years are to be something else than an armistice, he said, the United States must make clear that "we are in Europe to stay for whatever period of years future events demonstrate that it is necessary for us to stay."

"That means also," he continued, "that we must give adequate support to our officials abroad so that the prestige and influence of America will be respected and followed at all international council tables."

Backs Bipartisan Policy.

Morse said he did not claim to qualify as an authority after his trip but that he had done his best to make an intensive, objective study of political and economic conditions.

"As a result of my observations I am convinced that the Truman-Byrnes-Vandenberg-Connally foreign policy not only must be supported but must be strengthened if we are to win the peace and avoid another war," he said.

"If all Americans could see the struggle for existence which is going on in the countries I visited they would see the danger to our national security which is inherent in the wishful thinking which since the war has come to characterize the attitudes of too many Americans toward our international problems."

ARMY HELPS OUTFIT PACIFIC RAFT TRIP

Expedition Hopes To Prove Polynesians Hail From West

Washington, Dec. 26 (AP)—The Army, adventuring into nautical affairs, is helping outfit a six-man raft expedition across the South Pacific.

The expedition members, six Norwegians, said today they hoped the 4,000-mile drift from Peru to South Pacific islands will prove that the Polynesians' ancestors came from the Western Hemisphere and not Asia.

For its part, the Army hopes to find out how some of its new field and emergency equipment stands up under 140 days of tropical heat and storm at sea.

GI Fare For Norwegians

The Army and the Air Forces are staking the Norwegians to old GI-tested rations and some new dehydrated bill-of-fare, a recently developed water container, sleeping bags, watertight instrument containers and a couple of life rafts just in case the balsa-wood design of the ancient Inca people fails to hold up.

Thor Heyerdahl, zoologist, ethnologist and skipper of the expedition, took a philosophical view about native rafts. Asked what the party would do if a storm capsized the 25 by 15-foot raft, Heyerdahl replied: "A raft is just as flat on the bottom as on the top."

The expedition expects to drift away from Ilo, Peru, early in February and follow the Humbolt current out westerly into the Pacific making landfall in the Tuamoto group near Tahiti.

Hopes To Prove Theory

Heyerdahl and his wife lived in Tahiti ten years ago, were adopted by the native chief and given native names the pronunciation of which took two days to learn.

The Norwegian said he hoped the expedition would prove his ethnological theory, which is this:

A race of white peoples set out from the coast of South America perhaps 1,500 years before the rise of the Inca civilization, migrating on rafts which landed them in the Pacific islands. About 500 years later Indian natives from the northwest coast of North America migrated by seagoing canoes to the same area. The fusion of the two races produced the Polynesian stock.

This contest the long-standing theory that the source of Polynesians was from the Asiatic mainland.

Heyerdahl said the possibility of the second migration form the area of British Columbia was supported by a voyage made in the 1920's by Capt. J. C. Voss, who sailed a dugout canoe from Vancouver to New Zealand.

Army To Try Out Trainee Court

Washington, Dec. 26 (AP)—The Army, seeking a substitute for court-martial to enforce discipline in its proposed universal military training program, will experiment with a trainee court and "code of conduct."

The test will be conducted in a unit of 18-and-19-year-old regular army recruits, who will begin U.M.T.-type training at Fort Knox, Ky., next month. About 600 men are in the unit set up to find out how U.M.T. should operate if Congress approves the program.

Gen. Jacob L. Devers, Army Ground Force commander, announced the disciplinary experiment in a statement today. A demerit system with extra duty for infraction of regulations will be the base of the experimental system. Because U.M.T. trainees would be civilians and not members of the armed forces they could neither be tried by court-martial nor sentenced to military prisons.

Each demerit over ten in one month will call for an hour of extra fatigue duty. A trainee court composed of seven men from his own company will sit in judgment on a violator accused of such things as brief a.w.o.l., shirking duty or disorderly conduct. Members of the court, a trial judge advocate and counsel, will be appointed by the senior member of the company. An officer will serve as adviser on military law, but will have no vote in the court's decision.

Scientists Hear How Flyers Listened for Subs

BOSTON, Dec. 26 — (AP) The Navy showed the American Association for the Advancement of Science today how its fliers listened for submarines underneath the water.

The planes dropped long, slender, can-shaped buoys, with four foot antennae reaching into the air and a mike dangling in the water below.

These buoys radioed the underwater sounds to the planes.

The Navy showed a training device, as big as two pianos, which gave a miniature imitation of sea, submarine below and buoys, equipped with sound so that trainees could learn to distinguish submarine sounds from noises made by the sea, surface ships, and airplanes.

5 Years Old Tomorrow, Seabees Still 'Can Do'

Washington, Dec. 26 (AP) — The "Can Do" Seabees—who, the Navy boasted, could make an ice-cream freezer or an automobile from oil drums and a junk pile—celebrate their fifth anniversary Saturday.

Seabees (named from the initials of their organization: Construction Battalion) were in every major United States invasion after Guadalcanal. They blew up underwater obstacles, built ship-to-shore causeways, then laid down airfields and bases—frequently dropping their tools to fight off enemy counter-attacks.

Now a permanent part of the Navy, a skeleton force of 7,000 Seabees handles emergency construction jobs and act as a nucleus for a wartime organization should another emergency arise. During the war the Seabees reached a peak of 250,000 men.

5,000 AT OAK RIDGE TO LOSE THEIR JOBS

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., Dec. 26 (AP)—The Army announced tonight that new processes for development of atomic energy worked out here during the past year would result in "considerable savings in operating costs" and a reduction of about 5,000 workers.

Col. E. E. Kirkpatrick, Manhattan District deputy engineer and commanding officer here, declined to discuss the new processes, but an Army announcement said they dealt with "separation of Uranium 235." This was one of the elements used in the manufacture of atomic bombs.

"Results of the test operation have been discussed with the Atomic Energy Commission, which will assume responsibility for the operations of the Manhattan Project on Jan. 1, and the commission has concurred in the operating changes," the announcement said.

The statement added that plans for the production of fissionable materials were unchanged and that "the expanding program of research and development of atomic energy will not be affected."

Colonel Kirkpatrick told reporters the 5,000 employes would be laid off over a period of "a few months" and that "no further layoffs are anticipated in the long-range program of operations."

He said there were 28,000 to 29,000 persons working here now, including administrative and Army personnel.

Kin Of Marines In China May Join Them There

Washington, Dec. 26 (AP)—Wives and other dependents of some Marines in China may join their menfolk under an authorization of James Forrestal, Secretary of the Navy, made public today.

Officers and enlisted men of the rank of staff sergeant and up may apply for their dependents to join them, the Navy said.

This privilege had previously been granted to army and navy personnel in the Far East.

Transport Reaches U.S. From Manila, Okinawa

San Francisco, Dec. 26 (AP)—The army transport Gen. H. F. Hodges, delayed by storms at sea from her scheduled Christmas Day arrival, docked today with 1,116 military and 115 civilian passengers from Manila and Okinawa.

Aboard the ship was Brig. Gen. Franklin O. Carroll, Sr., of Dayton, Ohio, who is transferring from command of the Pacific Air Service Command at Manila to a staff position in Washington.

Two other large troop ships are on the inbound schedule of the Port of Embarkation for the remainder of the year. They are the S.S. Marine Devil with 1,240 military passengers, due from Jinsen, Korea and Yokohama December 29, and the S.S. Cape Mendocino from Manila on December 30 with 1,189 military and eight civilian passengers.

BILBO REPORT TO BE 'TOUGH'

Said To Show Relations With War Contractors

Washington, Dec. 26 (AP)—A member of the Senate War Investigating Committee said tonight the subcommittee which investigated Senator Bilbo's relations with war contractors has drafted "a very tough" report.

It makes no direct recommendations, he said, but lays down the evidence on Bilbo's connections with Mike Morrisey, A. B. Friend, F. T. Newton and others, and emphasizes contentions by Senator Ferguson (R., Mich) that donations were solicited from them.

May Decline To Sign

These other items also went on the Bilbo bulletin board:

1. Strong doubt arose as to whether some Democratic members of the committee will sign or sanction the subcommittee report.

2. Chairman Taft (R., Ohio) of the Senate Republican Steering Committee called a meeting for tomorrow morning to discuss whether to try to bar Bilbo from the Senate.

3. Senator Elmer Thomas (D., Okla.) reported that Bilbo is dredging up some "embarrassing" questions for some of the senators who want to throw him out. Thomas reported that the Mississippi Senator has "a bunch of people" looking into relations between other senators and war contractors. In a mood to fight fire with fire, Thomas said, Bilbo is prepared to raise some embarrassing questions about those relations.

Repeatedly in the week-long subcommittee investigation of Bilbo's war-contractor activities, he denied he had done anything that other lawmakers had not done.

Bilbo was reported to have spent a quiet Christmas at his "Dream House" on his Mississippi farm.

Senator Mead (D., N.Y.), subcommittee chairman, was reported late today to have decided to sign the report, prepared by Senator Ferguson (R., Mich.) and members of the committee staff.

Invited To GOP Meeting

However, Senator Tunnell (D., Del.), the third member of the subcommittee, was said to have decided against signing on the grounds that he was not able to attend all the hearings.

Senators Hickenlooper (R., Iowa) and Ferguson were invited to attend tomorrow's GOP steering committee meeting although they are not members of the group.

Colombia Is 39th Nation To Join the World Bank

5 Other Countries Have Until Tueseday to Sign Up

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26 (AP).—Colombia has become the thirty-ninth nation to join the World Bank for Reconstruction and development, Harold D. Smith, vice-president, announced today.

Colombia has been a member of the Bank's twin institution, the World Monetary Fund, since the latter's start, but its entrance into membership in the Bank was delayed by internal legislative technicalitics.

Colombia's subscription to the Bank is $35,000,000.

Five other countries which participated in the Bretton Woods conference in the summer of 1944 have until Tuesday to sign the Bank's articles of agreement, but so far have not indicated that they will do so.

These are Russia, Australia, New Zealand, Liberia and Venezuela.

The Bank, which has thus far made no loans or issued any securities to investors, is continuing its quest for a president to succeed Eugene Meyer, who resigned three weeks ago.

Mr. Smith has also resigned but is remaining at his desk until a successor to Mr. Meyer is chosen.

Sugar Control Keeps Price Level Low

Chicago, Dec. 26—Removing controls from sugar would send prices soaring to somewhere near the 26 cents a pound figure of 1920, Department of Agriculture spokesmen said here today.

Sugar today is retailing at 8 to 9 cents a pound, it was said, largely because the United States purchases all of the big Cuban and Puerto Rican crops and rations the supply.

No Exports

"The United States is not exporting any of its home-grown sugar," the Government spokesman said.

The United States, Canada and Britain all have cut per capita sugar consumption to 78.1 pounds annually compared with prewar use of 103, 102 and 111.2 pounds, respectively.

Denmark, a surplus sugar producing country, has voluntarily cut the rations of its citizens from 122.3 pounds per capita prewar to 84 pounds today.

Sweden reduced from 101.6 to 89.6 pounds per capita.

Nations Rationed

The countries receiving part of the rations of the above nations and their current per capita rate of sugar consumption follows:

Germany — Prewar consumption was 56 pounds per capita; today 16 pounds.

Italy—Prewar use was about 19 pounds per capita; today 7.9 pounds.

Poland — Prewar consumption 12.8 pounds a person; using today 12.5 pounds.

Russia — Prewar use was 25.8 pounds per capita; use today 13.5 pounds, "which may not be filled this year."

Spain—Prewar use 24 pounds per capita; available today 11 pounds.

Bergson Plans Palestine Exile Regime in Paris

Departs Today for France; Predicts Holy Land Will Soon See a Revolution

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26 (AP).—Peter Bergson, chairman of the Hebrew Committee of National Liberation, will leave for France tomorrow to lead a group which will form a Palestine government-in-exile.

Bergson, who claims the support of Jewish underground groups in the Holy Land, told a news conference the exile "revolutionary" government will receive recognition in Palestine, and probably will be recognized by "several" governments.

He told newsmen the new "government-in-exile of the Hebrew Republic in Palestine" will coordinate underground fighting and "transform the present sporadic struggle in Palestine into a full-fledged active force for national liberation."

He quoted a 1775 statement by the American patriot Patrick Henry: "If we wish to be free . . . we must fight!" and said a "full-scale revolution is soon to come" in Palestine.

Bergson said the Zionists and other agencies, such as the World Zionist Congress and the Jewish Agency for Palestine, are "products of the ghetto" and have brought about "an unhealthy situation" which "cannot continue without fostering anti-Semitism.

Attacked by Zionists

Peter Bergson has been a controversial figure ever since he came to the United States in 1940, and has been attacked frequently by Zionist leaders who have denounced terrorism in Palestine.

The latest public attack on Bergson and the Hebrew Committee of National Liberation which he organized came this month from the president and executive committee of Vaad Leumi, the Jewish National Council in Palestine. They said the H. C. N. L. "is wholly outside the organized Jewish community" and "consists of persons who are self-appointed and who represent no one except themselves."

The thirty-five-year-old Bergson was born in Lithuania, but was taken to Palestine with his family a few years later. His father is one of Jerusalem's leading Talmudists.

After helping organize the 1934 boycott of Germany in the Near East, Bergson turned to smuggling Jews into Palestine. In 1937 he went to Europe to help Jews escape to the Holy Land via the underground railroad.

Since coming to the United States he has been active in organizing such groups as the American Friends of a Jewish Palestine, the Committee for a Jewish Army of Stateless and Palestinian Jews, the Emergency Committee to Save the Jewish People of Europe and the American League for a Free Palestine.

CAPT. ALVARO ALBERTO OF BRAZIL TOLD THE COMMITTEE THAT THE CONSTITUTION OF HIS COUNTRY REQUIRED THAT OWNERSHIP OF MINES AND ORES IN THE GROUND MUST BE IN THE HANDS OF BRAZILIAN CITIZENS. NEW YORK, DEC.26-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES WILL BE ASKED TO MAKE MID-MANHATTAN SITE ALONG THE EAST RIVER, SELECTED AS A PERMANENT HOME FOR THE UNITED NATIONS, A VIRTUALLY INVIOLABLE INTERNATIONAL ZONE, A.H. FELLER, GENERAL COUNSEL OF THE WORLD ORGANIZATION, SAID TODAY.

FELLER SAID THE NEGOTIATIONS WOULD BE OPENED LATE NEXT MONTH BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT AND U.N. OFFICIALS ON A PROPOSED DRAFT TREATY ESTABLISHING THE ZONE.

THE PROPOSED AGREEMENT, WHICH WILL REQUIRE APPROVAL OF THE U.S. CONGRESS AND THE UNITED NATIONS GENERAL ASSEMBLY, WILL NOT REQUEST "EXTRA-TERRITORIALITY" OF THE EAST RIVER AREA, FELLER SAID.

BUT, HE ADDED, IT WOULD PROVIDE FOR TRYGVE LIE, UNITED NATIONS SECRETARY GENERAL, TO HAVE EXCLUSIVE AUTHORITY TO APPROVE OR DENY ENTRY TO THE SITE OF ANY PERSON, AND TO PRESCRIBE CONDITIONS GOVERNING THE PRESENCE OF ANY PERSON IN THE AREA.

SERVICE OF LEGAL PROCESS AND SEIZURE OF PRIVATE PROPERTY ALSO WOULD BE GOVERNED BY PERMISSION OF THE SECRETARY GENERAL, FELLER SAID, ALTHOUGH THE PROPOSED AGREEMENT POINTS OUT THAT HE WOULD BE EXPECTED TO COOPERATE WITH FEDERAL, STATE AND LOCAL OFFICIALS.

UNDER TERMS OF THE DRAFT AGREEMENT, THE SECRETARY GENERAL COULD REQUEST ASSISTANCE OF LOCAL POLICE IN PROVIDING PROTECTION INSIDE THE ZONE, OR HE COULD ESTABLISH A SEPARATE UNITED NATIONS POLICE DEPARTMENT.

TOKYO, DEC.26-(AP)-CYRIL CHAMBERS, AUSTRALIAN MINISTER FOR THE ARMY, SUGGESTED TODAY THAT REPRESENTATIVES OF ALL NATIONS WHICH HAVE TROOPS IN THE BRITISH OCCUPATION ZONE SHOULD MEET IN JAPAN TO DISCUSS THEIR PROBLEMS.

HE SAID SUCH A MEETING WOULD BE "IN THE BEST INTERESTS OF THE GOVERNMENTS CONCERNED" BUT DECLINED TO ELABORATE.

HIS OBSERVATION WAS MADE IN A PREPARED STATEMENT TO A HURRIEDLY CALLED PRESS CONFERENCE FOLLOWING AN INSPECTION OF BRITISH COMMONWEALTH OCCUPATION AREAS.

CHAMBERS' STATEMENT REPORTED HE WAS ABLE TO SETTLE SOME OF THE TROOPS' PROBLEMS "ON THE SPOT" BUT "OTHERS COULD ONLY BE DEALT WITH ON RETURN TO AUSTRALIA." AGAIN HE DECLINED TO ELABORATE.

HE SAID THE SOLDIERS DESERVE THE HIGHEST COMMENDATION FOR MOVING INTO A DEVASTATED AREA BUT "THERE IS EVERY INDICATION THE CORNER HAS BEEN ROUNDED AND WITHIN THE NEXT FEW MONTHS THERE WILL BE MARKED IMPROVEMENT IN THE GENERAL SITUATION."

ASKED WHAT PROBLEMS MIGHT BE DISCUSSED AT A SCHEDULED CONFERENCE WITH GENERAL MACARTHUR HE SAID "I'LL DISCUSS THOSE WITH GENERAL MACARTHUR."

AFTER AVOIDING ALMOST EVERY QUESTION ASKED BY AMERICAN AND JAPANESE NEWSMEN, CHAMBERS WAS ASKED TO EXPLAIN WHAT PROBLEMS HE HAD SOLVED ON THE SPOT.

"I'LL LEAVE THOSE ON THE SPOT," THE AUSTRALIAN REPLIED.

"WHAT ONES WILL YOU TAKE BACK TO AUSTRALIA?" 1946

"I'LL TAKE THOSE BACK TO AUSTRALIA."

"YOU GOT US HERE UNDER THE MISREPRESENTATION THAT THIS WAS GOING TO BE A PRESS CONFERENCE," SAID WALTER SIMMONS OF THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. "YOU HAVE BEEN VAGUE THROUGH THE WHOLE THING. YOU MAY TALK TO AUSTRALIANS THE WAY YOU HAVE BEEN, BUT NOT TO AMERICANS."

"I DID NOT ASK FOR A PRESS CONFERENCE," CHAMBERS SAID. "I WAS TOLD YOU WANTED TO MEE ME."

"I DIDN'T ASK TO MEET YOU," SAID FRANK HAWLEY OF THE LONDON TIMES. "THE EMPIRE HOUSE GOT ME OUT OF BED AT 7 O'CLOCK THIS MORNING AND TOLD ME TO COME HERE FOR A PRESS CONFERENCE."

THE CONFERENCE ADJOURNED. 1946

WASHINGTON,DEC.26-(AP)-FOLLOWING IS THE TEXT OF A STATE DEPARTMENT STATEMENT CONCERNING RUSSIAN COMPLAINTS THAT AMERICAN MILITARY POLICE ATTACKED TWO SOVIET CITIZENS IN SHANGHAI ON SEPT.23: (ABOUT 300)

ON DEC.19 THE DEPARTMENT RECEIVED A NOTE FROM THE SOVIET EMBASSY PROTESTING AGAINST AN ALLEGED ATTACK ON TWO SOVIET CITIZENS, MARTYNOV AND CHUZO, IN SHANGHAI ON SEPT.23, 1946, BY THE AMERICAN MILITARY POLICE.

THE INCIDENT WAS BROUGHT TO THE ATTENTION OF THE AMERICAN CONSUL GENERAL IN SHANGHAI, DR.MONNETT B.DAVIS, BY THE SOVIET CONSUL GENERAL THERE AND AN EXHAUSTIVE INVESTIGATION WAS CONDUCTED BY THE AMERICAN AUTHORITIES IN SHANGHAI.

THE INVESTIGATION DISCLOSED THAT THE INCIDENT AROSE AS RESULT OF AN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT IN WHICH AN ARMY JEEP DRIVEN BY CPL.ROBERT C. CARSON STRUCK A MOTORCAR OCCUPIED BY THE TWO SOVIET CITIZENS.

THE TWO SOVIETS, INSTEAD OF SEEKING OFFICIAL INTERVENTION, PULLED OUT THE IGNITION WIRES OF THE JEEP AND ASSAULTED CARSON, WHO WAS PULLED FROM THE JEEP AND BEATEN UNTIL HE FELL TO THE GROUND. THE SOVIET CITIZENS WERE SUBSEQUENTLY SUBDUED WITH CONSIDERABLE DIFFICULTIES BY A DETAIL OF AMERICAN MILITARY POLICE, WHO WERE CALLED TO THE SCENE, AND WERE REMOVED TO A POLICE STATION.

THEY WERE SUBSEQUENTLY TREATED AT A HOSPITAL FOR CONTUSIONS, AND BRUISES AND LEFT THE HOSPITAL IMMEDIATELY AFTER TREATMENT WITHOUT ASSISTANCE.

THE AMERICAN AUTHORITIES WHO CONDUCTED THE INVESTIGATION WERE SATISFIED THAT NO ACTS COMMITTED BY THE AMERICAN MILITARY POLICE WARRANTED DISCIPLINARY ACTION AND THAT SINCE THE SOVIET CITIZENS INVOLVED WERE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE INCIDENT THEY HAD NO GROUNDS FOR CLAIMING REIMBURSEMENT FOR THE COST OF MEDICAL ATTENTION.

THIS INFORMATION WAS INDICATED TO THE SOVIET CONSUL GENERAL IN SHANGHAI BY THE AMERICAN CONSUL GENERAL AND THE SOVIET CONSUL GENERAL WAS INFORMED THE SOVIET CITIZENS CONCERNED MIGHT FILE A CLAIM THROUGH REGULARLY ESTABLISHED U.S. ARMY CHANNELS FOR ANY DAMAGE SUFFERED TO THEIR MOTOR CAR AS A RESULT OF THE ACCIDENT.

WASHINGTON,DEC 26-(AP)-SENATOR MORSE (R-ORE), BACK FROM A SIX-WEEK EUROPEAN TOUR, SAID TODAY HIS "ONLY DISAPPOINTMENT" WAS FAILURE OF RUSSIA TO PERMIT HIM TO VISIT THERE. O Sup.

HE ADDED THAT "FROM THE STANDPOINT OF DEVELOPING A MUTUAL UNDERSTANDING BETWEEN THE TWO COUNTRIES, IT IS DIFFICULT TO UNDERSTAND WHY A LEGISLATIVE REPRESENTATIVE OF THE AMERICAN GOVERNMENT IS DENIED THE SAME TREATMENT ACCORDED RUSSIANS IN A SIMILAR STATUS TO VISIT THIS COUNTRY."

MORSE ALSO SAID IN A STATEMENT HE BELIEVED CONGRESS SHOULD PUT INTO EFFECT "EXACTLY AS PASSED" THIS YEAR A PROPOSED CONGRESSIONAL REORGANIZATION PLAN.

"FAILURE TO DO THAT WILL BE POLITICAL BAD FAITH AND OPEN THE (REPUBLICAN) PARTY TO JUST CRITICISM THAT IT IS YIELDING TO POLITICAL AMBITIONS OF SOME LEADERS IN CONGRESS WHO SEEM TO WANT TO MODIFY THE BILL IN ORDER TO OBTAIN COMMITTEE CHAIRMANSHIPS," HE CONTINUED.

"UNDOUBTEDLY AFTER CONGRESS HAS HAD SOME EXPERIENCE WITH THE BILL IT MAY FIND THAT, BASED ON EXPERIENCE, SOME CHANGES ARE NEEDED. BUT CERTAINLY NO CHANGES CAN BE JUSTIFIED UNTIL WE HAVE TRIED THE BILL FOR AT LEAST A YEAR." #

BOSTON,DEC.26-(AP)-THREE FEDERAL PROSECUTING OFFICIALS SAID TODAY THEY WOULD GO BEFORE A UNITED STATES GRAND JURY IN BOSTON FRIDAY TO PRESENT EVIDENCE AGAINST ROBERT H.BEST AND DOUGLAS CHANDLER, FORMER AMERICAN NEWSPAPERMEN, CHARGED WITH TREASON.

THE GOVERNMENT CONTENDS THAT THE PAIR, NOW JAILED WITHOUT BAIL IN WASHINGTON, ENGAGED IN GERMAN RADIO BROADCASTS IN THE INTEREST OF THE NAZIS WHILE THIS COUNTRY AND GERMANY WERE AT WAR. THEY ARE THE FIRST OF A GROUP OF ALLEGED EXPATRIATE AMERICANS TO BE BROUGHT TO THE UNITED STATES FOR TRIAL.

TOM DE WOLFE, OF SEATTLE, WASH., SPECIAL ASSISTANT TO THE ATTORNEY GENERAL, CAME TO BOSTON TODAY AND CONFERRED WITH UNITED STATES ATTORNEY GEORGE F.GARRITY AND GARRITY'S CHIEF AIDE, ASSISTANT U.S. ATTORNEY EDWARD D.HASSAN ON THE PLANS FOR PREPARATION OF THE GOVERNMENT'S CASE AGAINST BEST AND CHANDLER.

ANOTHER SPECIAL PROSECUTOR, CLYDE E.GOOCH, HAS BEEN ASSIGNED TO JOIN DE WOLFE. U.S. ATTORNEY GARRITY HAS DESIGNATED HASSAN TO CO-OPERATE ACTIVELY WITH GOOCH AND DE WOLFE IN PROSECUTION OF THIS, THE FIRST TREASON CASE IN NEW ENGLAND SINCE THE REVOLUTION.

THE PROSECUTORS WOULD VENTURE NO GUESS AS TO WHEN THE GRAND JURY WOULD ACT. EVIDENCE TO BE PRESENTED TO THAT BODY IS SECRET.

AN INDICTMENT WAS BROUGHT BY A DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA GRAND JURY AGAINST THE MEN IN 1943 AND NOW, A NEW INDICTMENT WILL BE SOUGHT TO SUPERSEDE THE THREE-YEAR-OLD CHARGES THE PROSECUTORS SAID, INCLUDING ADDITIONAL ACCUSATIONS FOR THE PERIOD FROM 1943 TO VE DAY, MAY 8, 1945. #

BARUCH REPEATS DEMAND FOR BAN ON VETO IN DEAL FOR ATOM BOMB SECRETS

L. HAUCK (N)

U.N. Commission Delays Final Vote On Control Plan

1946

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 27 (AP)—The United Nations Atomic Energy Commission tonight postponed its final vote on an international control plan after Bernard M. Baruch said flatly that the United States could not surrender the secrets of the atomic bomb unless the United Nations ruled out the veto on punishment of violations.

Standing firm in the face of Russia's silence and new opposition from France and Great Britain, Baruch demanded that the veto phrase remain in the report and added that without it he could not recommend Senate approval.

Full Commission Gets Report

The commission, meeting in secret session as committee of the whole, then decided to forego any vote and tossed the whole report into the hands of the full commission on Monday. It was stipulated that agreement without ballot had been reached on all phases of the Baruch plan except reference to the veto.

The commission ended its session at 8.30 P.M.

Prof. S. P. Alexandrov, who held the Soviet seat in the unexpected absence of Andrei A. Gromyko, took no part in the discussions but announced near the close of the meeting that he wanted to be considered "present but abstaining in full."

Five Nations Support U.S.

An American spokesman said that the United States had the solid support of five other nations on the twelve-member commission—China, Egypt, Brazil, Mexico and Australia—in the veto fight and counted Canada and Great Britain as doubtful. Poland and France both said they would not accept any version which included the word veto and the Netherlands sought a compromise to avoid use of the specific word.

In one of his strongest speeches before the atomic group, Baruch declared:

"If our people were to believe that it lay within the power of a violator to treaties voluntarily entered into under the United Nations legally to escape the consequences of violation of such treaties, in my opinion, they would—and they should—withdraw their support from this organization, which, in those circumstances, can be no more than a debating society and a place to exchange pious-sounding documents.

Called A Subterfuge

"I cannot recommend to the people of the United States, I cannot advocate before the Senate of the United States, that this country surrender this potent weapon and dedicate to mankind its tremendous knowledge in the field of the production of atomic energy—in the belief that they are outlawing the use of this weapon for war and opening the gates for the use of atomic energy for the good of all mankind—under any system which is open to nullification of punishment by what can be called a subterfuge," Baruch declared.

As weary delegates passed their eighth hour of debate, Baruch closed his statement with these words:

"All that we have asked you to do is to vote in favor of the proposition that it should not lie within the power of anyone to determine by his own veto whether he or a friend is guilty and should be punished.

Poland Abstains

"Gentlemen, it is either—or. Either you agree that a criminal should have this right by voting against our position (or you fail to take a stand on the question by refraining from voting), or you vote for this sound and basic principle of enduring justice and plain common sense."

Baruch's reference to refusal to vote apparently was directed at Russia and Poland. The Soviet Union has refused to be recorded on atomic ballots and Poland has abstained.

Earlier Barauch said that the issue at stake was the sanctity of a treaty versus the sanctity of the veto, and added sharply:

"I do not see why a nation which intends to keep the treaty should want the veto. Only those nations which may intend to violate the treaty would want the protection of the veto."

Part Of Atom Plan Adopted

Baruch took the floor immediately after the French and British agreed to a ban on the veto, but objected to specific mention of the word in the final draft. The British explained they had taken this stand in the hopes of bringing unanimity and contended that adequate safeguards should be given without specific use of the word, long objected to by the Russians.

The dispute paragraph on the veto reads as follows, with the United States insisting on inclusion of the bracketed phrase:

"Once the violations constituting international crimes have been defined and measures of enforcement and punishment therefore agreed to in the treaty or convention, there shall be no legal right [by veto or otherwise] whereby the willful violator of terms of the treaty or convention shall be protected from the consequences of violations of its terms."

The debate went on in the unexpected absence on Soviet delegate Andrei A. Gromyko. Russia took no part in the discussion and thus left unanswered the question of its final attitude toward the final program.

Before plunging into the veto issue, delegates adopted the first part of a slightly reworded version of Baruch's control proposal.

Outside the chamber, Dr. Juliusz Katz-Suchy of Poland said that he would abstain on any final vote.

Dr. S. P. Alexandrov, white-haired Russian scientist, sat mute in his country's seat as delegates passed over the document paragraph by paragraph. At the end of the discussion of each section the chairman asked for objections and received none.

Says Gromyko Busy

Alexandrov took the seat after telling reporters tersely that Gromyko was "occupied with other business."

This was the first time that Gromyko had absented himself from a commission meeting or committee of the whole (working committee), but a spokesman at the Soviet consulate said there was no special significance in the move.

Russia's action today followed its previous policy on atomic voting of joining with Poland in abstaining or refusing to be recorded. Earlier this month Gromyko told delegates as they considered the Baruch plan that he would not participate in any discussion on it. He argued for more time to study it. He reserved his right to comment later and some observers believed now that Russia would withhold its statement until the plan went to the parent Security Council, where the big powers have a veto, for final approval.

Only yesterday the commission's political committee approved, with Russia silent and Poland abstaining, the scientific and technical phases of a safeguard summary. The entire report must go to the full commission Monday and thence to the security council on the last day of the year.

The sections approved early today were generally non-controversial and resulted from the integrating of American and Canadian versions. Among points it stressed were:

1. That it is feasible to control atomic energy and insure its use for peaceful purposes by providing safeguards.

2. That effective control depends on control of the production and use of uranium, thorium and their fissionable derivatives.

3. That the development of atomic energy has international implications.

4. That an effective control system, must be international in scope with a strict international agreement.

Text of Baruch Statement

N.Y. TIMES

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 27—Following is the text of a statement made today by Bernard M. Baruch, United States representative, before the working committee of the United Nations Atomic Energy commission:

I fear that in spite of many explanations, the position of the United States representative on this commission with respect to what is generally referred to as the Security Council veto is still not clearly understood. We have not attacked the Security Council veto as provided in the Charter; we do not intend to attack it. If it were in my power to modify it, I would not even suggest that it be modified at this time.

A sharp distinction exists—and it has been made in the United States proposals—between (1) the principle of unanimity of action as applied to general problems or to particular situations not foreseeable and therefore not susceptible to advance unanimous specific agreement, and (2) the voluntary relinquishment of the so-called secondary or continuing right of veto on questions relating to specific programs previously approved by the Security Council and established by an effective treaty among the nations. As to (1) above, we suggest no change in the present procedures of the Security Council; as to (2) above, we maintain that no veto can be allowed to apply.

Principle Declared Unbreached

The American proposal in no way violates the principle of the unanimity of the great powers or the application of the veto as conceived in the Charter. It is at variance only with an extreme and attenuated and, I am sure, unintended use of the veto.

The so-called veto problem in this instance has four facets:

First. When our recommendations have been delivered to the Security Council the doctrine of unanimity of the great powers is applicable. Unless our proposals, or some modification of them that the Security Council may make, are acceptable to all of the great powers, they will die aborning. We have not attacked this sound, proper and intended exercise of the doctrine of unanimity.

Second. After the Security Council has approved a proposal plan and a treaty has been proposed, all nations, not only the great powers, have the right to exercise their discretion of a veto as to whether or not they decide to become parties to the system of international control. Here again is a veto to which we raise no objection.

Third. When the body to administer the international control system has been set up, it will presumably receive powers adequate for the effective performance of its task. We have, I think, all agreed that the doctrine of unanimity should not be applicable to the operation of the administrative body.

Fourth. If, contrary to its solemn agreements, a nation in violation of the terms of the treaty seizes as plant or some fissionable material or commits some other major breach, the administrative body will be obliged to bring this to the attention of the nations and to the attention of the Security Council. By prior action and by the very doctrine of unanimity itself, both the Security Council in approving the system and the nations in signing the treaty will have accepted the responsibility to observe and to enforce the obligations of the treaty. It is at this point that we maintain that a violator should not have a veto to protect him against the consequences of his willful wrongdoing.

Says U. N. Binds Treaties

Our people believe that the United Nations stands for the sanctity of treaties and for the keeping of the pledged word in international relations. If our people were to believe that it lay within the power of a violator of treaties voluntarily entered into under the United Nations legally to escape the consequences of violation of such treaties, in my opinion they would—and they should—withdraw their support from this organization, which, in these circumstances, can be no more than a debating society and a place to exchange pious-sounding documents.

The United States proposals are entirely consistent with this position and with the letter and spirit of the United Nations Charter. They are, so far as I can see, the only possible position that can be taken within the letter and the language of the Charter. Any other course would shock the moral, common-sense judgment of the world. Unless this is so, every international treaty from this time on will be meaningless in that it contains by implication a clause to the effect that any major power to such a treaty—or any minor power that finds a friend among the major powers—is not legally bound to carry out a treaty to which it has voluntarily affixed its signature and solemnly bound itself, if and when it decides to ignore it.

If the violators of a treaty can legally and with impunity escape the consequences of a violation of an agreement voluntarily entered into, then every treaty executed under the auspices of the United Nations contains the fatal defect that it is binding only so long as the major nations want it to be binding.

The issue at stake here is sanctity of a treaty versus the sanctity of the veto. I do not see why a nation which intends to keep the treaty should want the veto. Only those nations which may intend to violate the treaty would want the protection of the veto.

War Called Punishment

It has been said that if a great nation decides to violate a treaty, no agreements, however solemn, will prevent such violation; that if a great nation does not have the right to release itself from its obligations by veto the result will be war. I agree. I believe that a clear realization of this would be the greatest step toward peace that had been taken in history. Let all nations that willingly set their pens to the terms of this treaty realize that its willful breach means punishment and, if necessary, war. Then we will not lightly have breaches and evasions.

This goes to the very essence of the United Nations. It is the spirit of the Preamble and the purposes of the Charter: "To take effective collective measures for the prevention and removal of threats to the peace."

I cannot recommend to the people of the United States, I cannot advocate before the Senate of the United States, that this country surrender this potent weapon and dedicate to mankind its tremendous knowledge in the field of the production of atomic energy—in the belief that they are outlawing the use of this weapon for war and opening the gates for the use of atomic energy for the good of all mankind—under any system which is open to nullification of punishment by what can be called a subterfuge.

All that we have asked you to do is to vote in favor of the proposition that it should not lie within the power of anyone to determine by his own veto whether he or a friend is guilty and should be punished.

Gentlemen, it is either—or. Either you agree that a criminal should have this right by voting against our position (or you fail to take a stand on the question by refraining from voting) or you vote for this sound and basic principle of enduring justice and plain common sense.

Montgomery Going To Visit Stalin

London, Dec. 27 (AP)—Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, chief of the Imperial General Staff, will visit Moscow early in 1947, the War Office announced tonight.

1946

The announcement said the visit would be in response to an invitation from Prime Minister Stalin, extended during the Big Three conference in Potsdam in 1945. The invitation was renewed last October by Marshal Alexander M. Vasilevsky, chief of the Soviet General Staff.

Montgomery, who visited the United States last September, accepted because he was "anxious to acquaint himself with the military life of the Red Army," the announcement said.

Britain Said to Hold $40,000,000

LONDON, Dec. 27 (AP)—The Financial Department of the Polish Embassy said tonight that the Polish Government was unable to recover gold worth $40,000,000 that had been deposited with the Bank of England for the duration of the war.

The statement said pre-war assets of Polish citizens and institutions in the United Kingdom were still blocked under the Trading-with-the-Enemy Act. It also said unnamed members of the former Polish Government in Exile had directed Polish assets into private channels.

Britain Concludes Czech Trade Pact

London, Dec. 27 (AP)—The Foreign Office has announced that Britain and Czechoslovakia have concluded an agreement authorizing the Czechs to purchase $10,000,000 worth of surplus goods on deferred terms.

The stores will be mainly military, the announcement said, although some machine tools and other items may be included. Pending for many months, the agreement was held up when the United States recently reduced the size of a loan to Czechoslovakia.

Revolt Hits South Indo-China, Saigon Under State Of Siege

Paris, Dec. 27 (AP)—Colonial revolt spread to southern Indo-China, French news dispatches reported today, taking a toll of 24 civilians. Both sides took an increasingly uncompromising stand in the nine-day fight of the Viet Namese.

The French imposed a state of siege at Saigon, capital of Cochin China in the south, newspaper reports said.

The French press agency said a series of Christmas night highway attacks in the vicinity of Saigon riddled the occupants of three motor cars filled with Annamite, Indian and Chinese civilians. Twenty-two persons were killed in these attacks, including one British Annamite subject.

Four Priests Injured

Another motor car carrying a group of priests and Annamite children was ambushed and two of the children killed and four of the priests seriously injured, the agency reported.

French military officials interpreted the night attacks on highways as an effort by Viet Nam partisans to cut communications throughout southern Cochin China, perhaps as a preliminary to all-out assaults similar to those staged in Tonkin.

Passengers in three motor cars ambushed on the road between Can-Tho and Soo-Trang included three women and two children who were injured, the French agency reported. The ambush victims were found by French army patrols and brought to Saigon.

Three Grenades Exploded

The newspaper France-Soir, reporting the state of siege, said orders for a military alert were given in the Cochin China capital last night. All French military leaves were canceled, and troops restricted to barracks. Numerous armed detachments patrolled the streets and closely guarded all roads radiating from the city. A 10 P.M. curfew already had been imposed.

Three grenades exploded in Saigon last night and a newspaper advocating union with the Viet Nam republic was suppressed.

French Withdrawal Demanded

While delayed dispatches from the Orient told of numerous violent clashes on scattered fronts in Tonkin and Annam in the north, Ho Chi Minh, president of the Viet Nam republic in those two provinces, was disclosed to have made a Christmas Day broadcast from a secret radio demanding withdrawal of French troops from all Indo-China.

The broadcast, reported on a Saigon dispatch dated December 25, said President Ho blamed the French for the outbreak November 19 when the French authorities were alleged to have served an ultimatum on his Government demanding control of the police.

When the Viet Nam regime rejected the ultimatum, he declared, fighting began with an attack on the presidential palace in which the President himself escaped but in which his Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs was wounded. The Viet Nam Government then fled from Hanoi, its capital, and re-established itself at Hadong, 6 miles outside the city.

Matches French Charge

Ho's statement matched one by the French Foreign Office's spokesman yesterday in which the Viet Namese President was charged with directly instigating and preparing for the outbreak while engaging in proffers of compromise with the French Government.

Admiral Thierry D'Argenlieu, French High Commissioner for Indo-China, at a reception for Colonial Minister Marius Moutet at Saigon last night declared "the latest odious violences of the Hanoi Government leaders changed the original meaning of your mission."

In reply Moutet declared "I arrived as a peace messenger," but that he had been "cruelly disillusioned."

Viet-Nam Yule Attack Repulsed, French Aver

Paris, Dec. 27 (AP)—The French claimed in an Indo-China communiqué today to have beaten back a strong Christmas-night attack in Hanoi with heavy losses to Viet-Nam troops. They said eight Japanese bodies were found among the slain.

The French reported a continued advance into southern and southeastern parts of Hanoi, but said no important operation had yet been launched into the Chinese-Annamite districts. The French described the general military situation as "satisfactory."

Colonial military authorities claimed other successes also in scattered clashes throughout northern Indo-China, the scene of fighting since a week ago yesterday between the forces of France and of the Viet-Nam Republic.

Nearing Phulangthuong

A French column advancing toward Phulangthuong, about 25 miles northeast of Hanoi, was reported to have passed Dap Cau, some eighteen miles northeast, and to have cleared Viet-Namese from a wide area after repulsing a Christmas night attack.

Viet-Namese with mortars and heavier artillery were said to have failed to drive back the defenders of Nam Dinh, 48 miles southeast of Hanoi.

Minor clashes were reported at the edges of the European quarter of Huë, Annam state capital, and in Tourane, 60 miles south of Huë, and Haiphong, port of Hanoi.

Ho, French Countercharges

The communiqué came amid mutual accusations by Ho Chi Minh, leader of the Viet-Nam Republic, and the French.

A delayed dispatch from Saigon said the republic's underground radio broadcast on Christmas night a purported statement by Ho blaming the French for the outbreak in Hanoi, capital of the republic and of French Indo-China.

At about the same time, Ho was accused in Paris of having planned the revolt and having taken a conciliatory tone to screen preparations for it.

BLUM MAY VISIT U. S. TO DISCUSS STATUS OF SAAR

PARIS, Dec. 27—(AP) Socialist deputies declared tonight that Premier-President Leon Blum may make another trip to the United States—this time to confer with U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes on France's determination to incorporate economically the coal-rich Saar.

Earlier U. S. Ambassador Jefferson Caffery visited with Blum, raising speculation in French newspapers that they had exchanged views on the Saar.

Foreign office officials said they had no word that Blum was planning a trip to Washington, where last year he negotiated successfully an American loan to France.

An American embassy press attache said Caffery's 20-minute call was only to pay official respects, but the visit took place just after the premier had talked for half an hour with Gen. Pierre Koenig, the French zone commander in Germany.

A ministry of foreign affairs spokesman expressed surprise yesterday that Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, deputy American military governor in Germany, had criticised as "entirely unilateral action" the measures the French took in sending 1,200 guards into the Saar to establish a customs frontier around the Saar.

Yesterday it was disclosed in Berlin that Gen. Clay had renewed his queries to the French about a report that the big Robert Bosch magneto, dynamo and electrical manufacturing plant was being dismantled by the French in southern Wuerttemberg and moved to the Saar without four-power consultation. Foreign office officials here declared the plant was moved at the request of the German owners "for technical reasons."

The Russian-licensed newspaper Nacht Express in Berlin proposed today that a popular plebiscite be held in the Saar to "show the world whether indeed the Saarlanders want to be united with France, as some sections of the French press claim."

The paper said recent French actions showed they wanted to incorporate the area as part of France.

MRP Man To Head Paris Upper House

Paris, Dec. 27 (AP)—August Champetier de Ribes, 64-year-old member of Georges Bidault's MRP party, was elected president of the Council of the Republic, the French Parliament's upper house, tonight on the third ballot.

The vote was 124 for Champetier de Ribes, 119 for Georges Marrane, Communist, and one for Jules Gasser, Radical-Socialist. There were nine blank ballots.

A fourth candidate, Socialist Alex Reubert, dropped out after the second ballot when the Socialists announced they would support the Communist candidate.

Following the election the Council and National Assembly adjourned until January 14. They will meet in joint session two days later to elect a president of the republic.

Gen. Charles de Gaulle will break a long silence by making an important statement tomorrow, it was learned. He may indicate he will be a candidate for President, or he may confine himself to discussing the Saar and Indo-China questions, it was reported.

PARIS POLICE SHUT BAL TABARIN CLUB

Paris, Dec. 27 (A. P.).—The Bal Tabarin, Paris's most famous night club, was shut down by police order today.

The action followed a citywide Christmas night checkup on holiday spenders by police seeking tax evaders. The management of the Montmartre night club was reported to have refused admission to the police when they wanted to take customers' names for their checkup.

No indication was given as to how long the shutdown would last. The Bal Tabarin, the favorite sightseeing spot of G. I.'s in Paris, has been regarded so much as a landmark and its can-can as such a traditional institution that when bus service was stopped at 8:30 P. M. at the beginning of the war, the city ordered a special bus run from its doors at 11 P. M.

In addition to its invariable can-can finals—a high-kicking Gay 90s dance in which oceans of flounced petticoats and fancy garters were naughtily displayed—the Tabarin offered more up-to-date legions of girls clad only in G-strings.

RUSSIA TO PERMIT INSPECTION JAN. 6 OF GERMAN ZONE

BERLIN, Dec. 27—(AP) The Russians gave notice they would be prepared at last to admit four-power inspection teams into Soviet-occupied Germany on Jan. 6 to check on progress of liquidation of the German armaments potential, thus indicating that their zonal troop demobilization was nearing completion.

Allied inspection teams were scheduled to enter all four zones on Nov. 25, but the Russians asked postponement, saying that transport in their zone would be strained by redeployment. There have been subsequent reports of large scale reductions in the number of Soviet troops in Germany, but no official figures have been released.

U. S. Newsmen Barred

American newsmen, however, remained barred from the Soviet zone, and there was no indication when they would be readmitted. Soviet Marshal Vassily Sokolovsky, Russian commander in Germany, informed Gen. Joseph T. McNarney last month that it would be "too dangerous" to admit the newsmen during the period of redeployment operations. They have been barred since September.

"The Russians have now assured us that they will be ready to admit up Jan. 6, so four teams will set out on that day, one going into each zone," said Orvis E. McJunkins, chief of the American Military Government's reparations and demolitions section. Each team will include four technicians, one from each of the occupying powers, and will visit from six to nine plants on tours expected to last two weeks.

Inspection was decided upon after a series of charges and counter-charges that German war production was continuing in some plants contry to four-power prohibitions.

Germans Paroled

Meanwhile U. S. Army headquarters at Frankfurt announced that German general staff officers were among recipients of 120 temporary Christmas paroles given prisoners of war "whose retention beyond their normal discharge dates has been due to their special skills and knowledge which they comparatively contributed to the U. S. Army."

The paroles enabled them to spend Christmas with their families. Although the German general staff was acquitted, along with the SA and the Reichs cabinet, by the international military tribunal at Nuernberg, the army has been holding the officers pending instructions from Washington on their release. Many are being used by the army's historical division to help compile histories of the war's military operations.

The army said similar paroles of about two weeks will be granted hundreds of other eligibles among the 34,000 prisoners of war still in U. S. custody who are not in the automatic arrest classification. About 235 members of the German general staff still are being held.

Soviet Reich Zone Makes Comeback

Berlin, Dec. 27 (AP)—The Russian zone of Germany—richer in raw materials, food and housing than the Western zones—has made a speedier economic recovery and claims to have practically eliminated unemployment, according to figures made available today.

The last Russian report to the four-power directorate here, for September, showed 180,000 unemployed out of a registered able-bodied worker population of approximately 7,500,000. At the same time, the American zone reported 480,000 unemployed out of an able-bodied employable total of 6,500,000.

Since then, however, the German Central Administration for Industry in the Soviet zone reported that unemployment had been wiped out with a total of nearly 7,500,000 men and women gainfully employed.

No Way To Check

Officials in the American military government's manpower division remarked that employment figures from the Russian zone "have to be accepted at face value, because we have no entry there to check them." The figures from the German Central Administration were published in the Soviet Military Administration's official newspaper Taegliche Rundschau.

These figures said that eighteen months ago, shortly after the German capitulation, the Russian zone had 3,000,000 working for wages and about 1,000,000 unemployed. At the end of November, the Central Administration said, there were 5,600,000 wage and salary workers and more than 1,800,000 others working in individual enterprises.

30.24-7109

Influx Of Refugees

The administration reported that this was accomplished despite a big influx of refugees and new settlers. It added that employment of women had mounted by approximately thirteen per cent and that training courses for apprentices had increased to an enrollment of 350,000.

Commenting on these figures, American Military Government officials remarked that several factors combined to make the Western zones' economic situation less favorable. Westen-zone industries suffered far heavier bomb damage. The Soviet zone is also in far better position as regards housing.

The American zone, now merging economically with the industrial British zone, has been beset by chronic shortages of coal, steel and raw material. The Soviet zone is rich in brown coal (lignite) to which many of its industries are adapted.

Young Germans Suffering Most As Food Fails

Children 7 to 14 Worst Hit, Survey Finds; All Adults in Nation Underweight

BERLIN, Dec. 27 (AP).—A three-power survey of hunger conditions in Western Germany reported today a "significantly larger proportion" of the population in "unsatisfactory condition" and an "increasing number" of persons showing "signs of severe undernutrition," with children of seven to fourteen the chief sufferers.

The nutrition survey, sixth of a series since the occupation began, covered the French, American and British zones. It was prepared by a three-power committee.

The survey states that the French occupation zone was in the most dangerous position as regards food stocks. At the same time, it praised the French practice of feeding both coal miners and their families, in contrast to the British-zone practice of feeding only the miners. The report said coal production per man was higher in the French zone than in the British.

"German adults are underweight, and in almost every instance weights are significantly lower than a year ago," it said. "Although children under seven have not been markedly affected by the food shortage, the growth and development of those between seven and fourteen years is unsatisfactory."

The report noted few actual cases of hunger edema (bloating), but warned that continued low rations had cut physiological reserves below safe standards and that any failure in the ration supply would be felt immediately.

Food hoards have been exhausted, as well as barter material, and most Germans today must subsist on the official ration, the survey said.

"All the evidence," the report declared, "compels the committee to conclude that the conditions, in certain respects, are serious."

1,250,000 Tons From U. S.

BERLIN, Dec. 27 (AP)—By the end of 1946, the United States will have delivered to Germany approximately 1,250,000 tons of food with a value of at least $250,000,000, officials of the American Military Government's food and agriculture branch estimated today.

These imports are reckoned since Aug. 1, 1945, and exclude large tonnages of Army food released to feed the German population for several months after the German capitulation.

In addition, millions of pounds of food and clothing—gifts from individual American citizens to German individuals and welfare organizations, have come through direct parcel post or through CARE (Cooperative for American Remittances to Europe) packages that are paid for in the United States and delivered from stocks in warehouses here.

The one-way gift relief parcel service has delivered 3,065,000 parcels to Germany since it started last June, the Military Government's communications branch reported. Officials said that most of these packages weighed the maximum permitted—11 pounds—which meant they contained more than 30,000,000 pounds of foodstuffs, clothing and toilet articles.

To date the parcel post gift service has aided only Germans in the United States, British and French occupation zones. However, the Russians recently agreed to permit distribution in their zone in the near future.

1,000,000 Candy Bars Distributed In Reich

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 27 (AP). The United States Army estimated today that American soldiers in Germany had given German and displaced children 1,000,000 candy bars at Christmas.

More than 47,000, or 60 per cent, of the displaced children, and more than 794,000, or 20 per cent, of the German children in the American zone were given Christmas parties by 31,000 United States soldiers, civilians and dependents.

Altogether, Americans gave 2,663 parties for the children. The candy, fruit, toys and other gifts all came out of the personal funds of Americans in Germany.

German Staff Officers Paroled for Christmas

U. S. Army Announces New Temporary Parole Plan

FRANKFURT AM MAIN, Dec. 27 (AP).—Scores of former high officers of the German general staff visited their families Christmas Day for the first time since the surrender, under a new parole system announced here today by United States Army headquarters. They were among 120 recipients of temporary paroles given to prisoners of war "whose retention beyond their normal discharge dates has been due to their special skills and knowledge" which they contributed to the American Army, the announcement said.

Although the German general staff was acquitted on Sept. 30, along with the S. A. (Sturmabteilungen, or Storm Troopers) and the Reich Cabinet, by the International Military Tribunal at Nuernberg, the Army is still awaiting orders from Washington to release from custody about 235 staff officers. Many are being used by the Army's historical division to help compile histories of the military operations of the war.

Similar paroles, usually of two weeks, will be granted to hundreds of others among the 34,000 prisoners of war still in American custody.

Efforts at Pact Of Anti-Franco Forces Hit Snag

CARL HARTMAN

Monarchists Are Accused by Leftists of Plot to Seize Power by Coup

MADRID, Dec. 27 (AP).—An informed source said today that negotiations looking toward monarchist-republican co-operation in the event of the downfall of the Franco regime had been broken off because of a Leftist charge that the monarchists were plotting a coup d'etat.

This source, who is close to both monarchists and republicans and in a position to follow their talks, said the conversations were an outgrowth of British moves reported last week to have been started under the sponsorship of the British Embassy here.

The breakdown of such negotiations would point up a chief source of strength of Generalissimo Francisco Franco—the friction among various sections of anti-Franco opinion. However, the informant, who cannot be named, said the republicans and monarchists were not so far apart as the breakdown would seem to indicate.

He said that as a result of talks at Lisbon between a Syndicalist delegate of the Democratic Alliance and Don Juan, pretender to the Spanish throne, and Jose Maria Gil Robles, leading exiled Rightist, a course of action was agreed upon and a pact was signed. This pact would have bound republicans and monarchists to co-operate, pending elections, in the event either the monarchy or the republic should be established in Spain "under circumstances now unforeseeable."

The Syndicalist signed th pact as a representative of the Alliance, which includes Communists, Anarcho-Syndicalists, Socialists and Republicans. The source said the Syndicalist delegate believed he had won the support of Premier Jose Giral's exiled republican government after a visit to Paris, and had found Don Juan favorably impressed.

However, the delegate, whose name was not disclosed, found his fellow leftists unexpectedly hostile on his return here. They contended, the informant said, that "circumstances now unforeseeable" was another way of saying "monarchist coup d'etat by the Spanish Army," and refused to participate. They accused the delegate of betraying his trust, stripped him of his offices and were restrained only with difficulty from executing him.

Nevertheless, the contacts between the Left and the Right were said to be continuing.

TROOPS FIRE ON 3,000 ITALIAN FOOD RIOTERS

1 Killed, 14 Hurt In Bari; Police Strike At Black Market In Rome

F. BRUTTO

Rome, Dec. 27 (AP) — Police and soldiers opened fire today in Bari on rioters attempting to storm the City Hall at the peak of a tumultuous demonstration against food shortages. Press dispatches said at least one man was killed and fourteen wounded, four seriously.

A Ministry of Interior communiqué tonight said six of the injured were policemen, and estimated the number of demonstrators at more than 3,000. It said several attempts were made to smash into the City Hall, with the rioters using a truck as a battering ram.

Police Strike At Black Market

At one time the demonstrators—some using firearms—menaced the entire province police force, which was "constrained to use their firearms defensively," the communiqué added. Attempts to put shops to the torch were frustrated. As a result of the outbreak all lines of communication to Bari were restricted to state use.

In Rome, flying squadrons of police struck at the gigantic black market on which thousands depend for their daily needs and from which thousands more derive a livelihood. The first day of the drive, preceded by a Ministry of the Interior "no-quarter" order, caused little impression, however. Tonight bread again was being sold openly in the illegal mart. No arrests were made.

Similar To Naples Rioting

Amid the economic problems came a political development which may have a bearing on the next general elections. The Socialist party appeared to be in danger of cracking up on the issue of alignment with the Communists.

The renewal of Italian cries for bread emphasized the importance of Premier Alcide de Gasperi's imminent flight to Washington, where he is expected to appeal for the help of the United States to alleviate Italy's food problems.

Rioting at Bari, an Adriatic port in southeast Italy which served as an important American airbase in the war, was similar to that which occurred in Naples before Christmas and which won for that city guarantees of increased food deliveries from the central government.

Food Shops Pillaged

Press dispatches gave this account of the demonstration:

Without warning thousands of workers poured into the streets. Stores were compelled to close and several food shops were pillaged.

Women carrying babies cried to the men, "you must use guns! Like this you will get nothing!"

Their shouts of "We are hungry, you can't starve our babies" intermingled with the men's demands of "We don't want the dole, we want work."

Busses were seized and flung crosswise in the streets as barricades. Although police used armored cars, the crowds surged to the city hall and attempted to invade it. Unable to quell the rioters, police and reinforcements from an infantry brigade stationed in Bari finally blazed away with guns.

Thousands Without Food

Tonight troops with machine guns and armored cars were stationed around the city hall.

One group tried to force its way into a branch of the Bank of Naples by using a flaming tank of gasoline, but the closed steel doors held.

Closing of the stores left thousands of families without food. Much of the crowds' fury had been directed at merchants and shopkeepers, whose prices had been rising steadily the last few days.

The raids by Rome police were directed at the "nerve centers" of the black market, which handles everything from cigarettes to automobiles. While some stores were closed and police confiscated their goods, the capital still presented the sight of shops stuffed with delicacies, at sky-high prices for the rich.

Political Moves Forecast

In the political scene Giuseppe Saragat, leader of the moderate wing of the Socialist party, accused Chairman Pietro Nenni, Foreign Minister, of "totalitarian methods" and "disdain for the working class." The accusation was an answer to Nenni's speech on Christmas in which he expressed confidence that pro-Communist sentiments would prevail at the Socialist congress next month.

Many Socialists were convinced that Sarragat would abandon the party if it supports Nenni, and would attempt to form a new Socialist movement. Behind the recriminations of both Nenni and Saragat appeared to lie the same apprehension at the growing strength of the "Uomo Qualunque" (common man) movement which is recruiting the nation's middle class in a crusade against communism just as the Fascists did after World War I.

Rome Police Open Drive On Black Market

Rome, Dec. 27 (AP)—Squadrons of Rome police roved the city today in the first co-ordinated move to wipe out the capital's black market.

An early report said raids on the "nerve centers" of the high-priced curb markets, which vend everything from cigarettes to automobiles, had yielded "good results."

Ship Afire Reaches Port

Rome, Dec. 27 (AP)—UNRRA shipping headquarters here said today the 7,176-ton UNRRA coal ship O. L. Bodenhamer arrived this week at Palermo with small fires in two holds, but that she was safe and almost undamaged. There was no loss of cargo.

Threat To Guerrillas Issued In Greece

Athens, Dec. 27 (AP)—A Greek Army officer was quoted today as saying the Army was "in a position" to wipe out anti-Government guerrillas "inside and outside Greek territory."

That, said the newspaper Embros in a dispatch from Drama, is what Lieutenant Colmansolas told Bulgarian Major Philipoff and Commissar Shesoff near Nevrokop, Bulgaria after they refused to sign a protocol "recognizing" that a recent guerrilla attack in Greek Thrace was "originated and supplied from within Bulgaria."

Refugees In Yugoslavia

A Belgrade dispatch said Yugoslovia had admitted officially for the first time that Greek refugees had been given sanctuary in its territory.

It said the admission came in a report of Tanjug, Yugoslav news agency, that 224 refugees from Notia in Greek Macedonia had fled into Yugoslavia from "monarcho-fascist terror" on December 15, bringing along some livestock. Notia is a village in the embattled Paikon-Kaimakchalan Mountain area.

Athens newspapers yesterday reported that Gen. Nicholas Pappanicholou, district brigade commander in Thrace, had said that guerrillas were fleeing across the border and warned that Greek troops would "chase them into Bulgaria despite the consequences."

UNRRA Distribution Rated Efficient

Belgrade, Dec. 26 [AP—Delayed]—The distribution system of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration in Yugoslavia was termed "remarkably efficient" and free of "any discrimination" today in the second report on the subject in less than two months.

A distribution control unit, making this report, said the situation it found here was "contrary to allegations made by the American press." The unit—John Lineman, of the United States; Vitali Perrov, of the Soviet Union, and Margaret Shufeldt, of Britain—declared on the basis of a five-week tour of all sections:

"UNRRA supplies have been used as was intended for relief and rehabilitation of the whole of Yugoslavia without discrimination on racial, religious or political grounds. . . .

Capacity Use

"All UNRRA industrial materials which the unit saw were being used to capacity. . . . The unit found people in all parts of the country very well informed about UNRRA and its work in Yugoslavia."

The three observers said that mechanical equipment to repair war damage was inadequate and 40 per cent of 12,000 UNRRA-supplied trucks were out of commission for lack of parts.

[In Washington October 31, a special three-man mission to Yugoslavia reported "no evidence of widespread abuse or discrimination on political or other grounds" in UNRRA's work in the country.]

Yugoslav-Albanian Trade Pact Ratified

Belgrade, Dec. 27 (AP)—The Presidum of the Peoples Parliament unanimously ratified the Yugoslav-Albania commercial pact today in a special session attended by Marshal Tito and other high Government officials.

Tito did not speak, but other officials spoke of "the mutual help and friendship between the two countries and peace in the Balkans at which this pact is aimed."

The agreement, signed in November, calls for stabilization of money exchanges between the two countries and accord on economic exchanges.

Bishop Gerald O'Hara Due In Bucharest Soon

Bucharest, Dec. 27 (AP)—The Romanian Foreign Ministry today said the Most Reverend Gerald P. O'Hara, Bishop of Savannah, Ga., had received an entry visa from the Allied Control Commission and was expected to arrive here soon. The information was communicated to the Vatican.

Bishop O'Hara has been assigned to the post of regent of the Catholic Nunciature in Bucharest by Pope Pius XII, but was delayed in assuming his duties while awaiting for the visa from the Allied commission.

Soviet Agencies Criticized For Man-Power Policies

Communists Call for Shift in Technical Personnel

MOSCOW, Dec. 27 (AP).—The Communist party's Central Committee, in a decision made public today, criticized the personnel policies followed in Soviet ministries and economic organs, and ordered a redistribution of managerial and technical personnel.

This was the latest in a series of post-war measures designed to improve and redirect the work of the administrative apparatus in Soviet industry—a reconcentration of forces aimed at carrying through successfully the ambitious new five-year program of industrial reconstruction and development.

Under the decision large numbers of specialists working in the central regions of Russia will be transferred to enterprises in the Urals and other eastern areas.

The Central Committee called for redistribution of specialists functionally as well as geographically, declaring that in some enterprises considerable numbers of specialists with higher education are working not in production but in the administrative apparatus. This presaged a further step in the current campaign to get superfluous white-collar workers into production work, where they are most needed.

British Laborites Taken to Task

MOSCOW, Dec. 27 (AP).—"Pravda" commentator V. A. Viktorov declared today there is "something rotten in the state of the Labor party," in a lengthy review of recent signs of dissatisfaction in British Labor party ranks over foreign policy. The essence of the matter, Viktorov wrote, is that "the Laborite government departed from the line it proclaimed of maintaining friendly relations with the Soviet Union as well as with the United States."

Tass Says U.S. Offers Arabs Surplus Goods

Moscow, Dec. 27 (AP)—A Tass news agency dispatch from Beyrouth, Lebanon, today said the United States Government had offered the Arab states $20,000,000 worth of surplus American military property and armaments in the Near East free of charge.

The dispatch was headlined: "Americans Arming Arab Countries."

The agency said the offer was contained in a note to the Government of Syria, and that its purpose was to "strengthen friendly economic and political relations between the United States and the Arab countries.

Polish Military Court Condemns Priest To Die

Warsaw, Dec. 27 (AP)—The Rev. Boleslaw Stefanski, Catholic priest accused of leading an underground terrorist band, was sentenced to death by a military court today.

Col. Jan Rzepecki, described by the Government as former commander in chief of the underground organization known as the NSZ, will go on trial before the tribunal Tuesday. The Government asserts Rzepecki was in the service of Gen. Wladyslaw Anders, exiled commander of the wartime Polish 2d Corps in Italy.

POLAND UNCERTAIN ON JEWISH CENSUS

WARSAW, Poland—(AP) The Polish foreign ministry estimated there are now 192,000 Jews in Poland—a figure nearly 100,000 higher than that of the Central Committee of Polish Jews.

A ministry spokesman said the disparity figures may be due to the fact that only about 80,000 Jews were registered with the central committee.

In recent months, about 160,000 Jews have been repatriated from Soviet Russia. Hundreds of Jews still are leaving Poland monthly, many of them illegally crossing the frontier into Czechoslovakia.

Iran's Ex-Premier Rules Azerbaijan

Tehran, Dec. 26 [AP—Delayed]. Ali Khan Mansur, who was Premier of Iran when the Allies entered the country in 1941, was appointed today as governor general of Azerbaijan province.

An official announcement said Abdul Hassan Sadeghi, Minister of Roads, who had been appointed to succeed Dr. Salamollah Javid as governor general of the northern province after central Government troops entered, failed to accept the post.

Voting In Fars Area Put Off

Meanwhile, leaflets dropped from Iranian Army planes said there would be no elections in Fars province, to the south, until ammunition captured by tribesmen from Government troops two months ago in civil strife is returned.

"Elections will start in Fars only after security forces have occupied all essential parts of Fars," said Gen. Hooshmie Afshar, commander of Government troops in the province. "Security forces will not be sent until all ammunition is returned."

The parliamentary elections started in some areas of Iran last Sunday. They are expected to occupy a period of several months.

Bombay, Dec. 27 (AP)—Police fired six rounds today to halt stone-throwing and looting by Bombay hoodlums who were taking advantage of the disturbances arising from Hindu-Moslem clashes in the city.

In communal outbreaks, one person was killed and six injured in knife attacks in various parts of the city.

Mutiny Trial Of Seven Indian Soldiers Opens

Singapore, Dec. 27 (AP)—Seven Indian soldiers went on trial today on charges of mutiny in connection with the slaying of their British commanding officer and four British noncommissioned officers on Christmas Island March 10, 1942. All pleaded innocent.

The prosecution charged that the seven men killed Capt. J. Williams and the noncommissioned officers three days after a Japanese warship shelled the small British garrison.

Dairen Account By Navy Gets Backing 1946

By William H. Newton

[Representing the Combined American Press]

Shanghai, Dec. 27 (AP)—The announcement by a State Department spokesman in Washington that a United States Navy courier ship at Dairen was not given a Soviet ultimatum to get out will come as a distinct surprise to United States Navy officials and others who were aboard when the incident took place last Friday.

The senior navy officer aboard, Commander Edgar L. Yates, of Portland, Ore., reported to Admiral Charles M. Cooke, Jr., commander of the 7th Fleet, in my presence that an ultimatum had been given by Soviet military officials "to leave within twenty minutes or we will not be responsible for the consequences."

Cooke cabled the Navy Department and referred to the report of the incident which had been released to the combined world press stating the report was "factually correct." (That report was Newton's first story of the incident.)

Written Report

In his official written report of the trip to Dairen, Yates also referred to the Soviet ultimatum.

Ensign Tilghmann B. Koons, of Plainfield, N.J., United States Navy officer who interpreted the Russian order for Yates, told me the Soviets had made their position emphatically clear and that a translation was, in effect, "if you do not leave within 20 minutes we will not be responsible for the consequences."

At the time the Soviet ultimatum was delivered, armed Soviet troops appeared in view of the ship for the first time in its two-day stay.

State Department Stand

They were aground around the entrance to the dock at which our ship was based and while they committed no overt acts the inference of their sudden appearance was obvious to everyone aboard.

In Washington yesterday, a State Department spokesman, Lincoln White, said the so-called ultimatum was "not in any sense a fist-shaking affair."

Observers here were at a loss to know the State Department spokesman's source of information about the incident.

No consular official was present aboard ship when the incident took place.

The United States Consul General at Dairen, H. Merell Benninghoff, arrived at the dock ten minutes after the Soviet ultimatum was received and found the courier vessel with its engines running and making ready to cast off.

Diplomatic Courier Harris Ball, of Amarillo, Texas, came aboard after the ultimatum had been issued and only a few minutes before the ship left.

Accuracy Confirmed

Since then, Cooke and Navy officers who were present have confirmed the accuracy of the report of the ultimatum.

The only remaining source of official information about the incident would be the Soviet officials who delivered the ultimatum.

Whether this was the source of the State Department spokesman's announcement is not known here.

[White said his information came from Benninghoff.]

Envoy Minimizes Incident

TIENTSIN, China, Dec. 27 (AP)—United States Ambassador John Leighton Stuart told a Russian questioner at a press conference today that he believed the Dairen incident could be solved "without great difficulty." He did not elaborate.

He praised achievements of the United Nations meetings and said he was especially encouraged over improved Russian-American relations.

Dairen Incident Still Being Investigated

Washington, Dec. 27 (AP)—Under Secretary Dean Acheson said today the State Department still is investigating the Dairen incident and will not reach a final conclusion until it gets full reports.

Consul General H. Merrell Benninghoff at Dairen presumably has been asked for a full report on the forced departure of an American ship from the Soviet-controlled port ten days ago, Acheson told a news conference.

Until complete information reaches here, Acheson said he would not—as he put it—indulge in the sport of trying to describe the incident.

He left unanswered a question as to whether he considered that Soviet authorities had given the American vessel an "ultimatum" to leave Dairen, saying he would leave that to reporters and to Lincoln White, State Department press officer. White said yesterday there was no ultimatum in any sense.

China's Communists See Victory In War in Six Months to a Year

Correspondent Finds Reds Will Be Able to Increase Their Opposition to Nanking Regime at Least Until 1949

By JOHN RODERICK
Associated Press Correspondent

PEIPING Dec. 27—Yenan, the Communist capital, appears to be capable of prosecuting a fight against the Chinese Government with mounting vigor at least until 1949.

That is my personal view, based on six months of observations and conversations with military and political personalities in Communist areas, including Yenan, from which I have just returned.

The most striking impression left upon the outsider visiting Yenan is the general atmosphere of confidence and singleness of purpose. The Communists are disappointed, but not discouraged, by the largely negative political developments of the past year. They say the Kuomintang [Government party] is unwilling to have them participate in the Government on any sort of an equitable basis and consequently military struggle is inevitable.

There was no doubt in Yenan of the outcome of the test of arms and many were certain that Communist armies would win within six months, or certainly within a year.

Factors Helping Communists

A number of factors operate to the Communists' advantage. First is the guerrilla type of fighting, which permits sustained resistance with few losses. A second factor is the size of the grain reserves in Communist areas. A third is the economic stability in Communist areas, a fourth is the high morale and crusading spirit of Communist armies.

In the Government area there is economic uncertainty, scarcity, mounting costs of keeping millions under arms, and disrupted communications. Whether this last has been as damaging as the Communists expect is hard to say.

Economically, the border regions under Yenan's control appear never to have been better off. The use of cooperatives and efficient grain distribution in famine-threatened areas has averted the threat of mass starvation, which befell some Government provinces.

The Communists assert that no one in their areas died for lack of food. If true, this is remarkable, since supplies from the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration were a very small flow.

Shensi, Kansu and Ningsia, Communist provinces that usually were the poorest, had a bumper grain crop and the Communists say it provided a year's reserve.

There is a shortage of cotton for clothing, and cotton must be smuggled through a tight Government blockade to supply only a part of the Communists' needs.

By Western standards, the lot of the peasant in Communist areas would be considered one of abject poverty. By comparison with a decade ago, the advance seems marked, for starvation was common in China's Northwest as late as 1928.

CHINA'S REDS PUSH DRIVE IN SHANTUNG

PEIPING, Dec. 27—(AP) New Communist attacks in Shantung and Hopeh provinces south of Peiping were reported by pro-government papers today while government sources claimed victories over persistent guerrilla bands on the outskirts of Peiping itself.

The papers Hsin Min Pao and Republican Daily News said 10,000 of the best Communist troops, well-equipped with artillery, were making a determined assault on Liaocheng in western Shantung province 55 miles southwest of Tsinan, provincial capital.

In central Hopeh province, adjoining Shantung, the Communists were reported closing in again on Paoting, provincial capital which withstood a prolonged siege last fall.

Hsin Min Pao said the Communists apparently were trying to open a northwest-southeast corridor across the two provinces.

Government dispatches, however, said that the villages of Lutuan, seven miles north of Peiping, Pangkechuang, 17 miles south of Peiping, and Machiia, 30 miles east, all had been recaptured from Communist irregulars yesterday.

Marines Blamed in Death Of Chinese Factory Hand

Tientsin Paper Says Drunken Americans Cut Off Ear

TIENTSIN, Dec. 27 (AP).—The Catholic newspaper "Social Welfare" charged today that a Chinese factory worker was beaten fatally by several drunken United States Marines at Tangku, near here, on Christmas.

The paper said Lu Kwang-Fu, fifty-three, was hit about the head with sticks and his right ear was cut off with a pocket knife. He died in a hospital the next morning.

"Social Welfare" said the attack precipitated Tangku demonstrations against the marines.

Blame Jap Admirals In P. W. Executions

Tokyo, ec. 27 (A. P.).—Twenty-four American and eight other Allied prisoners of war were executed in the Celebes in 1944 and 1945 on direct orders of admirals commanding the area, Japanese officers testified by affidavit at the International War Crimes Tribunal today.

The affidavits were introduced to support the prosecution's charge that atrocities were the Government's deliberate policy. The names of the executed prisoners were not given.

Japan Seeks MacArthur's Okay

Tokyo, Dec. 27 (AP)—The Japanese hope General MacArthur will endorse their bid to participate in the 1948 Olympics at London, Masaji Tabata, who headed Japan's victorious swimming teams at the Los Angeles and Berlin games, said today.

MacArthur formerly headed the American Olympic committee.

Tabata said Japan already has taken preliminary steps by organizing a national Olympic committee. He is a member. He also heads Japan's amateur swimming association.

Jap Woman Seeks Rights.

Kyoto, Dec. 27 (A. P.).—Mrs. Yoshiyo Ojchi, one of the first women elected to the Diet, is campaigning for mayor of this ancient capital of Japan on the slogan: "Equal sake and tobacco rations for the women of Kyoto." Only Japanese men are allotted such rations.

'45 Draftees Coming Home

YOKOHAMA, Dec. 27 (AP).—Lieutenant Colonel M. F. Wilson, 8th Army readjustment officer, today said all 1945 draftees on duty in Japan have been ordered to report for transportation to the United States.

Poles Ask Refuge In Philippines

Manila, Dec. 27 (A. P.).—A group of 150 Polish refugees in Telaviv, Palestine, petitioned the Government today for permission to come to the Philippines.

In a letter to Philippine authorities the group of newspaper men, artists and scientists said that they faced return to their native land, but did not want to go back because Poland was under the political influence of Russia.

70 P.C. Of U.S. Lend Lease Is Paid 1946

Washington, Dec. 27 (AP)—President Truman informed Congress today that 70 per cent of this nation's lend-lease aid has been marked paid, and expressed conviction that the accounting would prove "one of the foundations of economic stability in the postwar world."

In his twenty-third report on the wartime mutual-aid program, the Chief Executive said that the total United States aid through September 30 amounted to $50,692,000,000, of which this country will recover "substantially" more than $10,000,000,000 in reverse lend-lease and payments.

A full dollars and cents settlement never was anticipated by this Government. Mr. Truman weighed into the cold statistics of the accounting an emphatic assertion and reminder that the work of the international swapping arrangement in achieving victory "can never be satisfactorily" measured in monetary terms.

Russian Reference

There was only a terse reference to Russia—next to Britain the largest recipient of American aid. Britain, with which a settlement has been reached, received 65 per cent of the total. The Soviets got 23 per cent.

Mr. Truman said Russia "has been invited to open negotiations" on a settlement but there was no indication of what has prevented the starting of talks. Similarly, the report said that it "has not as yet been possible to start active negotiations" with Yugoslavia, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Highlights in the Chief Executive's report since his last review:

1. Final agreements have been made with Britain, France, India, Australia, New Zealand, Belgium and Turkey. These include the principles that the countries settle Uncle Sam's wartime debts within their borders, incorporate at least a technical clause for recovery by this country of leased military equipment, and make payment for deliveries after V-J day.

2. Canada's account is "considered closed" because the Dominion paid for all supplies and materials obtained in this country; settlement negotiations are "actively in progress" with South Africa, Norway, Greece and the Netherlands; and except in "a few cases such as Brazil, only relatively minor matters" remain to be settled with Latin-American countries.

3. Agreements on the sale of $1,189,000,000 worth of lend-lease supplies have been reached with thirteen countries since Japan's surrender.

4. Of that total $15,000,000 to $30,000,000 worth will remain undelivered by year's end because of the recent coal strike, The report said without elaboration, however, that "arrangements are contemplated" for overcoming a congressional prohibition against expending any funds for such deliveries after the first of the year.

5. "Certain minor military lend-lease" programs remain in operation in China, including supplies for Chinese forces participating in the occupation of Japan and specialized training services. Aid since June 30 of this year has been by agreement "on a reimbursable basis."

T OF TRUMAN LETTER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—The text of President Truman's letter was as follows:

"To the Congress of the United States of America:

"I am transmitting herewith to the Congress the twenty-third report of operations under the Lend-Lease Act.

"Lend-lease operations since V-J Day have been limited largely to negotiating final settlement agreements and to certain other liquidation activities.

"The principal liquidation activity has related to the substantial quantities of lend-lease supplies which were in inventory or procurement in the United States at the time that direct lend-lease aid was terminated.

"Steps were taken immediately to sell to lend-lease countries the supplies which had been procured or contracted for on their behalf. Such sales agreements were entered into with thirteen countries, the total amount aggregating almost $1,200,000,000.

"Most of these supplies have already been shipped and the remainder will be transferred to the recipient countries as rapidly as possible. This report discusses the terms and provisions of the sales agreements.

"In the period covered by this report, agreements on final settlement for lend-lease and reciprocal aid have been signed with the Governments of France, Belgium, Turkey, Australia, New Zealand and India.

"Detailed accounts of these agreements are contained in this report. The first settlement agreement was negotiated with the United Kingdom and was discussed in the twenty-second report.

Burden on Commerce Avoided

"Final settlements have been signed with countries which received 70 per cent of total lend-lease aid. Countries with which agreements remain to be negotiated include the U.S.S.R., China, Greece, the Netherlands, Norway, and the Union of South Africa. Preliminary discussions concerning settlements are now in progress with several of these countries.

"In the negotiation of the settlements the objective has been to carry out the provisions of Article VII of the master lend-lease agreements with various countries, which provide that '* * * the terms and conditions thereof shall be such as not to burden commerce between the two countries but to promote mutually advantageous economic relations between them and the betterment of world-wide economic relations.'

"Viewed in the light of the objectives of the lend-lease act and the master agreements, I believe that the settlements which have been worked out not only are highly satisfactory to the United States in the financial sense but also serve the long-range interests of this country by providing one of the foundations of economic stability in the post-war world.

"Although the value of lend-lease can never be satisfactorily measured in monetary terms, I think it should be noted that return to the United States from lend-lease through Sept. 30, 1946, exceeded $10,000,000,000, including reverse lend-lease aid, cash payments for goods and services furnished under lend-lease, payment made or to be made under the final settlement agreements, and the sale of supplies in inventory or procurement.

"Negotiation of the remainder of the final lend-lease settlements, fiscal activities in connection with the payments due under the various agreements, and the recording and reporting of fiscal operations are the principal continuing lend-lease functions."

OPINIONS DIFFER ON SOVIET DEBT

Some Want Settlement Now; Others Urge Delay

1946

Washington, Dec. 27 (AP)—Demands on Capitol Hill that Russia "settle now" for its lend-lease aid were met today with a cry of "give them time."

The mixed reaction stemmed from the Administration's twenty-third report to Congress on the operations of the mutual aid supply program. It showed that 70 per cent of this nation's 50-odd-billion-dollar contribution to joint victory has been marked paid or written off.

The report said that Russia, which received 23 per cent of the American outlay, "has been invited to open negotiations"—thus far, apparently, without response.

Prompt Response Urged

From Representative Gearhart (R., Cal.) came a terse assertion that Russia "should be as prompt as other nations" in settling its account. Representative Hoffman (R., Mich.) protested against "this apparent policy of giving Russia special treatment while they continue kicking us in the shins." He added that the State Department should insist that the Soviet "settle now."

But Representative Bloom (D., N.Y.), present chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, called the lend-lease program "merely a business transaction" which was essential to victory and insisted that Russia be given "sufficient time" in making a settlement.

"I can't see any sense in forcing a settlement at this time," he declared.

Russia's Task Noted

He said Russia was confronted with a tremendous task in restoring production on land overrun by the Nazis.

In line with the views of Gearhart and Hoffman, Representative Chiperfield (R., Ill.), a member of the Foreign Affairs Committee, also expressed belief that Russia should be given "treatment on the same basis" as other countries in the lend-lease accounting.

He expressed doubts, however, as to the value of a recapture clause incorporated in the lend-lease settlements thus far. This leaves at least nominal ownership of lend-lease military equipment shipped from this country in the name of the United States.

Chiperfield said a big percentage of this equipment is now outdated, and that the cost of bringing it home would exceed its value even if ships and manpower for the task were available.

Emphasized By Truman

In submitting the report to Congress, President Truman emphasized that the "value of lend-lease can never be satisfactorily measured in monetary terms."

He reported that final settlements have been made with Britain, France, Australia, India, New Zealand, Belgium and Turkey, and that negotiations "are actively in progress with South Africa, Norway, Greece and the Netherlands."

In its accounting up to date, this country has recovered more than $10,000,000,000, the Chief Executive reported. This includes $1,035,000,000 in promised cash payments over a period of years, an estimated $7,819,000,000 in reverse lend-lease and more than $1,000,000,000 from the sale of supplies shipped after Japan's surrender.

The Administration consistently has made it clear that it did not expect to obtain a dollar-for-dollar return on its lend-lease investment when the time came for final accounting.

'RED REVOLT' REPORT COSTS ADAMSON JOB

Thomas Says He'll Fire Committee Counsel For Premature Release

Washington, Dec. 27 (AP)—The official head of Ernie Adamson will be the first to roll as a result of his forecast of "Red revolution," legislators made plain today.

Angered because the report got into the headlines before he could pass upon it, Representative J. Parnell Thomas (R., N.J.) announced that his first act as new chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities next month would be to fire Adamson as committee counsel.

Other members of the committee also were irked. The ire of some of them, at least, was directed not so much at the contents of the Adamson report as the fact that it got out "prematurely."

Stripling Expected To Get Job

Adamson, 52-year-old Georgian, warned in the report that the country faced possible revolution, brought about through a general strike or other means.

His successor is expected to be Robert E. Stripling, 35-year-old Washingtonian who was chief investigator for the committee when it was headed by ex-Representative Dies (D., Texas).

In a statement issued through his office here, Thomas, now ranking minority committee member, accused Adamson of trying to "wreck" the committee. Thomas especially criticized the counsel for the release of a report summarizing the activities and findings of the committee staff during the last year.

Adamson Out, Says Thomas

Adamson's report, prepared for submission to the nine committee members, was published before some of them received it by mail. It was obtained by the Associated Press from sources other than Adamson, but Adamson made copies of it available generally after it had been published.

"Adamson will not draw one more day's pay if I become chairman of the committee," Thomas said.

That Thomas will become chairman when Republicans organize the House next week long has been taken for granted, since no other Republican has an equal seniority claim.

Adamson himself was reported en route to Pittsburgh, where he once practiced law.

Chairman Wood (D., Ga.) also was out of town but several other committee members privately deplored the release of the Adamson report and said they had no doubt that he would be ousted.

Friction Intensified

In addition to warning of a "revolution" Adamson criticized the Library of Congress as a "haven of aliens" and contended seventeen important labor unions are controlled by Communists. Luther H. Evans, Librarian of Congress, warmly denied the allegations.

Adamson's current difficulties intensified the friction that has existed between some committee

bers and their counsel for ...netime. So resentful were some of them of statements and news releases issued in the past by Adamson that the committee sometime ago adopted a resolution directing that all committee correspondence must be handled by the chairman and signed by him.

In somewhat of a defense of Adamson's action, Representative Rankin (D., Miss.), committee member, said in a statement that "the theme of the Adamson report is correct."

"It contains a good deal of extraneous matter, and, besides, it does not touch upon many important issues investigated by the committee which will be dealt with in the committee's final report to Congress," Rankin added.

Job Automatically Ends Jan. 3, Says Adamson

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 27 — (AP) Ernie Adamson said today it would not be necessary for Rep. J. Parnell Thomas to fire him as committee counsel when and if the New Jersey Republican takes over as chairman of the House un-American Activities Committee.

"It won't be necessary," said Adamson, "because under the reorganization bill which becomes effective Jan. 3 no provision has been made for counsel for the committee.

"I have no bitter feeling or animosity toward Rep. Thomas. But I can't hold the job unless Congress amends the reorganization bill and I am not in favor of that. The committee definitely has a good purpose and the only suggestion I have is that it should be properly run."

A quirk of the weather shifted the treason case to Boston from Washington as a plane carrying the Boston-bred Chandler and the South Carolina-born Best to this country from Germany was forced down in Massachusetts.

A 150-year-old statute specified that in such cases defendants be brought before the Federal court nearest where they touch United States soil.

The tall, grey-haired Chandler is accused by the government of broadcasting for the Nazis as "Paul Revere," while the government charges Best was known on the air as "Berlin's Best."

The government hoped to complete presentation of its case Monday after adjourning for the week-end. Garrity said that he expected the jury to return a verdict immediately.

Government attorneys explained the week-end adjournment by saying that Federal courts as a rule do not sit Saturdays in Boston and they were following routine procedure in this case.

based on one or more of three allegations looked into by investigating committees.

1. That he solicited contributions from war contractors.
2. That he received money from a narcotics addict after getting the narcotics bureau to waive objections to supplying the addict with a daily morphine ration.
3. That he tried to intimidate Negroes to keep them from voting in last summer's primary when he was renominated over four opponents.

Senator Ferguson of Michigan the lone Republican on the War Investigating Subcommittee which looked into Bilbo's relations with war contractors, telegraphed Chairman Mead (D-NY) today asking that the hearing be reopened Monday on the narcotics phase.

Ferguson said he wants to get direct testimony on the narcotics angle from two doctors—A. J. Podesta of Vicksburg, Miss., and James Logan of Natchez—and from John Carr of Natchez, described in previous testimony as a narcotics addict.

Dr. Harry J. Anslinger, head of the Federal Narcotics Bureau, testified that after a conference with Bilbo over a letter Bilbo had received from Podesta, he wrote that the Narcotics Bureau had no objection to Logan prescribing two grains of morphine a day for Carr. Anslinger explained that the narcotic law permits such a ration for addicts whose lives would be in danger without it.

Later, Anslinger testified, he was told by a Federal agent that Carr sent Bilbo $1,500 through Podesta.

Bilbo denied receiving any money for such a service although he said he did receive a contribution from Podesta for a church parsonage fund he was collecting.

Parliamentary experts said Bilbo would continue to draw pay as a senator until such time as the senate might declare his seat vacant. If he were ousted, the senate would adopt a resolution declaring his seat vacant and notify the governor of Mississippi.

Republicans May Delay 1946 Attempt to Oust Bilbo

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27—(AP) Republicans today considered dropping plans to try to bar Senator Bilbo (D-Miss) from taking his seat Jan. 3 in favor of a campaign designed to oust him later.

The strategy was considered at a closed-door session of the Republican steering committee but a final

Treason Case Opens in Boston

BOSTON, Dec. 27—(AP) Within view of historic Faneuil Hall—"the cradle of liberty"—New England's first treason case since the Revolutionary War opened today as the government sought new indictments against two Americans accused of serving as Nazi mouthpieces during the war.

A heavy guard concealed the identities of witnesses—some of them Germans—summoned to testify against Robert Best and Douglas Chandler, who were captured in Europe after Germany's surrender and are now being held in prison in Washington.

At least two German women—believed to be former girl-friends of the two accused—are known to have been summoned, but a battery of Department of Justice attorneys sent here to present the case said their names "positively" decision was postponed pending the meeting Monday of the entire Republican senate delegation.

A senator who attended today's committee meeting reported the anti-Bilbo strategists have decided that he can be ousted by majority vote after the new members have been sworn in and the Republicans attain their 51 to 45 majority.

May Decide to Wait

Only 59 men will have taken oath and be fully qualified senators when the 80th Congress convenes at noon Jan. 3. Of these, 31 are Democrats and 28 Republicans. Thus, if voting followed party lines, the Republicans would be better off to wait. New and reelected members are sworn in four at a time in alphabetical order and Bilbo would be in the first batch.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27—(AP) Secretary of Agriculture Anderson says that a group of sugar brokers, principally in New York, has been carrying on a propaganda campaign designed to force removal of government price and rationing controls from sugar so that they might profit.

The accusation was made in a letter to Senator Hatch (D-NM). Dated Dec. 20 and made public today, the letter said in part:

"For months a group of brokers, principally in New York who stand to profit greatly by a development of a speculative interest in sugar and its resale back and forth day by day in tremendous quantities for speculative purposes, even though no actual sugar is transferred, have been carrying on a program of propaganda, trying to bring about increased supplies of sugar within the United States.

"While this is a laudable purpose, the real purpose, as near as I can understand, is to remove all controls from sugar in order that the greater purchasing power of the American nation may be turned loose in the world markets to obtain all the sugar we can obtain at whatever price we have to pay."

Anderson said he had not forgotten that "this very thing happened after the last war and the price of sugar went to more than 20 cents a pound."

Supplies imported into this country are restricted under an international sugar sharing program which is designed to give all countries a part of the short world supply and to prevent international competition from bidding prices to abnormally high levels.

Anderson said that an unnamed "great authority" on sugar had recently predicted that if controls were removed the price would go to 50 cents a pound for a brief period.

Washington, Dec. 27 (AP)—The State Department announced today the release of $28,400,000 of Bank of Poland gold and cash which has been "frozen" in the United States.

The release is part of a deal which also provides for compensation to American owners for industries nationalized by the Polish Government.

The announcement said the Treasury also would release, effective January 7, Polish assets held in this country under wartime Government regulations.

State Department officials said compensation arrangements, which provide for an impartial umpire to determine payment in event of unsatisfactory negotiations through a Polish-American commission, satisfy earlier American objections to Poland's nationalization program.

1,000 Firms Affected

The agreements on compensation and release of Polish funds and assets in the United States were worked out by the State Department with Hilary Minc, Polish Minister of Industry, who was to sail for home today on the liner America.

Officials said the agreements should help improve economic relations between the United States and Poland.

They added that the release of the bank funds should permit Poland to pay into the World Bank its share of capitalization and also to determine with the International Stabilization Fund an exchange rate for the Polish zloty.

Polish nationalization of industries was ordered last January. The Warsaw Government published initially a list of approximately 1,000 firms to be taken over.

Commission Provided For

Washington officials said they did not know exactly how many of these firms represented American interests but that they had information indicating that Americans are concerned in the ownership of at least twenty.

The agreement announced today provides for compensation, to the extent of American interests, for the nationalization of property situated in the area of eastern Germany now under Polish administration.

The agreement also provides for the creation of a Polish-American mixed commission to "formulate standards in terms of which, pursuant to the provisions of the Polish Nationalization Act, the properties are to be evaluated."

Umpire May Aid

In determining the amount of compensation in any particular case, the United States and Polish governments agreed to try to work out a satisfactory settlement when an award appears insufficient.

If they fail to arrive at a mutually acceptable sum, "the differences would be referred to an umpire to be designated by the two governments, or, failing agreement, by the secretary general of the United Nations."

IMMIGRATION BAN ASKED BY THOMAS

Senator Says There Are Too Many Persons in U. S.—Views of Republicans Withheld

1946

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP) — Senator Elmer Thomas, Democrat, of Oklahoma, brought a controversial issue to the fore today with the assertion that all immigration into this country should be halted immediately.

"I make no distinction as to race or nationality," Mr. Thomas said. "We already have too many people in this country."

President Truman stated last October, in calling for substantial immigration of Jews into Palestine, that he was prepared to ask Congress for liberalization of this country's laws to admit thousands of refugees.

Republican Senators, who will hold a majority in the session starting Friday, indicated that they wanted to see Mr. Truman's specific proposal before they committed themselves.

However, Senator Thomas, who tried unsuccessfully in the last session of Congress to halt nearly all immigration for five years, asserted:

"I am against immigration. There may be a few exceptions, but as a general principle I am opposed to it until we get our domestic economy a little more stabilized, and that may take years.

Would Curb Trips Abroad

"If I thought it would do any good, I would recommend to the State Department that they close the gates as well to all Americans who want to leave this country, except for the greatest emergency."

He said that some Americans visiting other countries "all torn to pieces and hungry and ragged" went "with their pockets full of money and often make scenes of themselves, bringing discredit upon the United States."

Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, chairman of the Senate Republican Steering Committee, said that he did not want "to express an opinion one way or the other" on the reception Mr. Truman's recommendations might receive.

Senator Bourke B. Hickenlooper, Republican, of Iowa, said that he did not "think immigration to this country should be opened up to an unlimited degree, but there undoubtedly are fields in which the present policy could be liberalized."

30. 24 - 7113

Senator Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin, slated to become chairman of the Judiciary Committee, which will handle immigration bills, said that he would refrain from "passing curbstone judgment" in advance.

Senator Francis J. Myers, Democrat, of Pennsylvania, suggested that the first approach to the immigration problem should be on an emergency basis for utilization of quotas which were not filled during the war.

Thomas' View Called Isolationist

Dr. Joseph Tenenbaum, president of the American Federation of Polish Jews and head of the National Coordinating Committee for Admission of 100,000 Homeless Jews Into the United States, described Senator Thomas' statement yesterday as a "typical isolationist call, running counter to American traditions, which will be met with strenuous opposition in Congress."

In a statement issued at the committee's headquarters, 225 West Thirty-fourth Street, Dr. Tenenbaum said that scores of Senators and Representatives were pledged to support entry into this country of displaced persons, and that the issue would be brought up when Congress convened. He added:

"Senator Thomas' demand will especially affect Jewish war refugees, for whom entry into the United States is a chief hope. More than a year and a half after the defeat of Germany nearly 250,000 Jews are still incarcerated in European concentration camps, victims of peace as well as war."

The coordinating committee, which represents twenty national Jewish organizations, said that a mass people's conference would be held Jan. 5 at Manhattan Center to press for admittance of Jewish refugees.

Three-Year Secrecy Lifted At Rocket-Testing Station

Inyokern, Cal., Dec. 27 (AP)—The Navy lifted the curtain slightly today on a wonderland of flashing, noisy rockets, fast planes and other weapons under development at its heretofore secret $100,000,000 ordnance testing station deep in the California desert.

Here the flight of new missiles, the crack of new explosives has been going on for three years in a 1,000-square mile area reminiscent of an active sector in a war theater. But the station is so isolated, so encircled by mountains that few persons outside of the armed services knew of its existence.

Proximity-Fuse Secrecy

Admitting press, radio and newsreel men for the first time, the commanding officer, Capt. James Bennett Sykes, disclosed that the proximity fuse, one of the deadliest precision weapons of World War II, was developed here.

To prevent the enemy from discovering that the United States had such a fuse the order was given that it never could be fired ashore. It could be used at sea, where there was no possibility of the enemy recovering a dud or a fragment for examination, but that also prevented Americans from retrieving defective fuses to determine what was wrong with them.

So its development on land was confined to this desert testing ground, a spot scarcely touched by humans until the Navy moved in.

Ten Thousand Population Now

Now the station is a booming community of 10,000 population, including about 750 civilian scientific and technical workers and hundreds of navy specialists.

A large part of the Navy's work is on rockets.

It showed none of its guided missiles and not all of its rockets, but permitted newsmen to see the launching of a hitherto unannounced experimental high-velocity aircraft rocket called Big Dick.

The two-ton missile swooshed through the air like a comet for a few second and dived into a small lake. This rocket is in the early stages of development and its details are secret.

Another new kink in rocket warfare is a gigantic double-barreled revolver which fires five-inch missiles from the nose of a B-25 Mitchell bomber almost as rapidly as a man can fire an automatic pistol.

Rocket-firing revolvers are not new, but this was the first tryout for the double-barreled kind.

Rocket-Launching Work

Development of techniques for launching the heavier rockets from fast planes is one of the testing station jobs. Some launching planes travel almost as fast as the rockets themselves in the first stages of rocket flight. As the rocket reaches the speed of sound, 1,100 feet per second, it produces a shock wave in the air through which the plane must go unless it leaves the path of its dive. The wave may throw the plane out of control.

To solve some of the problems involved the Navy is working on a technique called toss bombing. Its outstanding feature is that the bomb or rockets are released as the plane pulls up out of its dive.

New Supersonic 1946 Pilot Problems

Boston, Dec. 27 (AP)—New supersonic airplanes flying in the intense cold of the upper atmosphere may need built-in refrigeration to keep the pilots from roasting, Brig. Gen. Malcolm C. Grow said today.

The Army Air Forces surgen said it is estimated that supersonic speeds—above the 750-mile-an-hour level—may generate such heat from air friction against the skin of the airplane that cockpit temperatures will rise to 300 degrees.

Problem Of Gravity

This is only one of the problems of physiology posed by designs for new superaltitude, superspeed aircraft, he said in a paper prepared for the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Also under medical study, Grow disclosed, are:

Acceleration and deceleration of jet and rocket aircraft. The gravity forces which a pilot can stand in the swift pickup must be determined as well as "the magnitude of deceleration if a rocket motor fails when the vehicle is traveling at a speed of, let us say, 1,500 miles per hour."

72,395 Feet Present Record

Data on human performance at altitudes above 60,000 feet. The present record for man is 72,395 feet reached by an Army Air Force National Geographic balloon in 1935. The new rocket-powered XS-1 AAF plane "could probably break that record."

How to provide escape from planes flying at super speeds.

The AAF, said Grow, is collaborating with twenty American universities in sponsoring biophysical and physiological fields of acceleration, circulation, metabolism, heat tolerance, vision, balance, psychology and other matters.

GENERAL WARNS U. S. OF ROCKETS 1946

Lemay Says We Could Be Hit From 6000 Miles.

Boston, Dec. 27 (A. P.).—Major-Gen. Curtis E. LeMay forecast today that by 1950 rocket weapons with a 6,000-mile range will place the United States within shooting distance of any industrial nation.

Even now conventional airplanes flying the polar route could subject this country to attack "directly from the home grounds of any of our potential enemies," said the Army Air Forces chief of development and research.

"A 5,000-mile arc from our vital industrial area swung across the polar regions takes in all Europe and most of Asia," he told the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Cites German Accuracy.

"If the Germans could, in 1944, as they did, produce a missile which would travel seventy miles high, 30,000 miles an hour and deliver 1,200 pounds of explosive nearly 300 miles away with considerable accuracy, it is probable that any of the principal industrial nations of the earth can, say by 1950, develop a controlled weapon that will deliver several tons of explosive with great accuracy over ranges of 3,000 to 6,000 miles.

"Armed with atomic explosives these will be powerful weapons."

If another war comes, said Lemay, the United States will be the first attacked and hostilities will start "with bomb and guided missiles falling on the United States."

He said that research and air power must be maintained at maximum condition during peacetime since there will be no time to prepare and tool up industry for war production.

Gen. March At 82 Urges Training

Washington, Dec. 27 (AP)—Gen. Peyton C. March, War Department chief of staff during World War I, called today on his eighty-second birthday for universal military training of American youth as the surest safeguard against another war.

Erect and alert despite his advanced age, the retired officers met reporters at his home and told them he took a pessimistic view of the United Nations as a guarantor of world peace.

"You can't stop war by legislation or pacts," he said grimly. "The League of Nations and the Kellogg-Briand Treaty to outlaw war showed that."

Keep A-Bomb From British

March suggested that the United States keep its secret of the atomic bomb and at the same time take into consideration a possibility that Great Britain might some day be a foe prepared to use the bomb.

"Although the Russians are often pictured as the only nation ever likely to use this weapon against us, the British showed in the Amritsar Massacre in India, in 1919, they could shoot in cold blood."

President Truman's current proposals for universal training, March said, are practically the same as the proposed legislation he championed as chief of staff 27 years ago.

"Talked To Death"

"It was talked to death in Congress," he related. "This time I hope it will have a better fate. The fact that we have more effective weapons now does not affect its validity at all.

"If we had had such a pool of trained manpower in the intervening years no two nations would have dared stirred us up and we probably would have never been involved in the recent war."

War Department's Sea Personnel Given Raises

Washington, Dec. 27 (AP)—Wage increases which the Army said were in line with new scales granted by the private shipping industry were announced today for 20,000 civilian transport and overseas personnel of the War Department.

A Transportation Corps official said that in general the raises averaged about the same as those made recently by the shipping industry following management-union negotiations. These adjustments averaged fifteen to twenty per cent. He gave the following illustrations granted on an annual wage bases:

Ordinary seaman: From $1,740 to $1,800; able seaman from $1,950 to $2,070; oiler, from $2,070 to $2,130; wiper, from $1,800 to $2,100. They are effective December 31.

These classifications cover the bulk of personnel receiving adjustments, which were for the deep-sea ships.

Patent Lawyers Called Threat to Atom Control

Professor Opposes Plans to Change Act's Provisions

CHICAGO, Dec. 27 (AP).—Edward H. Levi, professor of law at the University of Chicago, said today that the possibility of achieving international control of atomic warfare is threatened by plans of patent attorneys to change the patent provisions of the atomic energy act.

In an address prepared for the annual meeting of the Association of American Law Schools, Mr. Levi said: "It is of paramount importance that no interest be created which will make it difficult to reach a proper international agreement for atomic energy control.

"For example, it is important that there be no private ownership of fissionable material or facilities for its production, because such ownership will be in immediate jeopardy if an international agreement succeeds. It is important that no private company be put into a position where it will make more money if an international agreement fails.

"For this reason it is important that no company believes that it has patents temporarily subject to the public interest but which, with a change in personnel of the Atomic Energy Commission, may be returned to it. Yet this is what the patent bar now proposes. It should be sufficient answer to say to the patent bar that peace comes first."

Canadian Red Aid Gets 5 Years

OTTAWA, Dec. 27 (AP).—Dunford Smith, National Research Council engineer convicted last week of conspiring to communicate confidential information to Russia, was sentenced today to five years imprisonment by County Judge A. G. McDougall.

BY LARRY HAUCK

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., DEC. 27-(AP)-THE UNITED NATIONS ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION, MEETING IN SECRET SESSION WITH SOVIET DELEGATE ANDREI A. GROMYKO ABSENT, TODAY ADOPTED THE FIRST HALF OF AN ATOMIC CONTROL PLAN WHICH CLOSELY FOLLOWED THE ORIGINAL PRINCIPLES SET DOWN BY THE UNITED STATES.

DR. S.P. ALEXANDROV, WHITE-HAIRED SOVIET SCIENTIST REPRESENTING RUSSIA, DID NOT TAKE PART IN THE DISCUSSION. NO VOTES WERE TAKEN AS THE DELEGATES CHECKED THE DOCUMENT PARAGRAPH BY PARAGRAPH, BUT EACH TIME THE CHAIRMAN ASKED FOR OBJECTIONS AND RECEIVED NONE.

STILL AHEAD OF THE COMMISSION FOR ITS AFTERNOON SESSION WERE THE REPORT'S RECOMMENDATIONS, INCLUDING THE CONTROVERSIAL VETO.

DR. JULIUSZ KATZ-SUCHY, POLISH REPRESENTATIVE, SAID DURING THE LUNCHEON RECESS THAT HE WOULD ABSTAIN ON ANY FINAL VOTE.

ALEXANDROV TOOK OVER GROMYKO'S SEAT AFTER TELLING REPORTERS TERSELY THAT GROMYKO WAS "OCCUPIED WITH OTHER BUSINESS."

GROMYKO WAS THE ONLY PRINCIPAL DELEGATE NOT IN ATTENDANCE TODAY. BARUCH REPRESENTED THE UNITED STATES AND SIR ALEXANDER CADOGAN GREAT BRITAIN.

THE MEETING GOT UNDER WAY WITH THE UNITED STATES, BOLSTERED BY CANADIAN SUPPORT, STANDING FIRM AGAINST ANY VETO ON PUNISHMENT FOR ATOMIC CRIMES.

THE UNITED STATES DELEGATE TO THE UNITED NATIONS ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION HELD HIS GROUND AS THE COMMISSION WENT INTO SESSION BEHIND CLOSED DOORS (11 A.M. E.S.T.) AS A COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE TO CONSIDER RECOMMENDATIONS AND GENERAL FINDINGS IN THE REPORT IT MUST MAKE TO THE U.N. SECURITY COUNCIL NEXT TUESDAY.

FOR A TIME IT APPEARED THAT BARUCH'S PLAN WOULD ENCOUNTER ROUGH SAILING BECAUSE THE CANADIAN DELEGATION HAD CIRCULATED A NUMBER OF COMMENTS AND SUGGESTIONS AFFECTING THE PROPOSALS WHICH BARUCH WANTS THE COMMISSION TO ADOPT AS ITS BLUEPRINT FOR ATOMIC CONTROL.

BUT THE "SECOND ECHELON" OF THE UNITED STATES AND CANADIAN DELEGATIONS MET FOR HOURS LATE YESTERDAY AND WERE REPORTED TO HAVE AGREED ON ALL POINTS, THUS SMOOTHING THE WAY FOR BARUCH WHEN THE TEST IS MADE IN THE COMMISSION.

THESE REPORTS SAID THE UNITED STATES DELEGATION LOST NO GROUND ON ITS BASIC DEMANDS IN THE AGREEMENT. THE TWO DELEGATIONS WERE SAID TO HAVE BEEN SEPARATED ONLY ON PROCEDURAL MATTERS, BUT NEVER ON FUNDAMENTALS.

BARUCH DEMANDED AT THE FIRST ATOMIC COMMISSION MEETING LAST JUNE THAT THE VETO OF THE FIVE GREAT POWERS BE DROPPED IN ANY ATOMIC CONTROL SYSTEM.

RUSSIA'S POSITION IS AN ENIGMA. SOVIET DELEGATE ANDREI A. GROMYKO PLEADED LAST WEEK FOR MORE TIME TO STUDY THE UNITED STATES PLAN AND INDICATED THEN HE MIGHT BE PREPARED TO DISCUSS IT LATE THIS WEEK. THERE STILL IS NO INDICATION WHETHER GROMYKO IS PREPARED TO GO AHEAD WITH THE DISCUSSION IN TOMORROW'S COMMITTEE MEETING.

THE COMMISSION ON NOV.13 DECIDED IT WOULD RENDER TO THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL A REPORT BY DEC.31, BEFORE THE COMPLEXION OF THE COMMISSION IS CHANGED BY COLOMBIA, BELGIUM AND SYRIA TAKING SEATS NOW HELD BY MEXICO, THE NETHERLANDS, AND EGYPT. YESTERDAY THE POLITICAL COMMITTEE OF THE COMMISSION APPROVED, WITH RUSSIA SITTING SILENT AND POLAND ABSTAINING, THE SCIENTIFIC AND TECHNICAL PHASES OF THIS REPORT.

THERE REMAINS TO BE INSERTED IN THE DRAFT REPORT THE GENERAL FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS, UPON WHICH THE COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE NOW MUST DECIDE.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY RESOLUTION ON DEC.14, 1946, GAVE TOP PRIORITY TO THE PROBLEM OF OUTLAWING THE ATOM AND OTHER WEAPONS OF MASS DESTRUCTION. IT MADE NO MENTION OF THE VETO SYSTEM NOW IN EFFECT IN THE SECURITY COUNCIL AND SOME DELEGATIONS HAVE THOUGHT THAT IT MIGHT NOT BE NECESSARY TO MENTION THE VETO IN THE ATOMIC REPORT. DURING HEARINGS ON THE ARMS RESOLUTION THE CANADIAN DELEGATION SAID THAT A SITUATION IN WHICH A BIG POWER FOUND IT NECESSARY TO USE THE VETO WOULD MEAN WAR ANYWAY SINCE THIS POWER WOULD BE DECLARING WAR AGAINST THE REMAINDER OF THE UNITED NATIONS.

BUT BARUCH HAS INSISTED THROUGHOUT THE LONG HOURS OF DEBATE THAT THERE MUST BE NO VETO TO PROTECT ANY NATION WHICH MIGHT VIOLATE ATOMIC CONTROLS. HE HAS SAID HE DOES NOT DESIRE TO CHANGE THE VETO SET-UP IN THE SECURITY COUNCIL BUT THAT THERE MUST NOT BE A VETO BY WHICH PUNISHMENT OF A NATION VIOLATING ANY ATOMIC CONTROL PACT CAN BE HALTED.

THE UNITED STATES PLAN ENVISIONS AN ATOMIC CONTROL SYSTEM SET UP BY INTERNATIONAL TREATY, WITH COMPLETE AUTHORITY OVER ATOMIC MATTERS IN THE WORLD AND WITH ITS DAY-TO-DAY WORKINGS NOT SUBJECT TO VETO. IT ALSO ENVISIONS THE FREE MOVEMENT OF INSPECTORS SEARCHING FOR VIOLATIONS.

RUSSIA AGREED IN DEBATE ON THE ARMS RESOLUTION THAT THERE SHOULD BE NO VETO IN ORGANIZATIONS SET UP TO INSPECT AND CONTROL ARMS REGULATIONS. BUT RUSSIA HAS INSISTED EQUALLY AS FIRMLY THAT THE VETO POWER IN THE SECURITY COUNCIL MUST NOT BE CHANGED.

LONDON, DEC.27-(AP)-A DISPATCH OF TASS, THE OFFICIAL RUSSIAN NEWS AGENCY, TONIGHT REPORTED SPECULATION WITHIN THE MIDDLE EAST THAT "PERHAPS TURKEY IS AIMING AT A NEW FORCIBLE SEIZURE OF SOME PART OF ARAB TERRITORY."

THE TASS DISPATCH QUOTED THE BEYROUTH NEWSPAPER BARID-AS-SURI FOR THIS INTERPRETATION OF TURKEY'S SUPPRESSION OF LEFTIST NEWSPAPERS AND ORGANIZATIONS IN THE AREA OF ISTANBUL.

"IT IS NOTEWORTHY THAT SUCH TERROR USUALLY IS LAUNCHED WHEN THE PRESENT SYSTEM IS TO BE CHANGED AND WHEN IT IS DESIRED TO UNLEASH NEW ENEMITY IN THE WORLD, AS WAS THE CASE, FOR INSTANCE, WHEN THE ANTI-COMINTERN PACT WAS SIGNED BETWEEN GERMANY, JAPAN AND ITALY ON THE EVE OF THE SECOND WORLD WAR," THE LEBANESE PAPER WAS QUOTED AS SAYING.

TASS SAID THE PAPER, NOTING SIMILAR "REPRESSIONS" OF LEFTIST GROUPS ELSEWHERE IN THE MIDDLE EAST, PARTICULARLY IN EGYPT, ASKED, "WHAT KIND OF WAR GROUP IS TURKEY PLANNING TO SET UP FOR THE NEXT WORLD WAR?"

PARIS, DEC. 27-(AP)-REPORTS PERISTED TONIGHT THAT LEON BLUM, SOCIALIST INTERIM PRESIDENT-PREMIER, MIGHT FLY TO THE UNITED STATES TO CONFER WITH SECRETARY OF STATE BYRNES ON THE FRENCH-AMERICAN DISPUTE OVER THE SAARLAND. THE FOREIGN OFFICE SAID IT KNEW NOTHING OF SUCH A PLAN.

FRENCH ESTABLISHMENT OF A CUSTOMS BARRIER BETWEEN THE SAAR AND THE REST OF GERMANY, AND REPORTS THAT FACTORIES ELSEWHERE IN THE FRENCH ZONE WERE BEING STRIPPED FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE SAAR HAVE DISTURBED AMERICAN OCCUPATION AUTHORITIES. THEY PROTESTED THAT IT WAS A "UNILATERAL ACTION."

GEN. CHARLES DE GAULLE MAY MAKE HIMSELF HEARD ON THAT AND OTHER PROBLEMS TOMORROW. IT WAS LEARNED THAT FRANCE'S WARTIME LEADER WOULD BREAK A LONG SILENCE WITH AN IMPORTANT STATEMENT, POSSIBLY DEALING WITH THE SAAR, THE FIGHTING IN FRENCH INDOCHINA, AND FRANCE'S CURRENT INTERNAL TROUBLES.

HE IS PRESIDENT OF THE REPUBLIC, WHICH FRANCE LAST MARCH RECOGNIZED AS A FREE STATE EMBRACING TONKON AND ANNAM PROVINCES, WITH MEMBERSHIP IN THE FEDERATION OF INDOCHINA AND THE FRENCH UNION. MANY QUARTERS HERE HAD REGARDED THE REVOLT AS THE WORK OF EXTREME NATIONALISTS ACTING AGAINST HIS WISHES.

HOWEVER, A FOREIGN OFFICE SPOKESMAN SAID LAST NIGHT THAT HE HIMSELF HAD PLANNED THE UPRISING AND WAS DIRECTING IT. HE ACCUSED HO OF COVERING UP PREPARATION OF THE REVOLT WITH A CONILIATORY LETTER TO PRESIDENT-PREMIER LEON BLUM DEC.15, FOUR DAYS BEFORE SHOOTING STARTED IN HANOI, CAPITAL OF INDOCHINA AND OF THE VIET-NAM REPUBLIC.

THE LETTER, AS MADE PUBLIC BY THE FOREIGN OFFICE SOURCE, DEPLORED INCIDENTS BETWEEN FRENCH AND VIET-NAM TROOPS CURRENT SINCE NOV.20 AND PROPOSED THAT BOTH SIDES MOVE BACK TO POSITIONS AS OF THAT DATE AT HAIPHONG, HANOI'S PORT, AND LANGSON, TO THE NORTH ON THE CHINESE BORDER. ADD PARIS-(B)-VIET-NAM-XXX FOR IT

BEHIND THIS SCREEN, THE SPOKESMAN SAID, VIET-NAMESE IN HANOI AND ENVIRONS WERE MINING STREETS, ERECTING ROADBLOCKS, STOPPING TRAINS, FILLING YERSIN HOSPITAL WITH SOLDIERS DISGUISED AS PATIENTS AND PREPARING TO SABOTAGE THE ELECTRIC LIGHT PLANT.

INDOCHINA DISPATCHES SAID THAT HO, WHO FLED HANOI ABOUT THE TIME THE LATEST OUTBREAK BEGAN, HAD SET UP HIS GOVERNMENT AT HADONG, SIX MILES SOUTHWEST. THEY REPORTED FRENCH TROOPS ADVANCING AGAINST VIET-NAMESE ON VIRTUALLY ALL FRONTS.

IN CHERBOURG, PORT OFFICIALS SAID THE ILE DE FRANCE, A STILL UNRECONVERTED TROOP TRANSPORT, HAD BEEN DIVERTED FROM A TRANS-ATLANTIC SCHEDULE TO SAIL THIS WEEK FOR NORTH AFRICA AND TOULON, WHERE IT WOULD PICK UP SOME 9,000 TROOPS FOR SHIPMENT TO INDOCHINA. THERE WAS NO GOVERNMENT CONFIRMATION OF THIS REPORT.

ALREADY SHIPPED OUT WERE TWO BATTALIONS OF THE FOREIGN LEGION AND THE FIRST PARACHUTIST REGIMENT.

BERLIN, DEC. 27-(AP)-THE RUSSIAN-LICENSED NEWSPAPER NACHT EXPRESS TODAY SUGGESTED A POPULAR PLEBISCITE BE HELD IN THE SAAR TO "SHOW THE WORLD WHETHER INDEED, THE SAARLANDERS WANT TO BE UNITED WITH FRANCE, AS SOME SECTIONS OF THE FRENCH PRESS CLAIM."

THE PAPER SAID THAT RECENT FRENCH OPERATIONS IN THE SAAR, INCLUDING THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A CUSTOMS FRONTIER BETWEEN THE COAL-RICH TERRITORY AND THE REST OF GERMANY, INDICATED THAT THE FRENCH WERE PROGRESSIVELY MOVING TOWARD INCORPORATION OF THE AREA.

THE EXPRESS CLAIMED THAT "THE ATTITUDE OF THE SOVIET UNION" WAS TO REGARD FRENCH ACTIONS IN THE SAAR AS "NOT MERE ADMINISTRATIVE CHANGES." THERE HAS BEEN NO OFFICIAL DECLARATION BY THE RUSSIANS HERE OF THEIR ATTITUDE ON CONCERNING RECENT SAAR DEVELOPMENTS, BUT LIEUT. GEN. LUCIUS D.CLAY, THE DEPUTY AMERICAN MILITARY GOVERNOR, HAS CALLED THE CUSTOMS FRONTIER OPERATION AN "ENTIRELY UNILATERAL ACTION."

FRANKFURT, GERMANY, DEC. 27-(AP)-PFC. DANIEL WALCZAK'S ATTORNEY TODAY CHALLENGED THE ARMY'S AUTHORITY TO TRY WALCZAK FOR MURDER BECAUSE THE DETROIT SOLDIER HAD BEEN HONORABLY DISCHARGED FROM THE ARMY AFTER THE DATE OF THE ALLEGED CRIME LAST FEBRUARY.

ALTHOUGH WALCZAK REENLISTED THE DAY AFTER HIS DISCHARGE IN JUNE, THE ATTORNEY CITED A PROVISION OF THE ARMY'S COURT MARTIAL MANUAL WHICH DECLARES:

"THE GENERAL RULE IS THAT COURT MARTIAL JURISDICTION OVER THOSE IN MILITARY SERVICE CEASES ON DISCHARGE OR OTHER SEPARATION FROM SUCH SERVICE, AND THAT JURISDICTION AS TO AN OFFENSE COMMITTED DURING A PERIOD OF SERVICE THUS TERMINATED IS NOT REVIVED BY A REENTRY INTO THE MILITARY SERVICE."

THE MILITARY COURT DEFERRED ARGUMENT AND RULING ON THE CHALLENGE AND RECESSED THE TRIAL INDEFINITELY TO ALLOW ASSEMBLING OF WITNESSES AND EVIDENCE. WALCZAK IS ACCUSED OF SHOOTING A GERMAN GIRL AND THROWING HER BODY IN A RIVER.

A DEFENSE REQUEST TO CALL GEN. JOSEPH T.MCNARNEY, EUROPEAN THEATER COMMANDER, AS A WITNESS WAS DENIED BY THE COURT, WHICH RULED HIS PERSONAL ATTENDANCE AT THE TRIAL WAS UNNECESSARY AND WOULD "INCUR NEEDLESS EXPENSE AND INCONVENIENCE TO THE GOVERNMENT."

THE DEFENSE ATTORNEY, EARL CARROLL OF SAN BRUNO, CALIF., SAID HE WANTED TO QUESTION THE GENERAL "ABOUT ISSUES WHICH WILL DETERMINE THE JURISDICTION OF THIS COURT."

CARROLL CHARGED THAT WALCZAK IS "A VICTIM OF A SCHEME OF FABRICATED EVIDENCE," AND IS BEING "TRIED ON A SET OF FACTS DISTORTED" TO SUPPORT THIS ARMY COMMAND'S EXPLANATION OF WALCZAK'S "PROTRACTED CONFINEMENT" BEFORE FORMAL CHARGES WERE FILED. 1946

BASEL, SWITZERLAND, DEC.27-(AP)-THE GENERAL COUNCIL OF THE WORLD ZIONIST ORGANIZATION STROVE BEHIND CLOSED DOORS TODAY TO PICK A NEW JEWISH AGENCY EXECUTIVE FOR RESTIVE PALESTINE AND SOLVE THE PROBLEMS OF ZIONIST LEADERSHIP FOR THE CRITICAL DAYS AHEAD.

THERE WAS SPECULATION THAT A TRIUMVIRATE OR A PRESIDIUM WOULD BE NAMED TO HEAD THE ZCONISTS, WHO HAVE BEEN WCTHOUT A PRESIDENT SINCE THE TERM OF THE VETERAN LEADER DR.CHAIM WEIZMANN ENDED WITH ADJOURNMENT OFNTHE 22ND CONGRESS ON CHRISTMAS EVE.

DISPATCHES FROM PALESTINE SAID BOTH OFFICIAL AND UNOFFICIAL OBSERVERS ANTICIPATED RENEWED VIOLENCE FROM THE MORE EXTREME JEWISH UNDERGROUND FORCES WITH THE END OF THE CONGRESS. IRGUN ZVAI LEUMI, ONE UNDERGROUND GROUP, BROADCAST THAT "THEGE IS NO TRUCE. THE FIGHTING WILL GO ON. WE WERE QUIET DURING THE CONGRESS BECAUSE WE DID NOT WANT TO PUT THE CONGRESS UNDER PRESSURE."

YESTERDAY'S TWO DIAMOND FACTORY ROBBERIES IN WHICH PALESTINE POLICE SAID ARMED JEWS OBTAINED MORE THAN $100,000 IN GEMS AND CASH WAS SEEN AS EVIDENCE THAT THE UNDERGROUND FORCES WERE REPLENISHING THEIR WAR CHESTS.

RABBI A.H. SILVER OF CLEVELAND, OHIO, TOLD THE GENERAL COUNCIL THERE WERE GOOD PROSPECTS OF A THREE-PARTY AGREEMENT ON CREATION OF THE EXECUTIVE FOR THE JEWISH AGENCY, WHICH IS THE RECOGNIZED SPOKESMAN FOR THE JEWISH COMMUNITY IN THE HOLY LAND.

THIS WOULD MEAN AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE GENERAL ZIONIST, ORTHODOX AND LABOR PARTIES--THE THREE MAJOR POLITICAL GROUPS IN THE ZIONIST ORGANIZATION.

A COUNCIL MEMBER SAID THAT THE SUGGESTION THAT DR.WEIZMANN BE NAMED HONORARY PRESIDENT OR DIRECTOR OF THE ZIONISTS WAS STILL BEING CONSIDERED.

JEWISH SOURCES IN THE HOLY LAND, DISPATCHES SAID, STRESSED THAT ANY RENEWED OUTBREAKS OF VIOLENCE COULD NOT BE BLAMED UPON ANY ACTION OR LACK OF ACTION TAKEN BY THE ZIONISTS IN BASEL, BUT WOULD BE TIMED MERELY WITH THE END OF THEIR SESSIONS.

THE TALKS AT BASEL HINGED UPON PARTICIPATION BY THE JEWS IN THE FORTHCOMING LONDON CONFERENCE ON PALESTINE. WEIZMANN ADVOCATED CONTINUING NEGOTIATIONS WITH THE BRITISH, WHILE DR.SILVER OPPOSED IT.

BRITISH INFORMANTS IN LONDON SAID THE ZIONIST ACTION WOULD NOT CHANGE PLANS FOR HOLDING THE CONFERENCE SOMETIME NEXT MONTH.

IRGUN ZVAI LEUMI AND THE MORE EXTREME STERN GANG HAVE HELD STEADFASTLY TO THE AIMS OF CREATING A JEWISH STATE OUT OF ALL PALESTINE AND TRANS-JORDAN AND THE ESTABLISHMENT OF AN INTERIM JEWISH GOVERNMENT IN EXILE.

THIS STATEMENT SAID THAT ON DEC.19 THE FRENCH DEMANDED THAT THE REPUBLIC, RECOGNIZED SINCE LAST MARCH AS A FREE STATE WITH AUTHORITY OVER ANNAM AND TONKIN, TRANSFER POLICE CONTROL TO THEM. THEIR ULTIMATUM WAS REJECTED, IT CONTINUED, AND FIGHTING BEGAN.

THE STATEMENT ADDED THAT THE FRENCH AIMED THEIR FIRST ATTACK AT THE PRESIDENTIAL PALACE AND THAT, WHILE HE ESCAPED DEATH, HIS UNDER-SECRETARY OF THE FOREIGN DEPARTMENT, HOANG MINH GIAM, WAS WOUNDED.

HO WAS QUOTED ON THE RADIO AS COMMENTING FAVORABLY ON THE ARRIVAL IN SAIGON TODAY OF MARIUS MOUTET, FRENCH COLONIAL MINISTER, WHO WILL INVESTIGATE THE TROUBLE, AND AS ASKING THE WITHDRAWAL OF FRENCH TROOPS FROM INDOCHINA. THE BROADCAST STATEMENT SAID ALL FRENCH PRISONERS IN VIET-NAMESE HANDS HAD BEEN GIVEN DOUBLE RATIONS FOR CHRISTMAS AND AUTHORIZED TO WRITE HOME.

CGEVELAND, DEC.27-(AP)-A "GRAND STRATEGY" IN FOREIGN POLICY WITH THE PROPER COMBINATION OF BOTH THE MILITARY AND POLITICAL FORCES OF GOVERNMENT WAS RECOMMENDED TONIGHT BY PROFESSOR RICHARD C.SNYDER OF PRINCETON UNIVERSITY.

ADDRESSING THE 42ND ANNUAL MEETING OF THE AMERICAN POLITICAL SCIENCE ASSOCIATION, PROFESSOR SNYDER DECLARED THAT IN THE COMPLEXITY AND URGENCY OF WORLD AFFAIRS IN THE ATOMIC AGE THE MAKING OF FOREIGN POLICY IS A POLITICAL DECISION WITH THE MILITARY RELIED UPON TO BACK IT UP.

"TOO MUCH ATTENTION MAY BE PAID TO THE MILITARY IN MATTERS INVOLVING CONSIDERATIONS OF POLICY BEYOND THEIR PROPER SCOPE," HE SAID.

"THE DECISION ON PACIFIC BASES IN WHICH THE NAVY AND THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF SEEMS TO HAVE HAD A HEAVY HAND WAS APPARENTLY PREMATURE," PROFESSOR SNYDER ASSERTED.

"IT WAS BOUND TO HAVE IMPLICATIONS FOR OUR RELATIONS WITH RUSSIA AND OUR POLICY WITHIN THE UNITED NATIONS WHICH SHOULD HAVE BEEN FULLY EXPLORED BEFOREHAND.

THE PRINCETON PROFESSOR SAID "ANY OCCUPATION AND CONTROL IN GERMANY WILL CONDITION AMERICAN RELATIONS AND POLICY IN EUROPE FOR YEARS TO COME, YET THE OPEN CHARGE THAT ALL WAS NOT WELL IN GERMANY, THAT MILITARY POLICY MIGHT BE RUNNING COUNTER TO OUR POLITICAL INTERESTS, BROUGHT A COMBINED MILITARY AND PARTISAN CIVILIAN OPPOSITION TO ANY INVESTIGATION. 1946

WASHINGTON, DEC. 27-(AP)-CAMILLE GUTT, MANAGING DIRECTOR OF THE INTERNATIONAL MONETARY FUND, SAID TONIGHT THE FUND SHOULD NOT GRANT FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE TO A NATION WHOSE IMPORT AND EXPORT SITUATION IS "FUNDAMENTALLY WRONG."

IN A RADIO INTERVIEW OF THE NBC SYSTEM, GUTT SAID THAT THE FUND WOULD AID ANY OF ITS 39 MEMBER NATIONS BY SELLING THEM FOREIGN EXCHANGE TO OVERCOME "TEMPORARY DIFFICULTIES."

UNDER THAT HEAD, HE INDICATED, MIGHT COME SUCH THINGS AS A BAD CROP IN ONE YEAR, A DEPRESSION IN FOREIGN MARKETS OR AN ABNORMAL SITUATION DUE TO THE WAR.

BUT A STRUCTURAL DISTURBANCE IN FOREIGN TRADE, HE SAID, WOULD BE ANOTHER MATTER.

"SUPPOSING A COUNTRY COULD NOT, FOR YEARS, IN SUCCESSION, MEET ITS FOREIGN EXCHANGE OBLIGATIONS WITH THE PROCEEDS FROM ITS EXPORTS," HE SAID.

"THIS WOULD SHOW THAT THERE IS SOMETHING FUNDAMENTALLY WRONG WITH THIS COUNTRY'S IMPORT AND EXPORT SITUATION. EITHER IT HAS NOT TAKEN THE NECESSARY STEPS TO REGULATE ITS ECONOMY, OR THE VALUE OF ITS CURRENCY IS NOT AT THE LEVEL WHERE IT OUGHT TO BE.

"IN SUCH CASES A RECOURSE TO THE FUND'S RESOURCES WOULD ONLY TEND TO PROLONG THIS UNSOUND SITUATION AND SHOULD BE DISCOURAGED."

WASHINGTON,DEC 27-(AP)-THE LOGAN ACT, WHICH ERNIE ADAMSON, COUNSEL FOR THE HOUSE COMMITTEE ON UN-AMERICAN ACTIVITIES, HAS SUGGESTED MIGHT BE APPLICABLE TO THE FOREIGN UTTERANCES OF ELLIOTT ROOSEVELT, IS ONE OF THE FEW RESTRICTIONS ON FREEDOM OF SPEECH IN AMERICAN LAW.

ENACTED JANUARY 30, 1799, THE ACT PROHIBITS ANY UNITED STATES CITIZEN, WITHOUT EXPRESS GOVERNMENT AUTHORITY, FROM CARRYING ON ANY "VERBAL OR WRITTEN CORRESPONDENCE OR INTERCOURSE WITH ANY FOREIGN GOVERNMENT OR ANY OFFICER OR AGENT THEREOF, WITH AN INTENT TO INFLUENCE THE MEASURES OR CONDUCT OF ANY FOREIGN GOVERNMENT X X X IN RELATION TO X X X THE GOVERNMENT OF THE UNITED STATES."

RECORDS OF CONGRESS AT THE TIME OF ITS ENACTMENT INDICATE THAT ITS MAJOR PURPOSE WAS TO PREVENT INTERFERENCE IN THE CONDUCT OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS BY PERSONS NOT FULLY AUTHORIZED BY THE GOVERNMENT.

THE ACT DOES NOT BEAR THE NAME OF ITS AUTHOR, BUT THAT OF GEORGE LOGAN, A SENATOR FROM PENNSYLVANIA, WHO WENT TO FRANCE ON HIS OWN TO TRY TO IMPROVE FRANCO-AMERICAN RELATIONS. THE ACT WAS WRITTEN TO CIRCUMVENT HIM.

STATE AND JUSTICE DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS SAID THEY KNEW OF NO CONVICTIONS UNDER THE ACT, WHICH WAS A PART OF THE ALIEN AND SEDITION ACTS OF A PERIOD WHEN THE UNITED STATES WAS INVOLVED IN A CONTROVERSY WITH FRANCE.

RECORDS AT THE STATE DEPARTMENT INDICATED THE LOGAN ACT WAS INVOKED IN MASSACHUSETTS IN 1861 AGAINST AN INDIVIDUAL CHARGED WITH WRITING TO MEMBERS OF THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT URGING RECOGNITION OF THE CONFEDERACY. THE RECORDS FAIL TO SHOW THE OUTCOME OF THE CASE.

WASHINGTON,DEC 27-(AP)-THE WAR DEPARTMENT SAID TODAY THAT THE NAZIS WHO WERE GRANTED A CHRISTMAS AMNESTY IN THE AMERICAN ZONE OF OCCUPATION WERE PRIMARILY SMALL OFFENDERS WHO HAD BEEN NAZI PARTY MEMBERS BUT NOT ACTIVE PARTICIPANTS IN THE PARTY'S PROGRAM.

IN ANSWER TO REPORTERS' QUESTIONS, THE WAR CRIMES SECTION OF THE MILITARY GOVERNMENT SAID THAT ONLY ABOUT 80,000 OF THE 1,000,000 PARDONED GERMANS HAD BEEN IN CUSTODY. GEN. JOSEPH T. MCNARNEY'S GRANTING OF AMNESTY, AN ACTION TAKEN AFTER APPROVAL BY SECRETARY OF WAR PATTERSON, RELEASED THEM FROM PROSECUTION UNDER THE DE-NAZIFICATION PROGRAM, BUT THEIR RECORDS STILL ARE SUBJECT TO INVESTIGATION FOR POSSIBLE CRIMES AGAINST THE ALLIES OR PEOPLES OF OCCUPIED COUNTRIES, IT WAS EXPLAINED.

THOSE AFFECTED BY THE AMNESTY GRANT WERE PART OF 3,000,000 WHOSE NAMES APPEARED ON AN ORIGINAL LIST. THE AMERICAN ZONE COMMANDER TURNED OVER PROSECUTION OF THE DE-NAZIFICATION LAWS TO THE GERMAN COURTS LAST MARCH, LATER WARNING THE COURTS TO EXPEDITE THE CASES OR THE MILITARY AUTHORITIES WOULD RESUME HANDLING OF THE PROCESSES.

ASKED FOR COMMENT, SENATOR CAPEHART (R-IND) SAID HE HAD "NO COMPLAINT" ABOUT GENERAL MCNARNEY'S ACTION.

"I THINK IT WAS THE INTELLIGENT THING TO DO," CAPEHART SAID. "IF WE ARE GOING TO TRY TO REBUILD THOSE PEOPLE WE HAVE GOT TO SHOW THAT WE REGARD THESE SMALL FRY AS HUMAN BEINGS WHO WERE NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR WHAT HAPPENED AT THE TOP AND PROBABLY WOULD HAVE FACED DEATH IF THEY HAD NOT GONE ALONG WITH THE NAZIS."

TIME LIMIT OF 3 MONTHS SET FOR U.N.

Commission Showdown Nearing On Atomic Control Report

By D. Harrison

New York, Dec. 28 (AP)—Soviet Russia proposed in a surprise move tonight that the United Nations Security Council fix a three-month time limit for drafting a world-wide arms-reduction program.

The Soviet move came as the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission neared a showdown on its first atomic control report, one of the major steps in the general arms limitation plan as approved by the United Nations Assembly December 14.

In a letter to Trygve Lie, secretary general, Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, called for immediate action on the whole program without waiting for final action on atomic control.

Formal Resolution Submitted

He submitted a formal resolution outlining the new Soviet proposals and asked that they be placed on the agenda of the Security Council's next meeting, scheduled for December 31.

Declaring that "the general regulation and reduction of armaments and armed forces is the most important measure for the strengthening of international peace and security," Gromyko proposed:

That the Security Council "proceed with the working out of practical measures on the implementation of the General Assembly's decision of 14 December" on a world arms limitation program.

That it establish immediately an eleven-nation commission, representing each nation on the Security Council, to prepare and submit specific proposals on the entire plan "within a period of one to two months but not later than three months" from now.

Until the publication of the Soviet proposals, it had been generally assumed by most delegates that no specific action could be taken on the general arms-reduction plan until basic agreements had been reached on atomic control.

U.S. Urges Top Priority

During the Assembly debate, the United States insisted that atomic control be given top priority in the general program.

Meanwhile, Great Britain was reported ready to support a Canadian-French proposal which would provide for automatic world action against any nation guilty of major violations of atomic control agreements.

The new plan was put forward by Canada yesterday after it appeared that the atomic energy commission might become hopelessly deadlocked over a United States proposal that the five big powers surrender their power to veto punishment for violators.

The Canadian proposal immediately won the support of Alexandre Parodi, French delegate, who earlier had suggested informally that such a measure might get around the controversial veto question without weakening the atomic enforcement structure.

Hope For Baruch Approval

Although it could not be ascertained immediately whether the compromise plan would be acceptable to Bernard M. Baruch, United States representative, the British delegation was understood to be hopeful that it might meet both American and Russian approval.

The only opposition to the Canadian proposal at yesterday's meeting came from Paul Hasluck, Australian delegate, who contended that it would have the effect of setting up a system of collective action independent of the Security Council.

The British were said to feel that Baruch's failure to oppose the compromise was a hopeful sign.

but after the meeting a spokesman for Baruch insisted that the United States would make a last-ditch stand for a complete elimination of the veto from atomic matters.

Another reason for British hope, informed quarters said, was the fact that Poland agreed to support the Canadian proposal. Poland usually votes with Russia on most major issues.

Prof. S. P. Alexandrov, who substituted for Gromyko at the meeting, remained silent on both the Baruch recommendation and the Canadian plan. The Soviet attitude, as a result, was left in doubt on the whole question.

One source said Gromyko received final instructions from Moscow during the day and would be ready to state Russia's position definitely when the commission meets at 11 A.M. Monday to take final action on its preliminary report to the Security Council. The commission already has approved the entire report, with the exception of the veto question.

Might Invoke Article 51

The Canadian proposal provides that the treaty setting up atomic controls contain a clause binding all signatories to consider any major violation sufficient cause for invoking Article 51 of the United Nations Charter.

This article guarantees the right "of individual or collective self-defense if an armed attack occurs against a member of the United Nations." The Canadian plan would, in effect, define any major violation of atomic control regulations as "an armed attack."

British circles were said to feel that this would meet Baruch's demand for airtight safeguards to prevent "any nullification of punishment." At the same time, it would steer clear of the veto question and possible Soviet objections to any limitation of this big-power voting privilege.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R., Mich.), who is expected to be chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in the new Congress, announced his approval of Baruch's position on the veto in a telegram to Baruch today.

"In my personal opinion," Vandenberg wired Baruch, "the Senate would not ratify an atomic-control treaty which leaves any possible chance for subsequent international bad faith to circumvent total and summary enforcement or for any subsequent disagreements regarding enforcements to paralyze even temporarily the application of effective sanctions."

Soviet U. N. Note

The text of the arms reduction proposals sent by the Soviet delegate, Andrei A. Gromyko, yesterday to Trygve Lie, Secretary General of the United Nations:

Dear Secretary General:

I have the honor to request you to include in the agenda of the next meeting of the Security Council on 31 Dec. an item on the consideration of the following proposal, which I make on behalf of my Government:

Considering that the general regulation and reduction of armaments and armed forces is the most important measure for the strengthening of international peace and security and that the implementation of the General Assembly's decision on this question is one of the most urgent and most important tasks facing the Security Council, the Council resolves:

(1) To proceed with the working out of practical measures on the implementation of the General Assembly's decision of 14 Dec., 1946, on the general regulation and reduction of armaments and armed forces and on the establishment of international control assuring reduction of armaments and armed forces.

(2) To establish a commission of the representatives of countries members of the Security Council which has to be charged to prepare and submit to the Security Council within a period of from one to two months but not later than three months its proposals in accordance with Paragraph 1 of this decision.

Please accept, Mr. Secretary General, the assurance of my very high esteem to you.

ANDREI A. GROMYKO,
Representative of U.S.S.R. on the Security Council.

British Deny Pole Funds Charge

London, Dec. 28 (AP)—The British Foreign Office denied today a statement issued yesterday by the Polish Embassy here that Polish funds were being wrongfully withheld by Britain.

A Foreign Office spokesman, referring to a charge that the British refused to release $40,000,000 deposited here for the duration of the war by the Bank of Poland, said the sum involved was $28,000,000. Conditions for the return of the money were set forth in a British-Polish financial agreement, which has not yet been ratified in London, he added.

A condition of the ratification, the spokesman said, was the observance of various terms of the Potsdam agreement, including the holding of free and unfettered elections in Poland.

[The United States State Department announced yesterday that Polish assets which have been frozen in the United States would be released.]

DE GAULLE STEPS OUT OF RACE FOR FRENCH PRESIDENT

PARIS, Dec. 28 — (AP) Gen. Charles De Gaulle declared today that he did not choose to be a candidate for the presidency of the French Fourth Republic because he did not want to preside impotently over an impotent government.

The 56-year-old leader of the wartime Free French thus wrote at least a temporary finish to a career that has made him at once one of the most respected, feared and hated men in France since Napoleon.

His decision to remain in political retirement was announced in a 200-word written statement.

The republic's president is to be elected January 16 by Parliament at Versailles. The Popular Republican Movement, second strongest party in Parliament, had promised to support him for the presidency if he became a candidate.

Some See Dictator Ambition

Recalling his previous condemnations of the constitution for its power conferred upon the parties and the lack of it given into the hands of the executive, de Gaulle said:

"I do not believe, then, according to my conscience, that it would be well for me to serve the country by pretending to become the guarantor of a constitution which consecrates that regime and to preside, with impotence, over a state that is impotent."

Many Frenchmen, particularly Communists, have charged that de Gaulle's fight for strong executive powers in the constitution was linked with an ambition for dictatorship for himself. Some Frenchmen still fear his influence with high army officers. Others regard him as the greatest individual the nation has produced since Joan d'Arc.

Top Resistance Man in England

An obscure army colonel who took refuge in England in 1940 and laid the groundwork for French resistance with his famous broadcast, "France has lost a battle; she has not lost a war," De Gaulle may have had it in his own power to have become a dictator in 1944 when he returned to Paris a hero at the liberation. Many observers believed so.

But he had pledged President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill to let the people choose their leaders in free elections.

He became the duly chosen leader of the Interim French Government in 1945, but was unwilling to accommodate himself to the endless party quarreling in his coalition Cabinet and finally in disgust at politics, resigned as provisional President last January.

Popularity Dwindles

His popularity began to dwindle with that action, and still more when he stood aloof from leadership of the MRP, the conservative party headed by Georges Bidault.

A public opinion institute poll today showed that only 34 per cent answered "yes" to a recent question, "Do you want General de Gaulle to return to power?" Fifty-three per cent answered "no" and thirteen per cent gave no opinion.

De Gaulle's withdrawal from the picture leaves the Socialist, Vincent Auriol, as the only avowed candidate for President. Edouard Herriot, the veteran Radical-Socialist, the Socialist Leon Blum, present interim President-Premier, and even Bidault, are regarded as possible candidates, however.

GEN. DE GAULLE REFUSES TO RUN FOR PRESIDENCY

Says He Won't Preside With Impotence Over Impotent State.

OBJECTS TO CONSTITUTION

Holds It Gives Legislature Too Much Power and Too Little to the Executive.

PARIS, Dec. 28 (A. P.).—Gen. Charles de Gaulle said today that he would not be a candidate for President of France's new Fourth Republic. The French Legislature is to elect the President on January 16 or soon after.

In a written statement delivered to the press, the wartime leader of the Free French and the first head of France's postwar provisional Government said he did not believe "according to my conscience" that it would be well for him to "preside, with impotence, over the impotence of the state."

Thinks Office Is Too Weak

De Gaulle said he was making his statement in answer to a question put to him about his future intentions. He did not specify whether this question was the one the Associated Press submitted to him some time ago.

De Gaulle has objected to the constitution of the Fourth Republic on the ground that it gives too much power to the Legislature and too little to the Executive.

The National Assembly (lower house) and Council of the Republic (upper house) adjourned last night until January 14. Two days later they will meet in joint session at the Palace of Versailles to elect the first President of the new Fourth Republic.

Political Lineup

Socialist Vincent Auriol is the only avowed candidate for the post up to now, but there will certainly be others, perhaps including: Radical-Socialist Edouard Herriot, former Premier and now back at his old job as mayor of Lyon; Socialist Léon Blum, the present interim President-Premier; or even Georges Bidault, MRP (Popular Republican Movement) leader and former President-Premier, although most quarters believe he is a more likely candidate for Premier.

The political lineup forecasts as many difficulties in electing a national President as the Council of the Republic encountered yesterday in choosing August Champetier de Ribes of the MRP as its president.

The Council took three votes before Champetier de Ribes was chosen, by a relative majority—124 votes to 119 for Georges Marrane, Communist, and one for Jules Gasser, Radical-Socialist. There were nine blank ballots.

Radical-Socialists Hold Key

If, as is customary, the smaller parties align themselves with the three major parties on January 16, the strength of the blocs appears to be about as follows: Communist, Socialist, 422 votes; MRP-Rightist, 360 votes; Radical-Socialist, 103 votes. This is subject to change, since twenty-odd members of the Council remain to be chosen in the colonies.

The lineup demonstrates, however, that without Radical-Socialist support neither of the two most powerful blocs can roll up the 451 votes needed to elect the republic's new President on the first two ballots.

FRANCE SEEMS READY TO USE NAVY IN REVOLT

Indications She Will Deploy Planes In Indo-China Increase

Paris, Dec. 28 (AP)—France appeared to be getting ready to dispatch a strong naval squadron to the coasts of a rebellious Indo-China today amid increasing indications that she will use her planes and guns along with diplomacy to keep a 490-year-old empire from falling apart.

Viet Nam convoys were reported moving toward beleaguered Hanoi, former capital of the Viet Nam republic, where French efforts to mop up the European quarter were assuming the nature of a long-drawn and savage street battle.

Conflicting Reports

From Saigon, capital of Cochin China in southern Indo-China, came contradictory reports of the activities of Viet Nam adherents. One report said Viet Nam formations had completed military preparations and were under orders to hold themselves ready for imminent action in south Indo-China.

The French news agency said, on the contrary, that the Viet Nam had been ordered to refrain from any overt act at present. Saigon was reported under a state of siege and tense.

The leaves of all fighter pilots attached to the aircraft carriers Bearn and Colossus at Toulon were canceled, and similar urgent orders were reported sent to personnel stationed on the destroyers Fantasque, Triomphant and Dixmude.

Violent Clashes Reported

These orders, given just before the new year's celebrations, were interpreted as presaging the dispatch of five naval warships to the Orient. The liner Ile de France already had been directed to Toulon to pick up 9,000 troops for Indo-China.

French patrol planes riddled Viet Nam convoys nearing Hanoi with streams of machine-gun fire, press dispatches said, and the Viet Nam forces replied with strong attacks on French columns moving around the city.

Violent clashes on the city's outskirts were reported. The whole section of the city controlled by the French remained encircled by the hostile natives, who had cut it off from the rest of Indo-China except for aerial transport. This means of communications for the beleaguered French was re-established two days ago when the French recaptured the airport.

Two Attacks Repulsed

A French general staff communiqué released at Saigon in southern Indo-China and a Viet Nam broadcast heard in neighboring Bangkok, Siam, made it apparent that the French were meeting stiff resistance in their so-far futile efforts to mop up the Hanoi area and clear their communications.

The Viet Nam forces launched two strong attacks on the Hanoi Botanical Gardens which were finally repulsed, the French communiqué said.

A day-old Hanoi dispatch said trapped Viet Nam groups fought desperately at some strong points, such as the presidential palace, the central jail and the "Indo-Chinese Guard" barracks.

Snipers Still Active

The French claimed there was a high proportion of Japanese among these "suicide" garrisons entrenched in well-built pillboxes and armed with automatic weapons.

Viet Nam snipers were still active, infiltrating cleared areas in the dark and attacking lone pedestrians and vehicles.

Viet Nam troops finally abandoned their ten-day attack on Phulangthuong, 30 miles north of Hanoi, the communiqué said, and French forces entered the town and relieved the defenders but not until the Viet Nam troops had set fire to numerous buildings.

A Viet Nam broadcast heard in Bangkok declared French forces were cut off at Namdinh, 40 miles southeast of Hanoi, and that French attempts to reach the district where Ho Chi Minh, president of the Viet Nam republic, was staying had been turned back by Viet Nam civilians hurling hand grenades.

30. 24 - 7121

President Ho, who fled Hanoi at the outbreak of the shooting on December 19, is reported to have re-established his government 6 miles outside Hanoi.

Leclerc Arrives In Saigon

The Viet Nam broadcast said the French, supported by about 40 tanks, lost 100 killed in the first five days' fighting in northern Hanoi, and another 100 at Hue, capital of Annam province to the south.

The broadcast denied French reports that Japanese bodies were found among Viet Nam casualties.

Gen. Jacques Philippe Leclerc, French mobile armored expert, delayed en route, finally arrived in Saigon from Paris to take charge of military operations.

Communist party members in the Council of the Republic, upper house of Parliament, joined other members last night in approving a resolution declaring the Council expected the Government to maintain France's position in Indo-China.

of Tonkin and Annam. Yesterday dispatches told of trouble also in the southern Indo-Chinese colony of Cochin China.

The French press agency reported 24 Annamite, Indian and Chinese civilians killed in Christmas night attacks on four automobiles near Saigon, Cochin China's capital. The attacks were attributed to efforts of Viet-Nam adherents to disrupt communications.

Under State Of Siege

The newspaper France-Soir said that, with a 10 P.M. curfew already in effect, colonial authorities put Saigon under a state of siege Thursday night.

Viet-Nam won French recognition last March as a free state holding sway in Tonkin and Annam and certain authority over internal affairs. Nationalists have been seeking to extend its rule over Cochin China and gain full independence.

Blum has sent Colonial Minister Marius Moutet to investigate.

Two Officers Convicted Of Air-Smuggling Plot

Paris, Dec. 28 (AP)—Subject to review of their trial by higher authorities, two American army officers were convicted here of charges of conspiracy to set up an air-smuggling ring between France and North Africa.

Major Howard Gaillard, Jr., of Decatur, Ga., was sentenced to dismissal from the Army on the conspiracy charges. He was cleared of charges relating to purchase of German currency.

Capt. Tod H. Cohen, of Binghamton, N.Y., found guilty of conspiracy and illegal purchase of currency, was sentenced to dismissal from the Army and six months at hard labor. Both men returned to Germany pending trial review.

Big 4 Experts Draft Report on Fate of Prussia

American Calls Former Hub of Reich 'More Busted Up Than Humpty-Dumpty'

BERLIN, Dec. 28 (AP).—An unusual atmosphere of harmony prevailed today as experts of the Big Four powers undertook to draft a report to the impending meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers at Moscow on the liquidation of Prussia.

Prussia, blood-and-iron heart of the former Third Reich, already has ceased to exist as a state. "What has happened to this colossal state is a topic none of the Allies is perturbed about," said Henry Parkman, civil-affairs chief in the American Military Government. "All we have to do is tell the foreign ministers next March 10 about an accomplished fact. Prussia is more busted up than Humpty-Dumpty."

A survey shows that Prussia, which once covered more than half of Germany and had a population of 41,000,000, now is partitioned among three foreign powers, four occupation zones and nine post-war German states.

Prussia's borders once extended from Lithuania to France and from Denmark to Czechoslovakia. Now there is not even a splinter state called Prussia.

Here is what has been carved out of the Prussia that the Kaisers and Adolf Hitler knew:

The northern part of East Prussia awarded to the Soviet Union.

The southern part of East Prussia, eastern Pomerania and Upper and Lower Silesia awarded to Poland.

Western Pomerania, incorporated into a Soviet-zone state with Mecklenburg.

The Soviet state of Brandenburg, formed from the Prussia province of the same name.

The Prussian province of Saxony, incorporated into a Soviet-zone state with Anhalt.

The British-zone state of Schleswig-Holstein, formed from the Prussian province of the same name.

The British-zone state of North Rhine-Westphalia, formed from the Prussian provinces of Westphalia and the Rhineland.

The Prussian province of Hanover, incorporated into a British-zone state with Oldenburg and Brunswick.

Part of the Prussian provinces of the Rhineland and Hesse-Nassau, incorporated into the French-zone state of Rhein-Pfalz (Rhenish Palatinate).

The Hohenzollern region, incorporated into the French-zone state of Wuerttemberg-Hohenzollern.

The Prussian Saarland, included in the internal economy of France.

Part of Hesse-Nassau, incorporated into the American-zone state of Greater Hesse.

The City of Berlin put under the four-power Allied Kommandatura. (POOL)

France Using Two-Edged Policy To Avert Collapse Of Colonial Empire

Paris, Dec. 28 (AP)—Insurrection in Indo-China, now reported as having spread to the south, has forced France to realize she must use guns and planes in addition to diplomacy to keep her rich, 400-year-old colonial empire from falling apart.

DAY

Though a permanent government under the new Fourth Republic is not yet complete, this country already has had to bring into play the sterner aspect of a two-edged policy: loosen the bonds to hold colonials impatient for wider freedom; but when French authority is challenged, fight.

24 More Killed

Nine days ago, while President-Premier Leon Blum tackled the problems of a new Socialist interim government and even before the official Christmas Eve rebirth of constitutional government, fighting broke out between Viet-Namese and French in Hanoi, capital of Indo-China.

Clashes were reported in parts of the northern protectorate states and parachutists as troop reinforcements.

Most Frenchmen—including most political leaders—favor more freedom for colonials. But few are ready to give up control of the Empire's 3,731,400 square miles and administration of some 70,000,000 peoples.

In the last two years, France already has changed her empire in these respects: (1) Shifted toward a "French union" to give colonies varying degrees of self-government; (2) provided for an "assembly of the French union," a third house of the Legislature where colonial spokesmen could make their strength felt.

(3) Decreed a new status as departments of metropolitan France, effective next Wednesday, for the prerevolution colonies of Reunion, Martinque, Guadeloupe and French Guiana; (4) proposed creation of an Indo-China federation to give specific grants of autonomy to component Indo-Chinese states; (4) abolished forced labor in colonies.

MORE GERMAN EXPORTS SEEN

DAY

U. S. Taxpayer Burden May Be Eased by Increase.

Berlin, Dec. 28 (A. P.).—A sharp reduction in the American taxpayers' burden of feeding Germany was officially forecast today in plans to export more than $100,000,000 worth of manufactured goods from the American occupation zone in 1947. M. S. Szymczak, chief of trade and commerce in the United States Military Government, said that the program for next year represented an increase of more than 400 per cent over the 1946 export level.

Szymczak, a Chicagoan on leave from his post as a governor of the Federal Reserve System, reported that the zone's exports and commitments during the first eleven months of 1946 reached only $23,242,000. Ninety per cent of this volume consisted of raw materials, with Great Britain, the Netherlands and the United States heading the list of receiving countries, but next year, Szymczak said, exports will be mainly manufactured products.

The American Military Government recently received an advance of $7,750,000 from United States sources to finance the change-over from cheap unfabricated exports to higher-priced finished goods. Allied observers believe that any substantial revival of German export trade in the next few months will result in Anglo-American action to raise the German food ration from 1,550 calories to a promised level of 1,800 calories daily in the economically merged American and British zones.

Szymczak did not discuss this point in a special report prepared for the American Military Governor, but he noted that food imports from the United States already have passed the million-ton mark. Referring to "the irregular uptrend apparent in German interzonal trade since the middle of 1946," Szymczak declared that the "chief obstacle continues to to failure to achieve German economic unity and to execute a program of financial reform."

Reich Scientists Seek Soviet Jobs, Russ Say

Berlin, Dec. 28 (AP)—The Soviet Military Administration in Germany, which has been accused of forcibly deporting German technical experts to Russia, today made the official claim that many technicians "from all occupation zones of Germany are voluntarily petitioning us for jobs in the Soviet Union."

DAY

It asserted that almost of these petitions came from Germans in the American and British zones.

The statement, distributed through the official Soviet News Bureau, added that the transportation of German workers to Russia had "ceased for the present, but there will be a special announcement when it can be resumed."

Russian Zone to Permit 'Needy' Abortion Cases

Policy Adopted in View of Present Social Conditions

BERLIN, Dec. 28 (AP).—Abortion will be permitted in proved "needy" cases in the Russian occupation zone of Germany.

A spokesman for the zone's German Central Administration for Public Health announced today that the policy was being adopted "in view of present social conditions." It had been advocated publicly by the Communist - dominated Socialist Unity party, strongest political group in the Soviet zone.

The spokesman said that abortion would be permitted only where the third month of pregnacy had not been exceeded and after the needy conditions of the families concerned have been investigated by a commission of doctors and experts in social welfare.

New Hunger Outbreaks Occur in Southern Italy

General Strike Is Reported Near End at Bari

ROME, Dec. 28 (AP).—Hunger produced new disorders farther down the Italian boot today, as a forty-eight hour general strike at Bari showed signs of ending.

The latest of the series of popular outbreaks resulting from food scarcities, high prices and unemployment occurred at Palmi, just north of Reggio Calabria, where 2,000 persons carrying red flags were said by Ansa, the Italian news agency, to have blocked the railway tracks and sacked a train bearing flour.

NIGHT

At two other towns, Cosenza and Catanzaro, workers' organizations were reported preparing general strikes on the model of the one carried out at Naples just before Christmas, when workers forced special food concessions from the government.

Telephone and telegraph communications with Bari still were being reserved for government messages, but the Rome press quoted travelers from that city in southeastern Italy as saying government representatives had promised to "go the limit" in meeting the strikers' demands. These included a dole, work projects for the idle, better control of food distribution, and land and farm labor reforms.

With that understanding, the travelers reported, the Bari Chamber of Labor agreed to send the men back to work tonight.

Bari General Strike In Second Day 1946

Rome, Dec. 28 (AP)—The big southeastern port town of Bari, with a population of 200,000, this morning went into the second day of a general strike against food shortages that yesterday brought bloody battling between ugly tempered crowds and police.

One university student was dead and 25 other people wounded, including six police, at the end of the first day of the strike, which arose out of the refusal or inability of local authorities to grant popular demands for relief from hunger and soaring prices, according to dispatches to the Rome press.

DAY

Political Repercussions

The Interior Ministry said provincial police were "constrained to use their firearms defensively" against armed demonstrators.

Immediate repercussions were felt in Italy's precariously balanced political structure. The parties of the left lined up behind the striking worker, while centrist or right-ist newspapers, minimizing the role of carabinieri who fired on the crowd with machine guns, grumbled about mob rule.

The Bari Socialist party convention, in session as a preliminary to a Socialist National Congress in Rome next month, suspended its work in protest.

Shot Trying to Escape

ROME, Dec. 28 (AP).—One of five Jews held as suspects in the bombing of the British Embassy at Rome on Oct. 31 was wounded seriously in an attempt to escape last night, police reported. He was identified as Jew Epsteinfi of Polish origin. The police report said a jail guard first tried to halt Epstein by firing over his head, but shot him when he failed to halt.

ZIONIST HEADS DEADLOCKED

Agency Executive Posts And London Parley Chief Issues

Basel, Switzerland, Dec. 28 (AP)—The general council of the World Zionist Congress appeared deadlocked today—four days after the adjournment of the World Zionist Organization—on two matters of important policy:

1. The political complexion of the eighteen-member executive of the Jewish Agency.

2. Whether to revive the question of Jewish participation in the forthcoming London conference on Palestine.

The 77-man council was scheduled to meet again to consider nominations for the executive, which it was authorized to appoint.

On a Majority Basis

David Ben-Gurion, outgoing chairman of the executive, said the impassé on appointments would be settled on the basis of three-party representation: the General Zionists, Orthodox party and Labor party.

He predicted in an interview that Dr. Chaim Weizmann, of London, former president of the congress and champion of further negotiation with Britain, would be recalled "to some position of leadership."

Rabbi A. H. Silver, of Cleveland, who gave up his reservations on the Queen Mary in order to participate in the post-congress discussions, said yesterday that there were "good prospects" for forming an executive. Today, he said there "are prospects, but not so good." Rabbi Silver added that he planned to leave Basel by plane tomorrow morning.

Council members were at odds on whether the congress resolution opposing Jewish participation in the London talks was flexible enough to allow the council to reconsider the matter so soon after the adjournment of the congress.

Door Left Open

The resolution left the door open for Jewish participation in the conference by saying that if conditions changed, the council could reserve the action of the congress and send the executive to the discussions.

The London conference is slated to open January 14.

In lieu of the re-election of a president of the World Zionist Congress, some council members were discussing the naming of triumvirate, under which chairmanships of the executive would be established in New York, London and Palestine.

The question of who should have these assignments remained at issue, especially the New York post, in view of differences of opinion between Rabbi Silver and Dr. Nahum Goldman, of New York.

Inquiry In Palestine Urged

New York, Dec. 28 (AP)—William B. Ziff, Chicago publisher and author who was ousted as a delegate to the recent world Zionist congress at Basle, Switzerland, said today the United States should send a commission to investigate British conduct there.

Ziff made the statement at a news conference after arriving here by plane.

Ziff declared the British were entering the "second phase of an anti-Semitic struggle" and said they were imposing anti-Jewish laws in Palestine and elsewhere.

Ziff made no mention of his ouster from the congress and said he had walked out of the meetings in "disgust" over what he termed co-operation by the Zionists with the British.

DUTCH ENVOY QUITS SPAIN

Only 3 Heads of Missions of U.N. Countries Still in Madrid

MADRID, Dec. 28 (AP)—The Dutch Legation announced tonight that P. E. Teppema, Netherlands Minister to Spain, would leave Madrid tonight for San Sebastian with the expectation of crossing the frontier into France by automobile tomorrow.

His departure was in line with the Dutch announcement that it would comply with the request of the United Nations General Assembly that United Nations members recall the chiefs of their diplomatic missions in Spain.

It was announced also that the Italian Ambassador, the Duke of Gallarati Scotti, left last night by train for Barcelona enroute to Italy. Although not a United Nations member, Italy said she would act in accord with the United Nations.

Mr. Teppema's departure will leave representatives of Turkey, The Dominican Republic, and El Salvador as the only United Nations with Ministers Plenipotentiary in Spain.

New Counselor to Belgrade

BELGRADE, Dec. 28 (AP).—An American embassy spokesman disclosed today that the State Department has notified the embassy here to expect the arrival in February of John Moors Cabot, of Cambridge, Mass., who will assume the post of counselor. At present there is no American Ambassador at Belgrade, for Richard C. Patterson jr., has returned home for an indefnite stay.

Observers Lay Purge to Desire to Crush Anti-Red Campaign Before Russians Depart

BUDAPEST, Dec. 28 (AP)—Josef Bogmar, Hungarian Minister of Information, said today that "many persons" had been arrested in what unofficial sources said was a Communist-sponsored purge of politicians and army officers favoring the Western version of democracy.

Mr. Bogmar promised to release complete information later but said the arrests had been carried out by the War Ministry's Communist-controlled Political Department.

Other informants — members of the anti-Communist Small Landholders party, which won a decisive majority in the November, 1945, elections — said that between 400 and 500 persons had been questioned and that at least 100 were apparently being held in the Political Department headquarters here. These sources said that the persons arrested were nearly all pro-American or pro-British politicians or army officers, many of whom had been members of the anti-German resistance movement during the war.

They said that the arrests were a Communist move designed to entrench the present political order and spike any anti-Communist hopes before the peace treaty between Hungary and the Allies is signed and the Communists theoretically lose their most powerful potential weapon: the Russian occupation forces.

Small Landholder informants, although claiming no official information, said that Premier Ferenc Nagy, harried leader of the Small Landholders party, had spent most of today consulting with "certain authorities." This was interpreted as referring to the Russians.

Party sources also said that Albert Bartha, Minister of War, officially if not actually responsible for everything done by all departments of his Ministry, was considerably chagrined over not having received the depositions taken from members of his General Staff arrested in the purge. Two of these were identified by party informants as Lieut. Col. Istvan Toth and Maj. Istvan Szentmiklossy, both prominent Small Landholder members.

These sources added that those arrested also included Domokos Szentivani, strongly pro-American Minister Plenipotentiary and Envoy Extraordinary, who spent nine years in Washington as a diplomat and who aided in drafting the first armistice between Russia and Hungary. Balint Arany, party organizer, also was mentioned as among those arrested.

Communist leaders said that those arrested were "plotting a Hungarian counter-revolution" and also charged them with planning propaganda against Rumanian Premier Petru Groza among Hungarians in Rumanian Transylvania.

Small Landholders' adherents declared the whole purge was a "frame-up" designed to discredit persons favoring the Western form of democracy.

Russ Set For Joint Yule-New Year

By Eddy Gilmore

Moscow, Dec. 28 (AP)—Millions of people throughout the Soviet Union celebrate their combination Christmas-New Year Monday night.

Children will receive presents around gayly decorated trees already set up in most homes. Grown-ups will exchange gifts. Thousands of gallons of vodka and champagne will be consumed in what is unquestionably the biggest night in the year for Russians.

The Russians have a lot to wish for in 1947. Above all else, they want peace.

They want a better way of living—in food, housing, recreation, clothes and family life. They want to devote their time and energy to this goal, and not to maintaining big armies and air forces. They want a sure, definite control of atomic energy for useful purposes.

Want End Of Rationing

They want shorter hours, more pay and lower prices. They hope the newly expanding co-operative societies can bring them more consumer goods. They want to abandon the food and clothing ration system, which they have had for five years. They want world prosperity, with no exploitation of people by peoples or by governments.

And the Russians believe there is a fair chance to obtain most of these things in 1947.

New Cabinet Formed in Syria

Damascus, Dec. 28 (A. P.).—Premier Jamil Mardam Bey, Nationalist leader and head of the Arab League, asked Parliament today for a vote of confidence in his newly formed cabinet. The new premier, who succeeds Saadallah Jabri after an eight-day crisis, retained the Ministry of Home Affairs for himself.

Tell of Dairen Ultimatum

Two U. S. Naval Officers Give Details of How Russians Ordered Ship to Leave.

W. Newton

Shanghai, Dec. 28 (A. P.).—From two of the United States Navy officers who were on the bridge of the ship when the incident took place came further details today of the Soviet ultimatum ordering a Navy courier vessel to leave the port of Dairen within twenty minutes "or we will not be responsible for the consequences."

The officers are Lieut.-Commander W. Gordon Cornell of 661 Todt Hill Road, Dongan Hills, Staten Island, New York, and Lieut (j. g.) Charles D. Arthur of 1233 Makmont street, Pittsburgh. Cornell served four years at sea during the war and holds the Navy Cross. Both Cornell and Arthur are Navy information officers, and both accompanied the courier vessel on its trip to Dairen.

Their story of the incident aboard the Navy vessel is in sharp contrast to the recent announcement by a spokesman for the United States State Department that the Soviets did not "in any sense" issue an ultimatum to the Navy ship. Both officers had been ashore and came aboard just before the Soviet ultimatum was issued.

Red Major Was Angry.

"As we came through the gate of the port, a Russian major jumped forward," Arthur said. "He assailed us verbally, shrieking at us and pointing to the ship. We tried to let him understand that we did not speak Russian.

"We were quite aware of the fact, however, that he was very upset and angry about something. A Russian Navy officer, who was also present at the gate, apparently tried to moderate the Russian Army major.

"Accompanied by the Russian major and the naval officer, we went aboard. Commander Edgar Yates, senior naval officer aboard, met us and they all went to the bridge. I followed them and that is when I noticed that they were talking in the same harsh manner to Commander Yates.

"When the ultimatum was given, Ensign Tilghman Koons, the Navy interpreter, asked the Russian major to repeat it so he could get a perfectly accurate translation. This the Russian major did. I think Ensign Koons had him repeat it three times in all.

Asked to Leave at Once.

"This was before the American Consul, Mr. Benninghoff, or the captain of the ship came aboard. The Soviet officer requested that we leave the port without them and anchor in the harbor. I informed them that I had just seen the captain of the ship (Lieut. Ray White of Silver City, N. M.) in the street and that he was on his way. They still asked us to shove off and anchor outside the breakwater.

"About ten minutes passed and the American Consul and the diplomatic courier and the ship's captain appeared and we left."

Cornell said that as he went to the bridge of the ship, while the discussion was going on, "I saw a very crowded pilot house and a very angry Russian major flailing his arms around and gesticulating and shouting, with Ensign Koons interpreting his ultimatum."

"It immediately struck me that this was a matter for Commander Yates to handle, so I became an amazed spectator," Cornell said.

"In four years of sea duty with the Navy during the war, never did I see a ship get under way so expeditiously."

Cornell won the Navy Cross for an action off the Aleutian Islands when the small Navy patrol craft under his command rammed and sank a Japanese submarine. In civil life he and his brother jointly operate a motor car company in Staten Island, N. Y.

KEY PEIPING RAIL CITY UNDER HEAVY ASSAULT BY REDS

PEIPING, Dec. 28 — (AP) Paoting, key railway city on the Peiping-Hankow line 90 miles southwest of Peiping, was reported under fierce new Communist attack today.

Last fall the city withstood a prolonged Communist siege which was broken by government troops in October.

Government sources expressed fears that the increasing onslaughts of guerrillas presaged an immediate all-out offensive and noted that attacks elsewhere in the Peiping area suddenly had slacked off.

Pro-government reports said the Communists had captured Tung-Shihchiao, a village five miles southeast of Paoting and encircled Peitajan, five miles south of the city. The latter outpost was reported holding firm against fierce assaults, however.

The Communists also were reported closing in on Wangtu, 21 miles southwest of Paoting, after four days and nights of constant attack.

The Catholic newspaper Social Welfare said another big battle was being fought northwest of Paoting, but gave no details or exact location.

The government military paper Hsin Sheng Pao said large Communist forces also were massing near Chohsien, on the railway 33 miles southwest of Peiping.

Other government dispatches said Communists were forming 4,000 troops on the banks of the Wuting river 18 miles south of Yulin, in Shensi province. That city, a government "island" in Communist territory, has been under intermittent siege for months.

China Reds Step Up Push

Peiping, Dec. 28 (AP)—Chinese Communists today stepped up their fierce attacks on three sides of Paoting, capital of Hopeh Province.

The Communists were reported to have captured one villege five miles east of Paoting, to be fighting bitterly for another five miles south, and to be engaged in a big battle northwest of the city.

Government sources said another force was closing in on Wantu, 23 miles south of Paoting, climaxing a four day and night battle.

The military organ, Hsin Sheng Pao, said large numbers of Communists were massed around Chohsien, 33 miles south of Peiping. Paoting is about 90 miles south of Peiping.

DAY

The Communists trapped a Government garrison in Paoting nearly three weeks, but reinforcements arrived to prevent capture of the city.

China May Set Oil Quotas

Nanking, Dec. 28 (AP)—Establishment of a quota system for importation of petroleum products into China and possible rationing of gasoline and oil to consumers may follow suspension of United States Army and Navy assistance to commercial firms, as announced in Washington.

India Revolt Over British Policy Seen

New Delhi, India, Dec. 28 (AP)—Jayaprakash Narain, Socialist leader in the Congress party, said today he believed a breakdown of India's interim National Government was "very probable," and envisaged a struggle against the British "parallel to the American Revolution."

DAY

At a news conference he criticized the British policy in India as one of "underhanded sabotage," in which the British speak of leaving India while utilizing "every reactionary and anti-national element to prevent their leaving."

INDONESIAN GENERAL REVEALS IMPATIENCE

S. Salvation

BATAVIA, Java, Dec. 27 (Delayed) (AP)—General Soedirman, Commander in Chief of the Indonesian Republican Army, accused Dutch forces today of jeopardizing the "sovereignty and independence" of the East Indies and said that the "time has come for Indonesians to show their power."

In the most outspoken military statement since the recent withdrawal of British troops, General Soedirman said in a radio address that there was "a limit to the patience and tolerance of the Indonesian people." His speech was made after a conference with President Soekarno of the Indonesian Republic.

General Soedirman said that the recent truce with the Dutch, pending negotiation of an agreement recognizing the republic, was "by no means an order to cease our struggle for independence."

He urged a revival of the fighting spirit among Indonesians to meet the "quality" of the Dutch force and arms and asked his followers to send arms and supplies to the fighting fronts.

A Dutch Army spokesman said the Netherlands troops had participated only in defensive actions since the truce of Oct. 15 and declared that Indonesian infiltration past the limits set by the truce was responsible for recent clashes.

The spokesman added that ten shooting incidents had been reported on Dec. 26 from the Bandung and Surabaya fronts alone.

British Tokyo Club Opens

TOKYO, Dec. 28 (AP). — The Union Jack Club in Tokyo was opened officially today by Lieutenant General H. C. H. Robertson, commander of British occupation forces. The club will serve British soldiers, sailors and airmen.

Dixie Tighe in Tokyo Hospital

TOKYO, Dec. 28 (AP) — Dixie Tighe, well-known correspondent for The New York Post who was stricken with a brain hemorrhage yesterday, remained in a coma tonight, and the Army's Forty-ninth General Hospital said her condition was "poor." Miss Tighe was taken from the Tokyo Foreign Correspondents Club complaining of a cold and slight pain in her head. Club members have maintained a constant vigil at the hospital.

Jailed for Brutality to P.W.s

YOKOHAMA, Dec. 28 (AP).—Tomoki Nakamura, former lieutenant commanding the Osaka Zosen dispatch camp, was sentenced today by an American 8th Army military commission to twelve years at hard labor for brutality to prisoners of war.

ROXAS MAY GET AMNESTY PLAN

Proposal Forecast In Behalf Of Laurel And Cabinet

S. DAVIS

Manila, Dec. 28 (AP) — General amnesty for puppet President José P. Laurel, his Japanese-occupation Cabinet and 5,000 other Filipinos accused of collaboration will be recommended to President Manuel A. Roxas in the near future by the Philippines Justice Department. This was learned today on unimpeachable authority.

Only yesterday the People's Court indefinitely postponed Laurel's treason trial from January 6 and left him free on $25,000 bail. The court, in operation fourteen months, has completed only 100 cases. Only one of these was of any importance.

NIGHT

Roxas's views on the amnesty plan, now being studied by Roman Ozaeta, secretary of justice, is not known, but sources close to the presidential palace said such a major action would scarcely be proposed without the president's prior approval.

During the election campaign last spring, Roxas was accused by his opponent of having been a collaborator and personal advisor to Laurel, whose fate he soon must decide.

Besides Laurel, the accused collaborators who would be affected include Jorge B. Vargas, former "ambassador" to Tokyo; Benigno S. Aquino, former speaker of the Japanese-sponsored assembly; Claro M. Recito and Antonio de las Alas, Laurel's ministers of Foreign Affairs and Finance, and a host of lesser officials. All are free on bail.

Sison Conviction Appealed

The only onetime big shot convicted by the People's Court was Teofilo Sison, justice secretary and inspector general under the Japanese regime. He was sentenced to life imprisonment ten months ago, but has appealed to the Supreme Court and is at liberty under $25,000 bail with no date set for a hearing.

The special prosecutor, Lorenzo M. Tanada, has complained repeatedly of lack of witnesses, lack of investigators, and postponements of trials. Recently he said his problems were multiplied by the Philippines laws requiring at least two witnesses to prove a case and a delivery of witnesses' names to the defense in advance of trial.

There have been no proven instances of influencing such witnesses, but Tanada charges that many have occurred.

Point To Precedents

As precedents for wiping the slate clean, Filipinos cite the recent American amnesty for small-fry Nazis in Germany and the Philippines congressional action in absolving guerrillas of crimes committed in resisting the Japanese.

Amnesty teams are studying the individual records of guerrillas accused of murder, robbery and other crimes to determine if they are in this category.

If Roxas approves amnesty for the collaborators, he is expected to ask—and get—the indorsement of Congress, which convenes next month and which he controls.

Laurel Amnesty To Be Proposed To Roxas

S. DAVIS

Manila, Dec. 28 (AP)—The Department of Justice is preparing to ask President Roxas to grant amnesty to puppet President José P. Laurel, his occupation Cabinet and 5,000 Filipino collaborators.

Secretary of Justice Roman Ozaeta is studying the amnesty plan.

DAY

Only yesterday the People's Court indefinitely postponed Laurel's treason trial and left him free under $25,000 bail.

Roxas Stand Unknown

Roxas's reaction to the amnesty proposal has not been announced, but Malacanan Palace sources said they doubted that the Secretary of Justice would suggest such a sweeping action without a prearranged understanding with the Chief Executive.

Roxas, whose own war record was impugned in the presidential campaign, in which he was accused of collaboration and of having been the personal adviser of Laurel, now must decide whether to approve amnesty for Laurel and others whose collaboration is a matter of record.

Others On List

Other well-known Filipino political figures for whom amnesty is to be recommended include:

Jorge B. Vargas, first chairman of the Japanese-manipulated Executive Committee that ruled the islands until Tokyo declared their "freedom." He later was Philippine Ambassador to the Court of Emperor Hirohito.

Benigno S. Acquino, speaker of the puppet Assembly and one of the harshest American baiters during the occupation.

Claro M. Recito, puppet Minister of Foreign Affairs.

Antonio de las Alas, puppet Finance Secretary.

Sison Convicted

The People's Court, organized in October, 1945, has tried no more than 100 treason cases in fourteen months. Of those only one figure of importance was convicted. He is Teofilo Sison, puppet Inspector General and puppet Secretary of Justice. Sison was sentenced ten months ago to life imprisonment but appealed and no date has been set for a Supreme Court hearing.

Sison, like Laurel and other Cabinet puppets, is free under $25,000 bond.

Little-Nazi Amnesty

Two precedents are cited for the proposed amnesty. One was the recent amnesty granted 800,000 "little Nazis" by Maj. Gen. Joseph T. McNarney. The second was the Philippine Congress's recent action in granting amnesty to guerrillas who could show their criminal acts were committed pursuant to resistance against the Japanese.

If Roxas approves amnesty for the collaborators, Congress will be asked to pardon them. There is no doubt that Congress will legislate their freedom if Roxas recommends it.

Mexico Fills Embassy Post

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 28 (AP). — The War Department said today that General Leobardo C. Rutz, former chief of staff of the Department of National Defense, will depart next week for Washington, where he will be military attache at the Mexican Embassy.

Unity of Korea Seen Stalled by U. S.-Soviet Row

State Department Officials Predict Long Occupation, Plead for More Supplies

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 (AP).—State Department officials conceded tonight that the tug-of-war between the United States and the Soviet Union over Korea has almost hopelessly stalled chances for early unification of that country and has resulted in a bitter struggle in which Russia has some advantage.

NIGHT

The officials also reported, in a National Broadcasting Company radio program, that American aims in Korea have reached a critical point, with complete defeat in prospect unless food and rehabilitation are supplied promptly in the American zone.

Edwin M. Martin, chief of the division of Japanese and Korean economic affairs, declared that "all of the Far East is watching the performance of 'the American way' in Korea."

"The deciding factor between success and failure," he added, "can be our ability to get supplies to Korea during the next year. If we are penny-wise on this, we will be pound foolish regarding our position in the Far East."

Hugh Borton, chief of the division of Japanese affairs, predicted that since American aims of a year ago to unify Korea quickly and get out had fallen through, the United States would have to stay for a long time and at considerable cost.

He strongly implied that the reason for continued American occupation is that if American forces did not stay, Russian forces would overflow the entire country.

Mr. Borton said the American program calls for "a friendly, prosperous, democratic Korea—an important stabilizing factor in the Far East."

Mr. Martin's emphasis on food supplies for Korea appeared to foreshadow efforts by the State and War Departments to persuade Congress to make available ample funds for their program in that and other occupied countries.

SENATE PROBERS APPROVE 'TOUGH' REPORT ON BILBO

1946

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28. — (AP) Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) announced today that a majority of the Senate War Investigating Committee has approved a report—reportedly "very tough"—criticizing Senator Bilbo (D-Miss) for his dealings with war contractors.

Ferguson, chief quizzer in the Bilbo inquiry and a leader in the Republican move to oust the thrice-elected Mississipian, told a reporter:

NIGHT

"The report is being printed now and it will be filed with the secretary of the Senate next week, probably on Thursday."

Contents Not Revealed

He withheld all comment on its contents and all information on which five of the nine-man group had okayed the official criticism.

Earlier this week a member had called it "a very tough one", reciting evidence of favors done Bilbo by men seeking government contracts and bearing down on contentions that they were solicited for donations.

The report is said to include no recommendations, leaving up to the Senate what to do about Bilbo, who has denied any wrong-doing.

It was obvious that at least one Democratic senator had voted against Bilbo because there are only four Republicans on the group. In addition to Ferguson they are Senators Brewster (Maine) Ball (Minnesota) and Knowland (Calif.).

At first Ferguson said he had obtained six votes for the critical report but it was learned that one senator telegraphed instructions to remove his name after first giving approval.

Senator Mitchell (D-Wash.) resigned this week, reducing the committee to nine so that five senators form a majority.

Three democratic members, Mead (NY) Tunnell (Del) and Briggs (Mo), will not be members of the next Congress while two, Kilgore (W. Va) and Connally (Tex), will continue their service.

Differ Over Strategy

Meanwhile, a difference of opinion developed among the anti-Bilbo forces as to the exact strategy to be followed in trying to oust him.

"My idea is that this is not a political matter," Ferguson said, "and the Senate should not let anyone take the oath of office if it has knowledge of facts that should prevent him from serving."

The Michigan senator said that Bilbo "should be instructed to stand aside" next Friday when 34 senators take their oath.

Other Bilbo opponents have suggested that Bilbo be allowed to take oath so that the Senate will not become involved in a controversy, before it is fully organized.

Involved in this strategy is a parliamentary question as to whether a simple majority of votes is sufficient to keep Bilbo out or a two-thirds majority will be required to oust him if he is allowed to take his oath.

5 Of 9 Probers Okay Censure For Bilbo

1946

Washington, Dec. 28 (AP)—Senator Ferguson (R., Mich.) reported today that a majority of the Senate War Investigating Committee has approved a report criticizing Senator Bilbo (D., Miss.) for his relations with war contractors.

Ferguson said the original ten members of the committee were being polled on the Bilbo report and "six of them already have approved it."

One Changes Vote

Later Ferguson announced that one of the six senators had sent a telegram asking that his vote be changed, but pointed out that this did not affect the majority, inasmuch as the committee membership was reduced from ten to nine after the poll began this week by the resignation of Senator Mitchell (D., Wash.).

DAY

He said he could not divulge the names or party affiliations of these six until the entire committee has been polled and the report filed with the secretary of the Senate.

No Hearings Before Jan. 3

At the same time Ferguson said it would be impossible for the War Investigating Subcommittee to hold additional public hearings on Bilbo's affairs before the new Congress convenes on January 3.

Ferguson had asked reopening of the public hearings by Chairman Mead (D., N.Y.) of the subcommittee, but learned today that Mead could not attend a hearing before January 2, the day that Mead's term as Senator expires.

"Because four of the ten members of the committee will not be members of the next Senate we cannot hold additional hearings," Ferguson said.

Wanted More Testimony

He had asked that the hearings be reopened for additional testimony on a complaint that Bilbo received $1,500 from a narcotics addict after he had intervened with Federal officials to obtain a daily ration of narcotics for the addict.

Ferguson had asked that direct testimony be taken from John Carr, of Natchez, Miss., identified by previous witnesses as the addict, and from Dr. A. J. Podesta, of Vicksburg, Miss., and Dr. James Logan, of Natchez, identified at earlier hearings as physicians who recommended the narcotics for Carr.

Several witnesses testified that Dr. Podesta gave Bilbo $1,500 or $1,000 to help build a church parsonage after the doctor obtained the money from Carr.

Bilbo Denied Tieup

Bilbo vigorously denied knowledge of any connection between the narcotics grant and the church donation. He said he talked to a Federal official about the narcotics grant and may have received a church donation from Dr. Podesta, but insisted that the two events were not related to his knowledge.

Senator Ferguson said he still favors trying to prevent Bilbo from taking the oath and will carry his fight to a conference of all 51 GOP senators and senators-elect next Tuesday.

Most of his colleagues, however, seemed to feel that delaying tactics are in order.

Democratic Majority At Start

For one thing, there will be only 28 full-fledged Republican Senators, against 31 Democrats, at the moment the Eightieth Congress convenes at noon next Friday. Another 23 re-elected or newly chosen Republicans will still have to take the oath, along with Bilbo and thirteen other Democrats.

Thus, any GOP motion that Bilbo not be sworn will be at the mercy of a temporary Democratic majority, whereas if the Republicans wait until everybody takes his seat they will outnumber the Democrats by six.

Ferguson, a lawyer and prominent judge before he became a senator, says he simply believes in fighting a case at every ditch.

Among other charges expected to be raised are that Bilbo solicited contributions from men who held Government contracts and that he tried to intimidate Negroes from voting in last summer's Mississippi primary.

Thomas, Johnson Fight Military Training Plan; Call It Out-Dated

1946

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28—(AP) President Truman's advisory commission weighed the impact of scientific warfare on proposals for universal training today as two influential Democratic senators termed the plan out-dated.

Senators Elbert D. Thomas (D-Utah) and Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo), assailing "goose-stepping" in a mechanized age, announced in separate interviews they will fight any system of compulsory military training offered in the Congress.

NIGHT

Board Studies Plan

The commission which President Truman named to work out recommendations met behind closed doors at the White House with Dr. Vannevar Bush, director of the Office of Scientific Research and Development, and War Department representatives.

It issued a statement afterwards saying that Dr. Bush, by invitation, "presented his views on the future technological possibilities and requirements for national security and their implications regarding universal training."

War Department officials, meeting for a second time with the commission, "described the manpower requirements for performing the present and probable future duties of the Army and described the role of universal training from the War Department's point of view in contributing the foundation for meeting these future manpower needs."

The commission will meet again Jan. 3. It expects to complete its findings in March.

The Thomas-Johnson statements high-pointed Democratic opposition to Mr. Truman's plans for a broad program of training on the eve of the convening of a Republican-dominated Congress.

Thomas Approves

Thomas, chairman of the Senate Military Committee throughout the war, said he will oppose any plan that would force American youths to "serve six or nine months as ground soldiers."

A college professor before he entered politics, Thomas said any "universal plan for training" a great mass of men overlooks the major lessons from the recent "mechanized warfare" with its scientists and specialists.

Johnson, ranking Democratic member of the military group had previously protested that the plan would "delegate the spiritual and moral training of American youth to the brass hats" of the Army and Navy.

As a result Johnson reported, he has received a flood of mail and telegrams from all over the country applauding his stand.

"In this age, goose-stepping and the manual of arms are pure poppycock which add nothing to our national defense," Johnson commented. "One chemist or one physicist is more valuable to our defenses than are 10,000 foot soldiers."

Army Prepares Training For Reserve Officers

Ground Forces Courses Range From 11 to 18½ Weeks

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 (AP).—The War Department tonight directed the six Army commands in this country to start immediately the program for active duty training of organized reserve corps officers.

The directive, by General Jacob L. Devers, Army Ground Forces chief, opens all A. G. F. agencies for reserve officers who volunteer for training.

NIGHT

The plan includes provisions for attendance at technical and administrative schools, refresher courses, sixty to ninety days duty with higher headquarters units, training of company grade officers in replacement training centers, and detail to combat teams.

Courses at the variuos A. G. F. schools range from eleven to eighteen and one-half weeks. While on active duty, reserve officers will receive pay and allowances for their grade including travel pay, but not pay for dependents.

WAA Asks New Bids For 'Inch' Pipelines

Washington, Dec. 28 (AP)—The War Assets Administration today asked new bdis for outright purchase of the $147,000,000 Big and Little Inch pipelines running from the Texas Panhandle to the New York-Philadelphia area.

The Government-owned lines were offered for use in transporting natural gas or petroleum and its products, or a combination of both.

The WAA said bids must be received not later than noon next February 8, and will be publicly opened February 10.

Lease Provision Eliminated

The lines first were put up for disposal last summer wth a provision that they could be purchased or leased. The lease provision has been eliminated in the new specifications and a WAA official said the agency is interested only in an "outright sale."

In a move to alleviate the fuel shortage during the recent coal strike, the Government leased the lines to the Tennessee Gas and Transmision Company to carry natural gas to the Eastern industrial area. The lease continues through April, the WAA said.

WAA Chief Robert M. Littlejohn rejected all sixteen bids opened last July 31, declaring that he did not "feel any of them guarantee to the Government what I consider a fair price."

Appraised At $113,700,000

Littlejohn, who later appeared before a special House committee investigating surplus-property disposal, testified that the current value of the lines had been appraised at $113,700,000.

"I feel that the Government can and should get a better monetary return than that indicated in the several bids," he said.

The top offer, he continued, was for $110,000,000, of which $66,000,000 was to be cash and the remainder income debentures.

"I do not consider debentures or other similar securities as a satisfactory method of payment," Littlejohn told the committee.

Controversy Developed

Before the bids were rejected, a controversy developed among officials of other Government agencies over whether the lines should be restricted to transportation of petroleum.

Littlejohn told the House committee that WAA had felt bound by a report of a previous surplus-property administrator, W. Stuart Symington, now Assistant Secretary of War, which held that the lines should be disposed of for carrying oil unless "it proves impossible to keep the lines in petroleum service."

The WAA chief said he later became convinced that the "cumulative evidence did not substantiate preferential treatment for oil, and that in order to give all bidders an equal opportunity all bids should be rejected."

U.S. WIDENS PROBE OF BUTTER PRICES

1946

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28—(AP) The Justice Department opened an inquiry today into the New York butter price break to see whether any violation of anti-trust laws is involved.

The Justice Department's action was ordered by Attorney General Clark at the request of the Consumers Council of New York.

The Agriculture Department already is looking into transactions which preceded the unexpected drop in wholesale butter prices in the metropolitan market on Thursday.

NIGHT

Wendell Berge, assistant attorney general in charge of the anti-trust division, will work with U. S. Attorney John F. X. McGhoey of New York on the inquiry.

New York consumers groups have complained that before the price drop, traders had sought artificially to prevent a decline in producer milk prices for January.

Under a federal-state marketing program, the producer price of milk is related to the price of butter and other dairy items during a previous 30-day period.

The drop in butter prices at New York occurred one day after the end of the price-determining period.

The Agriculture Department study was begun Friday under orders from Secretary Anderson.

Bridges to Ask Direct American Relief Abroad

Calls It Simplest Method of Handling Problem

CONCORD, N. H., Dec. 28 (AP).—Senator Styles Bridges, Republican, of New Hampshire, scheduled to be chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee in the new Congress, said today he would seek direct American relief for world zones as the "simplest and most satisfactory method of handling this world problem when United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration funds expire by law Dec. 31. He also indicated in a statement he would ask a Congressional investigation of U. N. R. R. A. activities.

Admitting that American food and supplies probably still are needed in some stricken nations, he said such relief in the future should be administered directly by the American government, "like the Hoover relief after the last war."

2,000 On Troopship Arrive At New York

New York, Dec. 28 (AP)—The troopship General C. C. Ballou docked here today with more than 2,000 passengers from Bremershaven, Germany, including 1,899 GI's whose planned homecoming for Christmas was prevented by storms and water damage to generators which delayed the vessel.

Beside the army men, the passenger list included 212 Red Cross workers, navy personnel, army civilian employés, departments of American Army men and others.

There was one stowaway on board—a four months old boxer pup belonging to Lieut. C. M. Wesdorf, who said he smuggled the dog aboard and named him Deacon, the nickname of the lieutenant's brother.

Wesdorf said he gave the pup sleeping pills to keep him quiet while bringing him on the ship. Later the dog was discovered and was ordered moved to the deck where he got stuck in a vent pipe. Two doctors, Capt. Ralph Cudliff, of Potsdam, N.Y., and Lieut. Robert Byrne, of Silver Spring, Md., helped him extricate the dog by greasing Deacon with green soap, Wesdorf said.

BY LARRY HAUCK

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., DEC.28-(AP)-BERNARD M. BARUCH'S SHARP WARNING THAT THE UNITED STATES COULD NOT YIELD ATOMIC BOMB SECRETS TO THE WORLD UNLESS THE VETO WAS RULED OUT OF ANY INTERNATIONAL CONTROL PLAN SENT UNITED NATIONS DELEGATES INTO HOTEL ROOM CONFERENCES TODAY SEEKING OFF-THE-FLOOR AGREEMENT.

REPRESENTATIVES OF THE 12 NATIONS ON THE U.N. ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION HAD UNTIL MONDAY MORNING, WHEN THE BODY GOES INTO SESSION FOR FINAL DECISION, TO SETTLE THIS CRITICAL ISSUE, WHICH GENERALLY IS REGARDED AS THE KEY TO THE BASIC ARMS REDUCTION PROGRAM LAID DOWN BY THE U.N. ASSEMBLY.

BARUCH'S STRONG SPEECH WAS MADE AT A CLOSED SESSION OF THE COMMISSION LAST NIGHT IN THE MIDST OF BITTER DEBATE OVER INCLUSION OF THE VETO WITH REGARD TO PUNISHMENT OF VIOLATORS OF A CONTROL SYSTEM. THE AMERICAN DELEGATE MADE IT CLEAR THAT HE COULD NOT RECOMMEND SENATE APPROVAL OF ANY PLAN INCLUDING THE VETO.

DELEGATES SAW LITTLE CHANCE FOR IMMEDIATE AGREEMENT, IN THE FACE OF RUSSIA'S CONTINUED SILENCE AND NEW OPPOSITION TO BARUCH BY FRANCE AND GREAT BRITAIN, AND POSTPONED THE WHOLE ISSUE UNTIL MONDAY.

THE EARLY PART OF THE NINE-HOUR MEETING HAD BEEN HARMONIOUS WITH THE REMAINDER OF THE BARUCH PLAN BEING ADOPTED WITHOUT BALLOT. EVEN THIS WAS FAR FROM CONCLUSIVE, HOWEVER, IN VIEW OF RUSSIA'S REFUSAL TO PARTICIPATE IN THE DISCUSSIONS.

SOVIET DELEGATE ANDREI A. GROMYKO WAS ABSENT, BECAUSE, PROF. S.P. ALEXANDROV TERSELY TOLD REPORTERS, HE WAS "OCCUPIED WITH OTHER BUSINESS." ALEXANDROV SAT THROUGH THE WHOLE MEETING WITHOUT SPEAKING BUT NEAR ITS END ADVISED THE CHAIRMAN THAT HE WANTED TO BE CONSIDERED "PRESENT BUT ABSTAINING IN FULL."

DECLARING THAT IT WAS YES OR NO, BARUCH SAID:

"I CANNOT RECOMMEND TO THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES, I CANNOT ADVOCATE BEFORE THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES, THAT THIS COUNTRY SURRENDER THIS POTENT WEAPON AND DEDICATE TO MANKIND ITS TREMENDOUS KNOWLEDGE IN THE FIELD OF THE PRODUCTION OF ATOMIC ENERGY--IN THE BELIEF THAT THEY ARE OUTLAWING THE USE OF THIS WEAPON FOR WAR AND OPENING THE GATES FOR THE USE OF ATOMIC ENERGY FOR THE GOOD OF ALL MANKIND--UNDER ANY SYSTEM WHICH IS OPEN TO NULLIFICATION OF PUNISHMENT BY WHAT CAN BE CALLED A SUBTERFUGE.

"ALL WE HAVE ASKED YOU TO DO IS TO VOTE IN FAVOR OF THE PROPOSITION THAT IT SHOULD NOT LIE WITHIN THE POWER OF ANYONE TO DETERMINE BY HIS OWN VETO WHETHER HE OR A FRIEND IS GUILTY AND SHOULD BE PUNISHED.

"GENTLEMEN, IT IS EITHER---OR. EITHER YOU AGREE THAT A CRIMINAL SHOULD HAVE THIS RIGHT BY VOTING AGAINST OUR POSITION (OR YOU FAIL TO TAKE A STAND ON THE QUESTION BY REFRAINING FROM VOTING), OR YOU VOTE FOR THIS SOUND AND BASIC PRINCIPLE OF ENDURING JUSTICE AND PLAIN COMMON SENSE."

AJ3

THE AMERICAN DELEGATION LATER INDICATED THAT SHOULD BARUCH MEET DEFEAT IN THE COMMISSION, THE UNITED STATES PROBABLY WOULD FILE A MINORITY REPORT AND CARRY ITS FIGHT TO THE PARENT SECURITY COUNCIL. A SPOKESMAN SAID BARUCH COULD COUNT ON SOLID SUPPORT FROM CHINA, EGYPT, BRAZIL, MEXICO AND AUSTRALIA. THE OTHERS WERE CLASSED AS DOUBTFUL OR OPPOSED.

ALEXANDRE PARODI, FRENCH DELEGATE, OPPOSED THE INCLUSION OF THE VETO PROVISION BECAUSE HE SAID IT WOULD INDICATE THE COMMISSION WAS SEEKING TO VIOLATE THE CHARTER, AND THE WORD DENOTED "PASSION" INSTEAD OF "LOGIC." THE BRITISH CONTENDED THAT ADEQUATE SAFEGUARDS COULD BE GIVEN WITHOUT SPECIFIC USE OF THE WORD.

BOTH THE BRITISH AND FRENCH AGREED IN PRINCIPLE TO THE BAN ON THE VETO AND MADE IT CLEAR THEY WERE ACTING IN THE HOPES OF BRINGING UNANIMITY. AT EVERY TURN THE RUSSIANS HAVE OPPOSED THE MENTION OF THE WORD VETO IN ANY DOCUMENT.

THE DISPUTED PARAGRAPH ON THE VETO READS AS FOLLOWS, WITH THE UNITED STATES INSISTING ON INCLUSION OF THE BRACKETED PHRASE:

"ONCE THE VIOLATIONS CONSTITUTING INTERNATIONAL CRIMES HAVE BEEN DEFINED AND MEASURES OF ENFORCEMENT AND PUNISHMENT THEREFORE AGREED TO IN THE TREATY OR CONVENTION, THERE SHALL BE NO LEGAL RIGHT (BY VETO OR OTHERWISE) WHEREBY THE WILFUL VIOLATOR OF TERMS OF THE TREATY OR CONVENTION SHALL BE PROTECTED FROM THE CONSEQUENCES OF VIOLATIONS OF ITS TERMS."

DURING THE RECENT GENERAL ASSEMBLY SOVIET FOREIGN MINISTER V.M. MOLOTOV ACCEPTED THE PRINCIPLE OF OUTLAWING THE VETO ON INSPECTIONS AND CONTROL, BUT THE RUSSIANS HAVE NEVER INDICATED THEY WOULD ACCEPT A VETO-FREE PUNISHMENT CLAUSE.

AFTER THE COMMISSION ACTS ON THE WHOLE ATOMIC PLAN ON MONDAY, IT WILL BE FORWARDED TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL FOR CONSIDERATION AT ITS SESSION THE FOLLOWING DAY.

LONDON, DEC. 28-(AP)-THE LONDON SUNDAY TIMES SAID TONIGHT THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT REGARDED AS "UNSATISFACTORY" ALBANIA'S REPLY TO A BRITISH NOTE DEMANDING AN APOLOGY AND REPARATIONS FOR LIVES LOST WHEN TWO BRITISH DESTROYERS HIT MINES OFF THE ALBANIAN COAST LAST OCT. 22.

THE NEWSPAPER SAID THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT WAS NOW CONSIDERING HOW TO SUBMIT THE CASE TO THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL AND THAT A DECISION WOULD BE REACHED NEXT WEEK.

THE ALBANIAN REPLY, THE NEWSPAPER SAID, "EVADES BRITISH DEMANDS BY DENYING RESPONSIBILITY, ALLEGING THAT THE MINES WERE LAID BY SOME THIRD PARTY, POSSIBLY AGENTS PROVOCATEURS, AND AT THE SAME TIME ACCUSES THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT OF SENDING WARSHIPS INTO ALBANIAN WATERS WITH EVIL INTENT--NAMELY TO INTIMIDATE THE ALBANIAN PEOPLE."

THE ALBANIAN REPLY WAS HANDED TO THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT LAST SUNDAY, BUT ITS CONTENTS HAVE NOT BEEN DIVULGED OFFICIALLY.

HENDAYE, FRANCE, DEC. 28-(AP)-FRENCH POLICE REPORTED TODAY THE BREAKUP OF A SPANISH FALANGIST SPY NETWORK IN SOUTHERN FRANCE WHICH THEY SAID WAS COMPILING INFORMATION ON THE NUMEROUS SPANISH REPUBLICAN REFUGEES NORTH OF THE BORDER.

FIVE PERSONS WERE ARRESTED IN THREE DIFFERENT PLACES ALONG THE COAST BETWEEN HERE AND BORDEAUX, THEN RELEASED ON PAROLE. TWO OF THESE, A FRENCH WOMAN FROM ST-JEAN-DE-LUZ, AND A BASQUE YOUTH WERE REARRESTED TODAY AND TAKEN TO TOULOUSE FOR TRIAL BY MILITARY AUTHORITIES, THE POLICE REPORTED.

THE SPY GROUP, ACCORDING TO FRENCH AUTHORITIES, OPERATED UNDER THREE SPANISH OFFICERS WITH HEADQUARTERS IN IRUN, A SPANISH FRONTIER TOWN. THE THREE OFFICERS WERE REPORTED TO HAVE BEEN APPREHENDED TWO DAYS AGO ON FRENCH SOIL AND CONDUCTED BACK TO THE SPANISH SIDE AFTER IT WAS FOUND THERE WAS INSUFFICIENT EVIDENCE TO WARRANT PLACING CHARGES AGAINST THEM.

SAARBRUECKEN, DEC.28-(AP)-FRENCH MILITARY OFFICIALS ASSERTED TODAY THAT RECENT MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS IN THE COAL-RICH SAAR BASIN SHOW THAT "UP TO 78 PER CENT" OF THE POPULATION WANT IMMEDIATE ECONOMIC REUNION WITH FRANCE.

A WEEK AFTER THE FRENCH MILITARY GOVERNOR, GEN.PIERRE KOENIG, THREW UP A 1,200-MAN CUSTOMS FRONTIER BETWEEN THE INDUSTRIAL SAAR AND THE REST OF GERMANY, FRENCH OFFICIALS IN THIS SAAR CAPITAL DECLARED:

"THE CUSTOMS CORDON IS NOT AN ANNEXATION, BUT FRANCE'S POSITION IS CLEAR. WE CLAIM A HISTORIC AND ECONOMIC RIGHT TO THE SAAR."

WALTER EBERHARD, GERMAN EDITOR OF THE SAARBRUCKER ZEITUNG, WHICH HE CLAIMS IS NON-PARTISAN, SAID:

"AN OVERWHELMING NUMBER OF THE SAARLANDERS HOPE THAT THE NEW ECONOMIC FRONTIER IS THE FIRST STEP TOWARD ECONOMIC UNION WITH FRANCE."

CUSTODY OF THE INDUSTRIAL 738-SQUARE MILE TERRITORY OF THE SAAR WAS AWARDED TO FRANCE FOR 15 YEARS AFTER THE FIRST WORLD WAR. IN 1935 THE PREDOMINANTLY GERMAN POPULATION VOTED 477,119 TO 48,637 TO RETURN TO NAZI GERMANY.

FRENCH OFFICIALS OF THE BIG MILITARY GOVERNMENT OF THE SAAR, A SEPARATE ADMINISTRATION FROM THE REMAINDER OF THE MILITARY GOVERNMENT OF THE FRENCH OCCUPATION ZONE, BASED THEIR BELIEF THAT THE GERMAN POPULATION WISHES TO RETURN TO FRANCE ON THESE POINTS:

TWO OF THE SAAR'S THREE LEADING POLITICAL PARTIES CAMPAIGNED IN RECENT MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS WITH THE SLOGAN "REUNION WITH FRANCE." ONE OF THESE, THE LARGELY CATHOLIC "CHRISTIAN PEOPLES PARTY," WON A 53 PER CENT MANDATE FROM THE MINERS. THE SECOND, THE "SOCIAL DEMOCRATS," GAINED 25 PER CENT OF THE VOTES WITH RETURN TO FRANCE AS AN AVOWED AIM.

THE ONLY PARTY OPPOSING ECONOMIC UNION WITH FRANCE WAS THE COMMUNIST, WHICH OBTAINED A MERE EIGHT PER CENT OF THE VOTE.

A RECENTLY ORGANIZED MOVEMENT FOR THE REUNION OF THE SAAR HAS ASSERTEDLY OBTAINED 140,000 MEMBERS FROM THE SAAR'S 863,000 POPULATION AND CLAIMS THE SUPPORT OF THE MINERS, MINE OWNERS AND LOCAL INDUSTRIAL AND FARMING POPULATIONS.

FRANKFURT,GERMANY, DEC.28-(AP)-SCORES OF FORMER HIGH OFFICERS OF THE GERMAN GENERAL STAFF ARE VISITING THEIR FAMILIES DURING THE CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS FOR THE FIRST TIME SINCE THE SURRENDER UNDER A NEW PAROLE SYSTEM ANNOUNCED YESTERDAY BY U.S. ARMY HEADQUARTERS.

THE STAFF OFFICERS WERE AMONG RECIPIENTS OF 120 TEMPORARY PAROLES GIVEN PRISONERS OF WAR "WHOSE RETENTION BEYOND THEIR NORMAL DISCHARGE DATES HAS BEEN DUE TO THEIR SPECIAL SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE" WHICH THEY CONTRIBUTED TO THE U. S. ARMY, THE ANNOUNCEMENT SAID.

ALTHOUGH THE GERMAN GENERAL STAFF WAS ACQUITTED, ALONG WITH THE S. A. AND THE REICH CABINET, BY THE INTERNATIONAL MILITARY TRIBUNAL AT NUERNBERG, THE ARMY STILL IS AWAITING ORDERS FROM WASHINGTON TO RELEASE ABOUT 235 STAFF OFFICERS FROM CUSTODY.

ROME, DEC.28-(AP)-HEADLINES IN THE ITALIAN PRESS TODAY GAVE THE PICTURE OF A RAINBOW IN PREMIER ALCIDE DE GASPERI'S FORTHCOMING TRIP TO WASHINGTON AND THE HOPE THAT A POT OF GOLD MAY BE AT THE END OF IT.

WHILE THERE HAS BEEN NO OFFICIAL INDICATION THAT DE GASPERI'S MISSION WOULD RESULT IN ANYTHING MORE CONCRETE THAN AN EXCHANGE OF VIEWS ON FUTURE COMMERCIAL RELATIONS, THE ROSY PICTURE OF A SANTA CLAUS WAITING FOR HIM ACROSS THE ATLANTIC HAS GAINED STEADILY.

THIS HAS BEEN DUE LARGELY TO ITALIAN PRESS COMMENT IN HEADLINES. FOR INSTANCE A CROSS-SECTION TODAY SHOWED: IL MESSAGERO: "THE UNITED STATES PREPARES ITALY WEEK". IL TEMPO: "AMERICAN MINISTRIES AT WORK FOR ITALY." IL GIORNALE D'ITALIA: "WASHINGTON TO REEXAMINE COMPLETELY OUR ECONOMIC NEEDS."

ITALIANS GENERALLY ADVANCED THESE REASONS FOR THEIR OPTIMISM, DESPITE FOREIGN MINISTER PIETRO NENNI'S DEFINITION OF THE TRIP AS "EXPLORATORY AND INTRODUCTORY:"

1. THE UNITED STATES WOULD HARDLY INVITE THE PREMIER TO WASHINGTON UNLESS THERE WAS SOMETHING CONCRETE IN THE WIND, POSSIBLY A LARGE LONG TERM LOAN AND ENOUGH GRAIN TO CARRY ITALY OVER UNTIL THE NEXT HARVEST.

2. IT IS TO THE ADVANTAGE OF THE U.S. TO REINFORCE ITALY'S ECONOMY TO PREVENT HER FROM TOPPLING TO THE EXTREME LEFT OR RIGHT. RECENT ELECTIONS HAVE SHOWN A DRIFT TOWARDS EXTREMES AND A WEAKENING OF DE GASPERI'S CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATS. HENCE, IN THE OPINION OF THESE ITALIANS, THE U.S. WILL ATTEMPT TO STRENGTHEN DE GASPERI WITH SOME CONCRETE GESTURE.

DE GASPERI PLANNED TO ADDRESS THE FOUR-PARTY CABINET MONDAY ABOUT HIS MISSION. HE WAS EXPECTED TO RECEIVE A VOTE OF CONFIDENCE FROM HIS GOVERNMENT.

ROME-FIRST ADD BARI GENERAL STRIKE (A67) X X X IN PROTEST.

LEFTIST NEWSPAPERS OPENLY ACCUSED BARI AUTHORITIES OF "UNJUSTIFIED" USE OF ARMS ON THE MOB. THEY MAINTAINED THAT THE BARI CHAMBER OF LABOR DID NOT CALL THE GENERAL STRIKE UNTIL AFTER A CROWD DEMONSTRATING BEFORE THE PREFECTURE FOR FOOD, WORK, LOWER PRICES AND A DOLE HAD BEEN FIRED UPON WITH HEAVY MACHINE GUNS FROM AN ARMORED CAR CALLED FROM THE LOCAL CARABINIERI GARRISON TO QUEEL THE DISORDER.

DISPATCHES SAID THE FIRING CAME AFTER THE CROWD IN FRONT OF THE PREFECTURE HAD BEEN TOLD TO DISPERSE AND, INSTEAD, TIRED TO BREAK THROUGH A POLICE CORDON.

OTHER NEWSPAPERS DESCRIBED THE CROWD, WHICH HAD ALREADY CLOSED NEARLY ALL BUSINESSES IN BARI, AS A DISORDERLY MOB WHICH SACKED FOOD STORES, TRIED TO FORCE ITS WAY INTO THE PREFECTURE, BLOCKED STREETS WITH TRUCKS AND CARS, AND HALTED PUBLIC CONVEYANCES TO HASTEN CAPITULATION OF ITS DEMANDS.

AT THE END OF THE DAY THE CHAMBER OF LABOR, BY THEN FORMALLY IN CHARGE OF THE GENERAL STRIKE, PRESENTED AN EIGHT-POINT BILL OF DEMANDS. THEY WERE:

(1) AN IMMEDIATE DOLE. (2) SETTING UP OF A RELIEF FUND. (3) PUBLIC WORKS FOR UNEMPLOYED. (4) FOOD CONSUMPTION CONTROL AND POPULARLY PRICED RESTAURANTS. (5) DISTRIBUTION OF RATIONS NOT RECEIVED FOR THREE MONTHS. (6) TURNING OVER THE EMPLOYMENT OFFICE TO THE CHAMBER OF LABOR. (7) LAND AND FARM LABOR REFORMS. (8) DISMISSAL AND PUNISHMENT OF THOSE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE "SLAUGHTER" YESTERDAY.

BARI IS REPORTED TO HAVE 14,00 UNEMPLOYED. SOME PAPERS PUT THE NUMBER OF DEMONSTRATORS AS HIGH AS 50,000.

ALTHOUGH THE GOVERNMENT IN ROME ISSUED AN OFFICIAL COMMUNIQUE DURING THE EVENING ROUNDING UP INFORMATION THEN AVAILABLE, THERE HAS YET BEEN NO INDICATION OF NATIONAL ACTION TO END THE STRIKE. THE GOVERNMENT ENDED A SIMILAR BUT RELATIVELY PEACEABLE STRIKE AT NAPLES BEFORE CHRISTMAS BY SPECIAL FOOD SHIPMENTS AND A DOLE.

~~DAIREN~~

BY JOHN M.HIGHTOWER

~~WASHINGTON, DEC 28-(AP)-~~DIPLOMATIC AUTHORITIES INDICATED TODAY THAT IF THE UNITED STATES TAKES ANY ACTION OVER SOVIET CONDUCT IN THE CHINESE PORT OF DAIREN IT PROBABLY WILL FOLLOW THESE LINES:

1. AN EFFORT TO IMPROVE WORKING RELATIONSHIPS BETWEEN THE SOVIET AUTHORITIES CONTROLLING THE PORT AND AMERICAN CONSUL GENERAL H. MERRELL BENNINGHOFF.

2. EENCOURAGEMENT OF PROSPECTIVE RUSSO-CHINESE NEGOTIATIONS FOR ENDING SOVIET CONTROL OF DAIREN AND TURNING IT OVER TO CHINESE ADMINISTRATION.

THIS WAS THE STATE DEPARTMENT REACTION TO THE INCIDENT LAST WEEK WHEN THE RUSSIANS REFUSED ENTRY TO AN AMERICAN BUSINESS MAN AND TWO NEWSPAPERMEN AND ORDERED A U.S.NAVAL SHIP TO LEAVE THE PORT.

DIPLOMATIC OFFICIALS SAY THE EVENTS SHOWED MAINLY THAT RUSSIAN AUTHORITIES HAVE NOT ACCORDED BENNINGHOFF THE CONSIDERATION TO WHICH HIS DIPLOMATIC STATUS ENTITLES HIM.

BENNINGHOFF, SEEKING TO ARRANGE FOR THE AMERICAN CIVILIANS TO ENTER DAIREN WITHOUT PRIOR CLEARANCE FROM MOSCOW, IS SAID TO HAVE MET WITH VARIOUS DELAYS AND REBUFFS IN SEEING THE PROPER AUTHORITIES.

HIS POSITION IN DAIREN HAS BEEN DIFFICULT SINCE HE FIRST ENTERED THE SOVIET CONTROLLED CITY MANY MONTHS AGO. HIS TROUBLES INCLUDE RESTRICTIONS ON HIS COMMUNICATIONS WITH WASHINGTON SO THAT ALL REPORTS HE SENDS OUT ARE ROUTED THROUGH MOSCOW.

UNDERSECRETARY OF STATE DEAN ACHESON TOLD A NEWS CONFERENCE YESTERDAY THAT THE STATE DEPARTMENT WILL TAKE NO FINAL POSITION ON THE DAIREN AFFAIR UNTIL IT HAS RECEIVED A FULL ACCOUNT FROM BENNINGHOFF.

ACHESON DECLINED TO SAY WHETHER HE AGREED WITH LINCOLN WHITE, STATE DEPARTMENT PRESS OFFICER, THAT THE SOVIET ORDER FOR THE AMERICAN SHIP TO LEAVE DID NOT AMOUNT TO AN ULTIMATUM.

HOWEVER, OFFICIALS SAW LITTLE POSSIBILITY THAT ANY PROTEST WOULD BE MADE TO MOSCOW OVER THIS POINT.

THE DEPARTMENT HAS ALREADY TAKEN THE POSITION THAT THE RUSSIANS ACTED WITHIN THEIR LEGAL RIGHTS. RUSSIA AND CHINA HAVE AN ARRANGEMENT UNDER WHICH THE SOVIET MILITARY AUTHORITIES CONTROL THE CITY UNTIL IT IS TURNED OVER TO THE CHINESE TO OPERATE AS A FREE PORT.

(ADVANCE) WASHINGTON, DEC.28-(AP)-A BRITISH-AMERICAN AGREEMENT FOR EXCHANGE OF GERMAN TECHNICAL INFORMATION ACQUIRED BY THE TWO NATIONS SINCE V-E DAY WAS ANNOUNCED TONIGHT.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT WAS MADE IN A JOINT STATEMENT BY SECRETARY OF COMMERCE HARRIMAN AND SIR STAFFORD CRIPPS, PRESIDENT OF GREAT BRITAIN'S BOARD OF TRADE.

BRITISH AND AMERICAN INVESTIGATORS, WORKING IN THEIR RESPECTIVE ZONES, HAVE FOUND HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS OF IMPORTANT GERMAN SCIENTIFIC AND TECHNICAL DOCUMENTS, AND MADE PHOTOGRAPHIC COPIES.

THERE HAS BEEN EXCHANGE IN THE PAST, THE ANNOUNCEMENT SAID, BUT IT HAS BEEN "IMPERFECT." UNDER THE NEW AGREEMENT, "REPRESENTATIVES OF EACH NATION WILL BE ABLE TO SELECT FROM THE OTHER'S STORE OF REPORTS THE ITEMS WHICH THEY FIND VALUABLE." # (ADVANCE)--WASHINGTON, DEC 28-(AP)-THE RECLAMATION PROJECTS OF THE WEST TURNED OUT NEARLY A HALF BILLION DOLLARS IN FOOD WEALTH FOR THE NATION DURING 1946.

THE FIGURE WAS GIVEN TODAY BY WILLIAM E. WARNE, ASSISTANT RECLAMATION COMMISSIONER, WHO ADDED THAT POWER REVENUES FROM THE PROJECTS NETTED THE GOVERNMENT AN ADDITIONAL $21,000,000 DURING THE YEAR.

WARNE SAID THAT THE VALUE OF CROPS GROWN ON THE IRRIGATED PROJECT LANDS -- MOST OF THEM ONCE ARID AND VIRTUALLY WORTHLESS FOR AGRICULTURAL PURPOSES -- WOULD TOTAL APPROXIMATELY $450,000,000.

THAT IS AN AMOUNT PRACTICALLY EQUAL TO THE ENTIRE COST OF THE IRRIGATION FEATURES OF THE PROJECTS CONCERNED, HE STATED.

WARNE'S FIGURES SUPPORTED CLAIMS OF WESTERN SENATORS AND CONGRESSMEN THAT FUNDS APPROPRIATED FOR RECLAMATION PROJECTS ARE A DIRECT INVESTMENT IN WEALTH PRODUCING FACILITIES.

A RECENT POLL OF THESE WESTERNERS FOUND THEM ALMOST UNANIMOUSLY IN FAVOR OF CONTINUED CONSTRUCTION OF FEASIBLE PROJECTS, AND AGAINST ANY DRASTIC CURTAILMENT OF THE PROGRAM.

TYPICAL WAS THE REPLY OF SENATOR ROBERTSON, WHO SAID:

"I DON'T THINK THE EXPANSION OF RECLAMATION SHOULD BE LIMITED. RECLAMATION IS DIFFERENT TO MOST OTHER GOVERNMENT PROJECTS IN THAT IT IS SELF-LIQUIDATING AND THE WATER IS SOLD TO THE SETTLERS ON THE LAND ON A BASIS WHICH WILL PAY OFF THE WHOLE PROJECT IN USUALLY SOME 40 YEARS. IN REALITY IT IS A LOAN BY THE GOVERNMENT WHICH IS REPAID BY THE SETTLERS. I THINK WITH OUR INCREASED POPULATION OVER THE NEXT 10 YEARS OR MORE, DEVELOPMENT OF FOOD PRODUCING AREAS IS IMPORTANT AND THE OPPORTUNITY THAT RECLAMATION PRESENTS TO OUR EX-SERVICE MEN AND OTHERS FOR THE SETTLEMENT ON IRRIGATED FARMS IN THE WEST IS AN IMPORTANT FACTOR."

AS 1946 CLOSED, WARNE REPORTED THAT THE ACTUAL RECLAMATION CONSTRUCTION PROGRAM WAS BOOMING ALONG, DESPITE WINTER WEATHER AND ECONOMY-ORDERS WHICH HALTED THE INITIATION OF NEW PROJECTS.

DURING NOVEMBER THE WORK REACHED AN $8,000,000-A-MONTH CLIP, AND IT WAS ESTIMATED THAT DECEMBER CONSTRUCTION WOULD BE AT APPROXIMATELY THE SAME RATE, WARNE TOLD A REPORTER.

"DESPITE RESTRICTIONS, WE HAVE THE BIGGEST PROGRAM UNDER WAY WE EVER HAD," HE SAID. "IT HAS BEEN HARD TO GET SOME JOBS GOING, BUT IN GENERAL THINGS ARE GOING PRETTY WELL."

THE LAST CONGRESS APPROPRIATED $115,000,000 FOR THE RECLAMATION BUREAU DURING THE FISCAL YEAR BEGINNING JULY 1. IN ADDITION TO THAT THE BUREAU HAD AN UNEXPENDED BALANCE ON THAT DATE OF ABOUT THE SAME AMOUNT FROM PREVIOUSLY APPROPRIATED FUNDS.

PRESIDENTIAL ORDERS LATER LIMITED THE AMOUNT THAT CAN BE EXPENDED BY THE BUREAU TO $110,000,000 DURING THE YEAR. THE ORDER LIMITED CONSTRUCTION TO PROJECTS THAT WERE ALREADY UNDER WAY AT THE TIME IT WAS ISSUED. #

WASHINGTON,DEC 28-(AP)-THE ARMY IS "MAKING VERY GOOD PROGRESS" IN REVAMPING ALL ITS WEAPONS AND VEHICLES FOR USE BY AIR TRANSPORTABLE DIVISIONS, MAJ.GEN.HENRY B.SAYLER SAID TONIGHT.

VIRTUALLY ALL WEAPONS USED IN THE RECENT WAR, INCLUDING SUCH BIG ITEMS AS TANKS, ARE BEING MODIFIED AND DRASTICALLY LIGHTENED IN WEIGHT, HE TOLD REPORTERS.

TANKS WILL RETAIN THEIR TOUGH STEEL ARMOR, SAYLER EXPLAINED, BUT WILL BE STRIPPED OF MUCH OF THEIR WEIGHT BY SUBSTITUTION OF LIGHT METALS SUCH AS MAGNESIUM AND ALUMINUM ALLOYS IN WORKING PARTS AND OTHER GEAR NOT EXPOSED TO GUNFIRE.

IN THE FIELD OF ARTILLERY, THE RECOILLESS GUN DESIGNS OF WORLD WAR II ARE BEING ADAPTED TO NEW AND FAIRLY LARGE CALIBERED ORDNANCE. DURING THE WAR, RECOILLESS GUNS (WHICH BECAUSE OF THEIR LACK OF "KICK" REQUIRE NO MASSIVE RECOIL MECHANISM) WERE USED IN 57 AND 75 CALIBER SIZE AND WERE SHOT FROM LIGHT TRIPODS OR IN TEST EXPERIMENTS FROM THE SHOULDERS OF MEN.

WASHINGTON, DEC 28-(AP)-SENATOR JOHNSTON (D-SC) PREDICTED TODAY THAT "CASH INSTEAD OF BONDS FOR VETERANS" WILL BE ONE OF THE FIRST ACTS OF THE 80TH CONGRESS.

TTTTHHHHHHHHHHHHHM

THE SOUTH CAROLINIAN TOLD A REPORTER HE WILL PROPOSE REVISION OF THE TERMINAL PAY LAW OF 1946 "ON THE VERY FIRST DAY OF THE NEW CONGRESS--JANUARY 3."

UNDER THE PROVISIONS OF THE ACT, FORMER ENLISTED-MEN OF THE U.S. ARMY, NAVY, MARINE CORPS OR COAST GUARD ARE ENTITLED TO TERMINAL LEAVE PAY IN THE FORM OF BONDS RATHER THAN IN CASH.

"ALL VETERANS SHOULD HAVE THE SAME CONSIDERATION," JOHNSON SAID. "IT IS UNFAIR TO REQUIRE THE SOLDIER OR SAILOR TO TAKE TERMINAL PAY IN BONDS MATURING IN FIVE YEARS WHEN THE OFFICERS WITH WHOM HE SERVED IN WORLD WAR TWO GET THEIRS IN CASH."

WHEN THE 79TH CONGRESS WAS CONSIDERING THE ACT, THE SENATE MILITARY COMMITTEE SAID PAYMENT IN CASH "WOULD TEND TO HAVE AN INFLATIONARY EFFECT UPON OUR ALREADY INFLATED ECONOMY."

THE COMMITTEE ESTIMATED THE TOTAL OF TERMINAL PAY LEAVE AT ABOUT $3,000,000,000.

NEW YORK, DEC.28-(AP)-FIORELLO LAGUARDIA TODAY TOLD PROGRESSIVES THEY MUST MERGE AND RECONCILE THEIR DIFFERENCES AND "THE TIME TO DO IT IS IN 1948."

SPEAKING AT THE OPENING OF A JOINT CONVENTION OF THE INDEPENDENT CITIZENS COMMITTEE OF THE ARTS, SCIENCES AND PROFESSIONS AND THE NATIONAL CITIZENS POLITICAL ACTION COMMITTEE, THE RETIRING DIRECTOR-GENERAL OF UNRRA AND FORMER NEW YORK MAYOR SAID LIBERAL GROUPS NEED "MUCH MORE ACCURATE INFORMATION" AND MUST "FACE THE FACTS REALISTICALLY."

"WE NEED A MERGER OF PROGRESSIVE GROUPS TO ENGAGE IN A BROADER ECONOMIC PICTURE," LAGUARDIA SAID, "AND TO LEAVE SPECIFIC INTERESTS TO SPECIFIC GROUPS. WE MUST RECONCILE CONFLICTS BETWEEN GROUPS.

"THE COUNTRY CANNOT AFFORD ANOTHER BUST, BUT A BUST CANNOT BE PREVENTED BY OPTIMISTIC STATEMENTS FROM WASHINGTON," HE ADDED.

THE FORMER MAYOR SAID HE SAW LITTLE HOPE IN TWO MAJOR PARTIES ALTHOUGH PROGRESSIVES IN BOTH "GO ALONG IN THE SINCERE BELIEF THAT THINGS WILL WORK OUT IN THE LONG RUN."

"ALL HAVE THE SAME FAULT," HE SAID. "WE'RE ALL A BUNCH OF POLITICAL PRIMA DONNAS.

COLUMBUS,O., DEC 28-(AP)-GREAT BRITAIN WCLL WITHDRAW FROM ALL HER PRESENT MIDDLE EAST BASES AND PROTECT HER LIFELINES FROM MID-AFRICA, A NEW HAMPSHIRE GEOGRAPHER PREDICTED TONIGHT. 1946

"THE FUTURE PROTECTION OF HER--AND THE UNITED STATES'--VAST INTERESTS IN THE MIDDLE EAST WILL BE UNDERTAKEN BY A NEW DEFENSE-IN-DEPTH SYSTEM," DECLARED HANS W.WEIGERT OF HANCOCK, N.H., IN A PREPARED ADDRESS TO THE ASSOCIATION OF AMERICAN GEOGRAPHERS.

"BRITAIN CONSIDERS A TRANSFER OF HER MAJOR BASES FROM THE EASTERN MEDITERRANEAN TO THE HEART OF AFRICA, WITH MAIN PILLARS IN KENYA AND NIGERIA.

"IT IS PLANNED TO CONNECT THESE PILLARS BY A 3,000 MILE ROAD THROUGH EQUATORIAL AFRICA, WHICH WOULD MAKE FRANCE A PARTNER OF THE NEW CONTINENTAL DEFENSE SYSTEM.

"IT (GREAT BRITAIN) WOULD WATCH, AND, IF POSSIBLE, CONTROL DEVELOPMENTS IN THE TROUBLED MIDDLE EAST ZONES FROM POSITIONS LESS EXPOSED THAN ARE THE PRESENT BASES IN THE EASTERN MEDITERRANEAN."

THESE PROPOSED STRATEGIC DEVELOPMENTS, WEIGERT EXPLAINED, ARE YET IN THE BLUEPRINT STAGE AND HAVE BEEN OVERSHADOWED IN THE PUBLIC MIND BY THE RADICAL REVISIONS IN NATIONAL SECURITY CONTEMPLATED BY THE UNITED STATES.

"ALMOST 50 YEARS AGO," HE SAID, "HALFORD J.MACKINDER ENVISAGED THE END OF THE VICTORIAN SEAPOWER AGE AND STRESSED THE IMPORTANCE OF CONTINENTAL LAND MASSES AND OF LAND POWER IN THE FUTURE.

"BRITISH EMPIRE STRATEGY SEEMS TO BE ACCEPTING THIS THESIS NOW. IT HAS BECOME CONVINCED THAT, IN THE EVENT OF A THIRD WORLD WAR, THE MEDITERRANEAN WOULD BE TOO VULNERABLE AND IT IS PREPARED TO DRAW RADICAL CONCLUSIONS.

"BRITAIN PLANS ON WITHDRAWING ALL HER FORCES FROM EGYPT. CONSEQUENTLY, SHE INTENDS GRADUALLY TO LIQUIDATE HER STRATEGIC BASES IN PALESTINE, TRANSJORDAN AND EVEN IN IRAQ."

MOST STATE PLANNING IN THE UNITED STATES DURING THE 1930'S SEEMS MERE SURVEYS IN COMPARISON WITH RUSSIAN PLANNING, ASSERTED FRED K.SCHAEFER OF THE UNIVERSITY OF IOWA IN ANOTHER PREPARED SPEECH.

"PLANNING IN THE RUSSIAN TECHNICAL SENSE OF THE TERM," HE SAID, "IS A CONSCIOUS EFFORT TO DIRECT SOCIAL FORCES TOWARDS A RATIONALLY DESIRABLE END. PLANNING WITHOUT A DEFINITE GOAL IS NOT PLANNING."

ALL PROBLEMS IN THE WORLD MAY BE IN PART PROBLEMS OF POPULATION, SAID CLARENCE B.ODELL OF THE ENCYCLOPEDIA BRITANNICA. HE POINTED OUT THAT POPULATION RESEARCHES SERVED AS BACKGROUND FOR POLICY DECISIONS ON INTERNATIONAL PROBLEMS BY THE STATE DEPARTMENT.

(ADVANCE) CHICAGO, DEC. 28-(AP)-THE FIRST SHIPMENT OF LUMBER FROM OREGON VIA THE PANAMA CANAL AND MISSISSIPPI RIVER IS SCHEDULED TO ARRIVE IN CHICAGO JANUARY 25, THE NATIONAL HOUSING AGENCY SAID TODAY.

CHARLES J.HORAN, REGIONAL HOUSING ADMINISTRATOR, SAID THE FIRST SHIPLOAD OF LUMBER--1,500,000 BOARD FEET--ROUTED BY WATER FROM THE WEST COAST TO OVERCOME LIMITATIONS OF THE FREIGHT CAR SHORTAGE, WAS ON THE WATER AND DUE IN NEW ORLEANS JANUARY 15TH.

THE LUMBER WILL BE MOVED UP THE MISSISSIPPI BY WAY OF FEDERAL BARGE LINES. HORAN SAID THE SHIPMENTS, TO CONTINUE THROUGH THE WINTER, WOULD BENEFIT MILLWORK CONCERNS AND LUMBER DEALERS THROUGHOUT THE MIDWEST, AND ENABLE THEM TO BUILD UP INVENTORIES AGAINST AN EXPECTED HEAVY LUMBER DEMAND FOR SPRING HOME BUILDING.

CLEVELAND,DEC 28-(AP)-PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S COUNCIL OF ECONOMIC ADVISERS MAKES "NO ATTEMPT TO CONTROL THE COUNTRY'S ECONOMY," LEON H.KEYSERLING, CEA VICE CHAIRMAN, TODAY TOLD THE 42ND ANNUAL CONVENTION OF THE AMERICAN POLITICAL SCIENCE ASSOCIATION. 1946

IN A REPORT ON THE FUNCTIONS OF THE AGENCY AT THE SECOND DAY OF THE CONVENTION, KEYSERLING SAID THE COUNCIL'S DUTIES WERE SIMILAR TO THOSE OF THE WEATHER BUREAU.

"THE WEATHER BUREAU MAY PREDICT RAIN, BUT IT DOESN'T ORDER YOU TO PUT ON A RAINCOAT," SAID THE PRESIDENTIAL ADVISER.

"WE MAKE NO ATTEMPT TO CONTROL THE COUNTRY'S ECONOMY. WE STUDY THE PICTURE, FIT THE PIECES TOGETHER AND CALL THE SIGNALS FOR BUSINESS, LABOR, THE FARMERS AND THE CONSUMERS."

ASSERTING THAT LABOR-MANAGEMENT RELATIONS WILL BE THE NO.1 POLITICAL ISSUE IN THE IMMEDIATE FUTURE, KEYSERLING SAID THERE WAS EVIDENCE OF "AN INCLINATION ON BOTH SIDES TO BE MORE TEMPERATE."

DECLINING TO PREDICT ANOTHER ECONOMIC RECESSION, KEYSERLING ASSERTED THAT IF ANOTHER DEPRESSION COMES, "IT WILL BE AS MUCH BIGGER THAN THE LAST ONE AS WORLD WAR II WAS BIGGER THAN WORLD WAR I," AND ADDED THAT AMERICANS SHOULD REALIZE THAT IT IS "EASIER TO HOLD ON TO PROSPERITY WHILE THEY HAVE IT THAN TO TRY TO REGAIN IT AFTER IT HAS BEEN LOST."

GROMYKO NAMED AIDE TO MOLOTOV, RETAINS UN POST

Deputy Foreign Minister Works on Soviet Declaration on Atomic Controls.

VETO AGAIN IS ISSUE

Baruch Is Backed by Vandenberg in Demanding Automatic Penalties.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29—(AP) Andrei A. Gromyko, newly-appointed deputy foreign minister of the Soviet Union, put the finishing touches tonight on a policy declaration which is expected to have a vital bearing on the course of the United Nations Atomic Energy commission.

Gromyko, in fact, may make two major speeches in as many days, for he undoubtedly will speak to the UN Security council Tuesday in support of his government's demand for speed in arms limitation.

Assistant to Molotov

The Russian representative to the Atomic Energy commission and to the Security Council received a promotion just as he was going into the critical phases of the atomic and arms debates. The Moscow radio announced today his appointment as a deputy to Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov. He joins four other deputies, of whom Andrei Y. Vishinsky, 62, is the eldest.

The Atomic Energy commission is faced with a decision on whether its report to the Security Council, due Tuesday, will mention the word "veto" in its section dealing with punishment of atomic code violators.

Bernard M. Baruch, United States representative on the commission, has warned that the United States could not yield atomic bomb secrets unless the veto was ruled out of any international control plan. Baruch yesterday received the support of U. S. Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R-Mich), who is slated to become chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee. This was added to the backing given him by President Truman and Secretary of States James F. Byrnes.

The Canadian and French delegations have combined in a proposal which would steer clear of the word "veto" and would provide for automatic world action against any nation guilty of major violations of atomic pacts.

Silent on Atom Plan

Gromyko has maintained silence in all commission discussions since Dec. 20, when he said he needed time to study the Baruch plan.

His speech tomorrow is expected to give Russia's answer on the atomic plan.

Gromyko asked the UN yesterday to put on the Security Council's agenda for Tuesday a Soviet resolution calling for a commission to prepare proposals within three months for carrying out the purposes of the arms resolution adopted by the UN assembly Dec. 14.

Russia was a prime mover of such a resolution in the assembly and Gromyko thus is following his government's apparent intention to keep the arms question alive until some decision is reached.

Gromyko Becomes Molotov's Deputy

London, Dec. 29 (AP)—The Moscow radio announced today that Andrei A. Gromyko, Russian representative on the United Nations Security Council, had been appointed "a deputy minister for foreign affairs."

The appointment of Gromyko, who was formerly Ambassador to Washington before being assigned full time to the Security Council, raises to five the number of deputies to the foreign minister, Vyacheslav M. Molotov.

Russia-Norway Pact Signed

London, Dec. 29 (AP)—The Moscow radio said tonight the Soviet Union had signed a two-year trade agreement with Norway. Under terms of the agreement, signed last Friday, "the Soviet Union will send Norway raw materials for her industry and other necessary goods in exchange for Norwegian goods needed for Soviet economy," the radio said.

LONDON, Dec. 29 (AP).—Fog-shrouded British and continental airports today, grounding thirty-one mothers and forty-five children who had hoped to pass the holidays here with their American soldier husbands and fathers in Germany.

Some of the mothers, who left New York by plane Dec. 24 and 25, staged "stay-in strikes" at the Pan-American air line offices, demanding flights to Frankfurt an Main. An air line spokesman said they finally were pacified when one was allowed to telephone to her husband and he confirmed that the weather over Germany was murky.

BLUM MAKES BID FOR PEACE IN ASIA

Offers Plan to Viet Nam Chief to End Indochina Disorders.

PARIS, Dec. 29. — (AP) French dispatches from embattled Indochina quoted the secret radio of the Viet Nam government tonight as saying that Premier Leon Blum of France had offered "to reestablish the situation in Indochina on a basis of Franco-Viet Nam agreements."

The radio said that Blum made his proposal today in a telegram to Ho Chi Minh, president of the Viet Nam republic, and that Ho replied with a "cease fire" proposal. Ho also proposed that French forces withdraw to the positions they held before the clash between French and Viet Nam troops began on Dec. 17.

Envoy to Seek Pact

According to the dispatches, the radio said Blum announced in his telegram that Marius Moutet, French colonial minister, had left for Indochina in an effort to seek an agreement with the Viet Nam republic.

In reply, Ho was said to have welcomed Moutet's mission, but charged that French troops had provoked armed strife in Hanoi, French administrative capital of Indochina, "by massacring Viet Namese women and children."

Reports of Blum's attempt to end the Indochinese disorders arrived in Paris shortly after other dispatches said a French relief column reached the isolated French garrisons at Bac Ninh and Thu Lang Phuong, on the railroad from Hanoi to the Chinese border, today, while south of Hanoi on the same rail line large Viet Nam forces were attacking Nam Dinh.

Attack Communications Route

French reports said these engagements were a part of the insurgent Viet Namese effort to capture the main communications route in the province of Tonkin.

In Hanoi itself, where the Viet Namese still held parts of the town despite earlier optimistic French reports, there were increased indications of French hopes of a compromise—at least until reinforcements could be brought from Europe.

The Viet Nam radio today reiterated its demands for Cochin China's incorporation into the Viet Nam republic, along with Tonkin and Annam and for the recall of the French high commissioner in Indochina, Admiral Georges Thierry D'Argenlieu, and French commander, Gen. Philippe Le Clerc, who arrived in Saigon last week.

The current strife in Indochina stems from the creation in Cochin China, the southern province with Saigon as its capital, of an autonomous government by the administration of Admiral D'Argenlieu. The Viet Nam government claims Cochin China should become a part of the independent republic.

Agency Executive Joins With World Congress In Move

Basel, Switerland, Dec. 29 (AP)—Dr. Moshe Sneh, Palestine Zionist leader, said tonight the Jewish Agency Executive would act in accordance with a resolution of the World Zionist Congress to shun the Palestine conference in London "under existing conditions."

Following the final meeting here of the agency's revamped executive, Sneh said no meeting of the full executive was contemplated within the next few weeks. The London conference is scheduled to open January 14.

David Ben-Gurion of Jerusalem was re-elected chairman of the Jewish Agency Executive. Virtually all members of the old executive were re-elected. The executive is a coalition composed of nineteen members representing, Zionists, Orthodox and labor Jews.

Cleveland Man Chairman

Rabbi A. H. Silver, of Cleveland, was named chairman of the executive for the United States. He will be joined there by Moshe Shertok, formerly in charge of the political department in Jerusalem. Dr. Nahum Goldman and Berl Locker will handle Zionist political problems in London.

Ben Gurion has advocated continued negotiations with Great Britain for settlement of the Zionist claims for establishment of a Jewish state in Palestine, while Silver has fought against participation in the conference.

Rabbi Wise To Presidium

A newcomer to the executive was Emanuel Neumann, of New York, who aided Silver in the fight against continued negotiations. Dr. Chaim Weizmann, former president of the World Zionist Organization and advocate of continued negotiations, was dropped from the executive.

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, of New York, was dropped from the new executive after years of membership on the old body, but was elected senior member of the presidium of the general council—the interim authority of the World Zionist Congress.

LAND BOUGHT FOR GERMANY

1946

U.S. Expected To Ask Return Of Agricultural Areas

GALLAGHER

Berlin, Dec. 29 (AP)—Reliable sources said today that during the coming peace talks in Moscow, the United States will propose that a large part of the former Reich's agricultural areas in the East, now occupied by Poland, be returned to Germany.

The American position will be that Germany cannot be self-sustaining with the loss of 25 per cent of her best agricultural land and that this loss will only provide a talking point for a new war, these sources said.

Anticipated proposals by the United States, expected to receive support from Britain, are that Poland retain the rich former German industrial area of Silesia, the half of East Prussia the Poles now occupy and the once free city of Danzig.

Pomerania And Brandenburg

The agricultural areas of Pomerania and Brandenburg, now occupied by Polish troops, once again would become part of postwar Germany, according to the present United States position as reported here.

The American viewpoint, as reflected here, is that Poland, a predominantly agricultural country, has enough farm lands for her needs, and that Silesia gives her a rich industrial area.

Loss of Pomeranian and Brandenburg farm lands is estimated to have cut 25 per cent from Germany's food production. Always a food deficit country, Germany is now worse off than ever before, with the western occupation powers having to make huge expenditures to import food for a defeated foe.

Hinted At By Byrnes

James F. Byrnes, Secretary of State, strongly hinted at the American position in his Stuttgart policy speech of September 6. He said that while America would support Poland's claims for revised northern and western frontiers, "the extent of the area to be ceded to Poland must be determined when the final settlement is agreed upon."

The United States has recognized Polish territorial claims at both Yalta and Potsdam but both times made clear its feeling that final settlements could be made only at a peace conference on Germany.

The United States, in presenting its position to the Foreign Ministers council, is expected to point out that the loss of Silesia will remove a German war potential but that no such justification can be made for ceding the agricultural lands in Pomerania and Brandenburg.

A further contention expected to be voiced is that these lands were predominantly German and that Secretary Byrnes outlined the American position as being opposed to cession of any land which is "indisputably German or any division of Germany which is not genuinely desired by the people concerned."

Britain, like the United States, burdened with huge occupation costs, is said to be sympathetic to the American view. France, seeking widespread territorial changes in the West, is expected to side with Poland against any change in the present situation.

The position of Russia has not been made entirely clear. However, V. M. Molotov, Soviet Foreign Minister, said at Paris September 16, after Byrnes's Stuttgart speech, that "the historical decision of the Berlin conference concerning the western frontiers of Poland cannot be reversed, for the facts prove it is impossible now to do so."

Protection of Parolees Denied

BERLIN, Dec. 29 (AP).—An official American spokesman today denied a report [published Sunday in the New York Herald Tribune] that members of the German General Staff, Nazi cabinet, and S. A. (Storm Troopers) acquitted at Nuernberg were being released on parole in the American occupation zone to prevent their arrest by German officials under de-Nazification laws.

The American spokesman described the report as "quite incorrect," and said the paroles "did not protect any one from anything."

DELUCE

"The status of these General Staff officers is exactly the same as Franz von Papen, Hjalmar Schacht and Hans Fritzsche, who were acquitted at Nuernberg and have since been rearrested by a de-Nazification tribunal," the spokesman added.

Under the broad charter of de-Nazification courts, trials can be held not only of known Nazis but for crimes against the peace and for militarism within specific categories.

The spokesman said the reason the Germans were paroled instead of being released outright was that American authorities wanted to "keep an eye on them for possible [illegible] action." Parolees are required to report to occupation authorities at intervals.

GEN. CLAY AGAINST BAN ON CIGARETTES

KASCHKE

BERLIN, Dec. 29. — (AP) Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, who himself uses 60 cigarettes a day, said today he would not favor banning the private importation of American cigarettes by U. S. occupation personnel, unless such a ban "seems practicable and enforceable."

"I would not make such a recommendation (to the theater commander) merely as a guesture for the record and to silence critics at home of the trading of cigarettes by Americans here," the American deputy military governor said.

American cigarettes have been an important black market item in Germany since the start of the occupation. At present, a package of 20 U. S. cigarettes brings at least $14 worth of marks.

An embargo against the importation of any smokes—except those sold under ration in the army's post exchanges—was suggested to Clay last week by a special military government committee.

Poland Frees 500 Germans

Berlin, Dec. 29 (AP)—Berlin newspapers reported today the return of 500 German army veterans, most of them invalids, from eastern Germany in the first release of German war prisoners by Poland. The prisoners said they had worked in coal mines in upper Silesia and complained of inadequate food rations.

FRENCH RESTRICT MOVEMENT IN AND OUT OF SAARLAND

O'REGAN

SAARBRUECKEN, Dec. 29. — (AP) French military authorities today restricted the movement of all persons in and out of the disputed coal-rich Saar and freed approximately 10,000 German Saarland prisoners of war and civilian internees.

In a series of measures following establishment of an "economic frontier" separating the Saar from the remainder of Germany, the military authorities also lifted the midnight curfew for Germans in this great industrial basin.

The new measures were taken as French occupation authorities pressed claims for a customs union between France and the Saar.

The orders were issued by Gen. Pierre Koenig, whose recent action in throwing a 1,200-man customs cordon around the Saar was described as "unilateral" by high United States military government officials.

NIGHT

Movement Curbed

Customs officials at all road entries into the 738-square mile Saar, which France claims "historically and economically," were ordered to prohibit Germans from leaving or entering the territory without special passes after midnight tonight.

Other nationals were required to possess passports with a special visa in three languages. Germans were forbidden to take more than 100 marks out of the Saar under threat of confiscation and arrest.

German political party leaders declared that the ban on movements of all persons, particularly Germans, was designed to stabilize the Saar population.

At the same time, Koenig's military government of the Saar announced that between 7,000 and10,000 natives of the Saar in French prisoner of war camps would be freed and would be asked to return to the Saar to work in mines which already are producing 70 per cent of their peak pre-war production.

An amnesty for persons convicted of misdemeanors throughout the French zone also was announced.

While French officials denied that last week's frontier cordon constituted an "annexation" of the Saar, these facts were revealed today by both French and German authorities:

Food Brought In

1946

The French are importing quantities of food into the Saar and it is going mostly to miners, increasing their daily ration up to 4,000 calories. The average ration for a German in the French zone is 1,380 calories.

The customs cordon was established ostensibly to prevent additional food from flowing through black market channels into the rest of the French zone. French officials, however, said most of the extra food is consumed at the pitheads.

Censorship of newspapers and the radio is enforced, in contrast to the United States occupational zone, where censorship takes the form of post-publication reprimand.

Democratic elections in the Saar have been restricted to municipalities, where, as throughout the remainder of the French zone, the population already has elected democratic district governments.

Probably the strongest agency of French policy is "the movement for the reunion of the Saar," headed by Saarlanders who left the territory after it was returned to Germany in 1935 by an overwhelming vote of the population.

Jew Shot Fleeing Roman Jail For Sanctuary In The Vatican

McKnight

Rome, Dec. 29 (AP)—A young Polish-born Jew died last night after being shot while trying to flee from a Roman jail. An American Jewish leader said today the prisoner declared on his deathbed that he was trying to gain sanctuary in the Vatican from feared British deportation to Eritrea.

The dead man was 32-year-old Zew Epstein, one of five Jews arrested for questioning in the bombing of the British Embassy here October 31.

NIGHT

Dr. Johan J. Smertenko, vice president of the American League for a Free Palestine, said that Epstein, who had lived in Palestine many years and had acquired Palestine citizenship, was in dire fear of being sent to Eritrea.

Declared Cleared Of Complicity

"He himself told me just before he died that he tried to escape because he wanted to take sanctuary in the Vatican," Smertenko said.

Smertenko declared also that Italian police investigation had cleared Epstein of any complicity in the embassy bombing. He said he was told by Dr. Carmine Bottino, Italian political police chief, that Epstein and the four other Jews were being detained only because British authorities had indicated they might want to have them deported from Italy.

Smertenko added that while his own inquiries failed to substantiate such intentions on the part of the British, he did not have time to get word to Epstein and the other prisoners.

Appealed To Admiral Stone

Smertenko said he went to Rear Admiral Ellery L. Stone, USN, chief Allied commissioner for Italy, to seek information on the reported deportation plans. British officials, questioned by Stone, denied they had any such intention and Stone wrote him yesterday confirming that.

Police said a guard discovered Epstein letting himself out of a second-floor window on a piece of rope yesterday. The guard fired one shot in the air and then when the prisoner continued his escape attempt, fired again, wounding him in the abdomen.

HELSINKI, Dec. 29 (AP).—The Allied Control Commission for Finland announced today that Malm, Helsinki's main airport, which has been in Russian hands since the armistice, would be returned tomorrow to the Finnish authorities. The armistice agreement between Finland and Russia placed the field at Russia's disposal.

PRAVDA ATTACKS FRENCH ON SAAR

MOSCOW, Dec. 29. — (AP) Pravda, in a preliminary discussion of the forthcoming Moscow meeting of foreign ministers, today coupled an appeal for great-power accord with a protest against France's action in establishing a customs frontier in the Saar.

Cooperation among the Big Four is not only "the accomplishment of 1946, but a lesson for 1947," Pravda said.

The Communist party organ asserted that France, in throwing up the 1,200-man customs barrier between the industrial Saar and the remainder of Germany, had moved toward annexation of the territory.

Any decision on the Saar, Pravda declared, must be reached by great-power agreement, and not by "unilateral" action.

3 BRITONS LASHED BY JEWISH GANG

Major, Two Sergeants Flogged in Retaliation for Sentencing of Bank Robber.

JERUSALEM, Dec. 29—(AP) A British army major and two sergeants were kidnaped tonight and each given 18 lashes in what police described as a blow-for-blow retaliation by Jewish terrorists for a flogging administered by authorities Friday to a Jew convicted of bank robbery.

The major was whisked away from his wife in the lounge of the Hotel Metropol in Nathanya, 40 miles north of the all Jewish city of Tel Aviv. An official government announcement said he was blindfolded, tied to a rack and whipped with a cane.

Seized By Armed Men

The two sergeants were taken by eight men, armed with submachine guns, from in front of the Armon hotel on Tel Aviv's waterfront and were forced into an automobile. The men took them to the outskirts of Tel Aviv, tied them to trees, "took down their pants and administered 18 strokes apiece."

British army authorities and Palestine police began an immediate hunt for the floggers, while the army recalled all military personnel on the coastal area to their camps. Notices summoning the men were flashed in motion picture houses, and military police carried the announcement into saloons.

The flogging of the sergeants was done in the presence of a small group of onlookers, held at bay by the tommy gunners. The soldiers then were driven to a nearby zoological garden, again trussed to trees and left there as their attackers fled. The sergeants freed themselves and walked to the police station.

The major, taken from the lounge in an automobile by five men, limped back an hour later, clad only in his underwear.

Police said that the Nathanya office of the Haaretz Hebrew language newspaper received an anonymous telephone call in Hebrew that the Jewish underground organization Irgun Zvai Leumi was responsible for the floggings.

New security measures were reliably reported to have been instituted in most Palestine cities to prevent other lashing of British officers.

It also was learned that new warnings of floggings had been posted throughout the Holy Land by underground organizations.

The broadcast warning last week by Irgun said that British soldiers would be whipped if authorities carried out a sentence of 18 lashes and 18 years imprisonment, on 16-year-old Benjamin Kimkhin, convicted of participating in the Jaffa bank robbery Sept. 13. The whipping was carried out Friday in Jerusalem prison.

NO LARGE-SCALE CHINA FIGHTING IN '47, EXPERTS SAY

NANKING, Dec. 29—(AP) Widespread and intensified guerrilla attacks but few if any major campaigns are China's unpleasant prospects for the New Year, government military observers predicted tonight.

The current Communist raids around Peiping and Tientsin and the concerted assaults at such vital pionts as Paoting along the north-south Peiping-Hankow Railway were pointed out as indications of this burgeoning Red strategy.

Latest government dispatches from Peiping said the Communists, who only yesterday were threatening Paoting from three sides had melted away in the face of determined government defense but had renewed their blows at Wangtu, on the railway 21 miles southwest of Paoting.

Heavy Shantung Fighting

The heaviest fighting at the moment was reported at Liaocheng, in western Shantung province southeast of Peiping. The Communists were making a strong attack, now five days old, and some government quarters expressed fears they might capture the town.

Peiping dispatches also reported the Communists were throwing 4,000 militiamen against the government city of Yulin, 115 miles north of Yenan, Communist capital in Shensi Province.

The Peace Daily in Nanking noted that the government once before warned the Communists that continued attacks on Yulin would bring a retaliatory drive against Yenan itself.

Cool military heads in Nanking, however, remarked that for more than a month past there had been no truly large-scale fighting and expressed belief the Communists were seeking simply to tire and worry the national armies with repeated hit-skip attacks.

They described this as particularly suitable to the needs of many Communist "troops," who are either small roving bands or are neighborhood farmers who go raiding at night.

It was acknowledged, however, that by these tactics they might well pick off an isolated city now and then and force the government to expend men and supplies in pursuit and in repairs to communications lines.

(The situation in Manchuria remained obscure. The Hsin Sheng Pao, newspaper of Gen. Tu Li-ming, government commandant for Manchuria, said that Tu had been replaced by his rival, Gen. Hsiung Shi-hui, director of Chiang Kai-shek's branch headquarters for Manchuria. No explanation was given.)

Japanese Cabinet Upset Predicted

Tokyo, Monday, Dec. 30 (AP)—The anti-government newspaper Yomiuri predicted today resignation of the Japanese Cabinet as the aftermath of economic discussions scheduled to begin among party leaders Tuesday.

The paper said two ministers have expressed a determination to resign: Agriculture Minister Hiroo Wada and Education Minister Kotaro Tanaka. Commerce Minister [illegible]shijima also was reported considering withdrawal in acceptance of "responsibility" for an anticipated industrial crisis next March. A shortage of raw materials and breakdown of industrial equipment is expected to slow production at that time.

Several other ministers, including Finance Minister Tanzan Ishibashi, have been under fire for the Cabinet's "failure" to solve economic and livelihood problems. One basic problem currently is the coal shortage, felt in virtually every activity in Japan.

Yomiuri said the leaders of political parties wil discuss tomorrow a reorganization—expected to reflect the extent of support the Government can expect from the next Diet session January 2.

Dixie Tighe Still In Coma

Tokyo, Dec. 29 (AP)—Dixie Tighe, New York Post correspondent, who was stricken by a cerebral hemorrhage Friday, was reported by the 49th General Hospital tonight to be in "slightly hopeful condition but still critical." She remained in a coma but physicians said she was "resting easily."

Site Of Philippine Capitol Selected

Manila, Monday, Dec. 30 (AP)—Quezon City, an outlying suburb of Manila, has been selected as site of a new national capitol of the Philippines by a committee of congressmen appointed by President Manuel A. Roxas, Juan C. Orendain, presidential secretary said today.

If Roxas approves the selection, he will ask Congress in its coming he will ask Congress to pass necessary legislation.

With most national buildings in Manila destroyed during the war, the Administration felt that the time had arrived to carry out its $50,000,000 program for reconstruction of capitol structures, Orendain said. Of this amount, some $20,000,000 would be taken from the $120,000,000 set aside by the Tydings War Damage Act in compensation for devastation of public buildings.

Roxas recently reported that more then 7,000 public buildings in the Philippines were destroyed or damaged beyond repair during the war.

All Government offices would be moved to the new capitol site if the present plan materializes, and historic Malacanan Palace, once the home of Spanish and American governors general and now the official residence and offices of the President, would be converted to a museum.

Report Accuses Russia Of Failing to Keep Pacts

House Group Aroused by Hint Soviet Is Rearming.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29—(AP) A House committee declared tonight that reports of Russia rearming with German war plants, if true, call for scrapping the entire Potsdam agreement and a demand by "the western allies" that Russia "evacuate Germany completely."

The committee also recommended that the United States restrict exports of "know-how" and goods of "special military and economic character" to Russia until it "meets its political obligations and accepts full international control of atomic energy."

Committee Accuses Russia

The special House committee, on postwar economic policy and planning, created at the last session, bluntly and unanimously accused Russia of "failures to keep Potsdam and other agreements" and said Moscow's agreement "in principle" to broad outlines of international atomic inspection "does not guarantee performance."

"Most serious of all violations of the Potsdam agreement," said the report filed with the House, "is the alleged rearming of Russia by German plants in the Russian-controlled zones, including the rocket-making plants and testing grounds at Peenemunde, which were to have been scrapped.

"If this allegation is established as a fact by the joint inspection teams which have been agreed to but not yet permitted to operate in Russian zones, this act would call for denunciation of the entire Potsdam agreement.

"The western allies would have every just ground for a demand on Russia to evacuate Germany completely and redraw the boundaries in order to create a Germany capable of democratic progress and one that would be subject to control over arms."

War Industry Built Up

Moreover, the committee declared that Russia's new five-year plan emphasizes not consumers goods but "industries that are basically for armaments."

Turning to the question of exports, the committee said:

"The mere unwillingness on our part to make a loan to Russia is not effective if Russia is permitted to acquire by use of its gold reserves, for credit, American know-how and some of the most secret processes in the fields of radar, electronics, communications, catalytic chemistry, etc., basic in the superiority of American defense.

"The committee does not believe this country should permit the building up through private contracts with American firms of an enormously extended electrical industry in Russia, as well as military armaments and a navy, until that country has accepted the actual and effective international control of atomic energy along the lines proposed by the United States to the United Nations and generally supported by other countries."

Specifically, the committee recommended that:

1. Congress empower the State department to require registration of all contracts for the sale of American finished products and technical know-how to countries operating through monopolistic state trading organizations which have not fulfilled conditions of Lend-Lease agreements or become members of the International Bank and Fund.

Asks Curbs On Exports

2. The export of American processes, technical know-how and products to these countries be subject to licensing control by the Commerce department under conditions set by the State department "after the development of appropriate and carefully studied safeguards and policy guides."

3. In the case of countries which refuse free entry to missions of technical inquiry and to businessmen and reporters accredited by the State department, "a strict reciprocity shall be enjoined upon the State department in the issuance of visas for the nationals of such countries."

4. The appropriate committee of Congress hold immediate hearings to determine what materials, products and technical information should not be exported to state trading countries which have not carried out the principles of trade enjoined in the Lend-Lease agreements and the political agreements on which the war settlements with these countries rested.

"In particular, it is the recommendation of the committee that especial attention should be given to the control of exports of those factors of American production which could facilitate the development of weapons of mass destruction, including atomic weapons," the report added.

The committee criticized conditions in Russian-occupied territory.

"Along with economic enslavement and political terrorism have gone authenticated repression of religions, including 'liquidation' of priests and widespread imprisonment, the expulsion of utterly reliable correspondents, and the riveting of the whole range of totalitarian controls on these countries," it declared.

Iran Situation Recalled

"Opening up of trade and waterways is being blocked by Russia by monopoly controls and administrative obstruction. The tactics pursued in Iran of penetration and enforcement, by every method of political terror, of control by puppets of the Russian regime must now be fairly clear to the outside world.

"The committee believes that the carrying out of the Yalta and Potsdam agreements has now been effectively brought to a stop in the many fields by Russia.

30.24-7135

"No willingness to operate eastern Europe in accordance with the terms of these agreements and to permit free elections in areas like Poland, Bulgaria, Rumania and Yugoslavia exists. Russian behavior in Austria in the arrest of deputies who oppose Russian positions in the removal of Austrian property and in its sequestration for Russian use (on the pretext that all Nazi-controlled property was to be classed as reparations) amounts to a terror campaign in a zone that is supposed to be one of joint allied control.

"Sequestrations of large food areas for Russian army use and stopping the flow of food into the western zones of Austria from the Russian-controlled surplus food areas of that country are characteristic. The continuation of terror in Poland renders the possibility of free elections there farcical and should preclude, in the judgment of the committee, all loans until the Polish government lives up to its obligations.

Unification Blocked

"The same type of procedures has been applied in eastern Europe and in the Russian-occupied territory in Austria and Germany effectively preventing any unification of these countries unless they fall once and for all under a Communist-dominated government for the whole."

In recommending that Russian diplomats and "technicians" be admitted to this country and the U. S. occupation areas only on a strict reciprocal basis, the committee said "there are understood to be more than 1,200 Russian representatives in this country compared with less than 200 Americans in the U.S.S.R."

The report called upon the United States to assert "positive leadership" in European economic reconstruction, admonishing that America "cannot rest content with merely occupying its present zones and distributing relief."

While critical in some details, the committee wholeheartedly backed "the strong and vigorous leadership that the State department has given in carrying out the protection of American interests in many areas."

Recognizing that "hopeful signs have appeared in the past weeks of a change in the Russian attitude," the committee said this apparently has resulted from a "stiffening resistance" to previous Russian policies. The report added: "A policy of watchful waiting is indicated."

U.S. Broadcasts To Russians Set To Begin Jan. 15

New Munich Radio to Relay Information Programs of News, Music, Culture

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP).—The official radio voice of the United States will begin speaking Russian about Jan. 15, officials disclosed today, under State Department plans for a far-reaching information program designed to avoid Soviet censorship and go directly to the Russian people.

United States entry into the field of Russian broadcasts after several months' delay is regarded by some top American officials as possibly one of the important international developments of the new year. James F. Byrnes, Secretary of State, has felt that a major problem of the Western powers in dealing with Moscow has been the difficulty of getting their side of any issue across to the Russian people.

A carefully balanced policy has been worked out to deliver to the Soviet Union—with the aid of a powerful new relay station at Munich, Germany — a sustained program of news, music and discussions of cultural subjects. It is designed from the outset to be so fair and factual that it will give the Soviet government no cause to take offense.

If the undertaking succeeds politically, as State Department leaders appear confident it will, some controversial issues may be introduced later through the technique of broadcast debates supposed to present both sides fairly.

The timing of the start of the Russian broadcasts has been determined chiefly by the completion of the Munich relay station, which replaces the former Reichspost radio station there.

Work on this installation was made necessary after the French government declined to make available in a manner satisfactory to the United States the war-time American relay facilities at Algiers. Actually the Algiers station is still available for American use despite earlier indications that it would have to be closed and dismantled, but it does not figure in the Russian broadcast plans.

The work at Munich was delayed, according to diplomatic informants here, largely because of objections by General Joseph McNarney, Americal military commander in Germany. He thought such use of the Munich plant might violate the four-power agreement for employment of various German facilities. William Benton, Assistant Secretary of State, charged by Mr. Byrnes with getting the Soviet program going, prevailed on General McNarney to accept his plans.

The station, which includes three 85,000-watt transmitters, was opened Dec. 15 as a unit in the world-circling "Voice of the United States of America" network. Programs originating at State Department radio offices in New York are relayed daily through Munich from 11 A. M. to 4:30 P. M., E. S. T., which the State Department considers the best evening listening time in Czechoslovagia, Yugoslavia, Romania, Poland, France, Bulgaria, Hungary and Austria.

The Russian-language programs have been difficult to arrange because of a scarcity of persons qualified in the language and in ideas and concepts acceptable both to the United States and the Russian Governments.

The British have been broadcasting in Russian for about a year. According to information here, they have had no adverse reaction from the Kremlin, and believe they have received good listener response. American officials estimate there are 70,000 or more radio sets in Russia capable of picking up the Munich short-wave broadcasts.

American information at present is designed to reach the Russian people through State Department sponsorship mainly in two ways.

The Moscow government permits distribution of 50,000 copies a month of the official magazine "America."

For a second channel, the American government has had to rely on a United States Information Service library at the embassy in Moscow. That is considered a bad location because not many ordinary Soviet citizens care to be seen frequenting embassy premises.

ALASKAN DEFENSE TO REST LARGELY ON AIR TRANSPORT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29. — (AP) The defense of Alaska, the nation's vitally strategic northern rampart, will rest almost entirely on the efficiency of the troop air transport system and the mobility of the air fleet, military planners disclosed today.

Only a comparative handful of ground combat troops—two battalions probably numbering less than 2,000 men in all—will compose the interim garrison for the airfields and other army installations spotted across the sprawling 586,000 square miles of the "fortress" at the northern approaches to the United States.

Mobile Defense

The planners explained the Alaskan defense blueprint is in accordance with the current concept for protecting offshore bases—quick reinforcement by air from strategic units within the United States.

As outlined officially, the troop deployment program by next July (the time at which the Alaska troop strength figures will be effective) calls for a force of about four combat divisions and 31 air groups in the United States, with one of those divisions on the west coast. Initial reinforcement of the tiny Alaska garrison in event of emergency presumably would come from the home forces of the regular army.

The army installations built and building in Alaska will be kept in a ready condition with airstrips, repair facilities and supply systems in shape for immediate use. For this purpose a sizeable but so far undisclosed number of service and technical troops will be kept in Alaska.

Transport airplanes could land the first reinforcement troops and their personal equipment in Alaska almost in a matter of hours. With airfields in condition and fuel and ammunition dumps at hand, bombers and fighters, with transports carrying maintenance personnel, can be rushed to the area. For an ensuing flow of large masses of men and supplies the sea route and the Alcan highway can be used.

The army ground forces plans eventually to make all infantry divisions completely transportable by air—18,000 men together with their artillery, tanks and other equipment. With the types of transports now available, it is estimated this would require up to 1,500 airplanes. With new and large types, just being built experimentally, about 400 might do.

Long Defense Line

The army's installations are scattered from spots on the Bering Sea, such as Naknek, to Anchorage in southern Alaska with the army and navy sharing bases along the Aleutian chain where it juts out toward the Asiatic mainland. The major army airbase is Ladd Field, from which about 1,700 men are testing tactics and equipment in "operation Frigid."

While army officials are reluctant to discuss details, it is presumed normal peacetime reconnaissance is maintained by aircraft operating on routine weather and photographic missions, with technicians manning radar and other detecting apparatus. All major fields in Alaska are being modernized to make possible the operation of very heavy bombers—the B-29s and their atom-bomb carrying successors.

Primarily, the advantage cited for the system of maintaining only light forces at overseas outposts is that it is more efficient, easier and cheaper to house and train large units at home, ready for rapid deployment to threatened areas.

A second, diplomatic advantage would accrue if foreign powers were relieved of anxiety over the presence of a large standing force of United States troops in an advanced position.

Storm Stirred When Savant Advocates Killing Geniuses

1946

Boston, Dec. 29 (AP)—Dr. Harlow Shapley, Harvard astronomer, innocently started a minor tempest tonight by wisecracking that the only way to save the human species might be to kill off all young men of promising genius.

Before his words had stopped echoing in Harvard's Sanders Theater, Shapley began getting queries from persons who had not heard the whole speech. They wanted to know how he would accomplish the destruction and how soon he proposed to begin.

In the end, to halt a growing misconception, he was forced to explain that his remark about killing off geniuses was "merely a wisecrack," one of "all sorts of witticisms" woven in to brighten "very heavy treatment of a very grim subject—survival of the species."

Grim Possibility Noted

Shapley, saddened that his remark had been lifted out of context and misunderstood, said his scientific audience appreciated the humor and laughed happily.

The astronomer made his remark about geniuses after noting that geniuses may invent means of world-wide destruction that would be used because of the lag in social controls.

"Civilization," said Dr. Shapley, "needs friends and planning and thoughtful action or it will recede from under those animals it has helped make glorious, leaving their cultures wrecked, perhaps even leaving the species headed for savagery, weaklings, and the fossil-loving rocks.

"I think the most potent of all the human germicides is a combination of lunacy and war techniques. When one of our inevitable supergeniuses of the future discovers some new mankind-annihilating device, and this genius is insane, perhaps undetectably insane, he will willingly perish as he murders the rest. There will be no survivors, the job is done.

Listings In Order Made

"In the order of deadlines I list the instruments of human destruction as follows: (1) Pandemic super-plague. (2) World warfare with super-gas, disease, and atomic equipment. (3) Boredom arising through standardization, or through discovering in a prolonged world culture the answers to all questions. (4) Dope that kills the desire or ability to reproduce. (5) And, most potent, the genius-maniac.

"There is defense. The control of the genius who might take the species to the grave with him is all too easy. All you need to do is to kill off, while young, all primates that show any evidence of promise of genius. Heroic measures, to be sure, but because of the tricks in that abominable cortex, it may be your only way to save the species for a hundred thousand years."

Civilzation, Dr. Shapley continued, is endangered by strong physics and weak sociology.

"Emphasis," he said, "has been placed on atomic explosions. Let's remind ourselves again and again that the control of the atomic bomb is a futile gesture if the controllers do not recognize the fact that radar-guided projectiles, robot operators of all kinds, mass bombings, supra-stratospheric rocketry, and similar engines of good and evil must all be intelligently controlled or urban cultures will not continue.

Surprised By Stability

"To some of us it has been surprising that urban property values have not fallen and that rustication of those who think of the safety of their own persons has not been more pronounced."

An antidote, he suggested, is the use of technology and of pure science to make survival of culture and civilization irresistibly desirable. These improvements might tempt people, he declared, to minimize the importance of localized sovereignties, and to control national pride when it obstructs maintenance of world civilization. In a new world of that sort many so-called sovereign rights are really wrongs, in Shapley's view.

World Co-Operation Sought

"Can we not," he asked, "set up many organizations, institutions, and programs that are truly owned by the citizens of the whole world, supported by their good will and their tax money? Can we not tackle with worldwide methods the worldwide problems, such as weather, health, food products, oceanography, radio communications, and fundamental education?"

Dr. Shapley suggested that the United Nations educational, scientific cultural organization can make a start.

Hitler Aides Still at Large Offer Their Services to Other Nations

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 — (AP) A cryptic disclosure that some of Hitler's militarists and propagandists who escaped the Allied dragnet are offering their skills to other powers was made tonight in an official Army document.

The statement further noted that "foreign military staffs now have accurate data on which to calculate with accuracy the time required to bring our military strength into action." This followed a remark that "nations are seldom attacked by aggressors when there is substantial doubt in the minds of the aggressor that its victim could be quickly overcome."

References appeared in a War Department pamphlet presenting its reasons for urging a universal military training system. Emphasis was given to the military aspects in the face of President Truman's view that other phases come first.

"Hitler miscalculated," said the pamphlet in discussing the need for a trained reserve to be used in event of attack.

"But he developed and educated thousands of experts in military, political, propaganda, and economic fields who are now seeking other employers and other opportunities to put their talents to work."

The reference was not to scientists, a number of whom have been employed by the United States and other nations for research.

Although the Allies presumably accounted for virtually all major Nazi leaders through arrest, trial, imprisonment, execution or by confirmed reports of their suicide, it has been assumed some lesser known individuals left Germany or succeeded in hiding from Allied military police and security forces. One major figure in the Nuernberg trial indictment, Martin Borman, has never been found. He was a Schutzstaffel general and organizer of the Volkssturm. Initial reports suggested his suicide, but rumors that he remains alive have continued.

HOPES BOLSTERED FOR MERGER BILL

1946

Democrats Believe New Congress Will Approve Unification Plan.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 — (AP) Three Democratic senators today reported "chances good" that the new Congress with Republican majorities will approve President Truman's request for unification of the armed forces.

Senators Hill (D.-Ala.), Democratic whip, Elbert Thomas (D.-Utah), outgoing chairman of the military committee, and Edwin C. Johnson (D.-Colo.) predicted the congressional reorganization which companies the formerly separate naval and military committees of both the Senate and House will produce the support for unification.

Sees Public Support

"I find that public sentiment is overwhelmingly in favor of unification," Hill told a reporter. "Unless you hunt up a man who is steeped in navy ideology, he is for it. The new combined committees make a more favorable situation for passage of this bill."

Mr. Truman, with the support of army and air force leaders, tried repeatedly to get legislation last session that would combine the War and Navy departments into a single cabinet department with equal land, sea and air forces. He has said he plans to renew the recommendation to the new Congress.

Thomas, who helped draft the legislation, agreed that the single new armed forces committee makes "chances very good for passage."

"If it does not come at this session of Congress it will during the next," Thomas added. "Anything this vital and important is a result of education and a process of evolution."

Sees Hopes Bright

Johnson, who presided at many of the committe hearings on unification last session, similarly commented that "chances for passage are greatly improved because the Congress has consolidated the two committees."

"Most our war leaders now know that we do not fight a naval war or a land war," Johnson said. "Any future conflict will be an all-out war in which civilians and industry as well as the several branches of the armed forces must participate and suffer together."

Senator Gurney (R.-S. D.) probably will become chairman of the new armed forces committee He voted for the unification plan at the last session and is expected to lead the new fight for it.

Welles Sees Peril In Greek Situation

Says It May Cause Spark for Major Conflagration

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP).—Sumner Welles, former Under Secretary of State, declared tonight the Greek political situation could explode into a "conflagration" that ultimately would involve the world's major powers.

Mr. Welles devoted his regular weekly radio broadcast to a discussion of international tension in the Balkans.

If today's political conditions are permitted to continue without remedy, Mr. Welles said, "some spark will eventually light a major conflagration."

And, he added, in the "present state of world affairs, such a conflagration might well spread and ultimately involve all of the great powers."

He said no trouble spot in the world today is more critical than Greece, adding that if conditions do not improve the Greek people are in danger of losing their "sovereign independence."

"There can be no real political conciliation in Greece, and no true democratic stability in Greece," Mr. Welles said, "until the British forces now in Greece have been withdrawn.

"But it is equally obvious that the British forces of occupation cannot be withdrawn until all danger of Soviet intervention in Greece is past.

"The Greek people have become involved in a vicious circle."

He said "impartial observers" consider the Greek vote for a monarchy more a defensive measure against Communism than an indication of devotion to a monarchical government.

"So long as Greece continues to stand as an independent and sovereign nation, democracy in our sense of the term will continue to be a vital force in the Eastern Mediterranean.

"The decision now reached by the Security Council (to send an investigating body to Greece) makes it more probable that the Greek people will preserve their freedom.

"Public opinion in the United States should see to it that, once the Greek people have been afforded safety by the United Nations, our government should also offer them such material assistance as may be needed to speed them on the road to economic reconstruction and political stability."

TROOPSHIP ARRIVALS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two transports are scheduled to bring 2,452 troops into San Francisco today.

They are the Cape Mendocino with 1,189 army personnel from Manila, and the Marine Devil from Korea with 1,263 troops, and are the only transports due to reach the U. S. today.

Yesterday the John Ericsson arrived in New York with 196 war brides and children from Southampton.

"NEWTON'S REPORT OF AN 'ULTIMATUM' ALLEGEDLY PRESENTED TO THIS VESSEL WITH A DEMAND TO LEAVE THE PORT, AND NEWTON'S OTHER WRITINGS--ALL THIS IS INVENTION AND IS REGARDED AS A CORRESPONDENT'S TRICK INTENDED TO MAKE HIS REPORT SENSATIONAL," TASS SAID.

THE NEWS AGENCY SAID THE CRAFT ACTUALLY REMAINED IN PORT SEVERAL HOURS LATER THAN THE 48 HOURS ITS COMMANDER HAD REQUESTED, "WITHOUT ANY HINDRANCE" BECAUSE HE WAS LATE IN RETURNING FROM A SHORE VISIT.

WITH REFERENCE TO NEWTON'S STATEMENT THAT HE HAD BEEN PREVENTED FROM GOING ASHORE, ALONG WITH ANOTHER CORRESPONDENT AND AN AMERICAN BUSINESSMAN, TASS SAID THAT THE SOVIET COMMANDER HAD NOT BEEN TOLD THAT THEY WERE ABOARD THE VESSEL UNTIL THE CRAFT--WHICH WAS CARRYING A DIPLOMATIC COURIER TO DARIEN--ARRIVED IN PORT.

"THE REPRESENTATIVE OF THE SOVIET COMMAND STATED THAT SINCE HE HAD NEVER BEEN NOTIFIED CONCERNING THE SUPPOSED ARRIVAL OF THE ABOVE PERSONS IN DAIREN, THESE PERSONS COULD NOT REMAIN IN THE PORT," TASS DECLARED.

THE NEWS AGENCY ACCOUNT WAS IN THE FORM OF A DAIREN DISPATCH DATED DEC.26.

BERLIN, DEC. 29-(AP)-GEN. JOSEPH T.MCNARNEY PREDICTS A $136,100,000 DEFICIT FOR THE THREE STATES IN THE U.S. OCCUPATION ZONE DURING THE CURRENT FISCAL YEAR.

IN HIS MONTHLY REPORT FOR OCTOBER, MADE AVAILABLE TO NEWSMEN TODAY, THE AMERICAN MILITARY GOVERNOR ESTIMATED THAT REVENUES OF THE STATE GOVERNMENTS ESTABLISHED WITH U.S. APPROVAL WOULD APPROXIMATE ONLY 77 PERCENT OF THEIR BUDGETED EXPENDITURES.

HE DESCRIBED THE INDUSTRIAL OUTLOOK AS "CLOUDED" AND NOTED THAT PRODUCTION HAD REACHED ABOUT 44 PERCENT OF THE AVERAGE MONTHLY OUTPUT DURING THE PREWAR YEAR OF 1936.

MCNARNEY PREDICTED, HOWEVER, THAT 1947 WOULD BRING NEW INDUSTRIAL GAINS AND THAT AMERICAN MILITARY PROCUREMENT, WHICH NOW TAKES UP TO 50 PERCENT OF ALL NEW OPTICAL GOODS AND VARIOUS OTHER ITEMS WOULD BE REDUCED.

MCNARNEY DISCLOSED ALSO THAT ALLIED MILITARY MARKS--THE "INVASION CURRENCY" BY WHICH OCCUPATION FORCES FINANCED THEMSELVES--AMOUNTED TO $291,500,000 IN THE THREE WESTERN ZONES. FIGURES ON THIS TYPE OF MONEY IN THE SOVIET ZONE WERE NOT MADE AVAILABLE TO AMERICAN AUTHORITIES.

ALTHOUGH THE AMERICAN MILITARY GOVERNMENT HAS NOT ENCOURAGED SOCIALIZATION OF PROPERTY, THE REPORT SHOWED THAT IT NOW CONTROLS DIRECTLY 74,427 PROPERTIES WITH AN ESTIMATED VALUE OF $200,000 IN THE U.S. ZONE.

THE NEWSPAPER DENIED THAT THE COUNCIL OF FOREIGN MINISTERS, MEETING RECENTLY IN NEW YORK, HAD GIVEN TACIT APPROVAL TO THE CUSTOMS FRONTIER, ESTABLISHED A WEEK AGO.

REPORTS THAT MAURICE COUVE DE MURVILLE, FRENCH REPRESENTATIVE, HAD INFORMED THE COUNCIL IN ADVANCE OF FRANCE'S TARIFF ACTION, AND HAD ENCOUNTERED NO OBJECTIONS, SIMPLY "DO NOT CORRESPOND TO REALITY," PRAVDA ASSERTED.

THE FOREIGN MINISTERS DID NOT EVEN DISCUSS THE GERMAN PROBLEM "IN SUBSTANCE" DURING THEIR NEW YORK MEETING, THE NEWSPAPER ADDED.

PRAVDA REPORTED COUVE DE MURVILLE HAD SAID A FEW WORDS IN PASSING ABOUT THE SAAR FOOD SITUATION, BUT ADDED THAT NONE OF THE OTHER COUNCIL MEMBERS "REACTED IN ANY WAY", AND THAT NO DECISION WAS TAKEN.

(A BRITISH SPOKESMAN SAID LAST MONDAY THAT COUVE DE MURVILLE HAD INFORMED THE FOREIGN MINISTERS THAT FRANCE INTENDED TO ESTABLISH THE CUSTOMS FRONTEIR AS AN "ANTI-BLACK MARKET OPERATION," AND THAT NO MEMBERS OF THE COUNCIL HAD OBJECTED. U.S. MILITARY GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS IN GERMANY HAVE OBJECTED TO FRENCH ACTIONS IN THE SAAR, AND HAVE ASKED AN EXPLANATION FROM FRENCH OFFICIALS.

(GERMAN NEWSPAPERS AND POLITICAL PARTIES IN THE SOVIET ZONE LINED UP SOLIDLY SUNDAY IN ATTACKING THE CUSTOMS BARRIER. THEY EXPRESSED FEAR THE FRENCH MOVE WOULD STRENGTHEN DUTV, BELGIAN AND DANISH DEMANDS

THE SAAR WAS AWARDED TO FRANCE FOR 15 YEARS AFTER THE FIRST WORLD WAR. RESIDENTS OF THE TERRITORY VOTED 10 TO 1 IN 1935 TO RETURN TO GERMANY.

IN CALLING FOR A CONTINUATION OF THE GREAT-POWER ACCORD WHICH IT SAID PREVAILED IN NEW YORK, PRAVDA SAID:

"IN SPITE OF DIFFERENCES, THE GREAT POWERS PROVED CAPABLE OF FINDING A COMMON LEANGUAGE AND BRINGING ABOUT CONCERTED DECISIONS ON MANY DISPUTED PROBLEMS. THIS NOT ONLY IS THE ACCOMPLISHMENT OF 1946, BUT A LESSON FOR 1947."

ON OTHER MATTERS RELATING TO FOREIGN AFFAIRS, SOVIET PUBLICATIONS CALLED FOR NEW ELECTIONS IN AUSTRIA, ACCUSED TURKEY OF "NEW ATTACKS" ON LABOR UNIONS AND CHARGED TEHRAN "REACTIONARY" NEWSPAPERS WITH RESORTING TO "GEOBBELS METHODS" IN ATTACKING LEFTISTS IN IRAN'S AZERBAIJAN PROVINCE.

PEIPING,DEC.29-(AP)-CHINESE PAPERS GAVE MUCH SPACE AND MANY ANGRY WORDS TODAY TO THE ALLEGED RAPE OF A CHINESE GIRL BY A U.S. MARINE, WHICH HAS BEEN WHIPPED INTO AN ANTI-AMERICAN CAUSE.

THE MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT DEMANDED PUNISHMENT OF THE MARINE, AN APOLOGY, AND MONEY PAYMENT TO THE GIRL. THE ACCUSED MARINE SAID THE GIRL WAS A PROSTITUTE WHOM HE HAD ALREADY PAID.

IN HIS SUPPORT, MAYOR HO SZE-YUAN ANNOUNCED THAT BOTH CHINESE AND AMERICAN DOCTORS HAD EXAMINED THE GIRL AND FOUND NO INDICATIONS OF RAPE.

NEWSPAPERS PUT CAUSTIC HEADLINES ON THE MAYOR'S STATEMENT AND UNITED IN DEMANDING COMPENSATION FOR THE GIRL.

PEIPING UNIVERSITY STUDENTS, WHO ALREADY HAD HELD A NOISY PROTEST MEETING, PLANNED A MASS DEMONSTRATION MONDAY.

LIU TSING-YUAN, PROMINENT WOMAN MEMBER OF THE DEMOCRATIC LEAGUE--WHICH FREQUENTLY HAS DEMANDED WITHDRAWAL OF THE MARINES FROM CHINA--SAID SHE WAS "MOBILIZING ALL WOMEN'S CIRCLES TO LAUNCH A STRONG PROTEST AGAINST THE BRUTALITY OF AMERICAN SERVICE MEN."

A MARINE INVESTIGATION DISCLOSED THAT THE INCIDENT OCCURRED ON CHRISTMAS EVE IN THE HEART OF THE CITY; THAT A CHINESE CONSTABLE ARRESTED THE COUPLE ON MISCONDUCT CHARGES, AND THAT THE GIRL DID NOT MAKE HER COMPLAINT UNTIL NEXT MORNING.

THE MARINE CORPS ANNOUNCED THAT THE ACCUSED MARINE AND ANOTHER WHO HAD BEEN WITH HIM EARLIER IN THE EVENING WERE BEING HELD WITHOUT CHARGE PENDING A CHINESE POLICE REPORT.

HONGKONG, DEC. 29-(AP)-FOR THE SECOND TIME THIS YEAR, A FAKED ASSOCIATED PRESS STORY WAS ISSUED TODAY IN AN APPARENT ATTEMPT TO FORCE CURRENCY FLUCTUATIONS ON THE HONGKONG MONEY MARKET, BUT WAS DETECTED BEFORE PUBLICATION.

TYPED ON PAPER SIMILAR TO THAT USED BY THE AP, THE STORY SAID THAT TERRORISTS HAD SEIZED ALL BANKS AND TRANSPORTATION IN INDOCHINA, IN A MOVE "EVIDENTLY INSPIRED BY MOSCOW." THE DISPATCH WAS DATELINED SAIGON AND WAS DELIVERED WITH THREE OTHER STORIES WHICH PURPORTED TO EMANATE FROM WARSAW AND WASHINGTON.

THE HOAX WAS DETECTED BY FOUR CHINESE LANGUAGE PAPERS HERE WHICH BECAME SUSPICIOUS OF THE IRREGULAR METHOD BY WHICH THE STORIES WERE DELIVERED. THE AP WAS NOTIFIED IN TIME TO DISCLAIM THE FORGERY AND THEREBY PREVENT PUBLICATION. POLICE BEGAN AN INVESTIGATION.

ONE THEORY, NOT DEFINITELY ESTABLISHED, WAS THAT THE SCHEME WAS AN ATTEMPT TO INDUCE HOLDERS OF INDOCHINESE CURRENCY TO CONVERT ON THE LOCAL MONEY MARKET, THUS ALLOWING THE PERPETRATORS TO PROFIT FROM THE RESULTING TREND.

NANKING, DEC.29-(AP)-CHINESE COMMUNISTS BASED IN THE YENAN AREA WERE REPORTED TODAY TO HAVE RENEWED THEIR ATTACKS AGAINST YULIN, A GOVERNMENT GARRISONED TOWN 115 MILES NORTH OF THE COMMUNIST CAPITAL.

A CHINESE DISPATCH FROM PEIPING SAID MORE THAN 4,000 MILITIAMEN AND TWO REGIMENTS OF REGULARS UNDER THE VETERAN COMMUNIST GENERAL, HU LUNG, HAD MOVED AGAINST YULIN DESPITE EARLIER GOVERNMENT WARNINGS THAT SUCH ATTACKS COULD PROVOKE A NATIONALIST DRIVE ON YENAN ITSELF.

WAR CRIMES (300)
BY DUANE HENNESSY

1946

TOKYO,MONDAY,DEC.30-(AP)-THE INTERNATIONAL WAR CRIMES PROSECUTION EXPECTS TO FINISH ITS CASE AGAINST JAPAN'S ACCUSED WAR LEADERS THE WEEK OF JAN. 13. CHIEF JUSTICE SIR WILLIAM WEBB SAID THE COURT WOULD RECESS THEREUPON FOR TWO WEEKS.

THE DECISION TO RECESS FOLLOWED PROTESTS BY DEFENSE ATTORNEYS THAT WOULD HAVE INSUFFICIENT TIME TO PROPERLY PREPARE THEIR CASE.

PRESENTATION OF THE NETHERLANDS ATROCITIES EVIDENNE CONTINUED TODAY WITH INTRODUCTION OF AN AFFIDAVIT BY LT.CMDR. PALGRAVE EBDEN CAR, OF THE AUSTRALIAN AIR FORCE, WHO SAID JAPANESE HAD REFUSED MEDICAL TREATMENT TO PRISONERS IN THE NETHERLANDS INDIES WHO DECLINED TO ANSWER QUESTIONS.

HE SAID HE SAW A FLIGHT OFFICER, WITH A LEG ALMOST SEVERED, REFUSED MORPHINE BECAUSE HE WOULD NOT TELL THE LOCATION OF HIS SQUADRON.

CAR'S STATEMENT SAID THE FLIGHT OFFICER, WHOM HE IDENTIFIED ONLY AS MCDIARMED, PLEADED WITH JAPANESE TO SHOOT HIM AND END HIS PAIN.

"HE WAS GIVEN NO ANAESTHETIC," THE AFFIDAVIT ADDED, AS THE LEG WAS AMPUTATED. "I COULD PLAINLY HEAR THE BONE BEING SAWED, AND THE WHOLE PROCEEDINGS CAUSED MUCH LAUGHTER AMONG ONLOOKERS AND NURSES, WHO APPEARED TO ENJOY IT.

"FINALLY THEY BROUGHT HIM BACK TO THE VERANDA, COVERED WITH A BLANKET. HE WAS STILL DELIRIOUS WITH PAIN AND BEGGING TO BE KILLED. THE MEN SLEEPING IN THE BUILDING OBJECTED TO HIS CRIES, AND THE STRETCHER WAS CARRIED OUT INTO THE MIDDLE OF THE ROAD."

THERE IT WAS LEFT, CAR'S STATEMENT CONCLUDED--IN A DOWNPOUR OF RAIN.

UN Commission Approves U.S. Atomic Control Plan; Reds, Poland Fail to Vote

PROPOSAL FACES POSSIBLE VETO IN SECURITY COUNCIL

Soviet Delegate Gromyko Delivers Slashing Attack Against Report.

VOTE IS 10-0

Russia Expected to Delay Consideration of Plan by Council

D. Harrison

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 30—(AP) After more than six months of debate, the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission today approved the United States atomic control plan and sent it to the Security Council where it faced a possible veto by Soviet Russia.

The U. S. plan, in its final form, was contained in an interim report which was adopted by a vote of 10 to 0, with Russia and Poland abstaining. Although Russia did not vote against the report, Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko delivered a slashing attack against it.

NIGHT

Gromyko's declaration was interpreted as an indication he might invoke the big power veto right to kill the report, or at least a section providing that the five big powers would surrender their right to veto punishment of nations who violate atomic control agreements.

This fear was voiced openly by Polish Delegate Oscar Lange, who said he was abstaining from voting because he felt the report contained provisions which would not be accepted by all the five permanent members of the Security Council.

Would Liquidate Bombs

The American Plan calls for the creation of an international authority to control the development of atomic energy for peaceful purposes, with power to make inspections to detect and prevent the illicit use of atomic energy. Under this plan, the present American stockpile of atomic bombs would be liquidated only after airtight controls were set up.

The most controversial section provides that no nation has any legal rights, by veto or otherwise, which would enable it to nullify punishment for a violation of the agreement, once the proposed atomic treaty had become effective.

In abstaining, Gromyko departed from the practice of "non-participation" he initiated 10 days ago. At that time, he asked that he be recorded as not participating rather than merely abstaining from voting.

The final vote came after a change suggested that those who could not accept the report completely should be permitted to submit written reservations to the commission chairman, Dr. Manuel Vallarta of Mexico, who would send them to the Security Council in a letter of transmittal.

The suggestion was accepted and Vallarta immediately called for a roll call vote. In explaining the voting procedure, Vallarta asked that those abstaining say "I abstain." He brought a smile from Gromyko when he added "and those not participating should so signify."

Russia "Abstains"

When the chairman called for Russia's vote, Gromyko's response was a barely audible "abstain."

There were no immediate indications which members, if any, would submit reservations to be transmitted to the Security Council. Such reservations, however, must be in by tomorrow to meet the Dec. 31 deadline for the submission of the report to the council.

Informed quarters said there was little likelihood that the report would be taken up at tomorrow's meet[illegible] the co[illegible]e delegates [illegible]d Gromy[illegible]ek to sidetrack the atomic re[illegible]n the council when he proposes immediate action on a Soviet resolution providing that work be begun immediately on the whole question of general arms reduction.

The final vote was taken in a one-hour afternoon session which ended at 4:11 p.m. (E.S.T.).

The high spot in the three-hour morning session was the long-expected declaration by Gromyko, newly elevated to the rank of deputy foreign minister, since disclosure of the Soviet position would indicate whether the U. S. plan would win unanimous approval.

Gromyko Gives Stand

Gromyko immediately dispelled any hopes for unanimity by asserting:

1. That he could not accept the U. S. recommendations for the surrender of the veto on punishment, since in his opinion this provision violated both the UN charter and the terms of the general arms reduction resolution approved by the General Assembly Dec. 14.

2. That the commission should take up immediately Russia's proposal of last June 19 for an international convention outlawing the production and use of atomic weapons, without waiting for controls to be created.

Although his declaration was in line with previously announced Soviet policy, it came as a surprise to some delegates who had hoped for a more conciliatory attitude in view of concessions made by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov during the recent assembly session.

Molotov agreed at that time that there should be a system of international control and inspection to detect violations and that the veto should not apply. Russia has stood firm, however, against any limitation of the veto in the security council, where punishment would be voted.

Calls For Substitute Draft

Speaking of the veto question, Gromyko said:

"The Soviet Government considers it necessary that the above mentioned and other defects in the American draft be removed and that the substituted draft be brought into conformity with the decision of the General Assembly and with the Charter of the United Nations."

He then proposed that the whole report be opened up for item-by-item amendments, including the original Soviet proposal that nothing be done on controls until atomic weapons had been banned.

"It is necessary," Gromyko said, "to distinguish the question concerning the prohibition of atomic and all other weapons adaptable to mass destruction, in order to take an urgent decision on it, since atomic energy is still being used exclusively for the production of armaments, which, by their nature, are the weapons of aggression, and which by their very nature are destined for an attack mainly on large cities with numerous civil population."

Bernard M. Baruch, United States representative, however, insisted on an immediate vote on the United States plan. He was supported by Great Britain, Australia, Brazil, Egypt, the Netherlands and Canada. France also agreed to support the proposal after expressing the view that one clause on the veto should be omitted. Mexico did not speak, but joined in the affirmative vote.

Lange made a lengthy plea for unanimity and expressed the view that agreement could be reached if the delegates continued to work in a spirit of co-operation and conciliation. He proposed that the commission approve the interim report, with the understanding that the phraseology was not final. This, however, met immediate opposition.

Atomic Group Voices U.S. Plan Approval Despite Russians

F. Carpenter

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 30 (AP)—A majority of the United Nations Atomic-Energy Commission, overriding Soviet Russian objections, expressed approval today of the United States plan for harnessing atomic energy, but a formal vote remained to be taken.

The commission recessed at 2 P.M. for an hour.

Andrei A. Gromyko, of Russia, charged bluntly that atomic energy is still being used exclusively for the production of aggressive arms and called for urgent action to outlaw atomic weapons.

Veto Waiver Rejected

Simultaneously, Gromyko flatly rejected the United States proposal that the veto be waived on atomic punishments, attacking that suggestion as actually a revision of the United Nations Charter.

The United States had proposed that any treaty setting up an atomic control authority would state specifically that the veto would not apply on punishments.

Russia thus served notice that it would not permit any tempering with the right of veto in the United Nations Security Council.

Agreed On One Feature

Russia has agreed, however, that the veto would not apply in special organizations to be established for the inspection and regulation of arms limitations under an arms resolution adopted by the United Nations Assembly earlier this month.

Eight delegates of the twelve-member commission; the United States, Australia, Brazil, Canada, Egypt, the United Kingdom, China and The Netherlands, were definitely committed to the United States plan, which was included in a report slated for the United Nations Security Council.

In the Security Council, Russia would have an opportunity to veto the plan and press for reconsideration of its own plan of atomic control or for including an atomic control plan in a general arms limitation scheme.

No Change In Policy

The Russian stand today does not represent a change in Soviet policy from the declaration made by V. M. Molotov, Russian Foreign Minister, to the United Nations General Assembly earlier this month.

In debates on the arms resolution later approved by the Assembly, Molotov agreed that there should be no veto on the workings of inspection and control organizations to be set up under an international regulation of armaments.

Russia has stood firmly, however, for the veto right in the Security Council and has made it clear that these inspection and control bodies would come within the framework of the Security Council.

Council Gets Final Say

In that way the Security Council would have the last word on the matter of punishment of atomic violations as well as on sanction of all types.

Thus both Russia and the Untied States are in agreement of no veto in the inspection and control bodies but are far apart on the final use of the veto in the Security Council.

Bernard M. Baruch, United States delegate, immediately after Gromyko had spoken, formally moved that the United States plan be adopted as the commission's report and sent to the United Nations Security Council.

Must Make Distinction

"It is necessary," Gromyko said, "to distinguish the question concerning the prohibition of atomic and all other weapons adaptable to mass destruction in order to take an urgent decision on it, since the atomic energy is still being used exclusively for the production of armaments, which, by their nature, are the weapons of aggression, and which by their very nature are destined for an attack mainly on large cities with numerous civil population."

Gromyko also declared that the United States proposals were in conflict with the arms limitation resolution adopted unanimously by the United States General Assembly on December 14.

Item-By-Item Debate

He called for an item-by-item discussion of the United States plan in order to make "absolutely necessary corrections and to proceed without delay with preparation of the international convention on the prohibition of the production and use of atomic and other major weapons adaptable to mass destruction, having in mind the draft convention, submitted by the Soviet Government on July 19, 1946 (this was the Russian plan for atomic control)."

Paul Hasluck, of Australia; Capt. Alvaro Alberto, of Brazil; Gen. A. G. L. McNoughton, of Canada; Col. Mohammed Bey Khalifa, of Egypt; Sir Alexander Cadogan, of Great Britain; Dr. Quo Tai-chi, of China, and Dr. G. Beelaerts van Blokland, of the Netherlands, quickly expressed full approval of the Baruch plan.

Use Of "Veto" Opposed

Alexandre Parodi, of France, told the commission he agreed with the substance of the plan, but would prefer that the actual word "veto" be left out of the punishment section without changing the intent of that part.

Hasluck and Capt. Alberto both stated that the United States plan conformed fully with the General Assembly resolution.

Gromyko spoke first when the commission convened. He delivered his talk in English, a rare thing for him.

Would Delay Decision

His proposal for a detailed consideration of the United States plan would have the effect of postponing the final decision by the commission, for which the United States delegation has been pressing.

After attacking the United States proposals that the veto be removed from atomic punishments as a revision of the Charter, Gromyko said the Soviet Government had no objection to discussing the United States proposals "in detail."

"The Soviet Government considers is necessary that the above-mentioned and other defects in the American draft be removed and that the submitted draft be brought into conformity with the decision of the General Assembly and with the Charter of the United Nations," he said.

89-Page Report

The problem was put squarely before the full United Nations Atomic Energy Commission in the shape of an 89-page report which laid the groundwork for a complete system of international control and inspection advocated by the United States.

Every section of the report was approved by at least ten delegates of the twelve-member commission except the bitterly contested provisions on the veto.

The long document was completed Friday by commission delegates sitting as a working committee. Russia did not participate in the final work on the report and the Soviet position was left in doubt as the commission met today.

Poles Hope For Unity

Poland abstained in the hope that the five great powers could achieve unanimity before the showdown came.

In the main, the report followed the lines of the plan proposed by Baruch, when the commission first met, June 14, for an international system of control and inspection established by treaty among the nations.

This treaty would set up an international authority having broad powers to handle atomic energy and any new developments that might arise in that field. (AOD)

the consideration of those questions which are set forth in Section 5 of the General Assembly resolution of Jan. 24, 1946, concerning the establishment of the Commission for Control of Atomic Energy, and also that the Security Council should expedite "consideration of a draft convention or conventions for the creation of an international system of control and inspection, these conventions to include the prohibition of atomic and all other major weapons adaptable now and in future to mass destruction and the control of atomic energy to the extent necessary to insure its use only for peaceful purposes."

Calls for Speedy Report

From the decision of the Assembly on the necessity to expedite the consideration of the above mentioned questions follows that the Atomic Energy Commission should submit without delay to the Security Council its proposals on the prohibition of atomic and all other major weapons adaptable to mass destruction, and its proposals of atomic energy and other indicated kinds of weapons.

raised any objection to this right decision. This is understandable. International atomic energy control can be effective only when it is established within the system of the body of the United Nations, which is charged with the supreme task of the maintainance of international peace and security, that is, within the system of the Security Council.

In spite of the decision of the General Assembly, which leaves no obscurity whatsoever concerning the question, within the framework of which of the organs of the United Nations international control system should be set up, the representative of the United States submitted to the Atomic Energy Commission for its consideration the proposal which is in contradiction with the decision of the General Assembly. I don't think that there is any necessity to speak extensively that the findings and the recommendations of the Atomic Energy Commission on this question must not be in contradiction with the decision of the General Assembly on Dec. 14, and must fully conform with this decision.

The proposals of the representative of the U. S. A. are also in contradiction with the principles of the United Nations organization.

On one hand, these proposals provide for the creation of the basis of a special treaty of "international authority" with the broad powers for atomic energy control. However, this "international authority" is not granted real possibilities to exercise these powers. On the other hand, the basis of effective activities of the Security Council bearing the primary responsibility for the maintenance of international peace in undermined by these proposals, since they provide that the principle of unanimity of the five great powers (the principle of "veto") should not be applicable when the Security Council takes decision on sanctions in cases when it is determined that the treaty is violated, to speak nothing of the fact that the above proposals in this respect are in contradiction with the Charter of the United Nations.

The question concerning sanctions in connection with the realization of international control of atomic energy can be solved only in conformity with the Charter of the United Nations, which, as is well known, provides that the Security

Gromyko's Statement on Atomic Policy

Special to the Herald Tribune

LAKE SUCCESS, L. I., Dec. 30.—Following is the complete text of the statement made yesterday by Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, at today's meeting of the Atomic Energy Commission:

By the decision of the General Assembly on Dec. 14 on "principles governing the general regulation and reduction of armaments," it was recognized as necessary that the Security Council proceed without delay with formulation of practical measures for the general regulation and reduction of armaments. By the same decision, the prohibition and elimination from national armaments of atomic and all other major weapons adaptable to mass destruction are recognized as the urgent objective.

In accordance with this, the Atomic Energy Commission must apply the above mentioned decision of the Assembly as a basis for its work. This decision of the Assembly provides that the Security Council should expedite

The proposals of the United States representative, submitted on Dec. 5, which were worked out before the decision adopted by the General Assembly in December, do not altogether conform with this decision. This can be seen from the following. While the establishment of international control of atomic energy had been provided by these proposals "within the framework of the United Nations organization," the international system of control of atomic energy was provided by the decision of the General Assembly of Dec. 14 " within the framework of the Security Council." This creates a contradiction between the above proposals of the representative of the United States and the decision adopted by the General Assembly in December, and requires correction. The decision on the establishment of international control within the framework of the Security Council, as well as the resolution of the General Assembly of Dec. 14, as a whole, was adopted unanimously. No one of fifty-four delegations

Council takes decision on sanctions under the condition of unanimity of the five powers—the permanent members of the Security Council. The Charter makes no exceptions from this rule. Such exceptions would be inconsistent with the letter and spirit of the Charter and with those principles which are laid down as the basis of the activities of the United Nations, and which are not only the condition for the existence of this organization, but also was condition of its establishment. In this connection I consider it proper to recall that the proposals regarding the revision of the Charter, in general, and its Article 27, in particular, in which the principle of unanimity of the permanent members of the Security Council is stated, were rejected by the General Assembly at its last session.

What the representative of the United States proposes, actually, is a revision of the Charter. The fact that the American proposals provide for a voluntary relinquishment of the so-called "veto" by the permanent members of the Security Council does not change the situation since any changes in the Charter presuppose a voluntary agreement on such changes by all permanent members.

Despite the fact that the proposal on this matter submitted by the representative of the United States to the Atomic Energy Commission is evidently inconsistent with the principles of the United Nations organization, the American represenative in his statement made on Dec. 27 tried to convince us that the American proposal on this question, the American representative principle of unanimity of the great powers or application of the veto as conceived in the Charter" and as if this proposal were directed only against the "excessive" use of the "veto."

Says Contradiction Evident

Thus, on one hand, we are proposed to give up the principle of unanimity of the permanent members of the Security Council, while taking decisions on sanctions, on the other hand, attempts are being made to convince us that the retreat from this principle would not constitute violation of the Charter. The contradiction between these two assertions is evident. The retreat from the principle of unanimity of the great powers in the Security Council cannot be covered up merely by statements that as if proposals of such a kind would not lead to a violation of this principle, as conceived in the Charter.

We are told "either treaty on control of atomic energy or veto." However, the putting of the question itself is incorrect. In reality our task is to reach an agreement on the basis of the principles of the United Nations Charter and of the decision of the General Assembly adopted on Dec. 14.

One can hear also the statements to the effect that only those nations want to protect the principle of unanimity in connection with atomic-energy control which may have an intention of breaking the treaty on the control. Such light-minded statements are a play of words. The fact that some one resorts to statements of such a kind can be explained only by the absence of more convincing arguments.

In the light of what I have said it is possible to understand the concern which was shown by the representatives of some states in the Atomic Energy Commission in relation to the Paragraph 3 (E) of the part "recommendations" of the proposals of the United States representative, in which the recommendation concerning the principle of unanimity of the permanent members of the Security Council is contained. I have in mind in particular the opinion expressed by the representative of France. In this connection, however, I consider it necessary to state that it is insufficient to make only some modifications in the wording of the above-mentioned paragraph of the United States proposals, leaving the basic sense of that paragraph unchanged. It is not only the matter of language and wording, but of the contents of the paragraph.

In spite of the serious defects of the proposals of the United States representative the Soviet government has no objections to discuss these proposals in detail. The Soviet government considers it necessary that the above-mentioned and other defects in the American draft be removed and that the submitted draft be brought into conformity with the decision of the General Assembly and with the Charter of the United Nations.

In accordance with the decision adopted by the General Assembly on Dec. 14, which has recognized the urgent objective of prohibiting and eliminating from national armaments of atomic and other weapons adaptable to mass destruction, the Soviet government deems it necessary to state that the decision of prohibiting atomic and other above mentioned weapons should not be postponed.

It is necessary to distinguish the question concerning the prohibition of atomic and all other weapons adaptable to mass destruction, in order to take an urgent decision on it, since the atomic energy is still being used exclusively for the production of armaments which, by their nature, are the weapons of aggression, and which by their very nature are destined for an attack mainly on large cities with numerous civil population. International prohibition of the use of atomic and all other weapons adaptable to mass destruction responds to the aspiration and conscience of the peoples of the whole world.

An urgent decision on the question of the prohibition of atomic and all other weapons adaptable to mass destruction would constitute the first important and practical step towards the fulfillment of the decision adopted by the General Assembly on Dec. 14. This would contribute to the further strengthening of the authority of the United Nations which faces the decision on the important task of strengthening international peace and security, and would contribute to the strengthening of the mutual confidence among the nations.

The decision of the General Assembly has also recognized as an urgent objective the establishment of international control of atomic energy and other modern scientific discoveries and technical developments to insure their use only for peaceful purposes. It is indisputable that control organs and organs of inspection should carry out their control and inspection functions, acting on the basis of their own rules which should provide for the adoption of decisions by majority in appropriate cases. Besides, the international system of control must insure the fulfillment of obligations concerning the use of atomic energy by all nations only for peaceful purposes.

Following the above stated considerations, the Soviet government proposes to consider the proposals of the United States representative, submitted on Dec. 5, 1946, concerning the control of atomic energy, item by item, in order to include absolutely necessary corrections and to proceed without delay with preparation of the international convention on the prohibition of the production and use of atomic and other major weapons adaptable to mass destruction, having in mind the draft convention, submitted by the Soviet government on June 19, 1946.

TEXT OF RECOMMENDATIONS

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 30—The following are the recommendations of the report of the Atomic Energy Commission to the Security Council:

Based upon the findings of the commission set forth in Part II of this report, the commission makes the following recommendations to the Security Council with respect to certain of the matters covered by the terms of reference of the commission, which recommendations are interdependent and not severable, embodying the fundamental principles and indicating the basic organizational mechanisms necessary to attain the objective set forth in Part II C, general findings, Paragraph 1 (a)-(d) above.

1. There should be a strong and comprehensive international system of control and inspection aimed at attaining the objectives set forth in the commission's terms of reference.

2. Such an international system of control and inspection should be established and its scope and functions defined by a treaty or convention in which all of the nations members of the United Nations should be entitled to participate on fair and equitable terms.

Must Have Necessary Signers

The international system of control and inspection should become operative only when those members of the United Nations necessary to assure its success by signing and ratifying the treaty or convention have bound themselves to accept and support it.

Consideration should be given to the matter of participation by non-members of the United Nations.

3. The treaty or convention should include, among others, provisions:

(A) Establishing, in the United Nations, an International Authority (hereinafter called "The Authority") possessing powers and charged with responsibility necessary and appropriate for the prompt and effective discharge of the duties imposed upon it by the terms of the treaty or convention. Its rights, powers, and responsibilities, as well as its relations to the several organs of the United Nations, should be clearly established and defined by the treaty or convention. Such powers should be sufficiently broad and flexible to enable the authority to deal with new developments that may hereafter arise in the field of atomic energy. The treaty shall provide that the rule of unanimity of the permanent members, which in certain circumstances exists in the Security Council, shall have no relation to the work of The Authority. No Government shall possess any right of veto over the fulfillment by The Authority of the obligations imposed upon it by the treaty nor shall any Government have the power, through the exercise of any right of veto or otherwise, to obstruct the course of control or inspection.

The Authority shall promote among all nations the exchange of basic scientific information on atomic energy for peaceful ends, and shall be responsible for preventing the use of atomic energy for destructive purposes, and for the control of atomic energy to the extent necessary to ensure its use only for peaceful purposes.

The authority should have positive research and developmental responsibilities in order to remain in the forefront of atomic knowledge so as to render The Authority more effective in promoting the beneficial uses of atomic energy and in eliminating its destructive ones. The exclusive right to carry on atomic research for destructive purposes should be vested in The Authority.

Safeguards in Research

Research in nuclear physics having a direct bearing on the use of atomic energy should be subject to appropriate safeguards established by the international authority in accordance with the treaty or convention. Such safeguards should not interfere with the prosecution of pure scientific research, or the publication of its results, provided no dangerous use or purposes is involved.

Decisions of The Authority pursuant to the powers conferred upon it by the treaty or convention should govern the operations of national agencies for atomic energy. In carrying out its prescribed functions, however, The Authority should interfere as little as necessary with the operations of national agencies for atomic energy, or with the economic plans and the private, corporate, and state relationships in the several countries.

(b) Affording the duly accredited representatives of The Authority unimpeded rights of ingress, egress and access for the performance of their inspections and other duties into, from and within the territory of every participating nation, unhindered by national or local authorities.

(c) Prohibiting the manufacture, possession, and use of atomic weapons by all nations parties thereto and by all persons under their jurisdiction.

(d) Providing for the disposal of any existing stocks of atomic weapons and for the proper use of fissionable materials adaptable for use in weapons.

(e) Specifying the means or methods of determining violations of its terms, setting forth such violations as shall constitute international crimes, and establishing the nature of the measures of enforcement and punishment to be imposed upon persons and upon nations guilty of violating the terms of the treaty or convention.

No Veto Over Punishment

The judicial or other processes for determination of violations of the treaty or convention, and of punishments therefor, should be swift and certain. Serious violations of the treaty shall be reported immediately by The Authority to the nations parties to the treaty to the General Assembly and to the Security Council. Once the violations constituting international crimes have been defined and the measures of enforcement and punishment therefor agreed to in the treaty or convention, there shall be no legal right, by veto or otherwise, whereby a willful violator of the terms of the treaty or convention shall be protected from the consequences of violation of its terms.

The enforcement and punishment provisions of the treaty or convention would be ineffectual if, in any such situations, they could be rendered nugatory by the veto of a state which had voluntarily signed the treaty.

4. In consideration of the problem of violation of the terms of the treaty or convention, it should also be borne in mind that a violation might be of so grave a character as to give rise to the inherent right of self-defense recognized in Article 51 of the Charter of the United Nations.

5. The treaty or convention should embrace the entire program for putting the international system of control and inspection into effect and should provide a schedule for the completion of the transitional process over a period of time, step by step, in an orderly and agreed sequence leading to the full and effective establishment of international control of atomic energy. In order th[illegible] may be accomplished as rapidly as possible and with safety and equity to all, this commission should supervise the transitional process, as prescribed in the treaty or convention, and should be empowered to determine when a particular stage or stages have been completed and subsequent ones are to commence.

FIRE STARTED IN SYNAGOGUE

Sacred Scrolls Are Burned By London Vandals

London, Dec. 30 (AP)—Vandals scrawled in chalk the words "You whip—we burn" on the stone pillar of a London synagogue today and set a fire that destroyed twelve sacred scrolls and damaged the Holy Ark in possible retaliation for the flogging of four British soldiers by Jewish extremists in Palestine.

The Board of Deputies of British Jews linked the fire with what it called a "re-emergence" of fascism in Britain. The National Council for Civil Liberties deplored the incident as the "latest manifestation of anti-Semitism" and demanded "a thorough investigation into the activities of the anti-Semitic groups which are known to be active in this country."

"De[illegible] Aroused

The British Press Association said the Palestine floggings aroused "deep feelings" in Britain.

Firemen put out the blaze after it was discovered by early morning worshippers. The building — the Dollis Hill Synagogue — and its equipment with the exception of the scrolls and ark escaped damage.

National Fire Service headquarters said the building was entered through a window. On the theory that the fire was the work of anti-Semites, a special Scotland Yard branch was assigned to investigate. It was the second London synagogue set afire in less than a month.

First Case On Dec. 12

Police said the chalked signature "2nd N6" appeared at the end of the warning, scrawled upon the pillar near the synagogue's entrance. Police said it might have been intended for "NG." Clapton Synagogue was set afire December 12 after a London newspaper received a warning from a man who said he represented the "National Guard."

The statement issued on behalf of the board of deputies for British Jews said "those who watched with concern the re-emergence in the streets of East London of known prewar Fascist agitators will be shocked, but not so surprised at the hooliganism which has resulted in the breaking of two London synagogues. This type of hooliganism was clearly indicated at recent street-corner meetings organized by former members of the British Union of Fascists."

Threatening Posters Received

Copies of posters signed by "Hairgun Hazvail Haleumi" (apparently meaning the Jewish underground organization in Palestine Irgun Zvai Leumi) threatening flogging of British soldiers in retaliation for floggings decreed by British courts on some convicted Jews were received in the London Bureau of the Associated Press.

Meanwhile, Government sources reported that the London conference on Palestine would reconvene probably on January 20.

Synagogue Fire In London Is Believed Set

London, Dec. 30 (AP)—A London synagogue was damaged by fire today in a possible attempt at retaliation for the flogging of a British officer and several enlisted men in Palestine.

Chalked on a stone pillar outside the Dollis Hill Synagogue—second Jewish place of worship to be damaged by fire in two weeks here—were the words: "You whip—we burn."

Underneath was the unexplained signature, "2d N. 6."

Scotland Yard's political branch, still investigating the earlier synagogue firing, was called into the case.

Investigators said the ark of the covenant had been badly damaged and twelve of the holy scrolls destroyed by vandals who broke into the building.

The first fire, at Clapton Synagogue, was discovered after a London newspaper received a telephone warning from a man who said he represented what he called a "national guard" organization.

Meanwhile, the British Press Association reported that "the deep feeling aroused in Britain by the flogging of British soldiers by Irgun terrorists last night" had strengthened the view that Britain should impose a solution to the Palestine problem rather than continue attempts to negotiate with Arabs and Jews.

London newspapers prominently headlined reports of the floggings, carried out in retaliation for the whipping of a Jew who had been convicted of a bank robbery.

A Jewish Agency spokesman here, deploring last night's whippings, said the perpetrators apparently did not realize the rancor they would let loose "when they attacked the pride of an army."

YOUNG JEW SEIZED BY TERRORIST BAND

Faces Dreaded 'Secret Court' As Informer For British

Jerusalem, Dec. 30 (AP)—A Jewish youth accused of being an informer for the British was abducted today, reportedly for trial before the Stern Gang's dreaded "secret court," in the latest of a series of kidnappings attributed to Jewish extremists in Palestine.

The youth disappeared even as British troops angrily threw a dragnet over the coastal plain district of the Holy Land in search of persons responsible for the kidnapping and flogging last night of a British major and three noncommissioned officers.

Twenty persons were arrested for questioning. Jewish officials and residents of coastal plain towns were urged to co-operate with the searchers.

Tension Is High

The provost marshal's office said that feeling was running high among the Tommies, and fears of retaliation against the Jews were expressed. Jewish communities were placed out of bounds to British soldiers off duty.

The parents of the youth kidnapped today—20-year-old Moshe Saadia—said his abductors informed them that he would be tried by the "secret court" on charges of co-operating with Israel Lewin, another alleged informer. Lewin was kidnapped from Tel Aviv December 24 and killed.

An unverified report, meanwhile, said that British Lieutenant General Sir Evelyn Barker, commander of British forces, had confirmed a second flogging sentence against a convicted bank robber, allegedly a member of Irgun Zvai Leumi, Jewish underground organization.

The floggings of the British soldiers yesterday were attributed by the Government to Irgun, in reprisal for a whipping sentence carried out Friday against a convicted Irgun bank robber.

Hebrew language newspapers were notified during the day by persons representing themselves as Irgun spokesmen that "if anything happens again which affects our soldiers we will resort not to whippings but to bullets."

Notes signed by Irgun also said that the organization demanded an investigation by the Italian Government into the fatal shooting in Rome of Zew Epstein, Polish-born Jew arrested for questioning in connection with the bombing of the British Embassy there October 31.

Yesterday's floggings, which shattered an informal truce extending through Christmas and the Jewish holidays of Hanukah, were deplored by Jewish Agency sources.

Five of the Jews arrested were captured near Lydda, when they attempted to force their way past a British roadblock under a barrage of machine-gun fire. Police said they found two 5-foot rawhide whips, a machine gun and various other weapons in the car.

British 'Out Of Bounds' Orders For Jewish Areas

Jerusalem, Dec. 30 (AP)—The British military announced today that all Jewish communities along the Palestine coast had been placed out of bounds to the 30,000 British troops on duty in the area, as authorities pressed a search for kidnappers who abducted a British major and three sergeants last night and gave each eighteen lashes in what was described as a retaliatory move.

A military source predicted that authorities, fearing British troops might seek vengeance for the floggings, would keep the ruling in force at least until after New Year's Eve. The provost marshal's office said that "feeling is running high" in the military camps.

Jewish Agency sources expressed regret for the floggings.

Refugees Brought Back

Meanwhile the British ship Ocean Vigour arrived in Haifa harbor, bringing 750 Jewish refugees who were deported to Cyprus when they originally arrived here without immigration certificates.

Search for the perpetrators of last night's floggings continued, with British authorities and Palestine police participating in the manhunt.

Oriental Is Kidnapped

Kidnappers seized Moshe Saadia, 20, an Oriental Jew, whom the abductors accused of being an informer for British police and military authorities. The kidnappers informed Saadia's parents their son would be tried by a "secret court" of the underground Stern Gang.

They also alleged that Saadia co-operated with Israel Lewis, 25, who was kidnapped from his home near Tel Aviv and subsequently killed on December 24.

Police and troops conducted large-scale searches in Tel Aviv and vicinity for perpetrators of the kidnapping and the floggings. About twenty Jews were detained for further questioning.

Authorities said that the major was taken by five armed men from the lounge of the Hotel Metropol, in Nathanya, 40 miles north of Tel Aviv, where he was sitting with his wife. He was said to have been blindfolded, tied to a rack and beaten with a cane.

Sergeants Seized

Meanwhile eight men, armed with submachine guns, abducted two sergeants from in front of the Armon Hotel on Tel Aviv's water front. Forced into an automobile, they were taken to the outskirts of the all-Jewish city, where, police said, their abductors "took down their pants and administered eighteen strokes apiece."

Truman Reconsidering Palestine View, Feisal Says

Cairo, Dec. 30 (AP)—Prince Feisal, Saudi Arabian Foreign Minister who recently talked with President Truman, said today the American Executive had promised to reconsider the Palestine problem.

The Prince said President Truman was eager to establish peace and justice in the world.

"His present support for the Zionists is based on sympathy and kindness," the Prince continued, "because he thought the Jews are persecuted and unjustly treated. At the same time, he desires that peace in the Middle East be maintained.

Point Is Cited

"I explained to him that his present policy does not maintain peace in the Middle East but has the opposite effect and that it may cause more disturbances.

President Truman had advocated the admission of 100,000 Jews to Palestine in the immediate future.

Asked whether the President had changed his attitude after the conference, the Prince said:

"I cannot say, but President Truman promised me to reconsider the matter."

RAF-AAF JOINT TRAINING SEEN

London Paper Says Plan Is Ready For Approval

London, Tuesday, Dec. 31 (AP)—The London Daily Mail said today that draft plans for joint training of Royal Air Force and American Air Forces personnel, including the technique of atomic bombing, went to Gen. Carl A. Spaatz in Washington today "for signature."

The program comes under the British-American plan for standardization of arms, said the dispatch by James Brough, the Daily Mail's correspondent in Washington.

"The first step in this long-term plan is the exchange of British and American flyers, already agreed to in principle by the United States," Brough wrote.

Anglo-American Air Force

The dispatch added that the schooling would be standardized; joint experiments would be carried out in such fields as supersonic flight; and that British fliers would be taught the technique, at least, of atomic bombing.

"An Anglo-American air force . . . is a logical conclusion," Brough declared.

Brough, who did not state where he had obtained his information, wrote that American airmen "in groups of 30" would be sent to every RAF station and that groups of British flyers would be assigned similarly "across the Atlantic for work with the American forces."

"The exchange goes further than any previously announced details for interlocking the two countries' armed forces," the writer declared.

RAF "Will Benefit"

"It means that besides arms and equipment, training and manpower will be standardized."

"The pooling of all details of aeronautical research" may be a subsequent development of the plan, the dispatch said.

Royal Air Force flyers "will benefit," it continued, from the experience of Americans in new high-speed planes now under test in California.

"No information is available here as to whether or not atom bombing will form part of the instruction given to RAF pilots and crews," Brough wrote.

"But it is assumed that they will be taught the technique of atom bombing, even though the bomb secrets will remain an American monopoly."

Coal Crisis Tops Attlee Worries

London, Dec. 30 (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee and his Cabinet, meeting tomorrow for the last time this year, may adopt emergency measures to relieve the nation's worst coal scarcity since the end of the war.

Sources close to No. 10 Downing Street said today that although several other important subjects were on the Cabinet's agenda, priority would probably be given to the acute fuel situation, which threatens to close mills and factories, especially in heavily industrial Lancashire.

Estimates of production and distribution to the areas most greatly in need of fuel will be placed before the Ministers, who frankly acknowledged that the shortage gravely affected production for not only home consumption but the all-important export drive as well.

Most of the big cotton mills in the Rochdale district of Lancashire were operating on a "hand-to-mouth" fueling schedule, and the largest of them may close tonight, the management said, unless coal is received promptly.

Eleven of twelve Blackburn cotton mills closed last week because of the coal shortage resumed work today, but it was indicated that most of them might be idle again before the end of the week.

It is estimated unofficially that the loss in production has already amounted to at least 1,000,000 yards of cloth.

Report Nagy's Death Sentence Commuted

London, Dec. 30 (A. P.).—The Russian news agency Tass, quoting the Budapest radio, reported today that a sentence of death on Tasnadi Nagy, former president of the Hungarian Parliament, has been commuted to life imprisonment because of his advanced age.

"Sentence was reduced," the dispatch said, "in spite of the fact that Tasnadi Nagy's war crimes warranted capital punishment."

Kin Resume Flight To G. I.'s in Reich

London, Dec. 30.—Nineteen mothers and thirty-three children took off today for Frankfurt. They were among two plane loads of women and children who left New York on December 23 to join American soldiers in Germany.

Pan American Airways, host to the group while weather grounded them in London, said that the remaining twelve mothers and twelve children probably would leave tomorrow.

FRENCH READY TO NEGOTIATE

Moutet Says He Would Discuss Indo-China Peace

Paris, Dec. 30 (AP)—Marius Moutet, French Colonial Minister, was quoted today as saying that France stood ready to negotiate a settlement in Indo-China, where dispatches told of new fierce fighting in the north and along the central coast.

Moutet, now making an on-the-spot inspection of the strife-torn empire outpost, reportedly emphasized, however, that France intended to insure the safety of her troops and citizens in Indo-China before discussing details of a political settlement with Viet Nam forces.

Reinforcements Being Rushed

The Paris newspaper France Soir, which published the interview with the Colonial Minister, also quoted him as saying that "France has never refused any overture or to make any examination" leading toward a settlement. The newspaper said that his remarks were made in reference to reported efforts by the Viet Nam leaders to negotiate with the French.

Meanwhile France's tank warfare expert, Gen. Jacques Leclerc, asserted at Saigon that troop reinforcements were being rushed to the Southeast Asia colony and that "France has the means to re-establish order."

Leclerc, whose son, a sublieutenant in the colonial forces, was wounded in recent Indo-Chinese fighting, is in personal command of the French forces. Both he and Moutet flew to Indo-China hurriedly from France following the current outbreak.

NIGHT

Moutet paid an official call on King Sainouk of Cambodia, in Southwest Indo-China, and dispatches said he was received with great ceremony by the ruler of some 3,000,000 persons.

Most of the new fighting centered around the strategic town of Namdinh, 35 miles southeast of Hanoi and dominating the lower River Rouge. French general staff dispatches described attacks on French positions there as "very violent."

A delayed dispatch from Hanoi said the French had regained complete control of Phulangthuong, important town 35 miles northeast of Hanoi.

Other dispatches indicated that reinforced Viet Nam troops were increasing their pressure on the besieged ports of Hue and Tourane, southeast of Hanoi.

Artillery Hammers French

The Viet Nam radio, heard in Siam, said its forces had counter-attacked French positions in southern Hanoi, nominal capital of the Viet Nam Republic, and had recaptured a police station, tea factory and oil compound. Thirty-six half-tracks and jeeps were reported destroyed, and many small arms captured. Viet Nam artillery continued to hammer French positions.

The radio said the French suffered many casualties when Viet Nam guns destroyed a fortress on the top floor of the Bank of Indo-China at Namdinh, and that French planes had machine gunned a Viet Nam hospital there.

The broadcast also declared that Viet Nam President Ho Chi Minh had met with his cabinet somewhere in Hanoi last Thursday and reaffirmed that "resistance" would continue indefinitely.

A report last week said Ho had set up his government at Haidoung, 30 miles east of Hanoi, after having fled from the nominal capital.

east of Hanoi.

At the same time, Viet Namese artillery was reported to be shelling French positions within encircled Hanoi, causing some damage in the center of the city. Patrol clashes were frequent as both sides sought to infiltrate behind the opposing lines.

North of Hanoi, on the main railway line leading to the Chinese border, a French relief column was said to have reached isolated French garrisons at Bac Ninh and Thu Lang.

DAY

Attac[illegible] Vigorous"

At Bac Ninh, French troops holding the town, the citadel an old Chinese fort and the military barracks, were reported to have fanned out into the surrounding countryside without encountering resistance.

A French general staff bulletin said the Viet-Namese attacks at Nan Dinh were "incessant and very violent." Nationalist forces were reported to be pouring heavy mortar fire on the French garrison.

At Pont-des-Rapides, about 5 miles northeast of Hanoi, French troops fought off a Viet-Nam patrol which tried to push through their lines, the bulletin said.

Viet-Namese troops surrounding the coastal towns of Hue and Tourane, midway between Haiphong and Saigon, were reported bolstering their siege with reinforcements.

Moutet Visits King

In southern Indo-China, meanwhile, French Colonial Minister Marius Moutet—who is making an on-the-spot investigation of the situation—visited Pnom-Penh for an official call on the King of Cambodia and his Cabinet.

The French press agency said that Cambodian Premier Ioeuk Keu, welcoming Moutet, had emphasized the need for French economic assistance in the protectorate.

There was no confirmation here of a report broadcast by the secret Viet-Nam radio to the effect that Premier Leon Blum had telegraphed a peace feeler to President Ho Chi Minh of the Viet-Nam republic.

The broadcast said that Ho had replied that he would be willing to negotiate after French forces had withdrawn to the positions they held before the fighting began December 17.

However, sources in Saigon close to Moutet denied knowledge of any telegram from Blum to Ho, the French press agency said.

In Paris, sources close to Blum limited themselves to the statement that "some of the affirmations of the Viet-Nam radio are erroneous."

More Troops On Way

Gen. Philippe LeClerc, in his first public statement since his arrival in Saigon in connection with operations against the Viet-Namese Nationalists, declared that reinforcements were on the way to reassert French authority.

Dispatches from Saigon reported that LeClerc, in replying to greetings from the chief of the Cochin China Republic (a French protectorate) said:

"France has the means to re-establish order. Reinforcements are arriving, and French troops will soon be more numerous to aid you."

China Eyes Situation

Nanking, Dec. 30 (AP)—George Yeh, Foreign Office spokesman, said today that the Chinese Government is in constant contact with both sides in the Indo-Chinese fighting and is arranging for the protection of Chinese nationals in Indo-Chinese cities.

Consuls general there have been given full authority to conclude agreements to keep the fighting away from concentrations of Chinese, he said.

Heavy Viet-Nam Assaults Are Reported

1946

Paris, Dec. 30 (AP)—The French general staff reported today in dispatches from Indo-China that Viet-Nam nationalist troops had launched a series of heavy attacks against French positions at Namdinh, key town controlling the mouth of the River Rouge south-

U.S., Britain Plan Arms Pact, Paper Says

Paris, Dec. 30 (AP)—The slightly right-of-center newspaper Aurore reported today that the United States and Britain are preparing a mutual-assistance alliance of far-reaching scope, to be signed in Washington on March 15.

The paper, edited by Radical Socialist Paul Bastid, asserted that the alliance would pledge both nations to pool their economic resources in case of attack by a third power.

DAY

The pact, Aurore said, will be open to any other power which can prove it has no imperialist designs.

"No Knowledge In London

London, Dec. 30 (AP)—A Foreign Office spokesman said today that "there is no knowledge in London" of a projected Anglo-American alliance providing for military and economic co-operation in the event either of the countries should be attacked.

The spokesman said the most recent authentic utterance on the subbject was by Prime Minister Attlee, who said in Parliament on December 11 that his Government "has made it clear that it welcomed an alliance for the preservation of peace with all countries."

STRICT BAN LAID ON GERMAN ARMS

4-Power Law Extends From Atom Bombs To Lances

Berlin, Dec. 30 (AP)—A ban was placed today on the manufacture and possession of war materials, ranging all the way from atomic bombs to lances, under a far-reaching German disarmament law published by the Allied control authority.

NIGHT

The measure was announced as Allied officials worked on recommendations to be submitted to the Council of Foreign Ministers, which will meet in Moscow next March to decide Germany's future.

Under the regulation, listed as council law No. 43, Germans are required to make written declaration of any still-existing war stocks.

Exceptions For Peace Needs

Special exceptions are provided for peacetime requirement, such as arms and ammunition for police and explosives for demolition work.

Violators are subject to death or imprisonment.

The ban also applies to warships, such war chemicals as rocket fuels and all aircraft, including balloons and even kites.

The Control Council already has taken steps to make sure that all four occupying powers are living up to their pledges to liquidate Germany's armaments potential.

Four-power inspection teams, composed of technicians, will set out January 6 to check on former armaments factories in each of the occupation zones. The inspection was decided upon following charges that some of the factories were still turning out war materials.

ALLIES OUTLAW ALL WAR GOODS FOR GERMANY

Control Council Act Covers Everything From Atom Bombs to Kites.

STOCKS MUST BE REPORTED

Possession, Manufacture and Importation of Military Materials Prohibited.

Berlin, Dec. 30 (A. P.).—The Allied Control Council today published a sweeping new law for Germany, prohibiting the manufacture, import and possession of all war materials—from atom bombs to daggers and kites.

The prohibitions are contained in Control Council Law No. 43, which includes many demilitarization provisions previously executed by the four occupation zone commanders in the form of proclamations and directives. The law requires the German to declare to the Allies any existing war stocks, which must be destroyed or converted to essential peacetime uses. It provides penalties of imprisonment and, in serious cases, death.

Dispensations may be made for peacetime requirements—such as arms and ammunition for the police, explosives for demolition work and cryptographic machines for authorized internal security services.

DAY

Outlawed for Germans are "all weapons including atomic means of warfare or apparatus of all caliber and natures capable of projecting lethal or destructive projectiles, liquids and gases." This section also outlaws "all military cutting or piercing weapons," including lances.

Also forbidden are warships of all classes, aircraft of all types—including kites, captive balloons, gliders and model aircraft—and all drawings, specifications, designs, models and reproductions relating to the development, testing or inspection of war materials. The ban on war chemicals includes rocket fuels, such as high concentrates of hydrogen peroxide.

U.S. 'To Oppose' Shifts In Reich's West Border

Berlin, Dec. 30 (AP)—Reliable diplomatic sources predicted today that proposals for the revision of Germany's western frontier, except for the cession of the Saar to France, would be strongly opposed by the United States at the forthcoming German peace treaty negotiations.

It is expected, these sources said, that the United States will not only oppose France's claims to the Rhineland but will reject more modest border changes proposed by Holland and Belgium unless the two countries can prove that the people of the area "genuinely desire" a change.

The position of the United States and others on the German border settlements is being outlined among the four major Allied powers here for presentation to the Foreign Ministers Council when it convenes in Moscow in March.

Byrnes' Stand

DAY

The American position was understood to be essentially the same as that oultined by Secretary of State James F. Byrnes in his Stuttgart policy speech last September, although being prepared in more detail to meet the complex claims against Germany expected to develop.

At Stuttgart, Byrnes declared the United States did not consider the eastern borders of Germany as decided and announced opposition to any claims against Germany in the west, except for the French claim to the Saar. He qualified this by saying that in return for the Saar, France should "readjust her reparations claims."

Russian Aid Seen

There have been strong indications during the past week that Russia will support the United States on Germany's western frontiers. Soviet supervised and sponsored newspapers in Berlin have bitterly attacked the French for their new customs control over the Saar, and have also criticized the Dutch and Belgian claims.

Should Denmark and Czechoslovakia make any territorial claims, the American position would be the same, sources here said.

France is not only expected to support the Dutch and Belgian claims but is also expected to oppose any suggestion by the United States that portions of the former Reich's agricultural areas in the east, now occupied by Poland, be returned to Germany.

Informed sources said yesterday that the United States would probably urge that the agricultural areas of Pomerania and Brandenburg be restored to Germany, leaving to Poland the rich former German industrial region of Silesia, half of East Prussia and the once free city of Danzig.

The American position was said to be that Germany cannot be self-sustaining with the loss of 25 per cent of her best agricultural land, and that such a loss would only provide a talking point for a new war.

Britain is understood to be sympathetic to the American view in the east, but has been noticeably silent concerning the situation in the west.

All-German Courts For British Zone

Berlin, Dec. 30 (AP)—British authorities have disclosed that they will set up 150 all-German tribunals in the British occupation zone with 1,000 German legal personnel at an expense of $1,500,000 to try 27,000 former members of the Nazi party Leadership Corps, Secret Police and SS (Elite Guard).

A British spokesman said the tribunals were to be established because ordinary de-Nazification boards were "incompetent to handle what is a criminal instead of a political matter."

German Agency Changes Name

BERLIN, Dec. 30 (AP)—The German News Agency DANA (Deutsche Allgemeine Nachrichten Agentur) will change its name to DENA (Deutsche Nachrichten Agentur), effective Jan. 1. The agency was founded in 1945 under sponsorship of the United States Army.

REPORT MANY HESSE GEMS STILL MISSING

FRANKFURT, Germany, Dec. 30 —(AP) Many valuable gems among the Hesse family's jewels are still missing, the Countess of Hesse testified today in the trial of Col. Jack W. Durant, United States Army officer accused of their theft.

NIGHT

The black-gowned granddaughter of Queen Victoria identified a glittering array of jewelry as part of the $1,500,000 treasure the Hesse family hid in the basement of Kronberg castle in 1944.

They disappeared last year while the castle was occupied as a U. S. Army officers club. The prosecution charges many of the jewels were recovered in the United States from Durant and his WAC captain wife, who already has been convicted in their theft.

No estimate of the number or value of the missing jewels was given by the 75-year-old countess, sister of the former German Kaiser.

NAZI EUTHANASIA MURDERER TO DIE

Frankfurt, Dec. 30 (AP).—Dr. Friedrich Mennecke, former SS lieutenant-colonel, was sentenced to death, and three of his subordinates were given prison terms today by a German criminal court which convicted them of the euthanasia murder of hundreds of inmates of the Eichberg insane asylum.

It was the first war-crimes trial of Germans by a German court. The victims also were Germans, some of the hundreds of thousands of mental and physical defectives exterminated during the war by the Nazis.

The court found Dr. Mennecke guilty of ordering the slaying of 1,000 asylum inmates as part of his "scientific experiments."

The convictions and sentences may be appealed to a German supreme court at Frankfurt and also are subject to review by the American military government, without whose approval no death sentences may be carried out.

to consider the food shortage.

The black market continued in Rome, although it appeared to have been driven underground somewhat. Housewives complained of police raids that forced food from the stands. Black marketeers adopted a new technique of whispering "bread, oil, spaghetti," instead of "dollars, francs."

Under the new system, the price of spaghetti rose to 500 lire ($2.22) a kilogram (2.2 pounds), compared with the ration price of 30 lire (13 cents).

The black market price last week was 270 lire ($1.18) and was 150 lire (67 cents) a kilo a few weeks ago.

[The lire conversions given are at the legal rate of 225 to $1; the black market has been exchanging lire at up to 800 to the dollar.]

Sweden Sets Up Atom Research Fund

Stockholm, Dec. 30 (AP).—The Swedish Government allotted about $1,748,000 today for atomic research. The money will be used mainly to enlarge the atomic research facilities of Prof. Manne Siegbatn's Nobel Institute at Frescati, outside Stockholm.

Drive On Rome Black Mart Sends Food Up

Rome, Dec. 30 (AP)—Food demonstrations erupted here today while prices climbed steeper than ever in the wake of Government efforts to suppress the black market. Spaghetti sold on the black market at about $1 a pound, if one figures the lira's worth at its legal equivalent.

A throng of unemployed marched to the Viminale Government building shouting: "Enough promises. We want bread and work."

Another demonstration, in which women predominated, occurred at the city food administration office. The group protested the increasing cost of food.

Bari Calm Again

Calm returned to the city of Bari, where one person was killed and a score injured in strikes and demonstrations last week.

More strikes and other trouble were threatened in some parts of southern Italy. Food rations continued short in Reggio Calabria. The Labor Federation called a public meeting tmorrow in Catanzaro

SPAIN VOTES PEAK BUDGET

Taxes Increased 20% — Madrid Envoy Back From London

MADRID, Dec. 30 (AP)—The Spanish Cortes (Parliament) today adopted a record national budget for 1947 of 14,000,000,000 pesetas (about $1,276,000,000). It passed a bill increasing all taxes on an average of 20 per cent.

Jewish Agency To Shun Conference

Basel, Switzerland, Dec. 30 (AP)—Any possibility that the revamped Jewish Agency Executive might participate in the London Palestine conference was ruled out today by Dr. Moshe Sneh, Palestine Zionist leader.

Dr. Sneh declared that the executive, which held its final meeting here yesterday, would act in accordance with a resolution of the World Zionist Congress to shun the London talks "under existing conditions" or as long as Britain adheres to her 1936 White Paper policy on immigration to Palestine.

David Ben-Gurion, of Jerusalem, yesterday was re-elected chairman of the Executive.

Hungarians Claim Purge Censorship

Budapest, Dec. 30 (AP)—Hungarian officials who are anti-Communist said today the Ministry of Interior, Communist-controlled, had clamped on a strict censorship of newspapers, threatening severe measures to prevent publication of news about a "purge" of Hungarians siding with the western democracies.

Meanwhile, additional arrests brought the unofficial count to between 100 and 200.

Albert Bartha, Minister of War, threatened to resign. His political department chief, Maj. Gen. Gyorgy Palffy, a Communist, engineered the arrests without Bartha's knowledge. Bartha said he wanted to call Palffy before a military court of inquiry, and would resign if he was prevented from doing so.

Associates of Prime Minister Fernec Nagy—former peasant who has had endless trouble in maneuvering against his Moscow-educated colleagues in the government—said he would call for an immediate trial of the persons held. These informants said the Premier felt the arrests were aimed at discrediting his Small Landholders party.

POLES ARE EAGER FOR BRITISH NEWS

KRAKOW, Poland—(AP) The British government's weekly newspaper, Voice of Britain—first started by any foreign country in Poland—is selling like hotcakes.

Editor Frank Cox, of London, reported the Voice started publishing news about the United Kingdom here on Nov. 2, with a circulation of 26,800, which soon jumped to 50,000.

Now all copies are sold out within two days. So great is the demand for the paper that it brings 40 zlotys per copy in the "black market." Its regular sale price is 10 zlotys.

Editor Cox has had plenty of difficulties trying to find a workable, efficient press, and enough newsprint. But he envisions a circulation eventually of 150,000 to 200,000 copies. The newspaper is published under auspices of the British embassy in Poland and the British foreign office's information division.

REDS FLATLY DENY ANY ULTIMATUM IN DAIREN 'INCIDENT'

MOSCOW, Dec. 30—(AP) Pravda denied today that any ultimatum had been issued to a U. S. vessel in the port of Dairen two weeks ago, said that Soviet officials had acted perfectly properly and declared that the affair did not constitute an international "incident."

In the first comment published here on the events in Dairen, the Communist Party newspaper said a news story which asserted that the ship was forced to depart was "sensational" and "tendentious."

NIGHT

The Pravda article, in the form of a special dispatch from Dairen, indicated Russian officials feel that the matter is closed.

The newspaper declared that story about the U. S. vessel, written by William H. Newton of the Scripps Howard staff for the Combined World Press, contained "inventions" and could be appraised as the "methods of correspondents" to create a sensation.

Pravda gave this version of events at Dairen:

Port authorities received formal notification Dec. 18 that a U.S. ship, bearing official mail, would arrive in Dairen Dec. 18 and remain 48 hours. This notification was received after the ship actually arrived and made no mention of the fact that two correspondents and a representative of the Standard Oil company also were aboard the vessel.

The captain of the ship subsequently informed Russian officials that the newsmen and businessman were aboard and wanted to come ashore for a stay.

Since the formal notification had not mentioned the three, the Soviet commander decided they could not remain in Dairen.

After the 48-hour deadline had expired—a time limit set by the Americans themselves—the U. S. consul informed the Soviet commander that the ship could not leave immediately because the captain had been detained in the city of Dairen. The Russians issued no ultimatum.

"The ship remained in port several more hours unobstructed," the dispatch said.

Dairen Dispatch 'Tendentious,' Pravda Says

Moscow, Dec. 30 (AP)—A special Pravda dispatch from Dairen today branded as "tendentious" and "sensational" reports that an American naval vessel had been given an "ultimatum" to leave the Russian-controlled port on December 21.

The dispatch, the first Soviet press comment on the reports, said that "several days ago Correspondent (William H.) Newton, of the Scripps-Howard staff, reported in the press that an American vessel, which was in Dairen December 18 to December 20, was compelled to leave port through an ultimatum by Soviet military authorities.

"This report," the dispatch continued, "was presented by Newton in a sensational tone as an 'incident in Dairen.' In connection with this, our correspondent learned from an authoritative source that Newton's report does not present correctly the facts of the visit to Dairen by the American war vessel, and is tendentious."

DAY

Other Passengers "Unlisted"

"Notification of the arrival of this vessel (an LCIL—landing craft infantry large) was received by the local port authorities after the vessel had appeared December 18," the Pravda dispatch said.

"It reported in its notification that the American Embassy in China had addressed the Soviet Embassy with a request to inform the proper Soviet authorities that an unarmed vessel, which had aboard a Government courier with official mail for the consulate general, would arrive the morning of December 18 and stay for 48 hours.

"The presence of any other passengers on board was not mentioned," the dispatch declared. "Upon the arrival of the vessel a representative of the Soviet command was informed by the captain that besides an American diplomatic courier, two American correspondents and a representative of the Standard Oil Company were aboard and were coming in for a stay in Dairen.

Limit "Set By U.S."

"A representative of the Soviet command said that inasmuch as he had received no notification of the supposed arrival of the persons mentioned, these persons could not remain in port."

The Pravda dispatch said that after the 48-hour deadline had expired—a time limit that it said the Americans themselves had established—the United States consul informed the Soviet representative that the vessel could not leave on the appointed date, because the captain had been detained in the city of Dairen.

"In connection with this representation," the dispatch said, "the ship remained in port several more hours unobstructed."

Feel Matter Is Closed

The dispatch concluded by asserting that Newton's report on the ultimatum and demand to leave port were "inventions" and could be appraised as the "methods of correspondents" to create a sensation. Newton's story was written for the combined world press.

Official Challenges Russia's Right In Dairen

Nanking, China, Dec. 30 (AP)—The Chinese Government does not recognize Russia's right to continue occupying Dairen and would take over administration of that important Manchurian port if it were not for obstructions by the Chinese Communists, George Yeh, Foreign Office spokesman, told a news conference today.

However, a Kuomintang (Government party) official told the Associated Press that the Chinese-Russian treaty of 1945—which defines the status of Dairen as a free port—was defended by Foreign Minister Wang Shih-chieh at a private meeting of the party's National Assembly delegates.

Wang was quoted as telling delegates who questioned the treaty's value that it had saved China millions of dollars by eliminating the need of maintaining a large army on the Manchurian frontier.

Spoke Only At Meeting

Premier T. V. Soong, who called the meeting, was quoted as saying that the postwar political strife in China was blocking smooth implementation of a well-planned reconversion program.

Yeh, the Foreign Office spokesman, said that Russia surrendered her right to control Dairen under the war-with-Japan clause of the treaty when she notified China last May 3 that all Soviet troops had withdrawn from the northwest provinces "of which Dairen is certainly an integral part."

Asked if the recent Dairen incident involving the hasty departure of an American naval courier vessel from Dairen did not disprove the Soviet report of May 3, Yeh replied "our Government has not yet received official reports. We must study information from our own people."

China Denies Russ Rights Over Dairen

Nanking, Dec. 30 (AP)—A Foreign Office spokesman said today the Chinese Government did not recognize Russia's right to the continued occupation of Dairen, chief port of Manchuria.

He said the Government would take over the city's administration immediately but for obstructions by Chinese Communists.

The spokesman, George Yeh, said the Soviets surrendered their right to continued control of Dairen last May 23 when the Soviet Embassy formally notified China that all Soviet troops had been withdrawn as of May 3 from the northeast provinces, "of which Dairen is certainly an integral part."

Claimed Under Treaty

Russia has contended the Sino-Soviet Treaty of August, 1945, gave her control of Dairen as long as the war with Japan exists, and no peace treaty has yet been signed with the Japanese.

"We do not think a state of war exists at the present time between China and the Soviets on one side and Japan on the other," Yeh said, adding that legally China had every right to take over the big warm-water port.

Silent On U.S. Incident

He said Government armies drove to within a few miles of Dairen some weeks ago and then halted their offensive, apparently more in fear of a clash with Soviet garrisons than with Chinese Communists remaining in that region.

Yeh was asked for comment on the recent Dairen incident in which an American naval vessel was ordered by the Soviets to leave on twenty minutes' notice. "Our Government has not yet received official reports," he said. "We must study the information from our own people."

White Explains Statement

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (AP)—Lincoln White, State Department press officer, said today he had expressed his own personal opinion when he asserted that no ultimatum was involved in the departure of a United States naval vessel from Dairen.

He reiterated, in response to reporters' questions, that he did not think there was an ultimatum in the generally accepted sense of the word.

Mr. White said the opinion he expressed last Thursday was based on the report of an official courier aboard the naval vessel, the LC3-1090.

Under-Secretary Dean Acheson said later that the State Department's official opinion on the ultimatum issue would await a full report from Consul General Benninghoff.

Consulate To Probe Death Of 2 Americans

Algiers, Dec. 30 (AP)—The United States Consulate has asked that post-mortems be performed on the bodies of George Hayden and his fiancee, Mrs. Virginia Mull McCauley, whose unexpected deaths Christmas Day remained mysteries.

CHINESE STUDENTS IN MASS PROTEST AGAINST MARINES

PEIPING, Dec. 30 — (AP) More than 6,000 university students staged a demonstration and parade through the streets today, demanding that the U. S. Marines leave China as the outgrowth of the alleged rape of a Chinese girl by a Marine on Christmas Eve.

The movement had repercussions in Shanghai and Tientsin and was expected to spread throughout the country as newspapers played up the story and various student bodies appeared to be trying to excell one another in protesting the as-yet-unconfirmed incident.

The Peiping students, one third of them girls, pasted placards on street cars and buildings and shouted "Go Home, U. S. Army, Go Home!"

Demonstration Orderly

The demonstration was orderly. Chinese police armed with machine guns patrolled the streets in force. Americans and their families were restricted to quarters by the American command.

The march started at Yenching and Tsinghua universities, seven miles outside the city limits. Tsinghua is government operated. Yenching was founded by U. S. Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart and is dependent mainly on American funds for its continued existence.

The march went past Fujen Catholic University, where large numbers of students joined, and continued to the National Peking University, where more recruits were ed, then wound through the heart of the city.

Cheer leaders controlled the organized shouting, while brigades of poster-pasters and sidewalk writers covered every available space with such signs as "Our Chinese Daughters are not to be Insulted," "You Are Lonely, You Are Homesick—Go Home," and "U. S. Soldiers can do Nothing but Kill and Rape."

Students Plan Strike

In Tientsin students of the Peiyang and Nankai universities voted to conduct a three-day strike and send a radiogram to President Truman, while in Shanghai those at Chaotung University decided to send a petition to General Marshall, U. S. special envoy, demanding that the Marines quit China.

Vernacular papers employed invective and screaming headlines on the same theme.

The Marine Corps has announced that two Marines are being held pending completion of Chinese police inquiry into the rape charge.

One of the Marines acknowledged relations with the girl but said she was a prostitute. The mayor of Peiping announced that medical examination of the girl showed no signs of rape.

Peiping Incident Curbs Marines Stirs Students

Peiping, Dec. 30 (AP)—American authorities ordered United States military personnel and their families off the streets of Peiping this morning as students of Yenching University began marching into the city in a demonstration against the alleged rape of a 20-year-old Chinese girl by a United States Marine.

All Marines were confined to their compounds.

Chinese authorities sought to dissuade the students from the anti-American demonstration but no physical resistance was offered. Municipal spokesmen said the city gates would not be closed.

Others May Join March

Some 2,000 students were moving into the city from the north. The university is seven miles from the city. Students of Fujen Catholic University and National Peking University were expected to join the march.

Unrest spread to Shanghai, where busses owned by several Chinese universities traveled the main streets bearing such placards as "Down With America" and "Americans, Get Out Of China."

The independent Shanghai newspaper Wen Hu Pao devoted its entire front and back pages to stories and readers' complaints about the alleged rape.

Types Of Captions

It carried such captions as: "What Japanese Troops Did Not Do, American Troops Are Doing," "American Marines Atrocity Causes Public Anger," and "Withdrawal from China Unanimously Demanded."

The newspaper quoted financial expert Ma Ying Chu as saying that the incident was a gross insult to China and "the United States has made China a colony where they may kill and violate women."

In Tientsin, students of Peiyang and Nankai universities started a three-day strike in protest against the alleged rape. They prepared to cable President Truman, urging withdrawal of all American troops.

Leaflets Distributed

Students distributed leaflets reading "We were obliged for American aid to China during the war but today the United States Government still is supplying China with weapons and military personnel. What for? American military supplies are greatly prolonging China's civil war."

The situation was aggravated by the alleged fatal beating of a Chinese factory worker at Tangku, near Tientsin, by a group of Marines celebrating Christmas Eve. Marine authorities detained two Marines in connection with the death.

New Offer Made Chinese Communists

Nanking, Dec. 30 (AP)—Chinese Communits and members of the Democratic League will be invited to participate in the reorganized National Government "if they express a willingness to participate," Information Minister Peng Hsueh-pei announced today.

In Yenan, however, Communist Negotiator Chou En-lai reiterated that the Reds would resume peace talks with the Government only if Chiang Kai-shek nullified the "illegal National Assembly and fake constitution," returned to military positions of last January 13, and summoned a new inter-party conference "to talk matters over."

Peng also announced that China's $9,320,000,000,000 (Chinese) budget for the fiscal year beginning January 1 included 40 per cent for the armed forces—a one third reduction from the previous budget.

Towers Arranges Unity Of Command

Honolulu, Dec. 30 (AP)—Admiral John H. Towers, commander in chief, Pacific Fleet, said today that unity of command among armed forces in this Pacific area would be achieved January 1 with the organization of "little joint chiefs of staff."

The new organization, recommended by Admiral Towers and approved by Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, brings Navy, Army Ground Force and Army Air Force units together under a plan which Towers described as "the most complete joint set-up the armed forces ever had" below the Washington chiefs-of-staff level.

As commander in chief, Pacific, and commander in chief, Pacific Fleet, Towers will head the new executive organization and will have the final decision in operational control of armed forces within his command.

Under Towers would be the "joint Pacific command chiefs of staff," composed of Lieut. Gen. John Hull, commanding general of the Army Ground Forces in the Pacific; Brig. Gen. Donald L. Stace, commanding general, Army Air Forces in the Pacific, and Vice Admiral Lynde McCormack, deputy commander in chief, Pacific Fleet.

Under the point chiefs of staff, the unity program also provides for coordination of planning, intelligence, logistics and communications.

Japs Pick Top 10 News Events Of 1946

Tokyo, Dec. 30 (AP)—The Emperor's renunciation of any claim to divinity was the biggest news event in Japan in 1946, Kyodo news agency said today. Dropping the war-crimes trials of the country's one-time leaders to sixth place, it listed these as the ten biggest stories of the year:

1. Emperor Hirohito's renunciation of divinity.
2. Allied headquarters' purge of militarists and ultranationalists from Government, economic and journalistic leadership.
3. Issuance of new yen currency.
4. The national elections.
5. Accession of Premier Shigeru Yoshida's Cabinet to power.
6. Opening of the war-crimes trials of wartime Premier Hideki Tojo and other defendants.
7. Public demonstrations last May Day.
8. Promulgation of the new, military-banning constitution.
9. The seamen's strike.
10. Increases in rice rations.

Jap Cabinet Has A Crisis Over Economy

Tokyo, Dec. 30 (AP)—Failure of attempts to remedy the economic chaos has created a new Cabinet crisis, Japanese political observers said today, but future action will be determined by Premier Shigeru Yoshida and his associates rather than his political opponents.

Although the Leftists have attacked the Government for months, they lack sufficient power to force a Cabinet downfall, these observers said.

Fresh Approach Sought

The current impetus for renovation or reorganization of the Government comes from Cabinet ministers who feel that a fresh approach should be made to the pyramiding problems.

A series of meetings beginning tomorrow and perhaps climaxed by the first Cabinet meeting of the new year on January 4, may determine Yoshida's ability to ride the storm without a drastic overhaul.

The Social Democratic party, the main opposition force, is so divided within itself into right and left wings that it lacks even a concerted program.

Must Resign By May

The main political stakes are future control of the Government. Unless he runs for office soon, and no election has been scheduled, Yoshida must resign by May, when the new constitution becomes effective.

The present Cabinet fears that the industrial slowdown, due to the lack of raw materials and increasing inflation, will turn the people against the Conservatives and toward the Socialists in the next election.

Two U. S. Soldiers Killed.

Nagoya, Japan, Dec. 30 (A. P.), —Pfc. James T. Aycock of Tifton, Ga.; Pfc. William E. Scoggins of Odessa, Tex., and a Japanese girl were killed last week when the Army truck in which they were riding was struck by a locomotive at a crossing near the Itami Air Base, Fifth Air Force Headquarters announced today. Seven other Army men and two other Japanese girls were injured, including Pfc. Bonato J. Granegna of 308 68th street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Jap Market Hues: Black, Black-Black

Tokyo, Dec. 30 (AP) — The little man who shells out 100-yen notes for an item that once cost 1 yen knows a lot about inflation—but the Tokyo press reminded him today that costs were 2,000 times those of 1937 for many necessities of life.

And if luxuries are included, the increase in some cases amounts to 13,000 times 1937 levels, Government figures noted.

The range depends upon whether the buyer patronizes "the black market" or "the black-black market," one writer observed. The only legal market is maintained by Government-controlled stores selling tightly rationed foods at official prices.

But the ration is insufficient, averaging 864 calories daily. Actually, Japanese ate in the past year an average of 1,380 calories daily, and even that was 600 below the 1937 diet.

Black markets, operating openly, supply the difference at any price that individual merchants can command.

Prosecution To Rest Jap War Crimes Case

Tokyo, Dec. 30 (AP)—The International War Crimes prosecution said today it would rest its case against Japan's accused wartime leaders the week of January 13, and the court announced it would grant a defense request for a two week's recess at that time.

The seven-month-long prosecution continued today with evidence of Japanese atrocities in the Netherlands Indies.

An affidavit by Lieut. Com. Palgrave Ebden Car, of the Australian Air Force, said he saw a captured Allied flight officer whom he knew only as McDiarmed, refused anaesthetic for a leg amputation because he would not divulge location of his squadron. After the operation the patient was left out of doors in a downpour of rain, Car said.

Japan Receives U. S. Sugar

TOKYO, Dec. 30 (AP) — Occupation Headquarters announced today that during the past month 1,136 tons of sugar and 180 tons of candy had been imported to Japan from the United States. It was the first sugar imported for the Japanese since the surrender, except for 300 tons early in 1946.

ATOM COMMISSION HEAD APPOINTED

Wilson to Push Transition from Military to Civilian Control.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30—(AP) Carroll Louis Wilson, 36-year-old science executive and engineer, was named general manager of the Atomic Energy Commission today and immediately announced plans to push the transition from military to civilian control.

Wilson told a news conference, after President Truman announced his appointment, that the changeover will be made as speedily as possible after the new civilian commission formally takes control of the Army's Manhattan District on New Year's Day. Details will be announced tomorrow.

Although most of the personnel are civilians, Wilson said a number of Army officers are in the atomic energy organization and their replacement involves "quite a few changes."

Groves Aid

Other officials at the conference said it is expected the services of Maj. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, in charge of the Manhattan Project that developed the atomic bomb, "will be available to the commission as consultant." He retains his assignment as assistant chief of Army engineers.

Wilson said that except for the military members of the division of military application of atomic energy, few military personnel will be left in the project after the commission completes its organization.

As for the production of atomic bombs by the commission, he observed, "that is for a decision on a higher level than ours."

His duty, as general manager, will be to "implement the decisions of the commission," he explained.

He added that military applications, as well as peacetime uses of atomic energy, are part of the commission's responsibilities.

Laboratories and research in industrial uses of atomic power "certainly are part of the development program" that Congress intended, he said.

At the news conference officials announced details of the change-over from the military to commission control of atomic energy will be given the public tomorrow.

$15,000 Job

Charles G. Ross, White House secretary, said in announcing the appointment that the $15,000-a-year job is equal in importance to membership on the atomic commission itself.

During the war Wilson was right hand man to Dr. Vannevar Bush in the office of Scientific Research and Development, the government's top and highly secret war science arm.

In 1945 he was secretary to the State Department Board which produced the Acheson-Lilienthal report. That study forms the basis for the U. S. plan for international control.

Since October when the atomic commission was appointed Wilson has been a consultant to its members.

David Lilienthal, an author of the State department's international atomic energy report, is chairman of the commission.

Atomic Treaty Powers For Senate Demanded

Washington, Dec. 30 (AP)—Senator Wiley (R., Wis.) demanded today that the Senate reassert the treaty control powers he says it holds over international atomic energy agreements.

Wiley, who will head the Senate Judiciary Committee in the new Congress, said he will introduce a resolution declaring it to be the "sense of the Senate" that any such agreement "entered into by a representative of the United States, is not valid and binding upon this country unless it is ratified by a two-thirds vote of the Senate as a formal treaty."

A similar resolution by Wiley was referred to committee last year. At that time he told the Senate that secret agreements had been made at Yalta and Potsdam committing the United States to peace settlements which neither the people nor Congress had a chance to pass on.

Wiley told a reporter he seeks to avoid such agreements concerning atomic energy.

"I don't think Mr. Truman would attempt it," he said "but during the Roosevelt Administration the Chief Executive went off the reservation."

Sen. Wiley Urges Further Study Of Controls

Washington, Dec. 30 (AP)—Senator Alexander Wiley (Wis.) told his Republican colleagues today the effect would be "chaotic" if all the Government's wartime controls were repealed at a single stroke.

In a report drafted for the Republican conference of the Senate, Wiley proposed further studies of all emergency measures by separate Senate committees.

Then, not later than next March 5, he said, the Judiciary Committee should "review and correlate them in the light of the overall national welfare" and submit a repeal resolution covering those war powers no longer needed.

Many Called Essential

"With the advent of the atomic age," Wiley asserted, "many of the emergency and wartime statutes continue to be essential, at least in some degree. We must be adequate to our responsibilities in the atomic age."

Without referring specifically to Republican campaign pledges to bring a swift end to Federal controls over industry and individuals, the Wisconsin Republican said he understood the party's position to be in favor of terminating controls "at the earliest possible date."

Wiley added, however, that "I personally believe this subject is so important that it must be considered and handled in as nonpartisan a manner as possible."

Cites Three Reasons

His report to the party conference cited three reasons against precipitate action:

1. The "continued national mergency";

2. The "varied and complex nature" of the controls themselves, and

3. The "chaotic effects resulting from overall repeal."

Wiley said that although the "shooting war" is over, "we are still fighting a war of ideas" in the international sphere.

"Still In Domestic Crisis"

"On the home front, we are still in a domestic crisis," the report continued. "There has been widespread lack of production due to strikes and restrictive Government regulations.

"If we were to close our eyes to these international and domestic emergencies and deprive our Government of such tenuous powers as it already has, for example, in the domestic field relating to strike control, we might find that we are losing the kind of enduring peace for which 300 of our heroic men gave their lives."

Wiley pointed to the price control and second War Powers Act as examples of "the chaotic effect" quick repeal might have because of their provisions for rationing, priorities, inventory and other controls.

Backs Farm Support

Also, he said, wartime agricultural laws require "earnest consideration."

"Were we arbitrarily to wipe out price supports," Wiley declared, "we might well find before long the farmers having the same experience that they had during the 20's and 30's. This must not happen. . . .

"The farmers are one class who have never struck. They are the backbone of America. A prosperous America depends upon their continued prosperity."

Wiley proposed that the separate committee studies be completed for the Judiciary Committee by February 15.

Two Democrats Reported Ready To Sign Report Against Bilbo

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30—(AP) Two Democrats were reported ready tonight to agree with four Republicans on a Senate committee report accusing Senator Bilbo (D-Miss.) of using his position for "personal gain" in dealings with war contractors.

Chairman Kilgore (D-W.Va.) of the War Investigating committee reportedly told other members he would sign the report if it were altered slightly to make it entirely clear that the committee is not attempting to tell the Senate what it should do about any of the complaints the committee makes.

Mead Seen In Agreement

Senator Mead (D-N.Y.), who headed the subcommittee which inquired into Bilbo's acceptance of funds from war contractors in 1942, was said by other members to have agreed to sign the report.

The four Republicans, Senators Brewster of Maine, Ferguson of Michigan, Knowland of California and Ball of Minnesota, already have given their approval to the report.

The committee's findings, expected to be made public this week, were described by a member as charging that Bilbo "improperly used his high office for his personal gains in dealing with war contractors."

Bilbo conceded during hearings that he had received funds contributed by war contractors. He contended that the money all was spent in an unsuccessful 1942 campaign to elect Wall Doxey to the Senate. Doxey now is Senate sergeant-at-arms.

Some committee members contended that Bilbo had solicited funds in violation of the war contracts law. They noted, however, that the statute of limitations has blocked direct action on any charge that might be made on that point.

With the committee report apparently headed for approval by a committee majority, Republicans argued the question of attempting to stop the Mississippi senator at the door when the Senate convenes Friday.

Differ On Procedure

Bilbo's new term starts then and Senators Brewster and Ferguson, both war investigating committee members, contend the Republicans should make an effort at that time to keep the Mississippian from taking his seat. On the other hand, Senators Vandenberg (R-Mich.), Taft (R-Ohio) and Millikin (R-Colo.) have indicated they want to avoid disrupting the first Republican organization of the Senate's machinery in 14 years. They prefer to fight the Bilbo matter out later.

Brewster took notice of possible delaying tactics that might develop, by asserting that if any Democrats wish to filibuster a motion to prevent Bilbo from taking the oath, their party will have to assume the responsibility for keeping the Senate from going to work.

Bilbo has announced he will fight any move to make him stand aside and a sharp debate is expected if such a motion comes up.

Chairman Taft of the Senate Republican Steering committee told reporters that the decision on what strategy to pursue on Bilbo will be left to the new steering committee. Selection of that committee was one task of a caucus of all Senate Republicans this afternoon.

Brewster Urges Barring Bilbo At The Door

Washington, Dec. 30 (AP)—Senator Brewster (R., Maine), announced today he is joining Senator Ferguson (R., Mich) in a demand that Republicans attempt to bar Senator Bilbo (D., Miss.) at the door when the Senate convenes Friday.

"The country expects us to act now on Bilbo," Brewster declared. "We ought to try to stop him at the door. If the Democrats want to filibuster and prevent the organization of the Senate, that is their responsibility."

Republicans, although apparently in general agreement that Bilbo's right to a seat should be questioned, are split over what procedure should be followed.

Some Would Defer Challenge

Some Republican leaders have shied away from an immediate challenge to Bilbo, on the grounds that if he were asked to step aside Democrats might seek to prevent the seventeen new Republicans and GOP senators who are starting new terms from taking the oath of office. Those of this view would let the Mississippian take his seat, then try to oust him.

Senators Vandenberg (R., Mich.), Taft (R., Ohio) and Millikin (R., Col.) indicated they believed the Senate ought to go ahead with its organization procedure and leave the Bilbo case for subsequent action.

Ferguson told reporters he would like to see Chairman Kilgore (D., W.Va.) of the War Investigating Committee to discuss a forthcoming report on Bilbo's financial relations with Mississippi war contractors. The committee held extensive hearings on the subject.

Eager For Discussion

Kilgore said earlier after a White House conference that he wanted to talk over the report, which, he said, he had not voted to approve, with Ferguson and with Senator Mead (D., N.Y.), who headed a subcommittee which conducted the Bilbo investigation.

Meanwhile, the special Senate Campaign Investigating Committee tentatively called a meeting for 10.30 tomorrow morning to write a report on its separate investigation of Bilbo. That group went into sworn charges that he had tried to intimidate Negroes from voting in last summer's Mississippi primary.

The Republican Steering Committee reached no decision at a forenoon meeting on what course should be taken in the Bilbo matter.

Chairman Taft (R., Ohio) told reporters after a committee session that the question will be left to the new steering committee, to be elected by a caucus of all Senate Republicans.

Foresees How He Can Stay

An influential Republican Senator said that Bilbo probably will be able to retain his seat if he musters the support of only 32 Senators, or one third of the Senate.

This member said the charges being pressed against Bilbo by a majority report of the Senate War Investigating Committee fall within the category requiring a two-thirds vote "for expulsion."

Meantime, however, Senator Ferguson, who contends that Bilbo can be barred from taking his oath in the new Congress by a simple majority, urged fellow Republicans to try to prevent Bilbo from being sworn in for a third term Friday.

Two possible moves against Bilbo are under consideration.

One would be based on complaints that Bilbo intimidated Negroes who wanted to vote in the Mississippi primary.

All agree that this issue could be decided by a simple majority vote because it is classed as a "rejection case," rather than an "expulsion."

But several Republican leaders are questioning both the strength of these charges and the political wisdom in pushing an issue that might line up most Southern Democrats solidly behind Bilbo. They also fear that the ensuing battle might cause a long delay in the organization of the new Senate.

These leaders believe that the majority report which the War Investigating Committee is expected to file Thursday will contain much stronger ammunition, even though action would require a two-thirds vote.

Subjects In Review

This report will review:

1. Bilbo's acknowledgment that he collected thousands of dollars from war contractors to spend in an unsuccessful election campaign in behalf of former Senator Wall Doxey (D., Miss.), present Senate sergeant at arms.

2. Bilbo's references to gifts of an expensive automobile and help in building a second home, artificial lake and swimming pool either as donations "from old friends" or as debts he plans eventually to pay.

3. Testimony that a purported narcotics addict gave Bilbo either $1,000 or $1,500 through a physician after the Senator helped obtain approval of Federal narcotics officials for a steady ration of morphine.

2 MORE HOUSING AIDES QUIT POSTS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (AP) David L. Krooth and Howard F. Vickery, officials in the former Wilson Wyatt Federal housing set-up, resigned today in dissatisfaction, friends said, over policies followed since Wyatt stepped out.

The resignations coincided with an order further relaxing controls on housing lumber, millwork and hardwood flooring.

Krooth was general counsel in both NHA and the expediter's office, and Vickery was information director of both agencies.

Vickery resigned without comment. Krooth made public letters of resignation to Housing Expediters Frank R. Creedon and NHA Administrator Raymond M. Foley in which he expressed a desire to return to private law practice.

The lumber rule relaxations result principally from the elimination of new priorities for homebuilders.

The principal changes are:

1. Removal of a set-aside requirement except for shop lumber and hardwood flooring.

2. Elimination of provisions requiring production of hardwood flooring lumber. Saw mills are still required to produce 50 per cent housing construction lumber out of their total softwood lumber production.

3. Sawmills and distributors are no longer required to hold housing construction lumber or hardwood flooring lumber for a set period of time, but outstanding priorities must be honored.

4. Allocations to dealers are eliminated except that dealers may use their customers, existing priorities in ordering from mills.

The Office of Temporary Control reported that lumber production in October was 3,354,788,800 board feet, 62.6 per cent above the same month of 1945.

U. S. War Aid to Chinese Put at $2,000,000,000

Estimate Is Below Amount Claimed by Communist

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (AP).—United States aid to China since Pearl Harbor has amounted to more than $2,000,000,000, but not even experts in surplus property and Chinese currency are able to figure the exact total.

Government authorities were unable today to stretch the figures to the $3,600,000,000 total which General Chou En-lai, Chinese Communist leader, said recently that the United States had turned over to the nationalist government.

Principal items in the aid to China include: lend-lease, $1,565,000,000; Treasury loans authorized in 1942 by Congress, $500,000,000; Export-Import Bank credit, $66,000,000; surplus property whose original cost of $837,000,000 was scaled down to $175,000,000 in settlement for $150,000,000,000 inflated Chinese dollars advanced to the United States in war time.

Towers To Be At Head Of Navy General Board

Washington, Dec. 30 (AP)—Admiral John H. Towers, commander in chief of the Pacific Fleet, will be appointed to head a rejuvenated Navy general board, it was learned tonight.

Towers is to return here from Hawaii after his sixty-second birthday next month.

The general board officially is the Secretary of the Navy's senior advisory group on planning. Actually, many of its indefinite duties were taken over during the war by the office of the chief of Naval operations. Membership on it frequently has been regarded in Navy circles as semi-retirement.

Now, Navy officials say, it will be made a powerful advisory force under Towers, helping choose the ships and weapons for the Navy of the future. Several other well-known admirals are slated for membership.

Towers will be succeeded as Pacific Fleet commander by Vice Admiral Louis E. Denfeld, now chief of naval personnel.

Fortieth Nation Joins Monetary Fund Before Deadline Tonight

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (AP).—Venezuela today became the fortieth nation to join the World Bank and World Monetary Fund. That left four nations—Russia, Australia, New Zealand and Liberia—which are entitled to join on "charter member" terms by tomorrow midnight.

None of the four has yet signified it would do so. To join after the deadline, they would have to be approved especially by the two organizations.

Air Forces Band to Tokyo

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (AP).—The newly organized Army Air Forces band will leave for Tokyo early in January, the War Department announced today. The band is the first of four which will be organized and trained at Bolling Field here for overseas duty entertaining occupation troops. The other three will go to the Edropean theater, the Alaskan defense command and the Caribbean Air Command.

GRAND JURY HOLDS 2 AMERICANS ON TREASON CHARGES

BOSTON, Dec. 30—(AP) Two expatriate American newspapermen—Robert Henry Best, 51, and Douglas Chandler, 56—were indicted today by a Federal grand jury on charges of treasonously selling out to the Nazis by serving as their radio mouthpieces during the war.

Setting the stage for New England's first treason trial since the the Revolutionary War, the jury returned the indictments after hearing 15 witnesses—at least two of them German women.

Judge Francis J. W. Ford, who was assigned to preside at the trial, directed that Best and Chandler be brought here at the earliest possible date from Washington for arraignment.

Accused of Treason

Chandler, who was born in Chicago, and Best, a native of Sumter county, South Carolina, were accused specifically of "wilfully and traitorously" giving aid and comfort to the enemy from within a few days after the United States entered the war until Germany capitulated.

The tall, grey-haired Chandler was charged by government attorneys with attempting to undermine American support of the war and to "weaken and destroy confidence in the administration" through shortwave broadcasts under the pseudonym "Paul Revere."

Best, a well-known pre-war character in Vienna cafes, was accused of serving as news editor in the German propaganda division handling broadcasts beamed to the United States and later of participating on a "round table conference" program on the German radio.

Just when the trial will begin was not announced, but court attaches indicated Chandler and Best would be given probably until April to file pleas and prepare their defense.

Conviction in treason cases carries a mandatory sentence of death by hanging.

Held In Washington

Chandler and Best are now held in prison in the national capital, where they were indicted originally with several others for treason in 1943.

The case was shifted to the Federal court in Boston—within sight of Faneuil Hall, "The Cradle of Liberty"— to comply with a 150-year-old statute requiring them to be tried in the district where they first touched United States soil.

A plane flying them from Germany to Washington was forced down in Massachusetts by weather.

Armed guards protected the identies of the witnesses who testified before the 22-man jury—but one was a stylishly-dressed woman about 35 believed to be a German.

The jury returned the indictments after less than an hour's deliberation.

WALLACE QUOTES FROM BIBLE ON 'LIBERAL' CAUSE

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. — (AP) The Bible presents "the liberal point of view" more lucidly than the "modernistic jargon" of many present-day sociologists and economists, Henry A. Wallace said today.

"If the progressive cause would present its ideas to the American people in terms they are familiar with instead of in modernistic jargon the people would really see the liberal point of view," Wallace said in an interview.

He replied with chapter and verse when asked to enlarge upon a comment he made in an address yesterday before a new political action group, the Progressive Citizens of America, in which he cited the Bible, the Declaration of Independence and Lincoln's Gettysberg Address as containing the language of public appeal.

"The essence of the liberal point of view is contained in Christ's doctrine of the individual soul—the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man," said the former Vice president who now is editor of the New Republic magazine.

Cites Prophets

"The Bible contains archaic language but it contains truths in language people can understand. Many of the Old Testament prophets said exactly what liberals are saying today."

Specifically he referred to many passages of Isaiah, to the sixth verse of the second chapter of Amos which says:

"Thus saith the Lord, for three transgressions of Israel, and for four, I will not turn away the punishment thereof; because they sold the righteous for silver, and the poor for a pair of shoes."

The fourth chapter of Micah, he said, contains "the finest statement of world peace" in a prophecy of many nations uniting to "beat their swords into ploughshares and their spears into pruninghooks."

Lists Declaration

"A liberal's creed is contained," he said, "in the preamble to the Declaration of Independence, particularly in that passage which begins 'we hold these truths to be self-evident.' It is contained too in the phrase of the Gettysburg Address which says 'all men are created equal.'"

Advocates of the progressive cause failed, he said, when they couched their appeals to the mass of people in "modernistic jargon" rather than in the simple manner of great Biblical and American literature.

In answer to questions, Wallace said he meant the language employed by many sociologists, economists and pseudo-psychologists which was incomprehensible to most people. He did not elaborate with specific examples.

EX-RED OFFICIAL ASSAILS SOVIET

Can't Take His Family Back to Live Under Oppression He Declares

NEW YORK, Dec. 30—(AP) Kiril M. Alexeiev, who described himself as acting commercial attache at the Soviet Embassy in Mexico for two years, said in a statement today he considered it his duty "to state publicly that I am opposed to the Soviet regime."

"No nation is more exploited, or rather enslaved, than the Soviet nation," said the statement, issued through Alexeiev's lawyer, Martin Richmond, at a news conference.

Richmond said Alexeiev had reason to believe he was sought by Soviet officials in the United States. The lawyer said that while the Russian was living at one place, two men of foreign appearance kept it under surveillance for several hours, but left when police arrived. The family has moved since then, the lawyer said.

Alexeiev said "life abroad has opened to me the true meaning of what I saw in the Soviet Union," and added:

Raps Dictatorship

"I can not return to my homeland and doom my family, which has become accustomed to breathe the fresh air of freedom, to life under the heel of dictatorship. But I feel that in this country (the United States) they will become free human beings, and I firmly believe that my family and I will be given an opportunity to start a new life here."

In a foreword to Alexeiev's prepared statement, Richmond said the Russian, his wife, and two children left Mexico two months ago and now were living in the United States with friends of the lawyer.

Richmond declined to say where the Russians were staying, or why the statement was issued. He said the statement was prepared in Russian and translated within the past two days. The Russian, he stated, had been his client "for a short time."

Alexeiev said he was 37 years old, was a graduate of the Moscow Mining Academy, and was assigned to the post in Mexico in April, 1944.

His statement said:

"Living now in the United States with my wife and two children, I consider it my duty to state publicly that I am opposed to the Soviet regime, and explain the reasons of my antagonism. x x x

"The Soviet government's domestic policy is based on the principle of complete isolation of the Russian people from democratic nations, especially the U. S. A. The government persistently tries to inoculate the spirit of animosity toward everything foreign.

"During my sojourn abroad I have realized the monstrosity of the lies spread in the Soviet Union about 'the beastly exploitation of workers in capitalist countries.'

"Such stories are told the Russia people for the purpose of arousing their indignation against the democratic regime of the U.S.A.

"All my life I have loyally worked for the Russian people, whom I love and to whom my attachment is very deep. But it has become clear to me that my work, like that of the whole Russian people, is beneficial to the Soviet regime and not to themselves."

Alexeiev said he had witnessed acts of brutality by the Russian government and secret police, and learned of other cases from friends.

Alexeiev stated that among high Soviet officials he knew was Andrei Gromyko, Soviet representative on the United Nations Security Council.

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 30—(AP)—An official spokesman for the Soviet Embassy here expressed surprise tonight at a statement by Kiril M. Alexeiev, an embassy employe, who said in New York today that he was opposed to the Soviet regime.

"We thought Alexeiev was already back in the Soviet Union today or well on his way there," the spokesman said.

The spokesman said "Alexeiev left here around the end of November to return to the Soviet Union by way of the United States. He was never commercial attache at the embassy or acting attache, but simply an employe in the commercial section."

"Until more details are available," the spokesman said, he would make no further comment.

CONGRESSMAN SCORES ATTACK ON RUSSIA

COTUIT, Mass., Dec. 30 (AP)—A committee report sharply criticizing Russia was declared "unbelievable" today by Representative Charles L. Gifford, Republican, of Massachusetts, a member of the special House Post-War Committee on Economic Policy and Planning.

[The report, attacking Russia's policy in Germany, urged Congress to consider limiting shipments of a military and economic character to the Soviet Union. It added that if reports of Russia's rearming with German war plants were true, the whole Potsdam Agreement should be scrapped and demands that the Soviet Union get out of Germany completely should be made.]

Asserting he was "not consulted," Mr. Gifford said he "could not believe his eyes" when he read newspaper accounts crediting his committee with a report accusing the Soviet Union of failure to keep the Potsdam and other agreements.

"I had no part in it," he said. "I cannot imagine that the committee would put out such an important report without consulting its entire membership.

"I have read and reread the newspaper articles trying to figure the thing out. I have wondered if some other committee on post-war planning might be responsible."

Declaring the committee was concerned chiefly with economic policy, Representative Gifford asserted:

"This report is very much military in character."

In Washington, Representative William M. Colmer, Democrat, of Mississippi, chairman of the committee, was not available for comment. A committee clerk told reporters that copies of the report were sent all committee members. Each was asked, the clerk said, whether he had any suggestions, and was told that unless an objection was received by Dec. 26 it would be assumed that each member approved.

When the report, a document printed by the Government Printing Office, was distributed in the House press gallery it was described as having unanimous committee support. Committee personnel had no explanation today why Representative Gifford did not receive his copy.

Mr. Gifford was not available later for comment on the clerk's statement.

POLICE SAID THEY BELIEVED THE ARRESTED JEWS HAD BEEN RESPONSIBLE FOR FLOGGING THE SERGEANT AT RISHON.

AUTHORITIES SAID THAT LAST NIGHT'S EVENTS INCLUDED A 15 MINUTE DIVERSIONARY ATTACK ON THE REHOVOTH POLICE STATION SIX MILES FROM RISHON. NO CASUALTIES WERE REPORTED.

POLICE SAID THE MAJOR, WHO WAS IDENTIFIED AS MAJOR BRETT OF THE SIXTH AIRBORNE DIVISION, WAS STRIPPED OF HIS UNIFORM BY THE FLOGGERS. HE LIMPED BACK TO THE HOTEL CLAD ONLY IN HIS UNDERWEAR, AN HOUR AFTER THE INCIDENT.

POLICE RECEIVED AN ANONYMOUS CALL NOTIFYING THEM WHERE THE SERGEANTS COULD BE FOUND, BUT BEFORE THEY REACHED THE SCENE THE SOLDIERS HAD WALKED TO THE POLICE STATION.

EYEWITNESSES ASSERTED THAT THE ABDUCTORS, ALL OF WHOM WERE ARMED, WERE "JEWISH TERRORISTS."

LAST WEEK THE JEWISH UNDERGROUND ORGANIZATION, IRGUN ZVAI LEUMI, BROADCAST A WARNING THAT BRITISH OFFICERS WOULD BE WHIPPED IF ANY WHIPPINGS WERE CARRIED OUT AGAINST IRGUN MEMBERS.

AMMAN, TRANS-JORDAN, DEC.30-(AP)-PRINCE FEISAL, SAUDI ARABIAN FOREIGN MINISTER, ARRIVED TODAY FOR A SERIES OF TALKS WITH KING ABDULLAH OF TRANS-JORDAN WHICH SOME POLITICAL CIRCLES SAID "MAY GO A LONG WAY TOWARD PAVING THE WAY FOR THE UNION OF ALL ARAB STATES."

DIPLOMATIC CIRCLES SAID FEISAL, SON OF KING IBN SAUD OF SAUDI ARABIA, AND ABDULLAH WOULD DISCUSS TURKEY'S POSITION IN REGARD TO THE ARAB COUNTRIES, OIL DEVELOPMENTS AND RECURRENT BORDER INCIDENTS BETWEEN CITIZENS OF SAUDI ARABIA AND TRANS-JORDAN.

ARAB POLITICAL EXPERTS SAY THE TWO COUNTRIES ARE RULED BY CLANS INVOLVED IN A BITTER BLOOD FEUD WHICH HAS SERIOUSLY AFFECTED ARABIC SOLIDARITY AND THAT THE TALKS MAY SWEEP AWAY THE BAD FEELING.

BEFORE ARRIVING AT AMMAN, FEISAL STOPPED OFF BRIEFLY AT CAIRO TODAY AND TOLD NEWSMEN THERE THAT DURING HIS RECENT TALKS WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN, THE AMERICAN EXECUTIVE PROMISED TO RECONSIDER THE PALESTINE PROBLEM.

STATING THAT TRUMAN'S SUPPORT OF THE ZIONIST CAUSE IN PALESTINE WAS BASED ON HIS BELIEF THAT THE JEWS "ARE PERSECUTED AND UNJUSTLY TREATED," FEISAL SAID THE PRESIDENT "DESIRES THAT PEACE IN THE MIDDLE EAST BE MAINTAINED."

"I EXPLAINED TO HIM THAT HIS PRESENT POLICY DOES NOT MAINTAIN PEACE IN THE MIDDLE EAST," FEISAL CONTINUED, "BUT HAS THE OPPOSITE EFFECT AND THAT IT MAY CAUSE DISTURBANCES ALL OVER THE MIDDLE EAST."

ASKED WHETHER TRUMAN HAD CHANGED HIS ATTITUDE AFTER THE CONFERENCE, FEISAL SAID, "I CANNOT SAY, BUT PRESIDENT TRUMAN PROMISED ME TO RECONSIDER THE MATTER."

PARIS, DEC.30-(AP)-IN ITS FINANCIAL SECTION, THE FRENCH NEWSPAPER "LE PAYS" TODAY DROPPED ALL OFFICIAL PRETENSE ON ACTUAL DOLLAR-POUND-FRANC RELATIONSHIPS.

IN A BOX HEADED "SEMI-OFFICIAL EXCHANGE," THE NEWSPAPER LISTED THE CURRENT BLACK MARKET RATES AS COMPARED WITH THOSE OF A WEEK AGO.

THE DOLLAR, WHICH OFFICIALLY IS 120 FRANCS, WAS QUOTED AT 345 AGAINST 357 A WEEK AGO. THE POUND, OFFICIALLY 480, WAS PLACED AT 1,035 FRANCS AGAINST 1,036 A WEEK AGO.

SAARBRUECKEN, DEC. 30-(AP)-NEW MEASURES RESTRICTING THE MOVEMENT OF ALL PERSONS IN AND OUT OF THE DISPUTED SAAR HAVE BEEN ORDERED BY LT. GEN. PIERRE KOENIG, WHOSE RECENT ACTION IN THROWING A 1,200-MAN CUSTOMS CORDON AROUND THE COAL-RICH AREA HAS BEEN DESCRIBED AS "UNILATERAL" BY HIGH U.S. MILITARY GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS.

KOENIG'S MILITARY GOVERNMENT OF THE SAAR ALSO ANNOUNCED THAT BETWEEN 7,000 AND 10,000 NATIVES OF THE SAAR IN FRENCH PRISONER OF WAR CAMPS WOULD BE FREED AND WOULD BE ASKED TO RETURN TO THE SAAR TO WORK IN MINES WHICH ALREADY ARE PRODUCING 70 PER CENT OF THEIR PEAK PRE-WAR PRODUCTION.

FRENCH CUSTOMS OFFICIALS, RINGING THE SAAR BORDERS, WERE ORDERED TO PROHIBIT GERMANS FROM LEAVING OR ENTERING THE TERRITORY WITHOUT SPECIAL PASSES. OTHER NATIONALS WERE REQUIRED TO POSSESS PASSPORTS WITH A SPECIAL VISA IN THREE LANGUAGES. GERMANS WERE FORBIDDEN TO TAKE MORE THAN 100 MARKS (ABOUT $19) OUT OF THE SAAR UNDER THREAT OF CONFISCATION AND ARREST.

THE BAN ON THE MOVEMENTS OF ALL PERSONS WAS DESCRIBED BY GERMAN POLITICAL LEADERS AS A MOVE TO STABILIZE THE SAAR POPULATION.

(THE PAPER ASSERTED THAT FRANCE, IN THROWING UP A CUSTOMS BARRIER BETWEEN THE SAAR AND THE REMAINDER OF GERMANY HAD MOVED TOWARD ANNEXATION OF THE TERRITORY.)

FRENCH OFFICIALS, WHO HAVE DENIED THAT LAST WEEK'S FRONTIER CORDON CONSTITUTED AN "ANNEXATION" OF THE SAAR, SAID THAT:

(1) THEY ARE BRINGING QUANTITIES OF FOOD INTO THE SAAR AND HAVE INCREASED THE DAILY RATION OF MINERS TO 4,000 CALORIES. THE AVERAGE FOR A GERMAN IN THE FRENCH ZONE IS 1,380 CALORIES.

(2) THE CUSTOMS CORDON WAS ESTABLISHED TO PREVENT ADDITIONAL FOOD FROM FLOWING THROUGH BLACK MARKET CHANNELS INTO THE REST OF THE FRENCH ZONE. MOST OF THE EXTRA FOOD, HOWEVER, IS CONSUMED AT THE MINES.

(3) CENSORSHIP OF NEWS AND RADIO IS ENFORCED AND DEMOCRATIC ELECTION IN THE SAAR HAVE BEEN RESTRICTED TO MUNICIPALITIES.

NIGHT LEAD ALBANIA (190)

BY JOHN P.MCKNIGHT

ROME, DEC.30-(AP)-RELIABLE INFORMANTS HERE SAID ALBANIA HAS REJECTED A BRITISH DEMAND FOR APOLOGY AND REPARATIONS FOR THE MINING OF THE CORFU CHANNEL WHICH BROUGHT DEATH TO 54 SEAMEN ABOARD TWO BRITISH DESTROYERS LAST OCTOBER AND HAS ASSERTED THAT THE MINES WERE LAID BY GREECE.

ALTHOUGH NO DETAILS OF THE ALBANIAN REPLY TO BRITAIN'S DEMAND FOR REDRESS WERE AVAILABLE, IT WAS UNDERSTOOD THAT ITS TERMS WERE SUCH THAT BRITAIN PROBABLY WOULD CARRY OUT HER THREAT TO PLACE THE AFFAIR BEFORE THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL.

(IN LONDON, THE FOREIGN OFFICE STATED ONLY THAT THE ALBANIAN REPLY WAS BEING STUDIED, BUT THERE WERE INDICATIONS THAT BRITAIN'S REACTION MIGHT BE STATED FOLLOWING A CABINET MEETING TUESDAY.)

THIS AND OTHER RECENT DEVELOPMENTS APPEARED LIKELY TO FURTHER DIM THE BRITISH AND AMERICAN VIEW OF THE ALBANIAN REGIME OF PREMIER ENVER HOXHA.

BRITAIN HAS NO DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH ALBANIA--ITS PROTEST WAS DELIVERED TO THE ALBANIAN LEGATION AT BELGRADE--AND THE UNITED STATES HAS HAD NONE SINCE THE WITHDRAWAL OF ITS MISSION.

BRITAIN ACCUSED ALBANIA OF VIOLATION OF THE HAGUE CONVENTION IN FAILING TO NOTIFY OTHER COUNTRIES OF THE CORFU CHANNEL MINEFIELDS, LAID STATING THAT ALBANIA EITHER LAID THE MINES OR KNEW THAT THEY HAD BEEN

ROME ALSO HAS RECEIVED FRESH INFORMATION ABOUT THE MALIK LAKE SABOTAGE TRIAL IN NOVEMBER WHICH, IN THE OPINION OF SOME AMERICAN OBSERVERS HERE, DEMONSTRATES THAT THE CHIEF PURPOSE OF THE TRIAL WAS TO DISCREDIT THE UNITED STATES DIPLOMATIC MISSION TO ALBANIA WHICH WAS WITHDRAWN NOV. 14.

DURING THE TRIAL, WHICH ENDED WITH THE CONFICTION AND EXECUTION OF FIVE ALBANIAN ENGINEERS, TESTIMONY WAS INTRODUCED TO PICTURE HARRY T.FULTZ OF PALOS HEIGHTS, ILL., ECONOMIC ADVISER TO THE AMERICAN MISSION, AS THE RINGLEADER OF AN ALLEGED PLOT TO SABOTAGE DRAINAGE

OF THE MARSHY AND MOSQUITO-BREEDING LAKE.

FULTZ WAS ACCUSED OF DISTRIBUTING 200 GOLD NAPOLEONS AND GIVING INSTRUCTIONS BY LETTER AND VERBALLY TO THE ALLEGED SABOTEURS SO THAT FAILURE TO DRAIN THE LAKE WOULD PUT THE HOXHA REGIME IN DISREPUTE AND FURTHER WEAKEN ALBANIANS THROUGH CONTINUING THEIR EXPOSURE TO THE MALARIA-CARRYING MOSQUITOES.

SO FAR AS CAN BE LEARNED HERE, THE LETTER WHICH THE PROSECUTION CLAIMED FULTZ WROTE WAS NEVER PRODUCED. QUERIED ABOUT IT HERE, FULTZ SAID, "OF COURSE, I DID NOT WRITE SUCH A LETTER." HE ADDED THAT HE HAD NEVER SEEN 200 GOLD NAPOLEONS.

HE ALSO DENIED A THIRD PROSECUTION CHARGE THAT HE HAD INSTRUCTED ALBANIAN WORKERS IN BUILDING A RADIO TRANSMITTER FOR COMMUNICATION WITH BRITISH-AMERICAN TROOPS "WHEN THEY LAND," AND HE REFERRED ALL OTHER QUESTIONS TO THE U.S. STATE DEPARTMENT.

IT IS UNDERSTOOD IN ROME THAT THE FIVE ALBANIAN ENGINEERS WERE ARRESTED SHORTLY AFTER UNRRA, ACTING ON REPORTS ABOUT ALBANIAN CROP PROSPECTS WHICH FULTZ HELPED PREPARE, REJECTED AN ALBANIAN REQUEST FOR 40,000 TONS OF WHEAT.

THE CHARGE OF SABOTAGE WAS PLACED AGAINST THE FIVE WHEN IT BECAME EVIDENT THAT DRAINAGE OF THE LAKE -- WHICH ITALIAN ENGINEERS WORKING FOR KING ZOG FAILED TO EFFECT IN 1935--COULD NOT BE COMPLETED BY NOVEMBER AS THE GOVERNMENT HAD PROMISED.

ROME, DEC.30-(AP)-ALBANIA, IN REJECTING A BRITISH DEMAND FOR AN APOLOGY AND REPARATIONS, HAS BLAMED GREECE FOR MINING THE CORFU CHANNEL WITH RESULTS FATAL TO 54 BRITISH SEAMEN, ACCORDING TO RELIABLE INFORMATION. DAY - Albania

TWO BRITISH DESTROYERS STRUCK MINES IN THE CHANNEL OFF ALBANIA OCT.22. BRITAIN DEMANDED REDRESS IN A 2,000-WORD NOTE TO ALBANIA DEC.10.

NO FURTHER DETAILS OF THE ALBANIAN ANSWER WERE OBTAINABLE HERE TONIGHT, BUT IT WAS UNDERSTOOD TO BE ALREADY IN THE HANDS OF THE BRITISH FOREIGN OFFICE IN LONDON. (THE FOREIGN OFFICE DECLINED MONDAY NIGHT TO ADD ANYTHING TO A PREVIOUS STATEMENT THAT THE ALBANIAN REPLY WAS BEING STUDIED. THERE WERE INDICATIONS, HOWEVER, THAT THE BRITISH POSITION MIGHT BE STATED FOLLOWING A CABINET MEETING TUESDAY).

THE TENOR OF THE ALBANIAN REPLY WAS SAID TO BE SUCH THAT BRITAIN APPARENTLY WAS LEFT WITH NO ALTERNATIVE BUT TO CARRY OUT THE THREAT MADE IN HER NOTE OF PROTEST---TO PLACE THE MATTER BEFORE THE SECURITY COUNCIL OF THE UNITED NATIONS.

IN THE BRITISH PROTEST, WHICH WAS DELIVERED TO THE ALBANIAN LEGATION AT BELGRADE BECAUSE OF THE LACK OF DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS BETWEEN BRITAIN AND ALBANIA, THE TIRANA GOVERNMENT WAS GIVEN 14 DAYS TO REPLY.

ALBANIA "ACKNOWLEDGED" RECEIPT OF THE NOTE DEC.16, AND FOLLOWED WITH THE REPLY DISCLOSED IN PART TONIGHT.

BRITISH MINESWEEPERS, IN AN ACTION THAT ELICITED ALBANIAN PROTESTS, SWEPT 22 MINES OUT OF THE STRAIT NOV.12-13.

WHILE BRITAIN'S NOTE OF PROTEST FAILED TO ACCUSE ALBANIA DIRECTLY OF LAYING THE MINES, IT SAID THAT THE EVIDENCE GATHERED --- WHICH INCLUDED FRESH GREASE ON MINE CABLES-- LED HIS MAJESTY'S GOVERNMENT TO "CONCLUDE THE ALBANIAN GOVERNMENT EITHER LAID THE MINEFIELD IN QUESTION OR KNEW THAT IT HAD BEEN LAID."

IT ACCUSED ALBANIA OF VIOLATING THE HAGUE CONVENTIONS BY FAILING TO GIVE NOTICE TO OTHER COUNTRIES OF THE MINEFIELDS.

NIGHT LEAD TRIAL

TOKYO, TUESDAY, DEC.31-(AP)-AN AUSTRALIAN ARMY OFFICER TOLD THE INTERNATIONAL WAR CRIMES COURT TODAY THAT 405 AUSTRALIAN AND FIVE AMERICAN WAR PRISONERS DIED OF STARVATION AND DISEASE IN JAPANESE CUSTODY AT AMBON, IN THE NETHERLANDS EAST INDIES.

THE COURT THEN RECESSED FOR THE NEW YEAR'S HOLIDAY, TO RECONVENE JAN.2.

THE WITNESS, LT.JOHN CHARLES VAN NOOTEN, SAID MANY OTHER ALLIED AIRMEN WERE BROUGHT TO THAT MOLUCCA ISLANDS PRISON CAMP LATE IN THE WAR, ONLY TO DEPART WITH SHOVEL-CARRYING JAPANESE AND NEVER RETURN. BODIES OF SOME WERE FOUND LATER IN NEARBY CEMETERIES, HE ADDED.

THE AUSTRALIAN OFFICER, WHOSE HOME IS AT SANDRIGHAM, VICTORIA, AUSTRALIA, ALSO TESTIFIED THAT JAPANESE FREQUENTLY USED SHIPS MARKED WITH RED CROSSES TO CARRY TROOPS AND AMMUNITION--A VIOLATION OF INTERNATIONAL CONVENTIONS.

THE PROSECUTION, WHICH BEGAN ITS CASE EARLY LAST JUNE, WILL FINISH ITS PRESENTATION IN MID-JANUARY AND A TWO-WEEK RECESS IS SCHEDULED WHILE ATTORNEYS PREPARE FOR THE DEFENSE OF THE 27 WARTIME JAPANESE LEADERS ON TRIAL.

THE PROSECUTION PROMISED THE COURT THAT IT WOULD CONCLUDE IN THE WEEK OF JAN.13 THE EVIDENCE IT BEGAN PRESENTING LAST MAY.

THE DEFENSE MOVED FOR THE TWO-WEEK RECESS BEFORE STARTING ITS OWN CASE, PLEADING THE NEED FOR TIME TO ASSEMBLE DOCUMENTARY EXHIBITS AND CONSULTATION AMONG DEFENSE ATTORNEYS.

AFTER APPROVING THE RECESS, THE COURT THEN HEARD FURTHER EVIDENCE OF PRISON CAMP ATROCITIES.

CAPT.K.V.PARISH, AUSTRALIAN OFFICER, MADE AN AFFIDAVIT THAT HE SAW ALLIED PRISONERS DRAGGED FROM CAGES AND SUMMARILY BEHEADED ON AMBOINA ISLAND IN THE EAST INDIES.

DUTCH LIEUTENANT JOHN CHARLES VAN NOOT TESTIFIED THAT HIS MEN WERE BEATEN WITH PICK HANDLES AND HE WAS TOLD HE AND THEY HAD NO RIGHTS BECAUSE THEY WERE PRISONERS.

AN AFFIDAVIT FROM A JAPANESE NAVAL OFFICER, LT.COM.KONICHI NAKAGAWA, TESTIFIED TO 250 EXECUTIONS OF ALLIED PERSONNEL ON AMBOINA WITHOUT TRIAL OR CAUSE.

ANOTHER JAPANESE, JUNITO HATAKEYAMA, GAVE AN AFFIDAVIT ACKNOWLEDGING EXECUTIONS ON THE ISLAND BUT ASSERTING, "THE NUMBER OF PRISONERS OF WAR MURDERED WAS NOT SO LARGE AS IS STATED IN THE DOCUMENTS READ TO ME. IT WAS NOT 150; IT WAS ONLY 100."

TOKYO, DEC.30-(AP)-THE U.S. ARMY HAS ORDERED 7,500 TONS OF IMPORTED AMERICAN WHEAT DISTRIBUTED THROUGHOUT THE DEVASTATED AREAS OF CENTRAL HONSHU AND SHIKOKU ISLANDS, WHERE ACCORDING TO LATEST ARMY REPORTS 1,289 JAPANESE WERE KILLED, 2,364 INJURED AND 32 UNACCOUNTED FOR IN THE DEC.21 EARTHQUAKE AND TIDAL WAVES.

COL.CRAWFORD SAMS, TRACY,CALIF., ALLIED HEADQUARTERS PUBLIC HEALTH AND WELFARE OFFICER, SAID "THE SITUATION NOW IS PRETTY WELL UNDER CONTROL" IN SECTORS WHICH WERE HARDEST HIT. SAMS SAID THERE HAS BEEN NO TRACE OF ANY EPIDEMIC.

TO HUNGRY JAPANESE, ONE OF THE WORST BLOWS WAS THE WAVE DESTRUCTION OF MORE THAN 150,000 BUSHELS OF RICE. THE LOSS OR DAMAGING OF MORE THAN 3,000 VESSELS ALSO WILL SHORTEN FOOD SUPPLIES, SINCE JAPANESE DEPEND HEAVILY UPON FISHING.

RIZAL'S 78-YEAR-OLD SISTER SAT IN THE GRANDSTAND WITH HIGH FILIPINO AND AMERICAN OFFICIALS, INCLUDING AMBASSADOR PAUL V.MCNUTT.

ROXAS QUOTED RIZAL'S WARNING TO THE COLONIAL POWERS OF HIS DAY THAT "HISTORY SHOWS THAT UPRISINGS AND REVOLUTIONS ALWAYS OCCUR IN COUNTRIES WHERE TYRANNY RULES," AND ADDED:

"IN THE PHILIPPINES TODAY THERE CAN BE NO TYRANTS BECAUSE THERE ARE NONE WHO WOULD ACCEPT SLAVERY OR OPPRESSION."

RUSSIA

BY ALEX H.SINGLETON

WASHINGTON,DEC 30-(AP)-CHARGES OF ECONOMIC ENSLAVEMENT, POLITICAL TERRORISM, RELIGIOUS REPRESSION, BROKEN PROMISES AND AMBITIONS FOR MILITARY POWER WERE LEVELED AGAINST RUSSIA TODAY BY THE SPECIAL HOUSE COMMITTEE ON POSTWAR ECONOMIC POLICY.

THE COMMITTEE REPORT--THE SHARPEST OFFICIAL CRITICISM OF RUSSIA ON CAPITOL HILL SINCE THE SOVIET UNION WENT TO WAR WITH GERMANY--DEMANDED THAT THE UNITED STATES ASSERT "POSITIVE LEADERSHIP" IN EUROPEAN ECONOMIC AFFAIRS.

SIMULTANEOUSLY IT ASSERTED THAT IF RUSSIA ACTUALLY IS FOUND TO BE USING GERMAN WAR PLANTS TO REARM, THE WESTERN ALLIES SHOULD DENOUNCE THE ENTIRE POTSDAM BIG THREE AGREEMENT AND DEMAND THAT THE SOVIETS "EVACUATE GERMANY COMPLETELY."

FIRST REACTION TO THE COMMITTEE'S DOCUMENT CAME IN THE FORM OF A PROTEST AGAINST "HEADLINE HUNTERS" BY REP.SOL BLOOM (D-NY), RETIRING CHAIRMAN OF THE HOUSE FOREIGN AFFAIRS COMMITTEE.

BLOOM TOLD REPORTERS THE COMMITTEE SHOULD HAVE SUBMITTED ITS EVIDENCE, "IF IT HAS ANY" TO THE STATE AND WAR DEPARTMENTS FOR INVESTIGATION. HE CONTENDED THE REPORT WOULD DO "FAR MORE HARM THAN GOOD" IN CURRENT DIPLOMATIC NEGOTIATIONS.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT DECLINED ANY IMMEDIATE COMMENT.

THE UNANIMOUS COMMITTEE REPORT OFFERED A NUMBER OF SPECIFIC RECOMMENDATIONS, AMONG THEM:

1. A REVIEW OF THE FINANCIAL ASPECTS OF AMERICAN OCCUPATION POLICY IN "ORDER TO SUBSTITUTE PRODUCTIVE AND SELF-SUPPORTING ECONOMIES IN EX-ENEMY COUNTRIES FOR THE PRESENT METHOD OF SUPPORTING THEM WITH AMERICAN MONEY WHILE THEY, IN TURN, ARE BEING DRAINED BY RUSSIA AND FRANCE."

2. LOANS TO AMERICAN OCCUPATION AUTHORITIES THROUGH THE EXPORT-IMPORT BANK TO START THE FLOW OF RAW MATERIALS NECESSARY FOR INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTION.

3. AN INQUIRY INTO RESTRICTIONS ON THE MOVEMENT OF AMERICAN BUSINESSMEN, AND INTO THE METHODS "BY WHICH FREEDOM OF ACCESS INTO FOREIGN COUNTRIES OF AMERICAN INFORMATION AGENCIES INCLUDING BOOKS, MAGAZINES, PAPERS AND MOVIES AS WELL AS OUR REPORTERS CAN BE FACILITATED."

4. A SPECIFIC STUDY OF SAFEGUARDING THE TRADE RECOMMENDATIONS "WITH RESPECT TO THE ABUSE OF STATE TRADING PRACTICES, PARTICULARLY BY THE STATE MONOPOLIES OF NATIONS WHO ARE NOT MEMBERS" OF THE WORLD BANK, MONETARY FUND OR SIMILAR INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS.

5. A STUDY OF THE DESIRABILITY AND EFFECTIVENESS OF ELIMINATING THE EXPORT OF AMERICAN TECHNICAL KNOW-HOW AND OF FINISHED PRODUCTS WHICH COULD BE USEFUL IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF ATOMIC WEAPONS. "SECURITY CONSIDERATIONS MAY CALL FOR BROADENING SUCH CONTROLS OVER EXPORTS TO PREVENT BUILDING OF OTHER ARMAMENTS."

6 "THE HOLDING UP OF FURTHER SETTLEMENTS OF LEND-LEASE UNTIL INQUIRIES AS TO THE FULFILLMENT OF THE CONDITIONS OF LEND LEASE AGREEMENT AND EQUAL TRADING OPERATION FOR THE UNITED STATES HAVE BEEN SECURED." (ALL BUT RUSSIA AND A FEW OF THE SOVIET'S NEIGHBORING COUNTRIES HAVE SETTLED THEIR ACCOUNTS.)

7. A MORATORIUM ON THE SALE OF SURPLUS MERCHANT VESSELS TO RUSSIA "UNTIL HER WARTIME LEND-LEASE AGREEMENTS HAVE BEEN KEPT."

8. GREATER RECIPROCITY ON THE EXCHANGE OF DIPLOMATIC OFFICIALS.

THE COMMITTEE CHARGED RUSSIA WITH FAILURE TO "KEEP POTSDAM AND OTHER AGREEMENTS," AND DECLARED THAT THE SOVIET AGREEMENT "IN PRINCIPLE" TO BROADEN OUTLINES OF INTERNATIONAL ATOMIC INSPECTION "DOES NOT GUARANTEE PERFORMANCE."

IT ASSERTED THAT THE "MOST SERIOUS OF ALL VIOLATIONS OF THE POTSDAM AGREEMENT IS THE ALLEGED REARMING OF RUSSIA BY GERMAN PLANTS IN THE RUSSIAN-CONTROLLED ZONES, INCLUDING THE ROCKET-MAKING PLANTS AND TESTING GROUNDS AT PEENEMUNDE, WHICH WERE TO HAVE BEEN SCRAPPED."

THE REPORT DECLARED THAT "IF THIS ALLEGATION IS ESTABLISHED AS A FACT BY THE JOINT INSPECTION TEAMS WHICH HAVE BEEN AGREED TO BUT NOT YET PERMITTED TO OPERATE IN RUSSIAN ZONES, THIS ACT WOULD CALL FOR DENUNCIATION OF THE ENTIRE POTSDAM AGREEMENT."

"THE WESTERN ALLIES WOULD HAVE EVERY JUST GROUND FOR A DEMAND ON RUSSIA TO EVACUATE GERMANY COMPLETELY AND REDRAW THE BOUNDARIES IN ORDER TO CREATE A GERMANY CAPABLE OF DEMOCRATIC PROGRESS AND ONE THAT WOULD BE SUBJECT TO CONTROL OVER ARMS."

IN ANOTHER SECTION DEVOTED TO CONDITIONS IN RUSSIAN-OCCUPIED TERRITORY, THE REPORT SAID:

"ALONG WITH ECONOMIC ENSLAVEMENT AND POLITICAL TERRORISM HAVE GONE AUTHENTICATED REPRESSION OF RELIGIONS, INCLUDING 'LIQUIDATION' OF PRIESTS AND WIDESPREAD IMPRISONMENT, THE EXPULSION OF UTTERLY RELIABLE CORRESPONDENTS AND THE RIVETING OF THE WHOLE RANGE OF TOTALITARIAN CONTROLS ON THESE COUNTRIES. X X X

"THE COMMITTEE BELIEVES THAT THE CARRYING OUT OF THE YALTA AND POTSDAM AGREEMENTS HAS NOW BEEN EFFECTIVELY BROUGHT TO A STOP IN MANY FIELDS BY RUSSIA."

TRAINING (380)

BY ELTON C.FAY

WASHINGTON,DEC 30-(AP)-PRESIDENT TRUMAN HAS LEFT THE ARMY IN THE DARK ABOUT HIS PLANS FOR A UNIVERSAL TRAINING PROGRAM IN WHICH THE "MILITARY PHASE" WOULD BE ONLY INCIDENTAL.

SO FAR AS COULD BE LEARNED TODAY, NO POLICY-MAKING OFFICIAL AT THE PENTAGON HAS BEEN GIVEN A WHITE HOUSE BLUEPRINT OF WHAT THE CHIEF EXECUTIVE HAD IN MIND WHEN HE SAID TEN DAYS AGO THAT HE WANTED THE

WORD "MILITARY" LEFT OUT OF THE PROGRAM.

BUT IF THE WAR DEPARTMENT IS MYSTIFIED, IT HAS NOT BEEN DRIVEN FROM ITS OFFICIAL POSITION THAT THE URGENT AND ONLY REASON FOR A COMPULSORY TRAINING PROGRAM IS TO CREATE A POOL OF TRAINED MANPOWER FOR NATIONAL DEFENSE AGAINST THE POSSIBILITY OF SWIFT AND TOTAL WAR.

THE DEPARTMENT SAID SO IN A NEW PAMPHLET.

COPIES WERE DISTRIBUTED AMONG LAWMAKERS ON CAPITOL HILL WHERE EVERY SIGN POINTED TO A WIDE OPEN FIGHT OVER THE WHOLE ISSUE.

CAPTIONED "UNIVERSAL MILITARY TRAINING," THE PAMPHLET MADE THESE POINTS, AMONG OTHERS:

"THE TRAINING WILL HAVE TO JUSTIFY ITSELF FROM THE VIEWPOINT OF ITS CONTRIBUTION TO NATION SECURITY, AND FROM NONE OTHER. THE TRAINING MUST BE DIRECTED TO THIS END."

"WORLD CONDITIONS AND MODERN MEANS AND METHODS OF WARFARE MAKE DELAY IN ADOPTING SUCH A SYSTEM DANGEROUS TO THE NATIONAL SECURITY."

THUS IT BECAME EVIDENT THAT THE WAR DEPARTMENT INTENDS TO CONTINUE VIGOROUS ADVOCACY OF ITS PROGRAM UNTIL AND UNLESS MR.TRUMAN DIRECTLY COMMANDS SILENCE--AS HE DID IN THE CASE OF THE NAVY WHEN OFFICIALS OF THAT DEPARTMENT PUBLICLY CHALLENGED ASPECTS OF THE ARMY-NAVY UNIFICATION PROPOSAL SUPPORTED BY THE WHITE HOUSE.

MR.TRUMAN, DISPARAGING EMPHASIS ON MILITARY ASPECTS, SAID LAST WEEK THAT THE TRAINING PROGRAM SHOULD "GIVE OUR YOUNG PEOPLE A BACKGROUND IN THE DISCIPLINARY APPROACH OF GETTING ALONG WITH ONE ANOTHER, INFORMING THEM OF THEIR PHYSICAL MAKE-UP" AND INSTILLING RESPONSIBILITY IN CITIZENSHIP.

BUT REP.HEBERT (D-LA) SHARPLY CHALLENGED TODAY THE WISDOM OF ANY PROGRAM NOT PREDICATED UPON MILITARY TRAINING, SAYING THAT "THE COSTLY LESSONS OF TWO WARS SHOULD HAVE TAUGHT US A LESSON."

"SCIENCE HAS CHANGED WARFARE, BUT IT HASN'T ELIMINATED THE NEED FOR TRAINED SOLDIERS," HEBERT, A MEMBER OF THE HOUSE NAVAL COMMITTEE, TOLD A REPORTER.

EQUALLY EMPHATIC IN HIS OPPOSITION TO ANY TRAINING PROGRAM IS REP. JENKINS (R-OHIO). HE SAID HE HAD VOTED AGAINST COMPULSORY MILITARY TRAINING IN PEACETIME IN THE PAST, AND WOULD IN THE FUTURE.

JENKINS THUS TOOK HIS STAND ALONGSIDE SENATORS ELBERT D.THOMAS (D-UTAH) AND EDWIN C.JOHNSON (D-COLO) WHO EARLIER, IN SEPARATE INTERVIEWS, ASSAILED "GOOSE-STEPPING" IN A MECHANIZED AGE.

Luxury Taxes Cut 1½ Billions July 1 by President's Action

Excise Levies to Drop to Pre-War Level on Liquor, Jewelry, Furs, Amusements; Republicans See More Cuts, Will Press Income-Tax Reduction

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—America's annual tax load was cut $1,500,000,000 by President Truman's proclamation today of the end of hostilities, and Republicans immediately forecast further slashes, including a 20 per cent reduction in personal income levies.

The proclamation automatically cut high war-imposed excise levies, reducing the liquor tax from $9 to $6 a gallon and slashing levies on jewelry, furs, luggage and many other items, effective July 1.

Savings to taxpayers the last half of 1947 will amount to more than $700,000,000.

Representative Harold Knutson, Republican, of Minnesota, who becomes chairman of the tax-framing House Ways and Means Committee in the new Republican-dominated Congress, quickly interpreted the President's action as justifying the Republican tax-slashing program.

"The President's action," he said in a statement, "indicates that he is not counting on an unbalanced budget for the next fiscal year.

"'Rather, he has expressed confidence that we can reduce taxes, balance the budget and provide debt retirement.

"That has been my opinion, as it has also been of my Republican colleagues, but we yet feel that an immediate reduction in individual income taxes is vital to safeguard our economy and maintain full employment and production."

The severe cutbacks in the excise list are mandatory in the 1943 revenue act, which requires that the high war rates be reduced to specified levels six months after "the termination of hostilities."

Effective July 1, unless Congress meanwhile decrees otherwise, these are the excise reductions:

Liquor—From $9 a proof gallon to $6.

Furs, jewelry and toilet preparations—From 20 per cent of retail price to 10 per cent.

Luggage—From 20 per cent of retail price to 10 per cent of manufacturer's price.

Admissions—From one cent for each five cents to one cent for each ten cents.

Cabarets—From 20 per cent to 5 per cent.

Wines—Varied reductions according to type.

Beer—From $8 a barrel to $7.

Telephone—Long distance, from 25 per cent to 20 per cent; local service, from 15 per cent to 10 per cent.

Transportation of persons—From 15 per cent to 10 per cent.

Dues and membership fees—From 20 per cent to 11 per cent.

Initiation fees—From 20 per cent to 11 per cent.

Electric-light bulbs and tubes—From 20 per cent to 5 per cent.

Domestic telegraph, cable and radio dispatches—From 25 per cent to 15 per cent.

Leased wires—From 25 per cent to 15 per cent.

Wire and equipment service—From 8 per cent to 5 per cent.

Billiard and Pool Tables and Bowling Alleys—From $20 a year a table and $20 a year an alley to $10 a year a table and $10 a year an alley.

Mr. Knutson said the Ways and Means Committee will consider other cuts in the excise list not provided by the automatic provisions of the 1943 law.

He voiced a word of apprehension, however, that the excise reductions six months hence will cause many businesses to suffer, with some consumers "waiting until July 1 to buy things they need immediately."

Asked whether he plans to try to speed up the reduction date, Mr. Knutson told reporters he has "no plan at present," but added that this possibly could be done by a resolution of Congress.

The Minnesotan put particular emphasis on Republican plans to slash personal income levies by 20 per cent "across the board," effective Jan. 1, 1947.

However, on this score he already is meeting stubborn opposition among Democrats and a segment of his Republican colleagues.

As for corporation taxes, he reiterated that no change is contemplated in 1947, saying, "We have done as much for corporations as we can at this time."

Indicating the Republicans may trim the excise list further, Mr. Knutson pointed out in his statement:

"The new taxes imposed during the war, which are not affected by the President's proclamation, are the tax on transportation of property, business and store machines, chain-operated machines, electric, gas and oil appliances, matches, musical instruments, phonographs and phonographic records, photographic apparatus, files and plates, air-conditioning units, sporting goods.

"The proclamation also does not apply to increases in rates made under the revenue acts of 1941 and 1942, such as on cigarettes, cigars, playing cards, automobiles, trucks, parts and accessories, tires and tubes, lubricating oil, radios, refrigerators and safe-deposit boxes."

TRUMAN ENDS 20 WARTIME LAWS, ACTS TO REPEAL 33 OTHERS LATER

President Proclaims Hostilities Period Ended At Noon

The President's Statement

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31—The text of President Truman's statement on his proclamation ending the period of hostilities for World War II follows:

I have today issued a proclamation terminating the period of hostilities of World War II as of 12:00 noon today, Dec. 31, 1946.

Under the law, a number of war and emergency statutes cease to be effective upon the issuance of this proclamation. It is my belief that the time has come when such a declaration can properly be made and that it is in the public interest to make it.

Most of the powers affected by the proclamation need no longer be exercised by the Executive branch of the Government. This is entirely in keeping with the policies which I have consistently followed, in an effort to bring our economy and our Government back to a peacetime basis as quickly as possible.

The proclamation terminates Government powers under some twenty statutes immediately upon its issuance.

It terminates Government powers under some thirty-three others at a later date, generally at the end of six months from the date of the proclamation.

This follows as a result of provisions made by the Congress when the legislation was originally passed.

In a few instances the statutes affected by the proclamation give the Government certain powers which in my opinion are desirable in peacetime, or for the remainder of the period of reconversion. In these instances recommendations will be made to the Congress for additional legislation.

It should be noted that the proclamation does not terminate the states of emergency declared by President Roosevelt on Sept. 8, 1939, and May 27, 1941. Nor does today's action have the effect of terminating the state of war itself. It terminates merely the period of hostilities. With respect to the termination of the national emergency and the state of war, I shall make recommendations to the Congress in the near future.

Hostilities Are Declared at End, Action Cuts Tax Bill $700,000,000

33 Additional Statutes Die in 6 Months, but Many Are Not Touched.

STATE OF WAR CONTINUES

So Does Draft Act—Farm Price Support Shortened a Year—Army, Navy Affected.

Washington, Dec. 31 (A. P.).—President Truman released part of the Government's extraordinary wartime powers today by declaring the period of hostilities ended at noon. The action wiped off the statute books immediately eighteen emergency laws and set thirty-three others for an automatic end six months from now, or later.

Ended at once was the Government's power to seize privately owned plants and mines, invoked often during wartime labor disputes. In six months—unless Congress intervenes with new laws—the Government must turn back to the private owners the coal mines it now holds.

And after that date, a series of emergency taxes will drop to old rates. Among these are excise levies on liquor, furs, jewelry and other luxuries. The liquor tax will drop from $9 to $6 the proof gallon. (A drawback tax of $6 a proof gallon, affecting industrial uses of distilled spirits, drops back to $3.75.)

Farm Price Support Shortened.

By acting before 1946 closed, Mr. Truman knocked one year off the Government's guaranteed price support program for farm products. It will go on for two years. But had Mr. Truman waited until 1947 to act, the program, which might cost a billion and a half dollars in a big crop year, would have extended through 1949. The law provides that it is to go on for two years beginning with the first day of January immediately after a proclamation ending hostilities.

Mr. Truman's action does not affect many other powers.

There are more than 500 emergency laws. Some say they are to end with the "end of the war" or within some specified time thereafter. Others say they are effective for the duration of the "emergency."

Thus, the term "period of hostilities" as used by Mr. Truman is largely a technical matter turning on language Congress used in each statute. He made clear that he was not proclaiming the war ended, or the officially declared emergency over. Consequently, the laws based on the duration of the "emergency" or of the "war" are not affected.

Draft Act Not Affected.

The basic selective service law for drafting young men, for instance, is hitched to the duration of the emergency. It is not affected by today's proclamation.

But many statutes affecting the Army and Navy are. One is a law which exempted the War and Navy departments from general restrictions on the number of civilian employees they may have.

There were indications at the Pentagon that the War Department was somewhat surprised at the sudden announcement. It touched off a series of top level conferences at the Army headquarters to see how much of the huge machinery under which the Army operated for more than five years would need resetting for peacetime operation. Pending results from these first meetings, Army officials withheld comment.

The Navy hastened to note that the service of naval reserve officers would not be affected. Reserve officers were on duty for the duration of the emergency plus six months.

Mr. Truman made public his proclamation at a news conference.

"Will the Combined Chiefs of Staffs (British and American) be affected by this proclamation?" a reporter asked.

The President replied in the negative, saying the co-operation would be continued for at least six months. He did not clarify whether he meant six months after the formal end of the war.

Pressure Put on New Congress.

One point was obvious: By acting now, Mr. Truman was putting pressure on the new Republican-dominated Congress to speed consideration of just what emergency powers it wishes to preserve for the Government. He said he would send Congress recommendations on powers which should be continued in peacetime.

Some Republicans have talked of repealing all quickly. Senator Wiley (R.-Wis.), appointed by Senate Republicans to make a study of the matter, reported yesterday that he found it an extremely complex subject and that chaos might follow a sweeping repealer. Commenting on the President's move, Wiley told a reporter he had no criticism "and in fact I think we should approve it."

"It certainly relieves the legislative branch of this responsibility if it is the judgment of the President and his advisers that these statues should go out the window," he added.

At the same time, Wiley said he thought the public should keep in mind that Mr. Truman's proclamation affects only laws that are tied in with the phrase "termination of hostilities." Wiley added:

"He did not, in his proclamation, affect that large field of statute law that relates to termination of the war, or controls that came into being under the proclamation of a limited national emergency on September 8, 1939, and the proclamation of an unlimited national emergency on May 27, 1941."

Under questioning as to whether this was a step in his promise to co-operate with the new Republican-controlled Congress, the President said that this was co-operating with Congress.

The time has come, Mr. Truman said at one point during an exchange with reporters, when the executive branch should give up some of the powers exercised during the war.

"This is entirely in keeping with the policies which I have consistently followed," he said (reading again from his statement) "in an effort to bring our economy and our government back to a peacetime basis as

Power to declare an end to most wartime emergency laws was vested in both the President and Congress, either could act separately.

The President concluded the conference by telling reporters he would see them again at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon. The conference was limited to a discussion of his proclamation.

He wished all the reporters a Happy New Year.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31 (AP)—Following is the text of President Truman's listing of laws which expire immediately, in six months, or at some other specified date under his proclamation ending hostilities in World War II (about 5,000):

Statutes Affected by a Declaration of the Cessation of Hostilities, Classified by Termination Provisions

1. Selective Training and Service Act of 1940, Section 9 (50 U. S. C. App., Sec. 309), as amended by Section 3 of the War Labor Disputes Act, approved June 25, 1943 (57 Stat. 164, 50 U. S. C. App. 1503), provides that possession of any plant, mine, or facility may not be taken under authority of this section "after the termination of hostilities in the present war, as proclaimed by the President, or after the termination of the War Labor Disputes Act." (This does not affect past seizures.) See also Paragraph 19, below.
2. Act of June 15, 1943 (57 Stat. 153), relates to training of nurses for the armed forces. Section 10 provides: "This act shall cease to be in effect upon the date of the termination of hostilities in the present war as determined by the President or upon such earlier date as the Congress by concurrent resolution or the President may designate, except for purposes of (a) making computations, payments, and adjustments in payments with respect to recruitment, training, and courses prior to such date, and (b) making computations, payments, and adjustments in payments so as to permit continuance, after such date, of training and courses by graduate or student nurses who were receiving training or courses ninety days prior to such date."

Tax Deductions

3. Internal Revenue Code, Section 23 (Q) (2). Deduction permitted for certain contributions by corporations "payment of which is made within a taxable year beginning after the date of the cessation of hostilities in the present war, as proclaimed by the President."
4. Internal Revenue Code, Section 1830. Provides for the tax-free removal of playing cards to territories of the United States for use by members of the armed forces of the United States "until the date on which the President proclaims hostilities in the present war are ended."
5. Internal Revenue Code, Section 2135 (A) (1). Tax-free shipment of tobacco, snuff, cigars, and cigarettes, for the use of military or naval forces, "until the date on which the President proclaims that hostilities in the present war have terminated."
6. Act of February 25, 1944, Section 124 (E) (58 Stat. 21, 45). Certain amendments to Section 114 of the Internal Revenue Code relating to percentage depletion, are not to "apply with respect to any taxable year beginning on or after the date of the termination of hostilities in the present war. For the purposes of this subsection the term 'date of the termination of hostilities in the present war' means the date proclaimed by the President as the date of such termination, on the date specified in a concurrent resolution of the two houses of Congress as the date of such termination, whichever is earlier."
7. National Defense Act, Section 47 (A) (10 U. S. C. 441). Authorizes the Secretary of War to maintain camps of instruction for members of the reserve officers' training corps for no longer than six weeks in any one year, "except in time of actual or threatened hostilities."
8. Act of March 4, 1915, (38 Stat. 1078), as amended (act of May 29, 1934, Sec. 2, 48 Stat. 816; 10 U. S. C. 17). Provides that except upon his own request, no officer or enlisted man of the armies shall be required to serve more than 2 years in certain foreign stations, "except in case of insurrection or of actual or threatened hostilities or except in the discretion of the Secretary of War for temporary emergencies."
9. Act of June 26, 1946, (Public Law 444, 79th Cong., 2d Sess.). Limits the award of certain military and naval decorations to acts or services performed during a period ending "with the date of the termination of hostilities in the present war * * * proclaimed by the President as the date of such termination or the date specified in a concurrent resolution of the two houses of Congress as the date of such termination, whichever is earlier."
10. Act of May 14, 1940, (54 Stat. 214; 10 U. S. C. 81). Provides that the President, "in the event of actual or threatened hostilities involving the United States," may authorize, within the limit of the total authorized strength of the regular army, additional enlistments in the medical department to such number as he may deem necessary.
11. Act of July 9, 1918, (40 Stat. 893), as amended (act of May 29, 1928, Sec. 1, 45 Stat. 989; 10 U. S. C. 1287). Provides that in case of actual or threatened hostilities any proceeds received from the operations in the field overseas, shall be available for the purpose of such utility until the close of the fiscal year following that in which the proceeds are received.

Vocational Rehabilitation

12. Act of Dec. 22, 1944, (58 Stat. 887, 892), pertaining to the construction of public work on rivers and harbors for flood control in part under the supervision of the Secretary of War and the chief of engineers, provides: "that when the existing critical situation with respect to materials, equipment and manpower no longer exists, and in any event not later than immediately following the cessation of hostilities in the present war, the projects herein shall be initiated as expeditiously and prosecuted as vigorously as may be consistent with budgetary requirements."
13. Act of June 30, 1945, Section 607 (59 Stat. 304; 5 U. S. C., Supp. V, 947 (F)). Provides exemption "until the cessation of hostilities in the present war as proclaimed by the President" of War and Navy Departments, except as to civilian officers and employes not heads thereof, from the provisions of Section 607 of the Federal Employes Pay Act of June 30, 1945. Section 607 provides for the fixing of personnel ceilings by the director of the Bureau of the Budget. Section 14 of the Federal Employes Pay Act of 1946, approved May 24, 1946 (public law 390, 79th Cong.), amends Section 607.
14. Education of Children of War Veterans. The act of Dec. 16, 1944, (58 Stat. 811) amends the act of June 19, 1934, (48 Stat. 1125; 34 U. S. C., Supp. IV, 1945), relative to educational benefits for children of deceased war veterans, domiciled in the District of Columbia, by extending the benefits to children of veterans of the current war who have died or may hereafter die as a result of service in the armed forces of the United States "during the period of the present war, on and after Dec. 7, 1941, and prior to the termination of hostilities as declared by Presidential proclamation or by concurrent resolution of the Congress."
15 (A). Act of March 24, 1943 (Ch. 22, Sec. 2, 57 Stat. 43). Amends Act of March 20, 1933 (48 Stat. 8), and makes eligible for vocational rehabilitation "any person who served in the active military or naval forces on or after Dec. 7, 1941, and prior to the termination of hostilities in the present war," and provides "that no course of training in excess of a period of four years shall be approved, nor shall any training under this part be afforded beyond six years after the termination of the present war."
15 (B). Act of Dec. 28, 1945, C. 591, 59 Stat. 659, Public No. 271, 79th Cong., 1st sess., makes special provision for the immigration of alien spouses or alien children of United States citizens serving in or having an honorable discharge certificate from the armed forces during the period beginning on Dec. 7, 1941, and ending with "the termination of hostilities as declared by the President or by a Joint Resolution of Congress."
15 (C). Act of July 31, 1946 (Public Law 571, 79th Cong., 2d sess.) Amends Section 201 of the Nationality Act of 1940 (54 Stat. 1138-1139; 8 U. S. C. 601) by extending citizenship to children of a citizen serving honorably in the armed forces of the United States during a period "before the date of the termination of hostilities in the present war as proclaimed by the President or determined by a Joint Resolution by the Congress."

Immigration Restrictions

16. Act of Feb. 14, 1944, Section 5 (G) (58 Stat. 11, 15), as amended by Act of Dec. 22, 1944 (58 Stat. 853, 862), and Act of July 3, 1945 (Public Law 124, 79th Cong., 1st Sess.; War Manpower Commission, Migration of Workers). Waives certain immigration restrictions for workers imported from Western Hemisphere countries "during continuation of hostilities in the present war." Act of Dec. 28, 1945 (Public Law 269, 79th Cong.), makes provision for the admission of agricultural workers notwithstanding any official determination of the cessation of hostilities.
17. Act of April 29, 1943, Section 5 (G) (57 Stat. 70, 73). Waives certain immigration restrictions for workers imported from Western Hemisphere countries "during continuation of hostilities in the present war." Act of Dec. 28, 1945 (Public Law 269, 79th Cong.), makes provision for the admission of agricultural workers notwithstanding any official determination of the cessation of hostilities.
18. Act of Sept. 27, 1944 (Ch. 416, 58 Stat. 745; 50 U. S. C., Supp. IV, App. 1601-1603). Permits disposal of materials or resources on the public lands of the United States which are under the exclusive jurisdiction of the Secretary of the Interior. Authority expires "at the cessation of hostilities in the present war as determined by the President by proclamation or the Congress by concurrent resolution."

Statutes Affected in Six Months

19. Section 9 of the act of Sept. 16, 1940, as amended by Section 3 of the War Labor Disputes Act, approved June 25, 1943, (57 Stat. 164; 50 U. S. C. App. 1503), Provides: "The power of the President under the foregoing provisions of this section to take immediate possession of any plant upon a failure to comply with any such provisions, and the authority granted by this section for the use and operation by the United States or in its interests of any plant of which possession is so taken, shall also apply as hereinafter provided to any plant, mine, or facility equipped for the manufacture, production, or mining of any articles or materials which may be required for the war effort or which may be useful in connection therewith. Such power and authority may be exercised by the President through such department or agency of the Government as he may designate, and may be exercised, with respect to any such plant, mine, or facility whenever the President finds, after investigation, and proclaims that there is an interruption of the operation of such plant, mine or facility as a result of a strike or other labor disturbance, that the war effort will be unduly impeded or delayed by such interruption, and that the exercise of such power and authority is necessary to insure the operation of such plant, mine, or facility in the interest of the war effort." Section 3 of the War Labor Disputes Act further provides that the authority to operate any plant, mine, or facility taken under the provisions of this section "shall terminate at the end of six months after the termination of such hostilities as so proclaimed." Section 10 of the War Labor Disputes Act provides: "Except as to offenses committed prior to such date, the provisions of this act and the amendments made by this act shall cease to be effective at the end of six months following the termination of hostilities in the present war, as proclaimed by the President, or upon the date (prior to the date of such proclamation) of the passage of a concurrent resolution of the two Houses of Congress stating that such provisions and amendments shall cease to be effective."

Suits for Damages by Navy

20. Act of May 29, 1943, (Ch. 107, 57 Stat. 92; 48 U. S. C., Supp. IV, note preceding 351). Authorizes the Secretary of the Interior to defer or waive payments under non-mineral leases of public lands in Alaska "for any period occurring prior to the end of six months after the termination of hostilities in the present war as proclaimed by the President, or such earlier date as the Congress by concurrent resolution may prescribe."
21. Act of Dec. 15, 1944, (Ch. 589, 58 Stat. 806 (not codified). Amends Section 7 (A) of the Act of March 3, 1925, (Ch. 443, 43 Stat. 1119; D. C. Code 40-301 (A)). Regulates motor-vehicle traffic in the District of Columbia and extends validity of operators' permits for military personnel. Expires "six months after the date of the termination of hostilities in the present war as determined by the President or upon such earlier date as the Congress by concurrent resolution may designate."
22. Act of July 3, 1944, (Public Law 417, 78th Cong., 2d sess.), to provide "in time of war" for the staying of certain suits for damages caused by Navy vessels, or for towage or salvage services to such vessels, when prosecution would endanger the security of naval operations, "until six months after the cessation of hostilities in such war, or until such earlier date" as may be stated in the certificate of the Secretary of the Navy; to provide similarly for suspending the issuing of process to preserve evidence and to take depositions, and to provide for the settlement of claims.

23. Act of Dec. 5, 1942, (Ch. 680, 56 Stat. 1041). To accord duty free entry of gifts not exceeding $50 from members of the armed forces of the United States serving abroad. The act is effective "with respect to articles entered for consumption or withdrawn from warehouse for consumption on or after the date of its enactment and before the expiration of six months after the termination of hostilities as determined by proclamation of the President, or by Concurrent Resolution of the Congress." (Sec. 2.)

24. Act of April 13, 1943, (57 Stat. 65). To suspend sections 12B and 19 of the Federal Reserve Act, which relate to assessments on deposits and reserve requirements. Effective until "six-months after the cessation of hostilities in the present war as determined by proclamation of the President or Concurrent Resolution of the Congress."

25. Joint Resolution of June 7, 1945, (Public Law 77, 79th Cong.). Extension of statute of limitations in certain cases (Pearl Harbor) "for a further period ending six months after the date of the termination of hostilities in the present war with Japan, as proclaimed by the President or as specified in a Concurrent Resolution of the two houses of Congress, whichever is the earlier."

26. Act of Dec. 22, 1944, (58 Stat. 913; 50 U.S.C. App., Supp. IV., 1701). Disposal of Condemned Mail. Act expires "upon the expiration of six months after the date of the termination of hostilities in the present war as proclaimed by the President or declared by concurrent resolution of the Congress."

Political Propaganda

27. Act of Aug. 2, 1939, (53 Stat. 1147), to prevent pernicious political activities (Hatch Act), amended by the Act of Aug. 21, 1944, (Public Law 418, 78th Cong.), forbidding the distribution of material containing certain political propaganda. Sections 22 and 23 to "expire upon the expiration of six months after the termination of hostilities in the present war as proclaimed by the President or declared by concurrent resolution of the Congress." See Act of Sept. 16, 1942, (Public Law 712, 77th Cong.), Soldiers Voting Act, as amended by the Act of April 1, 1944, (Ch. 150, 58 Stat. 136).

28. Act of July 9, 1943, (Ch. 212 57 Stat. 391). To provide penalties for the violation of harbor and water front regulations. Effective only "until six months after the cessation of hostilities in the present war."

29. Act of Feb. 29, 1944, (Public Law 241, 78th Cong., 2d Sess.). To provide for the appointment of an additional assistant secretary of the interior. The additional office provided for in the act "shall cease to exist at the expiration of six months after the cessation of hostilities in the present war as determined by the President by proclamation or by the Congress by concurrent resolution."

30. Act of July 16, 1943, (Ch. 242, 57 Stat. 566; 16 U.S.C., Supp. IV, 590 Y-Z-2). Provides for conservation and utilization of water and use of prisoners of war on such projects. Section 5 authorizes the use of prisoners until "six months after the cessation of hostilities in the present war as determined by proclamation of the President or concurrent resolution of Congress."

31. Act of June 22, 1944, (Ch. 271, 58 Stat. 324; 30 U.S.C., Supp. IV, 27). Suspends certain requirements relating to work on tunnel sites of mines until "six months after the cessation of hostilities in the present war as determined by proclamation of the President or concurrent resolution of the Congress."

32. Act of July 31, 1945, (Public Law 168, 79th Cong., 1st Sess.). Amends the act relating to the Secretary of State completing the collecting, editing, and publishing of official papers concerning United States Territories (5 U.S.C. 167-168C), so as to prohibit the expenditures for printing authorized under the act "until six months after the end of hostilities in the present war."

33. Act of July 12, 1943, (57 Stat. 520). Leases of silver held or owned by the United States permitted "for a period not longer than six months after the cessation of hostilities in the present war, as proclaimed by the President." The Act of July 31, 1946 (Public Law 579, 79th Cong.), grants authority for sale or lease of silver without limitation as to time.

Statutes Affected in One Year or Less

34. Act of Feb. 25, 1944, (58 Stat. 21, 66). Section 307 (B) (2) Makes certain amendments to sections 2700 (B) (1), 3407, and 3442 of the Internal Revenue Code "applicable to sales made on or after the first day of the first month which begins six months or more after the date of the termination of hostilities in the present war." Section 307 (B) (5) provides that Sections 3469 (F) (1) and 3475 (B) of the Internal Revenue Code, exempting from tax amounts paid by or to the War Shipping Administration for transportation of property by water, is to be applicable for a period "ending on the first day of the first month which begins six months or more after the date of the termination of hostilities in the present war," Section 307 (B) (6) provides that "for the purposes of this subsection the term 'date of the termination of hostilities in the present war' means the date proclaimed by the President as the date of such termination, or the date specified in a concurrent resolution of the two houses of Congress as the date of such termination, whichever is the earlier."

Section 307 (C) (58 Stat. 21, 66) authorizes the Secretary of the Treasury to grant exemption from taxes imposed by chapters 19, 29, or 30, of the Internal Revenue Code, where the benefit of the exemption will accrue to the United States, such exemption not to be "applicable to any contract entered into on or after the first day of the first month which begins six months or more after the date of the termination of hostilities in the present war."

Section 309 (B) (58 Stat. 21, 68) provides that the drawback on distilled spirits under the Internal Revenue Code (Sec. 3250 (1) (5), is increased from $3.75 to $6 a proof gallon for period "ending on the first day of the first month which begins six months or more after the date of the termination of hostilities in the present war."

35. Internal Revenue Code, Sections 1650-1655. War Tax Rates. Section 1650 fixes rates which are to end "on the first day of the first month which begins six months or more after the date of the termination of hostilities in the present war." Section 1651 fixes other rates, which by Section 1654 are not to "apply with respect to any period commencing on or after the first day of the first month which begins six months or more after the date of the termination of hostilities in the present war." Section 1655 defines "date of the termination of hostilities in the present war" to mean "the date proclaimed by the President as the date of such termination, or the date specified in a concurrent resolution of the two Houses of Congress as the date of such termination, whichever is earlier.

Insurance Is Discussed

36. Act of March 23, 1943 (57 Stat. 41; 38 U. S. C. 512). Provision for renewal of Government life insurance by any person other than the insured or his duly authorized agent "shall be effective until the termination of hostilities as proclaimed by the President or as determined by joint resolution of the Congress, and for three months thereafter."

37. Act of Sept. 17, 1944 (Ch. 411, Sec. 5, 58 Stat. 733; 39 U. S. C., Supp IV, 386, note). An act to increase the rates for registered mail receipts "shall cease to be in effect on and after the first day of the first month which begins at least six months after the termination of hostilities in the present war."

38. Act of July 6, 1945 (Ch. 274, Sec. 20, 59 Stat. 459; Public Law 134, Seventy-ninth Congress, First Sess.). Compensatory time or overtime pay provided for Saturday service, for certain postmasters and postal service employes "during the period of hostilities with Japan and for not more than thirty days thereafter."

39. Act of March 4, 1925 (Ch. 536, Sec. 22, 43 Stat. 1276-1277), as amended by Public Law 1, Seventy-ninth Congress, Feb. 13, 1945. Limitation on personnel of Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps "until the expiration of one year after the cessation of hostilities in the present war as declared by the President or by concurrent resolution of Congress."

40. Act of May 3, 1943, (Ch. 91, 57 Stat. 74). To permit the suspension of annual assessment work on mining claims held by location. Expires "on the 1st of July after the cessation of hostilities in the present war as determined by proclamation of the President or concurrent resolution of the Congress."

41. Act of July 3, 1945, Section 803 (Public Law 124, 79th Cong., 1st Sess.). Appropriation made for training of defense workers not to be available for obligation "for a period longer than sixty days after cessation of hostilities in the present war."

42. Act of Feb. 26, 1944, (Ch. 65 (58 Stat. 100-104)). Protection of fur seals and sea otter in waters of North Pacific Ocean. Provides that "the provisions of this act which implement the provisional fur-seal agreement of 1942 concluded between the United States of America and Canada shall remain in effect only for the duration of the present hostilities and twelve months thereafter unless either the Government of the United States of America or the Government of Canada enacts legislation contrary thereto, or until twelve months after either Government shall have notified the other Government of its intention to terminate the agreement."

43. Acts of April 29, 1943, (Ch 82, Sec. 5 (F), 57 Stat. 72) and Feb. 14, 1944, (Ch. 16, Sec. 5 (F), 58 Stat. 15; 50 U.S.C., Supp. IV. App. 1355); Amended by Act of April 25, 1945, (Ch. 95, 59 Stat. 80, Public Law 40, 79th Cong., 1st Sess.). Excludes income "prior to the seventh calendar month occurring after the termination of hostilities in the present war, as proclaimed by the President," from agricultural labor and nursing in considering State payments of old-age assistance.

Statutes Affected in More Than One Year

44. Act of July 1, 1944, Contract Settlement Act of 1944, Section 19 (A) (Ch. 358, 58 Stat. 667, 41 U.S.C., Supp. IV, 119). Provides that it shall be unlawful to secrete or destroy certain records by war contractors and purchasers until "five years after the termination of hostilities in the present war as proclaimed by the President or by a concurrent resolution of the two houses of Congress or until five years after disposition of termination inventory or contract settlement, whichever shall be earliest."

45. Act of April 24, 1945 (Public Law 39, 79th Cong., 1st Sess.). Section 3 amends Section 17 of the Reclamation Project Act of 1939 (53 Stat. 1187, 1198) by extending the authority granted in Sections 3 and 4 of the act for modification of existing repayment contracts or other forms of obligations to pay construction charges "through Dec. 31, 1950, or Dec. 31 of the fifth full calendar year after the cessation of hostilities in the present war, as determined by proclamation of the President or concurrent resolution of the Congress, whichever period is the longer."

46. Act of Oct. 3, 1944 (Public Law 457, 78th Cong., 2d Sess.), Surplus Property Act of 1944. Section 38 provides: "Unless extended by law, this act shall expire at the end of three years following the date of the cessation of hostilities in the present war. For the purposes of this section the term 'date of the cessation of hostilities in the present war' means the date proclaimed by the President as the date of such cessation, or the date specified in a concurrent resolution of the two houses of Congress as the date of such cessation, whichever is the earlier."

47. Act of Aug. 24, 1942 (56 Stat. 747; 18 U.S.C., Sec 590A), as amended by Section 19B of the Act of July 1, 1944 (Public 395, 78th Cong., 2d Sess.). Contract Settlement Act of 1944, which suspends the running of any existing statute of limitations applicable in certain cases involving the defrauding of the United States "until three years after the termination of hostilities in the present war as proclaimed by the President or by a concurrent resolution of the two houses of Congress."

New Secretaries Authorized

48. Act of Dec. 8, 1944 (Public Law 472, 78th Cong., 2d Sess.). Authorizes the appointment of two additional assistant Secretaries of State "for the period of the emergency and not to exceed two years following the cessation of hostilities."

49. Act of Oct. 2, 1942 (Secs. 8A and 9A), 56 Stat. 765, 788, as Amended. Authorizes the Secretary of Agriculture and the Commodity Credit Corporation to use funds to support the prices of basic and non-basic agricultural commodities during "the two-year period beginning with the first day of January immediately following the date upon which the President by proclamation or the Congress by concurrent resolution declares that hostilities in the present war have terminated."

50. Act of April 12, 1945 (Public Law 30, 79th Cong.). Authorizes the Commodity Credit Corporation to dispose of cotton free from the restrictions prescribed in Section 381 (C) of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended (7 U. S. C. 1381 (C)). The operation of Section 381 (C) of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938 is suspended until "the expiration of the two-year period beginning with the first day of January immediately following the date on which the President, by proclamation, or the Congress, by concurrent resolution, declares that hostilities in the present war have terminated."

51. Internal Revenue Code, Section 780, provides for Post-War Excess Profits Tax Refund Bonds to mature on the last day of the second, third, fourth or fifth year beginning after "the date on which hostilities in the present war between the United States and the Governments of Germany, Japan and Italy cease as fixed by proclamation of the President or by concurrent resolution of the two houses of Congress, whichever date is earlier, or in case the hostilities between the United States and such governments do not cease at the same time such date as may be so fixed as an appropriate date for the purposes of this section."

President's Proclamation

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31—The text of the President's Proclamation ending the period of hostilities for World War II follows:

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

A PROCLAMATION

With God's help this nation and our Allies, through sacrifice and devotion, courage and perseverance, wrung final and unconditional surrender from our enemies. Thereafter, we together with the other United Nations, set about building a world in which justice shall replace force. With spirit, through faith, with a determination that there shall be no more wars of aggression calculated to enslave the peoples of the world and destroy their civilization, and with the guidance of Almighty Providence great gains have been made in translating military victory into permanent peace. Although a state of war still exists, it is at this time possible to declare, and I find it to be in the public interest to declare, that hostilities have terminated.

Now, therefore, I, Harry S. Truman, President of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim the cessation of hostilities of World War II, effective twelve o'clock noon, Dec. 31, 1946.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington this 31st day of December in the year of our Lord Nineteen Hundred and Forty-six, and of the Independence of the United States of America the One Hundred and Seventy-first.

HARRY S. TRUMAN.

By the President:
JAMES F. BYRNES
The Secretary of State.

1947 Comes To Europe

London, Wednesday, Jan. 1 (AP).—Thousands of prancing merrymakers kissed the girls, shot fireworks, and blew tin horns in riotous New Year's observances in London and other European capitals early today.

A high carnival spirit was abroad in the night spots of Paris, Budapest, Brussels, and Rome, but in the outlying sections of those cities and in the thousands of villages and towns that freckle the map of Europe there were prayers instead of parties.

Singing, shouting crowds flowing out from theaters and night spots crammed Piccadilly Circus and Trafalgar Square in one of old London's gayest holiday revelries. Sporting paper hats and grotesque masks, party-goers sent up tinsel streamers and colored balloons and made a clatter with their hand bells, rattles and trumpets.

Crowd In Cathedral

The largest crowd in a decade thronged St. Paul's Cathedral, the church of the empire, for a midnight service. Outside, Britons sang war songs. Groups of revelers harmonized on "Tipperary," "Don't Fence Me In" and music-hall ditties as midnight struck on the cathedral tower.

There were other places in Europe where the celebration was not so gay. Germans in their hovel homes amid bomb ruins greeted the dawning of 1947 with little but hope. Italians, their country beset by food riots, had little of the makings for celebration.

In Greece, Bulgaria, Romania, Albania, Yugoslavia and Spain the situation was the same and only a minority of the population had the money to pay for a celebration.

Yankees Are Gay

Americans in Germany hailed the New Year with Yankee gayety. Troops had hundreds of parties. In Frankfurt they donned paper hats and marched through ruined streets. The few remaining Germans of means celebrated, too, but with black-market champagne and subdued parties.

There was plenty of food, but not much to drink in Scandinavia.

For Europeans the celebration marked the passage of a dreary twelve months of warborn shortages.

Britons faced a new year of industrial crisis. Labor party members expressed the hope that the nationalization of the nation's coal and communications industries, which became effective at midnight, would mean the start of a new era of prosperity.

In Rome, the United States Army requisitioned the Excelsior Hotel, where American officers and their guests dined for $4, with drinks at 70 cents.

Italy Fears Strike

But the Roman, if he celebrated at all, paid about five times as much. And, in any event, Italy's observances were overshadowed by the threat of a general strike in the south, in protest against skimpy food rations.

Americans in Germany and Central Eruope for the most part celebrated the holiday at their homes or private clubs, forgetting for the moment the misery surrounding them.

Germans, however, observed a skimpy and generally sober New Year's Eve. In Berlin, where a bottle of second-rate wine cost $30, most cafes and night clubs were unheated, and all were required to close by 1 A.M.

Many Germans attended midnight church services and said prayers for the millions of prisoners of war still held outside that country.

People jammed the night spots in Budapest, but the cheapest drinks cost $1.50.

Paris celebrated its second all-night party in a week and expected to outdo its Christmas Eve revels, despite $15 dinners, $15 champagne and pate de foie gras at $12 a pound.

WAR IS THREAT, RUSSIA TOLD

But Moscow Radio Cites Peace Prospect Gains

London, Dec. 31 (AP)—The Moscow radio said tonight the year 1946 brought victory for Russian foreign policy and defeat for "atomic diplomacy," and thus improved the prospects for peace.

The threat of war remains, however, I. Yermashev, commentator, said, because of "the efforts of some powers for world hegemony—for the exploitation of other peoples."

In a 3,000-word end-of-year review of international affairs, Yermashev declared the struggle for peace would continue with the Soviet Union as its principal leader.

Atomic Prospects

"The defeat of atomic diplomacy has opened up favorable prospects for international collaboration and the struggle for peace," he said, adding that "one of the most important results of the year in this respect is the strengthening of the United Nations and consolidating its authority."

The Soviet delegation to the United Nations, Yermashev said, "achieved outstanding successes in the defenses of the principles underlying the United Nations organization and the principles of unanimity of the great powers."

Throughout the year, the broadcaster said, "in the United States and Great Britain, the two main countries of the capitalist world, reactionary circles exerted unceasing pressure on their governments, pushing them to the right."

Britain Move Strengthened

But in Britain "the year saw the strengthening of the movement for a consistently democratic foreign policy" and in the United States "all progressive-minded elements and honest people are uniting under the slogan 'win the peace,'" he added.

As the year ends, Yermashev said, "the eyes of millions hoping for peace are turning to the Kremlin, and the Kremlin's policies are foretelling a better, shining future for the world."

Zionists May Go To London Parley

LONDON, Dec. 31 (AP).—A Jewish Agency spokesman announced tonight that David Ben-Gurion, chairman of the Jewish Agency Executive, would confer Thursday with Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones on the possibility of agency participation in renewed London conferences on Palestine's future.

The announcement raised hopes that the World Zionist Congress would be represented at the conference, scheduled to re-open Jan. 21, despite its recent decision against participation without "a change in the situation."

There was no apparent substantial change in the situation as yet, but Ben-Gurion is among the members of the new Zionist coalition executive known to favor attendance at the British-sponsored talks.

A British government spokesman said it still was unlikely that Palestine Arabs would participate.

BRITAIN TO GET ZIONIST REPORT

London, Dec. 31 (A. P.).—The Colonial Office said today that David Ben-Gurion, chairman of the Jewish Agency Executive in Palestine, would confer Thursday with Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones.

The announcement led to speculation among informed persons that the visit might open the way for Jewish participation in the London Conference on Palestine, which is expected to be resumed in January.

The official purpose of Ben-Gurion's visit, the announcement said, will be to report the decisions of the Zionist Congress sessions in Basle. Jewish Agency authorities said Ben-Gurion was expected to arrive in London tomorrow.

A foreign Office spokesman said that a date for a resumption of the conference, adjourned October 2, would be set soon. Ben-Gurion is among the members of the new Zionist coalition executive known to favor Jewish representation at the London talks.

British Approve Whipping Of Jew

Jerusalem, Dec. 31 (AP)—British military authorities confirmed tonight a sentence of twelve lashes for a young Jew charged with underground activities, despite an underground warning that any new lashings would result in retaliation by "bullets."

Lieutenant General Sir Evelyn Barker, British commander, approved the sentence against Aaron Cohen, convicted of distributing pamphlets for Irgun Zvai Leumi, Jewish underground organization.

Warnings issued yesterday, purportedly by Irgun, said that any additional whippings of Irgun "soldiers" would result in retaliation not by whippings this time, but by "bullets."

An intensive manhunt continued, meanwhile, for persons who kidnapped and flogged a British major and three noncommissioned officers last Sunday in an apparent eye-for-an-eye retaliation of the flogging last week of a convicted Irgun bank robber.

Palestine Floggers Hunted By British

Jerusalem, Dec. 31 (AP)—Residents of the Jewish town of Rishon Le Zion and Petah Tikvah were kept under virtual house arrest today while British troops searched for persons who flogged four of their fellow-soldiers.

The military said 22 were under arrest at Rishon and Nathanya, where Major Paddy Brett was lashed eighteen times Sunday night. Three sergeants also were flogged.

The military statement said Lieut. Gen. Sir Evelyn Barker had confirmed a twelve-lash sentence against Aaron Cohen, a young Jerusalem Jew charged with distributing pamphlets of the illegal Irgun Zvai Leumi organization. A month prison term was remitted.

Curfews from dusk to dawn remained in force in the coastal areas.

Jews Denounce Floggings

The Jewish Agency said it had received a cable from three of its leaders in Basel, Switzerland, condemning the floggings of British soldiers as "revolting brutality desecrating the good name of the Jewish community." The message, signed by Moshe Shertok, Dr. Moshe Sneh and Mrs. Golda Myerson, urged Palestine Jews to assist all measures to prevent a repetition.

[A Reuter dispatch from Palestine reported that Moshe Saadia, a Jewish youth who disappeared mysteriously last week in Jerusalem, called at Tel Aviv police station today and said he had escaped from a terrorist "trial" held in a Moslem cemetery near Tel Aviv. He showed signs of severe injuries and torture and was admitted to hospital.

14 More GI Families Leave London For Reich

London, Dec. 31 (AP)—A planeload of GI brides and children who left New York for Germany by plane on Christmas Eve took off from London for Frankfurt today. Their journey had been delayed by bad weather.

Fourteen women and children were aboard. Ten others remained behind because five of the children had not recovered from minor illnesses contracted en route.

Nineteen of the mothers and 33 children flew to Frankfurt yesterday.

Lawrence Corcoran, 24, was charged in a West London Police Court with complicity in the theft of 11 suitcases and their contents belonging to the American wives who left yesterday.

The articles, valued at $4,800, were taken from a Kensington hotel.

A detective sergeant quoted Corcoran, a porter at the hotel, as saying, "I know where the stuff is, but I can't tell you because they will kill me." Corcoran was held without bail while police searched for the other men.

Britain Nationalizing 2 Industries Tonight

London, Dec. 31 (AP)—The Socialist British Government will take over ownership and operation at midnight of the country's vast coal industry and the world-circling communications network of Cable and Wireless, Ltd.

The nationalization of the coal mines, largest industrial move undertaken by the Attlee Government, is regarded as a supreme test for the Labor party administration. Autumn stocks were insufficient, and winter consumption has exceeded production.

Government economists placed a $656,000,000 valuation on the coal industry. The cable and wireless network is worth $120,000,000, company officials say.

Chinese Women's Protests Reported

London, Dec. 31 (AP)—The Moscow radio today broadcast a Tass dispatch from Shanghai reporting that a "Chinese Women's Association" had issued a manifesto protesting against what it called "the lawless actions of American Marines in China."

Tass said the manifesto complained in particular of the alleged rape of a Chinese girl student in Peiping, and declared: "This rude violence will not be discontinued as long as American forces remain in China."

U.S. Opposes Russia, Asks Atom Plan Priority

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Dec. 31 (AP).—The United States today called for United Nations action on atomic control as the first step in the general arms reduction program recommended by the General Assembly.

The American proposal was laid before the Security Council by Herschel V. Johnson, U. S. delegate, in a surprise move, which collided head-on with a Russian demand for immediate action on the whole arms question.

NIGHT

ACTION POSTPONED

An immediate clash was averted when the delegates agreed to take up both proposals at the next council meeting, probably Monday or Tuesday, when it will begin discussions on the Assembly's resolution and any measures to implement it.

Johnson opened today's two-hour session by proposing that action be postponed on the Soviet proposals, which had been submitted to Secretary-General Trygve Lie last Saturday and were on the provisional agenda. He announced that the United States had proposals of her own and said he felt that the Council should "consider all such proposals on an equal basis rather than give priority to any one."

GROMYKO OBJECTS

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, said that in his view the Assembly's resolution "obliged the Security Council to proceed immediately" to implement the Assembly program approved Dec. 14, but added:

"If some members feel that there should be a postponement, I shall not object."

The U. S. resolution was then circulated among the delegates. It proposed:

1. That the Council give "first priority to the establishment of international control over atomic energy."

2. That after the Council had studied the recommendations adopted yesterday by the Atomic Energy Commission it should consider "what further practical measures it should take and in what order of priority for the implementation" of the Assembly resolution.

PRESSES FOR INQUIRY

The Soviet proposals, already before the Council, made no mention of priority, but provided that the Council create immediately an 11-nation commission to draft plans for a general arms reduction and to report back within three months, at the latest.

Johnson, in recommending a delay in opening debate on the Soviet resolution, said "it should be clearly understood that our proposal and any other proposal relating to implementation of the General Assembly resolution which may be introduced will be considered concurrently and on an equal basis with the Soviet proposal."

CITES NEW MEMBERS

"Postponement," he declared, "would have the added advantage that the Security Council would begin what will surely be very important and quite extended discussions of the whole problem of regulation of armaments with the new membership which will be continuing consideration of the problem in 1947."

The reference to "new membership" drew attention to the fact that three of the delegates—from Mexico, Egypt and The Netherlands—were finishing their terms at today's session and that they will be replaced at the next meeting by representatives of Belgium, Colombia and Syria.

British To Ask Civil War Damages From Spain

London, Dec. 31 (AP)—A "very substantial" bill for damages to British property in Spain and to shipping in near-by waters during the Spanish civil war will be presented within a month or two to the Franco Government, or its successor, a Foreign Office spokesman said today.

DAY

The Foreign Office recently ordered the British Ambassador to leave Madrid, in accordance with the United Nations' recommendation on Franco Spain.

The spokesman said the bill, which was now being compiled, would run into some millions of pounds. He said the preparation of the bill was delayed by World War II. When it was suggested that the account might be hard to collect, he remarked: "That is not the official view of the British Government."

U.S. Proposes Atom-Control Talks First

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 31 (AP)—The United States formally proposed today that the Security Council take up the problem of atomic control first in its quest for world-wide arms limitation.

Moving to give the atomic problem top priority in the coming discussion on arms in the Council, Herschel V. Johnson, United States delegate, offered this resolution to the Council shortly after it met:

"The Security Council resolves that:

DAY

1. Pursuant to the General Assembly resolution of December 14 concerning the 'principles governing the general regulation and reduction of armaments' it gives first priority to the establishment of international control over atomic energy and, accordingly, it will consider and act upon the forthcoming report of the Atomic Commission as soon as received;

Further Measures

2. It will thereafter consider what further practical measures it should take and in what order of priority for the implementation of the said General Assembly resolution."

A request by Russia, transmitted by its delegate, Andrei A. Gromyko, for prompt consideration of the arms problem, topped the agenda of the Security Council. Its other business included arrangements for the formal retirement of Mexico, the Netherlands, and Egypt from the council. They will be replaced tomorrow by Syria, Belgium and Colombia.

Atom Report

United Nations observers said the council would not deal today with the formal report submitted by the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission after more than six months of intensive work. The commission, by a vote of 10 to 0, with Russia and Poland abstaining, sent its first report to the Council yesterday afternoon.

It was expected that the report would be taken up as early as possible, possibly by January 6.

The Russian request before the Council made two specific requests:

1. That the Council proceed at once with work on practical measures to implement the resolution on arms limitation adopted by the United Nations General Assembly December 14.

2. That the Council set up an eleven-nation commission with instructions to submit a draft plan for arms reduction and regulation within one or two months and not later than three months.

Gromyko's Objections

Gromyko, who voiced strenuous objections to the commission's report and remained silent when the atomic vote was taken yesterday, submitted his proposal to the United Nations Saturday.

The move was taken in United Nations circles as evidence of Russian determination to maintain the initiative on arms reduction which the Soviet assumed in the General Assembly.

V. M. Molotov, Soviet Foreign Minister, startled the delegates in October with a demand for reduction of arms and armed forces and for abolition of atomic weapons.

The Atomic Energy Commission was expected to meet again January 15, with Dr. Oscar Lange, of Poland, as chairman.

Britain To Build Atomic-Power Station

London, Dec. 31 (AP)—The Evening Standard reported today that Britain will build its first atomic-power station "shortly" and said the plant "is likely to be working, probably experimentally, within two years."

DAY

The Ministry of Supply, Government agency in charge of British atomic research, declined to confirm or deny the report, which also said that "an American firm recently sent over machinery for separating the different isotopes, or varieties of uranium."

The newspaper story did not identify the "American firm."

U.N. Armed Forces' Strength Being Studied

Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 31 (AP)—The United Nations Military Staff Committee is studying just how strong the United Nations armed forces must be to carry out their mission of preserving world peace.

A short communiqué issued by the Military Staff Committee said that its members are "engaged on consideration of the principles which should govern the strength of the United Nations' armed forces."

NIGHT

One authoritative source said the committee still was concentrating on the principles and had not come down to actual figures.

Le Clerc Has Flown To Hanoi, Paris Hears; Attacks Increase

Paris, Dec. 31 (AP)—General LeClerc was reported tonight to have flown to Hanoi, embattled capital of Tonkin in French Indo-China, as Viet-Nam Republican troops intensified artillery attacks on the city and harried French forces elsewhere in the north.

NIGHT

LeClerc, French commander in the colony, was believed to have taken off from Saigon shortly after receiving reports of a sharp French setback at Phu-Lang-Thuong, 20 miles northeast of Hanoi, where a French communiqué acknowledged the withdrawal of a garrison.

Push Thrusts Southward

French forces holding Hanoi, nominal capital of the Viet-Namese, pushed thrusts southward into the burning suburbs toward Hadong, 6 miles to the southwest, where Ho Chi Minh, Viet-Namese President, was reported to have established his Government after his flight from the Tonkin capital in the first hours of the conflict. Artillery and planes were supporting the French thrusts.

An official communiqué from the French general staff at Saigon in the south was reminiscent of the wartime bulletins in which setbacks were couched in diplomatic language.

"In conformity with previous preparations which entailed the dispatch of a protective escort force," the communiqué said, "the small garrison of Phu-Lang-Thuong, whose presence in this locality is no longer justified under present circumstances, has been withdrawn to Bac Ninh."

The Saigon radio said, however, that the situation at Hanoi and Haiphong appeared "satisfactory." French forces hurled back renewed insurgent attacks on the coastal city of Haiphong.

"The military authorities have obtained their first objectives—to cut up the lines of the attack—and the morale of the troops and the civilians has risen," the radio said.

An Associated Press dispatch from Hanoi said the city underwent heavy Viet-Namese artillery fire last night, concentrated on an area where Admiral Georges Thierry D'Argenlieu was staying.

Presence Drew Protests

D'Argenlieu, whose continued presence in Hanoi drew protests from the native population, flew back to Saigon today. At the same time Marius Moutet, Minister for Overseas Colonies, returned to Saigon from conferences in Cambodia.

Moutet had left Saigon last week to survey the situation throughout the colony and report on it to the Paris Government. It was obviously a trip to strengthen the lineup of nondissident elements in southern Indo-China. He returned with a declaration that he was confident of the allegiance of the inhabitants of Laos and Cambodia.

Paris press reports that Premier Blum and Ho, Viet Nam leader, were conducting direct negotiations for a truce were denied in Saigon. In Paris, Blum, reporting to his Cabinet on the situation, said there had been complete freedom of press reports from the strife-torn areas.

LeClerc Is Really French Count

Paris, Dec. 31 (AP)—General LeClerc, the man who led the victorious French 2d Armored Division from Normandy to Paris and who has now been called to Indo-China to command French forces against the Viet-Namese, is in reality Count Philippe de Hautecloque.

DAY

The Count assumed the name "LeClerc" early in the war, when he commanded a French Army unit in Africa, to keep the Germans ignorant of his true identity. He feared that if the Germans learned his identity they would persecute his wife and six children, then living in German-occupied France.

"LeClerc" subsequently became so famous that an American correspondent prefixed the names "Jacques" to the pseudonym for good measure.

French newspapers still refer to him as simply "General LeClerc," and the commander has adopted the nom de guerre as his usual signature, even for official purposes. He is listed in a French Who's Who, however, as "Count Philippe LeClerc de Hautecloque."

Viet-Nam Forces Cut Off Town

Paris, Dec. 31 (AP)—A French general staff communiqué from Indo-China announced today that Viet-Nam Nationalist forces had cut off the coastal town of Hue, midway between Haiphon and Saigon, and had launched a series of heavy attacks against the French garrison.

At the same time Viet-Nam artillery was reported to have resumed the shelling of Hanoi, doing considerable damage to buildings near the governor general's palace but causing no casualties. The French said their artillery had returned the fire and that their Spitfire planes had machine-gunned and bombed Viet-Nam positions with good effect.

DAY

Road To Hadong

French troops, meanwhile, were said to be edging out along the road to Hadong, six miles southwest of Hanoi, where President Ho Chi Minh of the Viet-Nam Republic was believed to have established his headquarters. Artillery and planes supported this operation.

Dispatches from Saigon quoted General Leclerc, commander of French forces in Indo-China, as expressing doubt that the fighting with the Viet-Namese would be brought to any quick conclusion. LeClerc said the French, with the aid of reinforcements now en route, would be able to re-establish order, but added that "I do not think the situation will be settled in a few days."

Admiral Visits Hospital

Admiral George Theierry d'Argenlieu, French High Commissioner for Indo-China, arrived in Hanoi from Saigon yesterday and visited advance French posts in an armored car. He also visited the Lanessan Hospital, scene of sharp fighting last week, and bestowed several decorations on the wounded.

Later, the French Press Agency reported, he delivered a radio address in which he said that "we can now appreciate in full measure the crimes for which the Viet-Nam Government must assume full responsibility before the civilized world."

"The French people will know how to punish those responsible," he added.

Self-Support For Reich Zone By 1950 Seen

Berlin, Dec. 31 (AP)—Official plans for the economically merged United States and British zones in Germany call for combined annual exports worth $900,000,000 by 1950, at which time it is expected the 40,000,000 German inhabitants will be self-supporting, Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay disclosed today.

The American deputy military governor said this export revenue was intended to be divided into $600,000,000 for food imports and $300,000,000 for raw materials.

At present, Clay estimated, the cost to American and British taxpayers of feeding the population of the two zones on the 1,550-daily-calorie level would approximate $697,000,000 a year if foreign trade were not developed.

Food-Relief Plans

He said the two Allied powers expected to spend $600,000,000 for German food relief in the fiscal year 1948, each contributing one half. But this expenditure, by development of exports, was expected to be trimmed to $350,000,000 in the fiscal year 1949, and thereafter could cease.

"We Americans have been spending about $200,000,000 yearly of appropriated funds to feed the Germans in our zone," Clay pointed out. "Now we are undertaking to pay half the cost of the combined two zones, and for the first fiscal year of the operation, that means $300,000,000. But the second year will be less. And after that, the Germans will be paying their own way. Alone, the United States zone could never become self-sufficient."

Post-1950 Outlook

Clay emphasized, however, that Anglo-American economic plans for Western Germany make no provision for trade reaching such volume that the Germans could pay current United States and British expenditures after 1950.

"They will be self-supporting, but no more than that," he said.

Clay said he was hopeful of obtaining "a sizable loan" for the bizonal economy from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which has already made $7,750,000 available to the United States zone for the purchase of raw materials.

He also indicated confidence that private financing could be arranged with American and British banks. He said the combined zones were expected to export about $250,000,000 worth of goods in 1947, of which Ruhr coal would amount to $80,000,000, and manufactures from the United States zone to $100,000,000.

U.S. And Britain Break Potsdam Pact: Russ

Moscow, Dec. 31 (AP)—The Government newspaper Izvestia denounced the American-British agreement on the economic unification of Germany today as a violation of the Potsdam agreement.

A strongly worded commentary by S. Alexeyev asserted the plan sought to introduce American and British capital into the German economy and to strengthen German monopolies which, by earlier Allied decisions, should be eliminated.

The article hinted that the Americans and British were seeking to corner the military and economic potential of Germany. He said American and British capitalists were buying up shares in German concerns.

Points Article

"It is not difficult to notice that the agreement on the economic unification is in contradiction with decisions of the Potsdam Conference, particularly in that it violates an article of the fourteenth section of 'economic principles' of these decisions," the commentary charged.

"It obstructs the restoration of the political unity of Germany and is already being used actively by those foreign circles who endeavor, with German reactionaries, to split Germany into half."

Alexeyev wrote that the economic unification served a plan to make Germany into a union of states, which he asserted was the aim of "Anglo-American reaction."

His article said the American and British representatives spoke as if they were compelled to take the unification step because they were unable to attain unity in the economic handling of Germany.

"Serve As A Screen"

"Such statements were completely unfounded and served merely as a screen covering the policy of the Anglo-American authorities in Germany," the article said. "It is not hard to show that if there existed obstacles in handling Germany, particularly as to economic unity, they came principally from the Anglo-American side and not at all from the Soviet side.

"The Soviet Government many times stated that Germany should be regarded as a unified economic and political whole and made this proposal at the Berlin conference of not only forming a number of central German departments but even proposing the formation of some kind of central German administration."

The writer asserted that the principal decisions of the Potsdam Conference were not fulfilled. He said reparations from the industrial plants in the western occupation zones had been held up by the policies of the American and British commanders. He said the British command systematically restricted the supplies of coke, pig iron, steel and coal for France and the Russian zone.

U.S., BRITISH ZONES MERGE

Move In Germany Takes Place Today; Russians Object

Berlin, Dec. 31 (AP)—The economic merger of the United States and British occupation zones, which becomes effective tomorrow, will enable the 40,000,000 residents of the two zones to start "paying their own way" by 1950, Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay predicted today.

The American deputy military governor said that the immediate result of the merger would be an increased expenditure of American funds, but that exports from the two zones would enable the Germans to become completely self-supporting after two years.

"We Americans have been spending about $200,000,000 yearly of appropriated funds to feed the Germans in our zone," he said. "Now we are undertaking to pay half the cost of the combined two operations—that means $300,000,000.

Forecast Of Exports

"But the second year will be less, and after that the Germans will be paying their own way. Alone the United States zone could never become self-sufficient."

Clay said official plans called for German exports of $900,000,000 by 1950 and that this revenue would be divided so that $600,000,000 would be spent for food imports and $300,000,000 for raw materials.

Son Of De Lesseps Arrested In France

Paris, Dec. 31 (AP)—Paul de Lesseps, 63, son of the builder of the Suez Canal, was arrested in a hospital at Fresnes and arraigned before a military court today on charges of collaboration with the Germans.

The docket charged him with seeking to sell the Germans lands he owned at Alexandria which the Germans wished to use as a base against the British.

TELLS HOW BABIES DIED IN NAZI CAMP

Hamburg, Dec. 31 (A. P.).—Babies, crammed ten to a bed, died at the Ravensbruck concentration camp for women at the rate of two or three a night, a witness in the Ravensbruck war crimes trial testified today.

Anna Weng Seidemann, Danish woman who said she was an inmate of the Nazi prison for women, said babies were left unaccompanied each night on orders of Elizabeth Marschall, one of the sixteen members of the camp staff being tried by a British military tribunal. Up to 90 per cent of the babies in the camp died, the witness said.

Earlier the tribunal heard from a Polish girl named Zonia Sokulska a story of mass operations on seventy-four women inmates. She said five of the women died and six were shot to death later because they did not recover quickly enough. She said she herself was the subject of surgical experiments.

M'NARNEY HAILS GAINS IN GERMANY

Frankfurt, Dec. 31 (A. P.).—Gen. Joseph T. McNarney said in a broadcast tonight that "the urgent necessity of finding food, shelter and clothing for the needy" of occupied Germany "will be our first consideration" in 1947.

The American commander spoke over the armed forces network to the United States Army of Occupation and to the German people, saying:

"An honest review of the closing of the year in Germany should not bring us discouragement. Great strides toward recovery have been made and we may take pardonable pride in the restoration so far accomplished.

"Although the horror of war has vanished, much of the inevitable havoc and human misery which is the aftermath of war still remains. The road ahead is beset with difficulities—not the least of which is the urgent necessity of finding food, shelter and clothing for the needy ones.

GI Who Wed Fraulein Illegally Is Given Year

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 31 (AP). An American soldier was sentenced by a military court today to one year's imprisonment and dishonorable discharge for marrying a German girl in a legally invalid ceremony "with intent to deceive her."

United States 3d Army headquarters identified the soldier as Staff Sergeant Charles W. Kirkland, 22, of Lewisville, Texas, a constabulary military policeman and combat veteran.

Headquarters officials said he married Kaethe Schmucker in a religious ceremony November 29, 1945, after telling her marriage between Americans and Germans was no longer prohibited. A child was born last May.

Kirkland told the court he loved the girl and wanted the child to bear his name, officials said.

The ban on German-American weddings was lifted only three weeks ago.

Helgoland Fortress Will Be Blown Up

HAMBURG, Germany, Dec. 31 (AP).—A British naval officer said today the great German island fortress of Helgoland would be blown up about March 31 in a blast which would be "the nearest rival to the atomic bomb."

The 15 miles of tunnels in the fortress will be crammed with naval depth charges and blown to oblivion in one "big bang," the officer said.

Helgoland, formerly a British colony which was ceded to Germany in 1886 in exchange for Zanzibar, was developed by the Germans into one of the most powerful naval fortresses in the world.

No Change For GI's In Germany

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 31 (AP). Col. George S. Eyster, spokesman for Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, United States Army commander in Europe, said tonight President Truman's proclamation officially ending hostilities would "make no difference to the occupation of Germany."

U. S. Accused of Buying Slav Defense Secrets

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Dec. 31 (AP).—A high Yugoslav court, opening the trial of eight persons accused of operating a spy ring, heard a charge today that the United States "espionage service" had paid out money for secret data on Yugoslav post-war military and governmental matters.

The principal defendants were Milutin Stefanovic, former Belgrade newspaperman; Mimilos Trifunovic, 75, former premier of the Yugoslav government in exile in London, and Zheljko Sushin, former Yugoslav army officer. All eight were charged with working for foreign espionage, specifically that of the United States.

SECRET INFORMATION

Indictments charged that highly secret information, including disposition of anti-aircraft batteries and the structure of the People's Defense Corps, had been turned over to attaches of the U. S. Embassy in Belgrade.

The court president and the public prosecutor were the same officials who participated in the trial and conviction of General Draja Mikhailovich, Chetnik leader, who subsequently was executed.

ESPIONAGE REPORTS

Stefanovic was accused in the indictment of giving "espionage reports" to Eric Pridonoff, former special economic attache in the American Embassy here, and of working in conjunction with Harold Shantz, former counsellor of the Embassy and later charge d'affaires in Belgrade, and Lieutenant Losunic, former assistant naval attache.

The indictment said Stefanovic made "a considerable number" of oral reports on such things as ack-ack batteries, types of military planes, political and economic life in Yugoslavia and distribution of UNRRA goods.

CALLED INTERMEDIARY

The prosecution also charged that Stefanovic was the intermediary in a purported payoff by Pridonoff to Sushin for ack-ack plans. Sushin was said to have received $40.

Trifunovic was accused in the indictment of supplying Pridonoff with a 40-page espionage report "which included state secrets" such as "the numerical size of the Yugoslav army."

Stefanovic pleaded innocent and said that his only connection with Pridonoff was "journalistic." He explained that he formerly was employed by the American Embassy press section and that Pridonoff was his boss.

TITO TRIES EIGHT AS SPIES FOR U. S.

Belgrade, Dec. 31 (A. P.).—Eight defendants were accused today before the High Court of the People's Republic of Serbia with "working for foreign espionage," specifically that of the United States.

One of them, Milutin Stefanovic, former Belgrade newspaper man, was indicted on a charge of "receiving espionage instructions from Eric Pridonoff, former special economic attache in the American embassy at Belgrade; Harold Shantz, former counselor of the embassy and later charge d'affaires in Belgrade, and Lieut. Kosunic, former assistant naval attache in Belgrade."

Among the other defendants were Misha Trifunovic, former Premier of the Yugoslav Government-in-exile in London, and Zheljko Sushin, former Yugoslav Army officer.

The indictment accused Stefanovic of presenting written espionage reports to Pridonoff and Shantz and also of delivering a "considerable number of oral reports which gave the American espionage service information which either represented State and military secrets, disposition of 'ack ack' batteries in Belgrade, types of military planes and military movements, or false information concerning political, economic and social life in Yugoslavia, supposed terror, alleged great strength of the Chetniks and alleged unjust distribution of UNRRA goods."

M'Arthur Tells Jap People To Use Reforms

Tokyo, Dec. 31 (AP)—General MacArthur cautioned the Japanese people tonight that unless they take full advantage of democracy and freedom "there can be but superficial and temporary change from that which brought only tragedy in Japan's past."

The occupation chief, in a New Year's message, said the success of many reforms that have come since the surrender depended upon the manner in which the people discharged their new political responsibilities, the leaders they chose and the faithfulness of those leaders in preserving the people's rights.

DAY

Gains In Year Past

"On the people alone rests the solution to many of the pressing problems which harass Japan's present and will shape Japan's future," MacArthur said.

In the year just past, he declared, "none will fail to concede major advances" toward a social system that seeks equality of opportunity, maximum human freedom and elevation of the dignity, well-being and happiness of the individual.

"Much has been accomplished," he said. "Much remains to be done. There have been many successes, some failures; many strong points, some weak; much good, some bad.

Aware Of Crosscurrents

"The great majority of Japan's leaders have displayed an exemplary approach to the realism of Japan's problems—an even greater majority of Japan's people resolutely have sought to remove the causes of Japan's ill-fated past and faithfully to build for Japan's happier future."

Throughout the year, MacArthur remarked, he was fully aware of crosscurrents "of decision and indecision, progress and retrogression, steps both faltering and resolute" marking the fight between the forces of liberalism and reaction to establish a common ground for Japan's salvation.

"I have confined my major effort to charting the course envisaged at hostilities' end by both our warring peoples, that would destroy entrenched totalitarian controls and raise the individual Japanese citizen to exert a dominant influence over his own destiny," MacArthur stated.

1947 Results Important

He expressed faith that "once a citizen has acquired power of self-determination, limited only by rational convention and individual conscience, he may be counted upon firmly to preserve that power and to apply it fearlessly and intelligently, both for his own benefit and the benefit of all."

The results in 1947, he said, will have a profound bearing on the wellbeing of the Japanese people in future generations and on "whether can be brought to fruition those great reforms now being charted."

In the year ahead, he pointed out, the new constitution will go into effect, placing sovereign power in the hands of the people; agrarian reforms will be implemented so the farmer may keep the gains of his toil; and the people will have the opportunity to select their own leaders.

In conclusion, MacArthur said, "it is my prayer, indeed, my firm anticipation, that the Japanese people will understand and grasp this opportunity and rise resolutely to meet its challenge. Therein lies Japan's salvation—therein lies the opportunity for future peace and happiness for the Japanese people—and therein lies the hope of all the peoples of the East for a better civilization."

TOKYO, Dec. 31 (AP).—The complete text of General MacArthur's statement today to the Japanese people:

"To the people of Japan:

"As we again bring one year to a close and enter upon the complexities of another, it is well that we calmly and carefully assay the past that we may more realistically pattern the future. For it is only by the fruits of experience, with its successes and its failures, its strong points and its weak, its good and its bad, that we may reorient ourselves toward that objective for which we have heretofore embarked.

Major Advances Noted

"In the year just past, none will fail to concede major advances toward the development of a social system in Japan designed along the most progressive and liberal lines, and resting upon that basic concept which seeks equality of opportunity and a maximum of human freedom while elevating the dignity and well-being and happiness of the individual.

"It has been a year of legislated reform, hardly surpassed in a comparable period during the evolution of civilized society, which has established the framework of popular government and, crashing through barriers of tradition, prejudice and oppressive controls, has provided the Japanese people with the right and opportunity to live in the full dignity of self-respect as free men.

Much Yet to Do

"It is for the historian of the future to judge just how fully the Japanese people avail themselves of this right and this opportunity, which has come to them in the wake of blood and sacrifice of countless thousands of Japan's sons. For it is not enough that this right and opportunity be bestowed. It must be fully understood, deeply cherished and resolutely preserved if that which is now written is to be transformed into meaningful and vital actuality—if from the bitterness and tragedy of Japan's past and present are to spring those strong roots of individual liberty upon which a future free society must rest.

"Much has been accomplished; much yet remains to be done. There have been many successes, some failures; many strong points, some weak; much good, some bad. The great majority of Japan's leaders have displayed an exemplary approach to the realism of Japan's problems—an even greater majority of Japan's people resolutely have sought to remove the causes of Japan's ill-fated past and faithfully to build for Japan's happier future.

"During this time I have not been unmindful of those crosscurrents of decision and indecision, of progress and retrogression, of steps both faltering and resolute, as the forces of liberalism and reaction have fought to establish a common ground for Japan's salvation. And I have confined my major effort to charting a course, envisaged at hostilities' end by our warring peoples, that would destroy entrenched totalitarian controls and raise the individual Japanese citizen to exert a dominant influence over his own destiny. For once the citizen has acquired power and self-determination, limited only by the rational convention of conscience; he may be counted upon firmly to preserve that power and apply it fearlessly and intelligently, both for his own benefit and the common benefit of all.

"The results in the year to come will have a profound bearing upon the well-being of the people of Japan during the generations which are to follow. For therein only can be brought to fruition those great reforms which are now just charted. A new constitution will take effect, placing all sovereign power in the hands of the people, upon whom simultaneously will be conferred heretofore unknown rights and privileges and upon whom will be imposed new and most serious individual responsibilities. Agrarian reforms will be brought under implementation to the end that those who till the soil may reap the fruits of their toil. And the people throughout Japan will have an opportunity to select a new leadership through the exercise of their own free will, with entrenched, restrictive controls inexorably swept aside.

"The success of these and other projected reforms, designed to uplift the dignity and well-being of the individual and establish here a free society, are dependent, however, in the final analysis upon the manner in which the people themselves discharge their new political responsibilities, the type of leadership which the people select, and the faithfulness with which that leadership preserves inviolate the people's rights and furthers the people's interests. For unless the people assume in full reality the mantle and dignity of sovereign power and proceed resolutely in the exercise of that power to build upon the ashes of decadence a new and enlightened social system, deeply rooted in a firm determination to remain free, there can be but superficial and temporary change from that which brought only tragedy in Japan's past.

"Thus, on the people alone rests the solution of many pressing problems which harass Japan's present and will shape Japan's future. On their action, as the year progresses, will depend in large measure the course of Japan's destiny, and all peoples of good will everywhere will watch with intense interest and abiding hope the manner in which they meet these vital tests. It is my prayer, and indeed my firm anticipation, that the Japanese people will understand and grasp this opportunity and rise resolutely to meet its challenge. Therein lies Japan's salvation, therein lies the opportunity for future peace and happiness for Japan's people, and therein lies the hope of all peoples of the East for a better civilization."

Uranium Reported In Manchuria

Tokyo, Dec. 31 (AP)—Japanese before the end of the war unearthed in Manchuria a deposit of radioactive minerals—possibly uranium, possibly not—Allied headquarters sources said today.

Headquarters officers said they were investigating the method by which the Japanese discovered the minerals and the extent to which they developed the ores. In the same area, approximately 140 miles north of Haicheng (north and west of Mukden), Japanese had developed feldspar and silica deposits for use in ceramics industries.

DAY

Substance Undefined

Haicheng itself is roughly midway between Dairen and Mukden.

A headquarters source said this Japanese discovery was the first indication that Manchuria contains radioactive material. He said it was not clear whether the material was uranium.

The area is normally controlled by China, since the withdrawal of Russian occupation forces from most of Manchuria although the Russians still control Dairen and a few other cities.

British Occupation Baby Born in Japan

KURE, Japan, Dec. 31 (AP).—Muriel Ann Cameron Clarke was born in an Army hospital here yesterday—the first British occupation baby.

DAY

Both of the parents, Lieutenant and Mrs. C. H. L. Cameron Clarke, were born in military hospitals in India. The father's home is 10 Middleton Road, Calcutta; his wife's is Grey House, Whitfield, Bangalore, Southern India. They were married at Seramban, Malaya.

Filipinos 'Shoot The Works' To Set New Year's Pace

Manila, Dec. 31 (AP)—Wistful wives in the humblest grass huts or the mansions of sugar millionaires did their best this evening to fill cupboards, light their homes brilliantly and load their tables with food—for there's a Filipino superstition that every day of the next twelve months will be like New Year's.

Everywhere new hope was growing—that 1947 will see the beginning of the Philippines' long-awaited rehabilitation program.

Handicapped By Dimout

Manila itself was celebrating in a dimout. Lack of repair parts and new generators forced the power company to shut off current to many parts of the city.

It was a memorable time, for all that—compared with New Year's Eve five years ago, when the brightest lights came from burning oil tanks fired by retreating American troops, and when Japanese were literally at the city gates.

Yanks Stage Parties

Tonight American service men and officers were staging elaborate cabaret-style parties—brightened by the presence of wives and families for the first New Year's Eve since the war.

But the central Luzon's rich agricultural areas fingers lingered on triggers. Nervous townsmen were guarding freshly harvested rice against possible raids by outlawed peasant guerrillas.

Jap Medic Gets 12 Years For Neglect Of PW's

Yokohama, Dec. 31 (AP)—An Eighth Army military tribunal today sentenced Hiroshi Fujii, former Japanese Army doctor at a POW camp, to twelve years' imprisonment at hard labor on charges of mistreatment and neglect of prisoners.

DAY

The court noted that the sentence took into account testimony of Lieut. Lewis William Bush, Essex, England, that Fujii saved his life while he was a prisoner.

Command Title Changed

Manila, Wednesday, Jan. 1 (AP)—The United States Army announced today the change of its command title; instead of Army Forces, Western Pacific (AFWESPAC), it will be the Philippines-Ryukyus Command (PHILRYCOM).

Sweeping Changes Made In Indonesia Parliament

Seen as an Effort to Increase Backing for Nov. 15 Agreement

BATAVIA, Java, Dec. 31 (AP).—President Soekarno decreed sweeping changes today in the composition of the Idonesian Republican Central National Committee (provisional parliament). Republican authorities interpreted the action as an effort to increase support for the agreement initialed on Nov. 15 with Dutch representatives to set up a United States of Indonesia. The National Committee, which now has more than 400 seats, is expected to consider ratification of the agreement in mid-January.

In the shakeup the membership of the Communists, who supported the draft agreement, has been increased from 1 to 35. The Socialists, who also favor ratification, likewise will have 35 seats. The formerly predominant Moslem and Nationalists parties, both of which have opposed ratification, were allocated 60 and 45 seats respectively.

Other allocations included the Labor party, 35 seats; Christians, 8, and Catholics, 4.

New Year Arrives In Australia

SYDNEY, Jan. 1 (Wednesday) (AP).—King's Cross in Sydney, remembered by many visiting Allied troops, was a center of gaiety as the New Year arrived today.

Young men and women, arm in arm, paraded the sidewalks, and traffic jammed the streets. Similar celebrations were held in other major Australian cities.

(This dispatch was filed at 12.30 A. M. Wednesday, Sydney time, 9.30 A. M. Tuesday EST).

Truman Signs Order Shifting Atom Control

Civilian Board in Charge; Lilienthal Says Peaceful Development Is Its Aim

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31 (AP).—President Truman, in a historic year-end ceremony, signed today an executive order shifting control over the nation's $2,250,000,000 atomic energy program from military to civilian hands.

Coinciding with his proclamation declaring the World War II "period of hostilities" ended, Mr. Truman turned over the Army's Manhattan Project to the new civilian Atomic Energy Commission.

The order, effective at midnight, also transfers possession of atomic weapons, fissionable materials, equipment and research scattered over eighteen states.

In the future, the President is empowered by Congress to authorize the production of atomic bombs or other atomic weapons, but today's ceremony placed emphasis on the productive peacetime use of atomic energy.

Chairman David E. Lilienthal and other members of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission looked on as Mr. Truman signed the formal order. Also present was Major General Leslie Groves, head of the Army's war-time Manhattan District which developed the atomic bomb. General Groves's part in the program is now ended.

Mr. Lilienthal told news men: "Tonight at midnight, the people of the United States turn over to five civilians the most potent weapon of all times. With a Congressional charter, they take direction of a program to develop the peaceful and beneficial possibilities of this great discovery."

Mr. Lilienthal said it was a demonstration of the universal hope of the American people that atomic energy would be used "henceforth to advance human welfare." He pledged all possible speed in achieving the commission's goal.

ROCKET WARHEAD MAY BE IN SPACE

Nose Of Scientists' V-2 Has Not Been Found

Washington, Dec. 31 (AP)—Scientists and War Department ordnance experts faced the New Year tonight with a worry never before experienced by man since Newton went to sleep under an apple tree.

What goes up must come down. That's the law of gravity, discovered when the falling apple hit Newton.

But does it always?

That's what baffles the experts in trying to account for a one-ton warhead which disappeared off a modified German V-2 rocket out in "the wild blue yonder" over New Mexico.

Lieut. Col. Harley Rivkins of ordnance headquarters disclosed today that the warhead vanished ten days ago when the rocket "blew its top" at an altitude of 114 miles —the highest ever attained by a man-made contrivance.

May Still Be In Skies

Colonel Rivkins, just returned from the testing grounds at White Sands, N.M., said that as far as the experts know, the warhead could still be in the skies, though Newton wouldn't believe it.

The rocket takes off with a swoosh and a flash of flame. As it rises, it gains speed until by the time it is out of sight it is traveling too fast to be heard. It can do 3,500 miles an hour, while sound drags along at 700. It returns to earth at 2,400 miles per hour, which means if it hits you, you never heard or saw it.

Colonel Rivkins said the New Mexico rocket behaved according to the rules going up. But what became of the warhead?

Some Think It's Landed

Conservative experts think it has landed somewhere. Others of the Jules Verne school note that 2,000 pounds, traveling at 2,400 miles per hour, can't exactly sneak in.

The rocket is capable of digging a 40-foot hole on land—a feat not to be ignored if it happens to hit your house-and-lot.

Did the warhead get beyond the pull of gravity? Scientists who think Jules Verne was a piker speak of "space platforms," stopovers for a cup of coffee, refueling spots, and transfer points for the round-the-world travelers—or maybe to the moon. Why quibble?

These "space platforms" are to be rocketed into the sky up beyond the pull of gravity. There they are supposed just to hang.

Humans May Go

Colonel Rivkins gravely recounted that some scientists speak of getting humans, encased in "atmosphere suits," up on those "space platforms." Somebody has got to punch tickets.

Thirteen tons of the 14-ton rocket did "what comes natchly" and came down. The experts have proof of that. But they can't find the warhead. Searching parties have been out by jeep and plane. At altitudes as low as 10, 20 and 100 feet, a plan has criss-crossed the testing area looking for it.

The warhead is the business part of the rocket. In war it contains explosives. But down at the peacetime rocket-shoot in New Mexico the warheads have been filled with cameras and instruments to check up on the upper atmosphere.

The missing warhead also contained nine ersatz meteors to be shot into space for the benefit of science.

The German sky demon had been modified to permit the ground crew to bring it back to earth with an allowable trajectory of 5 to 45 degrees. That allowance is to keep it from returning to its starting point and eliminating the scientists.

To allow it to describe its natural bent would bring screams from chambers of commerce from Mexico City to Portland, Ore. So far, not a scream has been heard.

TVA Production Rate Passes War Peak

Knoxville, Tenn., Dec. 31 (AP)—The electric power and other facilities of the Tennessee Valley Authority—vastly expanded during the war—are in full use for peacetime purposes, TVA declared in its thirteenth annual report delivered to the President and Congress in Washington today.

A temporary drop in power production occurred after V-J day, but by June 1946, the TVA system of hydroelectric and steam plants was breaking wartime peak records, the authority reported.

Largest Producer

"For the second consecutive year," the report stated, "the TVA power system produced more electricity than any other integrated power system in the country, a total of more than 12,000,000,000 kilowatt hours."

TVA estimated that dame of $10,000,000 was averted at Chattanooga, Tenn., in January, 1946, when operation of dams reduced the crest of a flood by 10 feet.

The report stated that without special efforts, TVA system operations last winter also reduced crests of two moderate flood stages on the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers at Cairo, Ill., by 1.5 feet.

Revenue Announced

In the 1945 calendar year, 256,465,000 ton-miles of freight were marked up for Tennessee River navigation, the largest amount in history and 31 per cent more than the previous record year of 1943, the report said.

TVA reported that revenues from power operations for the 1946 fiscal year were $35,265,000, about 10 per cent less than in the previous fiscal year, and the net power income was $16,200,000. The return on the average net investment in power facilities was 4.2 per cent, the report said.

Power Distribution

About 669,000 consumers received TVA power distributed by 92 municipal and 46 co-operative electric systems during the year.

Average use per residential consumer was 1,903 k.h.w. during the fiscal year, while the average cost per k.w.h. for residential service was 1.78 cents. In the United States, TVA said, average residential use was 1,290 k.w.h. and average cost per k.w.h. was 3.31 cents.

ASKS U. S. TO RULE ISLANDS JAPS HELD

Washington, Dec. 31 (A. P.).—Creation of a United States "Territory of the Pacific"—or some similar type of civil administration—to govern former Japanese mandated islands was recommended today by Representative Mansfield (D.-Mont.).

Mansfield, who accompanied a House naval affairs sub-committee on a recent inspection of the islands, told a reporter that he will introduce legislation for this purpose in the coming Congress. He said that in his opinion the mandated islands should be administered by the United States "only because what we paid for in blood and in money and in uncertainty must never be allowed to happen again, and one way of securing peace in the Pacific is for this country to maintain undisputed control of all the islands in the Carolines, Marshalls and Marianas groups."

Under Mansfield's proposed plan, the islands would be under a civil administrator appointed by the President and directly responsible to him. He added, however, that the Navy must necessarily be given a prominent position in certain of the areas involved because of their strategic location.

HOLDERS ABROAD GET ASSETS HERE

Treasury Unblocks Securities of Residents of Most Foreign Countries

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31 (AP)—The Treasury announced today the unblocking of United States-located assets of persons in China, The Netherlands East Indies, French Indo-China, Turkey and non-European colonies and territories of liberated countries.

These assets had been frozen since June, 1941, when France was falling before the German armies.

A Treasury survey at that time valued them as follows: China, $356,400,000; Netherlands East Indies, $158,700,000; French Indo-China, $25,000,000; Turkey, $40,000,000. All other colonies and territories were termed "insignificant." The Treasury said today it had no current estimates.

Restrictions over current transactions with those areas had been lifted a year ago.

Treasury officials said that, except for special controls relating to securities and currency, the blocking restrictions in general now apply only to:

Property of and current transactions with persons in Germany, Japan, Spain, Sweden, Portugal and Tangier.

Pre-Armistice assets of persons in Italy, Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria.

Uncertified assets of persons in Switzerland, Liechtenstein and liberated European countries not included in the generally licensed trade area.

Property of German and Japanese individuals who were in Germany or Japan during the war or in enemy-occupied territory at the time of occupation.

ALIEN LABOR WAIVER ENDS

Proclamation Affects Mexicans, but Easy Entry May Be Revived

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31 (AP)—President Truman's proclamation today ending hostilities did away with some of the laws under which foreign labor, principally Mexican, could be brought into the United States without meeting some immigration requirements.

Government officials said that henceforth such workers would have to be brought in under regular immigration laws.

However, officials stated that the Department of Agriculture probably would ask Congress to extend the appropriation and waiver on immigration requirements to meet urgent labor demands from United States sugar beet and other farm areas.

These officials said the President's action did not affect the authority under which Mexican agricultural laborers could be recruited. Such recruiting is carried out through annual contracts.

It was disclosed that the United States hopes to bring in about 40,000 to 50,000 Mexican agricultural workers during 1947.

FUTURE BRIDES OF GI'S WILL NEED NEW VISAS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31 (AP)—President Truman today wiped out the "GI Brides Act" and another law which made it easier for servicemen to bring alien brides home and have their children, born overseas, become United States cititzens.

The President's action—resulting from his announcement of the end of hostilities—does not affect men already in the armed forces but only those entering the service after noon today.

Government officials who handle immigration problems explained the effect of the President's action this way:

Under the "GI Brides Act" any man who was in the armed forces after Pearl Harbor and before the end of hostilities could bring his alien bride into the United States without an immigration visa.

Now, however, the "GI Bride" will have to get an immigration visa and also will be subject to many of the same laws affecting other immigrants.

The bride will not have to come in under an immigration quota, though. The American citizen involved can petition for a "non-quota" entry.

Under the amendment to the 1940 Nationality Act, children born abroad to a GI 17 years old or older received United States citizenship automatically. Now the age limit goes back to its previous standard of at least 21. The cancelled amendment applies to all United States citizens but was passed by Congress specifically to benefit servicemen.

Next Bilbo-Case Moves Charted

Washington, Dec. 31 (AP)—The question of whether to try to stop Senator Theodore G. Bilbo (D., Miss.) at the door when the new Congress convenes Friday came before the Senate Republican Steering Committee today.

While that GOP policy group met to thresh out the issue, the special Senate Campaign Investigating Committee met to whip into final shape its report on charges that Bilbo intimidated Negroes from voting in last summer's senatorial election in Mississippi.

Has Other Group's Report

The Steering Committee already has a report from the Senate War Investigating Committee accusing Bilbo of using his office for "personal gain" in his relations with war contractors.

Four Republicans and two Democrats were said to have signed the report. A member said that Chairmain Kilgore (D., W.Va.) had agreed to sign after first contending that the report should be altered somewhat to emphasize that the committee was not trying to tell the Senate what it should do about the charges made.

Senator Mead (D., N.Y.), chairman of the subcommittee which conducted the Bilbo investigation, also is understood to have agreed to sign.

Okayed By Republicans

The document already had been approved by Republican Senators Brewster, of Maine; Ferguson, of Michigan; Knowland, of California, and Ball, of Minnesota.

The committee's findings are expected to be made public this week.

Chairman Ellender (D., La.) of the Campaign Investigating Committee said he is "very hopeful that we will decide today just what should go into our report" to the Senate.

Whichever way the decision goes, Bilbo has promised a fight against any move to block him.

'46 Potato Loss Of 20 Million Bushels Seen

Washington, Dec. 31 (AP)—Agriculture Department officials predicted today that 20,000,000 bushels of frozen and rotten potatoes would be dumped under Government instructions during the next few weeks.

They will be part of the 1946 crop surplus of nearly 100,000,000 bushels.

Officials estimated that the Government's final loss on the surplus would amount to around $80,000,000.

Underwrote 1946 Crop

Here is why the Government takes it on the chin:

Under wartime legislation, the Agriculture Department underwrote the 1946 crop of potatoes as well as many other farm products. It assured farmers that they would get at least 90 per cent of parity—the theoretical price determined to be equally fair to producers and consumers.

The potato trouble developed when the crop turned out to be about 100,000,000 bushels larger than the department had planned for and about that much larger than estimated consumer requirements.

When this surplus became apparent, potato prices tumbled, and the department was left to carry out its legal obligation to growers.

Two Government Steps

To do this, it took two steps to remove the surplus from regular market channels so that the extra supplies would not push prices below the guaranteed level:

First, the department bought large quantities of potatoes and resold them to commercial firms, such as distillers, who otherwise would have used some other commodity.

Then the department loaned money to other potato growers, at the guaranteed figure, and asked them to store the crop just in case the price went back up.

Millions Left In Fields

It didn't. And it is from the loan-stored potatoes that heavy losses are anticipated.

For lack of better facilities, many million bushels were left in fields, simply covered with straw or other material, which left them vulnerable to cold weather.

Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson reported recently that about 1,000,000 bushels of the surplus had been distributed free to public institutions and school-lunch programs and that an additional 2,000,000 bushels had been diverted to starch mills at cut-rate prices.

He said 20,000,000 bushels were sold to distillers of beverage spirits and 6,100,000 to industrial alcohol distillers for use in making synthetic rubber, anti-freeze and similar products.

Sent To Famine Areas

About 525,000 bushels were sold for export to famine areas abroad. Efforts were made to send larger quantities to those areas, but their perishability and relatively high transportation costs discouraged this course.

Latest reports show that several million bushels have been sold at low prices for livestock feed.

Officials say that best present estimates were that possibly 20,000,000 bushels would go to waste because the Government is unable to find any "practical" outlet for them. These potatoes are largely in temporary storage in the northeastern section of the country.

Anticipated By Anderson

Commenting recently, Anderson said "reports will soon begin to appear, telling how potatoes are rotting in fields or going to waste in other places." He added:

"This is an unpleasant situation, but it is a stark reality we must face."

Mail to Japan Starts Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31 (AP).—Ordinary letters weighing not more than one ounce may be mailed to Japan, beginning Thursday, the Post Office Department announced today. In addition, certain types of business letters may be mailed to both Germany and Japan. These will be limited to communications asking facts and exchange of information. The transmission of documents will be permitted. The closing of business deals and contracts will not be permitted. No checks, drafts, securities or currency may be sent.

Savings-Bond Purchases $7,400,000,000 in '46

Total Is $1,000,000,000 More Than Was Withdrawn

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31 (AP).—Americans invested $7,400,000,000 in government savings bonds during 1946—$1,000,000,000 more than they withdrew, the Treasury's savings Bonds division estimated today.

Of the total invested $4,400,000,000 went into Series E bonds. In this category, the division said, cash-ins exceeded new purchases during the year.

Vernon L. Clark national director of the division, said the total invested might have reached $8,000,000,000 except for the "national uncertainty" engendered by the fall coal strike.

Although redemptions of the E bonds exceeded new purchases, buying of the E, F and G series combined topped cash-ins for those three issues, and four others no longer being sold by $1,000,000,000, Mr. Clark said in a statement.

The amount of E bonds now outstanding is more than $30,200,000,000, said Mr. Clark, adding "we are out of the woods on E-bond redemptions for the present." He did not announce the total volume of E bonds cashed in.

Bids From U.S. Invited On Vehicles In Honolulu

Washington, Dec. 31 (AP).—The Government will put [illegible] war-surplus cars and trucks on the block at Honolulu next month, and will be glad to get your bid from any place in the United States.

The only catch is that you'll have to agree to buy ten at a time.

All the vehicles were used during the war, but inspectors have certified most of them as serviceable. They include pickup trucks, panel trucks, passenger cars, cargo trucks and trailers, lumber trailers, bomb trailers, carryalls, weapons carriers, prime movers, mobile machine shop trucks, truck tractors, van-type trucks, dump trucks, stake and platform trucks.

Hartley said the vehicles will be sold in groups of ten. Bids for 470 will be opened at Honolulu January 24, and for the other 2,300 January 29.

Only One Troopship Due

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 31 (AP)—The United States army transport Wisteria, with 76 troops and 53 dependents, due here from Oahu, is the only troopship scheduled to arrive at a United States port today.

THE RESULT OF THIS LEGAL RECOGNITION THAT THE SHOOTING WAS OVER WAS THAT 18 EXTRAORDINARY LAWS DIED FORTHWITH. THE PROCLAMATION ALSO MEANT THAT 33 OTHERS ARE DOOMED TO DIE NEXT JUNE 31, OR LATER.

ABOUT $1,500,000,000 A YEAR WILL BE KNOCKED OFF THE NATION'S TAX BILL SIX MONTHS HENCE--UNLESS CONGRESS LEGISLATES OTHERWISE--BY THE LOWERING OF EMERGENCY EXCISE TAXES ON LIQUOR, NIGHT CLUBS, JEWELRY AND OTHER ITEMS. THE RATES WILL GO BACK TO PRE-WAR LEVELS.

THE GOVERNMENT'S POWER TO SEIZE STRIKE-BOUND PLANTS TO GET THEM GOING AGAIN DIED. NO PRIVATE PLANT MAY BE SEIZED HENCEFORTH UNDER THE SMITH-CONNALLY ACT, AND IN SIX MONTHS THE COAL MINES MUST BE RETURNED TO THEIR OPERATORS--WHETHER A WAGE CONTRACT IS REACHED OR NOT.

AND--UNLESS FURTHER LEGISLATION IS PASSED--THE GOVERNMENT'S PROGRAMS TO SUPPORT THE PRICE FARMERS RECEIVE FOR MANY PRODUCTS WILL LAPSE AT THE END OF 1948. HAD MR.TRUMAN WAITED ANOTHER DAY TO ISSUE HIS PROCLAMATION, THESE PROGRAMS WOULD HAVE RUN THROUGHOUT 1949.

THE MOVE CAUGHT MOST OF THE CAPITAL BY SURPRISE. IT SENT FEDERAL OFFICIALS SCURRYING TO LAW BOOKS TO RECHECK THEIR POWERS.

ONE REPUBLICAN, REP.DONDERO OF MICHIGAN, VOICED A COMMON REACTION FROM MEMBERS OF THE DECONTROL-MINDED 80TH CONGRESS, ABOUT TO CONVENE:

"THE PRESENT SEEMS TO BE PUTTING IN OUR PROGRAM BY PROCLAMATION, WITHOUT WAITING FOR LEGISLATION."

SENATOR TAFT (R-OHIO), A LEADING GOP PRESIDENTIAL ASPIRANT, DECLARED IT "A GREAT PLEASURE TO SEE THE PRESIDENT CARRYING OUT HIS IDEA OF COOPERATION WITH CONGRESS AND PUTTING INTO EFFECT A PLANK FOR WHICH WE CONTENDED IN THE ELECTION."

ACTUALLY MR.TRUMAN WAS PRESSURING CONGRESS FOR A QUICK DECISION ON WHICH WARTIME POWERS SHOULD BE RETAINED--JUST AS HE WAS TURNING THE HEAT ON JOHN L.LEWIS AND COAL OPERATORS TO REACH A WAGE SETTLEMENT COVERING THE 400,000 UNITED MINE WORKERS IN FEDERALLY-HELD SOFT COAL PITS.

BESIDES THE FEDERAL PLANT-OPERATING AUTHORITY, MR.TRUMAN'S ACTION WROTE FINIS, SIX MONTHS HENCE, TO THE ENTIRE SMITH-CONNALLY WAR LABOR DISPUTES ACT, WHICH PROVIDES A 30-DAY "COOLING-OFF" PERIOD AND A SECRET BALLOT BEFORE A UNION CAN CALL A STRIKE.

IN OTHER SALIENT PROVISIONS, THE PROCLAMATION:

1. THREW INTO DOUBT THE ARMY'S BIG RECRUITING CAMPAIGN, AND APPARENTLY PROVIDED FOR PUTTING A CEILING ON ARMY AND NAVY CIVILIAN PERSONNEL. BRASS-HAT HUDDLES OCCURRED, BUT MILITARY SPOKESMEN WERE SURE OF TWO THINGS: THE DRAFT AUTHORITY IS UNDISTURBED, AND THE ACTIVE SERVICE OF NAVAL RESERVE OFFICERS CONTINUES.

2. REQUIRED THAT THE TREASURY RECALL ALL ITS SILVER FROM WAR PLANTS IN SIX MONTHS--APPARENTLY INCLUDING THE VAST HOARD USED IN THE ATOMIC BOMB PLANT AT OAK RIDGE, TENN., FOR ELECTRIC POWER CONDUCTION.

3. ENDED THE TAX-FREE SHIPMENT OF PLAYING CARDS AND TOBACCO TO THE ARMED FORCES.

4. REQUIRED THAT ANY FOREIGN BRIDES OF FUTURE G.I.S--THOSE ENTERING THE SERVICE AFTER TODAY--MUST OBTAIN IMMIGRATION VISAS BEFORE ENTERING THIS COUNTRY.

5. WIPED OUT--AS OF JUNE 30 NEXT--THE BAN ON DISTRIBUTION OF POLITICAL CAMPAIGN PROPAGANDA TO MEMBERS OF THE ARMED FORCES.

6. PUT A THREE-YEAR LIMITATION ON THE LIFE OF THE SURPLUS PROPERTY ACT AND OF THE WAR ASSETS ADMINISTRATION, THE SURPLUS DISPOSAL AGENCY. WAA NOW PLANS TO DISBAND IN LESS THAN TWO YEARS.

MR.TRUMAN PREFACED HIS PROCLAMATION WITH A BRIEF STATEMENT DECLARING HIS ACTION WAS IN KEEPING WITH THE POLICY HE HAS "CONSISTENTLY FOLLOWED, IN AN EFFORT TO BRING OUR ECONOMY AND OUR GOVERNMENT BACK TO A PEACETIME BASIS AS QUICKLY AS POSSIBLE."

A PLEA FOR PEACE WAS WRITTEN INTO THE PROCLAMATION ITSELF, WHICH DECLARED THE HOSTILITIES ENDED AT "TWELVE O'CLOCK NOON, DECEMBER 31, 1946."

"WITH SPIRIT, THROUGH FAITH, WITH A DETERMINATION THAT THERE SHALL BE NO MORE WARS OF AGGRESSION CALCULATED TO ENSLAVE THE PEOPLES OF THE WORLD AND DESTROY THEIR CIVILIZATION, AND WITH THE GUIDANCE OF ALMIGHTY PROVIDENCE GREAT GAINS HAVE BEEN MADE IN TRANSLATING MILITARY VICTORY INTO PERMANENT PEACE," THE PROCLAMATION WENT ON.

"ALTHOUGH A STATE OF WAR STILL EXISTS, IT IS AT THIS TIME POSSIBLE TO DECLARE, AND I FIND IT TO BE IN THE PUBLIC INTEREST TO DECLARE, THAT HOSTILITIES HAVE TERMINATED."

NEARLY 500 EMERGENCY STATUTES REMAIN ON THE BOOKS AS RELICS OF THE WAR. THESE EXIST FOR "DURATION OF THE WAR," FOR "DURATION OF THE EMERGENCY," FOR SIX MONTHS AFTER EITHER THE WAR OR EMERGENCY, OR FOR OTHER SPECIFIC DATES.

(LEGALLY, THE WAR AND THE EMERGENCY ARE STILL ON, THOUGH HOSTILITIES ARE OVER.)

AgWX

THESE STILL EXISTENT STATUTES INCLUDE THE PRESIDENTIAL AUTHORITY TO ARM MERCHANT SHIPS, TRANSFER THE COAST GUARD TO THE NAVY, HOLD RESERVE OFFICERS ON ACTIVE DUTY, REQUISITION PROPERTY FOR MILITARY USE AND INCREASE THE ENLISTED STRENGTH OF THE ARMED FORCES.

MR.TRUMAN MADE IT CLEAR THAT HE WAS NOT DECLARING THE WAR OVER OR THE EMERGENCY ENDED--EITHER THE "LIMITED" EMERGENCY DECLARED ON SEPT.8, 1939, AFTER THE EUROPEAN WAR BEGAN, OR THE FULL EMERGENCY OF MAY 27, 1941, PROCLAIMED BY PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT WHEN THE GERMAN ARMIES BEGAN OVERRUNNING WESTERN EUROPE.

THE SELECTIVE SERVICE ACT, FOR INSTANCE, WAS NOT AFFECTED BY MR. TRUMAN'S MOVE BECAUSE IT IS TIED TO THE EMERGENCY.

BRITISH-AMERICAN MILITARY COOPERATION WILL NOT CEASE, MR.TRUMAN EMPHASIZED ALSO. WHEN ASKED AT A NEWS CONFERENCE WHETHER THE COMBINED (U.S.-U.K.) CHIEFS OF STAFF WOULD STOP FUNCTIONING, MR.TRUMAN SAID THE COOPERATION SHOULD GO ON FOR SIX MONTHS.

SOME OF THE MEASURES AFFECTED, SAID MR.TRUMAN'S STATEMENT, "ARE DESIRABLE IN PEACETIME," OR FOR THE REST OF THE RECONVERSION PERIOD. "IN THESE INSTANCES, RECOMMENDATIONS WILL BE MADE TO CONGRESS FOR ADDITIONAL LEGISLATION."

BUT HE DID NOT SPECIFY WHICH STATUTES HE FAVORS CONTINUING. SINCE MANY OF THE MOST IMPORTANT RESULTS OF THE PROCLAMATION BECOME EFFECTIVE ON JULY 1, THIS BECAME A DEADLINE FOR CONGRESSIONAL DECISION ON SUCH MATTERS AS EXCISE TAXES AND THE SMITH-CONNALLY ACT.

SOME REPUBLICANS HAVE SPOKEN BOLDLY OF REPEALING ALL THE "DURATION" POWERS--WAR, EMERGENCY AND HOSTILITIES--BY A QUICK, JOINT RESOLUTION OF CONGRESS. BUT SENATOR WILEY (R-WIS) NAMED BY HIS FELLOW REPUBLICANS TO STUDY THE MATTER, REPORTED ONLY YESTERDAY THAT CHAOS MIGHT FOLLOW SUCH A SWEEPING MOVE. HE FAVORED A PIECE-BY-PIECE SIFTING OF THE LEGISLATION.

WILEY DID NOT CRITICIZE THE PRESIDENT'S MOVE, HOWEVER. HE TOLD A REPORTER "IN FACT I THINK WE SHOULD APPROVE IT." HE ADDED THAT IT "CERTAINLY RELIEVES THE LEGISLATIVE BRANCH OF RESPONSIBILITY."

BUT HE WARNED THAT THE COUNTRY STILL FACES EMERGENCIES AT HOME AS WELL AS ABROAD, INCLUDING STRIKES AND A "CONFLICT OF IDEOLOGIES WHICH IS WORLD-WIDE IN SCOPE."

(ADVANCE) LONDON, DEC.31-(AP)-KING GEORGE VI BESTOWED A ROYAL ACCOLADE ON JOHN G.WINANT, U.S.WARTIME AMBASSADOR TO BRITAIN, AND CREATED TWO NEW VISCOUNTS, EIGHT BARONS AND NUMEROUS OTHER TITLES, IN THE ANNUAL NEW YEAR'S HONORS LIST ANNOUNCED TONIGHT.

WINANT WAS THE ONLY AMERICAN LISTED. THE FORMER AMBASSADOR, WHO WON THE ADMIRATION OF BRITONS BY REMAINING IN LONDON THROUGH THE BLITZ, RECEIVED AN HONORARY ORDER OF MERIT, WHICH RANKS JUST BELOW KNIGHTHOOD. AS AN AMERICAN, HE WAS ELIGIBLE ONLY FOR AN HONORARY AWARD.

JAN CHRISTIAN SMUTS, PRIME MINISTER OF SOUTH AFRICA WHO FOUGHT AGAINST BRITAIN IN THE BOER WAR, ALSO RECEIVED THE ORDER OF MERIT.

BRITISH SUBJECTS THROUGHOUT THE WORLD WERE INCLUDED IN THE HONORS, WHICH WENT TO PERSONS RANGING ALL THEWAY FROM BRITISH ARISTOCRATS TO SARAWAK HEADMEN.

IN NEW DELHI, INDIA, ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE LIST WAS ACCOMPANIED BY A COMMUNIQUE FROM VICEROY LORD WAVELL SAYING THAT NO RECOMMENDATIONS FOR AWARDS HAD BEEN SUBMITTED FROM INDIA "IN VIEW OF THE ATTITUDE OF THE MAJOR POLITICAL PARTIES IN INDIA TO HONORS AND TITLES."

THE ONLY EXCEPTIONS, THE VICEROY'S ANNOUNCEMENT SAID, WERE IN THE CASES OF INDIANS FROM PRINCELY STATES AND PERSONS CITED FOR GALLANTRY.

THE MOSLEM LEAGUE PREVIOUSLY HAD RENOUNCED ALL BRITISH TITLES, AND LEADERS OF THE CONGRESS PARTY REPORTEDLY HAD DECLINED TO SUBMIT ANY LIST TO THE VICEROY.

IN CONTRAST TO THE FEUDAL DAYS--WHEN THE KING KNIGHTED A SUBJECT

OR HANDED OUT A DUCHY AT ANY TIME THAT STRUCK HIS FANCY--THE NEW YEAR'S HONORS LIST HAS BECOME AN ANNUAL FIXTURE IN THE TRADITION OF REWARDING PERSONS FOR SERVICES TO THE CROWN.

THE NEW VISCOUNTS--A DEGREE OF PEERAGE BETWEEN EARL AND BISHOP--ARE STANLEY M.BRUCE, CHAIRMAN OF THE INTERNATIONAL EMERGENCY FOOD COUNCIL, AND WILLIAM ALLEN BARON JOWITT, LORD HIGH CHANCELLOR OF BRITAIN.

1946

BRUCE, WHO WAS PRIME MINISTER OF AUSTRALIA FROM 1922 TO 1929, HAS REPRESENTED THE DOMINION IN LONDON SINCE 1932. LORD JOWITT, ONE OF THE LABOR PARTY'S MOST DISTINGUISHED LAWYERS, WASATTORNEY GENERAL IN 1929 AND HAS BEEN BRITAIN'S SUPREME JURIST SINCE 1945.

ONE OF THE NEW BARONS IS LT.GEN.SIR HASTINGS ISMAY, WHO PLAYED A LEADING PART IN MAINTAINING CORDIAL RELATIONS BETWEEN BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES DURING THE WAR. HE WILL RETIRE TOMORROW FROM HIS POST AS MINISTER OF DEFENSE, WHICH HE HAS HELD SINCE 1940.

FOUR OF THE NEW BARONS WILL JOIN THE LABOR PARTY'S MINORITY IN THE HOUSE OF LORDS. THEY ARE CHARLES DUKES, VICE CHAIRMAN OF THE POWERFUL TRADES UNION CONGRESS; FRED KERSHAW, MEMBER OF THE LABOR PARTY'S PUBLIC HEALTH ADVISORY COMMITTEE; SIR ERNEST SIMON, HOUSING EXPERT AND CHAIRMAN OF THE MANCHESTER UNIVERSITY COUNCIL; AND CAPT. GEORGE MORGAN GARRO-JONES, FORMER MEMBER OF PARLIAMENT AND A DIRECTOR OF SEVERAL COMPANIES.

THE OTHER NEW BARONS ARE SIR WALTER THOMAS LAYTON, CHAIRMAN OF THE LONDON NEWS CHRONICLE AND

ONDON STAR WHO SERVED IN THE MINISTRY OF SUPPLY DURING THE WAR; SIR JOHN MAFFEY, FORMER SOLDIER AND NOW BRITISH REPRESENTATIVE IN EIRE; AND LORD JUSTICE SIR GEOFFREY LAWRENCE, PRESIDENT OF THE INTERNATIONAL MILITARY TRIBUNAL WHICH TRIED TOP-RANKING NAZIS AT NUERNBERG.

SIR GEOFFREY'S AWARD WAS IN RECOGNITION FOR GENERAL JUDICIAL ACCOMPLISHMENTS, AND NOT SPECIFICALLY FOR HIS WORK AT NUERNBERG. AN HONORS LIST FOR NUERNBERG WILL BE PUBLISHED LATER.

1946

RALPH RICHARDSON, ONE OF BRITAIN'S BEST KNOWN ACTORS, WAS MADE A KNIGHT BACHELOR, WHICH ACCORDS HIM THE TITLE OF SIR. RICHARDSON PLAYED FALSTAFF ON THE NEW YORK STAGE LAST SUMMER DURING THE TOUR BY THE OLD VIC COMPANY.

TWO OTHER THEATER PERSONALITIES--NINETTE DE VALOIS, BALLET DIRECTOR, AND BASIL DEAN, DIRECTOR OF THE BRITISH WARTIME COUNTERPART OF THE USO--WERE NAMED COMMANDERS OF THE ORDER OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE (CBE).

AMONG OTHERS WHO RECEIVED THE CBE AWARD WERE REGINALD ARTHUR DAVIS, WARTIME ENGINEERING EXPERT AND FORMER DEPUTY DIRECTOR-GENERAL OF THE BRITISH SUPPLY MISSION IN WASHINGTON; MISS FLORENCE HANCOCK, CHIEF WOMAN OFFICER OF THE TRANSPORT AND GENERAL WORKERS UNION; AND L.F. EASTERBROOK, WRITER AND BROADCASTER ON AGRICULTURAL SUBJECTS WHO TOURED THE UNITED STATES IN 1942.

1946

JOHN ROLAND KAY, BRITISH VICE-CONSUL IN CHICAGO, WAS MADE A MEMBER OF THE ORDER OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE.

FIVE NEW PRIVY COUNSELLORS--HONORARY ADVISERS TO THE KING SINCE THE TIME OF THE NORMAN RULERS--WERE NAMED. THEY ARE:

WILLIAM GLENVIL HALL, MEMBER OF PARLIAMENT AND FINANCIAL SECRETARY TO THE TREASURY; ARTHUR HENDERSON, PARLIAMENTARY UNDERSECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA AND BURMA; CLEMENT EDWARD DAVIES, CHAIRMAN OF THE LIBERAL PARLIAMENTARY PARTY; JAMES GARFIELD GARDINER, CANADIAN MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE; AND IAN MACKENZIE, CANADIAN MINISTER OF VETERANS' AFFAIRS.

SIR RONALD IAN CAMPBELL, BRITISH AMBASSADOR IN CAIRO, AND SIR MAURICE DRUMMOND PETERSON, AMBASSADOR TO MOSCOW, WERE NAMED KNIGHTS GRAND CROSS OF THE ORDER OF ST.MICHAEL AND ST.GEORGE.

SIR GEORGE N.MALTBY BLAND, AMBASSADOR TO HOLLAND, WAS DESIGNATED A KNIGHT COMMANDER OF THE SAME ORDER.

AMONG THE 38 NEW KNIGHTS WERE SCIENTISTS, EDUCATORS, LAWYERS, INDUSTRIALISTS, COMMERCIAL MEN AND PUBLIC OFFICIALS. THE MOST UNUSUAL WAS THE BESTOWAL OF KNIGHTHOOD ON THE CLERK OF THE CENTRAL CRIMINAL COURT, WILFRID W[illegible]TER NOPS.

JOINT AIRFORCE (400)

LONDON, DEC. 31-(AP)-THE DAILY MAIL AND DAILY TELEGRAPH SAID IN WASHINGTON DISPTCHES TODAY THAT THE UNITED STATES AND GREAT BRITAIN HAD TAKEN DEFINITE STEPS TOWARD CREATION OF "AN ANGLO-AMERICAN AIRFORCE."

1946

THE MAIL, DISCUSSING WHAT IT CALLED THE PHASE OF THE RECENTLY REPORTED--AND STILL NOT COMPLETELY DENIED OFFICIALLY--BRITISH AND AMERICAN AGREEMENT FOR STANDARDIZATION OF ARMAMENTS, SAID "DRAFT PLANS FOR JOINT TRAINING" OF RAF AND U.S. (PRESUMABLY ARMY) AIRFORCE PERSONNEL WERE SUBMITTED YESTERDAY TO GEN. CARL A. SPAATZ, U.S. ARMY AIRFORCE HEAD, "FOR SIGNATURE."

THE MAIL'S DISPATCH, WRITTEN BY JAMES BROUGH, ITS CORRESPONDENT IN WASHINGTON, SAID THE SCHOOLING WOULD BE STANDARDIZED, THAT JOINT EXPERIMENTS WOULD BE CARRIED OUT IN SUCH FIELDS AS SUPERSONIC FLIGHT AND THAT BRITISH FLIERS WOULD BE TAUGHT THE TECHNIQUE, AT LEAST, OF ATOMIC BOMBING.

"THE FIRST STEP IN THIS LONG TERM PLAN IS THE EXCHANGE OF BRITISH AND AMERICAN FLIERS, ALREADY AGREED TO IN PRINCIPLE BY THE UNITED STATES," SAID BROUGH. "AN ANGLO-AMERICAN AIRFORCE X X X IS A LOGICAL CONCLUSION."

THERE WAS NO IMMEDIATE OFFICIAL COMMENT EITHER HERE OR IN WASHINGTON, BUT THE MAIL'S DISPATCH WAS PUBLISHED JUST AFTER AN OFFICIAL DENIAL WAS ISSUED CONCERNING A REPORT PUBLISHED IN THE FRENCH PRESS TO THE EFFECT THAT THE UNITED STATES AND GREAT BRITAIN WOULD SIGN A PACT NEXT MARCH FOR MUTUAL ASSISTANCE IN DEFENSE.

A FOREIGN OFFICE SPOKESMAN, COMMENTING ON THE FRENCH PRESS REPORT, SAID THERE HAD BEEN NO DEVELOPMENTS ALONG THIS LINE SINCE NOV. 18, WHEN PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE DENIED IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS THE EXISTENCE OF ANY REPORTED MILITARY AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE U.S. AND BRITAIN.

1946

THE ORIGINAL REPORT PUBLISHED HERE BY THE COMMUNIST DAILY WORKER CONCERNING SUCH AN AGREEMENT ADMITTEDLY WAS BASED ON AN ASSOCIATED PRESS LONDON DISPATCH OF OCT. 30, WHICH QUOTED "AUTHORITATIVE BRITISH MILITARY INFORMANTS" AS SAYING THAT THE TWO COUNTRIES HAD

1946

AGREED TO STANDARDIZE WEAPONS ON AMERICAN SIZES AND PATTERNS.

WAR OFFICE COMMENT ON THE ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH WAS LIMITED TO A DECLARATION THAT THERE HAD BEEN NO OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT OF ANY ARMS STANDARDIZATION PLANS.

ATTLEE'S STATEMENT WAS MADE IN FOREIGN POLICY DEBATE DURING AN ATTACK BY LABOR PARTY REBELS, WHO CONTENDED THAT BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES WERE "GANGING UP" AGAINST RUSSIA.

BROUGH'S STORY DECLARED THAT "THE EXCHANGE (OF FLYING PERSONNEL FOR TRAINING PURPOSES) GOES FURTHER THAN ANY PREVIOUSLY ANNOUNCED DETAILS FOR INTERLOCKING THE TWO COUNTRIES' ARMED FORCES.

"IT MEANS THAT BESIDES ARMS AND EQUIPMENT, TRAINING AND MANPOWER WILL BE STANDARDIZED.

"THE POOLING OF ALL DETAILS OF AERONAUTICAL RESEARCH," BROUGH CONTINUED, MAY BE A SUBSEQUEBT DEVELOPMENT.

JR329AES LONDON AIRFORCE

WASHINGTON,DEC.31-(AP)-AN ARMY AIR FORCES SPOKESMAN SAID TODAY THAT THE WAR-TIME PROGRAM OF COOPERATION WITH FRIENDLY COUNTRIES IN PERSONNEL TRAINING PROBLEMS IS BEING REVISED, BUT WITHOUT REFERENCE TO ANY ATOM BOMBING TECHNIQUE.

THE STATEMENT WAS MADE IN COMMENT ON A STORY PUBLISHED IN THE LONDON DAILY MAIL THAT A PLAN FOR JOINT TRAINING OF AMERICAN AND BRITISH AIR CREWMEN, INCLUDING THE TECHNIQUE OF ATOMIC BOMBING, IS READY FOR THE SIGNATURE OF GEN.CARL SPAATZ, AAF COMMANDING GENERAL.

COL.HARRIS HALL, EXECUTIVE OFFICER FOR THE AAF DIRECTOR OF INFORMATION, SAID THE PROGRAM RELATED ONLY TO THE "EXCHANGE OF INFORMATION ON THE TRAINING AND HANDLING OF PERSONNEL." HE ADDED THAT SUCH A PLAN HAD BEEN IN EFFECT FOR A LONG TIME AND THAT PERSONNEL WERE EXCHANGED TO TRY TO KEEP CURRENT ON LESSONS LEARNED DURING THE WAR.

THE PROGRAM MAKES NO REFERENCE TO OPERATIONS, HE SAID, AND THE WAR DEPARTMENT HAS NO AUTHORITY TO DISCUSS ATOM POLICY WITH ANOTHER NATION.

NIGHT COAL (500)

1946

BY THOMAS FLANAGAN

LONDON, DEC.31-(AP)-OWNERSHIP OF BRITAIN'S VAST COAL INDUSTRIES AND WORLD-GIRDLING COMMUNICATIONS NETWORK PASS TO THE GOVERNMENT AS THE NEW YEAR'S BELLS RING TONIGHT, HERALDING A SUPREME TEST OF SOCIALISM ON WHICH THE LABOR GOVERNMENT WILL STAND OR FALL.

OPERATING THE COAL MINES SUCCESSFULLY, IN THE FACE OF AN UNPRECEDENTED SHORTAGE OF FUEL WHICH HAS THREATENED TO CLOSE DOWN MAJOR INDUSTRIES, IS THE GOVERNMENT'S GREATEST CHALLENGE. AND THE GOVERNMENT KNOWS IT.

IN COMPARISON, THE PUBLIC OWNERSHIP OF THE COMMUNICATIONS OF CABLE AND WIRELESS, LTD., WILLPOSE FEW PROBLEMS.

BUT COAL IS THE BED ROCK OF BRITAIN'S INDUSTRIAL ECONOMY, AND THE COAL BIN HAS BEEN SHOWING BARE SPOTS NOW FOR MORE THAN A MONTH.

GOVERNMENT POSSESSION OF THE VAST INDUSTRY IS THE FIRST MAJOR ACCOMPLISHMENT IN THE LABOR PARTY'S SOCIALIZATION PLATFORM. YEARS OF PLANNING AND CAMPAIGNING PRECEDED THE ELECTION LANDSLIDE THAT MADE THE SOCIALIST DREAM COME TRUE.

THE CABINET, REALIZING THE IMPORTANCE OF THE TRANSFER, HELD A LONG DISCUSSION TODAY, AND RADIO APPEALS WERE BROADCAST TO MINERS TO REDUCE ABSENTEEISM AT THE PITS.

INITIALS NCB NATIONAL COAL BOARD WILL RUN UP ITS BLUE FLAG, BEARING THE

TO REDUCE ABSENTEEISM AT THE PITS.

THE NATIONAL COAL BOARD WILL RUN UP ITS BLUE FLAG, BEARING THE INITIALS NCB, OVER THE MINES ON NEW YEAR'S DAY, AND THE BOARD OFFICIALLY WILL TAKE OVER THE INDUSTRY WHICH ECONOMISTS ESTIMATE IS WORTH $656,000,000.

IN A MESSAGE CELEBRATING THE TRANSFER, PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE SAID THAT GREAT ADVANCES LIE AHEAD IF THE WORKERS, THE COAL BOARD AND THE GOVERNMENT "USE THEIR RIGHTS WISELY."

LORD HYNDLEY, CHAIRMAN OF NCB, PREPARED HIS DEDICATORY MESSAGE SAYING THAT "THIS IS A GREAT ADVENTURE AND ALL OF US ARE IN IT. IT CANNOT BE ALLOWED TO FAIL."

1946

INVOLVED IN THE TRANSFER ARE SOME 1,500 COLLIERIES, FORMERLY OWNED BY 800 PRIVATE COMPANIES, AS WELL AS 400 SMALL MINES, MORE THAN 1,000,000 ACRES OF LAND AND SUCH EQUIPMENT AS WHARVES, TRUCKS, FREIGHT CARS AND PIT PONIES.

THE COAL BOARD WILL BECOME THE BOSS OF SOME 690,000 MINEWORKERS AND NUMEROUS CLERKS AND ADMINISTRATIVE WORKERS.

1946

THE BOARD DOESN'T KNOW HOW MUCH UNMINED COAL IT WILL OWN--IT ONLY KNOWS THAT PRIVATE OPERATORS HAD HOPED TO DIG SOME 20,000,000,000 (BILLION) TONS OVER THE NEXT 100 YEARS.

PAYMENT TO PRIVATE COMPANIES IS TO BE MADE BY GOVERNMENT STOCK. THE EXACT AMOUNT IS TO BE COMPUTED BY AN INDEPENDENT TRIBUNAL OF EXPERTS.

THE GOVERNMENT, FACED WITH THE TASK OF INCREASING PRODUCTION IN AN INDUSTRY THAT HAS BEEN GOING DOWNHILL FOR YEARS, HAD PLEDGED TO STRIVE FOR BETTER WORKING CONDITIONS, BETTER WAGES AND MODERNIZATION OF ANTIQUATED MACHINERY.

THE TRANSITION OF THE COMMUNICATIONS FACILITIES, INCLUDING 355,000 MILES OF CABLE, IS EXPECTED BY COMPANY OFFICIALS TO BE SMOOTH AND UNEVENTFUL.

1946

SIR EDWARD WILSHAW, WHO ROSE IN 53 YEARS FROM OFFICE BOY TO CHAIRMANSHIP OF CABLE AND WIRELESS, CLEARED OUT HIS DESK TODAY TO MAKE ROOM FOR A FIVE-MAN MANAGERIAL BOARD APPOINTED BY THE BRITISH TREASURY. IT HAS NOT YET BEEN DECIDED WHAT MINISTRY WILL OPERATE THE COMMUNICATIONS NETWORK, ESTIMATED BY COMPANY OFFICIALS TO BE WORTH $120,000,000.

"ALL THE STAFF WILL REMAIN, AS THE GOVERNMENT HAS GIVEN ITS PLEDGE IN PARLIAMENT THAT WORKERS WIL NOT SUFFER," SAID A COMPANY OFFICIAL.

THE COMPANY EMPLOYS 10,000 PERSONS OF 57 DIFFERENT NATIONALITIES; HAS A TOTAL OF 200 STATIONS IN MORE THAN 70 COUNTRIES; AND TRANSMITTED 722,000,000 WORDS IN 1945.

THE PRICE WHICH THE GOVERNMENT MUST PAY TO CABLE AND WIRELESS WILL BE DETERMINED BY A THREE-MAN TRIBUNAL, INSTRUCTED BY LAW TO FIX THE VALUATION ON THE BASIS OF "WILLING SELLER-WILLING BUYER." #

WITH NEW YEAR (410)
BY RUSSEL LANDSTROM

LONDON, DEC.31-(AP)-THE OLD YEAR WAS ONE OF SOCIAL SIGNIFICANCE, POLITICAL PORTENTS AND SOLEMN DELIBERATIONS IN GREAT BRITAIN, BUT ITS LIGHTER SIDE MADE PLENTY OF NEWS, TOO.

WALT DISNEY CAME IN QUEST OF THE LEPRECHAUNS OF OLD IRELAND. THE BRITISH BROADCASTING COMPANY TOYED WITH THE NOTION OF TELEVISING HYPNOTISM, BUT GAVE IT UP BECAUSE SO MANY PEOPLE FELL ASLEEP AT A TEST THAT IT WAS CONSIDERED TOO DANGEROUS.

IN A YEAR OF ARMY REFORMS IT REMAINED FOR A DEBATING HOUSE OF LORDS TO STRIKE THIS NOTE: THAT A MARRIED MAN IN THE SERVICES "SHOULD BE ENABLED TO REGARD HIS WIFE AS HE WAS TAUGHT TO REGARD HIS RIFLE--SOMETHING TO BE KEPT NEAR HIM AND KEPT IN THE BEST POSSIBLE CONDITION."

THEN THERE WAS THE MAJOR, WHO STARTED READING A BOOK AT THE LAST LINE OF THE LAST PAGE, PROGRESSING THROUGH TO THE FRONT, WITH THE BOOK HELD UPSIDE DOWN. HE SAID IT TOOK HIM NO LONGER TO READ IT AND LENT FRESHNESS TO WHAT HE READ.

A YOUNG LIEUTENANT FOUND THAT HIS PROMOTION TO CAPTAIN WAS RECORDED OFFICIALLY AS BEING EFFECTIVE APRIL 1, 1046, INSTEAD OF 1946. HE APPLIED FOR 900 YEARS ARRERS OF PAY AND RECEIVED THIS REPLY FROM THE WAR OFFICE:

"YOUR APPLICATION FOR ALLOWANCES DATING BACK TO APRIL 1, 1046, IS IN ORDER. YOUR ACCOUNT HAS BEEN CREDITED WITH 39,999 POUNDS ($159,996). YOU APPEAR, HOWEVER, TO HAVE OVERLOOKED THE FACT THAT, ACCORDING TO THE KING'S REGULATIONS, A COMMANDING OFFICER IS PERSONALLY RESPONSIBLE FOR GUNS AND HORSES LOST IN ACTION OWING TO NEGLIFENCE. IF HE IS KILLED, THE ONUS DEVOLVES UPON THE SENIOR SURVIVING OFFICER.

"YOUR LETTER ADMITS YOU ARE THE SOLE SURVIVOR OF THE BATTLE OF HASTINGS (1066 A.D.), WHERE 20,000 HORSES VALUED AT TWO POUNDS EACH WERE LOST. YOU ARE, THEREFORE, LIABLE FOR 40,000 POUNDS ($160,000) AND HAVE, ACCORDINGLY, A NET DEBIT OF ONE POUND."

AFTER BREAD RATIONING WAS ESTABLISHED, ACROBATS WERE CLASSIFIED AS SEDENTARY WORKERS AND, THEREFORE, NOT ENTITLED TO EXTRA BREAD COUPONS.

A LONDON CORONER SUMMED UP THE TIMES AT AN INQUEST: "THIS MAN HAS NONE OF THE ATTRIBUTES OF CIVILIZATION. HE HAD NEITHER RATION CARD NOR IDENTITY CARD."

A32

DESPITE THE QUEUING, HOWEVER, THE GALS STILL HAD PLENTY OF LIFE. ACCORDING TO THE REPORT OF A SPEECH IN THE HORNSEY JOURNAL: "THE ATOMIC ENERGY LATENT IN WOMEN, IF RELEASED FOR CONSTRUCTION, WOULD SAVE THE WORLD."

OF DIFFERENT TEMPERAMENT WAS THE WOMAN WHO KEELED OVER JUST BEFORE THE ROYAL CARRIAGE, TRAVELLING SLOWLY IN ONE OF THE YEAR'S PROCESSIONS, WAS DUE TO PASS HER.

"IT ALWAYS HAPPENS THAT WAY, EVER SINCE THE CORONATION," SHE TOLD REPORTERS. "EVERY TIME I NEARLY SEE THE KING I FAINT."

ADVERTISING COLUMNS CONTRIBUTED TO THE HUMAN COMEDY OF 1946. AN INSERTION IN THE LINCOLNSHIRE CHRONICLE SAID: "OWNER OF TRACTOR WISHES TO CORRESPOND WITH WIDOW WHO OWNS A MODERN FOSTER THRASHER: OBJECT MATRIMONY: SEND PHTOGRAPH OF MACHINE."

THE OLD YEAR ENDED ON A POLITICAL NOTE IN WARSAW, WHERE POLISH GOVERNMENT LEADERS APPEALED FOR UNITY IN TACKLING THE BIG RECONSTRUCTION TASKS AHEAD.

THE PEOPLE OF BELGIUM AND HOLLAND BUTTONED THEIR COATS AGAINST CHILL WINDS AND HURRIED THROUGH THE STREETS FOR QUIET OBSERVANCES AROUND HOME FIRES. CAFES AND NIGHT CLUBS, WHICH DID A POOR CHRISTMAS BUSINESS, HOPED TO DO ONLY A LITTLE BETTER TONIGHT.

IN MOSCOW AND OTHER LARGE CITIES OF RUSSIA, THERE WERE SPECIAL NEW YEAR'S EVE PERFORMANCES IN THE THEATERS. 1946

FOR MANY PEOPLE OF THE ORTHODOX FAITH IN RUSSIA AND EASTERN EUROPE, HOWEVER, THE EVENING PASSED UNNOTICED, SINCE THEIR NEW YEAR IS OBSERVED 13 DAYS LATER.

A DRY NOTE IN BRITAIN'S CELEBRATIONS CAME FROM SCOTLAND, WHERE THOUSANDS OF BOTTLES OF WHISKEY LIE IN BONDED WAREHOUSES RESERVED FOR EXPORT, WHILE THE MERRYMAKERS WERE HARD PUT TO FIND ANYTHING TO DRINK.

TRADITIONALLY THRIFTY SCOTS IN THE HEART OF THE DISTILLING COUNTRY WERE REPORTED TO BE OFFERING AS HIGH AS $40 FOR A BOTTLE OF WHISKEY.

BUT CROWDS NEVERTHELESS THRONGED THE STREETS OF SCOTTISH TOWNS FOR THE TRADITIONAL SINGING AND DANCING. 1946

IN LONDON, NEW YEAR'S PLANS WERE ON THE LARGEST SCALE SINCE BEFORE THE WAR. THE ANNUAL CHELSEA ARTS BALL, LONDON'S ROWDIEST NEW YEAR'S PARTY, WAS IN FULL SWING FOR THE FIRST TIME IN EIGHT YEARS.

IN INDIA, WHERE THE NEW YEAR GETS AN EARLY START, THRONGS PACKED THE STREETS OF BOMBAY AND TOOTED HORNS.

UNDER BALMY SKIES, STREET BANDS PLAYED FOR TIPS WHILE HAWKERS SOLD SWEETS, NUTS AND TOY BALLOONS. WESTERN CLOTHES BLENDED WITH THE BRIGHTLY COLORED INDIAN DRESS.

BUT COMMUNAL STRIFE, WHICH HAD RESULTED IN THOUSANDS OF DEATHS IN THE LAST FEW MONTHS, CONTINUED RIGHT UP TO THE CLOSING MINUTES OF THE OLD YEAR. A COMMUNIQUE ISSUED SHORTLY BEFORE MIDNIGHT SAID THAT FIVE PERSONS HAD BEEN KNIFED AND ONE BURNED BY ACID IN HINDU-MOSLEM FIGHTING DURING THE DAY.

LONDON, DEC.31-(AP)-THE MOSCOW RADIO SAID TONIGHT THE CZECHOSLOVAK GOVERNMENT HAD INVITED ELLIOTT ROOSEVELT TO VISIT CZECHOSLOVAKIA AND "IT IS REPORTED THAT MR. ROOSEVELT HAS ACCEPTED." MUNICH, GERMANY, DEC 31-(AP)-GERMAN POLICE RULED TODAY THAT CARRYING PIGS UNDER THE ARMS ON NEW YEAR'S EVE IS A "PUBLIC NUISANCE," AND ANY GERMAN WHO DOES IT TONIGHT, WILL WIND UP WITH HIS PIG IN THE POKEY.

THE REGULATION ENDS A CENTURIES-LONG CUSTOM. ON THE LAST NIGHT OF THE OLD YEAR, THE CHIMNEY SWEEPS OF GERMANY ALWAYS STROLLED THE STREETS, BEARING SUCKLING PIG. THE SUPERSTITIOUS STROKED THE PIG FOR GOOD LUCK AND GAVE THE "SWEEP" A COIN OR A FRUIT.

IN FORMAL LANGUAGE, THE POLICE SAID: "THE CARRYING OF YOUNG PIGS HAS CAUSED PUBLIC NUISANCE AND IS HEREBY PROHIBITED."

INFORMALLY, THE STORY IS: IN FOOD-RATIONED GERMANY, THE CHIMNEY SWEEP ISN'T SUPPOSED TO HAVE AS MUCH AS WHOLE PIG, HOWEVER SMALL, IN THE FIRST PLACE. IF HE WALKS AROUND WITH MEAT ON THE HOOF, HE'LL PROBABLY GET MOBBED, AND LOSE THE PIG ANYWAY.

SAAR (500)
BY RICHARD O'REGAN

SAARBRUECKEN, DEC. 31-(AP)-NEITHER THE CONQUERING FRENCH NOR THE CONQUERED GERMANS IN THIS COAL-RICH, POLITICALLY DIVIDED BORDERLAND APPEARED TODAY TO FEEL THAT A PLEBISCITE LIKE THE ONE IN 1935 WOULD SOLVE THE CONTROVERSIAL FUTURE OF THE COVETED SAAR.

FRENCH MILITARY OFFICIALS AND MOST GERMAN POLITICAL LEADERS EXPRESSED IDENTICAL VIEWS ON THE SUBJECT, ASSERTING SAARLANDERS HADV

FRENCH MILITARY OFFICIALS AND MOST GERMAN POLITICAL LEADERS EXPRESSED IDENTICAL VIEWS ON THE SUBJECT, ASSERTING SAARLANDERS HAD "NOWOBODIBICAL EXPERIENCE" AND THAT A IUWEVNTP

FRENCH MILITARY OFFICIALS AND MOST GERMAN POLITICAL LEADERS EXPRESSED IDENTICAL VIEWS ON THE SUBJECT, ASSERTING SAARLANDERS HAD "NO POLITICAL EXPERIENCE" AND THAT A POPULAR REFERENDUM WOULD BE "BRUTAL AND UNSCIENTIFIC."

THE SAARLANDERS THEMSELVES, BOTH THOSE IN FAVOR OF AN ECONOMIC REUNION WITH FRANCE AND THOSE DESIRING TO REMAIN GERMAN -- AT LEAST THOSE TO WHOM THIS CORRESPONDENT TALKED -- ALSO REJECTED THE IDEA OF A PLEBISCITE, EXPRESSING DISTRUST OF SUCH A BALLOT IN THESE HUNGRY TIMES WHEN A PERSON IS PRONE TO "VOTE BY HIS STOMACH."

THE QUESTION OF THE SAAR'S FUTURE, RECENTLY BROUGHT TO A HEAD BY FRANCE'S NEWLY INSTITUTED "ECONOMIC FRONTIER" SEPARATING THE DISPUTED REGION FROM THE REMAINDER OF GERMANY, IS SCHEDULED FOR DISCUSSION BY THE BIG FOUR FOREIGN MINISTERS IN MOSCOW NEXT MARCH.

MEANWHILE, THERE APPARENTLY IS A DEEP-ROOTED CONVICTION HERE AMONG BOTH FRENCH AND GERMANS THAT THE ISSUE CANNOT BE SOLVED BY ANY FOUR POWER PLAN FOR A REFERENDUM.

FRENCH AUTHORITIES, WHO WANT TO USE THE SOARING COAL PRODUCTION OF THE SAAR'S GREAT FIELDS WITH THE IRON OF LORRAINE, AND THE GERMANS ALIKE DECLARE THE ISSUE CAN BE SOLVED ONLY BY A DECISIVE FOUR POWER DECLARATION.

THE FRENCH POSITION SEEMS CLEAR, AT LEAST IN SAARBRUECKEN. FRANCE DESIRES AN ECONOMIC UNION WITH THE SAAR. SPEAKING UNOFFICIALLY, FRENCH MILITARY AUTHORITIES SAID FRANCE'S WEEK-OLD CUSTOMS CORDON AROUND THE SAAR WOULD "STAY IN EFFECT UNTIL THE ISSUE IS SETTLED."

AS FOR POLITICAL UNION, FRENCH OFFICIALS SAID THEY DID "NOT CARE WHEN THAT WOULD COME." LEADERS OF THE CHRISTIAN PEOPLES PARTY, CLAIMING 53 PERCENT OF THE SAAR'S VOTES, AND THE SOCIAL DEMOCRATS, CLAIMING 25 PERCENT, SAID THEY HOPED "FOR GRADUAL POLITICAL UNION."

BOTH FRENCH OFFICIALS AND THE BIG PARTY LEADERS CLAIMED THAT THE 1935 PLEBISCITE, IN WHICH SAARLANDERS VOTED OVERWHELMINGLY TO REUNITE WITH GERMANY AFTER 15 YEARS OF FRENCH ADMINISTRATION FOLLOWING THE FIRST WORLD WAR, WAS "FALSIFIED" BY A "NAZI TERROR" PRIOR TO THE NEUTRALLY SUPERVISED VOTE.

"A PEOPLE WHO ARE HUNGRY WILL VOTE FOR WHOEVER FEEDS THEM," SAID A RESTAURANT PROPRIETOR IN COMMENT TYPICAL OF THE SAAR'S MAN-IN-THE-STREET. "THAT MEANS THEY'LL VOTE FOR FRANCE, ALTHOUGH WERE THE AMERICANS HERE THEY'D VOTE FOR AMERICA, REGARDLESS OF THE FACT THAT THEY WISH TO STAY GERMAN."

GEORGE SCHULTE, GERMAN MINISTER OF INTERIOR IN THE FRENCH-APPOINTED SAAR ADMINISTRATIVE COMMISSION AND VICE PRESIDENT OF THE SOCIAL DEMOCRATS, DECLARED THAT A PLEBISCITE "WOULD BE BAD."

"THE MASSES OF THE POPULATION SAY THAT 'HITLER WAS GOOD--WE HAD WHITE BREAD AND OUR WIVES HAD FUR COATS, WHILE TODAY WE HAVE DEMOCRACY AND NOTHING TO EAT,'" SCHULTE SAID.

"WE SHOULD IMITATE THE GOEBBELS METHODS," HE CONTINUED. "WE SHOULD SYSTEMATICALLY INDOCTRINATE THESE PEOPLE WITH DEMOCRACY--MORE SLOWLY THAN THE AMERICANS, WHO HAVE GIVEN TOO MUCH DEMOCRACY TO GERMANS TOO FAST."

ON THE OTHER HAND, COMMUNIST LEADER FRITZ NICKOLAY DECLARED: "FRANCE WISHES THE SAAR. IF THE U.S. TROOPS HAD STAYED IN THIS AREA AT LEAST 90 PERCENT OF THE SAARLANDERS WOULD HAVE DESIRED TO REMAIN AS PART OF GERMANY. THE POPULATION IS AGAINST FRANCE, BUT IN A PLEBISCITE IT MIGHT EXPRESS ITSELF AS PRO-FRENCH ONLY BECAUSE THE PEOPLE ARE HUNGRY. FOR THIS REASON WE ARE AGAINST A PLEBISCITE."

1946

A SAARBRUECKEN TELEPHONE OPERATOR, REPRESENTING PRETTY FAIRLY THE OPINION OF MOST OF THE SAARLANDERS TO WHOM THIS CORRESPONDENT TALKED, DECLARED:

"IF IT WERE NOT FOR THE FOOD THE FRENCH ARE PROVIDING, I WOULD RATHER BE DEAD THAN BE WITH FRANCE."

NUERNBERG, DEC 31-(AP)-NO DECISION HAS YET BEEN MADE AS TO WHETHER FRITZ THYSSEN, GERMAN INDUSTRIALIST, WILL BE TRIED BY AN AMERICAN WAR CRIMES COURT, OFFICIALS IN THE OFFICE OF THE CHIEF COUNSEL FOR WAR CRIMES SAID TODAY.

THE AGING THYSSEN IS STILL CONFINED IN A HOSPITAL UNDER MILITARY CUSTODY. NO INDICTMENT IS BEING PREPARED AGAINST HIM, BUT WAR CRIMES PROSECUTORS ARE STILL INVESTIGATING HIS ALLEGED ASSISTANCE TO HITLER'S SEIZURE OF POWER AND HIS RELATIONS WITH NAZI LEADERS.

ATHENS, DEC.31-(AP)-KING GEORGE II, IN A NEW YEAR MESSAGE TO THE PEOPLE OF GREECE, ACCUSED BULGARIA TONIGHT OF CAUSING "HEAVY CALAMATIES TO OUR COUNTRY."

THE MONARCH, OBVIOUSLY REFERRING TO GREECE'S BALKAN NEIGHBORS, SAID "SOME OF OUR OLD ALLIES" WERE ENGAGED IN "AN UNFAIR AND HOSTILE DIPLOMATIC AND PRESS ATTACK" ON THE GREEKS, AND ADDED:

"WE HAVE SEEN A FORMER ENEMY OF THE ALLIES WHO HAS CAUSED ESPECIALLY HEAVY CALAMITIES TO OUR COUNTRY (SEEKING) TO BE REWARDED AT A TIME WHEN OUR FEW DEMANDS FOR SECURITY WHICH HAVE LODGED AGAINST HER HAVE NOT BEEN SATISFIED."

THE KING APPARENTLY REFERRED TO BULGARIA'S DEMAND FOR THE RETURN OF WESTERN THRACE FROM GREECE, AND UNSUCCESSFUL GREEK DEMANDS AT THE PARIS PEACE CONFERENCE FOR A STRIP OF BULGARIAN TERRITORY.

(IN SOFIA, BULGARIAN PRESIDENT VASSIL KOLAROV AND PREMIER GEORGI DIMITROV ISSUED A NEW YEAR STATEMENT EXPRESSING BELIEF THAT BULGARIA SOON "WILL CONCLUDE AND SIGN A WORTHY AND LASTING PEACE AND BE ACCEPTED AS A MEMBER OF THE UNITED NATIONS." THIS STATEMENT ADDED THAT THE QUESTION OF THE RETURN OF WESTERN THRACE STILL WAS AN ISSUE AND "WILL NOT BE PUT ASIDE UNTIL ITS FINAL SOLUTION.")

KING GEORGE, WHOSE GOVERNMENT CHARGES BULGARIA, YUGOSLAVIA AND ALBANIA WITH FOMENTING GUERRILLA WARFARE IN NORTHERN GREECE, SAID THAT IN CONJUNCTION WITH THE PRESS AND DIPLOMATIC ATTACKS ON HIS COUNTRY "THERE HAVE BEEN MANIFESTED IN SOME OF OUR NORTHERN PROVINCES AN INTENSE ACTIVITY BY ARMED BANDS WHICH HAVE LED TO UNNECESSARY AND UNFAIR SPILLING OF GREEK BLOOD."

AN 11-NATION COMMISSION WILL PROCEED TO NORTHERN GREECE AND THE BORDER AREAS OF HER NEIGHBORS THIS MONTH TO INVESTIGATE THE COMPLAINTS AND COUNTER-COMPLAINTS.

THE CENTRAL COMMITTEE OF THE COMMUNIST-DOMINATED EAM (NATIONAL LIBERATION FRONT) SAID IN A STATEMENT THAT IF THE U.N. INVESTIGATION IS A FAIR ONE, THE STRIFE IN GREECE MUST BE BLAMED UPON THE ROYALIST REGIME AND THE PRESENCE OF BRITISH TROOPS.

THE STATEMENT, CARRIED BY THE LEFTIST ORGAN ELEFTHERIA ELLADA, SAID THAT PEACE WAS POSSIBLE IN GREECE ONLY THROUGH PARTICIPATION OF LEFTIST PARTIES IN THE GOVERNMENT, AND CALLED THE GOVERNMENT OF PREMIER CONSTANTIN TSALDARIS "NEO-FASCIST."

THE STATEMENT SAID THE GOVERNMENT WAS A "LAUGHING STOCK, INTERNALLY AND EXTERNALLY" IN TRYING TO CONCEAL THE REAL CAUSES OF THE GREEK STRIFE AND ADDED THAT "PERSECTUIONS" HAD INCREASED SHARPLY SINCE THE PLEBISCITE WHICH RETURNED GEORGE TO HIS THRONE. 1946

PA-JP519PES

ATHENS, DEC. 31-(AP)-THE COMMUNIST-DOMINATED EAM CENTRAL COMMITTEE SAID TODAY THAT PEACE IN GREECE WAS POSSIBLY ONLY THROUGH PARTICIPATION OF LEFTIST PARTIES IN THE GOVERNMENT.

THE COMMITTEE DECLARED THAT THE PRESENT REGIME WAS "NEO-FASCIST."

THE STATEMENT, WHICH APPEARED IN THE DAY NEWSPAPER ELEFTHERIA ELLADA, SAID THAT IF THE FORTHCOMING UNITED NATIONS COMMISSION INVESTIGATION OF ALLEGED VIOLATIONS OF THE GREEK BORDER WAS FAIR IT WOULD REVEAL THAT THE CRISIS WAS CAUSED BY IMPOSITION OF THE PRESENT REGIME ON GREECE AND ALSO BY THE "BRITISH OCCUPATION."

ASSERTING THAT THE GOVERNMENT WAS A "LAUGHING STOCK INTERNALLY AND EXTERNALLY," THE STATEMENT CHARGED THAT "PERSECUTIONS" HAD SHARPLY INCREASED SINCE THE MARCH 31 NATIONAL ELECTIONS AND THE PLEBISCITE 1946 THE MONARCHY.

IN THE MILITARY FIELD, ABOUT 100 GUERRILLAS ATTACKED THE SMALL TOWN OF YPATI, 14 MILES WEST OF LAMIA, YESTERDAY AFTER DESTROYING A NEARBY BRIDGE. A SMALL FORCE HELD THE TOWN FOR SEVEN HOURS UNTIL REINFORCEMENTS ARRIVED. THE OFFICIAL ANNOUNCED SAID THAT TWO GENDARMES WERE KILLED, SEVEN WOUNDED AND SIX MISSING.

WARSAW, DEC.31-(AP)-BATTERED AND SCARRED FROM BEATINGS HE SAID HE HAD RECEIVED FROM THE SECURITY POLICE, ZYGMUNT SZCZYGIEL, A YOUNG POLISH POLITICAL LEADER, TOLD VICE PREMIER STANISLAW MIKOLAJCZYK TODAY HE HAD BEEN THREATENED WITH DEATH UNLESS HE DISSOLVED HIS PARTY'S DISTRICT ORGANIZATION AT WILCZE, NEAR BYDGOSZCZ.

MIKOLAJCZYK SAID THAT SZCZYGIEL WAS ONE PROOF OF CHARGES HE HAS BEEN MAKING AND THE GOVERNMENT HAS BEEN DENYING THAT SECURITY POLICE ARE PURSUING A CAMPAIGN OF INTIMIDATION TO FORCE PEASANTS TO LEAVE HIS POLISH PEASANT PARTY AND WITHDRAW AS CANDIDATES IN THE PARLIA-MENTARY ELECTIONS SET FOR JAN. 19.

SZCZYGIEL, 33, SAID HE WAS FORCED BY THE SECURITY POLICE ON 14 OCCASIONS RECENTLY TO TRAVEL 25 MILES FROM HIS FARM TO BYDGOSZCZ WHERE HE WAS QUESTIONED, THREATENED AND BEATEN ON THE FACE WITH FISTS BY A SECURITY OFFICER. HE EXHIBITED LETTERS BEARING A SECURITY POLICE STAMP DIRECTING HIS APPEARANCE IN BYDGOSZCZ.

SZCZYGIEL ADDED THAT IN WILCZE, POLICE HAD ARRESTED 30 PEASANTS, STRIPPED THEM OF CLOTHING, AND CONFINED THEM IN DAMP CELLARS IN EFFORTS TO FORCE THEM TO ABANDON THE PARTY.

MIKOLAJCZYK SAID A MRS.ANNA GADZALANKA, NOW A MEMBER OF THE PROVISIONAL PARLIAMENT, ALSO HAD REPORTED SHE WAS SEIZED BY SECURITY POLICE NEAR ZEGAN, IN UPPER SILESIA, WHILE ENDEAVORING TO PRESENT A LIST OF PARTY CANDIDATES TO THE ELECTIONS COMMISSION. SHE ADDED SHE WAS HELD FOR 22 HOURS AND THAT HER CHAUFFEUR AND AUTOMOBILE ALSO WERE HELD.

THE VICE-PREMIER SAID HE RECEIVED A LONG LIST OF DAILY REPORTS OF ARRESTS BY THE SECURITY POLICE AND NAMED 91 PARLIAMENTARY CANDIDATES OF WHOM HE SAID ALL BUT THREE WERE STILL IMPRISONED. HE CITED CITY BY CITY REPORTS OF ALLEGED BEATINGS OF PARTY MEMBERS AND CANDIDATES BY THE SECRET POLICE, MASS ARRESTS, PHYSICAL TORTURE AND COLD WATER IMMERSIONS.

BELGRADE, DEC.31-(AP)-MIMILOS TRIFUNOVIC, PREMIER OF THE EMIGRE YUGOSLAV GOVERNMENT IN LONDON IN 1943, WENT ON TRIAL BEFORE THE SUPREME COURT OF SERBIA TODAY WITH A GROUP OF DEFENDANTS BELGRADE NEWSPAPERS CALLED AN "ESPIONAGE GROUP."

TRIFUNOVIC, WHO HAD SERVED IN YUGOSLAV CABINETS AS MINISTER OF EDUCATION AND MINISTER OF INTERIOR AND IN THE 1941 COUP D'ETAT GOVERNMENT, WAS PROSECUTION WITNESS AT THE TRIAL OF GEN. DRAJA M.HAILOVIC, THE CHETNIK LEADER, WHO WAS EXECUTED UPON CONVICTION.

THE FORMER PREMIER, 75, ORGANIZED THE RADICAL PARTY UPON HIS RETURN FROM LONDON AND DECLINED TO JOIN PREMIER MARSHAL TITO'S NATIONAL FRONT.

INFORMATION SUPPLIED TO FOREIGN CORRESPONDENTS AN HOUR BEFORE THE TRIAL STARTED IDENTIFIED AS THE PRINCIPAL DEFENDANT A FORMER NEWSPAPERMAN NAMED MILUTIN STEFANOVIC. THE OTHER DEFENDANTS WERE NOT IDENTIFIED.

BUDAPEST, DEC.31-(AP)-THE COMMUNIST-CONTROLLED HUNGARIAN POLITICAL POLICE LAST NIGHT ARRESTED JDENO SZATMARI, CORRESPONDENT FOR SWISS AND SWEDISH NEWSPAPERS AND PRESIDENT OF THE FOREIGN CORRESPONDENTS' ASSOCIATION IN HUNGARY.

NO SPECIFIC CHARGE WAS STATED. SEVERAL HUNGARIAN REPORTERS SAID THEY CONSIDERED HIS ARREST CONNECTED WITH A COMMUNIST-SPONSORED "PURGE" OF PRO-WESTERN HUNGARIANS.

COMMUNISTS CHARGE THAT A COUNTER-REVOLUTIONARY PLOT IS AFOOT. AMERICAN SOURCES SAID THEY UNDERSTOOD 240 MEN HAD BEEN ARRESTED AND THAT THE DISCOVERY OF SIX HIDDEN PLANES AND DOCUMENTS DETAILING PLANS FOR A REVOLUTION AND SETTING UP OF A GOVERNMENT IN EXILE HAD BEEN REPORTED.

ANTI-COMMUNIST HUNGARIANS, HOWEVER, SAID MOST OF THE PERSONS ARRESTED

30.24-7177

WERE SMALL LANDHOLDERS, THEORETICALLY THE GOVERNING PARTY, AND ASKED AGAINST WHOM THEY WERE PLANNING TO REVOLT.

HUNGARIAN NEWSMEN SAID SZATMARI WHO WAS IN TROUBLE WITH THE POLITICAL POLICE BEFORE FOR SAYING, AMONG OTHER THINGS, THAT THE COMMUNISTS WISHED TO ESTABLISH A DICTATORSHIP IN HUNGARY--WAS PICKED UP AT HIS HOME SHORTLY AFTER MIDNIGHT.

ON BEHALF OF THE REPORTERS' SYNDICATE, AN APPEAL WAS MADE TO BRIG. GEN.GEORGE H.WEEMS, COMMANDING THE U.S.MILITARY MISSION, AND TO THE AMERICAN MINISTER, H.F.ARTHUR SCHOENFELD, "TO INTERCEDE TO THE EXTENT OF ASKING CLARIFICATION FROM THE HUNGARIAN GOVERNMENT OF THE CHARGES AGAINST SZATMARI."

MOSCOW, DEC.31-(AP)-THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT NEWSPAPER IZVESTIA TODAY ASSAILED THE ECONOMIC MERGER OF THE BRITISH AND AMERICAN ZONES IN GERMANY AS A VIOLATION OF THE POTSDAM AGREEMENT, CHARGED THAT THE MOVE WAS INSPIRED BY BRITISH AND AMERICAN CAPITAL AND THAT IT WOULD OBSTRUCT THE RESTORATION OF GERMAN POLITICAL UNITY.

(THE ECONOMIC MERGER, WHICH WILL BE INAUGURATED FORMALLY TOMORROW, WAS HAILED BY THE U.S.DEPUTY MILITARY GOVERNOR LT.GEN.LUCIUS D.CLAY, IN BERLIN AS A STEP TOWARD MAKING GERMANY'S 40,000,000 INHABITANTS SELF-SUPPORTING BY 1950. HE SAID PLANS CALLED FOR ANNUAL REVENUE OF $900,000,000 FROM EXPORTS OF THE TWO ZONES BY THAT TIME.)

IZVESTIA COMMENTATOR S.ALEXEYEV, IN A STRONGLY-WORDED DENUNCIATION OF THE MERGER, CHARGED THAT THE UNIFICATION PLAN WOULD AID IN MAKING GERMANY INTO A UNION OF STATES, WHICH, HE SAID, WAS "THE AIM OF ANGLO-AMERICAN REACTION." THE AGREEMENT, HE SAID, SOUGHT TO EXTRACT "POWERFUL MILITARY AND ECONOMIC RESOURCES" AND USE THEM AS A MEANS OF "POLITICAL AND ECONOMIC PRESSURE."

THE SOVIET PRESS CARRIED SEVERAL ARTICLES CRITICAL OF AMERICANS.

WRITING IN THE YOUTH NEWSPAPER KOMSOMOL PRAVDA, COMMENTATOR B. VRONSKI SAID THE UNITED STATES FACED A NEW ECONOMIC CRISIS IN THE NEAR FUTURE.

VRONSKI, SPECIALIST ON AMERICAN AFFAIRS, SAID AMERICANS WERE "GAPING WITH EXTREME ALARM AT TOMORROW'S HORIZON," AND THAT AN "ATMOSPHERE OF DESPONDENCY AND HOPELESSNESS REIGNS AMONG THE MASSES OF AMERICAN PEOPLE." HE SAID THE PRESENT ECONOMIC SITUATION IN THE UNITED STATES "TO A CERTAIN DEGREE RECALLS TIMES OF THE SPECULATIVE BOOM WHICH FOLLOWED THE FIRST WORLD WAR AND ENDED, AS IS KNOWN, IN THE ECONOMIC CRISIS OF 1921."

1946

THE ARMY NEWSPAPER RED STAR EXPRESSED A VIEW THAT THE EXPEDITION OF REAR ADM.RICHARD E.BYRD TO THE ANTARCTIC WAS PRIMARILY A SEARCH FOR URANIUM ORE, SOURCE OF ATOMIC POWER.

IN THE FIRST RUSSIAN EDITORIAL COMMENT ON THE EXPEDITION, THE NEWSPAPER SAID "THE DESIRE OF CERTAIN AMERICAN CIRCLES STILL FURTHER TO STRENGTHEN THEIR POSITION IN THE ATOMIC SPHERE BECAME MORE CLEAR IN CONNECTION WITH THE EXPEDITION TO THE ANTARCTIC." IT SUGGESTED THAT THE UNITED STATES WAS ATTEMPTING TO CONSOLIDATE RIGHTS TO HUGE AREAS WITH A VIEW TO ESTABLISHING "ABSOLUTE CONTROL OF THE PACIFIC OCEAN."

THE PRESS CARRIED A TASS REPORT FROM SHANGHAI QUOTING WHAT THE NEWS AGENCY SAID WAS A MANIFESTO BY THE "CHINESE WOMEN'S ASSOCIATION" AND OTHER GROUPS PROTESTING "LAWLESS ACTIONS OF AMERICAN MARINES IN CHINA."

THE SOVIET PRESS AND RADIO REPORTED PROMINENTLY THE FORMATION IN THE UNITED STATES OF THE PROGRESSIVE CITIZENS OF AMERICA, AND CARRIED LONG EXCERPTS FROM AN ADDRESS OF FORMER SECRETARY OF COMMERCE HENRY A. WALLACE SETTING FORTH THE ORGANIZATION'S GOALS. HOWEVER, THERE WAS NO EDITORIAL COMMENT.

ALEXEYEV'S ARTICLE IN IZVESTIA SAID REAL COLLABORATION AMONG THE GREAT POWERS IN GERMANY WAS POSSIBLE BUT THAT THE BRITISH-AMERICAN MOVE "ALREADY IS USED ACTIVELY BY THOSE FOREIGN CIRCLES WHO ENDEAVOR WITH GERMAN REACTIONARIES TO SPLIT GERMANY IN HALF."

THE ARTICLE WAS BEING STUDIED HERE IN THE LIGHT OF THE FORTHCOMING MOSCOW FOREIGN MINISTERS CONFERENCE, AND IT SEEMED CERTAIN THAT MANY OF ALEXEYEV'S POINTS WOULD BE RAISED THERE.

ALEXEYEV SAID SOVIET REPRESENTATIVES IN BERLIN HAD PROPOSED AN ELABORATE PROGRAM FOR INTER-ZONE COLLABORATION BUT THAT BRITISH-AMERICAN REPRESENTATIVES INSISTED THEY WERE UNABLE TO ATTAIN ECONOMIC UNITY.

"SUCH STATEMENTS ARE COMPLETELY UNFOUNDED AND SERVE MERELY AS A SCREEN COVERING THE POLICY OF ANGLO-AMERICAN AUTHORITIES IN GERMANY," THE ARTICLE SAID. "IT IS NOT HARD TO SHOW THAT IF THERE EXIST OBSTACLES IN HANDLING GERMANY, PARTICULARLY AS TO ECONOMIC UNITY, THEY COME PRINCIPALLY FROM THE ANGLO-AMERICAN SIDE AND NOT AT ALL FROM THE SOVIET SIDE.

"AS IS KNOWN, THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT MANY TIMES STATED GERMANY SHOULD BE REGARDED AS A UNIFIED ECONOMIC AND POLITICAL WHOLE AND MADE THIS PROPOSAL AT THE BERLIN CONFERENCE ON NOT ONLY FORMING A NUMBER OF CENTRAL GERMAN DEPARTMENTS BUT EVEN A PROPOSAL ON THE FORMATION OF SOME KIND OF CENTRAL GERMAN ADMINISTRATION."

GOVERNMENT SOURCES CONCEDED THE COMMUNISTS HAD CAPTURED MOST NATIONAL TRONGPOINTS WITHIN FIVE MILES OF PAOTING, WHERE A SMALL FORCE HELD OUT SEVERAL WEEKS LAST FALL AGAINST A STRONG ASSAULT. PAOTING IS 90 MILES SOUTH OF PEIPING.

SIXTY THOUSAND COMMUNISTS WERE REPORTED IN THE ATTACKING FORCES.

LATE GOVERNMENT REPORTS THAT LIUCHENG PROBABLY COULD NOT HOLD OUT MUCH LONGER. THE TOWN IS 67 MILES WEST OF TSINAN, THE SHANTUNG CAPITAL. THE NATIONAL GARRISON THREW BACK ATTACKS ON ITS NORTH AND SOUTH GATES, BUT WAS FALTERING UNDER AN ASSAULT ON THE EAST GATE.

COMMUNIST DEMOLITION CREWS DESTROYED MANY MILES OF RAILROADS IN LIAONING AND KIRIN PROVINCES IN MANCHURIA AND THREE SECTIONS OF TRACKS ON THE PEIPING-TIENTSIN RAILROAD NEAR TIENTSIN.

PRECEDE SHANGHAI DAY

BY JOHN RODERICK

PEIPING WEDNESDAY JAN 1-(AP)-CHINA BEGAN 1947 TODAY WITH A NEW CONSTITUTION PATTERNED IN PART AFTER THAT OF THE UNITED STATES--BUT AMIDST ANTI-AMERICAN MANIFESTATIONS BOTH IN THE GOVERNMENT AND COMMUNIST ZONES OF THE CIVIL WAR TORN NATION.

GENERALISSIMO CHIANG KAI-SHEK SIGNED THE DECREE OF PROMULGATION LAST NIGHT AT A FORMAL CEREMONY IN NANKING, THEN PROPOSED A TOAST TO WHAT HE TERMED CHINA'S FIRST "REPUBLICAN" DOCUMENT.

BUT IN NEW YEAR'S MESSAGES BROADCAST FROM YENAN, THE COMMUNISTS' TOP POLITICAL AND MILITARY FIGURES LAMBASTED IT AS ALLEGEDLY PROTECTING CHIANG'S "DICTATORSHIP."

ANTI-AMERICAN SENTIMENTS TOOK THE FORM OF A NOISY STUDENT DEMONSTRATIONS IN GOVERNMENT AREAS AND BROADCAST STATEMENTS IN THE COMMUNIST ZONE--BOTH CENTERING ON AMERICAN AID TO CHIANG AND THE CONTINUED PRESENCE OF U.S.MILITARY FORCES.

THERE SEEMED LITTLE QUESTION THAT THE PARADES WERE URGED ON BY LEFTIST ELEMENTS AMONG STUDENTS. COMMUNISTS DENIED FOSTERING THE EVENTS BUT OBVIOUSLY WERE NOT DISPLEASED.

"AMERICAN TROOPS GO HOME," CHANTED 6,000 PEIPING STUDENTS OF SIX COLLEGES MONDAY. THE CHANT WAS PICKED UP YESTERDAY BY 500 STUDENTS OF PEIYANG UNIVERSITY AS THEY PARADED PAST THE U.S.FIFTH MARINE COMPOUND.

STUDENTS AT TIENTSIN WERE REPORTED PLANNING DEMONSTRATIONS TODAY.

AT SHANGHAI, PLACARDS APPEARED ON STUDENT BUSES AND PUBLIC BUILDINGS READING, "U.S.ARMY GO HOME."

AT YENAN, MAO TSE-TUNG, CHAIRMAN OF THE CHINESE COMMUNIST PARTY BROADCAST A NEW YEAR'S MESSAGE, PREDICTED OPPOSITION WITHIN THE NATION WILL GROW TO THE "AGGRESSOR POLICY OF AMERICA."

THE COMMUNIST COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF, GEN.CHU TEH, IN ANOTHER YENAN BROADCAST, ALSO CRITICIZED THE "AMERICAN POLICY OF AGGRESSION." BOTH CHU AND MAO SAID THE NEW CONSTITUTION ACTUALLY PROTECTS CHIANG'S "DICTATORSHIP."

IN NANKING, CHIANG EXPRESSED THE HOPE DURING A 4,000-WORD NATIONWIDE BROADCAST LAST NIGHT THAT THE COMMUNISTS WOULD NOT TRY TO SEIZE POWER BY ARMED FORCE. HE ACCLAIMED THE NEW CONSTITUTION WHICH MAKES ROOM FOR MORE THAN ONE PARTY. COMMUNISTS SHUNNED THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY WHICH DRAFTED IT, SAYING THE KUOMINTANG (GOVERNMENT PARTY) STILL HAD A STRANLEHOLD.

ON THE FIGHTING FIELD, THE GOVERNMENT CONCEDED THAT THE COMMUNISTS HAD CAPTURED STRONGPOINTS WITHIN FIVE MILES OF PAOTING, CAPITAL OF HOPEH PROVINCE AND 90 MILES SOUTH OF PEIPING.

THE MIN KUO DAILY NEWS AT TIENTSIN REPORTED THAT GOVERNMENT TROOPS HAVE MOVED WITHIN 10 MILES OF RUSSIAN-HELD DAIREN BUT "THERE WAS NO INDICATION OF THE REASON FOR THIS GOVERNMENT MOVE."

MONDAY, A FOREIGN OFFICE SPOKESMAN SAID HIS GOVERNMENT DID NOT RECOGNIZE RUSSIA'S RIGHT TO CONTINUE OCCUPYING THE BIG MANCHURIAN PORT AND WOULD TAKE OVER THE ADMINISTRATION WERE IT NOT FOR OBSTRUCTIONS BY CHINESE COMMUNISTS.

DEMONSTRATIONS

BY FRED HAMPSON

SHANGHAI, DEC. 31-(AP)-NINETEEN FORTYSIX SLIPPED OUT OF CHINA TONIGHT IN THE ROAR OF ANTI-AMERICAN DEMONSTRATIONS BUT THERE WERE INDICATIONS THEY MIGHT DIE DOWN QUICKLY.

SOME STUDENT BODIES QUARRELED AMONG THEMSELVES AS TO THE POLICY THEY WOULD PURSUE TOWARDS ACCUSATIONS THAT TWO U.S. MARINES RAPED A CHINESE GIRL IN PEIPING. PEIPING ITSELF WAS BACK TO ITS NORMAL TRANQUILITY WITH AMERICAN MILITARY PERSONNEL AND THEIR FAMILIES REAPPEARING ON THE STREETS AFTER A DAY AND NIGHT IN QUARTERS.

MARINE OFFICIALS AT PEIPING INDICATED BOTH ACCUSED MARINES WOULD FACE A COURT MARTIAL, BUT REPORTED ONLY ONE HAD RELATIONS WITH THE GIRL. THEY SAID HE SAID HIS RELATIONS WITH HER WERE ON A PROFESSIONAL BASIS.

FOUR THOUSAND COEDS AT THE NATIONAL FUHTAN UNIVERSITY IN SHANGHAI DECIDED NOT TO STAGE DEMONSTRATIONS AFTER A VEHEMENT MEETING, MARKED BY FIST FIGHTS.

SEVERAL FUHTAN STUDENTS BLAMED AGITATION FOR ANTI-AMERICAN DEMONSTRATIONS ON "PRO-COMMUNIST ELEMENTS WITHIN OUR OWN RANKS." SOME TORE DOWN ANTI-AMERICAN PLACARDS.

ONE STUDENT SHOUTED "THE AMERICANS CAME TO CHINA TO HELP US. RUSSIAN FORCES HAVE NOT WITHDRAWN FROM DAIREN; HOW CAN WE ASK THE AMERICANS TO LEAVE?"

SOVIET TROOPS OCCUPIED DAIREN AT WAR'S END AND RUSSIAN OFFICIALS STILL CONTROL THAT CITY ALTHOUGH A SINO-SOVIET TREATY SIGNED IN AUGUST, 1945, DECLARED IT AN OPEN PORT.

AT TIENTSIN, THE NEWSPAPER TA KUNG PAO SAID 11 SCHOOLS THERE, INCLUDING PEIYANG AND NANKAI UNIVERSITIES, PLANNED DEMONSTRATIONS NEW YEAR'S DAY DESPITE MAYOR TU CHIEN-SHIH'S ADVICE TO THE CONTRARY.

PEIPING STUDENTS WHO STARTED THE DEMONSTRATIONS RETURNED QUIETLY TO THEIR CAMPUSES, TIRED, HOARSE AND HUNGRY.

IN SHANGHAI, SOME UNIVERSITY BUSES STILL BORE PLACARDS READING "WE CAN ENDURE NO LONGER," "U.S. ARMY GO HOME" AND "HAPPY NEW YEAR IN AMERICA NOW--THINK OF IT!"

SHANGHAI'S HISTORIC BUND THIS MORNING WAS SPOTTED WITH PLACARDS ON BUILDINGS, DEMANDING WITHDRAWAL OF THE AMERICAN MILITARY FROM CHINA -- A PLEA OFT-REITERATED OF LATE BY CHINESE COMMUNISTS. BY MIDDAY A GOOD SHARE OF THE SIGNS HAD BEEN REMOVED -- NO ONE IN AUTHORI KNEW BY WHOM. IT SEEMED EVIDENT THAT EITHER ANTI-AMERICAN DEMONSTRATIONS WERE NOT POPULAR HERE, OR THE GOVERNMENT WAS ATTEMPTING TO SUPPRESS THEM.

A SIZABLE DEMONSTRATION WAS DEVELOPING AT MIDDAY IN HONGKEW'S WEDEMEYER ROAD -- NAMED FOR LT.GEN.ALBERT C.WEDEMEYER FOR "PROMOTING AMERICAN-CHINESE FRIENDSHIP." REPORTS INDICATED IT WAS STARTED BY STUDENTS PROTESTING THE PEIPING "RAPE" CASE.

THE AMERICAN ARMY PROVOST MARSHAL SAID SOME 500 STUDENTS BLOCKED TRAFFIC ON WEDEMEYER ROAD, AND "THERE HAVE BEEN SPORADIC STONINGS," BUT THAT NO FOREIGNERS WERE INJURED.

NITE LEAD MACARTHUR

TOKYO, WEDNESDAY, JAN. 1-(AP)-JAPAN TODAY MOVED INTO THE YEAR IN WHICH A NEW CONSTITUTION WILL PLACE ALL SOVEREIGN POWER, HITHERTO HELD BY THE EMPEROR AND WIELDED BY THE MILITARY, IN THE HANDS OF THE PEOPLE.

LAST NIGHT GENERAL MACARTHUR, IN A YEAR-END STATEMENT TO THE JAPANESE PEOPLE, CALLED ATTENTION TO THAT CONSTITUTION WHICH TAKES EFFECT IN APRIL. THEN HE SAID:

"UNLESS THE PEOPLE ASSUME IN FULL REALITY THE MANTLE AND DIGNITY OF SOVEREIGN POWER AND PROCEED RESOLUTELY IN THE EXERCISE OF THAT POWER TO BUILD UPON THE ASHES OF DECADENCE A NEW AND ENLIGHTENED SOCIAL SYSTEM, DEEPLY ROOTED IN A FIRM DETERMINATION TO REMAIN FREE, THERE CAN BE BUT SUPERFICIAL AND TEMPORARY CHANGE FROM THAT WHICH BROUGHT ONLY TRAGEDY IN JAPAN'S PAST."

THE MAN WHO LOSES MUCH POWER UNDER THAT CONSTITUTION, EMPEROR HIROHITO, OBSERVED TODAY AS HIS 47TH BIRTHDAY ALTHOUGH IN REALITY HIS BIRTHDAY IS APRIL 29.

ENDING A YEAR IN WHICH, FOR THE FIRST TIME, A JAPANESE MONARCH MINGLED WITH HIS PEOPLE DURING INSPECTION TOURS OF THE WAR-TORN COUNTRY, HE FOLLOWED TRADITION TODAY BY WORSHIPING AT PALACE SANCTUARIES AND RECEIVING GREETINGS FROM PRINCES AND MINISTERS.

MACARTHUR MADE NO SPECIFIC REFERENCE TO THE EMPEROR IN A STATEMENT REPLETE WITH REFERENCES TO "THE PEOPLE."

LOOKING BACK ON 1946 IN JAPAN AS "A YEAR OF LEGISLATED REFORM, HARDLY SURPASSED IN A COMPARABLE PERIOD DURING THE EVOLUTION OF CIVILIZED SOCIETY," HE SAID A MAJORITY OF THE PEOPLE "RESOLUTELY HAVE SOUGHT TO REMOVE THE CAUSES OF JAPAN'S ILL-FATED PAST AND FAITHFULLY TO BUILD FOR JAPAN'S HAPPIER FUTURE."

HE NOTED THAT REACTIONARY AND LIBERAL FORCES HAD CAUGHT UP THE COUNTRY IN CROSSCURRENTS OF STRUGGLE WHICH EVEN RETARDED IT AT TIMES BUT EXPRESSED CONFIDENCE THE INDIVIDUAL JAPANESE COULD BE COUNTED ON TO PRESERVE HIS NEW-FOUND POWER AND "APPLY IT FEARLESSLY AND INTELLIGENTLY."

TOKYO, WEDNESDAY, JAN.1-(AP)-GENERAL MACARTHUR TODAY REORGANIZED ARMY, NAVY AND AIR FORCES UNDER HIS JURISDICTION AS U.S. COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF, FAR EAST, IN A MOVE WHICH DID NOT AFFECT HIS ALLIED SUPREME COMMAND ORGANIZATION.

THE REORGANIZATION OF HIS AMERICAN COMMAND SETUP FOLLOWED HIS RECENT APPOINTMENT BY PRESIDENT TRUMAN AS COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF, FAR EAST--THE TOP MILITARY COMMANDER FOR ALL U.S. SERVICES IN JAPAN, KOREA, THE PHILIPPINES, RYUKYUS (OKINAWA), MARIANAS, BONINS AND VOLCANO ISLANDS.

(A NAVY OFFICER, ADM.JOHN H.TOWERS, HAS A SIMILAR TOP COMMAND OVER AIR SERVICES IN HAWAII AND THE CENTRAL PACIFIC AREA.)

THE FAR EAST COMMAND WILL BE DIVIDED IN TWO GROUPS, INCLUDING A NEWLY ORGANIZED JOINT STRATEGIC PLANNING AND OPERATIONS GROUP FROM STAFFS OF GROUND, SEA AND AIR FORCES; AND AN ADMINISTRATIVE AND EXECUTIVE GROUP TO BE DRAWN FROM THE CURRENT GENERAL AND SPECIAL STAFF OF MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS.

MAJ.GEN.PAUL MUELLER, CHIEF OF STAFF IN THE SUPREME COMMAND FOR ALLIED POWERS, WILL BE CHIEF OF STAFF FOR THE FAR EAST (U.S.) COMMAND. VICE ADM.R.M.GRIFFIN, PRESENTLY COMMANDING ALL NAVAL FORCES IN JAPAN, WILL RETAIN THAT POST AND ASSUME COMMAND OF NAVAL FORCES (U.S.) FOR THE FAR EAST. HE WILL RETAIN OPERATIONAL CONTROL OF NAVAL FORCES IN THE MARIANAS AND BONINS AS WELL; THEY NOW ARE COMMANDED BY REAR ADM. C.A.POWNALL.

TOKYO, DEC. 31-(AP)-EMPEROR HIROHITO, WHO RETAINS THE VENERATION OF MILLIONS OF SUBJECTS BUT LITTLE IF ANY OF HIS ONCE GREAT POWER, ADDS ANOTHER YEAR TO HIS AGE TOMORROW ALTHOUGH HIS REAL BIRTHDAY IS APRIL 29. 1946

HE WILL BE 47. UNDER THE JAPANESE SYSTEM, EACH NIPPONESE BECOMES ONE YEAR OLDER ON NEW YEAR'S DAY. THUS, A CHILD BORN TODAY WOULD BECOME ONE YEAR OLD TOMORROW.

HIROHITO SPENT A BUSY YEAR, FEATURED BY EIGHT INSPECTION TRIPS INTO THE COUNTRY. IT WAS THE FIRST TIME A JAPANESE RULER EVER HAD SO MINGLED WIOH HIS SUBJECTS. HE WAS SOMEWHAT CONCERNED BY WHAT HE SAW: DEVASTATION, UNREST, HUNGER.

KYODO NEWS AGENCY REPORTED HE SAID ON ONE TRIP "IF PRESENT CONDITIONS HAD PREVAILED FROM THE BEGINNING OF MY REIGN, I THINK THE WAR WOULD NOT HAVE STARTED." 1946

HIROHITO EVIDENTLY WAS CONCERNED OVER THE FEELING HIS PEOPLE MIGHT HAVE FOR HIM AFTER HE ORDERED THEM TO SURRENDER. HE HAS WRITTEN A POEM NOTING JOYOUSLY "EVEN TODAY, AFTER DEFEAT IN BATTLE" SOME LOYAL SUBJECTS COME AROUND TO PULL LEEDS IN THE PALACE GROUNDS.

HE WILL OBSRVE HIS BIRTHDAY TOMORROW WITH TRADITIONAL CEREMONIES. AT 5:30 A.M., HE WILL WORSHIP AT THREE SANCTUARIES WITHIN HIS PALACE. THEN HE WILL ACCEPT GREETINGS FROM THE IMPERIAL PRINCES AND THEN FROM PREMIER YOSHIDA AND THE CABINET MINISTERS AND THEIR WIVES.

WASHINGTON,DEC 31-(AP)-ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF WAR HOWARD C.PETERSEN SAID TODAY THAT AMNESTY WAS GRANTED 700,000 MINOR NAZIS IN THE AMERICAN ZONE OF GERMANY FOR TWO REASONS:

1--A STEP TOWARD "ATTAINING POLITICAL STABILITY IN GERMANY."

2--TO PERMIT GERMAN AUTHORITIES WHO ARE UNDER MILITARY GOVERNMENT SUPERVISION TO CONCENTRATE ON THE PUNISHMENT OF NAZIS WHO WERE ACTIVE IN THE PARTY.

PETERSEN, WHO HAS JURISDICTION OVER MILITARY GOVERNMENT AND OTHER OCCUPATION MATTERS, EXPLAINED THE AMNESTY ORDER OF GEN.JOSEPH T. MCNARNEY IN A STATEMENT ISSUED IN RESPONSE TO NEWS INQUIRIES. 1946

"ADMINISTRATIVELY AT LEAST TWO YEARS AND PERHAPS LONGER WOULD HAVE BEEN REQUIRED TO COMPLETE THE ENTIRE PROGRAM," PETERSEN SAID. "NOW THE GERMAN ADMINISTRATION X X X IS FREE TO CONCENTRATE ITS EFFORTS ON THE PUNISHMENT OF ACTIVE NAZIS. UNTIL THE DENAZIFICATION PROGRAM CAN BE COMPLETED, POLITICAL STABILITY IN GERMANY CANNOT BE OBTAINED."

AMNESTY WAS GRANTED ONLY TO SMALL NAZIS "WHO ARE MORE THAN 50 PERCENT DISABLED PHYSICALLY OR WHO DURING THE YEARS 1943 AND 1945 EARNED LESS THAN 3,600 MARKS AND WHOSE TAXABLE PROPERTY IN 1945 DID NOT EXCEED 20,000 MARKS," PETERSEN SAID. THE LATTER PROVISIONS WERE APPARENTLY USED AS A YARDSTICK IN MEASURING PERSONS WHO ARE SUSPECTED OF EXPLOITING PARTY POSITIONS AND WHO ARE LISTED IN THE TOP TWO CATEGORIES OF CHARGES.

NO MAJOR OFFENDERS WERE FREED, PETERSEN DECLARED, AND IN ANY EVENT ALL THE 700,000 GRANTED AMNESTY "REMAIN AVAILABLE TO AMERICAN AUTHORITIES AT ALL TIMES." ABOUT 2,300,000 NAZIS IN THE AMERICAN ZONE REMAIN CHARGEABLE UNDER THE DENAZIFICATION LAW, HE ADDED.

THE AMNESTY, PETERSEN POINTED OUT, DOES NOT INCLUDE THE SO-CALLED CLASS I AND II NAZIS. THOSE CLASSES, HE SAID, INCLUDE PERSONS WHO COMMITTED CRIMES AGAINST VICTIMS OR OPPONENTS OF HITLER'S NATIONAL SOCIALISM, VIOLATED INTERNATIONAL LAW IN THE TREATMENT OF FOREIGN CIVILIANS AND PRISONERS OF WAR OR WHO WERE ACTIVISTS, MILITARISTS OR PROFITEERS.

HE DEFINED ACTIVISTS AS THOSE WHO BY WAY OF THEIR POSITION "SUBSTANTIALLY ADVANCED THE NATIONAL SOCIALISTIC TYRANNY," OR WERE AVOWED ADHERENTS TO THE TYRANNY, "PARTICULARLY OF ITS RACIAL CREEDS." A MILITARIST IS "ANYONE WHO SOUGHT TO BRING THE LIFE OF THE GERMAN PEOPLE INTO LINE WITH A POLICY OF MILITARISTIC FORCE" OR WAS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE DOMINATION OR EXPLOITATION OF FOREIGN PEOPLE. AND A PROFITEER IS DESCRIBED AS ANYONE WHO USED HIS POLITICAL POSITION OR CONNECTIONS TO BENEFIT FROM THE PARTY'S REGIME, THE HITLER REARMAMENT PROGRAM OR THE PROSECUTION OF THE WAR. 1946

WASHINGTON, DEC 31-(AP)-ERNIE ADAMSON QUIT AS CHIEF COUNSEL FOR THE HOUSE UN-AMERICAN ACTIVITIES TODAY WITH A PUBLIC SUGGESTION THAT WASHINGTON REPORTERS "CURE THE FAULTS" OF COMMITTEE MEMBERS BY "MAGNIFYING THEIR VIRTUES."

IN AN OPEN LETTER TO THE "LADIES AND GENTLEMEN OF THE PRESS," THE 52-YEAR-OLD PITTSBURGH LAWYER WHO HAS BEEN THE COMMITTEE'S LEGAL ADVISER SINCE IT WAS GIVEN PERMANENT STATUS EARLY LAST YEAR URGED THAT REPORTERS HELP STRENGTHEN THE COMMITTEE. 1946

ADAMSON SAID HE ISSUED THE LETTER AS HIS "LAST BUSINESS" BEFORE CARRYING OUT HIS PREVIOUS PLANS TO GO BACK TO PITTSBURGH.

HE HAD PLANNED TO DO THAT, HE EXPLAINED, EVEN BEFORE REP. THOMAS (R-NJ), WHO BECOMES CHAIRMAN NEXT WEEK, PROMISED TO FIRE ADAMSON AS HIS FIRST OFFICIAL ACT BECAUSE OF PREMATURE RELEASE EARLY THIS WEEK OF ADAMSON'S REPORT TO THE COMMITTEE WARNING OF A POSSIBLE "REVOLUTION" IN THIS COUNTRY.

"I HEAR RUMORS OF A CONCERTED EFFORT BY SEVERAL GROUPS TO HAVE THIS COMMITTEE ABOLISHED," ADAMSON WROTE. "I HOPE THAT YOU WILL REFRAIN FROM GIVING ANY AID OR COMFORT TO THIS MOVEMENT, AT LEAST UNTIL YOU HAVE ACCORDED THE NEW CHAIRMAN, AND HIS COMMITTEE, A REASONABLE OPPORTUNITY TO PROVE THEIR ABILITY IN CONDUCTING THE AFFAIRS OF THE COMMITTEE."

NEW YORK, DEC. 31-(AP)-KIRL M. ALEXEIEV, FORMER EMPLOYE OF THE SOVIET EMBASSY IN MEXICO CITY, SAYS HE CANNOT RETURN TO HIS HOMELAND BECAUSE HE HAS BECOME ACCUSTOMED TO BREATHING "THE FRESH AIR OF FREEDOM."

1946

IN A STATEMENT MADE PUBLIC YESTERDAY BY HIS LAWYER, MARTIN RICHMOND, ALEXEIEV SAID HE CONSIDERED IT HIS DUTY "TO STATE PUBLICLY THAT I AM OPPOSED TO THE SOVIET REGIME."

ALEXEIEV DESCRIBED HIMSELF AS ACTING COMMERCIAL ATTACHE AT THE SOVIET EMBASSY IN MEXICO CITY FOR TWO YEARS, BUT AN OFFICIAL SPOKESMAN AT THE EMBASSY SAID LAST NIGHT THAT "HE WAS NEVER COMMERCIAL ATTACHE AT THE EMBASSY OR ACTING ATTACHE, BUT SIMPLY AN EMPLOYE IN THE COMMERCIAL SECTION."

"WE THOUGHT ALEXEIEV WAS ALREADY BACK IN THE SOVIET UNION TODAY, OR WELL ON HIS WAY THERE," THE SPOKESMAN SAID. HE ADDED THAT ALEXEIEV LEFT MEXICO CITY AROUND THE END OF NOVEMBER TO RETURN TO THE SOVIET UNION BY WAY OF THE UNITED STATES.

ALEXEIEV SAID IN HIS STATEMENT THAT "LIFE ABROAD HAS OPENED TO ME THE TRUE MEANING OF WHAT I SAW IN THE SOVIET UNION."

"NO NATION IS MORE EXPLOITED, OR RATHER ENSLAVED, THAN THE SOVIET NATION," HE SAID.

"I CAN NOT RETURN TO MY HOMELAND AND DOOM MY FAMILY, WHICH HAS BECOME ACCUSTOMED TO BREATHE THE FRESH AIR OF FREEDOM, TO LIFE UNDER THE HEEL OF DICTATORSHIP. BUT I FEEL THAT IN THIS COUNTRY (THE UNITED STATES) THEY WILL BECOME FREE HUMAN BEINGS, AND I FIRMLY BELIEVE THAT MY FAMILY AND I WILL BE GIVEN AN OPPORTUNITY TO START A NEW LIFE HERE."

THE STATEMENT CHARGED THAT THE SOVIET'S DOMESTIC POLICY "IS BASED ON THE PRINCIPLE OF COMPLETE ISOLATION OF THE RUSSIAN PEOPLE FROM DEMOCRATIC NATIONS, ESPECIALLY THE U.S.A." AND SAID THAT "DURING MY SOJOURN ABROAD I HAVE REALIZED THE MONSTROSITY OF THE LIES SPREAD IN THE SOVET UNION ABOUT 'THE BEASTLY EXPLOITATION OF WORKERS IN CAPITALIST COUNTRIES.'"

1946

RICHMOND SAID ALEXEIEV, HIS WIFE AND TWO CHILDREN NOW WERE LIVING IN THE U.S. WITH FRIENDS OF THE LAWYER, BUT HE DECLINED TO REVEAL WHERE THEY WERE STAYING.

NEW YORK, DEC. 31-(AP)-FERDINAND EBERSTADT ANNOUNCED TODAY HIS RESIGNATION AS AN ASSOCIATE UNITED STATES REPRESENTATIVE ON THE UNITED NATIONS ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION.

EBERSTADT SAID HE WAS RESIGNING TO RETURN TO PRIVATE BUSINESS, EMPHASIZING HIS LEAVING "DOES NOT MEAN THAT THERE ARE ANY DIFFERENCES" BETWEEN HIM AND BERNARD M. BARUCH, CHIEF AMERICAN REPRESENTIAVE ON THE COMMISSION. HE IS SENIOR PARTNER IN THE NEW YORK INVESTMENT BANKING FIRM OF F. EBERSTADT & CO.

"NOBODY IN THE WORLD COULD BE CLOSER TO MR. BARUCH THAN I HAVE BEEN," EBERSTADT SAID, ADDING:

"BUT I HAVE BEEN IN PUBLIC SERVICE ALMOST CONTINUOUSLY NOW FOR ABOUT FIVE YEARS, FIRST AS CHAIRMAN OF THE ARMY-NAVY MUNITIONS BOARD, THEN AS VICE CHAIRMAN OF THE WAR PRODUCTION BOARD, THEN ON THE ARMY-NAVY UNIFICATION STUDIES FOR SECRETARY OF THE NAVY FORRESTAL, AND FINALLY AS ASSISTANT TO MR.BARUCH."

BARUCH SAID EBERSTADT HAD "WORKED UNREMITTINGLY AND WAS NOT PAID ONE CENT FOR IT; HE EVEN PAID HIS OWN RENT AND EXPENSES."

1946

ROBERT HENRY BEST, 51, A NATIVE OF SUMTER COUNTY,S.C., AND DOUGLAS CHANDLER, 51, WHO WAS BORN IN CHICAGO, WERE INDICTED YESTERDAY BY A 22-MAN FEDERAL GRAND JURY AFTER LESS THAN AN HOUR'S DELIBERATION.

JUDGE FRANCIS J.W.FORD, ASSIGNED TO PRESIDE AT THE TRIAL, DIRECTED THAT THE TWO MEN ACCUSED OF SERVING AS NAZI RADIO MOUTHPIECES BE BROUGHT HERE AT THE EARLIEST POSSIBLE DATE FROM WASHINGTON FOR ARRIAGNMENT.

IT WAS NOT DISCLOSED WHEN TRIAL WOULD BEGIN, BUT COURT ATTACHES SAID THAT CHANDLER AND BEST PROBABLY WOULD BE GIVEN UNTIL APRIL TO FILE SPECIAL PLEAS AND PREPARE THEIR DEFENSE. CONVICTION OF TREASON CARRIES A MANDATORY SENTENCE OF DEATH BY HANGING.

THE JURY RETURNED THE INDICTMENTS AFTER HEARING 15 WITNESSES WHOSE IDENTITIES WERE PROTECTED BY ARMED GUARDS. AT LEAST TWO OF THEM WERE BELIEVED TO BE GERMAN WOMEN, ONE OF WHOM WAS ABOUT 35 AND STYLISHLY-DRESSED.

THE DEFENDANTS WERE ACCUSED OF "WILFULLY AND TRAITOROUSLY" GIVING AID AND COMFORT TO THE ENEMY FROM WITHIN A FEW DAYS AFTER THE UNITED STATES ENTERED THE WAR UNTIL GERMANY CAPITULATED.

BOSTON, DEC 31-(AP)-BRITISH BIOLOGIST DR. J.B.S.HALDANE SAID TODAY THE FIRST GENERATION OF THE SURVIVORS OF THE ATOM BOMBING OF HIROSHIMA MAY INCLUDE "A CROP OF FREAKS" AND THAT THE PEAK OF BIRTH ABNORMALITIES WILL COME AFTER FIVE OR TEN GENERATIONS.

DR. HALDANE DISCUSSED THE PART NATURAL RADIATION PLAYS IN THE GERM CELL CHANGES AFFECTING MAN'S HEREDITY AND SAID SUCH HUMAN EFFECTS AS THOSE FROM THE ATOM BOMB "MAY KEEP TURNING UP FOR ANOTHER 10,000 YEARS."

IN AN INTERVIEW AT THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE AMERICAN ASSOCIATION FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF SCIENCE, HE PREDICTED THAT AFTER THE FIRST GENERATION OF HIROSHIMA DESCENDANTS "THERE SHOULDN'T BE MANY MORE UNTIL INBREEDING STARTS X X X AND THE PEAK OF THESE SHOULD COME AFTER FIVE OR TEN GENERATIONS." #

NIGHT LEAD UNDATED NEW YEAR'S

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

IN BARS AND CAFES, IN HOMES AND CHURCHES THROUGHOUT THE NATION LAST NIGHT MILLIONS WATCHED OUT AN OLD YEAR TROUBLED BY STRIKES, POLITICAL UPHEAVALS AND WORLD STRIFE AND EXPRESSED THEIR HOPES FOR THE NEW YEAR WITH ONE OF THE GAYEST NEW YEAR'S CELEBRATIONS IN HISTORY.

NEW YORK CITY'S TIMES SQUARE SAQ OUT 1946 WITH AN ESTIMATED CROWD OF 900,000 KISSING, HAND-SHAKING AND HORN-BLOWING CELEBRATORS, SLIGHTLY LESS THAN LAST YEAR'S ESTIMATE OF ONE MILLION, BUT WITH NO NOTICEABLE DECREASE IN NOISINESS.

CELEBRATIONS GENERALLY WERE MARKED BY A FEELING THAT THE NEW YEAR--NO MATTER WHAT IT HAS IN STORE--IS BOUND TO BE AN IMPROVEMENT OVER 1946, AND THE HORNS WERE BLOWN A LITTLE MORE LOUDLY AND THE WINE FLOWED A LITTLE MORE FREELY BECAUSE OF IT.

HOTTEST SPOT IN PORTLAND, ORE.,--AND ONE OF THE HOTTEST IN THE COUNTRY--WAS A DORMITORY WHERE 45 BRITISH WEST INDIAN SAILORS, FLOWN TO PORTLAND TO CREW A VICTORY SHIP, PUT ON A TRINIDAD-STYLE CELEBRATION. THEIR CALYPSO SONGS DROWNED OUT THE NOISE OF NEARBY PORTLANDERS' MORE NORMAL FORMS OF CONVIVIALITY.

IN ATLANTIC CITY, HOTELS WERE JAMMED FOR HOLIDAY PARTIES AT PRICES RANGING FROM $2 TO $12, WHILE A CASH PRIZE AND GIFTS FROM 28 MERCHANTS WAITED FOR THE WINNER OF THE RESORT TOWN'S TRADITIONAL "FIRST BABY" CONTEST.

1946

VIRGINIANS GOT AN APPROPRIATE NEW YEAR'S GIFT FROM THE STATE'S ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGE CONTROL BOARD--THE END OF LIQUOR RATIONING, EFFECTIVE IMMEDIATELY. BUT STATE STORES WERE CLOSED FOR THE HOLIDAYS SO MOST VIRGINIANS SAW THE YEAR OUT WITH RATIONED WHISKY.

MERRYMAKERS CROWDED THE URBAN CENTERS, JAMMING RESTAURANTS, NIGHT CLUBS AND BARS, PAYING HIGH PRICES AND STIFF COVER CHARGES IN A NOISY REVEL FEATURED BY THE POPPING OF CORKS AND HELPED ALONG BY THE RUSTLE OF GOOD GREEN CURRENCY.

AS USUAL NEW YORK CITY ITS PLUSH CLUBS AND MAMMOTH ENTERTAINMENT BUSINESS HAD ONE OF THE BIGGEST CROWDS--AND SOME OF THE STEEPEST PRICES. THE CHARGE IN NIGHT CLUBS WAS $5 TO $40 PER PERSON AND LIQUOR WAS EXTRA

1946

THE COVER TAB WAS CORRESPONDINGLY HIGH IN OTHER PLACES. FOR INSTANCE, IT AVERAGED $15 IN CHICAGO AND ONE GOLD COAST SPOT CHARGED AN EYE-OPENING $100.

BUT ALL WAS NOT FRIVOLITY. MANY THOUSANDS OF THE MORE SERIOUS ATTENDED WATCH NIGHT SERVICES IN CHURCHES THROUGHOUT THE NATION AS THE NEW YEAR WAS BORN.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN, SAYING THAT THIS NATION AND ITS ALLIES HAD WON THE WAR "WITH GOD'S HELP," CHOSE THE YEAR'S END TO ISSUE A PROCLAMATION TERMINATING THE PERIOD OF HOSTILITIES AND PAVING THE WAY FOR THE END OF MANY EXTRAORDINARY WARTIME GOVERNMENT POWERS.

TIMES SQUARE, HUB OF NEW YORK'S ANNUAL BLOWOUT, HAD ITS USUAL IMMENSE CROWD. THERE WERE 1,684 PATROLMEN AND DETECTIVES ASSIGNED THERE AND 190 FIREMEN TO VARIOUS NIGHT CLUBS IN THE CITY. STORE WINDOWS IN THE TIMES SQUARE AREA WERE PRUDENTLY BOARDED UP.

HISTORIC OLD PHILADELPHIA'S OFFICIAL CITY WELCOME WAS MARKED BY THE RINGING OF THE 13,000 POUND BELL IN THE TOWER OF INDEPENDENCE HALL, CELEBRATING 171 YEARS OF THIS NATION'S INDEPENDENCE.

CELEBRATIONS IN QUAKER CITY ENTERTAINMENT PLACES COST A MINIMUM OF $10 TO $25 PER COUPLE AND SOME NIGHT CLUBS NOTED A TREND TOWARD LARGER GROUP PARTIES. 1946

MERRYMAKERS OF THE BRING-YOUR-OWN-BOTTLE SCHOOL OF THOUGHT OFTEN FOUND LIQUOR PRICES DOWN. SCOTCH HAD BEEN SLASHED $1 TO $3 A BOTTLE IN NEW YORK AND BONDED BOURBON AND RYE WAS DOWN AS MUCH AS $2.

WASHINGTONIANS, EASED OF WARTIME BURDENS, WERE GAY. GOVERNMENT EMPLOYES HAD NEW YEAR'S DAY OFF AND MADE THE MOST OF THE EVE. NIGHT CLUBS LOOKED TO THE BIGGEST NIGHT OF THE YEAR AND GOT TOP PRICES OF ABOUT $12 FOR DINNER AND DANCING. THEATERS SCHEDULED SPECIAL MIDNIGHT SHOWS.

THE TOP CHARGE IN BOSTON NIGHT SPOTS FOR ADMISSION AND DINNER--BUT NO LIQUOR -- WAS $10 PER PERSON, UP 50 CENTS OVER 1945. LIQUOR SALES WERE ORDERED HALTED AT 1 A.M. BUT DRINKING WAS OKAY UNTIL 4 A.M. AT HOTELS AND NIGHT CLUBS.

AT SEATTLE THE WASHINGTON STATE LIQUOR CONTROL BOARD DECIDED NOT TO ENFORCE A STATE LAW REQUIRING THAT ALL DRINKING BE DONE SITTING DOWN. A HOLIDAY CLOSING OF 3 A.M. WAS PERMITTED TAVERNS SELLING BEER AND WINE. NIGHT CLUB PRICES RANGED FROM AROUND $5 TO $12.50 PER HEAD.

NEW YEAR'S EVE IN TEXAS WAS PRECEDED BY THE COLDEST DAY OF THE YEAR AND A SNOW BLANKET. SWANK SPOTS SOLD OUT IN ADVANCE AT THEIR HIGHEST PRICES.

ELMORE TORN, OF LONGVIEW, TEX., SENT A SUPLY OF BLACK EYED PEAS, THE SOUTH'S TRADITIONAL GOOD LUCK DISH ON NEW YEAR'S DAY, TO SECRETARY OF STATE BYRNES, WHO SAID HE WOULD HAVE SOME.

HOLLYWOOD NIGHT CLUB OWNERS VOICED A VIEWPOINT ALSO EXPRESSED IN OTHER CENTERS WHEN THEY SAID THEY THOUGHT THIS NEW YEAR'S EVE CELEBRATION WOULD MARK THE END OF AN EASY MONEY ERA.

BUT HOLLYWOOD CLUBS WERE SOLD OUT AT TABLE PRICES RANGING FROM $15 TO $25 AND AN "AVERAGE" GOOD TIME COST AN ESTIMATED $50 PER PERSON.

1946

JAIL TERMS FOR DRUNKEN DIRVERS WERE THREATENED BY JUDGES IN LOS ANGELES, WHERE 40 PEOPLE WERE KILLED IN CHRISTMAS TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS.
